CANADIAN FINANCE MINISTER INTERVIEWS U. S. PRESIDENT

FIGURES IN THE NEWS

NEW BRUNSWICK NEEDS REVENUE

Legislative Assembly Will Meet to Consider Raising Extra Funds.

Fredericton, N.B., March 1.—The second session of the eighth Legislative Assembly of New Brunswick, which has been summoned to meet tomorrow, promises to have a small legislative program, but at the same time it bids fair to be one of the most important sessions that has taken place in comparatively more than a decade. The outstanding features of the session promises to be the move on the part of Premier Foster to devise means to increase the revenue of the Province. With a deficit of somewhere five hundred thousand dollars on the past year's current revenue account operations, to say nothing of an additional several millions tacked on the provincial debt, there is ample evidence of the need of additional revenue; but the House is to meet with the government still uncertain as to the means whereby it will augment the extra money which some form.

It was hoped that the situation would be satisfactorily settled before this and that was the reason a meeting of the supporters of the Government with the Cabinet was held recently at St. John at the call of Premier Foster; but the results of the onslaughts of the New Brunswick Progressive Federation on the proposal that the Government introduce a system of controlled liquor sales such as is in vogue in British Columbia and somewhat similar to the practice in Quebec were in evidence before the session ended, and instead of being assured of safe passage in the Legislature, the Foster administration, the Government generally cropped up in the ranks of its own supporters, not that the Cabinet is admittedly undecided as to what it will do.

The course which will be pursued, it appears, will be to have a general reference made to the matter in the speech from the Throne at the opening of the Legislature in which the Lieutenant-Governor will formally declare that the Government have under consideration methods for supplementing the present sources of revenue, so that the receipts may provide sufficient income to meet the ordinary requirements of the public services, also to say that certain amendments to the Intoxicating Liquor Act are contemplated, what they will be—are to be introduced. Then by caucuses during the session the Government will be able to learn what course can best be taken. If the Province is not to have controlled liquor sales, it seems that there must be an income tax, such as proposed for Manitoba and possibly a land tax as well.

Receipts from the forty-two lumber operations in the Province have been the chief source for ordinary revenue in New Brunswick and the depression in the lumber business has seriously affected the Province financially. The shrinkage in receipts last year were somewhat more than $1,000,000, but almost quarter of a million less than the estimates were, the early estimates are for not more than $600,000 with the possibility that the total will not finally run over half a million dollars.

STRIKE IS SURE IN COAL AREAS

Peace Conference Schedule at Cleveland Called Off by Miners.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Last hopes of averting a strike of coal miners in the Eastern and Mid-western fields vanished today when John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers, called off the peace conference which had been scheduled for March 2nd at Cleveland. Failure of operators to respond to the invitations sent out for the Cleveland meeting was given as the reason.

With only a month remaining before the expiration of the present agreements, this blow-up of the latest attempt to get the operators and union officials together has left small possibility that any agreement covering the strike can be reached before the date set for the walkout. It is expected that the strike, which union officials privately admit is lost before it starts must go on.

Illinois operators and officials, regarding the strike as inevitable are combining their efforts to arouse manufacturers and others to lay in as heavy stocks as possible.

Union leaders are working to induce railway unions to join them in sympathetic strikes, as this is their sole hope of staging anything like a successful walkout, but their efforts have met with indifferent success so far.

TWO ARRESTS MADE IN TAYLOR CASE

Members of Alleged Bootlegging Gang Are Taken Into Custody.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 1.—Two men were taken into custody by the police here early yesterday morning and were held without bail for investigation in connection with the slaying of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, in his apartments here on the night of February 1. The men, whose names have been withheld by police, are said to have been members of a "bootlegging gang" which carried on extensive operations in the Hollywood section.

Officers were rocking this morning a third member of the alleged gang, and were taken from the house in which the two were arrested.

According to the police, the men were among the possible suspects in the Taylor case, following a story told to an officer by a woman, who said she knew the number of the purported gang. This woman, whose name is withheld, told the police, they said, that she had heard the men threaten Taylor's life because they feared he was interfering with their business.

Early this morning, patrolmen raided a house in the Wilshire district and took the two men into custody.

EARL HAIG INFORMS G.W.V.A. OF PLANS FOR EX-SOLDIERS

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Field Marshall Earl Haig, as Grand President of the British Empire Service League, has written a lengthy letter to R. R. Mayhew, Dominion president of the Canadian Association of Canada, outlining the work of the league since its formation in South Africa a year ago, and giving details of the plans for future development. The G.W.V.A. is the Canadian unit of the league, it aims to help service men emigrating in the Empire, and represents some 3,000,000 ex-sailors and soldiers. Earl Haig asks for an opinion as to the best place to hold the league conference in 1923.

BAD YEAR FOR COAL

English Authority Makes a Statement Upon His Arrival Here.

St. John, N.B., March 1.—"The coal industry in Great Britain is in a wretched condition at the present time," declared J. N. Shackleton, one of the directors of the well-known Lancashire coal firm of Emanuel Shackleton and Co., shortly after he disembarked here today from the C.P.O.'s liner Minnedosa. "This is especially true in regard to industrial coal," continued Mr. Shackleton, "and of course, the underlying reason is the world-wide trade depression." "I do not believe," he stated, "that any will put in England and are making a reasonable financial return, and this condition has existed for some time. The demand for this commodity for consumption in the homes is great, but pits cannot be developed like mines, unless they are able to dispose of their steam coal for industrial use. As a result, we are compelled to make concessions on the price of steam coal in order to sell it and get it off our hands. The output is largely in excess of the demand, but the difficulty experienced in selling steam coal is holding up the work in the pits, from a hopeful sign, however, is the tendency within recent months towards an increase in the exportation of coal to the continent."

Mr. Shackleton is proceeding to Winnipeg and Vancouver, in both of which places he purposes to look into the matter of certain realty and other interests which now form part of the estate of his late uncle, Emmanuel Shackleton, under the terms of whose will he is one of the chief beneficiaries. His stay in Canada will probably extend over a period of six weeks.

POLICE DISCOVER HUGE STILL

Supplied the Blind Pigs of Whole Border Cities District.

Windsor, Ont., March 1.—Moonshiners of the Kentucky Hills, famous for this skill in hiding liquor making apparatus from revenue officers, are put to shame, police say, by the discovery yesterday of a still in the storage distillery operated by Emil Caveleff in Ohjibway. Caveleff, police assert, was the source of supply for much of the moonshine liquor which is being sold in "blind pigs" throughout the border cities. He pleaded guilty to violating the Inland Revenue Act in Windsor police court today and was fined $500 and the costs.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police and revenue officers had been on the watch for the last month for any information which Caveleff might make. They knew he was manufacturing liquor, they assert, but three raids on his home failed to uncover any sign of a still of moonshine whiskey. They kept a close watch on Caveleff's premises to-day and discovered a passageway leading into the ground from the water well. They descended and only had to proceed ten feet to find themselves able to stand erect in a good sized room directly beneath the well.

In the room the officers found a complete still capable of producing about fifteen gallons per day.

LAMP EXPLODES FATAL RESULTS

Odessa Woman Frightfully Burned and Dies of Her Injuries.

Mrs. Denyes, widow of the late Sidney Denyes, living on a farm a mile west of Odessa, was so badly burned on Monday that she died at five o'clock in the evening. She arose early to call the boys, when it is thought the lamp exploded or fell from her hands, the oil spattering over her nightdress and blazing up. Before the fire could be extinguished she was burned almost all over her body, head, arms and limbs. She was about sixty years of age and is survived by three children, namely, Dr. Gerald Denyes of Shannonville; Shelley Denyes at home, and one daughter, Hazel, a nurse at New York.

The victim was a sister of Mr. Shelley Anderson of Belleville, and a former resident of this city.

DAIRY EMPLOYES ARE HELD UP

Three Youthful Bandits Made Bold Daylight Raid in New York.

New York, Mar. 1.—While two hundred men, women and children looked on this afternoon, three youthful bandits held up two employees of the Sheffield Farms Dairy Company, on the latter end in a hurry in front of 54 Henry street, and escaped in an automobile with $4,000, which one of them had taken from the inside coat pocket of George Baxter, a collector for the company.

Three policemen joined in pursuit of the robbers in another automobile which they had commandeered, but the bandit car out-distanced them after a chase of half a mile through crowded tenement streets.

Later an automobile which fitted the description of the bandits' car, was found abandoned at Columbia and Broome, about a mile and a half from the scene of the hold-up. The police reported that this car several hours earlier had been reported stolen, but they refused to reveal the name of the owner. Detectives added that they expected to capture the bandits by means of descriptions obtained from witnesses.

Baxter is connected with the branch of the dairy company at 531 West Twenty-Eighth street, according to Elias Kramer, who assistant started out today forenoon in the buggy to make collections in the vicinity of Henry and Rutgers streets.

CREDIT IS DUE TO ALLENBY

High Commissioner Persistently Urged for Changes in Egypt.

London, Feb. 28.—A Parliamentary paper giving the correspondence on the Egyptian question, shows that Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, High Commissioner in Egypt, has been urging the Home Government since the middle of November, to withdraw the protectorate and bring into force the principal proposals of Lord Milner's report, declaring that on January 13, he again, after the decision to depart, told Foreign Office that authority to inform the Sultan of England's intention to abolish the protectorate and to open negotiating the conclusion of the treaty but that the Government still withheld permission, and requested the certain officials should be sent to London to advise the Cabinet on the situation.

To this, Field Marshal Allenby, on January 28, offered the objection that such a course would weaken his authority, and declared that the officials mentioned, were in full accord with him, and he again urged acceptance of his proposals.

After further objections, Lord Curzon, Secretary of Foreign Affairs, finally, on January 31, informed the High Commissioner to come to London for a consultation.

RUSSIA ADMITS NO INFERIORITY

Any Attempt by Powers at Interference Will Prevent Soviet Attendance.

London, Feb. 23.—Members of the Russian Soviet trade delegation today, in London, told of an interview with Premier Lenine, Chairman of the Foreign Minister, over on February 14, in which he declared propositions submitted by the Genoa conference, related to totally conflict with the Cannes resolution of January 6 (The Cannes resolution as it is known), by the Allied Supreme Council, provided for the holding of the Genoa Conference, and made certain stipulations for participation thereto.)

If such proposals are adopted, M. Tchitcherin is reported to have said, the results might oblige the Russian Government to change its attitude regarding the Genoa Conference. If, for example, the project fixing a period of six months' probation for Russia to accept as a practicable basis for her participation in the conference her decision to participate would be reconsidered.

Such a project, M. Tchitcherin declared, was absolutely unacceptable, and he added that Russia with Russia's perfectly warrantable desire to treat as an equal with equals. He said Russia would reject any form of tutelage or admission of inferiority.

HAS FAITH IN CHURCH

Russian Bishop Proves Her Sole to Be an Orthodox

Patriarch of Orthodox Russian Church Has Been a Successor for Two Years—Says He Believes That the Religious Arms of the People Is Still Strong—Strange Incident in Church.

Perhaps the most remarkable optimist in Toronto to-day is Bishop Hendon, Patriarch of the Orthodox Russian Church. He has been in charge of his house for two years, is cut off from most of the congregation, and has not received a cent of support from them, but he says that the piety of the people has not suffered in the succession of the Patriarch of the Orthodox Russian Church has passed. On the contrary, he perceives an increase of religious activity in many instances. In an interview with a newspaper correspondent he declined to discuss political matters, saying, no doubt, that something unhappy might occur to him if he did. The position between the late Lenine and Trotsky is somewhat curious ones. Each fears to make an open move against the other. For the Soviet to put to death the Patriarch would be impossible, as result from the representative of the local Soviet. So it happens that while communion services are held as before on account of the dangerous of the local officials, while in others there is no church service from pure fear of the Soviet. Still lately the clergy were forbidden to leave their churches, and the latter were regarded as suspects because of the former close connection with the Czar. But Church literature ceased to exist except for a few books printed before the printing plants. In many communities there is no paper, many more, we suppose, people with the ability or the inclination to read them are waiting.

But there is still a kind of religious worship left, very much as it was in the past. The churches stand open, and alone the roadside are various shrines. In these churches and before the shrines the people can make their devotions. There is no law to prevent them kneeling and praying. Travelers have reported that food soldiers frequently kneel before the shrines. Those exercises are not encouraged by Lenin and Trotsky, but they are so far refrained from forbidding them, that they have not forbidden from cutting the throat of the Patriarch, though they have not hesitated to keep him prisoner. So far as can be gathered, however, the Soviet leaders will try rather to adapt themselves to the new regime than to oppose it. They seem to have come to the conclusion that Soviet system is more or less a permanency, and are certainly aware of the fact that the Russian people do not need them less than formerly.

In fact, a working arrangement between the church and the Government seems possible. There are Soviet leaders who believe that they could make use of the hold the country twelve months to transport all remaining food each horse may eat ten journeys daily, hauling a ton of water each journey.

So colossal is the weight of our "inch of rain" that it would allow of a distribution of nearly five tons to every man, woman, and child living on the earth, to-day, or approximately three gallons for every day of the year. If distributed amongst the people of the Dominion, each person would have sufficient water to fill a tank 150 feet long and 27 feet wide to a depth of five feet.

Great Wisdom Needed.

The British Government has advertised at the University of Toronto for graduating students in order to wish to become colonial administrators in Africa and elsewhere.

The principle of such good are illustrated by a story told in the Journal of the Royal Colonial Institute. A British administrator in a remote Pacific island, finding in the city boy was stealing his chickens, remarked: "If I catch him a fifth time I shall smack his head." From that moment the British influence waned. After a long while the officer found that the head was the most revered of all the members around that people. It is the hovering-point of heroic ancestors and the epitome of family dignity. Better by far if he had thrashed the boy, but left him alive.

The point is that the officer needs to know such insignificant details. The influence that effect among sixteen islands was ruined by the one blow.

Portraits: It is that, before sending hapless young university men to work out their own salvation among native races, they are to be given a three months' course in London.

Unkind Wish.

The wife of a celebrated poet once complained to him that he was always reading, and took little notice of her. "I wish," she said, "I was a book, for then I should receive my joy more of your company." "I sincerely wish to Heaven you were a book—at almanac, I mean," replied the great man, "for then I could change you every year!"

MUSICALE AT ST. AGNES' SCHOOL

Proceeds for Relief of Starving Children in Far-off Russia.

An appreciative audience gathered in the chapel of St. Agnes' School last night for the recital in aid of the "Save the Children" fund, ably carried in for the starving little ones of Russia by the government of Belgium throughout Canada and Great Britain.

Miss Marvin's splendid interpretation of a street archin assisting in the affair of a man and a little darling under great mistakes, was excellent. In her last number she carried all the social and political ideals of Ancient Rome, playing at one time the part of Berenice, Marcus and Mercia Eclerville is fortunate in having such a dramatic coach as Miss Marvin.

The singing of Miss Attila Peyton was very much enjoyed, especially "Morning" by Bolreigo and "Dedication" by Franz.

Miss Pearson sang two songs, her encore being "Elegie" (Massenet) in French. Her last number "Ave Maria" form the Opera "Le Prophete" by Meyerbeer, was one which showed her dramatic contralto voice to best advantage.

The songs by Mr. Staples, the tenor, were greatly appreciated, especially the first, "Take Them This From Me."

Mr. Booth's singing of "The Wreck of the Julia Planette" was excellent, and being by one Canadian composer, Geoffrey O'Hara, was of double interest. This work was magnificently interpreted by the Mendlesohn Choir in Toronto last week.

The artists were fortunate in having the piano Mr. Wesley, whose sympathetic and wonderful gift of accompanying was of tremendous value to those taking part.

Mr. John Elliott closed the program by making a plea for interest in the fund for the little ones of Russia, reading a letter from the head office appointing the Standard Bank here as receive donations for the "Save the Children Fund," he himself having been appointed as treasurer. Mr. Elliott explained how the money was spent in Canada for food, instructions cabled to Riga to release food from the warehouse, and this Canada was sending the same amount to replace it. This plan has only recently been arranged.

His appeal was made for churches, clubs and organizations to try and form or separate plans for giving assistance for this work as by our help to the neglected and fatherless children of Russia, whose parents have been forced to die in order to save the little ones, we were only performing a holy service, which we would expect to be done to ourselves were conditions reversed. Mr. Elliott's plea was "Individual organization," and a call for volunteers to assist in this city and district.

NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Roland, N. Y.—"I was in bad health and there didn't seem to be any one thing that was the matter with me. I was tired all over and it was an effort for me to do what I was irritable and nervous and had trouble with my head and my periods. It seemed as though I was around me knew of what I was suffering and wanted me to try it. At last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work and I can say I am well and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it formerly took me two days to do and am better and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine when I tell them of it. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. Ernest Baker, R1 Spencer Ave., Roland, N.Y.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman who knows how to advise women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and helped others. Why don't you give it a trial?

Music and Drama

POPULARITY OF REX STOCK INCREASES NIGHTLY

From many questions and comments as to the quality of the show now playing at Griffin's, it is quite evident that the people were a bit "intrigued" by the title, "The Man Who Owned Broadway," which suggests a live wires show. The popularity of the Rex Stock Company is increasing nightly, and a warm welcome awaited them in Belleville seems assured.

The company will present tonight, "The Man Who Owned Broadway," the week end in Kingston, and returning next Monday and Wednesday in "The Liar," a polite comedy with a rude title.

STAGE VERSION OF "OVER THE HILL" HERE TO-MORROW

In all the volumes of poetic effusions ever printed, there are no verses that impress more deeply the human heart than those contributed by Will Carleton, especially the two upon which is founded the play, "Over the Hill to the Poor house" which will be presented at Griffin's tomorrow, matinee and night. The story possesses simplicity, refreshing the love, devotion, and self-sacrifice of a mother, whose reward is the most pathetic one, lend themselves admirably for the play-acting purposes and when entrusted to such a sympathetic company as Griffin's their significance becomes greatly intensified.

Surely "Over the Hill to the Poor-house" must possess singular fine dramatic points, otherwise it never would have achieved the enormous success that it has recorded in all parts of the country ever since it first won the highest commendation of New York audiences.

JAPAN DISPOSING OF CONFISCATED GERMAN PATENTS

Berlin, Mar. 1.—The Japanese Government, which during the war confiscated 1,000 German patents, has decided to return 500 of them to the Germans and sell the other 500 to Japanese concerns, according to a communication from "important industrial circles" published here. Complaint is made that the Japanese attitude is without precedent, and that Germany is not treating the matter of the re-establishment of desirable commercial relations.

FATHER DELORME NO LONGER WEARS GOWN

The Rev. Father Delorme, priest, who was to have appeared in enquete proceedings yesterday morning on a charge of muntering his half brother, Raoul Delorme, was spirited into the court house at 8:30 a.m., long before the arrival of any of the officials and before a big crowd had gathered in front of the building to get a glimpse of the prisoner.

Father Delorme was dressed in a dark suit, had on a business man's collar and carried an overcoat over with a fur collar. His clerical garb was missing and it is understood that he was made to divest himself of his robe, and that he has been denied a request that he say Mass daily at the Bordeaux Jail.

The Crown was emphatic on both these orders being carried out as being up to the time in the jail. He has been denied privileges he asked to have, when he requested that he wear his soutane in jail and when he said that he must celebrate mass daily. It is believed that the effect of these privileges would be demoralizing should a prisoner wearing the garb of a priest attempt to assume the duties imposed by his vocation.

IMMIGRATION POLICY

Ottawa, March 1.—Urging that the Dominion Government "evolve a national immigration policy based on the needs of the country and the adaptability of the immigrant, and insist upon predominance of those qualities amongst those admitted to the country," a deputation from the National Council of Women waited upon the Minister of the Interior, Hon. Charles Stewart, yesterday, and were promised that the resolution would be laid before the special cabinet subcommittee. The deputation was composed of Mrs. W. E. Sanford, president National Council of Women, Special Order of the Daughters of the Empire; Mrs. C. H. Thorburn, Ottawa and Mrs. Fitzrandolph, of Prescott Ont., N. B.

SOME GIANTS.

Very Tall Woman Was Native Of Nova Scotia.

There is little or no warrant in history, or in archaeology for the supposition that the elder races were much taller or more powerful than are those of the present day. We are limited in our conception of the truth of Pliny's description of the Arabian giants by a dim realization of the probable imaginative character of the writer.

The average present height of the human race is, about sixty-eight inches, but the average is produced by measuring both the races which are exceedingly tall and excessively short. The specific statistic racer, of which the Scots of Galloway still stand at the head, are offset by the little people of South Africa; but one century with another and one geological period with another, the same thing probably has been approximately.

A few individuals have exceeded nine feet, according to authenticated records, but they have invariably been freaks, and do not justify the claim, now set forth by the alleged discovery of a graveyard in America filled with petrified giants, that a race of giants ever walked the earth.

The giant legend is probably derived from the same source as the notion that everything deteriorates as time runs on. It is of one piece with the pessimistic idea that virtue and happiness and good works in every sort have been declining ever since the world was young.

It was at first supposed that the first men on earth were cannibals, and still mightier monsters it also was supposed that everything was going to the bad. Even the stories in the Book of Genesis "Thou times" was in reality a way of saying that the men of old were not as they previously had been.

The modern view is that in the statures of races is due, not only to heredity, but to habitat, and it is conceded that man was never so well developed as he is today. It is definitely more probable that man in the distant future will be a taller and more powerful animal than he existed in previous ages.

The recent revival of the petrified giant industry in the United States is traceable to the success which attended fraud perpetrated on the American people a generation ago, when whole people were led to believe that a race of giants had existed and was buried near the little village of Cardiff in New York state.

The idea had its inception out in Fort Dodge, Iowa, when an artesian well was sunk there through a huge block of gypsum from a quarryman at that place. The block was then shipped to Chicago, it being taken in charge by a sculptor, who carved it into a 10-foot giant. The surface of the block was treated to give the appearance of pores in the human skin, and then was subjected to a variety of acids which made the entire statures appear of great antiquity.

After completion the giant was securely packed in an iron box and shipped to Cardiff, New York, where the cleverly planned it, loaded the box on a wagon, and, after having hauled it fifty miles to a farm near Cardiff, had the wagon driven over and moved from the box and secretly buried, remaining under the ground nearly a year, until it was "accidentally" discovered by some workmen who had been engaged to dig a well on the premises of the farmer.

The great discovery was made on October 16th, 1869, and news of the discovery was quickly spread all over the country. The lucky finders netted it with a tent and got it into exhibition, while special trains were run from New York City and other near-by points so that the clamoring multitudes could see the astonishing remains at the earliest opportunity.

Until the discovery was exposed, it is estimated that more than 50,000 persons looked upon the giant, and there is no wonder, paying a dollar apiece for the remarkable sight.

Among the persons who viewed the giant, it is found that the late Captain Turner Ashby, a native of Nova Scotia. A recent visitor to the United States, Johann Van Der Albert, of Amsterdam, Holland, is said to have the distinction of being the tallest man who ever entered this country. He is described as being 8 feet 9 inches in height and is now in the "show business."

Ashby was drawn into giant history we find that Queen Elizabeth's head porter was 7 feet 6 inches, and probably being given this exalted position on account of his ability to see what was going on at all times.

Among recent finds it is claimed that one of the Roman emperors was nearly nine feet high, but the measurements of those days may have allowed him considerable latitude, and he probably is not entitled to at this time, though no doubt he is entitled to a high station for history to make note of the fact.

Nonchalance.

Former Innocent—Afraid of pity, gave a stranger boy a job. In the afternoon the farmer went out looking for the lad and finally found him lying on the grass under a tree, smoking a pipe. "Hi, there, Bill," what are you doing—resting?" The youth looked up, blowing from his lips, and answered, "No, guv'nor, I'm not resting; I'm waiting for you to call me 'ere again 'ere waitin' for the sun to go down, so I can leave 'ere waitin'."

"God Save the King."

The first public performances of "God Save the King" took place in 1746, the occasion being the celebration of the capture of Porto Bello in the West Indies by Admiral Vernon. It was sung by its composer, Henry Carey, who also wrote "Sally in our Alley" and "Namby Pamby."

A TRADE BOOMERANG.

Canada Was Not Injured by U. S. Tariff Boost.

A statement issued by the United States press by the Canadian Trade Commissioner in New York, indicates the marked reactive effect of the United States emergency tariff upon that nation's trade with Canada. The statement makes it clear to United States manufacturers and exporters that the measure, instead of increasing and protecting United States trade, is having the opposite effect.

According to the statement, while Canada's total exports to the United States in 1921, fell to $327,000,000, as compared with $540,000,000 in 1920, a decrease of well over $200,000,000, United States exports to Canada fell from $927,000,000 to $558,000,000, a decrease of nearly $400,000,000.

The 40 per cent. reduction in the value of both Canada's exports to the United States and United States exports to Canada during the calendar year 1921, was partly attributable to an average drop in prices of about 27 per cent. Taking this into account, it will be seen that Canada's exports to the United States and United States exports to Canada greatly decreased purchase in Canada of United States goods, because of the coincident curtailment of Canada's ability to buy, and the purchasing power available for domestic consumption, the statement declares.

Princess of Quebec Clever Actress.

French-Canadian praises of the present century gave dramatic performances of much merit, which ranked among their number some first-class amateur. writes Mr. George Gale in the Montreal Telegraph. The amateurs found included Mrs. Gale, Mrs. Lemesurier Kean, Charles Kemble, Denman Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Vandenhoff and others. Denman Thompson, however, in the course of his wanderings came to Quebec to play with the Nickinsons, John and Ida Lemesurier, and later went with them to Toronto.

Frederick Glackmeyer, a German who left his native country for Canada in 1792, is credited with being the father of music and musical societies in Old Quebec. Frederick Glackmeyer was fifteen when he landed and brought with him violin and piano were great. His son also did good work as an artist until his death in 1881. M. Antoine Dessane, founder of the Paris Conservatory and organist at the cathedral in 1849, inaugurated the classical concert in Quebec. In 1873 some French-Canadians from the city were honored by being asked into the monster orchestra of Gilmore's Jubilee. The principal of musical stars was Calixte Lavallee, who composed the air, now of "O Canada."

Mr. Gale also records in lively fashion the visits of circus and menagerie to the city, even before the advent of the railways. "Columbus" an elephant, was there in 1820.

Airplanes and Forest Fires.

Recently the initial trip was made from Kamloops, B.C., of a new airplane which had been flown from the manufacturer to be used in patrol work over the forests in that district, and is administered by the Dominion Forestry Branch. The machine in use earlier in the season was transferred to Vancouver for overhauling. The new plane was piloted by Major Matheson of Vancouver, and with him on this trip was Mr. R. H. Campbell, district forest inspector, and Mr. J. A. Wilson, of Ottawa, secretary of the Air Board of Canada. This trip of 250 miles was covered in about twenty minutes. There had been a smoke haze for some days from forest fires, and aerial detection of fires from the lookout stations difficult and the use of the airplane via its greater degree of visibility overcame this. "No free fires," Major Matheson said, "could not know of were discovered but from the airplane the fires are classified according to their size and the fighting organization during the area could be directed accordingly. In fact so detailed was the information carried out by the district forest inspector that those in the machine could see the fire-fighters clearly and the kind of work they were doing.

Birds In Church Choirs.

A controversy as to the relative merits of boys and women in church choirs has arisen, and it is claimed that one of the substitutes for conventional choristers adopted is that of canaries in churches.

Calvary Reformed Church, Philadelphia, some time ago tried a choir of boy whistlers to lead the singing. Lincoln Baptist Church, Nashville, Tennessee, installed a choir of birds.

Forty canaries were put in cages about the church, and trained to whistle the hymns sung by the congregation. Singing birds are kept in the Methodist Church, Turnville, but they are allowed to warble at will.

To Aid Distress.

The Montreal ex-Fighting Men's Association has collected, by means of a tag day, the sum of $15,000, which has been applied to the relief of the unemployed 1,100 families and 960 single men.

Women Diplomats.

It is expected that women will shortly be appointed to foreign missions by the Czecho-Slovakia Government.

Natural gas was first mentioned by Thomas Shirley in a communication to the Royal Society of England in 1667.

Tragedies from Trifles

Years ago a country age, an old man's cabin left a lighted lamp in a dangerous proximity to the bole of his bed; the little dreamt what tragic results would come from such a simple act of thoughtlessness.

And the started by that overturned lamp, a conflagration of devastating force, over the city, before the last flame was quenched it had reduced over 1,000 buildings to ashes and started other fires of streets. More than 11,000 buildings were destroyed; two hundred lives were sacrificed; 15,000 persons were rendered homeless; damage was done in the district of $170,000,000.

Another disaster was a recent forest fire in British Columbia, started by the careless lighting of a fire by a camping party. It spread until an area of 100,000 square miles had been burned out. Scores of towns and villages were wiped out; more than a hundred lives were sacrificed; thousands of settlers lost their homes, and were rendered destitute; damage was done in the district of $170,000,000.

Another disaster was a recent forest fire in British Columbia, started by the careless lighting of a fire by a camping party. It spread until an area of 100,000 square miles had been burned out. Scores of towns and villages were wiped out; more than a hundred lives were sacrificed; thousands of settlers lost their homes, and were rendered homeless; damage was done in the district of $170,000,000.

One August night a train, carrying a thousand excursionists, was rolling through the darkness on its way to Niagara Falls, when the engine-driver, on rounding a curve in his line, saw a short distance ahead a red glow through which columns of flame were darting.

In a flash of horror, he realized that a wooden bridge over which his train was on fire. It was too late to pull up; the only alternative was to attempt to rush the obstacle.

The train thundered into the heart of the fiery furnace, to the accompaniment of roaring and the dauntless engine had been dashed through them, the engine reached the opposite side in safety, but the smoke-filled coaches through the charred timbers of the bridge, and fell into the river-bed, fifty feet below.

One hundred and sixty holiday-makers lost their lives, while hundreds of others received terrible injuries. In the history that followed it was found that the fire had been started a few hours earlier by a boy who had made a bonfire in the grass on the river's edge. The flames had leapt to the bridge, the timbers of which had been burning slowly for many hours before the ill-fated train crashed through them.

About fifty years ago M. Trouvelot, a French entomologist, was experimenting with silkworms in the small town of Medford, Mass. One day he received from a European friend a few eggs of the gipsy moth, which he placed with others in his window was open, and a puff of wind blew the eggs into the garden.

M. Trouvelot had quite forgotten that incident, when one day in the following summer he discovered, on a tree near his house, a colony of fat caterpillars with red and blue spots. He killed all he could find; but next day they reappeared in greater numbers, and the entomologist learned, last, that all his neighbors—only to be laughed at for his pains.

A score of years passed. Then, in the summer of 1919, the plague broke out that Medford was black with caterpillars. Soon not a leaf was left on any tree, and every blade of grass was eaten.

From Medford the caterpillars spread new districts until they had stripped over two hundred and twenty square miles of land of every shade of vegetation. All efforts to stop the plague were futile. For many years the state spent $250,000 a year in desperate efforts to subdue the pest, when at last it was estimated that it had done damage estimated at many millions of pounds.

Leacock's Greatest Joke.

It can't help congratulating Stephen Leacock on the making of his biggest and best joke in the world-wide laughter. Though we have all laughed at "Nonsense Novels," "Literary Lapses" and other enjoyable punishments, I don't believe anyone thought of what a king of jesters we had among us until he electrified us the other day by calmly suggesting that we become the candidate for mayor of Toronto. A humorist from another country could safely have ventured on that line. If a wife's joke, it would find it; he would have run several risk of an action for libel if he stuck at his mind. But I wonder if Leacock's self realizes, even now, how funny he was?

To Market Money.

It is reported that Ontario's honey crop last year will be marketed largely on the co-operative system of sale. One of the activities of the committee appointed recently by the Ontario honey experts, to co-operate with the assistance of the Ontario Government. The honey will be graded and have a registered brand for the protection of consumers. Each package will have a distinguishing number, by which it can be traced back to the producer.

Will Preserve Landmarks.

A commission whose duty it will be to preserve ancient and historical landmarks in the Province of Quebec has been appointed. It has been announced by Hon. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary.

A Large Elevator.

It is planned to begin construction this year at Montreal, on what will potentially be the largest elevator in the world, with a capacity of ten million bushels.

Thirty-five electric motors control the movements of the giant telescope recently installed in California for astronomical observation.

The fancy note is very strong in the Quebec tailleurs, which affect the short straight jacket, arranged usually in the waistline pleats, and some of the new straight checker collars which may be thrown back.

BRITAIN'S HAPPY COUPLE TO WHOM THE GOOD WISHES OF THE EMPIRE ARE EXTENDED

HALF-BAKED MORALS

By BYRON STAUFFER

From the Biblical declaration that "Ephraim is a cake not turned," we get the expression, Half-baked. The secret of good flap-jacks is to know when to flop them. Otherwise they will be doughy-ho top and blistered beneath.

A one-sided development, lacking symmetry, will litter a defeat Henry Ford's ambition to be president of his country. Henry's wonderful career if not to be lightly spoken of. Not long ago he told how, at thanksgiving time in 1904, he and his wife walked all over town to buy the cheapest chicken for their holiday meal; so economical they were that they pulled to be. And last year he paid into the treasury of the United States the pay ithe of wines and cummin and have omitted the weightier matters of the law—judgment, mercy and faith."

Some people's religion in the old days was altogether a "matter of emotion. Mark Guy Pearse, the 82-year-old Methodist leader, lately gave a very optimistic interview in which he said that the usual question at prayer meeting when he was young was, "Well, brother, how do you feel?" He once attended a very excited meeting in which a brother knelt at the form, banging it with his fist and vociferating, "Lord, give us soul-saving faith!" There was a chorus of Amens. Then, "Lord, give us devil-driving faith!" Another chorus of Amens. Then was heard another voice, "Amen, Lord, and give us debt-paying faith!" There were no further Amens, but sudden silence.

Down among the oil fields in Pennsylvania, my host was a big-faced, big-framed man of seventy or more with a penchant for hymn singing. We had gathered about the piano, his pretty daughter playing the accompanying, while we sang the old tunes. "You Canadians sing this to the tune of Miles Lane," said he as he turned to "All Hail the Power." "It is far better than Coronation," said he. "But please may I start on the first to the last line." We sang it again and again, and it was wonderful to see him spread his arms abroad when we came to "Crown Him-m." "It is all in the Him," he declared. And I in the village could minister in the village could be here and see it as we do. My dear friend's view of the general acceptance of the doctrine of the Trinity is the first requisite of religion." And I congratulated that pastor on having such a zealous layman, he whispered, "Don't say that in your lectures tonight, for most of our people regard him as the biggest old skinflint in the county."

Jesus gave us a full-orbed religion when He said that "on these two commandments —Loving the Lord and our neighbor as ourselves hang ALL the law and the prophets."

The Daily Recipe

Chocolate Fudge

2 cupfuls of sugar, 1 cupful of water or milk, 1 or 2 squares of chocolate, 1 teaspoonful of butter, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla.

Melt the first three ingredients together slowly until they form a soft ball in water. Do not stir the fudge after taking it from the stove, but add the butter and allow it to cool. This is the place where many people make a mistake. They think it is cool when it is not. It must be cool in the center as well as on the outside of the vessel. When it is cool, add vanilla and beat it with a wooden spoon, if you do not wish to break a silver one.

JUST REMEMBER

That—Safety inspection at home is even more essential than at the shop.

That—Children need more safeguarding than you do. See that they get it.

That—Children love to play with matches and that more children are killed in this manner than from any other cause except street accidents.

That—Poison, concentrated lye, etc., should be kept in a safe place out of reach of children.

That—All stairways should have a hand-rail.

That—Where there are small children, porch entrances should be provided with a safety gate.

That—Porch swings and hammock hooks work loose and should be inspected frequently.

That—If there is a small boy and a gun in the house, they should be kept apart.

That—Dry cleaning is a dangerous operation. Do you know that the inflammable fluid used in your dry cleaning establishment is one hundred times as high as on dwellings.

"Thank you," replied the visitor, "I'm not a reader."

Kingston, Mar. 1.—A woman pacemaker from Montreal on the midnight train was placed under arrest on her arrival in Kingston, as she was under suspicion of carrying liquor. When her trunk and suitcase were searched the police found twenty-two bottles of whiskey. OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Reville's (the maker of the royal wedding rows) nanoquina showed models to be worn by guests, and white white and vivid colorings predominated. emphasis is placed on petunia and on the series of greentones that runs from lettuce to jade.

London reports a growing popularity for bronze and marble busts and porcelain portraiture, a vogue which is said to have been helped by Lady Patricia Ramsey's wedding gift to her husband of herself modelled by Mrs. Claire Sheridan.

Spring frocks in New York feature with the new crepes and taffetas in shades of gray, tan, blue and yellow skirts with soft draperies and low waistline and bead embroidery, color ribbon, bands and bindings form much of the trimming.

COOKING FOR ONE

Two Reader Friends have written me to ask for menus for a woman who is living alone and doing her own cooking; "There are so many women living alone, like me," says one of these letters, "and I believe they would all appreciate an article on this subject."

The problem in cooking for oneself is a perfect fetish that one may play in small enough quantities so that the left-overs will not be more than enough for one meal. Roasts and large cuts of meat, for instance, are out of the question—unless one wishes to have a guest in to share it with.

In the following menus I have not touched upon breakfasts; for the average woman likes about the same thing for breakfast, day in, day out, and would not follow my suggestions for variety then.

When cooking potatoes it is best to do a double portion—half for the next day. As a pie seems best for one to bake, I give a plain jelly filling.

Sunday Noon Dinner: Can of Consomme (using only half of it), broiled lamb, mashed potato (double quantity) cup of peas (half of it), coffee and raisin tarts.

Monday Noon Lunch: Peanut butter sandwiches, tea; stewed prunes.

Monday Night Dinner: Other half can of the consomme, boiled potatoes, cold beef loaf, other half can of peas, pickles, and tarts.

Tuesday Noon Lunch: Baked macaroni and cheese; cocoa, apple sauce.

Tuesday Night Dinner: Broiled slice of ham, creamed potatoes (left over from last night), spinach, coffee gelatine dessert (enough for three).

Wednesday Noon Lunch: Last night's ham left-overs minced and mixed with boiled, mashed potatoes, made into cakes and fried; Coffee, rest of gelatine dessert.

Wednesday Night Dinner: Canned chicken soup (½ can), chops, baked potatoes, canned corn, and canned pineapple.

Thursday Noon Lunch: Cream cheese sandwiches, other half-can of corn baked in ramekin, tea, cookies.

Thursday Night Dinner: Rest of last night's chicken soup, Hamburg steak, baked potatoes, boiled rice, coffee, rest of last night's can of pineapple.

Friday Noon Lunch: Left-over rice, from last night, formed into cakes with floured hands and fried, then eaten with syrup, Tea.

Friday Night's Dinner: One-half can tomato soup, boiled cod, boiled potatoes, beets, and lemon meringue pie.

Saturday Noon Lunch: Bacon sandwiches (using cold, left-over bacon from breakfast), cocoa, cookies.

Saturday Night Dinner: Other half-can of tomato soup, pork and beans, fried potatoes, left-over cooked beets heated in vinegar with spices (a quick pickle); orange-banana salad, and tapioca pudding.

If the housekeeper has dinner at noon, the luncheon menus given here may be used for suppers with equal appropriateness.

"Tinker Bob" Stories

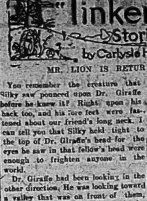

by Carlyle H. Holcomb

MR. LION IS RETURNED TO THE TRAP

"You remember the creature that Tinker Bob called the Giraffe in Silky and Jungle? Well, then Mr. Giraffe before he knew it? Right upon his tail, too, and his sore feet were fast-tened about our friend's knee. Now you can tell you that Silky held tight to the top of Dr. Giraffe's head for the eyes he saw in that fellow's head were enough to frighten anyone in the world.

Dr. Giraffe had been looking in the other direction. He was looking toward a valley that was on front of them, while Silky was looking toward the Jungle in back of them. He had been so much interested in the friend he saw in the valley that he never thought of the creature that was approaching from behind.

I want to tell you that there were many peculiar thoughts passing through the minds of Silky and Dr. Giraffe. Tinker Bob did not see the fellow approaching because he was not up high enough. He was riding on the head of little Tim Elephant.

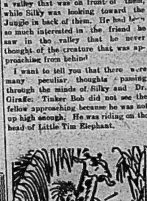

Silky had clung so tight that he nearly choked the poor long-necked fellow.

Well, it is enough to say that there were some quick actions on the part of Dr. Giraffe when his neck was clutched so firmly by the creature from behind. However he would have been killed had it not been for Tinker Bob.

The King had been looking for an attack but was surprised to have the creature come from this direction. But he was ready at any time, the largest Animal of Knowledge and the wonderful Mr. Lion fell from the back of Dr. Giraffe in a heap on the ground.

Mr. Lion had been following them all the way, determined to show Tim

FRIGHTENED!

"Every morning I woke up, I felt that something terrible was going to happen."

Writes Mrs. M. and she goes on to say, "I wonder if any other women ever had such fits of depression as I had for over a year. I was so utterly despondent that if it had not been for my children, I believe I would have put an end to my life. Every day and every night was a nightmare. I was terribly nervous. I had to leave all work most of the night. When I did sleep, I had the most dreadful dreams. My health—in fact, I was completely run down—nothing interested me, nothing appealed to me. I consulted several doctors. They prescribed different remedies to build me up but these preparations didn't do me any good. Doctors told me I had a nervous breakdown. I had tried all the doctors I could get but my nerves were so bad I was afraid to leave home. The last little exertion left me thoroughly tired out. I knew I was gradually wasting away. I felt I was going to die and I was so thoroughly miserable that I did not care whether I lived, or not. And then I heard about Cortrol and what a fine tonic it was. At first I refused to take it as I was sure it wouldn't do me any good. Finally I did try it with the most wonderful results. I am well and happy every minute of the day now. I eat heartily and sleep soundly. My friends notice the change that Cortrol alone has done this for me. I am never despondent now and every day is a day of joy. What Cortrol has done for me it will do for you."

"Where do we go from here."—The Belleville Tigers.

The Port Hope Guide still continues to slap at Belleville. Here is the latest effusion: Five enthusiastic hockey fans from Niagara Falls passed through here this afternoon in a large McLaughlin limousine on their way home from Belleville. They report the same treatment that all other teams receive in the Eastern town and claimed that Belleville were allowed three goals that did not come any where near the net. Harvey Sproule who officiated when Port Hope played in Belleville had charge of last night's match and prominently displayed in chalk on the back of the limousine was the inscription "Sproule the robber."

Wipe away your tears Sandy and console yourself with the fact that Belleville is going to have a championship team this year, while the skates of the Port Hope Ontarios are rusting in the barns. And it was the Tigers that put them there.

GLADYS ROBINSON IN TROUBLE IN EAST

St. John, N. B., March 1.—Gladys Robinson of Toronto, well known skater, who was barred by the amateur rules from giving an exhibition at the professional meet here last week, gave an exhibition of her speed in the 220 and 440 yards in an indoor rink here last evening. Local amateur officials had warned her not to skate on penalty of endangering her amateur standing, and later in the evening a report on the matter would be submitted to Louis Rubenstein, American, member of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada.

If Miss Robinson skated without remuneration or prize she can hardly be disciplined. It looks as if the eastern people have been going out of their way to make trouble for the little Toronto flyer.

DOG TEAM RACE STARTS

Dog Lake, Ont., March 1.—Nine teams commenced a 200-mile mush yesterday at 11 o'clock in the fifth annual The Pas Dog Derby for a purse of $2,500. A hard trail prevails. Sam Frantean stands on equal favorite with C. H. Morgan, last year's winner, and Dupas-Dancroft team. The first bulletin of progress will be brought back by motorcycle at mid-night to-night.

The McDonald, Burke, Archie Scout, Alfred Mallard, and the Constant entries withdrew last night. The following teams started:

Dupas-Dancroft, Sam Frantean, Larry McKay, Baptista Campbell, Gabriele Campbell, Solomon Cook Stur Bjorkman and Carl Sharman.

A NICE SENTIMENT

There may be Canadian prophets without honor in their own country, but the hockey players of the fast Belleville intermediate O.H.A. team certainly not neglected in the city which they represent.

The Belleville fans have full confidence in their team and are ready to back their chances with good hard cash every time. The receipts of the season the team will be given a banquet, and Kingston fans sincerely trust and hope the championship celebration.—Kingston Wig.

WELSH ABANDONS COME-BACK IDEA

The Dainchy Matter Admits His Boxing Days are Over.

Freddy Welsh, in whose comfort walk away with the title." Welsh lucky Kansas trained for his battle with Benny Leonard, has, it appears, abandoned the idea of another attempted come-back, and what he saw at the Hilton-Slade fight in New York the other day is said to be the settling factor in his determination. Freddy says that Mr. Dempsey is a nice figure during most of the bout, and that Jack is surely slipping, and that "if thought Jack would be able to hold his own with the California boy, but there is no question about it, he is on the toboggan, and going at a great clip—toward oblivion. know just how he feels. His thinks Freddy says that Mr. Dempsey is a speak louder than words. During the first part of that bout I could see Jack trying to keep from going, but he was simply stalling. His fire has died down, and the first hard punches that come on his face will make him walk away with the title." Welsh says the trouble with these veterans is that they train for another fight all right, but the muscles refuse to stand up under the gaff. Welsh says he will realize he is going—when he is gone.

O. R. F. U. TO BE STRONG

NEXT FALL

Hamilton, March. 1.—Advices from Toronto indicate that Toronto University will operate two Rugby teams next fall—one in the Intercollegiate and another in the O.R.F.U. Varsity in line the old union will probably go ahead with Ottawa, Hamilton, Varsity and another Toronto team. It ought to be a compact little group, providing, of course, the Hamilton club measures up to the others in the matter of strength.

LADIES' HOCKEY AT PETERBORO

Peterboro, Feb. 28.—The Peterboro ladies' hockey team, who are the only local aggregation who have a chance to bring a hockey trophy to Peterboro this season, will play the Lakefield team here on Thursday night in the second game of the series for the cup donated by Mr. Hirsch, of Lakefield. The two teams played a tie game in Lakefield last week, and the locals are confident of beating Lakefield girls and winning the round on Thursday. The program for the night will include the Senior School final game between the Collegiate "A" team and the winners of the St. Peter's Collegiate "B" fixture, so that the fans will be given an interesting double bill.

ALERTS 7; HUSTLERS 1.

A very interesting game of hockey took place last evening at the Lingham street rink between the hours of five and six, in which the Alerts proved to be too wert for the Hustlers, winning by 7 to 1. The kids play a very good game of hockey and in a couple of years time Belleville will be able to have material enough for a couple of junior teams to enter the O.H.A. The line-up for Hustlers were Wilbur, Forrester and Darrah, while all the Alerts starred.

Mr. H. Parker handled the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

The line-up was as follows:

Alerts — Goal, Thompson; defence, Kelley and R. Palmer; centre, Salisbury; wings, Kennedy and H. Palmer.

Hustlers—Goa, Letourneau; defence, Wilbur and Forrester; centre, Dickey; wings, Darrah and G. Palmer; subs, F. Robinson and G. Way.

BALL PLAYERS ARE WELL PAID
Salaries of Today Compared With Last Decade's Pay.

New York, Feb. H.—"It's tough," said a ball player who was the star of the National League in his infield position between the years 1905 and 1912, the other day. "It sure is tough. I was then just fifteen years too soon."

The retired ballplayer speaking, who now has a responsible clerical place with a big league club, was reading a perusal of a fledgling ballplayer for a $10,000 salary, and had just been discussing the signing of a young second baseman for $12,000 on a two-year contract.

"Ain't it —" he continued. "Here are ballplayers not a bit better than I was, and they're getting ages—most of them not as good, as a matter of fact—who are getting three times as much, and, incidentally, a whole lot easier. I thought Jack would be able to hold his own with the California boy, but there is no question about it, he is on the toboggan, and going at a great clip—toward oblivion. know just how he feels. His thinks Freddy says that Mr. Dempsey is a speak louder than words. During the first part of that bout I could see Jack trying to keep from going, but he was simply stalling. Not Much for This "Babe."

"Did you know that "Babe" Adams, the hero of the 1909 world's series, the pitcher who trimmed Detroit and gave Pittsburg a world's championship, got $5,000 for 1921, by 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1921? Well, he did. And here are pitchers of the Yankees and Giants, to be never will be, who belong on the side of 'Babe' Adams' pants, asking and getting from $10,000 to $14,000.

"Why, John Clarence Coveleski, the "Cleveland killer," got $3,200 in his prime. Christy Mathewson, king of them all, drew $6,000 a year. He may have got more later, but he was near the end of his string then, though still good. Miner Brown, of the Cubs and Detroit, and anybody the Cubs ever faced for years for less than $4,000. It makes me laugh to think of Miner and Mathewson working for what they got compared to the pitchers of to-day.

"Grover Cleveland Alexander got $200 a month. "Rube" Marquard got $2,400 in 1911—a year in which he pitched in a couple of world's series games after helping the Giants win a pennant. One of the best pitchers the Reds ever had, 'Bob' Ewing, never got over $1,200.

"Talk about infield talent. Why, Al Bridwell, about as good a shortstop as Rogers Hornsby ever was, when he got was tickled to death to get $4,000 a year for a three-year contract, then a $5,000 a year contract. Miller Huggins, a wonderful second baseman, drew $3,200 from the Reds in 1910. Chief Wilson got the same amount, and he was some hird sacker. Buck Herzog got $2,500 from Boston in 1910. He got more later.

"There are catchers to-day getting $8,000 of $9,000 for a year's work. Roger Bresnahan was happy when he got $2,000 back in 1910. Pat Moran, now manager of the Reds, drew $2,500 as a backstop. Ivy Wingo was a star catcher with the Reds, got $1,200 with the Cardinals.

"I could take to go and find some fountain of youth where I could jump in and come out with a good pair of legs, a good arm and a pair of good eyes, and I'd get back in this riot of spending for about $15,000 a year myself.

There is a riot of spending on in baseball. There is no doubt about that but, according to the club owners, it is not of gradual growth, but has been brought about by the unexpected gross prosperity the game enjoyed in the last two years. No business, except those that shot up in a night during war time, ever got anything like it.

Baseball Wars Helped

"The ball clubs never paid anything like the salaries the men are asking now," said a club owner the other day. "Back in 1910, the men began demanding more than the traffic would bear, and a salary limit of $5,490 per man was put through. That was one of the things which led up to the formation of the Brotherhood, and the disastrous war it was. The wealthy men in the players interested on their side of the case could not find the financial misery they had expected, and they quit.

"The average salary between 1891 and 1900 was around $2,000—stars got a little more, the general run considerably less. Then came the American League, and the war brought another period of fairly high salaries, which lasted till peace was declared. Then up till 1914 there was healthy competition between the two big circuits, at then came the Federal. The ballplayer salaries doubled in a League war.

"Most received big bonuses for signing contracts. To retain the stars the old leagues tied them to long-term documents at fancy figures per—fancy in those days. They wouldn't cause any newspaper comment now.

"That died away, and then came the war years, and as fast as the Federal League contracts died out folks forgot about them and went back to normalcy—the old $2,500 or $5,000 contract.

"Into the 'normalcy' year of 1919, when the timid magnates put over a 140-game schedule for fear of a crash. The game proved sound. Then came the Black Sox and the decision over Benny Leny, St. Louis baman in eight rounds.

CARPENTIER-LEWIS BOUT IS NO JOKE

London, March 1.—While the Carpentier-Lewis bout may be getting a laugh in the United States, it is not being taken as a joke by the British fight fans.

The Kid literally has had London by the ear since he returned to his native land a year ago and the fans really think he has a good chance to win from the Frenchman.

The Lewis following reasons that Georges is not the great ring machine he was before he met Jack Dempsey and that the Kid is pushing harder than he ever did.

London was elated over the way Lewis finished Tom Gummer recently, and the fans were not impressed with Carpentier's form against the Australian, Cook.

Major Arnold Wilson, who is promoting the coming bout, says he believes the Kid has a good chance against Carpentier.

"He pouches like a heavyweight and his footwork is like a bantam's," Wilson told me.

They like Lewis over here because he is a good boxer, gameness and they figure that Carpentier showed himself very susceptible to an attack downstairs when he met Dempsey.

"The only thing Carpentier has on me is weight," Lewis told me. "I'll be carrying very near thirty pounds, but I can do it."

FAMILY OF NINE SAVED BY DOG

Awakens Soldier's Family by Barking, Making Possible Escape.

Toronto, Mar. 1.—A family of nine were saved from being burned to death in their home, 1 Bruce street, early yesterday by the barking of a fox terrier spaniel dog. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith and family of nearly of seven small children were sound asleep when clothing hanging on a fireplace in the kitchen caught fire. The dog was in the room, and when the flames had gained hold on the building started to bark and scratch at the door. Mrs. Smith was awakened, and on going to the dining-room discovered the fire. Mr. Smith carried the smaller children from their beds, while the others, able to walk, ran out the street in their night attire. They were taken to the home of neighbors for the night. The dog was safely taken from the burning house.

Smith, a returned soldier, had received a notice that he would shortly has a mortgage against it for $1,200. In order to make a payment he sold his pension of $16 a month for $60. Fortunately, the home was insured for $1,800.

Smith has been out of work for several weeks and has been receiving aid from the D.S.C.R.

IN MEMORIAM

SIMMONS—In loving memory of Frances Beatrice Simmons, who passed away on March 1st, 1921.

Death is only an incident in an unfolding life;
From life to life she passed, no death is here;
This is a step of progress, not the end;
I hear her saying, with a voice of cheer:
"Tis of life's nature ever to ascend.

Say not her work is done.
To dead of love or goodness ever dies:
But in the lives of others multiplies;
Say it is just begun.

Oh, no—not dead; but past all fear of dying;
And with all suffering o'er.
Say not that she is dead when Jesus has called her
To live forevermore.

Sadly missed by Mother, Brother, Sister.

What Was Advice Most in Women in Perfect Health—the Sign of Strength

Barrie, Ont.—"I was suffering from a weak system some time ago, was unable to perform my daily duties, and was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I tried it, bought two bottles, and was restored to perfect health and strength. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicine too highly and will be willing to write to any one that I am a stanch advocate."—Mrs. A. H. Bishop, R. R. No. 1.

Mothers, Advice for You!

London, Ont.—"I wish I could tell all the women in the world who suffer with women's trouble, what a wonderful medicine Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is. My marked experience with it was during my first experience. I became discouraged and my people were quite alarmed about my condition. The doctor's medicine did not seem to reach my trouble at all so my husband urged us to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and to please him I did. Before I had finished the second bottle the distressed drooped into nothing and I felt in absolutely perfect health. I had no further trouble from that time on. I afterwards took Favorite Prescription whenever in a nervous rundown condition and it always strengthened and built me up."—Mrs. Lily Stoddart, 438 Ontario St.

ORDERS ARE ORDERS.

When Sir Robert Borden met an English Sergeant.

He said: "Sir, I'm certain that friend Richard Xipline private," "I don't obey no orders unless they is mine." Most of the British soldiers My word no. You ask Sir Robert Borden. He was tall you the story to prove That to the British soldiers "orders is orders," and that you may take the brand and easy path to the place where there is no bother about winter, before he will depart from them to the breadth of an orthodox.

It happened when Sir Robert was Premier of Canada. He was over in London attending the Imperial Conference that preceded the Peace Conference. On the afternoon that the then President Wilson of the United States was to arrive in London, Sir Robert got up his best frock coated kind him to the station to take part in the reception. Until he reached the rolled-off circle wherein stood the King and other dignitaries, also best frock coated, he knew not that the President, Sir Robert had no misgivings. At a drop he learned. Coming to the railing he was confronted by a haddenne representative of the British army, wearing a sergeant's uniform and a number of stripes indicating wounds.

"Ticket, sir," said the sergeant sanarily.

Sir Robert resolved something then. "By Jove," said he, "I've forgotten it. Left them on my desk in Whitehall Gardens."

"Must have a ticket to get in 'ere sir," said the soldier.

"But I won't have time to go back and get it before the train arrives," protested Sir Robert. "Here's my card and happen to be the leader of Canada."

"Can't 'elp it, sir; orders is orders. No ticket, no gettin' in."

"Look here, sergeant," said Sir Robert. "There's the King. And I call him over here a minute; he'll vouch for me."

"Couldn't do it, sir, my orders is to stay 'ere and 'ere I stay."

"Get one of your men to call him."

"Sorry, sir, the men is acting on orders, too; I can't call 'em away from their posts."

The situation became too embarrassing for Sir Robert. He didn't get through the barrier in time to greet the President and he did say some things subsequently that startled those to whom his urbanity and dignity are characteristic.

They do say that about the middle of the week he used sounded suspiciously like "Old darn it." But subsequently he saw the humor of the situation as well as its illumination of the British character. "It's O.K. sal," he said. "How could the fellow ever hope to beat a race like that?"

Deserts Wife for Spouse.

How a romance of the wilds of Canada triumphed over an infatuation of the city was told in the Supreme court in London, Eng., by Mrs. Florence Delaney, who was granted a decree nullifying her marriage to Archibald Delaney on the ground that it being a bigamous marriage. Her petition was not contested.

The plaintiff said she went through the form of marriage with Delaney in February, 1917. She had known him several years before he went to Canada and she heard nothing more of him until 1916, when she saw him in one of the Canadian forces. They were married in Bristol in Hastings. Soon after their marriage, however, he returned to Canada with the understanding that she was to follow him, but later she received a letter from him in which he said he had married an Indian girl on Bear Island, Nipissing, in 1910, and that she had resigned him and they were living happily together.

He said he was under the impression that his marriage with the Indian girl was illegal, but had found that it was not. He hoped he would have to go to prison for his marriage in England. Mrs. Delaney then received a letter from Angel Mackenzie, Delaney's Indian wife, who was in the form of an affidavit, testifying to the marriage of Delaney.

Battle for Alaska.

Between Stanfist, apostle of conservation, and Secretary of the Interior Fall, apostle of exploitation, there is being waged a duel to the death for the control of Alaska. Unrestrained exploitation of the mineral resources of Alaska has furnished the excuse for the renewed assault of the forces headed by the secretary. Unrestrained exploitation of the mineral resources of Alaska has furnished the excuse for the renewed assault of the forces headed by the secretary. Unrestrained methods of the conservationist administration of the territory are held to be the cause of the stagnation to Canada. Very sinister methods by the astute Canadian government are alleged by the propagandists of "conservation" to be draining off of natural resources is known to its friends. Probably President Harding will be dragged into the controversy before long, according to Washington despatches.

Alaska remains one of the few great undeveloped areas in the United States. Whether it will become the richest land of a state, or green-clad and a territory, remains to be seen. Canada will be an interested spectator.

The Artful Dodger.

Johnny's mother was tired of having her tablecloths stained. So she instituted a fine of one penny for every blot. During tea, a few days later, Johnny was observed rubbing his rather grimy fingers very hard on the cloth beside his cup and saucer. "Johnny, what on earth are you doing?" asked his mother, in surprise. "You'll soil the tablecloth." "Oh, no, I won't!" replied the young-ster. "I'm just trying to rub two spots into one."

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—Regarding my letters appearing in your paper from Ald. Robinson, regarding economy and cut of salaries, etc., I would say whatever he has refused to act on the committee having charge of the salary question.

Now, I would appear to be as though Ald. Robinson is only throwing a bluff, when he refuses to act on the committee. It appears to me that he do all his fighting with printers' ink.

We, as citizens, know Ald. Robinson of only one thing, and if he wants to accomplish anything he must take his council into consideration, as they are human like the rest of us.

Now, in conclusion, let us hope this Ald. Robinson will show some common sense and get down to business as that is what we elected him for.

Yours very truly,
GEO. A. HOLDEN,
21 Centre street, city.

WHAT DID YOU SEE?

Junior City Council

J.C.—I see that the Belleville Junior Council, after a long delay, are holding their second meeting in the Council Chamber to-morrow night, and they will introduce a few new by-laws. There boys are going to make this city hum shortly and annihilate any sinister that is directed toward them.

VISCOUNT HARCOURT NOT A SUICIDE

London, March 1.—"Death from misadventure" was the verdict rendered at the coroner's inquest yesterday into the death of Viscount Harcourt, former colonial secretary, who died here February 22. Evidence was given to show that death was due to syncope while the deceased was suffering from pulmonary disease and was accelerated by an overdose of bromide. The coroner added that it was grotesque to suggest that Viscount Harcourt had committed suicide.

NOTHING CONCRETE ACHIEVED BY FIELDING

Such is the Feeling in Official Circles at Washington After the Visit of the Canadian Minister of Finance—Fielding Would Make No Statement.

Washington, March 2.—No concrete proposal for bringing about a reciprocal trade agreement between Canada and the United States will be brought back to Ottawa by Hon. W. S. Fielding, Canadian Minister of Finance, as a result of his visit to Washington. This appeared to be the consensus of opinion in United States Government circles yesterday morning. Mr. Fielding is generally understood to be merely sounding the opinion of the Harding administration in regard to tariff matters with a view to securing information required in framing the Canadian budget proposals for policy. It is believed that he was here to make say proposals looking to the immediate enactment of reciprocity.

Mr. Fielding was yesterday in private conversation with President Harding following his interview with Acting-secretary of State Fletcher. The visit of the Canadian Minister has aroused much interest in political circles here, and there is a great deal of speculation as to the possible outcome. Mr. Fletcher and other officials of the Department of State refused to discuss the object of Mr. Fielding's visit, and Mr. Fielding himself was refused to make any statement. From authoritative sources, however, it is learned that the possibility of an arrangement to reciprocal free trade in certain products between the two countries has been discussed during the conference, together with the effect of proposed new legislation upon the trade relations of bringing this about.

Washington, March 2.—Opposition to any reciprocity agreement with Canada was voiced by Chairman McCumber of Senate Finance Committee, in statement that Hon. W. S. Fielding, Canadian Finance Minister was in Washington in interests of such an agreement.

SERIOUS FIRE IN ARSENAL

Firemen Fighting Flames Are in Danger From Imminent Explosion.

Quebec, March 2.—The Dominion Cartridge Factory, a section of the Dominion Arsenal, and the only one of its kind in Canada, is likely to be wiped out by a fire of unknown origin, which started shortly before 11 last evening, and which the entire fire-fighting force of Quebec is now battling strenuously.

The building, which is an old frame affair, to which a number of additions were made during the war, is burning like tinder. At ties behind the factories, and adjoins the ramparts in the Cove Field and the danger is accentuated by the fact that within 100 yards is situated a storehouse containing tons of powder. The difficulties of the fire-fighters are accentuated by the fact that water has to be pumped a considerable distance, and the pressure is badly reduced by the time the nozzles are reached.

The vivid red flames ever and anon burst into a great volume while an loose powder is reached, only to be followed by a dense cloud of red-dish and smoke. A score of fire-fighters are tearing away at the roof, an inferno beneath their feet, while hose still in the cellars are completely filled with fulminate of mercury, used in loading the percussion caps.

So precarious is the situation that spectators are being kept back several hundred yards and can only see the flames and a cloud of blinding and helmeted men fighting on the brink of eternity. Many loose cartridges have already exploded, and Assistant Fire Chief has been injured by a bullet which, luckily fairly well spent, struck his cheek.

INTERNATIONAL COMPLICATIONS MAY ARISE OUT OF THIS

Fort Worth, Texas, Mar. 2—King Georgeod Britain, through his attorneys, has filed suit in the District Court here against President Harding, asking damages of $1,000,000 for alleged delivery by the Rock Island Railroad of sixty-four cases of corned beef during the war.

HEAVY SENTENCE FOR BRENNERS

Retribution Follows Swiftly on Attempt to Defraud Their Creditors.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Toronto, March 2.—Convicted on February 3, on various counts of conspiracy and theft, involving some $700,000, Meyer Brenner to-day received a sentence of seven years' imprisonment in the penitentiary, while his father was sentenced to two years, less one day, in the reformatory. Charges against Nathan Brenner included conspiracy, and theft, while those against Meyer included destruction and mutilation of books.

PLACER RUSH IN ONTARIO

There Have Been 282 Claims Staked in Five Days.

Cobalt, Mar. 2.—Platinum values have been added to the list of gold finds in driving scores of men across the sand wastes east of Matheson in the first real placer rush Ontario has witnessed. Old timers participating in the excitement say it reminds them of the feverish times that attended the finding and staking of Porcupine. To-day, although the real rush began late last Thursday, a line of country over 12 miles long and five miles deep has either has been solidly staked, and more men are reporting to the field of operations. Where they will stop, and when, no one knows. The sand ridges, from Lake Hose to which the first kind of placer gold was made, extend a score of miles. Few know what they are staking. A variety of the rich peaks of ridges, swept clean by the terrific winter winds the ground is covered with fine, dry snowdrifts.

The centre of the rush is Munro Lake, in Munro township, five miles from the Cross, and from which the ridges run the most spectacular gold quartz samples in Ontario's mining history have been found being done by Munro, McCool, Guibord and Michaud townships, lying in a block a day's run, with Munro in the centre. The N.O. railway stations. The first stampeders went in from Matheson, on the old Cheeora road. Newcomers are running in from Ramore, using the newly cut road to Lightning River goldfield.

Losing No Time

The last word is that 123 claims have been recorded, and there are 153 more already staked.

The big forest fire of 1916 swept the country bare of trees. There are no landmarks, no survey posts, nothing but the black stumps—a desolate waste, looking after a year of shell fire. Here and there are heavy snowdrifts, its gravel and sand banks, here to the blizzards, no larger country to travel could be found anywhere. There is no shelter.

Hardships of Weather

Ed. Kearney, one of the first stakers in the rush, who took up claims surrounding the original find, say he never went through anything worse than the terrific storm that raged last week, piling up drifts twenty feet high and filling the air with snow

LIQUOR SALES HEAVY IN B. C.

Moderation Law in Western Province Proves a Farce.

FIGHT IMMINENT

Temperance Forces Launch Strong Anti-Liquor Sale Campaign.

Toronto, March 2.—Startling statistics have just appeared showing how the "Moderation" liquor law of British Columbia has not only failed to moderate consumption, but has led to the widest lawbreaking in the way of intoxicants. The figures show that the monthly average sales of liquor during the last quarter of 1921, under so-called "Moderation" in British Columbia, were 68 times the amount of sales for the month of September, 1920, which was the last month of prohibition.

Here are the facts as received by Dr. A. S. Grant, head of the Dominion Committee on Liquor Legislation:

Sales under prohibition, by Government vendors, June, 1920, $18,173; July, 1920, $10,743.

Sales under "Moderation" by Government liquor stores—monthly average from June 15 to September 30, 1921, $686,858.

Sales under prohibition, by Government vendors, for September, 1920 (the month before the vote was taken) $13,972.

Sales under "Moderation," in Government liquor stores—monthly average—October, November, December, 1921, $823,305.

There are 51 Government liquor stores at present in British Columbia (eight of which are located in Vancouver) and 90 bonded liquor retail stores warehouse. The gross receipts from liquor sales in the Government stores from June 15 to September 30, 1921, are $2,293,918. From October 1 to December 31 the gross receipts were $2,469,917. Total receipts for the half-year, from June 15 to December 31, 1921, were $4,698,835.

It will be noticed that during the last three months, when there has been much unemployment, and merchants were complaining of lack of business, the cash business of the liquor stores was $241,000 greater than in the previous quarterly period.

The temperance people in the Province are by no means accepting the situation "lying down." A campaign has already been started by the British Columbia Prohibition Association, which has proved a petition which is to be presented to the Dominion Government at an early date, calling for an amendment to the Canada Temperance Act to provide for the taking of a referendum on the question of stopping the importation of liquor into the Province and the re-enactment of the Prohibition Act.

FRANCE WANTS PEACE, SAYS POINCARE

Corpse of French Imperialism Long Ago Laid in the Dust.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited.

Paris, March 2.—In a speech delivered at a luncheon given by the Anglo-American Press Association, yesterday, said that "French imperialism is an old scarecrow which long ago was laid to rest alongside the tomb of Napoleon in the Invalides." He declared there was not a single Frenchman who had thought, either for the present or for tomorrow, of taking advantage of any warlike enterprise or of annexations.

"We have no other wish than to guarantee peace," he said, "but unfortunately we are not guaranteed against those who might trouble it.

"SYNTHETIC FOOD" MENACE TO HEALTH

New York, March 2.—The dinner that is jammed into a capsure and swallowed with a little water finds no enforcement here. A menace to health and home, was the characterization given "Synthetic Food" yesterday by physicians and sociologists.

Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, head of the Life Extension Institute, stated that benefits derived from meals depends upon more than mere nourishment and declared that from this body-in. Instead of the food tablet being a boon to humanity it, therefore, would be a positive evil.

HAY IS ELECTED LIBERAL LEADER

Appointment of Provisional Leader is Made Permanent at Toronto.

ONE BALLOT ONLY

Three Names Went Before Liberal Convention for Election.

Special despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Toronto, March 2.—F. Wellington Hay, former provincial leader of the Liberal Party in the Provincial Legislature had his appointment ratified as permanent Leader by the Liberal Convention meeting at Toronto to-day. Mr. Hay was elected on the first ballot.

All of the others nominated for the Provincial Liberal Leadership having declined to stand for election, W. E. N. Sinclair, Major J. C. Tolmie and F. Wellington Hay were the only names that went on the ballots for voting by the Provincial Liberal Convention here this afternoon.

Wellington Hay, acting Liberal leader to-day declared that there was any flirtation on the part of the Liberal group in the legislature with the Government Party. He reiterated the opposition favoring a safe and economical development and administration of the Hydro scheme, which was adopted.

TRENTON I.O.D.E. UP IN ARMS

Complain of the Position of Captured German War Trophy.

The Daughters of the Empire in Trenton are indignant at the position which has been given to a German war trophy, which has been erected so that it now stands with the muzzle pointing towards the I.O.D.E. memorial to the sixty-six men of Trenton who gave their lives in the war.

The Governor Simcoe Chapter I.O.D. E. determined at its annual meeting held on Monday last to devote its time and energy to the introduction of a bill into the Dominion Parliament which will standardize the display of foreign trophies of war. The situation which now exists in Trenton is considered by the I.O.P.E. to be both unpresidented and unfortunate.

At the annual meeting the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Regent—Mrs. Geo. A. White, (for the fourteenth year).
Vice-Regents—Mrs. Caverly and Mrs. R. C. Titus.
Secretary—Mrs. Glen. R. White.

WOMAN REFUSES TO LEAVE PRISON

Husband is Now in Jail and She Fears Starvation.

St. Catharines, Ont., March 2—Mrs. Mike Leonard, sentenced to six months in Welland county jail, refused to leave prison Tuesday when informed that she had been granted parole. With Mrs. Leonard was her baby, who was born in jail with her three weeks ago when a still was found in her house in Welland by federal and provincial authorities.

Her husband was at work at the time of the raid and hearing of it he went to prison in the country, while his wife and infant went to jail. Later remorse overtook Leonard, and armed with a desire to see his family, he returned, was arrested and also sentenced to six months.

Recommendations to the proper authorities brought the parole order yesterday. But Mrs. Leonard was loath to leave the jail.

"We no want to come out," she told the governor. "Let my husband out of the jail, and my baby will have no place to go and nothing to eat."

Eventually she was released, but against her will.

CLEVELAND BUILDING STOPS

Cleveland, March 2.—Construction of many buildings was at a standstill here today and many men were idle as a result of the failure of the building trades council and the building trades employers' association to reach an agreement over a wage scale for 1922.

LIBERAL MEMBER MAKES ATTACK ON O. T. A.

Says "Every Little Hamlet Has a Brewery All Its Own"—Believes "Tories Think They Built Niagara Falls"—Declares Toronto is "Hydro Crazy."

Toronto, March 2.—Liquor dispensary profits were attacked in the Legislature yesterday by Sam Clarke, Liberal member for Northumberland. Under the present system he said, the sick man was "not only robbed by the doctor, but also robbed by you, Mr. Attorney-General."

"If you are selling your liquor for beverage purposes," Mr. Clarke added, "put up your prices. If you are selling your liquor for medicinal purposes, do not take it out of the poor, sick and afflicted. Do not keep the dispensaries as money-makers for the Province of Ontario. We had the money-makers years ago when we had the license system."

Thinks Cheaper Canning

Mr. Clarke professed to have found that the O.T.A. was making "liars and thieves" out of the citizens of Ontario. People in the small towns and hamlets were doing things they never thought of doing before—making home-brew instead of bread. He predicted a return to the not very distant future to the days of "moral suasion and human" system of handling the liquor question.

On Hydro affairs, the member for Northumberland completely endorsed the action of the Government in refusing to allow a blind pig to the Hydro-radial venture, but doubted the wisdom of the immediate establishment of a Hydro-radial system.

Mr. Clarke opened by affirming his intention of being at all times a representative of the people of the Province rather than of a party and of voting for measures, Governmental or otherwise, which he deemed to be good measures.

If such a course did not suit the leader of the Liberal opposition party, who had seen fit to accuse the Liberal Leader of selling out; it did not suit the Liberal party, or any considerable body of citizens, Mr. Clarke said, he simply could not help it; it would not be his life desire to please.

While the member for Northumberland congratulated Hon. P. C. Biggs upon the assumption of his great portfolio, he said he was not sure but that "he is going a little bit too fast." His principal objection was that he dealt with a smaller mileage construction each year. He desired to point out that the Province had the six upon a hundred-acre farm in Ontario already amounted to a serious monetary.

Speaking on Hydro matters, he accused the Conservatives of having built a political football out of the subject. One would think, he said, the Conservatives not only instituted Hydro but built Niagara Falls.

CANADIAN DELEGATES HAVE BAD TIME

C.M.A. Committee to West Indies Adrift in an Open Boat.

Nassau, B. W. I. March. 1.—The delegation of Canadian manufacturers visiting the West Indies, which seemed threatened to have their tour terminated at its first port of call, Nassau. On account of the U. S. Treasury, Canadian Commercial Agent, and Mr. Forbidin, manager of the Royal Bank conducted a search of the hold of the ship for the manufacturers' party. Later Consul Cornelius Cardozo and Lady Cordozo entertained at a garden party and this was followed by dinner at the Colonial Hotel, and later the theatre.

At 11 p.m., the Canadian party, amid cheers, set off for the wharf to the Canadian Fisher. Twenty minutes later the engine of their motor boat ceased to act. After drifting about for nearly half the night, the party, worn out and exhausted, eventually drifted on shore at two a.m., and were billeted in the town wherever beds could be obtained.

"OVER THE HILL" AT GRIFFIN'S TO-NIGHT

That truly lovable play "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse," dramatized from two beautiful poems by Will Carleton in "Farm Ballads" is to be the attraction at Griffin's Opera House to-night and it is a foregone conclusion that everyone who has a heart is hold a sacred place for the kindly deeds of "mother" will attend the performance. It is a play of mother love sublime, eloquently portrayed. The most appealing, the most heart-rending, the most impressive and the most fascinating story ever provided in a comedy drama.

"Over the Hill to the Poorhouse," comes here with the heartiest recommendation from the press in other cities, where the production by an exceptionally capable company, was enthusiastically received.

It is just the kind of play to captivate an audience made up of people who enjoy a wholesome mixture of sentiment and delicious humor.

"BEHOLD MY WIFE!"

Hailed by the critics and motion picture public as one of the finest productions of the current season, George Maiford's "Behold My Wife" is coming to Griffin's Theatre for 2 days commencing to-morrow with a matinee Saturday. The story was first adapted from Sir Gilbert Parker's novel of the Canadian Northwest, "The Translation of a Savage."

The central characters are the aristocratic son of an English family and the simple Indian girl whom he encounters in Canada while he is on business for the Hudson's Bay Company. Receiving word from his fiancee back in England that she has broken with him because of his family's objection to their marriage, Kenneth, in a fit of rage, marries the Indian girl and sends her back to England as his wife to disgrace his blood-red stock. Then he proceeds to hit the toboggan in this own way. However, dramatic events work a transformation in both the young Englishman and his bride and she ending is a happy one.

"Behold My Wife" has been filmed against a background of snow-capped mountain peaks, bleak Canadian valleys, log pools, and luxurious English country homes. The action is interpreted by a distinguished cast including Mabel Julienne Scott, Elliott Dexter, Milton Sills, and Ann Forrest. Frank Condon adapted the story to the screen. It is a Paramount picture.

A 2 reel Buster Keaton comedy, the latest chapter of "Winners of the West" serial featuring Art Accord, and Pathe News will be exhibited on the same program.

DELIGHTFUL ENTERTAINMENT

During the winter season the management of the Y.M.C.A. have provided through what is known as the Star Course, some delightful entertainments but none more so than that which was given last evening by Oyapels and Company. Prince Oyapels as a violinist is an Indian young lady and is certainly a great entertainer. Her Indian dialect is all that could have been desired, and her interpretations of Indian legends and dances were perfect. She is also a delightful singer.

Miss Fannie Weintock is a violinist of no mean reputation. The various numbers she gave demonstrated her abilities to perfection.

The pianist, Miss Florence Berry, is also clever and has a fine conception of the selections she executes. All the performers were most cordially received by the large audience and were compelled to respond to encores after each selection. The programme given was as follows:

Piano Solo: Prelude C Minor—Rachmaninoff.

MANY CIVIL SERVICE CLERKS ARE "FIRED"

Minister of Militia Swings the Economy Axe in Retrenchment Campaign.

Ottawa, Mar. 1.—In the interests of economy, the axe is being swung in the militia department. Upwards of 60 clerks in that department, most of whom were engaged in war work, have been notified that their services will be no longer required after the end of this fiscal year of March 31. The majority of these are in the records branch and were not on the permanent employes.

Other economies will be effected by Hon. Col. Cockshutt, who, while a merciful man, cannot blind his eyes to the crying need for retrenchment in the war department.

It is rumored, for instance, that the Lindsay arsenal will be disposed of, and also the one in the old Quebec arsenal will make all the ammunit ion required.

ONE KILLED, TWO INJURED,

Montreal, Mar. 1.—One man was killed, two were injured, and nine other men had a narrow escape early yesterday morning when a wall of the excavation being made for the foundation of the new county house on Notre Dame street collapsed, and the avalanch of several tons of earth engulfed. The dead man was Fred Shinoks. Vitre street. He was crushed to death by the other men were only slight.

THE MYSTERY OF "ROARING RAILS"

On many of the railway systems of the world the phenomenon of "roaring rails" has been a too familiar trouble to permanent way engineers of the rails developed ridges at regular distances of an inch or so, and these corrugations had to be periodically planed down. On electric tramway systems the same trouble appeared in even greater magnitude, the ridges in some cases being excessive that the rails had to be ground flat at great expense—only to reappear from corrugations as soon as the traffic was resumed. All sorts of explanations were offered and for a long time the precise cause of the trouble remained a mystery. Now the problem has been settled by a series of experiments carried out by a committee of British experts on a tramway subway in London, where the rails and track could be altered freely so as to test the various explanations put forward. The conclusion reached is that vibration has nothing to do with the case and that the real cause lies in the action of a very heavily loaded vehicle running along the rail. This action makes the material of the real surface "flow" into waves or corrugations which pass on to the unloaded surface flows into waves under the action of a steam roller. The corrugations appear to be in the case of harder rails and, where possible, of larger wheels.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

"Thousands Have it and Don't Know It," Says Physician—Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How to Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from coated, furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling of stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers and cancer are to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

If catarrh of the stomach s good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bismuted Magnesia in a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucous from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach, while the bismuth acts as a local antiseptic and the magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take, and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bismuted Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, salts, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bismuted form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.

THE BIBLE GOES HOME

Will Be Taken to Land From Which It Came.

Eighteen months ago an Egyptian young man, Mr. Yusef Iskander Grace, a member of the Orthodox Coptic Church, went to Jerusalem as E. Trowbridge's office in Cairo, seeking to learn how he might work for Christ within his Church. Mr. Trowbridge, who is the Bible School secretary for Egypt, nerve meeting the World Sunday School Association, gave him an Arabic copy of Dr. Marion Lawrence's "How to Conduct a Sunday School." A few week later the young man resolved to devote his life to introducing Bible study among the children of the Coptic Church. For centuries the priests have discouraged individual study of the Word of God, reserving the reading and interpretation to the clergy. Thus the Bible has been smothered and neglected. But through this new effort of the young man, led by Mr. Grace, 9,500 scholars, chiefly boys, have been organized into classes and have received New Testaments or single Gospels, besides weekly lesson helps. The movement has spread from Cairo to Alexandria, Assuit and provincial cities.

It is remarkable that this same volume, "How to Conduct a Sunday School," should have gripped the life of a young Gregorian layman in the city of Ainlab in Central Turkey, purchased a number of books, including this one, from a Turk who had received them in the liquidation of the properties of the Great War. Originally this copy had been sent by Mr. Trowbridge to an Armenian pastor, leading this young Armenian to get a large degree Mr. Levon Boshgezian of Hartford, and he is now studying in the United States with a view to returning to his own Armenia to engage in Sunday School work.

The Pantomime.

The connection of the mimes or mummers with olden-time festivities probably accounts for the fact that Boxing Night is the recognized time for the opening of the season's pantomimes. These performers also display their gorgeous scenery, now bear little, if any, resemblance to the crude shows which in earlier days were known as pantomimes. Their success depended entirely for their success upon mimicry—the act of telling meaning and suggestion to dancing and gesture. Pantomime proper, it may be recalled, succeeded the puppet show, or which we still have traces on our stretch with "Punch and Judy," and, on the variety stage, in the "Marionette"; living beings acting in dumb show instead of the wooden puppets. But modern pantomime is merely a spectacular play based upon some popular fable, with the Harlequinade—has totally disappeared, for in these days such a show would be regarded by all but the children as meaningless buffoonery. There may not be, of course, much that is rational in the present day pantomime, but there is left at least a pleasing display of scenery and dresses to compensate for the usual flimsiness of the plot and its general lack of cohesion.—Family Herald.

A Queer Mesm.

You might be surprised for a moment if you were told that mankind lives entirely upon colors, metals, and other minerals. But it is true. Our food is of two kinds—animal and vegetable, and the first is really the essence, so to speak, of the second, for all our food animals make their flesh by eating grass and other plants. Plants, then, form the only supply of all other living things.

But how do plants get their food? They live entirely on minerals obtained from the soil, and on chemicals distilled from the air. Our bodies need these chemicals and minerals, but we cannot use them directly; the only two that we can use in their crude form are water and salt. All the others must be worked up into different forms, and this is done by plants.

Their roots bore down into the soil, breaking up small stones and extracting from them the minerals that are needed for their—and our—existence. These they transform into substances that animals can eat.

Women and "Ill-Luck."

The ill-luck women are supposed to bring under certain circumstances is noted by Mr. Charles T. Gorham. Men who worked in the fields, mines used to believe that if the first person they met in the morning was a woman it was very unlucky. They believed this so implicitly that they would afterwards refuse to go into the mines. It was also considered unlucky for women to "let the New Year in." A woman who read the marriage settlement found it in entirety before her marriage was said to be fated to epinsterhood. Mr. Gorham suggests that one could scarcely believe this, inasmuch as all women who could read probably read the whole service through, and many of them have no doubt afterwards married happily.

An Appalling Name.

Lord Desart, one of the British members of the International Court of Arbitration at The Hague, rejoices in the altogether appalling Christian name of Arnoldeshalk, which was borne by the father of the first Lord Desart and also by the latter's paternal grandfather, Col. Agmondesham Muschamp, of Cromwell's Roundhead cavalry.

RELIEF CARGOES OF CORN ARRIVE

Moscow, March 2.—The first of the corn purchased with the United States Congressional appropriation of $20,000,000 reached the actual starvation belt when a train-load arrived at Tsaritzyn, in the Saratov region, on February 25, according to advices to the American Relief Administration headquarters here.

Twenty-five trains from November, on the Black Sea, are now moving to the various hunger points. Six ships have arrived at Novorossysk and two at Odessa, since February 6, and the unloading is proceeding satisfactorily.

The movement from the Baltic ports of seed and of rations for the starving children is being considerably held up by the ice in the Kiel Canal, which prevents movement of ships.

How to Stop Hair Grow Strong, Thick and Lustrous.

If your hair is thinning out, don't wait another day, but go to J. S. McKeown and get a bottle of Parisian Sage, the truly efficient hair grower.

Don't say: "It's the same old story; I've heard it before," try a bottle at their risk. They guarantee Parisian Sage to stop falling hair and stimulate a new growth, banish all dandruff and almost instantly stop scalp itch, or money back.

Parisian Sage contains just the elements needed to promptly invigorate the hair roots. It's a prime favorite with discriminating women because it makes the hair so soft and lustrous, and appear twice as abundant.

Parisian Sage is inexpensive and easily obtainable at all drug stores.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—In conversation with an alderman yesterday regarding the paving or repairing of Mill street, I got the following information:

An asphalt pavement the same as Front street with a guarantee of fifty years would cost $80,000. To repair and make it a good macadam street would cost from $2,000 to $4,000.

Below is a comparative calculation of the respective prices for a period of five years.

Asphalt Pavements

Five years interest at 5% of the original cost of $80,000 partly compounded would be $22,000 using five years of life of pavement or 10% of the whole would be 8,000 making a total of $30,000

Macadam Pavements

To repair macadam pavement it would cost $4,000

To maintain and keep in good repair after the first year at $1,000 per annum 4,000

Interest partly compounded on $4,000 would be 1,600

making a total of $9,600

The inhabitants of Mill street are neither numerous or rich. Figure this out for yourself.

Yours truly,
WM. THOMPSON.

P.S.—Since the above conversation I have learned that the guarantee is for twenty years instead of fifty years.

STILLS SPRING UP LIKE MUSHROOMS

Windsor, March 2.—Whiskey stills are springing up like mushrooms in the border cities, federal law enforcement officers say. Within the last month alighty more than a score of stills have been raided by the officers fines ranging from $200 to $500 being imposed on offenders brought up in police court.

Alexander Benette, the latest offender, paid $200 and cost yesterday for a keg of gin in his possession. Mounted police officers raided his home in Ford, Tuesday night and seized a distillated still and a small quantity of mash and moonshine.

PEARLS AND DISASTER

TRAGIC HISTORY OF WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFUL NECKLACE.

Queen Catharine II. of Russia Collected Valuable Jewels and After Many Years They Passed Into the Hands of Wife of a One-time Machinist In Small Michigan Town.

Those who have studied the history of gems affirm that if at all valuable gems were always unlucky, rarely if ever are they destroyed. If, not buried with the original owner, they pass from one to the grave of members of succeeding generations. Even if buried, they are probably dug up in the course of time, to continue their career, inciting to love and hate, greed and murder. A rare gem never loses its identity. That emeralds which contributed to Cleopatra's magnificence are probably in existence somewhere to-day.

All of which adds to the interest of the $1,500,000 pearl necklace of Mrs. Horace E. Dodge, widow of the late automobile manufacturer of Detroit, Michigan.

The existence of this wonderful necklace, said to be the peer of its kind in the world, was first learned of brought to public attention after a having a still in his possession. Mounted police officers raided his home in Ford, Tuesday night and seized a distillated still and a small quantity of mash and moonshine.

brought to public attention after a search of $10,000 in silverware was recently received from Cartier $416,576. Of this $300,000 was consumed in the charges.

There is no less than 220 absolutely perfect pearls in the wonderful string and it is said that a really valuable pearl ornament never loses its identity, even if it be taken apart, stones from their beginning grim history. Each one has consumed in their history, which has seemed to them a part of their life at the moment.

Just how old they are no one seems to know, but their dolphin story begins with the coronation of Catherine II. of Russia. She was an obscure German princess, and married the reigning czar of Russia. Taking the reins of Government, Catherine soon found it necessary that she was a power.

Her love for great love was pearls. Her strong bones were filled with them. Her dressing table and ladies-in-waiting were showered with pearls—pearls—pearls. Her crown, following the death of this Muscovite ruler, her will bequeathed all of the pearls, including the pearl necklace in question to her grandson, Alexander, who became czar.

Ill fortune has followed the deities of the Russian Empire ever since. Revolutions, assassinations, uprisings and famine fill its history.

The Romanoffs, ill fated, miserable in their helplessness, finally ended with the massacre of Czar Nicholas and family by agents of the Bolsheviki in Siberia, altogether a most sordid tragedy.

The last rulers of Russia were taken so quickly that Queen Catherine's pearl necklace as well as the crown jewels fell into desecrating hands, and need for money, following the signing of the armistice, brought the necklace to America.

Now the wife of a one-time machinist from a small country town in central Michigan comes into the story of these innumerable priceless pearls, as the scene of Horace E. Dodge's career was the purchase of these most expensive gems for the helpmate who had, thirty odd years before his death, struggled with him, fought the vicissitudes of life with him, and finally won success with him.

During the early part of January, 1920, the two Dodge Brothers, who had just received a payment from Henry Ford in the sum of $27,000,000 for certain interests in the Ford Automobile Co., went to New York. After attending a banquet to 200 salesmen of the Dodge Brothers Automobile Co., during the Auto Show, they were both taken violently ill, and a few days later John F. Dodge died. His death was given out as resulting from pneumonia.

Horace E. Dodge lingered and recovered sufficiently to be taken to his beautiful winter home in Palm Beach. For a time hopes were held out for his quick recovery. It was during this time of his apparent convalescence that the necklace was purchased by him from the house of Cartier. Then, curiously enough, a few months after it came into the possession of his family, in December of that year, the death of Mr. Dodge occurred.

Now this magnificent strands of pearl, surpassing it is claimed in sheen and luster any other pearls in the world, are again adding to their history by becoming involved in bitter court proceedings, and doubtless tragedy and mystery will hover over them for ages yet, to come for such, curiously enough, is the history of almost all such baubles.

Imagine the toil of death, misery and unhappiness which surrounded that historical string of pearls and diamonds once worn around the neck of Marie Antoinette! She displayed them once too often and died by the guillotine. And yet, in 1785, Cardinal Louis de Rohan had the temerity to purchase them for the then fabulous sum of $320,000.

Discrimination.

Mrs. Thwaite—Yes, indeed. She breaks nothing but the best china.

PLACER RUSH IN ONTARIO

and sand. Men and dogs were blinded; they could not see five feet in front of them. "All that saved me," says Kearney, "was that my partner was a returned soldier. He started a dugout and we certainly dug ourselves in mighty fast."

The report that platinum values have been encountered in the gold working comes from reliable men. Details are lacking, which is not surprising, for there are only two or three assay plants in Canada capable of handling platinum determinations. That the precious metal, worth $1,000 a pound, exists in the area, was known five years ago, but no one had ever been able to get workable deposits of it. Whether the field will amount to anything rests with fortune. Many will wait till the snow goes in the spring, and they can see what lies beneath. Other stakers are already returning with full outfits, determined to start 'work at once.

Geology of The Vendors

Placer sands with rich gold content in the part of Northern Ontario are quite possible, geologically speaking. Years ago, Prof. A. P. Coleman, who enriched so greatly the literature of Northern Ontario's mining possibilities, said that glacial placer deposits in Northern Ontario might be found, and might be found rich. He, as a specific, mining engineer of the T. — N. O. railway, says the reports from the field are most interesting. Hard work and careful search with regard to conditions left by the melting glaciers, may be rewarded.

To picture the possibilities, visualize the great glaciers that one after the other, pushed their way down through Ontario from the far north, each gathering up rocks from the earth's surface, breaking off vein matter, grinding the rock beneath the pressure of millions of tons, pushing the particles on. Many a Hollinger mine may have been torn away from its fastenings, and put through the mill of the grinding, crushing, slow-moving glaciers. And then the ice slowly melted, glacial rivers, as big as many we know to-day, were formed by the melting ice and snow, the grounding particles were caught by the swirling streams, and placers were formed. Prospectors believe that the logical place to look today for these placers are places that may have been the beds of these glacial rivers. That is why Munro and Porcupine Lakes, and their streams, and other natural depressions, are the scenes of the most active staking in the rush.

STEAMER OUT OF ICE GRIP

St. John's, Nfld., March 2.—The escape of the Norwegian steamer Beire from the ice floes that have held her fast since February 16, some distance off the Newfoundland coast, was announced in a radio message from her Captain, received here yesterday. It is reported that, with a shift of the wind to the westward, the floes had moved enough to enable the steamer to work her way clear, and that she was proceeding toward Cape Race.

BATTERIES

Only One Kind of Battery Economy

If ever there was a case of "penny wise, pound foolish," it is when a man goes price shopping for a battery.

There is only one way to economize on a battery for your car and that is by buying the best obtainable. The difference in original price between an Exide and the cheapest battery is nothing compared with what you save on the Exide in longer life and freedom from repairs.

You owe it to your temper and your pocketbook to have a rugged, long-lasting Exide in your car, and this is equally true whether you are buying a new car or replacing your present battery.

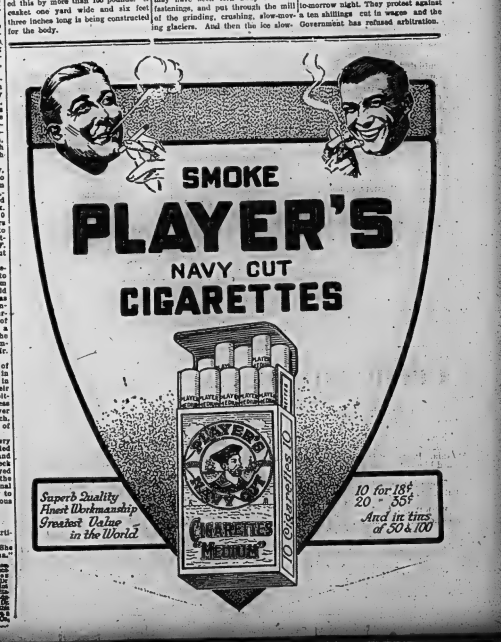

Insist on an Exide Battery. If you have any trouble in getting one write us or our nearest district distributor.

Parts lighting electric give better service when Exide Battery equipped. Most of them are.

COAL MINING IN CANADA

There is in the Dominion of Canada an industry which is as indispensable as it is valuable, one that rarely hears its praises sung and is looked to only in moments of emergency when other fields of supply fail. That industry is the coal mining industry and a report has recently been issued by the authorities at Ottawa on the matter of coal mining in Canada.

During the year ending with December 1921 there was a total output of fifteen million short tons valued at $74,273,000, or approximately $4.97 per ton.

This quantity was 58 per cent. of the amount mined during the preceding year, when the total output was 16.9million tons. In 1919 a total of 18.9 million tons of coal was raised so that although the output in 1921 was 12 per cent. lower than in the preceding year, it was more than a million tons in excess of the 1913 production. The highest monthly output recorded was for November when more than 15 million tons was mined; the lowest was in April, the total for the month being half a million tons less, or 941,000 tons.

Alberta held the premier position among the coal-mining provinces, with an output of 6.8 million tons. The output of coal from the mines of British Columbia amounted to 2.8 million tons, while Saskatchewan mined 332,000 tons and New Brunswick 180,000 tons.

An analysis of the disposition of coal during the year shows that 68 per cent. was shipped; 22.1 per cent. went to railroads for locomotive consumption; 7.2 per cent. was used about the colliery for power purposes; 4.2 per cent. was sold for ships' bunkers; 3.2 per cent. was put on bank; 2.6 per cent. was put on the waste dump; 1.5 per cent. was supplied to employes for domestic consumption; .9 per cent. was used in the manufacture of coke at the collieries; .4 per cent. was used in making briquettes.

THE EVILS OF ALIENS.

It is evident that Canada must pay greater attention to the question of aliens, both as regards their immigration and their treatment when they have entered this country. Complaints are freely made, says the Kingston Standard, that by a system of co-operation, aliens from such countries as Poland are enabled to find the money qualification necessary for entrance here, and thus a large number are coming in of this class who are not wanted, those who will flock to the cities to enter into competition with Canadian wage earners. Strict inquiries should be made into this financial co-operation in all its ramifications, as they would probably show clever schemes by which a little money would be made to go a very long way.

But the lesser problem is forced upon our attention by shocking press report from Winnipeg that the wholesale slaughter of children and aged and sick persons, so that Doukhobors of Western Canada may roam the country unhampered as a vagrant class in protest against extortionate taxation, is contemplated by certain leaders of the Doukhobor community. This statement was made to the correspondent of The Montreal Star by M. M. Koftinoff, manager of the Brilliant, B.C., office of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, as the Doukhobors are known. This office is the headquarters for British Columbia. Saskatchewan and Alberta also are involved.

It is further stated that all children under 10 years of age, together with the maimed and infirm, who cannot travel far, will be thrown into the Columbia River if the terrible proposal is acted upon. This will represent nearly half the Doukhobor population of Western Canada.

Undoubtedly this is an extreme case; but the question naturally arises that, seeing how long the Doukhobors have been in Canada, how is it that they can for a moment entertain such horrible intentions and ideas. Of course it is well known how fanatical they are, and how their fanaticism has been shown by going about stark naked. This was known long ago, but what steps have been taken to inculcate Canadian ideals in them? But a lesser problem is involved in the colonies which have been formed of Chinese, Japanese, Hindus and other aliens in various parts of Canada. These people in a minor degree require management which will turn them into Canadian citizens. The subject is one which requires most serious attention.

CRISP COMMENTS

The reason business conditions are unsettled is because so many accounts are.

Mr. Jerome Napoleon Bonapart, says a New York message, denies the report that he has been offered the crown of Albania. Indeed, it is said that the Albanians are most friendly toward him.—London Punch.

There is something in the theory that the earth is flat. It is flat on its back, but is going to turn over.—Toledo Blade.

With Pennsylvania sending Crow and Pepper to the United States Senate, the political menu appears.—New York Call.

In a way the travelling salesman is just now the most independent of men—he seldom takes orders from anybody.—Kansas City Star.

Now that the drives for endowments have been put over, college professors have begun criticizing the newspapers again.—New York Tribune.

That plea for a high tariff on beef suggests a play for high steaks.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

There is some difference as to whether the open door in China should be opened from the inside or the outside.—Boston Shoe and Leather Reporter.

There are probably days when Warren G. Harding wishes that he were back in the Senate, merrily putting stumbling-blocks in the way of legislation desired by the President.—Nashville Southern Lumberman.

High prices decline when declined.—Greenville Piedmont.

Though autoists are relieved of the likelihood of a provincial gasoline tax being levied this year, there are sundry other little items connected with their use to prevent owners from becoming too purse proud.

We judge from reading Hon. Howard Ferguson's speech in the Legislature that he not only dislikes the Drury Government, but would kick it downstairs for lacking in qualifications too numerous to mention. One thing is certain, Ferguson is a staunch friend of the Hydro, and in his speech he drew a very sharp line between the government and the Conservative party's position on the Hydro issue.

A BAD COMBINATION
(Indianapolis News)

The trouble at Hobbs, Col., seems to come from a combination of low order of mentality and high salaries—as in the Arbuckle case. Few things are more dangerous than money in the hands of those who have no idea of its value, and not the slightest sense of its responsibility which its possession imposes. Undoubtedly there are many of these folks who are not so low, when probably in all aspect to be, and also the pace is set by those who are rich. There do not seem to be any moral standards, hardly indeed a suspicion that such things exist.

MOTION PICTURE MORALITY
(Ottawa Journal)

In spite of the objection of [illegible] generally among motion picture people is advanced the questionable character of some of the pictures they produce. Pictures of this kind would not be produced if the public did not want them. We don't know whether the motion picture people like to act such pictures, but we do know that there is a great demand for them. The sweeping condemnation of the motion picture craft is as ridiculous as was the old idea of the ignorant punk regarding the speaking stage.

THE WATCHERS
(Lolse Whittleey, in New York Herald)

From eastern windows one may see the morning star arise,
And watch the glory of the dawn swift flood the waiting skies.
While all the coming day will bring is still a glad surprise.

For hope is born with morning, as surely as the sun
Lifts up above the rosy hills after the night is done.
Before the shining wheels of day their music begun.

And youth crowds at the eastern gate, with joyous feet and free.
Eager to take the morning road with its uncertainty.
Nor asks advice of graybeards—sages like you and me.

From western windows one looks out upon the closing day,
And sees the gold and crimson fade to pearl and silver grey,
But evermore is an his lips, his heart knows no dismay.

Behind him lies in shadow soft the path by which he came,
And if upon its beetling cliffs he fall-
ed to carve his name Experience is as rich as hope and peace more sweet than fame.

And goodly seems the sheltering inn
to him who travelled far;
The fullness of the tide has drowned
the callint of the bar,
And fair the harbor lights gleam out and over them a star.

IMPROVED DEW PONDS

In many countries where rainfall is comparatively slight there are frequent heavy dews, which are partly absorbed in the soil and partly lost by evaporation when the sun rises. A British man of science has suggested a means by which the dews can be collected in a reservoir. His plan is to arrange a radiating surface over the ground to receive the moisture at heat insulator between the two. The cistern is sunk slightly into the ground on a concrete-walled plinth and it is surmounted by heat insulating material. When water condenses on the radiating surface it drains to the reservoir, where it is protected from evaporation by the heat insulating layer. Under favorable conditions in the eastern counties of England, where the rainfall is often inadequate, a reservoir with a cover of 100 square yards and a storage capacity of 12,000 gallons would provide a average daily supply of 100 gallons during the hot summer months and 50 gallons for the rest of the year.

RUSSIAN RELIEF FUND
TOTALS $22,000 TO DATE

Ottawa, March 2.—The Canadian Committee of the "Save the Children Fund," announces that cash contributions to date total $22,000, several donations in kind have also been made. The Canadian Pacific Railway authorized a contribution of three hundred bags of flour yesterday, according to a telegram received by the president of the fund, from Col. J. S. Dennis, chief commissioner of the railway. The response to the appeal of the Canadian committee is an indication that Canadians realize the urgent necessity of supplying foodstuffs to the starving children of the Volga districts in Russia.

New Memory System

How is it you have such a good memory, Norah? her mistress inquired.

Well, mum, I'll tell ye. Since me childhood never a lie have I told, and when ye don't have to be tellin' yez memory is wonderful. Now what ye told this one or that, or how ye explained this or that, shure ye don't overwork it at all; it lasts ye, good as new, till ye die.

THE KHAN, IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

THE MEDIOCRITIES.

I have coined a phrase: "Do ow wel the things you do do!"

How's that? The tendency is nowadays to preach to-pipe, not to do this or that. Why not appeal to them to do things, and, Oh! do do well the things you do do?

Women who are just nicely feeling their votes come to me to explain the sense before stand aisle made out of basswood, reinforced concrete or just plain mud? Why a dark horse should be chosen when there is a horse of fire splurging around in the corral is beyond their comprehension. It was predicted that when women got the vote the mediocrity in public life would disappear. Why, should we think? Who is it married the mediocre girl in a community? Not the smartest fellow in the bunch, and it's not known it! She will ride around with the horses of fire, till she is all fed up, and then what does she do? She marries some gentle and inoffensive old plug or some skate that couldn't go a mile unless he was in a taxi. When God made men and the men these women marry every day, I am discouraged. Honest, thing they put a premium on mediocrity. If there is a particularly homely cuss in the neighborhood the girls naturally don't like him alone. If it is admitted even by his best friends that he don't know no more than the jay-bird, the girls first order of business as to who will get him. I hate to think of it, but is it possible that the women are like the rest of the race, they are inclined to play safe? I am afraid that in the future things are going to be worse than they are.

I have known a great people not a million miles away from here take a mediocre calf out of a muddy barn yard, cover him with a lion's skin and parade him through the land as the King of Beasts. I have known a great province to choose for its legal adviser a cheap and fourthrate legalite of Athlone Corner, and the woodsfull of really great lawyers. We used to wonder why the heathen bowed down and worshiped idols that he himself had made. We do worse than that. We will whittle a Premier or an Attorney-General or a Cabinet Minister out of punk pine, or fashion him out of a discarded rafter, and we will set him up in our high places and bow down and worship him. More than that we insist that everybody else does the same thing whether they like it or not.

We certainly do well the things we do do. And the women can't do any better than that. We never told that when they put the vote the handsomest man would be elected. Go up to the legislative building any afternoon and see for yourself if this is true or not. The homely cuss is still in the running.

In the past humanity learned to be leary of brilliant men. In the long run the quality of mediocrity is unastrous. It is an acquired instinct to cotton to the dark horse. There is one thing he can be depended on to do, he will run true to form. Was it from our mothers that we learned that mediocrity is the smallest size for safety? That is a long run Stick in the mud was a better nag than Chain Lightning.

It seems to me that our whole system of education tends to grade down the rising generation in a mediocre groove level. The brilliant youth is snubbed, the young genius gets bowled out. Where everybody is alike anybody will do. There be many people who are shy of Sir Adam Beck because he is a genius. Hydro is an unusual the creative genius, the stupendous daring and enterprise of Sir Adam spike sake! Would not a big, but inexpensive Stoughton bottle do as well? And yet he is the best example visible of a self-made man. That man who invariably lives up to his pledges and regards a promise as a sacred thing, is always a safe man. This country has become so utterly debauched that it is suspicious of anyone who is absolutely honest, straightforward and aboveboard in his dealings with the people. We have been accustomed to so much cant, camouflage and hypocrisy that in the eyes of some of us Adam Beck is, or rather must be a monstrosity, and yet he is the only one in the whole shooting match who lives up to this motto: "Do do well the things you do do."

A lervey hunt used to mean to me that they were after a wretch who had been preaching something that was not orthodox. That's not it at all. A lervey hunt is simply a pack of mediocre hounds relying after a good deer that happened to show some ability. And when they overtake him they worry him to death with almost human intelligence.

They certainly do do well the things they do do.

SILKY BOASTS OF HIS POWER TO RUN

It was hard at first for Dr. Giraffe to forget the attack made by Mr. Lion. The thing that made it hard was the scratch on his neck that had been made by those terrible claws. "I tell you, Mr. Monkey, that fellow would have killed me had it not been for the King. Look at my neck. Did he leave a mark there?"

Silky examined the neck of Dr. Giraffe and found the place. "I have found it, now what do you want me to do?"

"We will go to the river and wash it there. It will be all right," said Dr. Giraffe. He ought to know for he had told many a poor creature what to do in time of trouble.

For a moment or two while they were trying to find this scratch they forgot to watch the valley to see whether the friend of the doctor of the Jungle was coming nearer. When they looked toward the place again they could see no one.

"Woo is your friend?" asked Tinker Bob, for he had seen no one. He was riding on the head of Little Tim and therefore could not get high enough to see anyone who might be coming through the valley.

Dr. Giraffe stopped stone-still. "I wonder what became of him? A moment ago he was there and now he is gone."

It was also a mystery to Silky for he had also seen this strange looking fellow coming across the valley. "Well," said Dr. Giraffe. "He might have seen us and, thinking it was an enemy, gone to tell his friends that they might get out of sight."

"Where does he live?" asked Tinker Bob.

"Those friends of mine live in the sides of the hills or in underground homes. They are very careful that no one catches them very far away from these places."

"They must be very small then," said the King. "I didn't think you had friends as small as that."

"They are not small," exclaimed Dr. Giraffe. "They are larger than your friend, the monkey."

"This fellow looked to me as though he had no longer hind feet than front ones, and his tail looked as though it was big enough to be a foot," said Silky.

"You are just right," said the jungle doctor. "They have a long tail and they use it sometimes to balance themselves when they sit on their hind feet."

"We will go to the river and wash it there. It will be all right," said Dr. Giraffe.

"I think I could outrun this fellow anyway," said Silky boastfully.

That made Dr. Giraffe laugh. If you have never seen one of these long-necked fellows laugh you have missed something. He laughed till Silky nearly fell off his neck.

"Well," said he, "We'll see about that. When I see him I'll arrange to have him race with you."

"What's that I see?" cried Tinker Bob as came to the point where he could look into the valley.

We'll see tomorrow what he really saw.

SOME KNITTING AND CROCHET DIRECTIONS

A Reader Friend who signs herself "Engaged Girl" has written to ask me to publish directions for crocheting a man's silk neck-scarf for day or evening wear. And another of my readers wishes directions for knitting one of the old-fashioned "Mainhon" or "Roman" shoulder shawls. Although I cannot always promise to grant such requests, I am nevertheless very glad to print the following directions which I just happened to have on hand.

Man's Silk Scarf: Buy 8 one-half-ounce spools of thicker crochet silk and 3 spools of white, same size. The scarf is worked lengthwise in shell stitch. Begin it by making a chain 44 inches long with the black silk (without stretching).

First Row: In the 4th st. of chain make 5 d. c. * skip 2, 5 d. c. in next st., ch. 2, sk. 2, 5 d. c. in next st., repeat from * across chain until the work measures 13 in. without stretching; turn.

New Shoes for Old

Of course any shoe will wear out eventually, but how often with children it seems necessary to discard Hurlbut shoes long before they are worn out simply because they have been outgrown.

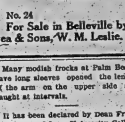

The Hurlbut Co., Limited, has solved this difficulty for parents so that it is no longer necessary to cast aside good shoes in this way. Every Hurlbut Cushion Welt is so constructed, that a full half-size can be added to the shoe by any man equipped to rebuild boots properly.

That is the Hurlbut Rebuilt service, and it offers substantially a new pair of shoes at the price of a repair job.

A special department of The Hurlbut Co. is prepared to advise parents fully concerning this service.

CARE OF THE SKIN

Once a day, preferably at night, anoint the face with pure cold cream and work into the skin gently with the tips of the fingers. Do not neglect the neck or the skin back and around the ears, for here age first shows. Wash: Wipe the cream off with either a soft paper napkin or with a piece of old linen. Then follow with a thorough washing with warm, soapy water. A soft complexion brush or a Turkish washcloth is good, unless the face is sensitive. In that case use the hands.

Before going out into the wind or sun, protect the face with a thin film of vanishing or greaseless cream and dust lightly with the fine, pure cosmetic powder; but never allow anything of this kind to remain on at night.

Most powders contain starch in some form, which swells when moistened with the skin secretions. If this powder lodges directly in the pores, it will in time cause them to be stretched and coarsened. Always use a thin film of cream first.

If the skin is naturally greasy or one's occupation is in a smoky or dusty environment, steam the face over once a week to cleanse the pores thoroughly. Wring a Turkish towel out of very warm water, place upon the face and cover with a dry towel. Repeat until the skin begins to redden. Anoint with cream, wash off with tepid the skin. Wash with warm, soapy water and then dash on cold water to constrict. It is well to say something to permit the dust of a shopping trip, a ride or a journey to remain upon the skin, as it encourages wrinkles, pimples and blackheads as well as a dingy color.

Scalloped Kidney Beans

2 cups cooked red kidney beans
2 cups raw rice
3 cups tomato
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon dripping
1 teaspoon salt
Speck paprika

Use canner or dried beans. If dried ones are used, soak overnight in cold water, drain. Cover with cold water, add one-eighth teaspoon soda, parboil fifteen minutes and drain. Add boiling water barely to come to top, and one-half teaspoon salt; cook slowly until soft in fireless cooker or in oven, or on back of range. There should only be a small amount of thick juice when done. Parboil rice five minutes, drain. Arrange beans and rice in layers in casserole or beanpot. Mix tomato, onion, drippings, salt, sugar, and paprika, and add to bean mixture. Before serving bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. By cooking the rice all night in the fireless cooker, this dish may easily be prepared in the morning ready for the final baking.

Tigers Eliminated Last Night By Niagara Falls 5-4

Belleville Tigers Lose Thrilling Overtime Game to Niagara Falls--5--4

One of the Most Strenuous and Exciting Games at Toronto Arena This Year—Game Featured by Close and Heavy Checking—About 3,000 Fans Present—Score Tied in Last Two Periods—Overtime Fatal to Locals.

Special to The Intelligencer
By Staff Reporter.

Toronto, Mar. 1.—Well, Mr. Thomas you can take the skates and the sticks and you can hang them up for another year. The Belle and the fruit is that we were licked last night, but before the Calamity Janes can start in howling or the Thomas' can get in the dampener, let's tell you all about it.

There's no need to hang out the crepe or fly the flag at half mast because the Tigers were ousted from the championship, that up to five minutes before time last night looked to be a sure cop for this fair burg by the Quinte.

To cut all the agony short we lost to Niagara Falls to the score of 5-4 in overtime. There will be no excuses from the Tiger camp to-day or any other day—we simply were beaten and that the limited by the critics. Time and time again there were chances galore for the Belleville outfit to score but just that little something that makes life and hockey so uncertain would bob up and the chance would go a-begging.

The game was hotly contested from bell to bell—there were hardened Toronto hockey fans who declared that last night's game, beyond a doubt, was the fastest seen on the Toronto ice this year, and barring none the first Granite-Varsity senior O.H.A. set-to that has been the shooting mark of all hockey teams action-bound this year.

Last night's game was a replete with thrills as any limit poker game and then some. There were about 3,000 rabid, leather-lunged fans on hand from both Belleville and Niagara Falls to see their favorites in action and we'll inform the universe that they were not disappointed. That Toronto Arena, big as it is, seem to actually shake under the thunderous volume of cheering that kept continually sweeping over the place as play after play was made.

The boys from the town of Roaring Water played a good game—but it was the usual Niagara Falls game. They checked as fiercely as they have done how, and several times did not hesitate to resort to tactics just a little the best. There were also several penalties handed out by Referee Beattie Ramsay and, seven of these were awarded to Niagara Falls. The Tigers drew four, two of which were easily seen to be accidental infractions of the rule. There was only one instance of the heavy going having any effect on the boys and that was in the first overtime period when "Daw" Whalen had a little run in with De Gray, the Falls centre man, both were warned and allowed to continue. Beattie Ramsay, the Toronto Varsity star refereed the game as well as he plays hockey and that's saying a lot.

The game by periods showed the following—first period—Belleville 1; Niagara 0. Second period—the score was tied at 3 all. The end of the third period saw the game tied up again to a score of four all. The first overtime period proved fatal to the Tigers, when Thomins, one of the Falls' wing men, went up on one of the customary lone rushes peculiar to the style of play adopted by the Niagara Falls team and shot from outside the defence, a fast, high shot that Boland didn't have a chance on.

It would be mighty unfair to any of the locals to pick any one man for outstanding work. All of the boys contributed everything they had and just a bit more, and the result was a hockey game that will live long in the annals of the game. "Daw" Whalen, was in there like a sailor on every thing. He scored two of the Belleville tallies and helped in about a million other jaunts. Gunner Lester turned in his usual sterling game and secured his notch in the old hickory. Weir also scored one and his backchecking during the entire game was a treat to that hockey-wise audience last night.

The defence worked like clockwork all evening and both Bill Green and Bouncer Holloway deserve a whole lot of credit for their smiling efforts. Pat Boland in goal was a team in himself. He handled every kind of shot in a manner unbalanced as any professional. His effort was a splendid one and the shots that beat him were those on which he had no chance at all.

The subs., Hagerman and Soup Goyer were not called upon to relieve the regulars and their presence on the ice less plenty of extra pep and speed into the forward line.

For the Falls, Bawthelmer, the redheaded defence man played a sterling game, Jerry Gray, Harrington and Fraser all turned in games far above the average. As for that Thomins boy—well, wonder Kid, does not having quite so many shots to handle as had Boland, he was well high unexceptional. His shots were turned in as exhibition of tending last night that was plenty pretty.

Niagara Falls is going to get a lot of hopes. We would certainly have like a championship team here in Belleville, but like little Mary Ann back said no and put the old thumbs down sign on us last night. The Belleville team though defeated, has done of the prestige that goes with good winners and game losers. Here's looking to next year.

The teams lined up as follows:

Belleville	position	Niagara Falls
Boland	goal	Hagerman
Green and Holloway	defence	Fraser and Bawthelmer
Weir and Whalen	wings	Harrington and Thomins
Goyer and Hagerman	subs.	Doyle and Urquhart

MIDGETS BEAT NIGHT DEPT.

Three two G.T.R. teams met at the arena on Wednesday morning. George Ramsay, referee, set the ball, started the game at 10.30. From the time of the Nightmen went to the Midgets goal and eventually by Trow beat Morey. Soon afterwards Gerow scored a point for the Nightmen. Before the period closed Morey scored and by a nice pass from Riggs for the Midgets.

In the second period the Midgets had most of the game, and good combination got its reward, Morey to Riggs and Murray got the puck past Robinson in goal for the Nightmen. Score was now 4 to 2 for the Midgets.

In the last period the Nightmen tried hard to tie the score, Robinson and Foster went through to the defence, but it was put in the corner. Gerow scored and made it 3 to 4. Crockford shot which was cleared. Shortly afterwards in a rush, Taylor went through and scored. Crockford ended period soon afterwards with the score 4 to 4.

It was decided to play ten minutes overtime and the Midgets went to the other end but could not get the needed goal. Combination of Robinson-Morris at last tallied for the Midgets. From the face-off Flagler and Foster got away and Flagler netted, making the score equal again. The Midgets were up now, and at last Murray put one by Robinson which gave them the lead. Murray was the only one to draw a penalty. George Carson with his whistle was complete satisfaction. The teams were as follows:

Midgets		Night Dept.
Morrey	Goal	Robinson
Follwell	Defence	Taylor
Pratt		Patterson
Morris	Centre	Gerow
Riggs	Wings	Foster
Mallam		Flagler
Murray	Sub

ST. PATS DOWN

OTTAWA 3 TO 2.

Ottawa, March 2.—St. Patrick's bombarded the pride of the Ottawa champions here last night, winning a hard-checking game in the National League by a score of 3 to 2. The victory was well-earned, and on the play the visitors deserved to win by a much larger score. At many stages of the play they had the Senators bottled up, but their opportunities were usually spoiled numerous promising attacks.

CANADIENS DEFEAT HAMILTON 3 TO 2.

Hamilton, March 2.—Hamilton was defeated by the Canadiens by 3 to 2 in the final N. H. L. game of the season, but Vezina was a stonewall, and their efforts went for nothing. In the early stages of the game the locals walked right through Coute and S. Stephens, but they either laid the culm her on Vezina's pads or shot it over the net, while in the dying stages with the score even and only a tie, they repeated this performance. Canadiens have Vezina to thank for their victory, as his performance at all times bordered on the sensational.

READING RELEASES TWO; BENDER HAS THIRTY-SIX

Reading, Pa., March 2.—Reading International has released two players to-day. They are William C. Mills, second baseman last season, and Ed. Bender, a Philadelphia, pitcher, the latter voluntarily retiring. Bender does not care to continue playing baseball.

Chief Bender now has thirty-six men on his squad to take South this month in training. They must be cut to twenty-one.

IROQUIS FALLS TEAM CHAMPIONS OF N.O.H.A.

Iroquois Falls, March 2.—Last night at the Iroquois Falls Arena the Cub and Bearcats, minus the services of Alteris, their star left winger, which washed the North Bay juniors by 3 to 1 in the second of the final games for the N.O.H.A. junior title and the Copeland Cup. The visitors were supremely confident before the game that nothing could stop their onward march to Toronto, but the Red, White and Black boys simultaneously with the seniors tieing the Greyhounds at the Soo not only beat them but deservedly so.

GIBBONS-GREB BATTLE SOON

Much More Than Individual Victory Hinges on the Outcome.

New York, March 2.—Much more than an individual victory or decision hinges on the fight heavyweight contest between Tommy Gibbons and Harry Greb, scheduled for March 13 in Madison Square Garden.

That bout will put in motion a process which most probably will turn out the next opponent for a world's heavyweight battle with Jack Dempsey.

The winner of the bout will be matched with Gene Tunney for the American light heavyweight championship. Carpentier comes next for a world's "battle cruiser" title, and then Dempsey.

Proof that the proposed Dempsey-Wills match for the world's heavyweight championship has received favor has been brought out by the avidity with which the Gibbons-Greb bout drew public and ring attention. Followers of the game believe it to be the best match that has been made in years.

Adds from the big things it should lead up to the meeting of the two best 175-pounders in America should be a thriller. Ring generalship before and having indulged in spirited contests in print, the decisive meeting of the men in the ring should bring out the best boxing that has been seen in years.

For Tommy Gibbons, victory will mean vindication, probably a world's championship, and surely large financial returns. Gibbons, it is said, suffered for years in being only the brother of the great Mike Gibbons. He was admitted to be a wonderful boxer, but he was so long in discovering a knockout punch that he lost many battles. He began to command attention when he started on a string of knockout victories that numbered twenty in twenty-three bouts. Most of his opponents were regarded as "setups," and he got no credit and little money. Coming into New York where preliminary boys were being paid as much as $1,000, Gibbons got $200 for the star bout at a small club. Charged with dodging the good ones, Gibbons answered that he good ones wouldn't meet him. The truth of this assertion is borne out by two interesting stories About a year ago, when promoters were making the rounds of the metropolis, Battling Levinsky was suggested. Dan Morgan, his manger, refused, however, and he writer thinks that Levinsky would not meet him because he knew he would be knocked out. Subsequently, when Gibbons was even working on the Gibbons-Greb bout, Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager, was approached to see if he would decided Leo Flynn, match-maker for Tex Rickard, and manager of Bill Brennan.

"I'll sign right now," Kane answered, when they asked, him if he would take Greb. It was admitted that Kane would be approached but they wanted Kane to sign anyway.

"I'll sign on one condition," Kane replied. "That you get Greb, promise to give us Bill Brennan."

Flynn let out a yell that he couldn't be heard anywhere, and it was agreed after much persuasion, and Kane signed. Greb, however, signed, and Brennan was left out in the cold. Naturally, it might be added, had his experience with the St. Paul boy before he developed the knockout body punch that he is now using so successfully.

Greb is one of the fastest workers in the ring, and has a battling style of offense. He has worked with Dempsey in training, and it was said at Atlantic City that Dempsey was often answered the S.O.S. for sparring partners, that the champion didn't want any of his game.

HUSTLERS 4—STARS 2

A very exciting game of hockey was played last night between 5 and 6 o'clock between the Hustlers and the Stars, and judging from the way the game was played, it will not be many seasons before they will be making names for themselves. The line-up was as follows:

Hustlers		Stars
Geo. Way	Goal	W. Bushel
R. Forester	right defence	A. McIntosh
G. Palmer	left defence	H. Turner
C. Robinson	centre	G. Vollmer
Bert Tree	left wing	E. Stapley

BOWMANVILLE DEFEAT B.H.S.

Local High School Trimmed by Visitors in Hard Game

Last night before a large audience composed of pupils and teachers, a fast and feverish game of hockey was played at the arena when Bowmanville High School defeated the Belleville High School by a score of 3 to 1.

They faced off and the teams, with fierce determination went out on the ice to do or die.

After an abundance of superfluous motion like flies caught on a fly pad, there was a short scrimmage before the battle cry of Bowmanville scored.

From somewhere in the distance came the whisper:

"Betta we si

Setta we si

Setta vee ri vo vum

Vum gun a cat trap

Vum, vum, vum.

Cannibal, cannibal, sis, boom, bah, Bowmanville High School

Rah! Rah! Rah!"

Of course the Belleville team could not find this so Christie went up and scored and amid thunderous cheers from all directions, came the Belleville reply:

"Hip rah! hip rah!

Hella bellow bellua,

Boom rah! boom rah! B.H.S.

Rasso Casso ais boom bah!

Belleville High School, rah, rah, rah."

In the second period Tom Curry had his goal stick broken. This was substituted by an extra one, which probably due to this disadvantage that Fraser scored. The locals got one in, but was declared offside and the goal was not counted. End of second period, 2 to 1 for Bowmanville.

Third Period

Both teams worked better than ever in this period, but without scoring.

Everyone played well last night, but wanted energy in the form of futile rushes would have won an easy victory. Combination was lacking on both sides, and despite the speed and the sticks displayed, it is a regrettable fact that player's efforts were of little or no avail without combination help, which was conspicuous by its absence. Goalie Bell was an excess of zeal to help his respective team.

Sam Curry was excellent and stopped many hard shots as also did James the watch dog of the Bowmanville net.

Despite the four penalties it was a clean and satisfying game and kept everyone interested.

The Bowmanville team are all good men and well, we are sure, be very welcome if, perchance they come to Belleville again.

Belleville will play Bowmanville in that town on Friday night.

The line-up:

Belleville		Bowmanville
Curry	Goal	James
Hurley	Right Defence	Somerville
Sheehan	Left Defence	Fraser
Arnott	Centre	Fraser
Jeffrey	Right Wing	Tilley
Arnott	Subs	Hall

LEONARD INJURED FORCED TO STOP TRAINING

New York, March 2.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, may not be able to enter the ring for at least six weeks because of an injury on the back of his right hand. This information was given him by his manager Billy Gibson, the champion's manager, to Frank Flournoy, matchmaker for the Madison Square Garden Sporting Club, who had tentatively arranged to match Leonard and Charley White of Chicago in a title bout here on March 17.

Before definitely deciding against permitting Leonard to appear Gibson consulted to have the champion submit to another examination by physicians, and to have an X-ray taken of the injured member.

The doctors, who already have examined Leonard, his manager said, informed him that the injury is due to a paralyzed nerve. There is a large lump near the wrist and when the champion's hand, he added, and pressure on the knuckles caused the boxer extreme pain.

Leonard first injured this hand, Gibson said, while training for his recent bout with Rocky Kansas. Since then, the champion's hand, he explained, when the champion struck Pal Moran a blow on the head in the fifth round of their bout at New Orleans last Saturday night. Gibson expressed the opinion that Leonard would not start to make to train in March.

QUEEN'S INTERMEDIATES WIN FROM ST. MICHAEL'S

Kingston, March 2.—Queen's Seconds defeated St. Michael's College of Toronto by 10 goals to 6 in the first of the home-and-home series for the intercollegiate intermediate championship, giving the local sextets a four-goal lead to take to Toronto for the return game. The game was fairly close in the first two periods, the first ending 3 to 3 for the visitors, and the second leaving the score 6 all when the second game interval arrived. Each scored a goal in the first three minutes of the third period and then the locals assumed the upper hand, driving in four centres and holding the St. Mikes scoreless.

COLORED BOXERS CLASH TONIGHT

Jack Dempsey Declares His Willingness to Meet the Winner.

New York, March 2.—The fifteen-round tilt in Madison Square Garden tonight between Harry Wills, the colored "battle cruiser" and "Kid" Norfolk, the colored light-heavyweight champion, ought to determine whether Dempsey will have a suitable opponent the next time he enters the ring. Wills and Norfolk are the best of a poor lot. Wills will have every advantage and should come home a winner. He stands head and shoulders over the squat Norfolk, but the latter is a clever boxer when it comes to pegging in punches. He ironsced the tall Bill Tate, and the latter is credited with an Oregon victory over Wills, although that will have to be tossed out of the reckoning.

Inasmuch as there does not appear to be anybody in the white division able to give Dempsey much of an argument, it is asserted that another or later the winner of the contest in the Garden tonight will be trotted in with the white champion. Dempsey has announced his willingness to take on either Wills or Norfolk.

CZAR OF BASEBALL OPENS NEW OFFICE

Chicago, March 2.—Mr. K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, to-day formally moved into his new office today and expressed satisfaction when asked how he liked being a private citizen again. "It's bully," said the baseball leader.

The private office of Mr. Landis at Adams street and Michigan boulevard will resemble his former chambers, his favorite pictures of friends, his favorite chair, his propeller, busts of Lincoln and Grantham, and even an old chair from his chambers are on hand to complete the change. The air of waiting when he "opened baseball court." He insisted on reading a number of letters while the artist painted.

"I am very satisfied" he told newspaper men, "and the only thing that is bothering me now is that I am trying to figure how I will start on my trip. I am taking a long trip. I want to cover all of them in the shortest possible time." It is expected he will leave about March 10.

SPORT STUFF

That's all there is, there ain't no more.

Kinda hard getting up that far and then losing out. In overtime too. Tough.

But there ain't any excuse. The Tigers were beaten and admit defeat.

Just a little luck would have helped a whole lot though.

There wasn't a Toronto fan at the Arena that didn't root his fool head off for the Tigers to come through.

There were more sparkling plays to the square inch in last night's game than there were down in a big town for a long time. They admitted it in this morning's papers, too.

Every one of the locals starred last night. They had to.

Penalties proved costly to both teams. Games have to be won on the ice not in the stockum house where the man with the cute little ticker takes your hot water bottle away.

JUST FIGGERED IT OUT.

"There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and its final resting place."

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

"Mr. Dunkelberry came this morning and wanted to buy my home, new clothes and books," I said.

The senator stopped work and stood looking at me with his hands upon his hips.

"I wouldn't let him do it if I were you," he said thoughtfully.

Just then I saw a young man come running toward us in the distance. Mr. Wright took out his compass.

"Look here," he said, "you see the two black points due north."

He took a lodestone out of his pocket, and holding it near the compass moved it back and forth. The needle followed it.

"The young man came up to us breathing deeply. Perspiration was rolling off his face. He was much excited and spoke with the utmost haste.

"Senator Wright," he gasped, "Mr. Wright sent me down to tell you that President Van Buren is at the house."

I remember vividly the look of mild amusement in the senator's face and the serene calmness with which he looked at the young man and said to him:

"Tell Mrs. Wright to make him comfortable in our easiest chair and to say to the president that I shall be up directly."

To my utter surprise he resumed his talk with me as the young man went away.

"You see all ways are north when you put the lodestone near the needle," he went on. "If it is to tell you the truth you must keep the lodestone away from the needle. It's that way, too, with the compass of your soul, partner. There the lodestone is selfishness, and with its help you can make any direction look right to you and soon—you're lost."

He bound the last bundle and then we walked together toward the house, the senator carrying his sticks.

"I shall introduce you to the president," he said as we neared our destination. "Then perhaps you had better leave us."

I could not remember that I had ever been "introduced" to anyone. I knew that people put their wits on exhibition and often flung down a "stack" by way of demonstrating their fitness for the honor, when they were introduced in books. I remember asking, rather timidly:

"What shall I say when—when you introduce me?"

"Oh, say anything you want to say," he answered with a look of amusement.

"I'm kind o' scared," I said.

"You needn't be—he was once a poor boy just like you."

"Just like me?" I repeated thoughtfully, for while I had heard a good deal of that kind of thing in our school, it had not, somehow, got under my jacket, as they used to say.

"Yes, just like—cowhide and all—the son of a small freeholder in Kinderhook on the Hudson," he went on. "But he was well fed in brain and body and kept his heart clean. So of course he grew and is still growing. That's a curious thing about men and women, Bert. They are in a great ground and properly cared for they never stop growing—never—and that's a pretty full word—isn't it?

We had come in sight of the house. I regret behind a little when I saw the great man sitting on the small porch with Mrs. Wright. I was awkward, as I write, the full figure, the ruddy, kindly face, the large nose, the gentle eyes, the thick hale of silvered hair extending from his collar to the back top of his head. He rose and said in a deep voice:

"He sows ill luck who hinders the reaper."

Mr. Wright hung his sickle on a small tree in the dooryard and answered:

"The plowman has overtaken the reaper, Mr. President. I bid you welcome to my humble house."

"It is a pleasure to be here and a regret to call you back to Washington," said the president as they shook hands.

"I suppose that means an extra session," the senator answered.

"First let me reassure you. I shall not sway as soon as possible, for I know that a president is a heavy burden for one to have on his hands."

"Don't worry. I can get along with almost any kind of a human being, especially if he likes pudding and milk as well as you do," said the senator, who then introduced me in these words:

"Mr. President, this is my young friend, Barton Baynes, of the neighborhood of Lickityspit in the town of Saltybean—a coming man of this county."

"Coming on," was the playful remark of the president as he took my hand. "I shall be looking for you."

I had carefully chosen my words and I remember saying, with a little shiver, like one in a story book, although with a trembling voice:

"It is an honor to meet you, sir, and thank you for the right to vote—when I am old enough."

That day, I remember his gentle smile as he looked down at me and said in a most kindly manner:

"I think it a great honor to hear you say that."

He put his hands upon my shoulders and turning to the senator said:

"Mr. Wright, I often wish that I had your modesty."

"I need it much more than you do," the senator laughed.

Straightway I left them with an awkward bow and plunking to the roots of my hair.

As I neared the home of Mr. Hacket I heard hurrying footsteps behind me and the voice of Sally calling my name. I stopped and faced about.

How charming she looked as she walked toward me! I had some new

FRIGHTENED!

"Every morning I wake up with a feeling that something terrible is going to happen."

Writes Mrs. M., and she goes on to say, "Sunday I ate my usual dinner and enjoyed each bit of it, but the next day I had no appetite—could eat nothing. Monday night I felt bad but decided to go to bed. I believe I was awake all night and every night for a week. Every night I dreamed I was dead—nightmare. I never was out of the night. When I did sleep, I had the most horrible dreams. I couldn't eat. I was completely run down. I was nervous, irritable, and dreaded to be spoken to. I consulted several doctors. They prescribed different remedies to build me up but these preparations didn't help me. I got very good. Doctors said I had a nervous breakdown. I was tired, tired all the time. I felt every day that my strength was gradually leaving me. The least little exertion left me completely worn out. I knew I was gradually wasting away. I felt that I was going to die but I did not thoroughly realize that I did not care whether I lived or not. And, then I heard about Carnol and what a fine tonic it was. At first I refused to take it as I was sure it wouldn't do me any good. Finally I did try it with the most wonderful results. I am well and happy every minute of the day now. I eat heartily and sleep soundly. My friends won't believe that Carnol alone has done this for me. I am never downhearted now and look on a day of gloom. What Carnol has done for me it will do for you."

Carnol is sold by your druggist and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money.

The insolent alarm clock that went off at the wrong time

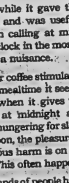

For a little while it gave the call at 7 a.m., and was used. When it began calling at midnight and 2 o'clock in the morning, it became a nuisance.

When tea or coffee stimulates the nerves at mealtime it seems pleasant, but when it gives the wake-up call at midnight and leaves nerves hungering for sleep at mid-afternoon, the pleasure is gone and serious harm is on the way. This often happens.

Thousands of people have found it fully as pleasant and far more safe, to get the comfort of a hot meal-time cup of Postum—and to know that there's not going to be any irritation to nerves afterward.

Postum is delicious and satisfying, and it contains no element that can harm nerves or digestion. Postum is a safe and delightful drink for every member of the family, at any meal.

Your grocer has both forms of Postum: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

WHAT DID YOU SEE?

Will He Roll the Peanut?

A.F.—That some settlement will be furnished to citizens of Bellcville as a result of the Belleville-Niagara Falls hockey match, a bet made is carried out, there is not the slightest doubt. Two well-known hockey fans made a wager that the loser of the bet was to roll a peanut on the sidewalk from the market square to Victoria avenue. The bet was in reference to which team would win last night's game. Will the fan who lost, carry out his contract? Remains to be seen.

Negro Writer Wins Prize

One of the most coveted literary prizes of France, the Prix Goncourt, has been won by a Negro writing in the heart of Central Africa. So far is he from civilization that, although he received the prize nearly two months ago, it is altogether likely that he has not yet heard of his good fortune. This fortunate negro is Rene Maran, and the work, which some of the best judges in France decided was the finest fiction of the year, is "Batouala," which is described as rather a series of etchings than a connected novel. More than that, it is a ferocious attack upon white civilization in Africa, and particularly upon the French administration. That in these circumstances it should have been given precedence over all other works of fiction of the year, is sufficient tribute to its power and beauty. When the judges came to vote it was found that five favored "Batouala" and five "Haimantaire," by M. Pierre Chardonne, a work which is much admired by French critics. Nine other works of French fiction received at least one vote on the first balloting. Under the rules, the president of the Goncourt Academy, before whom these lots are laid, he gave the casting vote to the work of Rene Maran.

It is not to be supposed that Rene Maran is a negro living in the heart of Africa, that he is a savage. He is a native of Martinique, born at Bordeaux, both of his parents being members of the negro race, the father was born in Martinique and his mother in Guadeloupe. His parents carried him to be of unconscious negroid type. When he was a young man he showed a fondness for versification and had several poems published in a Lille newspaper noted for its hospitality to struggling writers. Later on this newspaper collected two volumes of his verses, but it is not noted that they made any stir. On finishing his education, young Maran received an appointment in the Provincial Colonial Department, and has since been stationed at Fort Archambault, two days' journey from Lake Chad, in Northern Central Africa. The staff consists of eleven officials, all of them white except Maran. One can can imagine that there will be plenty of excitement at Fort Archambault when his fellow-officials read the book in which they are so vigorously chastised. Our forecast is that it will not be long before M. Maran announces that he will devote himself to this cause. Already other writers with a propagandist object are under way. In his preface to "Batouala" he writes of "exploitation civilisation—pride of the European—and the white man's house of innocents!—Rabindranath Tagore, the Hindu poet, told one day at Tokio what you really were. You failed to your King done on corpses. Whatever you may wish, whatever you do, you are more amid lies. At sight of you the people up, pain cries, tears flow, are the forces which drown right. You are the force, torch, fire, conflagration. Whatever you touch you consume." The tale of native forced to sell their wives to white men at prices varying from fifteen to seventy-five francs, is told with such power as to make it thrilling fifteen large bottles of absinthe is the price paid by the man who held the record drank fifteen bottles of whisky in one month. One of the characters in the book remarked that the white man has given us only three things worth while, the land, the easy chair and absinthe."

The several deals with the fortunes of Batouala, a native chief, whom with his nine wives, his medicine men and hunters, dwells in the native village, of which he is nominal head, but which is really under the control of a French official, who is indifferent when he is not actually tyrannous. For his favorite wife he has paid a box of salt, three copper amulets, a dog, six hens, twenty female goats, forty-five francs in cash and a female slave. Naturally he values her very highly and is maddened when he suspects her of being in love with one of his young friends, who is a son of Den Jean. The latter finally covers that Batouala means to kill him, and with the connivance of her husband is aware of their guilty secret when he begins to put stones about to the effect that she has the evil eye. All of the events coincide as they will fly, and that he will join the Senegalese gendarmes. The author reveals the system of graft whereby the native gendarmes live, and how they are able to wreak petty vengeance through their official positions.

While they are considering their plans they big game hunt is on, and Batouala and Bisubingui, the lover, go out with their hunting parties. The chieftain lingers for days in awful agony, and one by one his people desert him. Bisubingui insolently takes into the fields with him, and is affectionately greeted by the faithful wife. With a mighty effort he rises to his feet and staggers to where the pair are together, and terrifies them into abject and instant flight. He cannot follow them and falls dead."

The book is said to be marked by passages which for beauty may be compared with the writings of Hudson, and by others which would excite the rivalry of Zola.

DRAMATIST AND WIT

Some Bright Sallies Made by Reynold Hicks.

Sometimes you come across men of whom their friends expect big things because of an apparent talent, but they fail to live up to the promise. Such a man was Reynold Wolf, the New York dramatic critic and wit, who died the other day. As theatrical critics, Mr. Reynold Wolf was famous for his witty sallies at the expense of his friends, and when he presided at a dinner they called him the "roast-master."

It used to be thought that this sharp-tongued fellow would write a great comedy some day and establish himself among the leading American playwrights. But, like his close friend, Channing Pollock, he never produced anything that was better than third or fourth rate. In fact, these two men worked together on a play or two. Pollock tells how at his best when writing flippant play between, and Wolf when making fakey speeches. They never developed into dramatists of any account.

In a recent number of the New York World, Karl K. Kitchen gives a number of examples of Reynold Wolf's pungent remarks at the expense of his friends.

"Actors," said Mr. Wolf, at a dinner in David Warfield, "are divided into two classes—those who work and those who belong to the Lambs' Club. Our great 'of honor is not a theatrical success. He has money and he has married but once.

"When Mr. Belasco met Mr. Warfield he was a barber in the Bush Theatre, San Francisco. He was bred in purple and fine linen. He washed hands and could clip the loudest.

"Mr. Belasco, in search of a play for Mr. Warfield, one week is favored to the plan of a five to ring curtain calls. The rustling of a program, the scraping of feet or the slight cough is enough to bring the curtain down.

Acting as the advance agent for De Wolf Hopper at the dinner given in his honor, Wolf related the situation as follows:

"On March 29, 1858, De Wolf Hopper came into the world. His mother said, 'Good for a nurse,' and had an awful time trying to keep Hopper, because she wanted to marry them all. One of them said in insulted tone that the child needed was not a nurse, but a chaperon.

"If a woman whose name you can't recall should speak to you on the street it is pretty safe to address her as Hooper. Mr. Hopper says that Madison Square Garden could not have been secured for a night, but Mrs. Hopper might have been present.

"It means something when Mr. Hopper goes out at night, something a great many Presides are made to. If George Washington was the father of his country, De Wolf Hopper is its husband."

Mr. Kitchen tells at the opening to the late Jerry J. Cohan, Wolf said:

"The public has been a great debt of gratitude to Mr. Cohan. If he had died, Sam, with a popular, edged Sam. Harris would still be in the laundry business."

Speaking of John Blagting, he said:

"Mr. Blagting is the man who opened royalties from 'Tenting on the Old Camp Ground.' For the past two weeks old he tried to 'pass a good quarter.' He's going to be a circus man,' his father said. At the age of five he would play 'Home, Sweet' on his toy typewriter, making his mother feel that he was a born writer. At ten he began to look like a vaudeville man and a few years later he shook him. They let him live, and his influence on the once green goods man turned him into a song writer.

"He has never acted like an actor; he has always been to know exactly every night."

The dinner at which Cyril Maude, Wolf introduced the famous English actor in his usual vivacious way.

"I have a painful duty to state at the outset," he said, "that Mr. Maude has been spooking us as to his identity. However, I have been to know before ran the Haymarket in London and Mr. Maude was about the same time as the Haymarket in this country. But the latter abut its doors as Mr. Maude's Haymarket closed there was no room for another, so they constitute a raid. In New York he is known as Cyril Maude, Esquire, hence the saying, 'Come into the Garden, Maude'."

Color of Horses.

It is found that there is a very definite connection between the coat color of the horse and the frequency with which white markings occur. Thus the bays are by far the most commonly associated with the chestnuts. And not only are they the most prevalent in this respect, but it is, also, of course, a well-known fact that the chestnuts are apt to be more extended in nature than those of this color than in that of any other. Chestnut, therefore, is considered unlucky, so to speak, a special affinity for these markings. Blacks rank next as regards the degree of frequency with which white markings occur, and next to this color, although it comes a good way after the chestnuts in this respect. Then follows brown, while the duns and greys are met with less frequently among black and roan-colored horses.

Oil Resources of Spain.

Last year the British Empire's consumption of oil products was at the rate of 8,000,000 tons per annum, while its production of oil was less than 2,000,000 tons per annum. During the first nine months of 1921 we imported oil products at the rate of nearly 1,200,000,000 gallons per annum, of an annual value approaching £60,000,000.

HAMILTON POLICE RELEASED MATTHEW BULLOCK TO-DAY

IGNORED ADVICE ON TRIP TO U. S.

Fielding Warned That Time Was Not Propitious for Reciprocity.

U. S. NOT READY

Chairman Fordney Tells Fielding So at Washington Conference Yesterday.

Ottawa, Ont., March 3.—Hon. W. S. Fielding's inquiries in Congressional circles in Washington have resulted according to despatches, very much as many Canadians expected they would. When the present Minister of Finance proposed in Parliament last session that the Meighen Government introduce legislation to revive and ratify the reciprocity agreement of 1911, he was warned that political opinion in the United States was not propitious for such a move. Mr. Fielding believed that Democrats in the United States Congress would be favorable to reciprocal trade relations with Canada, and that a considerable section of the Republicans would be prepared to relax the traditional protectionist policy of their party in dealing with the country. It was pointed out then that the Republican party had only a short time before won an election on the policy of protection, that the farmers of the United States had been encouraged to look to them for protection against competition from producers of foodstuffs in other countries, particularly in Canada, and that Congress was then considering legislation to increase United States Customs duties. From these facts it was deduced that there would be small prospect, or concurrence by the United States in the revival of the compact of 1911, or of success in negotiations looking to a new agreement.

Washington, March. 3.—The possibility of a reciprocal trade agreement being negotiated between Canada and the United States after the passage of the pending United States tariff legislation is being widely discussed in political circles here as a result of developments of the day in connection with the visit of Hon. W. S. Fielding, Canadian Minister of Finance, to Washington.

Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee said yesterday after the conference with Mr. Fielding:

"Mr. Fielding asked me what were the prospects of re-enacting the law of 1911. I informed him that there was nothing to be done along that line. I also advised him that under the new tariff measure any dealings with reference to reciprocity would have to be taken up through the President."

TIMBER INQUIRY EXCITES PROTEST

Hon. Howard Ferguson Strongly Opposed to Sheviln-Clarke Settlement.

Toronto, March 3.—Hon. Howard Ferguson, Conservative Leader, made a vigorous protest in the Legislature yesterday when the Attorney-General admitted that a settlement was to be made with the Sheviln-Clarke Lumber Company in regard to court actions against that company, the company to withdraw the appeal from the recent court decision.

"This, to my mind, is a remarkable settlement," said Mr. Ferguson. "I want to protest in the most vigorous language I can command against the settlement of any matter in connection with this timber inquiry, which is now sub judice. From the information of days we were promised by the Prime Minister and the Attorney-General that the investigation would be complete and searching, and that the courts of the land would finally decide as to the rights of this matter. Personally, I have courted the most exhaustive inquiry and have been most anxious that it should be brought to a finality.

"Now, at this stage, he said, he wanted to enter a protest, and stress the matter so that the House formally he would have more to say. Mr. intimated to the Leader of the House in a few days.

He was also charged with having on February 22nd made an attempt at bribery. Upon this charge he was committed for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction. Crown Counsel, K.C., represented the Crown and Mr. C. A. Payne for the accused.

He was first accused with having on December 28th assaulted his wife, Elizabeth Fisher, causing her grievous bodily harm. Upon this charge he was found guilty and sentence was deferred, pending the accused securing sureties for his good behaviour in the future.

He was also charged with attempting suicide. Upon this charge he was committed for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction. Crown Counsel, K.C., represented the Crown and Mr. C. A. Payne for the accused.

DRURY GOVT. IN CAUCUS

The Dairy Standard Act May Be Enfoced in Province.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited.

Toronto, March 3.—The question of whether all cheese and butter factories in the province will be forced to pay for milk received from producing farmers on a butter fat basis instead of by ordinary weight, was the subject of a government caucus this morning. Of their own accord about 15 or 20 per cent. of the factories in the province have adopted the test system, but the Dairy Standard Act is proposed by the government to force all factories to use it.

TORY MEMBER DEFENDS BECK IN LEGISLATURE

H. P. Hill Arraigns the Drury Government on its Attitude to the Hydro Chief—Should Take the Responsibility and Not Let the Situation Remain in Doubt—Has Little Faith in Probe by the House.

Toronto, March 3.—Declaring that members of the Drury Government should "take their stand like men, and not try to evade responsibility by throwing it on the members of this House," H. P. Hill, Conservative member for West Ottawa, took vigorous exception to the Legislature yesterday to the proposal made by the Liberal Leader, Mr. Hay, and concurred in by the Premier, that a House Committee should delve into facts, and figures concerning Chippawa expenditures. Some desk-thumping on the part of Conservative members when Mr. Hill made the declaration may indicate the united support of the group.

Mr. Hill stated his reasons for opposing the move. Members, he said, were not sufficiently well informed upon the technical points to weigh the evidence that came before them; they would be at the mercy of "clever political spectacles"; the people would put not weight in any findings that might be brought forward by the Government, which knew all the facts, including "what Sir Adam Beck's conduct as Chairman of the commission has been," should accept its responsibility.

With his Leader, Hon. G. H. Ferguson, the member for Ottawa took the stand that the Government should either ask Sir Adam Beck for his resignation or cease criticising. He came out flat-footedly as endorsing the Government's action in refusing to guarantee provincial bonds, and said he concurred absolutely in the finding of the Sutherland Hydro-Radial Commission. This opinion was that no Government, Provincial, Federal or municipal, should launch any Hydro-Radial undertakings for years. Agriculture, concluded his address in the early part of yesterday afternoon, and with Mr. Hill's address, the debate on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, moved by Provincial Treasurer Peter Smith gave notice of motion to have the House resolve itself into Committee of Supply and Ways and Means this afternoon, when the Hydro Interim supply vote will come up for discussion.

Coming to Hydro, Mr. Hills declared that, although the cost of Chippawa has soared, he did not think "that the Government should immediately level criticism at Sir Adam Beck and the commission. There is no criticism on the face of it, of Sir Adam Beck for abiding by and following the advice of competent and well-known engineers."

"The Government has two representatives on the commission," he proceeded. "It is in intimate touch with the whole situation. If Sir Adam Beck is not served the public by holding back the cost, as is sometimes intimated; if the Government has no confidence in the commission, as the spokesman of the Government has already announced; then the Government should act under the circumstances—but the Government should not try to make Sir Adam Beck or any member of the commission the scapegoat for the tremendously increased cost over the original estimate.

"Sir Adam Beck's name has become synonymous with public ownership in the Province. Sir Adam Beck possessed all the qualities at the beginning which have made public ownership of the Hydro such a commercial success. His courage, his optimism, his determination, his will to instance, were all factors in the success of the Hydro-electric Commission. If the Government feels that those qualities are now a detriment to Hydro, then the Government has a duty to perform in asking Sir Adam Beck's resignation."

SAFER ON BATTLEFIELDS THAN ON U.S. HIGHWAYS

New York, March 3.—During the eighteen months that United States troops were engaged in the war overseas 48,- 000 soldiers lost their lives on the battlefield. WANTED TO KILL RED LEADERS

Heads of Revolutionary Party to Be Tried in Russia.

Moscow, March 3.—The Central Committee of the Revolutionary Party, together with a number of the active members of the party, who, for a long time, have been in the "cheka," prison, will be handed over to the revolutionary tribunal for trial. They are charged with having been involved in the plots of 1917-18 to assassinate Nikolai Lenine, Leon Trotsky and other Soviet leaders.

The new state political police have published a review of the new evidence against the men. It is based largely on a pamphlet published abroad by one Semenoff, the alleged leader of the (fcial) Revolutionary Terroristic group, and a document written by a woman, Lydia Konoplova who, it is asserted, was chosen to take over the killing of Premier Lenine. The Premier was to have been done to death by poison placed in his food or a doctor was to have been sent to both Lenine and Trotsky to inoculate them with some fatal disease.

The police, invite Semenoff "and the others, who now understand the seriousness of this matter," to return to Russia and testify at the trial of the social revolutionaries.

QUINTE STEAMER IS DISCUSSED

Belleville Will Know on March 20th Whether Boat Will Run.

The City of Belleville will know definitely on March 20th, whether or not there if to be a boat service here this coming summer. A special meeting of the Directors of the Board of Commerce and the Transportation committee was held today when Mr. W. E. Burks of the Canada Steamship Co.

Mr. Burks expressed himself on behalf of the company and said that the company realized the value and potentialities of a Bay of Quinte boat service. They were, however, in a quandary due to a lack of equipment. The Canada Steamship Co. has recently purchased a new boat from the American Shipping Board which was formerly used as a transport ship for American troops. It was fitted with six expenditure of some $400,000 is fitting up this boat and this fact could not be released by the Trinity to run on this route till the new boat would be fitted out, said Mr. Burks.

If the new boat can be fitted up in time, Belleville will have a boat service this year, but if other matters intervened and prevented the outfitting the Bay of Quinte service will have to be laid over till next year. It was the intention of the company to put nothing but a first-class vessel on the Quinte service and it was this desire that was holding back the project.

There were no outside municipalities represented at today's meeting as the representatives were here for the proposed meeting had gone back to their respective homes as a result of Mr. Burks's inarrival yesterday.

MONTHLY REPORT FOR C. A. SCHOOL

Principal Makes Written Report for the Benefit of Parents.

As the parents of the pupils seldom visit the school, we are adopting this plan to make known a few facts that I trust will be of interest to some at least.

We are sorry that there has been so much sickness among our boys and girls during the past month, eleven of them being unable to attend and nine others were present for less than ten days. But we are also glad to know that all are recovering and will soon be with us again.

Total number registered for the month was 420 with an average of 404, this being 97%, but only 184 were present every day. Many were absent only two or three half-days and the most majority of these were in the forenoon.

639 days and 344 half-days were lost by absence during the months and 56 pupils came late. This is too much to allow and, we believe, it can be improved upon in many ways.

Penny Bank deposits for February were $134.75 and this was much less than for any preceding month since September. This is due to the fact that the failure of those, who had the most use of this plan of saving, have not had steady employment.

Many of the pupils have brought to the school good books which they have out-grown and these articles have made it possible for some to attend school who could not have done so without this help.

We trust that all the parents will co-operate with us with regard to matters of so much importance to the children and more especially with regard to their punctual and regular attendance at school.

HEROLD'S WIFE AT GRIFFIN'S TONIGHT

"Is "Behold My Wife," which is the feature attraction at Griffin's tonight and Saturday, matinee and night, George Melford has brought out the finest photoplay of his career. The well-known producer of "Forbidden Woman," "The Sin Woman" and "Behold My Wife" has fairly outdone himself in this display appealing screen version of Sir Gilbert Parker's novel of the Canadian Northwest, "The Translation of Judas Ashe."

The action of the picture takes place in a rugged land of trading posts and snow and in the beautiful country district of England. Mr. Melford has brought out well the contrast in these two backgrounds. The story deals with a younger son of aristocratic English parents who, returning from an expedition to a trading post in Canada, receives word that his fiancee back home has jilted him, due largely to his family's objections. Enraged more against them than against the girl he marries an Indian maiden who had been following him about in innocent admiration and sends her to England to disgrace his kin. Then he attempts to lose what vestige of manhood he has remaining. However, dramatic events not only regenerate the man, but effect a remarkable change in his red-skin bride. The picture is a Paramount with Elliott Dexter, Mabel Julienne Scott and Milton Sills taking chief honors in the cast.

Buster Keaton in a two-reel comedy "The Goat," the latest chapter of "Whispers of the West," and Movie Chats will be exhibited on the same program.

REX STOCK COMPANY BACK AGAIN MONDAY.

The popular Rex Stock Company returns to Griffin's next Monday to Wednesday where they will present their second big success, a melo-dramatic comedy in four snappy acts and 8 scenes entitled "The Liar," a polite comedy with a very rude title. This play will be found to be of the high class standard that stamps all "Rex" attractions, and the enjoyment of the performance nightly will be enhanced by the introduction of all new vaudeville, new scenery and new costumes.

TO VOID CONTRACTS WITH FOREIGN LINES

Shipping Board Orders Railways to Cancel Existing Arrangements.

Washington, March 3.—Cancellation of all preferential contracts between American railroads and foreign steamship companies was ordered by the United States Shipping Board today.

Failing to realize the opportunities by July 1, the Board will take such steps as it deems necessary to enforce its views, it is the affirmation issued by the Board.

A conference today with several railways developed the fact that the Shipping Board is not satisfied that it has the power to cancel the contracts now, but that the ship subsidy bill makes such provisions for such cancellations. The railroads are confident that these contracts will stand up in court, and so far have declined to agree to cancellation.

$500,000 LOCO REPAIR SHOP FOR WABASH AT ST. THOMAS

St. Thomas, Ont., March 3.—The report is current that the Wabash Railway Company is planning the erection of locomotive repair shops in this city in the near future, at a cost of about $500,000, in order to take care of their rapidly increasing business in Canada. Official said that the matter is still very indefinite.

MINERS' WAGE AGREEMENT BETTER THAN EXPECTED

Sydney, N.S., March 3.—A message from J. B. McLachlan delivered at Glace Bay, U.M.W. headquarters, yesterday, contains the welcome assurance that the wage agreement which has been arrived at with the heads of the British Empire Steel Corporation, is more than favorable to the Dominion Coal Co. employes.

The word from the United Mine Workers' secretary pleased the miners of Cape Breton as well as the public generally, and there is a feeling that the months' long wage dispute is at an end.

PARKING OF CARS WITHOUT LIGHTS

Council Committee Pass Recommendation to this Effect.

At a meeting of the various civic committees held last night the business was quashed and not of a voluminous nature. Several matters of minor interest was spoken to and the parking of Bridge street was brought up, but nothing definite done in regard to the matter as there is no petition to pave is and the kind of pavement, if the street is paved, has not been decided upon.

The following recommendations were passed on to the council:

Recommended that an estimate be procured for the lighting of West Bridge street, to the top of Murney hill with similar lights to those on Pinnacle street.

Recommended that the Mayor, Ald. Donohue and Ald. Greening be a committee to report on the advisability of opening up Lingham street and the construction of a sewer on Lingham and Meyers streets.

Recommended that under sale be allowed to park on the following sections of streets at night without lights as the owners risk: Front street, from Dundas street to Victoria Avenue; Bridge street from lower Bridge to Church street; Campbell street from Front to Pinnacle streets.

The World's finest Match
Made in Canada—by Eddy!
—since 1851

With his own hands, 71 years ago, Ezra Butler Eddy in a little house at Hull began making the World's Finest Matches—just a few boxes a day.

When the first sulphur match was made in Canada, Eddy made it. When the first safety match was made in Canada, Eddy made it. When the first wax match was made in Canada, Eddy made it. When the first non-poisonous match was made in Canada, even before the Government made its use compulsory, Eddy made it.

Every new process of match-making and match-packing was first introduced into Canada by the Eddy Company. From the Canadian forest to the familiar package, every detail of match-making is carried out in the enormous Eddy plant covering 75 acres—on the site of the little house where Ezra Butler Eddy made his first match—in 1851!

By special appointment to 9,000,000 Canadian housewives and smokers, by right of faithful service purveyors of fire for light and comfort, Eddy's have made the carrying of fire safer, more efficient, economical. When other sources of supply failed, Eddy's matches went Overseas, bringing to our boys the solace and comfort of tobacco.

Fired by such a spirit, with unlimited resources at its command, can you doubt that Eddy's will continue to be the World's Finest Match?

The Eddy ideal still prevails!

BOYS' COUNCIL STARTS WORK

Inaugural Meeting Held in the Council Chamber Last Night.

In the council chamber last evening, the Belleville Junior Council held their second meeting, after a preliminary rehearsal under the sole direction of Mr. W. C. Mikel. His Worship Mayor Hanna supervised the proceedings last night.

Mayor-Hayes, the junior chief magistrate called the meeting to order and delivered his inaugural speech. He said in part:

I wish to extend greetings to you at this, the opening of the first Junior City Council of Belleville and to express the hope that your deliberations will be helpful to yourselves and serviceable to the City of Belleville.

The united efforts of the boys and the men and the women of Belleville will inspire such confidence in the progress and growth of our City, that we will be able to, not only stem the tide of young men and young women who continually leave the City for other places, not as well situated as Belleville, but will also bring back many who have gone away.

We hope to get on harmoniously with the City Council. The City Council's refusal to give the boys the use of the Council Chamber and the City Council's rejection of a woman from the Board of Education after having asked her to accept, would suggest that the members of the City Council do not appreciate the independence and capacity of the boys or the women of Belleville. We ask them to revise their views on these matters.

The object of the Boys' Municipal movement, as expressed in the Junior City Council, is an effort to disseminate knowledge of Municipal Government among those who will in later life have to take upon them the burdens of governing the respective communities in which they live.

The best business man in the City or a lawyer, a doctor or a clergyman would not be permitted to teach in the High School or even 50 or 60 scholars in a Public School unless in addition to his other qualifications he had been specially trained for the public service of teaching school. Yet men, with no training outside of their own particular calling, are pitchforked into this most important and most difficult of all public service. No wonder municipal business consists of a continuous series of costly experiments. Each set of men come into the City council and have to experiment around the circle their predecessors have travelled before them, before those who can stay East will be learned, learn by experience.

The boys municipal movement will stimulate a greater respect for law and order. The Junior Police Force will be of assistance in preventing fire loses, each of which will lessen the financial burdens of the citizens.

After this fine speech the Council settled down to business.

Some of the motions voted upon were;

That the next election take place on the last Friday in October and that the Junior Municipal Council appoint the time and place and that the poll clerk be appointed by resolution.—carried.

Moved by Ald. Crosier, seconded by Ald. Bunkard, that a four wheeled cart be procured to peddle produce for the Old People's Home.

Aldermen Crosier, Boyle and Weir on committee.

Moved by Ald. Wells, seconded by Ald. Bunkard, that a carnival or five business men of the city look after the boy participants in boxing bouts and see that they get a fair percentage of the proceeds.—carried.

Moved by Ald. Wells, seconded by Ald. Boyle, that the city clerk form a committee to request a grant of $300 from the Belleville Council to carry on boys' work in the city.—carried.

Moved and seconded, that a Junior municipal council with the aid of the Scouts, Taxis Boys and other boys' organizations edit their own paper which if sufficient advertisements are procured will pay for itself, and which will be issued semi-monthly.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Curry, seconded by Ald. Crosier, that Ald. Day form a committee to look into the matter.—Carried.

The council then adjourned until the next meeting which will be held on Thursday, March 16th.

HAUNTED HOUSE CAUSES TROUBLE

Nova Scotians Want Government to Take Action in the Matter.

Halifax, March 3.—The problem of the alleged haunted house at Canso in Mills is becoming a political question. Since a provincial detective, after a brief investigation, ascribed the mysterious fires and other extraordinary phenomena which drove Alexander Macdonald and his family from their home in the winter to supernatural agencies, there has been so much talk of "spooks" in Nova Scotia that many imaginative children have been seeing things in the dark. Angry parents are now declaring that the Nova Scotia Government should take immediate measures to lay the alleged ghosts.

The haunted house has also become a local problem. Fire underwriters are discussing suggestions that the mysterious fires were due to electric phenomena, caused by the powerful wireless station at Glace Bay. Several other families in Antigonish County are now reported to have been driven from their homes by mysterious fires during the last dozen years.

According to enquiries received here a small army of American newspaper men are preparing to call on Dr. Wallace Julia Pierce, director of the American Institute for Scientific Research who has accepted the invitation of W. H. Dennis of the Halifax Herald to undertake an investigation of the mystery.

EGYPTIAN INDEPENDENCE.

The British Government is evidently sincere in its efforts to conciliate and compose Egypt. The Prime Minister announced in the House of Commons on Tuesday last that the British Protectorate had been terminated. This follows up an announcement made in an official statement in January, to the effect that the Government had been ready to terminate the Protectorate, which was declared in 1914, upon the outbreak of the war, and to recognize the existence of Egypt as a sovereign state, with a constitution and parliament, subject to certain guarantees by which imperial communications must be safeguarded and the right preserved to Britain to afford that protection to the foreign communities which the Governments of the peoples look to her to supply.

Lord Allenby, who has been in London recently, presumably is assisting Britain to work out a basis for the settlement, the most important condition of which is the security of the Suez Canal, which involves the right to station troops in at least part of Egypt. The present conditions are indeed unsatisfactory, and none of them are likely to present insuperable, or indeed considerable, difficulty. The main thing is that Britain, following the policy that has worked so well in her relations with the rest of the world, and which is now being tried in Ireland, is conceding to Egypt the right to freedom and independence.

It remains to be seen whether these reservations will be acceptable to the Egyptian patriots. Perhaps not. There will be the waiting foreign and anti-British advisers to urge them to accept no settlement short of complete independence. However, it is probable that all civilized governments would look upward with favor the complete withdrawal of British authority in Egypt, for British responsibility for the safety of foreigners there goes with British authority.

HON. MR. FIELDING'S VISIT.

Hon. Mr. W. S. Fielding, the Canadian Minister of Finance, has been to Washington. He has been, he has seen, but there is no doubt if, like Caesar of old, he has conquered. The Ministerial movements have been shrouded in mystery. Following the usual custom, he has not enlightened the press as to the purpose or value of his visit. If the despatches from the American feeling in the matter are any criterion, the fielding visit has not been an overwhelming success.

Hope seems to die hard with the Liberal party, and they do not appear to recognize the impossibility of receiving anything of a beneficial nature from Uncle Sam, who is now under the influence of the agricultural group and has at its dictation erected a tariff wall with the express purpose of shutting out Canada's agricultural products. But possibly something had to be done to reconcile the Progressives during the coming session of Parliament, and possibly no price is too great for the King Government to pay to secure their support.

Canada's experience with reciprocity in tariff reductions with the United States has not been happy or such as to give confidence in such agreements as a means of trade promotion. The rejection in 1911 by the Canadian electorate of the proposed pact was influenced by many factors, among which, perhaps, the most important were consideration of the record of tariff legislation in the United States and doubt as to the economic value of a measure subject to abrogation whenever abrogation should appear to be advantageous to the United States.

There was a reciprocity treaty in effect between Canada and the United States from 1854 until 1866. The treaty was ended in that year by the United States. The abrogation of the treaty had serious consequences, as the farmers of Ontario and Quebec had become dependent upon the American market. It was not until after the adoption of the National Policy, the building up of a home market and the development of markets in Great Britain that agriculture in Canada again became prosperous.

Canada has had a recent experience which is also not encouraging. The reciprocity agreement provided for free interchange of wheat, wheat flour, seminola and potatoes. When the agreement was rejected the United States in 1913 put these commodities on the free list, but with provision for a retaliatory duty on imports of these commodities from those countries which imposed duties on such imports from the United States. The Borden Government accepted this offer and reciprocity in these products took place. However, the agriculturists of the United States objected to reciprocity in these articles and in 1920 the law was repealed. There is not the slightest doubt that had the reciprocity agreement been accepted by Canada the United States would have abrogated it whenever political or other considerations made it expedient to do so, and that the agreement would not have been permitted to stand in the way of enactment of the Emergency Tariff Act.

CO-OPERATE WITH NEWSPAPERS

Walkerton Telescope:—

A few years ago a country per business was a mere shoe investment. Today a one-line weekly plant with the usual presentable folders, and other necessary labor-saving machinery will cost from ten to fifteen thousand dollars. It can only be made to pay by keeping the run of work pretty evenly spread over the whole week. To handle all the trading matter and ads. on Tuesday and Wednesday would mean an extra linotype with equipment and operator, adding approximately a hundred dollars a week expense column, and the public would have no better service than they can get at the present time by co-operating a little with the publisher to distribute the week's load of work as evenly as possible.

RUSSIANS LACK MANY ARTICLES

News That Russia is Invited to Genoa Eases Matters.

Moscow, March 3.—Russian market is nearly empty and dissatisfaction at the article the world can afford, unless it be artificial hair, perfumes and toilet articles. The beauty parlors seem to have adequate supplies and are doing a thriving business.

The man who has a tailoring shop in Moscow is ruined. It is a tradgey when collars and shirts wear out. The rich and gaudy are above the reach of the sizes for very small boys and girls. The peckties are patterns which German dealers consider "quite home."

Shopkeepers put everything attractive they have in their windows. Inquiry within always demonstrates that they have no stock in regular sizes. Government taxes on merchants are overwhelming, and the only profit is the tax on their prices. Small on shops on side streets in Moscow are opened on 20,000 paper rubles, good for their license, which at the present rate is 600 gold rubles, or $300.

The fact that Russia had been invited to participate in the Genoa conference explains the concern manifested when a great relief is brought by an announcement that difficulty in securing foreign credits is one of the best places in the world for merchants.

"We haven't any goods to get stock," he exclaimed, pulling his odd assortment of wearing apparel and jobs ends of notions. "There's plenty of customers in Russia. What we need is stocks."

NEW ZEALAND WANTS BRITISH MACHINERY

Large Contracts Awarded to English Firm, Although Outbid by Yankees

Wellington, New Zealand, March 3.—The New Zealand government has just shown its preference for British machinery by rejecting an American bid for a hydro-electric machinery contract and awarding it to a British firm, although the Americans offered the machinery for £14,000 less than their British competitors.

Premier Massey has questioned about the contract in the House of Representatives and said in reply that the government feels it would be redoing for the preference "drift in favor of British goods to £75,000. He added that the British firm decided to take British machinery manufactured by British workmen."

This is the first of a series of contracts to be awarded for the installation of extensive hydro-electric works in New Zealand.

Ottawa, March 2.—A resolution for the consideration of the forthcoming session of Parliament, has been filed by J. J. Denis, Liberal member for Joliette, asking approval of the construction of a branch line connecting Montreal with the National Transcontinental Railway. The resolution follows:

"That in the opinion of this House it is advisable that a branch line connecting the city of Montreal with that section of the Canadian National Railways formerly known as the National Transcontinental Railway should be built as soon as financial conditions permit."

HIS DEATH IS ATTRIBUTED TO DRINKING MOONSHINE

Chatham, Ont., March 2.—The inquest held in Tilbury yesterday, to determine the cause of the death of William Elmer Ray, resulted in a verdict that Ray came to his death through alcoholic poisoning, the source of which was unknown. Ray secured a quantity of moonshine whisky and drank it without pouring off the first oil which had gathered at the top of the bottle. The police authorities are now trying to discover where Ray got his liquor. Several people of Tilbury East came up for trial after the inquest charged with having liquor and were

TELLING MYSELF LIES

By BYRON STAUFFER.

I have been telling myself the whopping falsehood that I walk two miles every morning. I confess to having kept this going at least a year—I seem the falsehood. Whenever the head of daily exercise has been discussed in my hearing, I have dismissed the matter by comforting myself with colloquizing that my every morning walk to Dufferin street fulfills every physical requirement. When I last had told myself that comforting little fib often enough to acquire dexterity in saying it, I ventured in front of my daily routine to my arch-critic. "Why, Dad," said she, "there are only two weak points about that; first, that Dufferin street is only half-a-mile away; second, that you walk it about once a week, rather than every morning." Actual investigation substantiated the criticism; I had been lying to myself.

"I give myself an ice-cold bath every morning in the year," boasted my old friend. His wife whispered, "He means his big toe." The same ruddy old man insists that he can swim half-a-mile with ease and does it frequently at his summer home. But of course he covers (from the bathhouse to a certain rock out in the lake) is actually a bare three hundred yards—just a shade over a fifth of a mile. The old fellow has been prevaricating to himself.

Out in Seattle they have a very noted church which is always crowded at least, so they say. "Always crowded," by the way, is a very adelotte term, taking in torrid, rainy, and blizzardy Sundays. An enthusiastic old deacon showed me through the church, proudly telling me that it had seven thousand. I didn't really look that big, so the deacon carefully estimated the number of sittings, downstairs and in the gallery. They totaled nineteen hundred and four. The deacon seemed greatly surprised, saying that the architects' plans certainly called for a capacity of three thousand. But he was now fully convinced that there had been a tremendous mistake made by somebody. Twenty-four hours later another member of our party told me that he had just returned from a delightful visit to this same church and had been escorted by this same deacon, who proudly told him that their church seated three thousand! The deacon is evidently not limiting his lying to himself.

Now that I have confessed to this one weakness I am absolutely powerless over their bodies. It is a foolish piece of self-deception which one might look for in tartar Yuletide would stimulate.

"It" is fashionable among Asiatics just now to declare that they would often stop and pick up a pedestrian or two along their route, only they know how insulted he would feel, and they turned away without even a "thank You." Down in the body of Asiatic is a considerable area of sore behind the present writer in vain.

A man with a kindly face declared his belief in a sulphurous, eternal, unmitigated punishment for all who did not conform to a certain doctrinal standard. I asked him about the religious profession of his dear old father and mother, and in the gallery. "They totaled nineteen hundred and four."

POT-ROAST DINNER

There is nothing so nourishing and substantial as a pot-roast dinner, such as the following:

Pot Roast of Beef
Boiled Potatoes, Repeat of Turnips
Peas, Fruit
Coffee Pie Whip

Pot Roast: 3 pounds of beef from round; 2 tablespoons butter and 2 slices of dripdrags, 1 diced carrot, 1 chopped onion, 1 diced turnip, 1 pint hot water 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper and 4 tablespoons flour. Dredge the meat with 1 tablespoon of the flour, add star or brown it all over in the butter and dripdrags combined. Then place the meat in a loop kettle with the hot water and the diced vegetables and let simmer till tender (about four hours); adding more water if necessary and the bulb spray. The kettle should be closely covered, for every bit of escaping vapor means that just so much water is lost from the meat. (Some housewives use a brick or flat-iron to weight down the cover.) When tender, place the hot meat on a platter, thicken the liquid with the remainder of the flour mixed to a paste with cold water, pour this gravy over the meat and serve.

Repeat of Turnips: Pare and dice raw turnips until you have one quart. Chop 2 small onions finely. Melt 4 tablespoons butter and brown these two vegetables in it; then add 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon sugar and ½ teaspoon pepper; boil 1 hour, stir well and thicken if with 2 tablespoons of flour mixed to a paste with a little cold water, and this also in the skillet. Simmer 30 minutes, till turnips are tender, and serve hot.

Fruit Pickle: This pickle may be made the same day it is to be eaten. Take a one-pound package of mixed fruit, boil water and wash well. Then put them into a saucepan with the juice of two lemons and the peel cut very small, 6 blades of mace (may be omitted), 24 whole cloves, 12 allspices if you prefer, ½ teaspoon salt, and cold water to cover well. Let all simmer together for two hours, adding water as it boils away. Then add two cups of sugar and simmer for another hour. Now put in 1 cup of cider vinegar and boil 5 minutes, cool and serve. (Many housewives like this pickle without the above mentioned seasonings—simply with the lemon rind and juice, a little cinnamon, ginger and ground cloves, sugar, and vinegar.

Pie Whip: Beat the whites of 5 eggs stiff. Mix together 5 tablespoons of powdered sugar, pinch of salt and ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, then beat the stiff egg-whites into this. Fold in 1 tablespoon of lemon juice and 1 cup of pulp from figs which have been boiled till tender, then either chopped or forced through a wire-bottomed sieve. Mix the mixture lightly into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderately even for 20 minutes. Serve either hot or cold. For a small family, cut the recipe in half, using small individual baking dishes instead of the large one.

A TWO-HEADED (?) CREATURE

They hurried into the village baker were allowed little time to, for it isn't easy to sit on an ostrich's head when he is running. For what Tinker Bob saw was a large barrow in the side of a hill that rose out of the valley. In front of this barrow was standing what at first glance seemed to be a strange creature that was indeed strange to Tinker.

When Dr. Giraffe was by this fellow there seemed to be manifested tion of great joy. As you will remember Tinker Bob was very much like them old Dr. Coon had the great forest of the kingdom of Foxville. I ever saw in all the world," said King. "My but I'm glad that same here with Dr. Giraffe.

"I wonder why Lion doesn't get after these folks?" said Silky.

"Well, the Lion of many other creatures of the country would like to catch him, if they could but it takes a careful creature to catch one, for if are always on the watch. Why, if ever have a certain evil creature of the flock who has only one job and this to go to the farthest point in it feeding ground and tell when all of the others feed."

As they reached the creature some out of burrow and Tinker was much surprised than ever to see each legged legs and such wonderful in And another strange thing was the creature kept up a continual crying. Tinker had noticed that no bird entered its mouth and what this meaning he did not know.

"What the world is that creature chewing?" asked of Dr. Giraffe.

The Jung Doctor laughed again for that seemed to a strange question to ask. "Why, them folks chew their cuds like meadow folks, who eat grass and other vegetables."

At this Tinker Bob thought of the last Hunter's... He had seen her chew a red a so many times but he didn't know that other creature in the queerest said he.

Then are came to his attention a little bug that seemed to be throwing some kind of frost [illegible] moment, should be becoming on a dark bobbed head. Some of the green bits of [illegible] were trimmed neatly with a band of ribbon about the crown. Who could attempt this but a young girl in her teens or one who still wishes to be considered in her teens?

During the same year, however, Ontario produced the most newsprint, or 281,000 tons, as compared with Quebec's 258,000 and British Columbia's 18,000. Since then Quebec's 258,000 and British Columbia's 126,000. Since then Quebec's capacity for newsprint production has surpassed that of Ontario, and is being still further increased through the opening of the new international power company's mill at Three Rivers.

The three-piece suit in semi-tailored effect with straight lines is going to be one of the principal features in the styles of the coming season; according to buyers just back from Paris.

New York shops have taken the knitted garment unreservedly to their hearts, the knitted sport suits for morning wear, the 1-piece dress with the short cape for afternoon wear and even the knitted bathing suit being particularly good.

One of the newest materials for spring gowns is Swiss chamoisette and this material which proved so satisfactory in gloves is now made on straight tailored lines with a narrow belt is very charming, suggesting duvetyne and being soft and clinging and easily washed.

It is announced that this season the Lucile fashions will have a distinctive interest as they are planning to step away from the regular Lucile tradition which have been in favor of picturesque types, suitable for Diana Balm.

Belleville May Protest Wednesday's Game

CLAIMS THAT DE GRAY IS A PROFESSIONAL?

Niagara Falls Player, Formerly Member of Outlaw Hochelaga Team—Man Who Put Bouchard in Professional Class Also Specifically Mentions DeGray—Belleville Considering Advisability of a Protest.

Rumors are current in the city that all is not well with the O. H. A. Intermediate series, and especially with the Niagara Falls team. It is continually being said here that De Gray and a number of others are on the Niagara Falls team are out and out professionals.

The Belleville team have the usual forty-eight hours in which to protest Wednesday night's game.

Manager Ed. Thomas, when interviewed by The Intelligencer today, stated that although nothing definite had been done in the matter of a protest, that a meeting would be held this afternoon to discuss the advisability of petitioning the O.H.A. to throw out the last game.

Here is something interesting from the Montreal Star with reference to the matter:—

On top of the muddle about the Allan Cup District finals, comes Mr. Latrellle with a question. Mr. Latrellle, he will be remembered, was the gentleman whose affidavits put Bouchard in the professional class. His sworn say-so he paid Bouchard fifty dollars a week, and intimated that he paid nearly every one on the team.

What he wants to know, and has asked President Granger of the Amateur Hockey Association of Canada, and W. J. Hanley, Allan Cup referee, to explain is: "If my Hochelaga team, for years ago, was considered at least by Montreal and not by the rest of the Allan Cup, why are individual members of the old Hochelaga team at the present time permitted to play for the cup, which is the world symbol of hockey amateurism and professionalism? I do not even refer to the question of any of these men having been paid, but if they are entitled, by any authorities desire further information they can get it."

The Montreal district is naturally at present only interested in Ernie Davies, who is playing for St. Ann's and the Royal Bank, but Mr. Latrellle mentioned specifically: Davies, Richardson, Hayes and Lamoue, who play for Grand Mere; Frank Lalonde and Musgrove, who play for Shamrocks, and Mac DeGray, who plays for Niagara Falls.

"Doesn't it look," asked Mr. Latrellle, "as if, judging from the manner in which Bouchard was publicly castigated two years ago, and the statements I have made about the manner in which I ran my team, that there was something flaky about the present Allan Cup series? Why, according to my understanding, the fact—even if nothing else is proved that these men played on a team with a paid professional like Bouchard should be enough to cause suspicion."

It is only fair to the Belleville fans that the matter should at once be placed in the hands of the O. H. A. officials.

WHLS IS WINNER BEATS NORFOLK

Sudden Finish to Colored Heavyweight Battle Last Night.

New York, March 3.—Harry Wills, heavyweight, brought to New York from Philadelphia, knocked out "Kid" Norfolk of Baltimore in the second round of their scheduled 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden. When they came out of their corners in the second, Norfolk went into a clinch and a moment later fell backward to the floor, taking the full count. No one at the ringside saw the blow that floored him. After the count he walked to his corner and did not seem hurt. Wills said the blow was a short inside right to the jaw.

Referee McFarland told newspaperwriters that he saw the blow delivered and that it did not travel more than six inches.

The crowd expressed its disapproval of the manner in which the match was terminated. It did not appear to them that Norfolk had been hit. However, to prove that he really went down under a powerful punch, Norfolk displayed a deep cut in his mouth caused by the blow.

In the first round Norfolk took the offensive and swung a left to Wills' head. Wills, retorted a straight right to the chin and followed Norfolk into a corner, landing a left to the jaw. They sparred for an opening. Wills landed a light left to the body, and Norfolk fell heavily to the floor when he missed a long right swing to the head. Wills landed a left to the jaw at the bell.

In the second, they met in a clinch, and after a short interchange, Norfolk fell away from Wills, landing heavily on his shoulder after twenty-six seconds of boxing.

AURA LEE DEFEATED COLLINGWOOD 3-2

Toronto Team Qualifies for the O. H. A. Junior Finals.

Toronto, March 3.—Aura Lee and St. Mary's will meet in the O.H.A. junior finals next week. That much was decided at the Arena last night when Collingwood, battling gallantly, went down to the Red and White by 3 to 2, and lost the round by 5 to 3. The northerners lived up to all the good things said about them and they were in the hunt from hell to bell. After watching them play so well on local ice the fans wonder how Aura Lee ever managed to win in the shipbuilding town. Last night the Aurora Road squad was only slightly superior to the visitors.

Both sides proved adepts at checking. Dimsmore leading the locals in this department, and Clark showing the way to the northerners. As a result good combination was out of the question and play was mostly of an individual nature. Under these conditions the showing of the locals disappointed some of their supporters and they are trembling in their shoes over the approaching series against the spooky west end team led by Frank Selke. But Aura Lee are a real team and they will put up a great fight for the honors.

Joe Jacobs, who owns McTigue, met Marty Killian who manages the Boston-Saturday night, and an attractive proposition who way of a big guarantee, to a little holder meet the challenger.

Mike McTigue is getting in two fights on Gymnasium for a Broadway decision bout with Louis Ambitious of Bridgeport.

Jacobs said to be on the heavyweight between Jack Dempsey, Wills, champion, and Harry Greb, recognized New Orleans negro, and that a good from various sources next Indianapolis is pending for the date of May 30. Memorial Day is to be staged at the Speedway, where Dempsey is in Jersey City, on July 2 is dropped Carpentier,

"Abe" Goldstein will battle for the Saturday night, ten rounds with Jackie Norman, and Sullivan have been matched to meet for six rounds.

Joe Lynch has a week's vacation before he is ready for Champ Midget Smith.

RESULTS
New York Match
St. Paul heavyweight, Wills knocked out Al Norfolk, colored, in second round bout preceded Wills-Norfolk contest.

Farmer League of St. Paul Sampson, New York, stopped in the fifth round of their bout. The referee stopped the contest when Sampson's jaw was dislocated by a right swing. The men are heavyweights.

Jack Reeves, San Francisco, stopped Mike Burke, New York, lightweights, bored as eight-rounders.

BUFF TO MEET LYNCH
New York, March 3.—Johnny Buff, the bantam champion, will defend his title against Joe Lynch, in a 15-round bout here March 20.

"BID" BARBERIAN LOSES TO "PINKEY" MITCHELL
Milwaukee, March 3.—Pinkey Mitchell, Milwaukee lightweight, defeated Sid Barberian, Detroit, in a ten-round no-decision boxing bout here last night, newspapermen unanimously decided. Mitchell was given eight rounds and Barberian was credited with six rounds and break in two. In the tenth Mitchell severely punished the Detroiter. Mitchell weighed 133½ and Barberian 130½ lbs.

LEONARD IN EASY BOUTS UNTIL HAND IS BETTER
Boston, March 3.—The only bout that Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, has called off is the one with Charlie White, booked for March 17 at New York, Billy Gibson, his manager said in a telegram received here today. Leonard has been matched to meet Johnny Ertion here on March 20 at an Elks carnival and Gibson's statement was in reply to a query whether that bout would be cancelled. Leonard was reported last night from New York to be suffering from an injury to his right hand that might keep him out of the ring for six weeks.

CHAMPS. TURNING INTO ACTORS

Jack Dempsey Gets $14,000 Per Week for Few Minutes' Work.

New York, March 3.—Jack Dempsey is getting $14,000 a week for filling in thirty minutes at the Hippodrome daily with a little boxing and a few wise cracks.

He says he wants to get away from the stage and fight. Most anyone else would battle to get on the stage at that fancy price.

After having picked up $200,000 for sixteen minutes' work last July, the heavyweight champion might now be figuring that he is working too hard for the money.

As "movie" actors go, however, Dempsey does his stage work very well. He has Babe Ruth backed off the boards, though it must be said as a credit to his bravery, that Ruth had nerve enough to attempt a song. Dempsey just threw a little and does his stuff in the ring. Ruth, however, couldn't do his stuff unless he was backed at the old amphitheatre.

The champion seems to be in perfect condition. He is a little bit heavy around the middle, but from the looks of his slim legs and his trim waist, he could hop into the ring with about thirty days in training. He is due for Larry Williams, one of the big sparring partners he had at Atlantic City. Of course, Billy will be very "clay", but, nevertheless, Dempsey shows signs of improvement,

He is getting faster and more graceful on his feet, his boxing shows much improvement and his punches are sharper and more to the point. He still breathes a little bit loudly, but the same "noise" was heard just before he fought Carpentier.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

At the Y.M.C.A. last night the Lions Bowling Team did not bear food enough to frighten their opponents out of a victory. The game was between the G.T.R. Offices and Lions' team and the former clan was victorious by a considerable margin. Dr. O'Callaghan of the Lions' team made the best single score 325, but Weir of the Office team had the best three string total by 346. PLAYERS TO RECEIVE GOLD SIGNET RINGS

Arrangements Have Already Been Completed for Presentation Next Week.

The committee in charge of the complimentary banquet to the Intermediate hockey team will meet again this afternoon under the chairmanship of Major Hanna. Arrangements for the affair have already been completed but the Mayor when spoken to by The Intelligencer this morning said that although tickets for the affair were going at a good rate, not many subscriptions for the presentation fund had yet been received.

It is the intention of the committee to purchase some gold signet rings, engraved with crossed hockey sticks and puck with the player's name thereon beneath. This had been found impossible to procure in this city, but a committee has already received a sample and is prepared to receive the order for the same. It is already been announced the dinner and presentation will take place at the Hotel Quinte a week from today.

DEMPSEY MAY MEET NOTED WRESTLER

Champion Heavy Considering Unique Match for the Near Future.

The oft discussed question of whether a champion boxer can beat a champion wrestler may be answered some time this winter. Gene Mealey, manager of Earl Craddock, has wired to Jack Kearns, offering to match Craddock against Jack Dempsey, each to follow his own style of milling. Kearns has made no reply to the challenge, but he is thinking it over. Dempsey is so badly in need of a match of some kind that it may be that the offer will be accepted. Years ago most of the heavyweights rather fancied themselves as wrestlers. Bob Fitzsimmons and Gus Ruhlin indulged in a match on the mat. While in France Jim Jeffries met a Frenchman who was allowed to use his feet as well as his hands, but there never has been a match between a champion fighter and a well-known wrestler.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

"Sit down sir and wait," said the doctor, "and I will be with you in a few minutes." Then he turned to the next patient and said: "Now, my friend, you are not going to speak to me, are you? You don't speak to me." And he said, "I've been before my friends all around the room. Mother wants you to come over to dinner with us at your earliest convenience." "I've been to you before," said the doctor, "and you have not been to see me since. I told you to go but you did not. I told you to go at once that the Dunkelbergs were in need of your attention about one of the first times and come to inquire it. So then and there last evening Olympus and our family received notice as it were.

"I can't," I said. "I've got to study my lessons before I go away with your father."

It was a blow to her. I saw the shadow that fell upon her face. She was tossed and tossed and run away from me without another word and I felt a pang of regret as I went to the house and deserted home of the schoolmaster.

As I entered the door Dunkelberg came for me, with a high-stepping horse in a new harness and a shiny, high-running buggy. He wore gloves and a beaver hat and sat very erect and had little to say.

"I hear you met the president," he remarked.

"Yes, sir. I was introduced to him this morning." I answered a bit too pompously, and wondering how he had heard of my good fortune, but deeply gratified at his knowledge of it.

"What did he have to say?"

I described the interview and the looks of the great man. Not much more was said as we sped away toward the deep woods and the hills.

Aunt Dee shook hands with Mr. Dunkelberg and then came to me and said:

"Wal, Bart Bayard! I never was so glad to see anybody in all the days of my life—never! We been lookin' up the road for an hour — every time some right like the horse this minute—both o' you."

The table was all spread with the things I enjoyed most—big, brown biscuits and a great comb of honey all rounded with the nectar and a pitcher of milk and a plate of cheese and some fried cakes and an apple pie.

"Set right down an' eat—I just want to see ya eatenyere. I do!"

Mr. Grimshaw came soon after we had finished our luncheon. He hitched his horse at the gate and came in.

"Good day," he said, once and for all, as he came in at the open door.

"Bayard, I want to have a talk with you and the boy. Tell me what you know about that murder."

"Wal, I had some business over to Plattsburg," my aunt explained. "While I was there I thought I'd go and see Amos. So I drove out to Beekman's farm. They told me Amos had left there after workin' four days. They gave him a quarter, allthine air was good to take the stage to the next village to take the train in the morning. He left some time in the afternoon. Beekman's hired man's wife, that was the kind o' gum that was used in the murder."

"I suspected as much," my uncle knew all this. He had said nothing to me of his power or its results.

"How do you know?" snapped Mr. Grimshaw.

"That boy see it plain. It was a gun with a piece o' wood broke out of the stock."

"Is that so?" was the brusque demand of the money lender as he turned to me.

"Yes, sir," I answered.

"Then, by Jove," he snapped, and turning to my uncle added: "I've had 'em up tryin' to make you pay for some debts—didn't ye now?"

Uncle Peabody, keeping his temper, shook his head and calmly said: "No, I ain't anything agin' you or Amos, but it's got to be as that a man can travel the roads o' this town without gettin' his head blowed off."

Mr. Dunkelberg turned to me and asked:

"Are you sure that the stock of the gun you saw was broken?"

"Yes, sir—and I'm almost sure it was Amos that ran away with it."

"Why?"

"I picked up a stone and threw it at him and it grazed the left side of his face, and the other night I saw the scar it made."

My aunt and uncle and Mr. Dunkelberg seemed still astonished, and I spoke of the scar, Mr. Grimshaw, with keen eyes fixed upon me, gave a little grunt of incredulity.

"Huh!—Liar!" he muttered.

I was not a liar, I declared with indignation, whereupon my aunt angrily stirred the fire in the stove and Uncle Peabody put his arm around me and said:

"Hush, Bart! Keep your temper, son."

Now you tell these things you may be the means of sending an innocent boy to his death," Mr. Grimshaw said to me. "I wouldn't be too sure about 'em if I were you. It's so easy to be mistaken. You couldn't be sure in the dusk that the stone really hit him, could you?"

I answered: "Yes, sir—I saw the stone hit and I saw him put his hand on the place while he was running. I guess it hurt him some."

CARMICHAEL RESIGNS FROM HYDRO BOARD

Hands in Resignation After Attacking Chippawa Outlay —Says Commission's Engineers Either Dishonest or Grossly Inefficient—Interim Hydro Appropriation of $3,500,000 is Voted.

Toronto, March 4.—Lieut.-Col. Carmichael, Minister without Portfolio, and the Drury Government's representative on the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, has placed his resignation as a commissioner in the hands of the Premier. The announcement of this action, which is a direct result of the issue created by the Chippawa development expenditure, was made in the House by Col. Carmichael personally, explaining his position, the Minister made serious reflections upon the commission and its engineers which provoked an immediate demand from Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and other Opposition members for a further and fuller statement. The demand, which was coupled with an intimation that the special vote of $3,500,000 asked for Hydro purposes would not be allowed to go through unless further information was coming, brought from Hon. Mr. Drury the intimation that the Government was taking preliminary steps looking to an investigation of the whole subject of Chippawa expenditure. The Premier's further announcement that the Government would give the members an early opportunity for a full discussion of the matter subsequent to the Opposition, and the special vote was passed.

Col. Carmichael's statement was delivered quite calmly and was to the point where he spoke of his resignation. Before this he had been dealing with the figures of estimated and actual expenditure, with which the public has become familiar through recent addresses of Premier Drury. He closed at his entrance to the House last session that the first five units would be completed at a cost of $40,000,000. Up to the end of January the expenditures had grown to the sum $61,000,000, and the engineers of the commission now estimated that, to complete five units by about March or April of 1923 there would be necessary a total expenditure of $69,865,005, which with an allowance of $3,000,000, for capital and equipment, interest charges, would make the net expenditure $65,365,005.

FIUME FALLS TO FASCISTI

President Yields After the Palace is Bombarded by Heavy Artillery.

Rome, March 4.—Fiumist, headed by Giuriate Grossich, today elected the Government place in Fiume. They fired twenty cannon shots into the building, whereupon those besieged in the palace hoisted the flag of surrender. They offered to give themselves into the hands of the Italian authorities, but Giunta declined the offer and gave them three minutes in which to surrender unconditionally. President Zanella was then obliged to yield.

Later Zanella issued the following declaration:

"As a result of to-day's events, which have compelled me to surrender to the revolutionary forces, I have transferred my forces to the National Citizens' Committee of Defence, which stirred up this movement."

Former legionaries from Fiume, led by Capt. Palazzoli, have telegraphed Gabriele d'Annunzio to come to Rome on Sunday to participate in a procession. Mr. De Valera declared the question was a test involving the supremacy of the Dail.

Before adjourning for luncheon the Dail formally ratified the Art Fish's agreement in so far as it concerned the Dail and the election to be held on the issue of the treaty and the constitution of the Free State.

MORE TROUBLE IN IRELAND

Members of Royal Irish Constabulary Attacked by Republican Soldiers.

TWO MEN WOUNDED

Government Lorries Filled With Ammunition Are Seized by Raiders.

Belfast, March 4.—When three cars containing members of the Royal Irish Constabulary were leaving Tipperary for Dublin yesterday they were fired upon and forced to halt before barricades which had been thrown across the road, it became known today. Captains Galloway and Purdy were taken prisoners and the others were lined up in the street and searched by members of the Irish Republican army. Two of the cars were burned during the firing and two of the police were wounded and sent to a hospital.

One of the most sensational features of the affair occurred when, de'ous Irregulars, a policeman succeeded in jump from a car with his clothing in flames. He dashed madly down the road, his screams of agony being gone some 50 yards. A Sinn Feiner went to his rescue and quickly stifled the fire with his overcoat. The policeman was removed to a hospital for medical attention.

Police escort with seven motor lorries and one armoured car was held up by 300 men at Donkitt, two miles from Enniscorthy, on Friday, the lorries, which contained Government property, including rifles and ammunition, were fired and driven by an unknown destination. The monetary loss is estimated at £12,000. The police escort was barred. The lorries were on the way to the Carnestown camp, County Kilkenny, which is the police reserve depot.

The raiders were armed with machine guns and rifles.

Disembarking, Bullock proceeded through the lower arch of the station to Station street, climbed into a taxi and drove off.

APPEAL DISMISSED WITH COSTS

Judgment Given by Local Trial Judge is Upheld.

At Osgoode Hall on Friday a case of local interest was decided by the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, before Hon. Chief Justice Sir Wm. Mulock, Masten, Rose, Kelly, J. J.

—Marks v. Rosselli—F. E. O'Flynn appealed on behalf of the defendant Rosselli from a judgment of His Honor Judge Wills on a promissory note. The defendant, Rosselli, claimed that he signed the note as witness only. The plaintiff denied this and contended that a written contract could not be varied by verbal testimony. The defendant's appeal dismissed with costs. W. C. Mikel, K.C., for respondent Marks.

ONE DEATH EVERY DAY REPORTS BOARD

Toronto March 4—The average number of accidents reported to the workmen's compensation board each working day during February was 150, of which 27 were fatal, or about one a day. The total was 3,112, while there were 24 accidents a days during the month. January's total was about the same, standing at 3,100 of which 31 were fatal.

There were 459 checks issued daily to workmen in compensation for injuries sustained by them. This number shows a slight increase from January's daily average of 433.

The actual amount paid out, on the other hand, shows a slight decrease, to be explained by the fact that February is a shorter month than January. The total was $316,702.81, as compared with $333,695.44 for the preceding month.

LLOYD GEORGE'S CAREER

London, March 4.—Premier Lloyd George's threat to resign has been suspended at the urgent solicitation of his Unionist colleagues in the Cabinet, according to an authoritative statement last night.

Austen Chamberlain, speaking at Oxford last night, said that when Premier Asquith resigned during the war, Mr. Lloyd George had not sought the Premiership, but desired to serve under Arthur J. Balfour or Andrew Bonar Law. Both these men thought it in the national interest that Mr. Lloyd George should have the premiership, and he accepted the post at their request. Mr. Lloyd George then said that it, at any time, he felt that the country's interest would be better served by the return to party Government, he gladly would return in favor of either Mr. Balfour or Mr. Bonar Law.

"Mr. Lloyd George repeated that offer to-day on the same day," Mr. Chamberlain continued, "and he would not take my answer, but asked me to consult with my party and let him have their reply. I have consulted them, and we have unanimously come to the view that national interest, and we have the interest of our own party, and that we must not take the Premier at his word, and that would not be served, but would be injured, by the Prime Minister resigning.

"We have told him that we valued his leadership in the Government and the Cabinet, and that we valued the cooperation of his Liberal colleagues, and that we think no Government constituted on a purely party basis could have brought the country through the dangers of war as his coalition has done."

LITTLE NEST EGG FOR CANADA

Five Million Dollar Payment To be Made by Great Britain.

Ottawa, March 4.—Canada, it is expected, will receive in a short time a payment from the British neighbor-hood of five million dollars from the British government on account of the very liberal contribution Canada during the war. Supplementary estimates to provide for the payment of one million pounds sterling have been put through the British house.

The railway material consisted of some five hundred miles of railway steel, etc., taken up from portions of the lines which are now included in the Canadian National System and shipped to Britain when there was a great dearth of railway material on account of the sinking of miles of lines, switches and sliding were taken from the National Transcontinental between Quebec and Moncton, N.B., and another 900 miles or so in the neighborhood of the Yellow Head Pass.

BOYS RESCUED FROM RIVER

Fireman Wades Into Ice-Coated River and Saves Youngsters.

Paris, Ont., March 4.—Two 13-year-old lads, named Donald Fraser and Albert Hill, had a close call from death last night. The boys commandeered an old boat on the Nith River and, obtaining a pair of oars, "rowed" and, instead, started down the Grand River after 7 o'clock at night, bound for Brantford, a distance of one hundred and fifty miles.

About 500 yards below Dumfries street bridge, the boat struck a submerged rock and stuck fast. The lads were about 150 yards out from the east bank of the Grand River, with a swift current and ice running down.

Fire Chief Skelly fastened a rope around his shoulders and plunged into the river, over breast-deep before he reached the boat, when he made two trips, carrying a boy to the shore on his shoulders each time.

MONTREAL CITY HALL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Firemen Make Vain Effort to Save Blazing Structure— Five Hundred Employees Out of Work—Loss is Estimated at Ten Million Dollars—Mayor Martin Makes Gallant Effort to Recover Civic Papers.

MONTREAL, March 4.—The Montreal City Hall, built thirty years ago at a cost of around a million dollars, was totally destroyed by fire this morning after a vain effort had been made to save it by the combined forces of all the fire brigades in the city. Completed in 1876, the City Hall was long regarded as being one of the finest buildings in the city. It was planned along Parisian lines of architecture, bearing a close resemblance to the Hotel de Ville, Paris.

Over five hundred employees will be temporarily out of work as a result of the fire.

It is thought that five million dollars in signed debentures raised on the city loan may also be lost. Mayor Martin made a gallant effort to save the civic papers.

A total loss of at least ten million dollars is Mayor Mederic Martin's estimate of the net result of the fire, without counting the incalculable loss of historic documents, works of art and records, of moral and sentimental, rather than a financial value.

"BEHOLD MY WIFE". UNUSUAL PHOTOPLAY

George Melford, who has been producing some of the best pictures of the current season, has another winner in "Behold My Wife" which is the feature attraction at Griffin's To-night. The photoplay was adapted from Sir Gilbert Parker's stirring tale of the Canadian Northwest, "The Translation of a Savage."

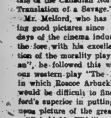

Mr. Melford, who has been producing good pictures since the infancy days of the cinema industry, came to the fore with his excellent picturization of the morality play "Everyman", he followed this with the famous western play "The Round Up", in which Roscoe Arbuckle starred. It would be difficult to find Mr. Melford's superior in putting on a strenuous picture of the great outdoors.

"Behold My Wife", with its scenes laid in the Canadian trading post country and in England, tells an unusually appealing story of an Indian maiden who becomes a society belle and a fallen woman because a man, Malel Julienne Scott. Milton Sill's Aun Forest, and Elliott Dexter are in the cast. Buster Keaton in a 2 reel comedy "The Goat", a new chapter of the Western serial "Winners of the West" featuring Art Accord, and Movie Chats are being exhibited on the same program.

CO-OPERATION THE KEYNOTE OF PROSPERITY

History of the Bank of Montreal's Growth in a Century

The Bank of Montreal, which has just taken over the Merchants Bank of Canada, is the oldest Bank in the Dominion, it was established in 1817 and has been the country of co-operation in developing Canadian trade and industry. Every year has added to the strength of the largest undertakings of the country that its history is largely the history of the Bank of Montreal. The oldest Bank in British North America and one of the largest in the British Empire it has effected this great work with such a kindly touch of co-operation that it has always enjoyed the confidence, one might almost say the affection, of all Canadians.

Looking back over its undertakings of 100 years and scanning the different groups of men that have succeeded one another in the direction and administration of the affairs of the Bank it is immediately struck by the high ideals they have always attained and their faithful adherence to the sound test traditions of the Bank which has been confided to their care. On closer examination it is also impossible not to remark that one of the underlying facts in the remarkable success of the Bank is the jealous regard for its trust officers have respected and passed along the traditions of the earlier days.

With these traditions the Bank has become something more than merely a banker to its customers. It has grown much further than that and while to-day it was an individual, a company municipality or government, the Bank has sought to help and encourage them and to give the benefit of its full experience in order that their problems might be worked out and success attained.

There are so many Canadians who to-day take pride in telling of the help they received in the early days of their struggle as a result of this policy that it might truthfully be said that the Bank of Montreal has played a prominent part in the development of every industry that to-day thrives in Canada.

Such hearty co-operation previously had as its foundation absolute confidence in the future of Canada. This confidence has been fully justified, and to-day, as one looks back 50 or 100 years that one appreciates the courage and foresight it required to take the bright and opportunities that were ahead.

And so the Bank of Montreal has grown to be more than a Bank—it is an institution.

Its growth and expansion have been like those of many other Canadian concerns. It came from very small commonplace beginnings, but gradually and steadily it expanded and as the population spread out over the North American continent, the Bank of Montreal expanded its branch system in order to play its full part in the development of the resources of the country.

For a great many years it has also served as fiscal agent for the Government of the Dominion of Canada and in this capacity has been able to lend valuable assistance in shaping the financial problems of the country and helping to keep its condition at all times sound.

Furthermore, although the bank is an institution of remarkable strength and solidity, it must not be forgotten that many, if not most, of its offices are situated in small towns, and its services are therefore necessarily devoted very largely to the farmer and the small business man. It is true that many of the largest business and industrial concerns in the country avail themselves of the banking facilities which this institution is able to offer but the policy of the bank is service first, whether in connection with large accounts or small ones, and the attention and care devoted to small accounts both in cities and in rural districts form one of the reasons why the Bank of Montreal is held in such high repute throughout the Dominion.

The Bank and the War

As the agents of the Dominion Government, and as the banker of other banks, the Bank of Montreal rendered notable service to the country during the war. By calling in large amounts of specie which it had invested abroad, available at short notice, it steadied the financial situation in Canada at a time when great apprehension was entertained, and it thus contributed largely to enabling the country to tide over the period of depression which supervened between the outbreak of war and the reorganization of our industrial and economic life. In the difficult problems of finance which the Government and the country have been faced with from time to time since the close of the war, the Bank has lent invaluable aid.

Not the least service which the Bank of Montreal has rendered to the country is the steadying influence which it exerted when a crisis arose in the affairs of the Merchants Bank, and the manner in which it brought its resources and experience to bear not only in preventing any losses to the clients of that bank but also in preventing anything even remotely resembling a dislocation in the business with which

BLAME GOVT. FOR DEPRESSION

Prominent Men Are Petitioning Authorities to Withdraw Saloon Restrictions.

London, March 4—Governmental restrictions, hailed months ago by the temperance organization in London as a victory which the Imperial Commercial Association has sent to the liquor-licensing justices. Its sponsors predict that disastrous results will follow the closing of public houses at 10 o'clock as now ordered.

The letter is signed by Baron Inchcape, one of the leading shipping men of Great Britain; Baron Swaythling, banker; Baron Bitchie, vice-chairman of the Port of London Authority; Lord Ashtrey of Bunleigh, former Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade; Baron Ashfield, managing director of the underground railways; Baron Farrington, chairman of the Great Central Railway; Viscount Devonport, chairman of the Port of London Authority, and former food controller, and Sir J. P. Hewett.

They asserted that "it is probable that never in the history of this country has the liberty of the individual been more subject to rigorous limitations than at present.

"London has flourished and become famous largely because of the attractive feature which it has presented to the travelling public, but the ever-tightening grip of control is changing all this."

The Association contends that much of the blame for the present unhappy condition of trade and commerce "must be apportioned to the restrictions and limitations imposed upon business and individuals by authorities".

The writers assert that these restrictions result in the establishment of an arbitrary and bureaucratic authority, and the limitation of the right of the citizen to conduct himself with that freedom which is an essential part of the character of a free citizen.

HUGE WIRELESS FOR RUSSIA

Station is Expected to be More Powerful Than Nauen.

Moscow, March 4—Soviet Russia will soon have a wireless station capable of transatlantic service, says M. Nikolaieff, Assistant Commissar for Posts and Telegraphs.

The station is in progress of erection at Bogorodsk, near Moscow and is expected to be one of the most powerful in the world. Its towers will be more than 800 feet high, which is 300 feet higher than the famous German wireless station at Nauen. The new Russian station will have a strength of 500 kilowatts.

Nikolaieff adds that Soviet Russia has made great progress in wireless communication in the last four years and cites as evidence of it the fact that the station at Moscow is able to hold telephone conversations with another at Chita, Siberia, 3,000 miles distant. Russia now has 38 sending stations and 250 receiving stations.

New wireless stations will be erected within the next few months at Tashkent, Kharkov and Novo-Nikolaevsk as well as at the radial points of the Siberian water basin and along the Arctic en coast where nine stations were installed in 1921.

A FRIENDLY LETTER

A SERMON FOR THE "SHUT-IN"—THOSE WHO ARE UNABLE TO ATTEND CHURCH SERVICES THROUGH ILLNESS OR INFIRMITY.

By Rev. W. H. Wallace, Pastor of Victoria Ave. Baptist Church.

Epistle of Paul to Philemon: "This is my own handwriting; I will repay it, to refund it—not to mention that you owe me, over and above, your very soul."—Verse 19.

We may look in vain for doctrine here, but we can find a very fine illustration of the practical working of Christianity, and the power of the Gospel, in transforming the relations of saint and slave to Christian brothers. Obedience, the slave, had run away from his master, Philemon. The former is won to Christ by the ministry of Paul and becomes his son in the faith. The apostle sends him back to his master, not as a slave, but as a brother in Christ. Beloved. Paul beats all the famous abolitionists on their own ground. That must have been a great intellect which could shape the profound and far-reaching teachings of the Epistle to Colossians, and pass from them to the graceful simplicity and sweetness of this exquisite letter; as if Michael Angelo had gone straight from sculpturing the massive figures in the marble mass to incise some delicate and tiny figure of Love and Friendship on a cameo.

Note first the human act and a Divine purpose shining through it. The slave runs away from his master. He did not know he was running into the arms of his Saviour. How little Onesimus knew what was to be the end of that day's work, when he slunk out of Philemon's house with his stolen goods. And how little any of us know where we are going and what strange results may be the outcome of our actions! "There is a Divinity shapes our ends, rough hew them how we may." Thank God the end is far better than we purposed, because of God's good providence, and richer still, His abounding grace. Notice Paul's tender and thoughtful touch in referring to the new relation between the slave and his master. They were "parted for a season" to be united forever as brothers. What a transforming power the gospel of Jesus has over all classes—all one in Christ. What another beautiful and tender thought the apostle gives here, and susceptible of many applications. The separation does may be eternal gain. As the blessome must perish before we can have the perfume that will give fragrance for years. As Jesus said of His going away to enrich His fellowship for all time with spiritual power and richest blessings—"It is expedient for you that I go away." It has been well said "In the flesh, Philemon had the brother for his slave; in the Lord, Philemon has the slave for his brother."

Note next, the purpose and the motive for the letter. "If then thou countest me as a partner, receive him as myself." Paul appeals on the ground of communality of interest in Christian blessings. The apostle sinks all reference to apostolic authority, and only points to that common possession of faith, hope and joy in Christ Jesus. Let us catch the suggestion here: "Receive him as myself." This is the same appeal our Lord makes to all His followers for each other. We are to do for others as we do for each other as unto the Lord. "He that receiveth you receiveth Me, and he that receiveth Me receiveth Him that sent Me." Let us therefore seek by God's grace to maintain the highest act of Christian relation to each other in view of the final judgment of our Master. "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye did it unto Me."

Then note, Love takes the slave's debt on itself. "If he hath wronged thee, I Paul promise to refund it. I write it with my own hand." Paul wisely uses gentler words, as this slave was a true penitent and did not need the harsh words that bite into the conscience. Then playful like, he appeals like a lawyer. You can take this letter as my bond. Witness my hand. "I will repay." And that is just what Jesus has done with our great debt of sin. He died for our sin. Our debt was laid to His account. It is no longer against us. What wondrous grace! He loved me and gave Himself for me. Thank God, because Jesus died, we are no longer under law, and no longer bound slaves to sin, but we are set free by Jesus Christ our Lord. We are truly sing, "Love lifted me." But from what? From sin and shame, the curse of a broken law and death itself. For He died for me.

In conclusion, we are reminded by Paul of the greater debt we owe Christ. Jesus could say to us, what Paul said to Philemon, "Thou owe me over and above, your very soul." What shall ye do then in return? Give ourselves to Jesus Christ. If we want to have more of Christ we must give ourselves more to Him. We are not your own, ye are bought with a price, therefore glorify God in your body and in your spirit which are God's.

"I gave My life for thee;
What hast thou given to Me?"

"He that loveth his life shall lose it, but he that loseth his life for My sake shall find it—and keep it unto life eternal."

Unless With Christ.

I lift my heart to Thee,
Saviour Divine;
For Thou art all to me,
And I am Thine.
Is there on earth a closer bond than this,
That my Beloved's mine, and I am His?

Thine am I by all ties,
But chiefly Thine,
That through Thy sacrifice
Thou, Lord, art mine;
By Thine own cords of love, so sweetly wound
Around me I to Thee am closely bound.

To Thee, Thou bleeding Lamb,
I all things owe;
All that I have and am,
And all I know.
All that I have is now no longer mine,
And I am not my own; Lord, I am Thine.

How can I, Lord, withhold Life's brightest hour
From Thee; or gathered gold,
Or any power?
Why should I keep one precious thing from Thee,
When Thou hast given Thine own dear Self for me?

I pray Thee, Saviour, keep Me 'ie Thy love,
Until death's body sleep
Shall me remove
To that fair realm where, sin and sorrow o'er,
Thou and Thine own are one for evermore.

BELLEVILLE GIRLS ENJOY FLORIDA VISIT

Mid-Summer There and We Are Freezing Here.

Two Belleville girls, the Misses Georgia and Helen Springer, who if they had been at home last night would have been sleighing, skating or doing other appropriate things in the land where the ice king holds sway were given the novelty of a wonderful moonlight boat ride and picnic supper on the beach during mid-February at St. Augustine, Florida. The trip was one the visiting girls will never forget. Miss Georgia Springer is a member of the faculty of the state school for the Deaf and the Blind this year, and her younger sister, Miss Helen Springer, recently came southward from Canada with her mother for a visit in St. Augustine. The excursion of last night was arranged for the girls by Mrs. George Cooper Hopkins and Miss Frances Jones, and leaving shortly after 8 o'clock in the evening the boat trip to Crescent Beach was enjoyed. After reaching the landing at Crescent Beach the members of the party went to the ocean beach, and building a camp fire on the shore soon enjoyed their picnic supper. The night was simply perfect and almost as warm as mid summer, the air being soft and balmy. The return trip up the river by moonlight was thoroughly delightful.

Mrs. Springer and the Misses Springer will also visit Miami for a few days.

AN APPRECIATION.

Once again the thanks of the city of Belleville are due to the local Chamber of Commerce. The need for a steamer service is indeed urgent, and yesterday's meeting of the Board of Directors with a representative of the Canada Steamship Lines to provide that service was both timely and necessary. The city will know on March 20th whether or not it is to receive the benefit of a steamship calling here on the Rochester-Bay of Quinte route.

As the report of the Chamber issued some time ago stated there is more than a sentimental regret that the fleet of steamships which formerly called at Belleville have disappeared from the Bay. There are beauty spots galore in Ontario, but it is a safe venture that the beauties of the Bay of Quinte rank not lowly for behind the best.

With a steamer calling here the beauties of such a trip would be impressed on tourist visitors. The tourist is one of the greatest gossipers in the world. He or she sees something and they have to immediately tell their friend Smith or Jones all about it and enjoin him to particularly see this or that interesting spot.

The stopping of the service boat here in turn advertises Belleville to these people. They find a city eager to see to their welfare. Business is materially helped. There are many phases to the question. We have not attempted to deal with the confidence to our own citizens in the way of short water excursions during the blazing months of summer nor have we touched upon the question of the freight service which would be a concomitant of the passenger service.

There are many important problems of welfare facing the city of Belleville which the Chamber of Commerce can help to solve and the directors certainly have not selected the least important when they started on the steamship service question.

FUR FARMING IN CANADA.

Some two hundred and fifty years ago the hardy adventurers of France were drawn from the old world by reports of the beautiful new tracts of the west. Cartier first and Champlain afterwards ploughed long furrows in the western seas to come in Canada and settle here. Many things prompted the men who accompanied these famous leaders to come here. Canada was known to be a land of fur bearing animals as diverse as they were prolific.

From the 16th and 17th centuries were luxuries that were enjoyed by only a few, and trapping was a remunerative as well as a fascinating pastime. For a long while it remained the sole industry, but soon the settler arrived with his family and goods and agriculture superseded the fur trade as the principal industry. At present we hear very little about the fur trade; but it is nevertheless a substantial business. The New York Times, in a recent issue, gives up considerable space to an account of our resources in that regard. It accepts the statement of the Canadian Pacific Railway that the Dominion is still the chief source of the world's supply of fur, at a time when the demand is greater than ever before in history. Last year 5,000,000 pelts were secured by trappers in the far north and other secluded parts of the country, which represented a primary value of $20,000,000. When, however, many of these furs had been dressed and dyed they would probably be increased from three to twenty fold in value.

Alluding to the growing industry of domesticating fur-bearing animals in Canada, the Times quotes the Canada Pacific as saying in a brochure on the subject:—

"The other contributing factor to Canada's annual fur wealth, which is only commencing, but which has immense potentialities, is the domestic ranching of wild animals. The time must undoubtedly come when the northern wilds will be depleted to such an extent that other sources must be provided. Farms for the domestic rearing of fur-bearing and other wild fur-bearers are preparing for this. There were 16,529 of these in existence last year, and from them were sold 2,401 pelts worth $388,335, so that Canadian fur farms in that year added $1,-181,866 to Canada's fur revenue. Taking into account the amount of furs which go unrecorded and the returns from accredited trading houses, $25,000,000 is not too large a figure at which to place Canada's fur production.

"The domestic ranching of wild animals in Canada is only in its infancy. The number of farms are continually being added to and the industry is making substantial strides. In the last few months a fox farm was established at Medicine Hat, Alberta, with $50,000 capitalization; one was established at Sackville, New Brunswick, under similar capitalization; one at Salisbury, New Brunswick, had $100,000 worth of stock, and important farms were also located at Winnipeg, Manitoba, and Newboro, Ontario, as well as at least one in British Columbia."

Calgary Albertan:—

The name "Murp" is going out in Britain, according to the latest statistics, only eight per cent. of girls bear the name. The girls of to-day are running up to Glycerines, Gwendolines, Guinevieres, Hispeths, Odettes, Yvonnes, Beachblossoms and rough like. But there are still thousands of the best girls in the world bearing the best name in the world despite all the falling off.

ATHLETICS FOR GIRLS

Petersboro' Examiner:—

Why it should be considered unwomanly for a girl to enjoy herself and gain health and strength by a reasonable participation in such games as hockey and basketball, is a mystery. The young women of to-day are not losing a bit of their modesty because they can skate and swim and vie with the sterner sex on tennis court or golf links. They are developing character as well as health, because of their athletic activity, and it is to be fancied that when they marry they will be not merely wives, but chums, "pals", as it were, with their husbands, and that the pathway of married life will be the smoother because of a common interest in clean sports.

ENCOURAGE DEBATING CLUBS

St. Catharines Standard:—

It is observed by a contemporary that public debating is a lost delight in the rural sections of the Province. Every little school section has a Parliament all its own, but this respect, the greatest commendation is to be given the U.F.O. movement. In the cities there is a larger interest in the development of public speaking, and it is most regrettable. Most men have the power of expressing themselves, but there are many actually called to some public office before they ever become able to think on their feet. Only a small percentage of university men develop into good speakers. It is a pity that the benefit derived from forensic ability as it is the advantage derived from study and preparation of subjects to be debated.

The Poets' Corner

The Dreamer

I am tired of planning and toiling
In the crowded hives at men;
Heart-weary of building and spoiling,
And spoiling and building again.
And I long for the dear old river,
Where I dreamed my youth away;
For a dreamer lives for ever,
And a toiler dies in a day.

I am sick of the showy seeming
Of a life that is half a lie;
Of the faces lined with scheming
In the throng that hurries by.
From the sleepless thought's endeavor
I would go where the children play;
For a dreamer lives for ever,
And a thinker dies in a day.

I can feel no pride, but pity
For the burdens rich men endure;
There is nothing sweet in the city
But the patient lives of the poor.
Oh, the little hands too skilful,
And the child-mind choked with weeds—
The daughter's heart grown willful,
And the father's heart that bleeds!

No, no! from the street's rude bustle,
From trophies of mart and stage,
I would fly to the woods' low rustle
And the meadow's kindly page.
Let me dream as of old by the river,
And be loved for the dream always;
For a dreamer lives for ever,
And a toiler dies in a day.

A Laugh or Two

Careless of Him

A lank, disconsolate-looking person stood on the steps of Town Hall during a political meeting. "Do you know who's talking in there now?" demanded a stranger briskly, pausing for a moment beside him. "Or are you just going in?"

"No sir, I've come out," said the man, decidedly. "Congressman Sniffkins is talking in there."

"What about?" asked the stranger.

"Well," continued the man, passing his hand across his forehead in a puzzled manner, "he didn't say."—The Argonaut.

Rule Britannia!

A retired naval officer said that he could not understand "all this disarmament nonsense." "Do, sir! What would Britain be without her navy? Had we forgotten Trafalgar? Was it not our glory and our tradition to maintain the freedom of the seas?"

It was pointed out to him that this was an attempt—wise or not—to remove the menace from the seas.

"Hang it all, sir!" roared the old sea warrior, bristling. "What's the sea for?"—Tit-Bits (London.)

THE KHAN, IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

THE MEDIOCRITIES.

There is one thing in our public life in this country that visitors from old-er lands miss most, and that is the wife of the man in the public eye. In old London, in Paris, in Madrid and Rome, and to a less extent in Washington, the wives of great men take part in the scenario and vastly help to make things interesting. Indeed many of these are said to be nowhere only for their brilliant consorts. There are many such instances. But there be none here and one wonders why—yet the thing is easily explainable. There is a compelling pathos about it and the reasons make one sad.

The big man in the public eye may have been, ten years ago, an ordinary, yeah, a very ordinary citizen. He had no inherent ability, and ten to one, no education, as it is or as it ought to be understood. He owed his first election, say, to a seat in the council of Bullock's Corners or Gumbo, to a flukey, to bull-headed luck, to a big mistake or to an accident. There was no one so surprised at himself, and his wife, who knew him better than anyone else, couldn't make head or tail of it—the world was coming to an end. It seemed and, in some cases, terrified her, to think that there were enough people in the world to elect her Abner to hold office. If she had a sense of humor she giggled her head off down cellar or out to the barn, where no one could see her. But Ah, saw nothing funny in it. The fence was down and there was a clear field before him and there was no reason under the sun, why he shouldn't be a Cabinet Minister, get at the very least, a member of the House some day. And there you are!

Now, a few years before that, when he married Lize, he wasn't anybody in particular and never expected to be anybody in particular. Lize was the belle of the basket factory or held down a seat on the woollen mills, or she was head dining-room girl in the Temperance cafe' house and ice cream parlor, or the daughter of the horny-handed son of tile he worked for. And he was in great luck to get her; she was the best of the two. They would have got along all right and led the ideal life, only he had the misfortune to get elected to something or other and that started the trouble. The day came when he had to go down to the capital to attend the session of Parliament. Did he bring Lize along, the faithful Lize, with him? Nay. And why not, pray? Because Lize was good in her bogus presentable. She is something of a has-been. Poor! In Ottawa, the mistress of the mansion is women like Lize don't outlast their youth. Few of them can stand up against poverty and struggle.

"She married a man, coloured and poor."

And many children played round her door.

But care and sorrow and childbirth pain,

But they didn't fit her. Ah! None of those things injured the man. He took on the least, and when Fate turned her spotlight on him he was in his prime and a his best. Now do you wonder—mind why he didn't bring Missus Squlpin with him when he came to town to make the laws of his country?

He left the honest truth about it. Lize isn't presentable. It is quite possible for a man to wear a silk hat, a flannel shirt, and celluloid collar, a sweater, striped pants and red shoes and get by with it, but his wife on the side is such liberties. Sometimes she does, however. I saw a couple of them at a function the other afternoon. One of them was a scream, but the other was appalling, she was a long soul-rendering beef of agony.

When the franchise was given women there were pessimists who predicted that in the near future we would be ruled by petticoat government. The thing is quite improbable, if not impossible. I recall a man who was the leader of a great party and dominated the biggest part of a continent, and he was absolutely helpless—his bidjis is the right word. Age did not improve him; he was one terrifying spectacle, but he stayed in the game till the last dog was hung and died mourned by a nation, and that nation mourns him yet. Now he would be impossible with a woman. If she were pretty, if she were winsome, and always winsome, she was absolutely bidjis—and

CONTRIBUTED RECIPES FOR "SPRINGERLE COOKIES"

Twenty different readers of this column have generously responded to my suggestion that anyone who knew of a recipe for "Springerle" cookies send it to me. "Mrs. S." who asked for one recently, I intend, to publish all of the recipes in time—printing a page of them now and then—for there are not two alike in all the 20! Here are some of them:

Mrs. Kenney your request in the paper for a Springerle recipe, I am sending the following: 4 eggs, 1 pound powdered sugar; beat these two ingredients together for one hour. Then add one-half teaspoon soda dissolved in a little milk and enough flour to roll out. Stamp with either a rolling pin made for purpose (still figures on it) or with small wood forms. Cut apart and let lie all night. In the morning bake in a very slow oven. Here is another recipe, though a more expensive one:

Chamlick: 2 pounds of powdered sugar, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon powder, small pinch of salt and the grated rind of 1 lemon; mix this mixture for about half hour; then add 2 pounds of flour, roll out thin, cut with forms, let lie all night, and bake in not too hot an oven.

A Little Girl Reader—I am 15 years old, thought I would send you a recipe. My mother gave me this recipe so send to you: Springerle Cookies: 4 eggs, 2 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon anise seed, 3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder. Beat eggs very light, add sugar, and beat again; add flour, baking powder and the anise seed (pounded fine) and drop by half teaspoonfuls in well greased pans one inch apart. Let stand overnight or drop on two hours in a cool place so dry and bake in a slow oven. These may be shaped any desired form.

Anonymous—"Springerle": Yolks of 2 eggs and ½ pound of powdered sugar; beat together for 30 minutes. Beat the two egg-whites thoroughly and add them to the yolks and sugar. Then add also the grated rind of ½ a lemon, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 2 cups of flour sifted with 1 teaspoon baking powder and a tablespoon powdered anise seed. Beat well. Knead for five minutes, then put the dough into a covered bowl and let stand three hours. Roll out to one-half inch in thickness, sprinkle wooden form with flour and press the dough, cut the cakes apart, and let them lie on a clean cloth overnight. Bake in moderate oven on a greased pan in a moderate oven till the color of soda crackers.

Mrs. B.—"Springerle Cakes": 1 tablespoon butter, 1 large egg, 2 cups sugar, ½ cup sour cream, pinch of salt, 4 level cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 lemon rind grated and sugar, powder and flour and add the beaten eggs, then add the sugar and beat for 15 minutes. Now add salt, lemon rind and part of the flour mixed and sifted with the baking powder. Use the rest of the flour to knead dough lightly on the baking board. Then roll it out to one-half inch thick. Use a springerle rolling pin and cut cakes apart. Put in them over a baking board on which you have sprinkled anise seeds. Let stand overnight. In the morning place cakes onto well-greased tins and bake in a moderate oven to a light yellow color.

GRAND PIANOS HEAVILY TAXED

Moscow, March 4.—Grand pianos are heavily hit by the new luxury taxes framed by the Moscow Soviet. Each owner of a grand piano must pay an annual tax of 750,000 rubles, which exceeds the annual wages of many employees.

Ordinary pianos are taxed 600,000 a year and phonographs must pay 300,000.

ROSY CHEEKED HEALTHY WOMEN

Know the Full Value of Rich Red Blood.

Robust, healthy, red-cheeked women seldom worry. Their condition of mind and body is such that they can rise above the causes that bring, most anchoty and brooding. It is the woman with weak, watery blood, who is thrown into nervous unrest by little annoyances that grow so great in the imagination that it seems as if she must scream to relieve her feelings.

A woman's health quickly fails her when her blood becomes thin and weak. The stomach is disordered and all appetite vanishes. The nerves lose their strength and so sleep is not regular and does not refresh the body. A state of weakness arises that increases gradually and gives further cause for worry. Good blood is necessary to every woman who has grown pale and weak, and in this condition Dr. William's Pink Pills will be found of great benefit because they enrich and purify the blood. Women who are anaemic, sister, from indigestion, palpitating headaches and nervous weakness will find new strength through a fair use of these pills. Among the women who have proved the virtues of this medicine is Mrs. Enos Levy, Hillcott's Cove, N. S., who says: "About two years ago I began to fail in health and was all run down, and my blood was weak and watery, as was manifest every month. I had heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and what they would do for the blood, and bring in such a low condition I decided to try them. By the time I had finished the fourth box I found to my great delight that I was a great deal stronger, and my blood a deep red color. I have a lot of work to do besides taking care of my little one, and with my good health I enjoy it and I can truthfully say I owe this condition to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or may be had by mail, post paid, at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SPRING COLOR LEADERS

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Many of the new colors wearing have a wonderful silky lustre, as for example, the crepe Romanes, which imitates crepe marocain, and then there is a zoline echo fabric which so perfect that it can hardly be told from its model.

French silk makers do not overlook the persistent vogue for materials with a slighty lustrous finish and much has been made in Paris of a so-called metallic satin, made of silk and cotton, producing a metallic sheen with out containing any metal.

KITCHENER BEAT NIAGARA FALLS

Belleville's Conquerors Outclassed by Green Shirts in Final Round.

Kitchener, March 4.—Outplaying the Niagara Falls crew at every stage in the game, Kitchener Intermediates last night scored a 6 to 2 victory in the first game of the O.H.A. intermediate finals. The "Green Shirts" will go to Niagara on Monday with a four-goal lead on the round and confidence that they have the ability to beat the "border flyers" right in the Falls.

There was no doubt about tonight's verdict. Kitchener had a big margin on the play, and this has not been for the brilliant exhibition of Goalie Mayo of the Falls team, the locals would have made the margin much wider. The Kitchener crew checked hard from the commencement of play and the visitors were on the defence most of the time. They appeared to suffer materially from their gruelling contest with Belleville, and were on the verge of collapse at the end of the third period.

Kitchener got the jump early, and when Schell scored at three minutes. Then Shirk and Erb tallied before Fraser found the one fly-spec in Shirk came back and made the score 3 to 1 just before the period closed.

In the second period Herrington grabbed one by a long shot through the "green shirts" defence. Two minutes before the final bell went Shirk netted the rubber from close in, and scored again a minute later.

Kitchener—Goal, Zuber; defence, Kargus and Gildner; centre, Shirk; wings, Schell and Erb; subs, Master and Krug.

Niagara Falls—Goal, Mayo; defence, Fraser and Bawtenheimer; centre, Degray; wings, Herrington and Themens; subs, Doyle and Urquhart.

They had vanuted Red and White lashed to the mast, and they outclassed their opponents nearly as far off as the score indicates. They are worthy champions, and are not likely to be beaten by any of the other Allan Cup seekers.

How to Wash Your Clothes in an Electric Washer

A SERIES OF TALKS ON WASHDAY PROBLEMS
Article No. 3—Continued from Last Saturday.

Many electric washers are made of copper or wooden tubs. Some are made of a combination of galvanized iron and wood. But whatever the make, special care should be taken to keep your washer in good condition. It should be kept in a dry, cool place. After using any electric washer it should be thoroughly rinsed out, the inside wiped dry and clean. In case of a wooden tub washer, do not close the lid tight, but leave open enough to permit the air to circulate, in order that the inside of the tub will be kept fresh. Do not attempt if you have a galvanized washer to clean off that characteristic white or gray coating that you will find deposited on the metal. This coating is the result of a chemical reaction that takes place, due to lime and magnesia salts in the wash water combining with the soap. This coating is not harmful; in fact it protects the metal from further chemical reaction. In all copper tub washers there is a coating of tin on a copper base which protects the copper and prevents verdigris. Never use acids or chemicals to clean any metal tubs. In regard to oiling the motor, it is advisable to keep the grease cups filled. These cups are found on each side of the motor and feed oil to the bearings. These should be examined and refilled about every six months, according to the use of the washer. The other working parts of the electric washer should be oiled often. This will insure smooth and perfect running and adds considerable to the life of your electric washer.

A word about the cord connecting your motor. Take care that it does not kink in any way, but keep it free from kinks and twists; when detaching the plug be careful not to grasp the connecting cord and jerk the plug from the socket or even unscrew it, but take hold of the plug itself and remove it. Unscrew the other part of the plug out separately.

CENTRAL LEAGUE IS READY

Annual Meeting of Officers to be Held March 20.

Oshawa, March 4.—Secretary Nott, of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball Association, gave out today that, according to the amendment or alterations to the constitution already received, the annual on Monday, March 20, will be a peace conference as every team is anxious to see the Central Association have one of the strongest constitutions for amateur baseball.

The main suggestions so far received are that the residence rule, which is now May 15, be made the same as the Ontario body, Jan. 1; reducing the executive to consist of the president and one member from each town; an independent sub-committee to handle all protests; raising the entrance and protest fees, and paying the umpires by mileage for their expenses.

The last day for receiving amendments is Saturday, March 11, when the secretary will have all such printed and mailed so that the different clubs will receive them on Monday, March 13, giving them one week's notice, as provided by the league.

The Central League this year will likely consist of eight or nine teams. An application has been received from the Lesside Athletic Club and Bowmanville held a meeting last Saturday afternoon to start organization. The latest is that Picton, winners of the intermediate series, has ambitions to "jump into senior ball, and may make application. "Brodenian out" looks like the words of 1922.

DISTURBED BY STRIKE

London, March 4.—England's theatres and tennis players are disturbed by a strike which has been in progress for three weeks among racket strikers and others concerned in the making of rackets. The workers have declined to accept a reduction in wages suggested by employers in view of the lower cost of living. Delivery to retailers, which usually by this early in March, will be delayed, it is said, and repairs are at present impossible.

O.W.V.A. DOMINION EXECUTIVE TO MEET IN OTTAWA

Ottawa, Ont., March 4.—The question of further reestablishment legislation will be the predominant matter to occupy the attention of the Dominion Executive of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada—the Cabinet Council of the Soldiers' Parliament—which is scheduled to meet in Ottawa commencing March 8th. At the national convention of the G.W.V.A. last Fall it was decided to press for such legislation as would result in the placing of ex-service men "in the economic position they would have attained but for war service." The Dominion Executive is meeting concurrently with the convening of Parliament to present to the promised special committee on re-establishment definite proposals to accomplish this result.

MILK WAR

Something approaching a milk war is on in Peterboro at the present time. The local milkmen are divided into two camps, one holding out for the prevailing price of 11 cents and the other selling at 9 cents and 10c. cents. There is even a suggestion of 8 cents being quoted in the latter camp, but this is only a rumor. The regular milk vendors are $.9 and 10 cent. price, say there may be a general reduction on the first of May, but not before.

DAME CLARA BUTT IN KINGSTON

A rare opportunity of hearing one of the world's greatest singers is offered the music lovers of Belleville when Dame Clara Butt, the phenomenal English contralto who has been justly called the "Greatest Singer in the British Empire," sings in Grant Hall, Kingston, Monday, March 6th. The excellent train service between Belleville and Kingston makes it possible for those who do not want to miss the treat of hearing such a world-famed artist to arrive in time for the concert and return home the same night. Since opening her tour in Vancouver, where the crowds were so large that the auditorium had to be disperse them, Dame Butt's appearances in all the western cities have been a series of ovations which no real lover of the highest form of artistic expression can afford to pass by.

Baby's Spine

SHOULD BE ADJUSTED WHEN NECESSARY

ONE-MINUTE ESSAYS ON HEALTH BY DR. WM. P. REDICK

If a baby's spinal condition is neglected the defects of early life may grow into the matured body of the adult. The defects of early life, if corrected in the pliant days of childhood, become the strength of maturity.

A baby's spine is the most responsive spine. The younger the patient the more easily and quickly the spine responds to chiropractic spinal adjustments. Babies are being restored to health from diseases of the head, eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, pancreas, kidneys, bowels, and lower organs by chiropractic spinal adjustments.

SPEAKS ON THE BARD OF AVON

Works of Shakespeare Vividly Described by Learned Lecturer.

A large audience assembled last evening in the auditorium of the High School for the purpose of listening to a lecture by Dr. Dyde of Queen's University. The affair, was under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club of the city. The lecturer was:—

Introduced by the President, Mr. C. A. Marshall in few well chosen words, Dr. Dyde's address was on "Shakespeare, His time and Work." The time of Shakespeare was that of extraordinary circumstance. All sides of human life was effected and enlarged the interest in human life was something that appealed to the time of Elizabeth. The Roman artists emphasized the glory of physical and human life. The reflection shows in Shakespeare's plays. Travel and discovery was a feature of age by land and sea. Men had their frames out to touch the farthest pulse of the world.

The science of astronomy was a factor of science and the expressions of the science figure largely in Shakespeare's works. Bacon was a big figure in English literature and philosophy, but had not the fine grasp and conception to write the plays of Shakespeare. At no time did patriotism shine so ardently as in the time of Shakespeare. Queen Elizabeth was happy in the atmosphere of the poems of Spenser and the plays of Shakespeare.

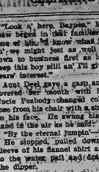

Church history was interesting for many sects coming forth. Greek national sentiment and pride between different churches existed. Religious rivalries prevailed and no toleration existed in the making of that shows in Shakespeare's "Merry Is Twice Rivaled." Shakespeare's plays are tragedy, comedy and historical, showing the greatest skill and art. Art has for its purpose its presentation, the realm of the object as an attraction, as charming, as beautiful, and all branches of art would seek that purpose. Literature has the same purpose and Shakespeare succeeds to the highest degree, making his art beautiful.

The different periods of Shakespeare's career are quite discernable by the development of his different plays. Shakespeare's tragedy is incidant, and mature tragedy is character. His comedy has never been equalled or excelled. Shakespeare's later comedy is filled with broad mellow, human comedy. Dr. Dyde illustrated the different phases and development of Shakespeare by reading from different plays that were wonderfully delightful to his hearers. "Henry VIII., "The Tempest," "Cymbeline," "A Winter's Tale," the historical plays of Shakespeare were examples of the ripe mellow and mellow side of life and we have here expressed Shakespeare's philosophy as he believed in himself. Mrs. (Dr.) Clinton moved the vote of thanks to the lecturer which was seconded by Mrs. Bowsey.

MORE OUT OF WORK NOW THAN IN MARCH 1921

Victoria, March 4.—Unemployment in Canada at present is five or six per cent. greater than at the corresponding time last year, Bryce M. Stewart, director of employment service, Ottawa, told officials of the four western provinces of the employment service of Canada yesterday, when the annual conference opened at the Parliament Building here.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

"Look a here, Darpus," Mr. Grimshaw began in that familiar scolding tone of his, "I know what you want, an' you might just as well get right down to business first as last. You keep this boy still an' I'll pay you five years' interest."

Aunt Dyed gave a quick and quickly covered her mouth with her hand. Uncle Peabody changed color as he rose from his chair yet he managed to fix his face. He swung his big right hand to the air as he said:

"Fly the eternal jumpin'—"

He stopped, pulled down the left sleeve of his flannel shirt and walked to the water pail 4ag4 4tak4 out of the door.

"Say, Mr. Grimshaw, I'm a-wil sorry for ya," said my uncle as he returned to his chair, "but, I've already leased this boy to tell the truth an' the hull truth. I know the danger I'm in, I've gettin' old. It'll be hard to start over again an' you can trim me if you want to an' I'm as scared o' ye as a mouse in a cat's paw, but this boy has got to tell the truth right out plain. I couldn't unsaste him if I tried—he's too much of a man. If you're scared of the truth, you must know that Anse is guilty."

Mr. Grimshaw shook his head with anger and beat the floor with the end of his cane.

"Nobody knows anything o' the kind, Darpus," said Mr. Dunksberry. "Of course Anse never thought of killing anybody. He's a harmless kind of a boy. I know him well and so do you, Uncle. The circumstances Mr. Grimshaw is afraid that Bart's story will make it difficult for Anse to prove his innocence."

Uncle Peabody shook his head with a look of firmness.

Again Grimshaw laughed between his teeth as he looked at my uncle. In his view every man had his price.

"I see that I'm the means of puttin' the cat," he resumed, as that curious laugh rattled in his throat. "Look a here, Darpus, I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll cancel the hull mortgage."

Again Uncle Peabody rose from his chair with a look in his face which I have never forgotten. How his voice rang out!

"No, sir!" he shouted so loudly that we all jumped to our feet and Aunt Dyed covered her face with her apron and began to cry. It was like the explosion of a blast. Even the fragments began falling with a loud crash!

"NO, SIR! YE CAN'T BUY THE NAIL ON MY LITTLE FINGER ON

"No, Sir! Ye Can't Buy The Nail on My Little Finger or His With All Your Money—Damn You!"

HIS WITH ALL THE MIGHT-TOUR!"

It was like the shout of Israel from the top of the mountains. Shep bounced into the house with hair on end and the chickens cackled and the rooster clapped his wings and crowed with all the power of his lungs. Every member of that little group stood stock still and breathless.

I trembled with a fear I could not have defined. Mr. Grimshaw shuffled out of the door, his cane rapping the floor as if his arm had been stricken with palsy in a moment.

Mr. Dunksberry turned to my aunt, his face scarlet, and muttered an apology for the disturbance and followed Mr. Grimshaw.

"Come on, Bart." Uncle Peabody called cheerfully, as he walked toward the barnyard. "Let's go an' git in them burrows."

I paid no attention to our visitors—neither did my aunt, who fell into a chair and in the midst of a terrible moment, unhitched their horses, put into their buggies and drove away.

"Wal, I'm surprised at Mr. Horces Grimshaw," said my uncle as we went like that—eyes! I be," said Aunt Dyed. "Wal, I s'pose I'll have to git used to 'em. Mr. Grimshaw has got him under his thumb—that's what's the matter with him. Mebbe he has made him in debt to Grimshaw—probly."

I was followed him toward the house, he pushing the wheelbarrow loaded with sacks of nuts, he added: "I'll bet that Grimshaw has found something' that he can't buy an' he's awful surprised. Too bad he didn't learn that lesson long ago."

He stopped his wheelbarrow by the steps and we sat down together on the edge of the stoop as he added:

"I got mad—they kep' pickin' on me so—I'm sorry, but I couldn't help it. Well start up ag'in somewhere else. I have to. There's a good many days' work in me yet."

"SIX MONTHS AGO"

"Six months ago," writes Mrs. Mary Hall, of Cookshire, Que., "I could not walk across the floor, and now I can do my housework.

"I have never been very strong but the best I had seemed to do me no good. Then I read that my husband was all in at work and I had to quit. I was very thin and nervous, could not sleep, felt like a physical wreck. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was said to get a good deal when I had to quit work. I tried everything I heard about but got worse and worse. Only I seemed to be getting weaker all the time. I was so thin, I was sure I couldn't eat or work. I had no strength at all and finally I took to my bed. I was trying to cross the floor one day I remember, I was so ill and weak that I didn't care whether I lived or died. And then I decided that new medicine preparation—Zutoo! A friend of mine had used it with wonderful results and as it had done so much for her, I decided to try it. The results were nothing less than miraculous. In two weeks I was able to get up and walk about the house. My appetite had returned. I was actually hungry. I could not believe I ever to buy something I had not been able to do for months. I have already taken six bottles of Zutoo and I am still taking it. I weigh more today than I ever weighed before in my life. I look like a child. I am never tired and my skin is as clear and my cheeks as rosy as a girl's. I thank the day I heard about Zutoo." Mrs. K., Toronto.

Zutoo is sold by your druggist and, if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle and he will refund your money. 5-128

CANADA'S WEALTH
NOT ALL IN FARMS

Ottawa, March 3.—In the course of his address before the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, yesterday, T. W. Gerrans, president of the institute, referred to Canada's enormous pre-Cambrian area surrounding Hudson Bay, as a veritable treasure house of minerals, where only prospecting of any kind began. This area includes the nickel mines at Sudbury, silver mines at Cobalt, and gold mines at Porcupine, one of which might soon reach the position of the world's greatest producer, referring to the pre-Cambrian areas, which comprises 50 per cent. of the province of Ontario, Mr. Gerrans predicted that enormous mineral treasures awaited discovery by "the thrifty people of that province."

Lameness neglected often becomes serious and prolonged and the longer you delay the more difficult the recovery.

LLOYD GEORGE TO REMAIN AT HEAD OF BRITISH CABINET

LLOYD GEORGE TO CONTINUE

Authoritatively Stated in London That Premier Will Not Resign.

ANNOUNCEMENT SOON

Coalition Liberals Favor Remion with Independents Under Prime Minister.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited
London, March 6—It is authoritative ly stated to-day that Premier Lloyd George is going to continue in the leadership of the coalition government.

David Lloyd George, the Prime Minister, returned to London this afternoon from Chequers Court, where he spent the week-end. His only political guest over the period he was away was Charles S. McCurdy, Chief Coalition Liberal whip.

Shortly after arriving at his official residence in Downing street the Premier was visited by Lord Birkenhead, the Lord High Chancellor, and Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies. The conference between this trio lasted about an hour. Lord Birkenhead's leaving gave it to understand that the latter had been in consultation with the Premier.

The disposition in political quarters in London seems to be to believe that the climax to the crisis is not likely to be reached before next Tuesday, when Sir Arthur Balfour is expected to deliver an important speech in London. According to an apparently inspired statement, issued today there is no change in the situation. Mr. Lloyd George's offer to resign has been held in abeyance, but not withdrawn. He still is awaiting assurances of the continued loyalty of the Unionist party to the Coalition Government.

The French points out that candidates are being chosen in various constituencies for the approaching general election who openly declaim Mr. Lloyd George's leadership, yet receive the approval of the Unionist quarters, and he considers it impossible to go on under such conditions. It is further understood that the Premier insists, in the event of general election, that there shall be a more equal allocation of seat between the Unionists and Liberals in the Coalition, whereas the Unionists claim the preponderance of the seats.

BOUQUET FROM MARGOT

New York, March 6.—Canada is taking much better care of its sick crippled soldiers than the United States authorities are, was the frank statement made to reporters last night by Mrs. Margot Asquith.

Montreal's municipal bathing which was destroyed by fire last Saturday morning. Completed in 1878 at a cost of $500,000, the City Hall was long regarded as being one of the finest buildings in the city. It was planned along Parisian lines of architecture, bearing a close resemblance to the Hotel de Ville at Paris. Built of Montreal grey stone, with interior of wood, the structure did not conform to modern ideas of fireproof construction and fell a ready victim to the conflagration. The only insurance on the building was a sum of $10,000 a year set aside by the city authorities to meet eventualities. This reserve had reached a total of $200,000, which is a drop in the bucket compared with the present loss.

MEIGHEN WILL MOVE PROBE

Government Said to be Averse to Any Parliamentary Investigation.

Ottawa, March 6.—It is understood here on excellent authority that if nobody else moves for an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the affairs of the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Conservative opposition, under Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, will do so.

The government will shortly be faced with the problem of consummating the merger between the Merchants Bank and the Bank of Montreal, preliminary negotiations looking toward which were approved by the late administration.

While it is generally admitted that, in the interests of depositors and shareholders of the selling bank, the merger must be gone through with there is a strong body of opinion in the House that it will recover from the effects of connection with the disaster, but which if involved in open investigation may shrink in fact.

It is held that if the guilty are to be punished, such end may be accomplished by recourse through the criminal courts.

The Merchants bank did large business in the west. As a consequence it may be anticipated that the Progressives will move for an investigation into its affairs. If they do so the Conservatives will take the initiative.

FIND COAT OF MISSING MAN

Prominent Peterboro' Lumberman Thought to be Drowned in the Otonabee.

Peterboro, Ont., March 6.—John Duignan, a prominent lumber man of this city, for many years manager of Alfred McDonald Estate' Lumber Company here, and for the last two years managing director of the Lakefield Lumber Company, disappeared from his home, 191 Dalhousie Street, Friday night, and it is believed that he has met death in the Otonabee River, as yesterday morning his coat was found on the C.P.R. bridge.

The river has not been dragged, being open for only about 40 yards below the bridge. The current is very swift at this point, and the body would be carried under the ice in a few moments.

Mr. Duignan had not been well for some months, and it said to have been very despondent over the setback in the lumber business that followed the boom at the time the new company was organized.

Friday night he left the house quietly, when members of the family thought he was retiring. No clue was found until next morning, when his coat was found on the bridge.

Mr. Duignan was a Roman Catholic. His wife and two sons reside at 184 Dalhousie Street.

CANADIAN MINERS TAKE STRIKE VOTE

Strike of U. S. Miners May Extend Into Canada — Men Are Dissatisfied With New Wage Agreement.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—Opposition of the United Mine Workers of America to the new wage agreements being signed by individual operators, which was announced on Friday night by President John L. Lewis, was regarded by union officials here today as leaving only a conference between the union and operators of the entire central competitive field as a possibility for averting the threatened strike on April 1. While the strike decision awaits the outcome of the referendum taken among the individual officials here indicated they believed the miners would favor a suspension if no new wage agreement is made by April 1.

The international aspects of a possible strike also were emphasized yesterday by the receipt of a message from Robert Livett, of Calgary, Alta., who reported that the operators in Western Canada refused to negotiate new agreements, except on their own demands. Preliminary meetings to fix dates for negotiating new agreements, he said, had broken up and the strike referendum was being taken among the Canadian miners. These preliminary meetings, it was said by officials here, were in line with provisions of existing wage contracts, and it was added that the union's general policy applied to Canadian districts as well as to those in the United States. No reason, it was said, had been received as to the situation in the Nova Scotia district.

The fall of the cone was accompanied by rumblings and explosions and the throwing out of a dense cloud, incandescent stones. Liquid lava poured out from the crater in streams, and inside 24 hours great disturbance began it covers an area of 400,000 square feet.

FIUME QUIET UNDER CAPTORS

Fiume, March 6.—Perfect order was maintained here yesterday. The city were its usual Sunday aspect. Deputy Giunta, who led the Fascisti in their attack in the Government Palace on Friday, and Foreign Minister Schanzer have been placed, but is determined to respect loyally the decision of Rome.

POSTAL STRIKE IN IRELAND AVERTED BY AGREEMENT

Dublin, March 6.—Agreements were signed to-night by the Post-master of the Provisional Government and the representatives of the postal employees providing for the immediate establishment of an independent commission to inquire into postmen's wages and conditions.

The commission is to present its findings on the wage question before May 15, and is empowered recommend that its findings apply retroactively from March 1st.

The threatened strike over a telegraphic dispute, a few weeks before, is also averted. It would have affected 15,000 employees in Ireland with the exception of Ulster.

MORE DISORDERS IN BELFAST

Two Persons Killed and Twenty-One Injured During Week-end.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited.

BELFAST, March 6.—Two persons killed and twenty-one wounded constitute the casualty list in the week-end disorders here.

The killing of Owen Hughes on Saturday night is said to have been premeditated. Witnesses say that a man knew Hughes on a street car and questioned him about his religious convictions. They then shot him dead and made their escape.

Units of the Irish Republican Army from Cork, Tipperary and Clare, arrived in Limerick early on Sunday and commandeered the principal hotels. The men said the incursion was made with the purpose of upholding the recent proclamation of the brigadier of the mid-Limerick Irish Republican Army declaring for a Republic, in opposition to the Provisional Government's fresh disciplinary measures.

BOMB EXPLODES IN CHURCH

Montreal Methodists Undergo Nerve-Shattering Experience While at Worship.

Montreal, March 6.—An explosion occurred here last night in the stairway leading to the Montreal West End Methodist church, at the corner of Canning and Coxford Streets, when a bomb scattered its contents through the vestibule. The bomb was small and no damage resulted. The noise of the explosion, however, created a sensation in the church, which was filled with worshippers at the time, but the pastor, Rev. F. B. Allend, succeeded in allaying any tendency to panic.

Among the debris of the bomb a piece of paper was picked up, on which was written "The Fullest Blessing!", Rev. F. B. Allen expressed the view that the outrage was the work of some of those opposed to his faith and who possibly resented the success of the church in the neighborhood.

The police were called, but no arrests so far have been made.

NO NEW CONTRACTS AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, March 6.—It is said that the government has practically decided to let no new contracts for public works, except for emergency requirements, but that contracts already made will be completed.

LEGISLATURE SEMI-S. S. CASE TO COURTS

No Likelihood of Legislation in the Matter This Term—Alternative Plans and Procedure Are Open to Disputants.

Toronto, March 6.—Legislation upon the question of secondary separate schools and the division of corporation taxes in order to give separate schools a larger share of the revenue from this source than they are now receiving will not, it is understood, be introduced in the Ontario House this session. While there has been no official statement upon the matter it is stated that the subject without being formally dealt with has received sufficient examination to suggest the inadvisability of the Legislature attempting to interfere in what, after all, is a matter of law in the first instance.

If. Bishop Fallon's statement at Massey Hall some days ago that he proposes the reseling of the Catholic Church heads in general, then the disinclination of the Government, of the Legislature to meet the demands made will not end the present movement for a new system. The representation placed upon that statement is that the rights of the Catholic minority to what Bishop Fallon calls a complete common school education will be carried to the courts.

The practical certainty of such a step has raised a question that is receiving very careful consideration. An appeal to the courts can be made in one of two ways; by representatives of the Roman Catholic Church acting upon their own responsibility, or by the submission of a stated case by the province, asking for an interpretation of the law. While at latter course would arouse considerable opposition from the champions of the public school, who object to any admission that the matter is in doubt, and would look upon the submission of a stated case as a partial surrender, but there are some who think the latter course would be the wisest, for the province, in maintaining the present system, would be in a much better position in taking its own case to the courts than by either the church allowing the case to come before the courts as an action by the church authorities.

CONSERVATIVE PARTY HOLDS CAUCUS TODAY

Will Determine the Future Policy and Confirm the Leadership of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen—Formal Opening of Parliament to be Held on Thursday.

Ottawa, March 6.—The Conservative members and defeated Conservative candidates will meet here to-day to decide their program, and to confirm Rt.-Hon. Arthur Meighen in the leadership of the party.

The Progressive party will also hold a caucus at which the general attitude of the new-party towards the Government will be discussed and the important question decided whether or not the Progressives will assume the role of formal opposition.

On Wednesday morning, March 8, members will gather in the House to be sworn in by the legal deputy commissioners and, later in the day, will meet to elect Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux as Speaker.

The formal opening of Parliament does not come until the day following. Then, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the newly-elected Speaker, followed by the Commons, will present himself at the bar of the Senate. He will inform the Governor-General, according to established form, that he is but little able to fulfill the important duties assigned to him and request that, should he fall into error, the fault may be imputed to him. The Speaker of the Senate will give assurance that His Excellency will ever place the most favorable construction on the words and actions of the Speaker of the House.

Then, the election of the Speaker having been approved, the Speech from the Throne will be read; members will return to the Commons Chamber where the Speaker will present the Speech from the Throne of which, as he will quaintly put it, to prevent mistakes, he has obtained a copy. A pro forma bill will be presented. The House will adjourn till Monday for the opening of the debate on the address.

SPOOK HUNT STARTS TODAY

Dr. Prince Will be Accompanied by Many Photographers and Reporters.

Halifax, N.S., March 6.—Dr. Franklin Prince, of New York, who arrived here yesterday to investigate the mysterious happening at the lonely farm of Lester Caledonia Mills, accompanied by reporters and photographers, will leave for the abandoned MacDonald farm this morning, where he will remain until the mystery has been solved.

It is intended to endeavor to persuade the MacDonald family to return to their former home, while the investigations are in progress.

Dr. Prince, who has recently completed an investigation of weird happenings in a house at Montclair, New Jersey, in which situation occurrences happened, said today—"The widespread interest throughout the United States and Canada demanded that an investigation be held in order to ascertain what the actual facts are, therefore, there would be a continuance of two groups of opinion, so long as the happenings are remembered, one frankly believing without having sifted the matter and the other ridiculing on the basis of pure prejudice."

NO PRAYER BOOKS FOR CANADA

Strikers Hold up Shipment of Revised Edition Due Easter.

London, March 6—Canada is in danger of being without the revised Prayer Book for Easter unless the impasse at the strike of the Papermakers and Packers' Union they could not be moved. The strike, which were under contract to send the books to Canada, and the consignment should be at the shipping point in Liverpool by March 7 at the latest in order to reach Canada in time to be distributed for Easter Day which was the date fixed by the ecclesiastical authorities in Canada.

BANK SHAREHOLDERS WANT ACTION

Shareholders of the Merchants Bank Ask Co-operation for Investigation.

Montreal, March 6.—A circular has been received by a number of shareholders of the Merchants' Bank of Canada, whose assets and liabilities have been taken over by the Bank of Montreal, following severe losses in the firm's branches, from a committee of Ontario shareholders demanding co-operation in taking steps to protect certain interests of the defunct institution. It is stated that it is the intention to engage the best legal talent obtainable for the purpose of proceeding both in the civil and criminal courts against those whom this committee thinks are responsible for the losses the shareholders of the Merchants Bank have suffered.

THE CURE DECEIVED.

Physician—Now, my dear madam, I prescribe a couple of years abroad, but in most cases the best treatment and no less satisfactory than theirs is home treatment. Starve her, bore her to death—or, as a matter of fact, both—and she'll die. The Greek and Roman doctors knew that in that great virtues, lay their specific. Try it, my dear madam, and you'll find it a much cheaper and smaller dose. Good day, madam, and don't forget to get the stamps.

Patient—Stamps for a dog, then, that's what he discovered an antiseptic and preservative internally as well as externally.

Physician—Sir, for a dog, then, that's what I prescribed the cubing of the body, and the sealing up of the mouth and orifices, but Hibbert! it has been impossible to treat disease of the kind. Dog, pshaw! Never was there the strong enough (at least Bovril and Oxo could not be administered because of their poisonous effects).

But now an antiseptic has been found which can be taken like ordinary medicine. It is powerful enough to kill the germs, but it has no harmful action on the human body. Behold in this wonderful new stuff made of Garlic! Just the simple common garlic whose healing powers you, patient, underrate, my dear.

Modern science has discovered a means of extracting from garlic the essential healing juices, and hf-ridd them of their offensive taste and odor. It is claimed that by means of the new drug we shall be able successfully to treat such appalling diseases as consumption and cancer.

The antiseptic derived from garlic will attack and destroy them without any harm to the delicate tissues of the rest of the body.

Patient—Stamps for a dog, then, that's what he discovered.

The Fifth Symphony.

"To some, I listen to Beethoven's Fifth Symphony the more vividly it presents itself to me as the most nobly complete embodiment he ever obtained of his own personal conception of life as assimilated self-assertion," says Mr. Havelock Ellis in "Impressions and Comments."

At the outset of the first movement, "Fate knocks at the door," said Beethoven himself. But the door was not immediately opened. We hear the challenge of life so the yet reluctant soul, not yet finding the energy to control itself in the world. So far the gospel of asceticism is preached from outside to the deaf which accepts it in deed but has not yet acquired the will-power to embody it and live it. That explains perfectly the beautiful slow movement. That movement sets forth the message of impersonal joy through self-sacrifice which is the secret of all the Children of Heaven in music from Bach to Franck.

"But to Beethoven, who is not of heaven but the Titans, it sounds infinitely and; it seems mere renunciation and resignation, for it is the death of the trenchant self, and means as it were a seductive temptation to him weakened by abandon that death in the triumph of the self which is Beethoven's Credo. And he succumbs slowly in shaking of the temptation. He wins his way to the Gospel which he had challenged him at the outset. Then, at last he gains the strength to embody it, to take it up into his blood spirit, so that henceforth it is affirmed to the end with ever more triumphant energy, the most complete and triumphant affirmation of ruthless self-assertion that has been heard in music, and the most splendid promise of Beethoven's own personality."

"The interpretation may seem wild and fantastic. It is how I hear the Symphony in C Minor."

Elephant Graveyards.

Most of the ivory we use is obtained by digging, and not by shooting.

Elephants have their own code of customs. One of these is that no member of the herd leaves it amongst his fellows. When an old elephant feels that his end is near he separates himself from the herd and makes for a graveyard—for each herd has a burial ground of its own.

This is always a swampy tract of land overgrown with trees and rank vegetation, where he dies, and his great body buries itself by its own huge weight in the soft soil.

Many of these elephant graveyards are known to the African natives, who make journeys to them each year for the purpose of digging out the ivory tusks. Few white men have ever seen one, for the natives keep their whereabouts a close secret, knowing that an elephant graveyard is as valuable as a gold-mine.

The Festive Board.

In the past, as at present, Christmas Day and the festive board have been inseparable. Thus, in Doore's translation of an Anglo-Norman carol taken by Brand from a MSS. in the British Museum we have—

"Every neighbor shares the bowl,
Drinks the spicy liquor deep,
Drinks his fill without control,
Till he drowns his care in sleep."

He replaced the wines in making the famous not-brown beverage of which we have a description by Herrick—

"Now comes the bowle full
With gentle lamb's wool;
Add sugar, nutmeg, and ginger,
With store of ale, too;
And thus ye must doe
To make the Wassaile a swinger."

A Rough Shave.

"How is the razor, sir?" asked the barber.

"Didn't know I was being shaved," said the victim.

"Very glad, I'm sure, sir," began the barber, feeling flattered.

But the victim was fast asleep.

"I thought I was being sandpapered."

"IL TROVATORE" COMING TO GRIFFIN'S THURSDAY

Boston English Opera Company is to bring their all-star cast to Griffin's next Thursday night, March 9th in Verdi's popular opera "Il Trovatore" direct from its 15 weeks' season at the Arlington Theatre, Boston.

The reports of wonderful performances and packed houses which come from everywhere the Boston English Opera Co. has appeared is proof that the management has given the right plan with his all-star cast.

After the close of the Boston season instead of taking three or four different operas on tour Mr. Beck decided to do just one opera and selected for this tour the world's most popular opera "Il Trovatore". He then selected the principals which made their debuts individually hit in "Il Trovatore" and cast them in their respective roles in which they appear at every performance, thereby giving a real all-star cast and assuring every city in which the company appears that they will get the big artists at every performance.

REX STOCK COMPANY AT GRIFFIN'S TO-NIGHT

"The Liars" is the title of the play selected for presentation at Griffin's to-night. Tuesday and Wednesday by Rex and its excellent company of artists who have won a warm place in the affections of patrons of Griffin's.

"The Liars" is a humorous and entertaining comedy in four snappy acts and six scenes, and is produced in the same highly finished manner that characterizes all "Rex" productions. Opening with a bowling house scene, it comes to a dramatic climax in the fourth act after a series of startling events. The introduction of special scenery, new costumes, and new vaudeville specialties between acts all tend to make the performance more enjoyable.

Backache.

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

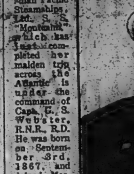

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been troubled with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to this, without any good result. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely cured."

JOHN J. GRAY

"The best investment I ever made in my life was when I bought Tanlac. I have not only recovered my health but I have also gained twenty-five pounds in weight and feel just brimful of new life and energy," said John J. Gray, 1220 Hollywood St., Philadelphia, Pa., a popular salesman at George's Clothing Store.

"When I began taking Tanlac I had been in failing health for some time as a result of stomach trouble and indigestion. I missed many meals rather than to suffer the discomfort I knew was to follow if I ate anything at all. I suffered specially from hotness of breath and palpitation of the heart. Frequent dizzy spells and headaches added to my discomfort, and I was so nervous I got little rest either day or night.

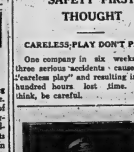

"Since Tanlac turned up my stomach I am like a new man in every way and eat, sleep, work and feel better than in years."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville at Ostrom's drug store.

SAFETY FIRST THOUGHT

CARELESS, PLAY DON'T PAY.

One company in six weeks had three serious accidents caused by "careless play" and resulting in four hundred hours lost time. Stop, think, be careful.

"REX" himself, who with his popular stock company appears at Griffin's tonight to Wednesday, in the delightful comedy, "The Liars."

World's Oldest Mine.

On the outskirts of the town of Falun, in the north of Sweden, is the oldest mine in the world. It began to produce copper in 1288.

In the seventeenth century this mine was the chief source of the copper supply of Europe. To-day it no longer produces copper in large quantities, but from its deep-set galleries comes the sulphur pyrites that are used for the manufacture of sulphuric acid and other chemicals.

It is one of the most old-fashioned mines imaginable. You will find no rapid hauling machinery. Instead that descends at lightning speed into the bowels of the earth. You walk into the mine through sloping galleries, and then climb down to its depths by means of long ladders. As you descend, you notice that you had brought an overcoat, for the walls are covered with ice.

Ventilation and drainage are accomplished by means of the most antiquated principles of all science. In say pic:

Besides copper and pyrites, the Falun mine produces gold. From it came all the gold used in making the Swedish crown and sceptre, and it has provided most of the metal for the gold coinage of that country.

Marriage a Muddle.

Some time ago it was announced that a wealthy American was to marry again. The man, after divorcing his wife, married her mother, and thus became the father-in-law of his own children!

A more extraordinary case took place at Nuro, in Corsica. Twenty years ago a girl named Caterina Malfatti married her great-uncle, Gerolamo Giacomoni, a widower whose first wife had been a sister of the grandmother of the bride.

Caterina has become the sister-in-law of her own grandmother, who is still living; her own mother's aunt; the great-aunt of her brothers and sisters; the mother-in-law-aunt of her own children, and her own grandmother.

Her husband is now his own father's son-in-law, the grandson of his sister-in-law, and the brother-in-law of his grand-nephews and nieces!

WHAT DID YOU SEE?

Rose Galore

E.D.—I see the people in some towns in Western Ontario are forming "rat catching" clubs. World is getting full of them, and I don't like to see so many. By taking rewards the children's account to rear heaps over the garbage dump. Or get how the rats were thriving. Or how everything stronger than rat, either poison the place of rats is enough to confine a whole city. Surely there is not something to be done to exterminate these pests. Boys dare not shoot guns—they might shoot half of them and it would not save them. Crime in goal for breaking the city by-law. It seems to me some rat poison could be put on some vegetables which dogs would not eat, on some other means adopted.

Lights on Cars.

J. P.—I see that at the civic committee's meeting of the city council a recommendation was adopted and passed on to the council, that cars be allowed at night, park on certain portions of streets without the rear lamp being lighted. As a car owner who knows from experience that there is a city bylaw against parking a car at night without the rear lamp being lighted, also the Motor Act states that such a lamp must be lit. Will our Police explain how they are going to override these existing laws.

CALLED BY DEATH

Deceased was 74 years of age and was born in Scotland, her maiden name being Margaret Gibson Russell. She was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and a lady much respected by all who knew her. Besides her husband, a son survives. A sister of the deceased, Miss Nettie Russell, lives in Belleville.

SAFETY FIRST.

There are some subjects which cannot be commented upon too often, and one of these is the need for safety first precautions in the home, factory and street. The Ontario Safety League periodically sends out a number of circulars with a few striking sentences calling the attention of the public in this matter. One of the most recent posters points out that eyes were made to see and ears to hear. Make your senses protect you. Your accident—use your ears and eyes. Another points out that any injury that breaks the skin demands first aid treatment, and that people should give themselves a fair chance in the race.

All of this is very timely, and the warning cannot be brought home too often. Here are a few of the things which the Safety League considers should be remembered by people in the home. They are all simple truths, yet how often the most serious accidents are caused from the most simple reasons: Safety Inspection at Home is even more essential than at the shop.

Children need more safeguarding than you do. See that they get it.

Children love to play with matches and more children are killed in this manner than from any other cause except street accidents.

Poison, concentrated lye, etc., should be kept in a safe place out of the reach of children.

All stairways should have a hand rail.

Where there are small children, porch entrances should be provided with a safety gate.

Porch swings and hammock hooks work loose and should be inspected frequently.

If there is a small boy and a gun in the house they should be kept apart.

Dry cleaning is a dangerous operation. Do you know that the insurance rate on the average dry cleaning establishment is one hundred times as high as on dwellings? "There's a reason."

A HYDRO INVESTIGATION.

The question of an investigation into the Hydro affairs of the province is something that at the present time is exercising the minds of the law makers at the Legislature in Toronto. There have been veiled threats and hints since the opening of the House and it certainly can be nothing but fair to the citizens of the province that some attempt should be made to clear away the fine mist which seems to hover between the eyes of the elector and the matter at issue, namely, the expenditure in the Chippawa development scheme.

On Friday another bolt from the blue was delivered when the Hon. Col. Carmichael, Minister without Portfolio in the Drury Cabinet, after a sensational speech in which he alleged gross inefficiency and worse on the part of the Hydro engineers suddenly announced his complete withdrawal from the Hydro Commission.

It seems only fair to Sir Adam Beck that an investigation be made. Sir Adam has given the best years of his life to the Hydro and public ownership cause in Ontario and the serious charge which have been made reflect entirely upon his ability and management of the province's Hydro affairs.

If there has been any dishonesty on the part of anyone it is the duty of the Drury Government to commence an immediate investigation which will spare no person or body in an attempt to find the truth.

The Financial Post in a recent issue has this to say about the necessity of an investigation.

"It is not alone a question of deciding whether there is any real evidence to support vague rumors in connection with the purchase of the steam shovels, transformers, etc., but of letting the truth be known as to why an estimate of $1,000,000 to $15,000,000 made in 1917—when war prices already prevailed—should have been increased to about $70,000,000, with the end not in sight. Whether there has been graft or whether only extravagance or waste makes little difference to the people of Ontario who will eventually be called upon to pay the bill.

The people are not only demanding to know what became of the millions advanced by the province; they want to know why it was considered necessary to spend millions for gigantic shovels and other equipment without calling for tenders from private contractors; they want to know how such unstable estimates and costs were arrived at; they want to know why the recommendations of the Cooper engineers were ignored; they want to know what power the project will develop, and they want to know what the cost of such power will be. Hydro opinion has undermined public confidence. All these questions would be answered as the result of such an inquiry as proposed.

The enquiry should also be enlarged to cover the Nipigon development of the Hydro Commission. Premier Drury shows that even though power is being sold at a much higher price than was formerly charged by private interests, the province is bearing a terrific burden in interests and other charges.

SENATE REFORM

Farmers' Sun

It is to be hoped that someone will do for the Senate what W. F. Nickle did for the Senate when he and A. R. McMaster died for Ulla. These two men were successful in putting through a bill which practically set end to the conferring of titles of Canadians.

We would like to see the Senate abolished, and if we had our way would do it over night. However, matters are done in a constitutional stage in this country, and there are difficulties and delays in altering the British North America Act so as to bring about the abolition of the Senate. Before any such change could take place it would be necessary to obtain the consent of the Senate, and that might be difficult, as few men like to saw their own death warrant.

Some people wonder at the waste of time noticeable in debate in the Ontario Legislature. Can it be that the $30 per day, in addition to the $1,400 sessional indemnity, for every day in the session lasts over 30 days, has something to do with the prolongation of the ordinary life of the Legislature?

Over here in England, I'm helpin' with the hay,

There's a deep dumb river flowin' by
Ba neath the hoary trees,
This livin' air is mothered wi' the hummin' of the bees,
I wish 'twas the Claddagh burn go runnin' through the heat
Past Corrymeela wi' the blue sky over it.

There's neg, the smallest young gosoon but thrwrels in his shoes!
I'd give the pipe between me teeth to see a barefut child,
Och, Corrymeela an' the low south wind.

Here's hands so full o' money an' hearts so full o' care,
By the luck o' love! I'd still go light for all I did ye hart,
"God save ye, colleen dhas," I said; the girl she thought me wild,
For Corrymeela, an' the low south wind.

D'ye mind me now, the song at night is mystal hard to raise,
The girls are heavy goin' here, the boys are ill to plase;
When coort I'm on! this wokin' hive 'tis I'll be back again—
Aye, Corrymeela in the same sole rain.

For a curl o' hair like Mollie's ye'll ask the like in vain,

CARUSO HAD LUNGS OF A SUPERMAN

Experts Declare That He Was a Magnificent Singing Machine.

Rome, March 4.—The throat of Enrico Caruso, which was left at the time of his death to the Naples Museum for medical examination, was recently officially by the Rome newspapers today, which published the opinion of doctors, who describe it as the most extraordinary development known in the examination organs.

Caruso's vocal cords were twice the normal length of those organs, and his breathing power was described as phenomenal. The cords of his throat were so thick as to be almost membranous, while the elasticity of the tissues was of such a nature as to permit the greatest rapidity of vibrations thus accounting for the immense range of the great tenor's voice.

His lung power was so enormous that he could make the cords of a piano vibrate by merely breathing upon them. The doctors describe Caruso's lungs as those of a superman, and declare that from head to foot he was a magnificent singing machine.

MORMONS WANT TO [illegible] CONVERT TORONTO

Toronto, March 4.—Sixteen Mormon missionaries have invaded Toronto, with the avowed purpose of starting a rigorous campaign to convert this city to Mormonism. Under Rev. Nephi Jensen they intend to put into operation within the next few weeks a house-to-house campaign in the day time, interviewing the women of the homes if permitted. Twelve of these missionaries are men, and four women all with the exception of Mr. Jenson and his wife, are single, and all are between the ages of 20 and

MANITOBA TAXES

BILLIARD CUES

Winnipeg, March 2.—In the face of repeated protests from the proprietors of billiard rooms, the provincial government intends to press for the imposition of a tax of one cent a cue for all billiard and snooker games, in amendments to the assessment taxation act to come before the legislature this week.

In addition to making changes in the rates of amusement taxation and placing them on a straight ten per cent. basis, the government also proposes to abolish exemptions from taxation such, as those granted to the promoters of educational and patriotic entertainments.

SOLDIERS' BODIES TO REMAIN IN FRANCE

London, March 4.—The Imperial War Graves Commission has decided to refuse all application for the removal of the bodies of soldiers from graves in the war theatres in France to Great Britain. Such action, the commission claims, would be opposed to the policy of equality of treatment to the fallen which has been adopted and strongly supported by the public some time ago.

Dear Sirs:-

REGARDING OUR ADVERTISING POLICY.

It has always been our custom, in planning our advertising programme, to give first consideration to Newspaper requirements, believing that this is the basis on which all progressive advertising should start from.

We feel that this policy is as sound and logical to-day as it was twenty-five years ago and we believe it is essential for the progressive merchant or manufacturer to keep his name before the public through newspaper publicity.

Yours very truly,

HENRY BIRKS & SONS, LIMITED.

That the Daily Newspaper is the basis of all successful advertising is concisely stated by Mr. Birks. The strength of this comment must be impressive to all those who contemplate advertising for any purpose whatever.

Tinker Bob Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

ALL HIDE BUT TINKER AND SILKY

Tinker Bob had the best time of his life staying with Tinny, the little Elephant. But there was a sudden end that caused the race between him and Silky to pause in a jolt. Tinker Bob knew what it could be for he was not interested in the wild game found in the jungle. Of course Mr. and Mrs. Rhinoceros didn't live right in the midst of the jungle, but they lived very near the jungle, and that's where Dr. Giraffe lived too.

The sudden noise was growing louder each second. Tinker Bob had never heard such a noise before. It sounded a little like the grunting of a pig. But then who seemed to be a friend of hogs—pasturing on the ground. It came nearer and nearer. Tinker Bob looked about to see that there was not a creature in sight but Silky who was hobbling close to him. Yes, the little Elephant had found a hiding place behind a clump of bushes. Dr. Giraffe had found a place where the trees were tall. The Kangaroo finally was in its burrow in the ground.

"Well, there must be something coming that is dangerous," said Tinker to Silky. "I guess we are going to see by the sound of things."

They did see. Presently there came in sight a native riding a horse, closely at the heels of which was a huge creature the likes of which Tinker Bob had never seen. It was very large. Yes, the Elephant, but had no trunk. Instead there was a long horn on the top of its nose. It stood straight up and curved a little back. Its head was down and it was coming at top speed. In a moment it would be upon the horse and rider and perhaps kill them both. Tinker, back in the situation at a glance and as he did so he tapped the Stone of Knowledge, with the Stone of the Unseen, which gave the native the chance to make himself invisible. When this creature could see longer the horse and rider it stopped short, and began to walk into the thicket.

"Why are you?" cried Tinker Bob, as he ran toward him. At the first sight of Tinker the creature was facing to make a charge on him, but the words of the King of the Forest, set him at ease. "Don't be afraid, am the King of the Forest and want to know who you are?"

"I am the son of my mother and her name was Mrs. Rhinoceros."

"I am the son of my mother and her name was Mrs. Rhinoceros," was the reply.

"Where do you live and what do you eat?" asked Tinker.

"I live in the thicket of the jungles and I eat the roots and leaves and tender branches of the trees that grow along the river and in swampy places."

There was the sound of another creature approaching and as Tinker turned he saw a creature that was yet larger than this one with a horn on his nose. Who do you think it was?

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

A philosopher says, "The secret of happiness consists in learning to care for things instead of persons, for books, Japanese prints and wild flowers thrust no needles into the heart that loves them.

Paris reports that blue serge, which is as popular as ever, has a warm design in colors, as trimming, and that every assistant milliner are much used with it, and a page cape or a fantastic little coat goes with the dress, and the multicolored the color scheme.

Winter resorts are say criterion, though we are in for a white season, for Palm Beach sets its seal of approval on white and white it is true that the crop-top white dress or suit frequently white black or bright-colored hat, and gown white with colored trimmings. It is an undisputed fact that white is supreme for all occasions.

ELEPHANTS IN LUXURY.

How These Pampered Animals Live in Siam.

In this country a "white elephant" stands for something that appears to be of value while really it is an encumbrance to its owner; but a white elephant in Siam is an actual living creature, and its possession is supposed to bring good luck to the reign in which it is found.

Certainly the king who discovers a white elephant receives a handsome sum of money. All the white elephants captured are presented to the king, and no elephant can be either taken or shot without a special permit.

When a white elephant is captured it is brought to the capital amid scenes of great public rejoicing. The last one brought to Bangkok was floated down the river on a raft, with bands playing.

At present there are a number of white elephants in the royal stables, and visitors to Siam can count them one of the sights of the country. Probably they are disappointed because they expect to see animals much whiter than in the west, for the so-called white elephants are really albinos, and are at best not more than a dirty grey or reddish color. Still, they look very different from the ordinary elephant; they have light-colored eyes, white toe-nails, and pink skin at the base of their trunks.

Whereas the ordinary animal has to work for his keep, the white one enjoys royal luxury. Formerly they were kept in splendor, with trappings of velvet and gold and servants to wait upon them.

Until recently even the national flag of Siam had a white elephant on a red ground, but when the country entered the war and on the side of the Allies a new flag was introduced. It consists of two red strips, two white ones, and a broad blue horizontal stripe in the centre.

Although the white elephants do no work they sometimes cause considerable excitement in Bangkok. A few years ago one of them got out of control while being taken to the river for his daily bath. He made for the city, and for Bangkok had electric cars before Birmingham, and the white elephant did not rest until he caught sight of a rickshaw being pulled by Chinese coolies.

The coolie loosed the shafts, which flew up, throwing the passenger out on to the hard road. Happily, the elephant stopped to wreck the rickshaw, and so the man escaped.

Siam is rich in herds of elephants, which roam at will in the great part of the country still covered with jungle, where the royal tiger, the unassailable monarch, and many other interesting creatures are to be found.

Often these wild elephants cause much damage to crops in villages bordering the jungle. Two years ago the writer visited a village and found the people in a state of alarm on account of an elephant which had left the herd and paid nightly visits to their rice-fields. He had killed three men who had tried to drive him away, and had taken up a pile of rice in his trunk and flung it into a clump of bamboos before retreating to his sambuk in the jungle.—Tit-Bits.

The tame elephants are valuable workers, especially in the teak-wood jungles of the north, where they show wonderful sagacity in dealing with the timber blocks in the numerous deep creeks which the logs are sent to the main river.

They will work entirely intelligently in the yards of the saw-mills, where they use their trunks, forefeet, hindfeet, and knees when stacking the logs.

FURS & MILLINERY

SOME OLD-TIME POT PIE RECIPES.

A reader friend has requested me to publish the following old-time recipes:

Chicken Pot Pie.—Cut ¼ pound of salt pork into small pieces and put it in the bottom of a pot. When melted over a hot fire, put into the pot a three pound fowl which you have cleaned, singed and disjointed. Let these pieces of chicken fry in the fat until well browned, then cover with hot water and let simmer till tender, adding more water as it boils away. Then season with salt and pepper to taste, add ½ cup or rich cold tip milk, which has been mixed to a paste with 4 tablespoonfuls of flour, and let simmer a moment more till thickened slightly.

The next step is to make a biscuit crust for the pie, as follows: Mix and sift together 1 cup of bread flour, 2 teaspoons of baking powder in ¼ teaspoonful of salt. Work into this with the finger-tips, 1 tablespoon butter, and wet all with not quite half a cup of sweet milk (it should not be a very wet dough). Toss lightly on a floured board and pat with the hands to one-half inch in thickness. Cut a strip two inches wide and line the inside of a casserole or baking dish with this. Now turn the hot chicken mixture into this and put the rest of the dough on top (rolling the left-overs into a circular piece). Pinch the edges of the top crust together with the dough-strip that is lining the casserole and make incisions in the crust with a knife to allow for the escape of steam. Place in a hot oven and bake about 25 minutes, or until the crust is brown. Invert on a platter to serve.

Veal Pie.—Buy from your butcher two pounds of veal from the knuckle, and cut into small pieces. Roll these pieces in flour, and fry until brown in bacon fat or dripping. Then cover with either canned clear soup (consomme, or with ordinary soup stock, well seasoned), add 1 large onion minced, and let simmer till the meat pieces are tender. Then add ½ cup of canned peas and 4 teaspoons of flour mixed to a paste with a little cold water. Let boil up a minute, to thicken it, and turn it, very hot, into a baking dish lined as described above with biscuit dough. Or you may simply turn it into a dish which has no biscuit-lining, and have only a crust on top. Bake 25 minutes in a good oven.

Veal-Oyster Pie.—Buy one and one-half pounds of veal from the knuckle and cut it into small pieces, rolling these in flour and frying them in 2 tablespoonful of bacon fat until brown. Cover them with 2 cups of soup stock. Add a slice of raw carrot, and one of raw onion, and let simmer until tender. Then add ½ cup of cooked and minced ham and ½ pint of washed oysters. Thicken with 3 tablespoons of flour mixed to a paste with cold water, and turn all into a baking dish or casserole while still boiling-hot. Set a biscuit crust on top and bake 25 minutes in a hot oven.

The score was close in the early part of the first half, but towards the half-way mark the locals ran out into a good lead and were ahead 28 to 15 at the interval. Belleville showed signs in the second period, but West-end seemed to be in better condition and again drew away into a good lead, the last three minutes the visitors dropped in three baskets and cut down the lead.

BABE RUTH SIGNS CONTRACT

After Whole Night's Haggling He Flips a Coin and Wins.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 4.—Col. Huston of the New York American League Club announced today that "Babe" Ruth had signed a five-year contract. What the salary will be the Colonel refused to say. Besides a fat pay envelope, Ruth will receive $500 for every home run he makes.

Col. Huston and Ruth came to terms shortly before midnight, settling all arguments by pitching a coin into the air. If "Babe" won the toss, he was to get his original demands. If he lost, he would have to fall back on Col. Ruppert's compromise figure. Ruth on hot calls and the call was so registered when the half-dollar piece, tossed into the air by Huston, settled on the carpet in his room.

Col. Huston and Ruth had conferred at 9 o'clock and could not bring things to a head. Ruth offered to toss for the salary figure. Col. Huston refused at first but first asked that Ruth wait until he had met the club flipping idea up to Col. Ruppert, his partner.

It was up at my hotel until you head from Mr. Ruppert Ruth, and the Colonel was in a hurry call for New York.

Ruppert agreed. The final settlement did not take five minutes. Col. Huston will leave for New Orleans with Ruth on Thursday. In talking of the Ruth contract, Col Huston said:

"Col. Ruppert and myself at no time took any strong stand. As to terms and substance, the contract just made with "Babe" is not different from the tentative agreement submitted to Col. Ruppert several days ago. As the contract stands, it is a better one for club and player."

CANADIENS DEFEAT OTTAWA

Montreal, March 5.—Over five thousand people saw Canadiens defeat Ottawa Senators by a score of 1 to 1, at the Mount Royal Arena here Saturday night. Using their weight to advantage and playing with fast and everlasting determination to win, Canadiens deserved their victory on the general showing of play. They had more scoring reader shots at Benedict than the speedy Senators were able to send at Vezina. Their chief scoring threats came from Cleghorn, Couture and Bert Corbeau, was effective against the fight attack of Denenny and Fred Boucher.

ANOTHER TITLE

WON BY QUEEN'S

Toronto, March 4.—Queen's University intermediates defeated St. Michael's College here yesterday afternoon by 3 to 0, and won the intercollegiate championship. Following six weeks of the 1931 season he had gathered an even dozen homers. His eyes were right and the pitchers were going along with the customary wobble of the chilly spring weather. But this year will be different. Rumpler Row much the same pattern may work while serving sentence, his eyes and all others will be working as well as if he had been looking them over in actual play

Babe has reached the point where he doesn't take his stuff too seriously. Every manager in the American league who saw the world's series last fall may have picked up some good tips from the Giant pitchers on the best method to pitch baseball. But Mr. Graw could solve the problem so readily, it ought to prove of benefit to the others.

Commissioner Landis no doubt will not reconsider the case and lift the sentence on the Bum. It was only a commercial arrument that was advanced to seek leniency for the baron. Yanks' owners and baseball in absence would cost the club $300,000 while the other club bosses whined about losing the receipts of Ruth, who would miss the home-run king on two trips estimated their loss at the seats from $200,000 to $400,000, while western clubs said that the one invasion of the Ruthless Yanks would cost them from $10,000 to $20,000 each.

BABE RUTH HAS HARD JOB

Experts Declare He Will Hit Few Home Runs This Season.

New York, March 4.—Babe Ruth will be good enough for a fairy story if he nets a new home-run mark this coming season:

Losing six weeks of the early season, he will have a heck of a time to wand to pole out enough four-base hits from May 30 to pass his mark of fifty-nine.

He will be starting away cold against pitching that should be working up to mid-season warmth. In the first six weeks of the 1931 season he had gathered an even dozen homers. His eyes were right and the pitchers were going along with the customary wobble of the chilly spring weather. But this year will be different. NORFOLK'S K. O. LOOKS FISHY

Harry Wills is the Next Opponent For Jack Dempsey.

New York, March 4.—When George Carpentier knocked out Sat. Levinsky the verdict of the fans was, "Bad match. Never should have been made."

The same thing is being said today about the Wills-Scholfield thing last night in Madison Square garden.

Both fights were closely related. Both were parts of a manhunt-up for another world's championship fight. Carpentier and Wills were called upon to prove that they were good enough for Dempsey. They both knocked out the man selected—by Jack Kearns—and they both were discredited.

The Carpentier-Levinsky fight looked on the level, however. Tho, Wills Norfolk thing looked exactly like a "frame." Nos a tan of the 10,000 in the garden saw the blow struck. One of the judges said it was "terrible," and the house agreed.

Norfolk was looking for the "pill-ows" in the first round. He took a couple of hard jolts from the huge Wills, and looked over to Leo Flynn in his corner, with an expression akin to horror. He lasted through the first round, but it was apparent that the boys would be home early.

Just after the gong for the second round had sent the men at it, Scholfield Norfolk curled up comfortably, sank to the floor and rolled over. It looked as if he was going to stay at the count of ten, and Norfolk seemed surprised when waved to his corner.

The fans didn't know what it was all about, and they let it be known that they didn't think much of it.

Kid McPartland, the referee, said the knockout came from a "six-inch right uppercut to the jaw." How he saw the blow is a mystery, because his back was almost turned. The thing happened right in front of the writer, and he saw no blow struck.

Even if Norfolk did really take one, the blow must have been put over in a clinch or when they were going out of one. Wills had been warned about holding and hitting, and all through the first round he had been very careful and clean in his work.

When Norfolk jumped to his feet his head was clear, and he said the "knock-out blow," and a terrific jolt his head got on the ring floor when he took his flop.

ALLAN CUP GAMES IN FINE MIX-UP

St. Ann's of Montreal Refuse to Play Sons of Ireland.

Montreal, March 3.—St. Ann's, who last night played a draw game with the Sons of Ireland, of Quebec, in the Allan Cup elimination series to decide the championship of this district, to-day refused to go to Quebec for the second match of the home-and-home series, as ordered by the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association. It is understood that Sons of Ireland will be awarded the championship of this district by default. St. Ann's players are mostly members of the Royal Bank of Canada team in the Montreal League here and stated engagements in games of this league would prevent them leaving Montreal. The next tie over the Allan Cup games has caused Vice-President Emil Larose and Secretary Holland of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association to issue a call for President Granger's orders of the C. A. H. A. to play a sudden-death game with Manitoba Varsity in the Allan Cup elimination series, the Canadian hockey leader is asking for a vote of the executive to suspend the Brandon Club from further play in the series.

Manitoba officials are meeting early this afternoon to discuss the situation. They point out that Ontario and Quebec have still to decide their provincial champions and wonder why the undue haste by the president asking for the disqualification of the Brandon Club, which has not yet shown declared Manitoba champions owing to having a game with the intermediate winners to play.

FEMININE FOOTBALL GAME

Paris, March 4.—The Femina Sports Club of Paris defeated the Femina Sports and the Ile Avant, were contesting the championship of the city on Saturday and at Meudon. Both sides scored a goal. When play was resumed, the pace was very hot and a forward of the Femina Sports whipped the face of an opponent whom she accused of a foul. The referees sent the aggressor from the field but her comrade sided with her and refused to continue the game. The referee gave the game in favor of the Femina Sport.

CANADIAN RHODES SCHOLARS STRENGTHEN OXFORD TEAMS

London, March 4.—Oxford's athletic strength over Cambridge due to the participation of Rhodes scholars has again come up for discussion in university circles.

ENGLAND AWAITS CHAMPION JOCKEY

London, March 4.—Racing circles are awaiting with breathless interest the appearance on English courses of George Archibald, the Canadian jockey, who has been engaged for the ensuing flat racing season. In recent years Archibald has done much of his riding in Germany, France and Spain and has ridden the horses of King Alfonso, Frank O'Neill, the American contender for the Derby, and also in France, is quoted declaring Archibald "the best horseman in the world."

HUSTLERS 6—LIVE WIRES 4

A very exciting game of hockey was played on the Victoria Rink, Monday between the Hustlers and Live Wires.

The stars for the Live Wires were Foster, Dunkley and Gilbert, Georges Rowbotham. The stars for the Hustlers were Forester, Duff and Earl Dickey. The game was very fast and clean. Fred Robinson drew the only penalty for tripping. Ross Forester made the first goal for the whole team, six of the six and scored twice. Rowbotham made a rush for centre, and scored. The score by periods were 2-2, 2-0 and 2-0 in favor of the Hustlers. Eddie Baldrey handled the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

Rheumatism Came to Live with Him at 14

MONDAY HEALTH TALK No. 62
By WM. P. REDICK, D.C. Ph.C.

At fourteen J. P. Brown got his first taste of sciatica and muscular rheumatism and it was bitter as every sufferer from either of these troubles can testify.

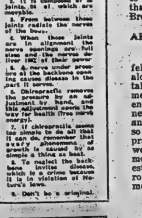

He tried many things, including a trip to Hot Springs, but nothing quite touched the cause. He was unable to work and viewed his trouble rather hopelessly, until he heard of chiropractic spinal adjustments, and learned for himself that they do remove the cause and give Nature a chance to express herself normally, and that means healthfully. Mr. Brown says:

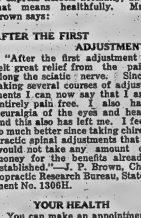

AFTER THE FIRST ADJUSTMENT

"After the first adjustment I felt great relief from the pain along the sciatic nerve. Since taking several courses of adjustments I can now say that I am entirely past all pain. I had neuralgia of the eyes and head and this also has left me. I feel so much better since taking chiropractic spinal adjustments that I would not take any amount of money for the benefits already established."—J. P. Brown, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 4306R.

SPORT STUFF

Niagara Falls play Kitchener again this evening. Come on you Green Shirts.

Not that we've got anything against De Gray and Co., but we'd just like to see them trimmed.

Seems as though the O.H.A. ought to do something on those Latreille charges.

Latreille never makes any idle charges. Remember what he did to Stockwell.

Lot of funny things going on in the O.H.A. anyway according to Eddie Livingston, the well known sport writer.

Livingston, in his publication, Sport, declares that there is a betting ring in the Toronto Arena that practically controls all the O.H.A. games. He names players wholesale and doesn't hesitate to declare that many of the most prominent are in the trail of "arm thing" gamblers. Eddie must be pretty sure of his ground or else he is courting a libel action that would blow him into bankruptcy if he couldn't prove his charges to the hilt.

FAMOUS WORDS OF FAMOUS MEN.

A regular session of the City Council will be held this evening and there are some matters of importance to be considered. At the last meeting Ald. Robinson gave notice of a motion to declare all the circle cabinet vacant, but the prevailing idea is that it will not be pressed, at least not until the special committee of the Council which is considering the salaries of officials has reported. This committee is not yet ready to present its report. Other matters introduced by Ald. Robinson such as combining the office of tax collector and water works' manager and dispensing with the social workers' services, may be considered but not definitely dealt with. Some other business of a general character will be dealt with.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

As we carried the bags to the attic room I thought of the bedraggled look the cone would have and knew that Mr. Wright had foreseen what was likely to happen.

When we came down Uncle Peabody said to me:

"I feel sorry, lawful sorry, for that boy."

We spent a silent afternoon gathering apples. After supper we played old sledge and my uncle and I had to keep us in good countenance. We went to bed early and I lay long hearing the autumn wind in the popple leaves and thinking of that great thing that was coming to-morrow. Only little by little, in the candle light.

CHAPTER X.

A Party and—My Fourth Peril!

It was a rainy Sunday. In the middle of the afternoon Uncle Peabody and I had set out in our spring buggy with the top raised—Peabody had fixed the curved implement, always carefully dried, after using, and hung in the clothes press. It was drenched to the skin in spite of the umbrella. It was still raining when we arrived at the familiar door in Asbery lane. Uncle Peabody wouldn't step.

He hurried away. We pioneers rarely stopped or even turned out for the weather.

"Come in," said the voice of the schoolmaster at the door.

"Where's your overcoat?"

He saw my plight as I entered.

"He like a shaggy dog there is been in swimming," I said.

"Upon my word, boy, we're in luck." And he called the commander.

I looked up at him.

"Michael Henry, clothes!—sure, they're just the thing for you!"

I followed him upstairs, wondering how it had happened that Michael Henry had clothes.

He took me into his room and brought some handsome, soft clothes out of a press with shirt, socks and underwear.

"There, my laddie buck," said he, "put them on."

"What does Henry cry on 'em," I said.

"Put them on—you lagerd! Michael Henry told me to give them to you. It's the birthday night of Michael Henry by my count. There's a party with candles and chicken pie and jellied cocktails and the like of that. Put them on, my boy at the feast would dampen the whole proceedings."

I put them on and with a great sense of relief and comfort. They were an admirable fit. I looked at myself, although at the time I thought only of their comfort and something surgical in the looking glass. They were of blue cloth and I saw that they were cut with a good blond hair and light skin. I was putting on my collar and necktie when Mr. Hacket returned.

We went below and the table was set in the room with its great frosted cake and its candles, its shiny brass sticks, and its jellies and preserves with the dish of polished pewter among them. Some of the children of the village, Mrs. Hacket and all the children of Ruth, were waiting for us in the dining room.

"Now sit down here, all o' ye, with Michael Henry," said the schoolmaster. "The little lady will be here, and I'll go and get her and God help us to make her remember the day."

He was gone a minute only, when he came back with Ruth in lovely white dress and slippers and with her golden hair and the great beads of Mary on her neck. We clapped our hands and cheered and, in the confusion of the moment, John tipped over his drinking glass and shattered it on the floor.

"Never mind, my brave lad—so glass was ever perished to a better cause. God bless you!"

We ate and jested and talked, and the sound of our laughter drowned the cry of the wind in the chimney and the beating of the rain upon the windows.

Next morning my clothes, which had been taken by the kitchen stove, were damp and wrinkled. Mr. Hacket came to my room before I arose.

"Michael Henry would rather see the clothes hanging on a good fire than on a nail in the closet," said he. "Sure they give no comfort to the hall at all at all."

"I guess mine are dry now," I answered.

They were wet and heavy, boy. No son of Baldur could keep a light heart in them. Michael Henry has a nice fire place as a sunbeam in a cave o' beta. For years and years the comfort think' of the poor lad in the green chair. Here that proud lad pleased to see them on a chair would be a shame to reject his offer. Sure, it's in those boys' eyes that the look of pleased to see them on a chair would be a shame to reject his offer. Sure, it's in those boys' eyes that the look of good would be found, and then the present is in town."

That morning he discovered a big stain, black as ink, on my coat and trousers. I had a faint remembrance of upstairs that it might have come from the umbrella, but I am quite sure that I had spotted them in the rain from the last homeward suit I ever wore. Mr. Hacket took work and beat Uncle Henry's on my back. In any event I wore them no more save at chore time.

Sadly came and went, with the Wills boy, and gave no heed to me. In her eyes I had no more substance than a ghost, it seemed to me, although I caught her, often, looking at me. I judged that her father had given her a bad report of me and had some expectation that it might be of knowledge that we were right, although they related nogtly to Annie.

Adventuring In The Spark-Plug Market

Searching For The Ideal Plug Is Fascinating And May Be Fruitful

THERE ARE upon the market hundreds of makes of spark-plugs, embodying all sorts of designs and devices for the prevention of sooting and oil fouling and in other ways securing certain desirable qualities, and all of these the motorist is constantly being urged to adopt with promises of greatly improved service. Testing out new forms of plugs is interesting, for new power is always to be had in the performance of his car, especially if he is being bothered with plug troubles and there is always value, whether he is aware of it or not, in the best plugs available may be the one that will solve his ignition troubles and make his motoring more pretty nearly perfect. Adopt in his engines any form of plug capable of giving bettered service. Nevertheless, this fact need not deter the motorist from constantly trying out newly designed plugs, which are offered to him for test at least as often as he changes tires and he pretty soon will

THE EMPRESS OF SCOTLAND

The Canadian Pacific Steamships Monarch of Bermuda and Empress of Scotland have been chartered by Frank C. Clark, New York, for a cruise of 36 days to the Mediterranean, sailing at the various Governments. The Monarch will leave New York for Bermuda 6th, will leave New York for Bermuda 6th, will leave North bound.

This spring the "Empress of Scotland" will inaugurate a fortnightly service between Quebec, Cherbourg, Southampton and Hamburg. She is scheduled to leave Quebec on her first outward journey from Canada early in May.

The "Empress of Scotland" is the largest ship in the Atlantic fleet of the Canadian Pacific, and one of the most luxurious vessels in the services. This steamship has recently undergone a very comprehensive overhaul and has been adapted for burning oil in the place of coal. CONSERVATIVE PARTY CONFIRMS MEIGHEN'S LEADERSHIP

TORY PARTY WANTS MEIGHEN

Conservatives of Canada Unanimously Confirm His Leadership.

OTTAWA CAUCUS

National Convention Will Likely Be Held in the Near Future.

Ottawa, March 7—Members of the National Liberal-Conservative Party in caucus this morning decided to retain the old name of Conservatives.

Ottawa, March 7.—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen was confirmed in the leadership of the Conservative forces in the Dominion Parliament by the unanimous voice of Senators, members of the House of Commons and candidates defeated at the last general election, assembled in caucus this afternoon. The former Prime Minister of Canada, it was stated at the close of the meeting, was tendered by word that the question of leadership of the party be allowed to remain in abeyance until to-morrow. His followers however, had made up their minds that the man to lead was the man who had risen by natural ability and close study of the Dominion's problems from the position of a private member in the Opposition of 1920 to the office of Prime Minister in 1920, and who had earned recognition as a statesman and a parliamentarian of a high order. The caucus was not prepared to postpone its decision on the subject of leadership, it accepted with cheerful alacrity the fact that Mr. Meighen be selected as leader and adopted it with enthusiastic applause. He will therefore lead the party in the Commons at the approaching session. A proposal that the party retain its old name, "Liberal-Conservative," was put forward but was allowed to stand for discussion in the future, probably at a national convention of the party. The holding of a national convention was also proposed and debated. The matter was referred to a committee which is to report to the caucus when it reassembles to-morrow morning.

The caucus in point of attendance surpassed all expectations. Almost all of the members of the late Government were present and members and defeated Conservative candidates from every province in the Dominion. In the gathering also were several veterans, representing candidates who were defeated at the general election and who were unable to attend the meeting to-day.

BREACH OF TEMPERANCE ACT AT PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE?

Toronto Alderman Calls for an Investigation Into Doings At Queen's Park During the Last Session of the Provincial House

Toronto, March 7.—The proposal that the Ontario Government should be asked to appoint Judge Emerson Coatsworth to investigate certain rumors current in Toronto to the effect that certain members of the Legislature, including members of the Government, had been guilty of unseemly conduct and infractions of the Ontario Temperance Act on the occasion of the previous session of the Legislature, was made in a motion by Alderman John Cowan, Ward 4, at an early hour this morning. The motion will be dealt with by the Board of Control. Alderman Cowan said he would like to have it established whether such infractions had come within the knowledge of the Provincial Police, and, if so, why the affair had been hushed up and no action been taken to punish the offenders, as the law should be enforced impartially.

The rumors mentioned by Alderman Cowan took tangible form some months ago leading to the executive of the U.F.O. passing a resolution calling upon Premier Drury to take action to preserve the honor of the organization. The resolution was as follows:—

"That, whereas there have come to the ears of the executive a number of rumors of irregular and unseemly conduct on the part of some of the members of the Legislature during the last night of the session; and, whereas the names of different members of the Government are implicated; and, whereas it is admitted by responsible persons that these rumors have foundation in fact and, whereas such conduct is utterly at variance with the principles for which our institution stands; therefore, be it resolved, that this executive hereby expresses its disapproval of such practices, and urges Premier Drury and the Attorney-General to take such steps as may be necessary to preserve the honor of Farmers and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the two Ministers mentioned."

Attorney General Raney stated today that he was prepared to answer questions on the report of the Legislature regarding rumors of the violation of the Temperance Act by members of the Assembly. Some time ago he added the government had received a request for an inquiry regarding alleged "parties."

CELLARS FLOODED ON FRONT STREET

Incessant Rain the Past Few Hours Has Caused Inconvenience.

Owing to the continued rain today, the sewer on Front street, evidently became blocked with water, as some of the cellars of stores on the east side of Front street were flooded, causing some inconvenience. In some cases goods had to be hurriedly placed in an elevated place to prevent them from becoming submerged in water.

At various places about the city, water was not up even with the sidewalk but at several places was running over the walks to a considerable depth.

On Octavia street in West Belleville some cellars had considerable quantity of water in them and sewers and sewers being unable to carry off the volume that was coming off the vacant properties in the western part of the city.

The wisdom displayed by the Council of a few years ago in enlarging the Moira street drain was evidenced today. It was able to take away the great volume of water which came from off the Coleman flath.

The ice in the river between the lower bridge and Meyers' is now showing signs of breaking up at an early moment. Water is at present pouring over the ice to a considerable depth and cracks are visible in the ice. While there is no desire to be alarmed the situation is such as to cause the impression that a flood will occur," especially should rain continue to fall.

WILL ISSUE WRITS

Toronto, March 7.—On the application of W. C. Mikel, K.C., Justice Orde at Osgoode Hall this morning directed that writs of habeas corpus should be issued for review by High Court of the convictions of Stanley George and Chris Marandit, of Belleville, in pending in Belleville jail following a conviction on a charge laid under the Inland Revenue Act that they assisted at the distillation of certain liquor.

THE FAMILY ALBUM

WILL TALK IN THE FUTURE

London, March 7.—The family portrait album of the future will talk, according to the makers of phonograph records here, who declare that the demand for private discs is increasing daily. They say that persons are having records of their own, accomplishments made and are sending them to friends. Also, instead of sending letters or gifts, some people now talk on to a disc and send that by way of greeting. The talk of children at various ages is being filed away with their baby clothes.

WILL NOT JOIN PUBLIC OFFICES

Ald. Robinson is the Sole Supporter of His Amalgamation Motion.

The motion of Ald. Robinson that the offices of tax collector and manager of water works be amalgamated and that applicants to fill the dual position be advertised for, said application to state salary expected for filling the work of the combined offices, was introduced in Council last night and seconded by Ald. McCreary for purpose of being discussed.

Ald. Robinson—These two positions are costing the city about $3,000 a year. We do not need a man to devote all his time to manage the water works department. The water works in the past has been well looked after by chairmen of the committee. The tax collector is not a busy person except possibly for three weeks when taxes are being paid rapidly. He felt confident that a competent man could be secured for the dual position at $1,800 a year. The cost of living is down to-day. Why are we not taking off our salaries? This a move is being made here to make any reduction in salaries just rather to increase them. We are going to face class legislation but to do something for the heavily burdened tax payers will be city.

Ald. Ostrom—The corporation of the city of Belleville is carried on as strongly as any in the land. We desire efficiency in our officials.

Ald. Donohoe—In my opinion the city of Belleville is a pig that feeds at the manager of a water works plant that is probably worth $750,000. There is a pig that feeds at the Canadian tobacco-growers have not organized. They are growing well over ten million dollars worth of tobacco a year, and absolutely giving it away. Proper cooperation would mean higher prices," he said.

Hon. Manning Doherty, who is accompanying Mr. Sapiro to Belleville to-day are holding a meeting to-ady, and to Perth for another meeting to-morrow afternoon, said, "I want to see co-operation developed in the Province along fundamental lines, so that it will be permanent. It can only be developed in the best way by our profiting from the experience of others and that is what Mr. Sapiro is here to tell us all about."

NEAR EAST PARLEYS IN PARIS MARCH 20

Paris, March 7.—The Foreign Ministers of the Allied Governments will meet in Paris March 20 to discuss questions relating to the Near East, it was announced yesterday. The meeting was to have occurred earlier, but the British Government requested a delay, explaining that Premier Lloyd George would be unable to come to Paris before that date.

GERMAN PAYMENTS

Paris, March 7.—German reparations payment to be made in cash, payments in kind and cessions of State property between the armistice and December 31, 1921 exceeded 2,687,250,000 gold marks, said the reparations commission's statement today.

NIPIGON TIE-UP ALL DRURY'S FAULT

Brig.-Gen. Hogarth Throws Light on Serious Power Muddle.

Toronto, March 7.—The charge that interference by the Drury Government with an arrangement entered into between the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and the Nipigon Light and Power Company had brought about the present condition of affairs in respect to the Nipigon power development, was made in the Legislature yesterday by Brig.-General D. M. Hogarth, Conservative member for Port Arthur. Gen. Hogarth's statement was backed up so convincingly with the facts as to time and place that Premier Drury had no answer ready. He admitted candidly that he had heard things from Port Arthur member that he had not been aware of before and asked for time to go into the matter, promising to give a full explanation at a later date, possibly today.

TEACHER DROPS DEAD

Hamilton, March 7.—Dr. J. B. Turner, principal of the Hamilton Collegiate Institute, dropped dead in the classroom while the pupils were being called to order at nine o'clock this morning. Death was due to apoplexy. He was 55 years of age and was born in the Township of Grey.

CIVIC EMPLOYES WILL NOT BE "FIRED" JUST YET

Motion to Declare Civic Offices Vacant is Laid Over for the Present—City Council Holds Crowded Session Last Night—Frank Street Residents Want Subway Under G. T. R. Tracks—Motor Cars to be Parked at Night Without Lights.

The session of the City Council last night was of considerable length and much business was transacted. It was anticipated by many spectators present that Ald. Robinson would introduce his motion relative to declaring all civic offices vacant, but he allowed it to stand as a notice of motion until the special committee on the salary question takes its report. The Council adopted the recommendation to allow cars to park on certain streets at night without lights, although the solicitor's opinion is adverse to it, owing to the Motor Act stipulating that cars must have their rear lights lit at night. A deputation was heard relative to a subway being constructed under the G.T.R. tracks at Frank street. The Council will see what can be done in the matter.

Members present were—Mayor Simmons, Ald. French, Foster, Donohoe, Robinson, Greenleaf, Foster, Ostrom, Patterson and McCreary.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Reports of committees etc., laid upon the table and Council went into Committee of the Whole on reports, etc., Ald. Robinson in the chair.

The recommendation recommended to be paid were passed also the following recommendations were adopted:—

Recommended that the Mayor, Ald. Donohue and Ald. Greenleaf be a committee to report on the feasibility of opening Bridge street and the construction of a sewer on Lingham and Meyers streets.

Ald. Donohoe—As a petition been presented for a sewer on these streets?

Ald. Robinson—A petition has been presented.

The recommendation was adopted.

Bridge Street Lighting

Recommended that an estimate be procured for the lighting of West Bridge street, similar lights to those on East Bridge street.

An amendment was proposed that the new lights only go as far as Church.

Ald. Ostrom—Make that public thoroughfare a well-lighted street.

Ald. Patterson—Go to the top of Murney Hill with the lights.

It was decided to defer action until an estimate of the cost has been secured.

Cars Without Lights

Recommended that motor cars be allowed to park on the following sections of streets at night without lights as the owner's risk: From Bridge street to Victoria Avenue; Bridge street from lower Bridge to Church street, Campbell street from Front to Pinnacle streets.

Ald. French moved that the recommendation be referred back to Committee.

Ald. Greenleaf—Pass the recommendation. The hay necks at Toronto should not govern us. We have our own laws. We will fight this matter out.

Ald. Greenleaf added that the City Solicitor's opinion was that it was

CO-OP. EXPERT GIVES VIEWS

Tells Intelligencer Reporter That Opportunities for Co-operation are Many.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
By Staff Correspondent

Toronto, March 7.—Mr. Aaron Sapiro, of Fresno, California, the chief organizer of twenty-two agricultural co-operative organizations, whose membership exceeds 80,000, who left the city this morning for Belleville, with the Hon. Manning Doherty, told a reporter for The Intelligencer that he see great possibilities here for the co-operative movement. In this respect, he said, it is in a more favorable position than even his native state. The Niagara Peninsula, he stated out is situated so close to all the chief markets

"The thing farmers and fruit-growers need to learn here," he said, "is to organize centrally—not locally. It was twelve years ago last spring that in California, and I think it would be well for you to profit from our experience. There is a pig that Canadian tobacco-growers have not organized. They are growing well over ten million dollars worth of tobacco a year, and absolutely giving it away. Proper co-operation would mean higher prices," he said.

Hon. Manning Doherty, who is accompanying Mr. Sapiro to Belleville to-day are holding a meeting to-ady, and to Perth for another meeting to-morrow afternoon, said, "I want to see co-operation developed in the Province along fundamental lines, so that it will be permanent. It can only be developed in the best way by our profiting from the experience of others and that is what Mr. Sapiro is here to tell us all about."

NO RECIPROCITY WITH UNITED STATES AT PRESENT

Hon. W. S. Fielding Says Canada Must Await Final Action of United States Congress on Fordney Tariff Bill.

Ottawa, March 7.—"From these facts it is clear that at present nothing can be done in the way of negotiations with the American authorities. We must await the final action of Congress on the Fordney Tariff Bill." So, in a statement made to Canadian Press representative yesterday, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, summed up the result of the reciprocity. The object of Mr. Fielding's visit to the United States was two-fold:

1. To attend to important financial arrangements in New York, and,

2. To make a preliminary inquiry somewhat informal in character, as to the disposition of leading public men in the United States toward better trade relations between that country and Canada.

In respect to the first named, Mr. Fielding announced that to meet the maturing C.N.R. obligations, an issue of $11,000,000 three-year five per cent. notes of the Canadian Northern Railway, guaranteed by the Government of Canada, had been sold to Messrs. Dillon, Read and Company, of New York. When the terms were announced later, Mr. Fielding added, the transaction would be regarded by financial people as eminently satisfactory.

Touching on reciprocity, Mr. Fielding reviewed the present situation in Washington. He noted with pleasure the friendly attitude expressed of Canada's position. There was an increasing recognition of the fact that trade relations should be based on a lopsided form. "The thought", remarked Mr. Fielding, "that if they want to sell they must at the same time be willing to buy, seems to be growing amongst the American people. They are not likely to overlook the fact in its relation to Canada at a time when, more than ever before, they are seeking for new markets."

COAL STATION FOR ST. JOHN'S

Much Interest Shown in Industrial Possibilities of the Ancient Colony.

[illegible] which is being shown in the industrial possibilities of the Ancient Colony. That now a Company with an authorized capital of $4,000,000 is, legislation obtained to exploit the coal measures of the Little River peninsula St. George's coal fields on the West Coast, and the officials announce that drum-crushed rock and limestone will be used in the Company's plan to create a bunkering station at Little River, believing steamships using the Strait of Belle Isle will call there for bunker coal.

A representative of a Canadian firm is here with a proposition to establish a fleet of [illegible] which he says would employ five hundred men.

The United Towns Electric Company, which, within a few years have extended their hydro-electric system to practically all the towns and settlements on Conception Bay and Trinity Bay, have important plans for their [illegible] power development, and are reported to be trying to make an arrangement with the Reid Newfoundland Company to distribute power in St. John's.

The project of the Armstrong & Whitworth Company of England, in conjunction with the Reid Newfoundland Company, to establish large pulp and paper making industries in the Humber River Valley, has become the subject of much controversy. The Government's attitude to the proposals of these companies has not been disclosed, nor is the precise nature of the proposals known. It is generally understood that the Government has been asked to guarantee the Company's bonds to the extent of $3,000,000; in other quarters it is said the proposals would involve the government in obligations amounting to $12,000,000.

The Island's need of new industries is generally recognized—Young men are growing up who have no inclination for the fishing, and unless opportunities of employment are afforded they must emigrate. The Harbor project would doubtless be a great boon for the colony; but the Government with a war debt of about $18,000,000 is not anxious to assume new financial obligations and Sir Robert Bond has come out in opposition to what he calls a "measure which may strike a fatal blow at the autonomy and independence of our country." In the view of the St. John's Telegram Sir Robert's pronouncement on the subject presaged his resentrance into the political fie, a possibility which is commanded with general interest.

The Daily Advocate, organ of Hon. W. F. Cosker, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, is plainly in favor of the big Humber project, and, as Head of the Fishermen's Protective Union and various co-operative enterprises, Mr. Cosker wields a very considerable influence. The Minister is a vigorous advocate of aggressive and radical economic policies, and a battle between him and Sir Robert Bond, would certainly enliven the political life of the Island.

MORE THAN 2,000 MEN NEEDED FOR SASKATCHEWAN FARMS

Regina, Sask., March 7—In anticipation that between 2,000 and 2,500 men will be required for farm operations on the farms in Saskatchewan, their bureau of labor is laying its plans to provide that amount of help for the farmers this coming season, it is announced here. The estimated number of men required is about the average of the past few years.

At a recent convention of labor bureau officials the situation with respect to women help was also thoroughly canvassed by the women in charge of the branch of the work at the various depots of the province. It was the consensus of opinion that the demand for girls and women on the farms will be about the same as last year, but that the prevailing wages would be lower. Last year, domestics from the old country were quoted $30 a month, but this year it is the intention to offer $25.

COW GIVES BIRTH TO FIVE CALVES

Regina, March 7.—A record which will stand for some time in the animal world was recently created by a Saskatchewan cow when she gave birth to five all normal, healthy calves weighing about 30 pounds each. The cow, a pure-bred Jersey, gave birth to three normal calves last year.

The performance is somewhat detracted from, in the fact that none of this year's litter of calves lived. This was due to the mother cow taking fright at a train and running for over a mile a few days before giving birth to the five. The cow is owned by Hattie Williams, of Kelfield, south of Regina.

REX PRESENTS ANOTHER SUCCESS

Splendid Comedy Draws Capacity House at Griffin's Last Night.

"The Liars," a delightful comedy presented by the Rex Stock Company drew a capacity house at the Griffin Theatre last evening. It was the second triumph by Rex and his excellent company of artists, who have won a warm place in the affections of the patrons of the Griffin. Opera Hero, Rex Sinclayre as Dave, and Biffy Seymour as Buck, the arch-conspirators, driven to extreme measures by misfortune, see an opportunity to personate a wealthy candy-maker, reported killed in a railroad wreck. They meet with a marvelous degree of success, with the assistance of two trusting country ladies, with whom they fall in love, and what was likely to prove disastrous, turns out happily for all the parties.

William F. Mitchell as Jerry, and A. J. Cole, the lawyer, carried out their parts in a highly creditable manner, while William Yule is seen in the double characters of the landlord and the detective. In both of them, he is a wonderful success, and made a "hit" with the audience. Charles Hannah does fine acting as the office man. Kathryn VanEsse who made such a success of the part of Mrs. Gerrard in "The Girl Who Turned Broadway" is the landlady in "The Liars," and with William Yule as the landlord won repeated applause. Hazel Williams is seen as Emma. Gloria Maclean as Anna, and the beautiful Zana Vaughn in the Norma Nobbs role, gave a satisfactory performance.

"The Liars" is a humorous and entertaining comedy, and is produced in a most highly finished manner by the Rex Stock Company. Opening with a boarding house scene, it comes to a dramatic climax in the fourth, set, after a series of startling events. Between the acts, superior vaudeville is put on. The Park Kiddies were delightful in their songs and dances.

SIMPLE MEDICINE SURPRISES THE DOCTORS

Almost Instantly Relieves Indigestion, Headaches, Constipation, Rheumatism, Kidney Aches, etc.

It has been a well known fact that most of the aches, pains and sickness of to-day are caused from an inactive liver. The liver does not exert bile into the intestines and the bowels become inactive, and fill up with poisonous waste and the blood carries this poison to all parts of the body, causing all sorts of sickness. This trouble can be easily overcome by taking one tanated calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, and you will be surprised to find that you will feel 100% better in a few days. No salts, castor oil, or seidlitz are necessary after taking as it is self-eliminating. This simple medicine is relieving thousands of sufferers and should be taken by every person who does not feel well. Tanated Calomel is sold at McKeown's Drug Store.

Music and Drama

WHY "IL TROVATORE" IS THE WORLD'S MOST POPULAR OPERA

"Il Trovatore" which will be presented at Griffin's this Thursday night, March 9th by the Boston English Opera Company has won the title of the world's most popular opera on its merits purely, first of all it makes its appeal both to the musician and to the average person who simply enjoys good music and is the greatest possible proof that good music can be tuneful and melodious. An audience leaving the theatre after hearing "Il Trovatore" is always humming or whistling its many delightful airs.

"Il Trovatore" contains two numbers which rank as the two greatest operatic numbers in modern music. One is the beautiful miserere and the other is the famous anvil chorus; but these are only two of many of the beautiful numbers which make "Il Trovatore" the world's most popular opera.

So much for "Il Trovatore", the Boston English Opera Company needs no introduction and for this tour Mr. Beck, the manager has inaugurated no entirely new policy namely; he selected the artists in his company who made their biggest success in "Il Trovatore" and assigned them to the parts in which they made their success; and is doing only the one opera on this tour.

SWITZERLAND ELECTRIFIES RAILROADS

Berne, Switzerland, March 6.—The electrification of railroads is making rapid progress in Switzerland. The whole of the Gotthard Railroad from Lucerne to the Italian frontier now bears only electricity-drawn freight, thus effecting a saving of over 3,000 tons of coal monthly. Other lines to the German and Italian frontiers are being transformed for electric traction.

Carsiene Motorists

P.P.—With the approach of the spring we notice the streets getting softer and shudier every day. This, however, seems to make no difference to our motorists who plunge right through the puddles with an utter disregard for the poor pedestrian who usually gets the full charge of dirty water and slush all over his clothes. A little consideration on the part of some of our motorists would make walking a lot more pleasant for some "lay walkers".

BUILD UNDER SAME ROOF BIG HOTEL AND CHURCH

New York, March 6.—A 17-story hotel with a church occupying part of the first three floors and a school for missionaries on the roof will be erected at Broadway and 104th street before the end of the year, according to plans announced last night.

This unique structure, believed to be the first combination of hotel and church to be built, will occupy the site where the present church structure of the Metropolitan Tabernacle now stands.

Back of every Eddy match!

On Canada's first birthday, Eddy's were already 16 years old. When the last spike was driven on the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1886, Eddy's had passed their 35th milestone. When Ottawa was still Bytown—seven years before it became Canada's capital—Eddy's were making matches for Canada's total population of 1,850,000 people.

Deep-rooted in Canadian soil before Confederation, Eddy's are more Canadian than the Dominion. The business romance of this great pioneer industry is the history of Upper and Lower Canada for three-quarters of a century—since 1851!

Eddy's have seen the number of match consumers grow from less than 1,850,000 to 9,000,000.

In the great Eddy family of 2,500 loyal Canadian workers are found many who have seen service for over 40 years—from father to son and daughter.

And never a strike since 1851!

With a payroll of over $2,500,000 a year, the gigantic Eddy plant spreading over 75 acres is now producing 120,000,000 matches a day of superlative quality—equal to 5,143 miles of matches end to end.

This long-continued supremacy is the result of unfaltering adherence to the Eddy ideal—the most for the money.

"Eddy's" is the Canadian word for matches!

DYNAMITE WRECKS CUT RATE BAKERY

St. Catharines, March 7.—The Macedonian bakery, on Front street, Thorold, was totally wrecked at 2.15 o'clock yesterday by one or more blasts of dynamite, placed in the oven making the sixth dynamite plot against bakeries and other places of business in St. Catharines and vicinity in the last two years.

Chris Spanckses, proprietor, states that he has been selling bread for 12 cents a loaf, while other bakeries have been charging 22 cents.

Civic Employes Will Not be "Fired" Yet

illegal to pass such a recommendation in face of the law governing lights on cars.

Ald. Thompson—I will fight it on it necessary, on my own expense.

Ald. Patterson and Ald. McCreary spoke in support of the recommendation which was adopted.

Frank Street Subway

Mr. A. Duncan addressed the Council in reference to having a subway built under the G.T.R. track on Frank street. The speaker said there were a number of building lots on Frank street but there is no way of getting to Frank street north except over the G.T.R. track.

Mayor Hanna stated that the Council had made an effort to have the G. T.R. build the subway but had not been able to get the railway to do anything, but the council should.

Ald. Greenlead spoke in support of the subway being built.

Ald. Donohue was of the opinion that the city would have to assume all costs in the subway as the original plan of the city only went to the railway track on Frank street. He moved that this matter be referred to the City Solicitor to report to the Council on the matter.

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Savage, residing on Wellington street asked for a sidewalk to be constructed from Bridge street west to Pope street.

Mayor Hanna.—A petition was sufficiently signed to build this walk.

Ald.—Donohue—The walk will be built as soon as it is possible to do so.

Market Tolls

Mr. R. A. Sanford asked about the drawing up of fees on the market. He claimed that on Saturday last double fees were charged to a number of patrons.

Ald. Robinson stated that he had interviewed the lessee of the market in regard to the matter and he, the speaker, didn't think it would not occur again.

Sale of Property

It was recommended that tenders be received up to April 1st for the purchase of the city property on Front street, and that the sale be advertised by a sign on the property, said property, known as the new proposed fire hall property, opposite the Kingsley hotel.

Ald. McCreary asked why this property is being offered for sale in this unusual manner. It should be advertised in the newspapers.

Mayor Hanna—Moved in amendment, that we advertise it in the newspapers also for the removal of the building on the lot.

Ald.—French—So I also building I can do not sell the property.

Ald. Catford was of the opinion that a price should be placed upon this property by the Council. The price should be at least $5,000.

Ald. Donohue—The property does not add to the beauty of the city at present. Sell the building or put in the necessary improvements.

Mayor Hanna moved in amendment, that the property in question be sold, the building to be removed and that no tender necessarily be accepted.

Ald. Ostrom—The land and the building is a load upon the city, and we should get rid of it.

Ald. Foster agreed with Ald. Ostrom's proposition to put a price upon the property in question.

Ald Patterson—Advertise for tenders and find out what the bids are. We will not be necessary to accept any tender.

Ald. French—If you ask $5,000 for that property you will get no bids. Ask for tenders and see what they are.

The amendment of the Mayor prevailed.

Gasoline Tank

Mr. W. H. Wrightmeyer asked permission to install a Bowser gasoline tank in front of his premises on Station street.

Ald. Donohue—Will Mr. Wrightmeyer guarantee the city against any damage to the sidewalk or road?

The matter was referred to the city engineer and Chairman of Public Works Committee.

Accepted Invitation

A communication was read from the Tiger Tire and Rubber Company inviting the City Council to visit the plant to see what is being done at the plant.

The Council agreed to visit the plant on Wednesday afternoon at 2-30 p.m.

A petition was presented for a sewer on Leigham and Meyers streets. Referred to city officials to ascertain if properly signed.

Public Library

A report was presented from Mr. H. R. Stock, city auditor, which showed that the receipts of the Corby public library for 1921 were $417.94 as against $260.25 in 1920.

Mayor Hanna—The library is run in an efficient manner and the output of books is increasing yearly.

The report was adopted.

Enquiries

Ald. Robinson asked if the individuals who bought the property at Perth's Elbow are going to excavate there.

Mayor Hanna—They are going to take rock and make a proper walk and railing for pedestrians.

Ald. Donohue—Is it the intention to cut out the light near the Upper Bridge. It has been out for some time.

Ald. McCreary—The Hydro are short of 1,000 power lamps and as soon as they get them a new light will be put in.

Ald. Patterson—Who gave the garbage man a right to dump garbage on the corner of Hespp and Everett streets.

Ald. French—Mr. Wills gave permission.

Ald. Robinson—He, the speaker, gave no permission to dump it.

Ald. Patterson desired to know who was responsible for Belleville not appearing in the Heaton Agency book which was out.

City Clerk—The matter was referred to the City Treasurer.

Some discussion took place in reference to the Water Works Department not buying supplies from the Empire Manufacturing Company, who have a representative living in Belleville. The matter was brought up by Ald. Patterson and Mr. Gordon, the Empire representative stated that his company's goods were just as good as any other company.

Ald. Patterson—Let us patronize our local representatives when purchasing supplies.

Ald. McCreary referred to the manner the ice had been laid on the side of Front street and he had the misfortune to break a spring in his car because of the drop leading into his garage.

Ald. Donohue—We did the best we could. He was also having walks cleaned at the owner's expense.

Motions

Moved by Ald. Greenlee, seconded by Ald. French, that owing to the increasing number of claims being filed against municipal corporations for personal accidents indemnity and the excessive cost that is incurred in connection with said claims, all of which are more or less absurd, but which are absorbed by the corporation or insurance company in settling said claims.

Resolved—That this Council petition the Provincial Legislature through the Ontario Municipal Association to enact such legislation as will absolve municipalities from their present supposed liability or if such be beyond the power of said Legislature that action be taken to assess municipalities for the purpose of paying claims along the same lines as the Workmen's Compensation Act is now operated.

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Ontario Municipal Association asking them to co-operate in placing this matter before the various municipalities for any suggestions they might offer in the matter.—Carried.

Council adjourned.

DENIES CITY HALL FIRE OF INCENDIARY ORIGIN

Montreal, March 7.—The rumor current in civic circles on the week-end that Saturday's disastrous fire at the City Hall was of incendiary origin was officially denied by Chairman Brodeur, of the executive committee, last night. He added that the police had received no instructions to make an arrest, and that no person or persons were suspected of being criminally responsible for the outbreak. The chairman added that the investigation would be left to the fire commissioners, and that neither he nor any other official could advance even a speculative theory as to the fire's origin.

OBLIVION PUNISHMENT FOR OFFENDING PLAYERS

Los Angeles, Cal., March 7.—Movie actors who bring disgrace upon the industry hereafter will be boycotted by authors, camera men, directors and fellow actors.

This is the threat to-day of the Federation of Art, a newly organized association of the Actors' Equity Association, the American Society of Cinematographers, the Motion Picture Directors Association, the Screen Writers' Guild and the Authors League of America.

"We will not act with, we will not photograph, we will not direct and we will not write for any individual who has brought disgrace upon the profession," the federation's members pledged.

Movie offenders will be "quietly dropped into oblivion."

WATER WORKS DEPT. SHOWS A SURPLUS

Satisfactory Report Presented to City Council by City Auditor.

Mr. H. R. Stock, city auditor, last evening presented to the City Council the following satisfactory report in regard to the Water Works:

To Mayor Ellanna and Aldermen of the City of Belleville:

Gentlemen,—

Enclosed herewith please find my report of the Water Works Department.

I am pleased to say that it is a most creditable showing, as you will note from the statement of revenue and expenditure, that the net profit after sinking fund payment has been made is $8,606.13. This amount went to the installation of new mains and service.

The profits made during the last several years back have been devoted to this end, and also to paymenta for new pumps which were installed a few years ago, and are being, for out of current revenue, no debentures having been at the time of installation.

I think we can safely say that this department is on a good financial foundation and the accounting is being taken care of in a very satisfactory manner.

Yours very truly,
H. R. STOCK,
Auditor City of Belleville.

EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS.

According to Employment," the authorized publication of the Federal Department of Labor, the curve of employment based upon returns from an aggregate of 5,800 firms with a total employment list of 641,146 persons, showed an upward tendency during the first two weeks of 1922. The statistics as published in the bulletin do not go any further than the above date.

For 1921 the end of December marked the nadir of employment, with only 78 per cent. as compared with 91 per cent. for the previous October, the best month of the year. In mid-January, the percentage of employment is given as 81 per cent. There are other ways of reckoning, however—returns from trade unions for Ontario is recorded at 90.34 for December last, with October's figure 94.27—the highest for the year. As reckoned by the trade unions, February had the lowest percentage for the year, only 85.24 per cent. of employment being recorded in that month. From that low level there was a steady rise till the month of October.

The returns from the Canadian unions as a whole were received from 1,500 unions with a combined membership of over 130,000. In the early part of 1921, we read, activity in the manufacturing and technical industries was largely offset by a reduction of employment due to seasonal conditions in the building, construction and transportation groups. Slackness in the transportation group continued during February, but the almost stagnant condition of the lumber industry was mainly responsible for the sharp decline for the month. A further and severe reduction in employment for March, noticeably in the metals, woodworking and glass bottle blowing groups, left the percentage for Canada as a whole at 83.52 on April 1, "the lowest point reached since the record of employment among organized workers was begun at the commencement of 1916." Only a slight modification of the situation was shown during the spring, but in the summer months, with more employment available in the transportation industries and seasonal activity in various other lines, some improvement was recorded. The employment curve mounted rapidly during June and July, a gain of over 6 per cent. being registered for the two months. In August and September the curve continued its upward trend slightly. In September there was a large volume of employment in the building and construction trades; in October there was a still further addition to the numbers employed, the percentage of 92.58 reached at the close of the month being the highest registered throughout the year. There was a falling-off for the remaining two months, and an improvement at the beginning of this year. We may expect a progressive amelioration of conditions from now on.

TRAFFIC CASUALTIES.

The New York Herald has discovered that more people were killed on highways in the United States in 18 months than American soldiers were killed on the battlefields in France in the same period. The same ratio cannot be true of Canada, because our casualties in that period were relatively far greater than the United States' army had. But street casualties are increasing in nearly all the larger cities and towns, and for the safety of the urban pedestrian life is a continuous battle to escape being run down. The soldiers at the front were not permitted to dash hither and thither to escape approaching danger. Suppose for a moment that pedestrians on large city streets were also required to remain steadfast, on military principle, and be stricken rather than dodge like frightened chickens? What would our street casualties then be? The great saving factor for preventing decimation of our pedestrian population is its nimbleness and agility in eluding the charge. Perhaps part of the Safety First propaganda should consist in training in physical alertness. For instance, shadow boxing might be a splendid exercise to develop side-stepping abilities. It is at least reasonable to assume that the dancing mania has helped considerably in keeping the feet and limbs primed for the crisis when a motor car rushes down with a honk.

THE OUTLOOK BRIGHTENS

Ottawa Journal:

Things, in the language of the street, are "looking up." Industry, suppressed for over two years, is beginning to revive; trade, although still in the doldrums, maintains a favorable balance; national credit, the acid test of a country's future, was never better; savings bank deposits of several people both thrifty and fairly prosperous; the railway situation, at once a hard problem and a drain upon the people's purse, continues to improve; and the worst stage of unemployment has been tided over. All that is now wanted is more progressed optimism and less of thought free pessimism.

A PRAYER

Grant me the strength to meet today,
Whatever burdens I must bear,
Let me be cheerful when I may,
Nor ungodly nor bit of care.

Open my eyes that I may see,
The larger purpose of the plan,
And when disaster blocks my way,
Lord, let me face it as a man.

Let me have vision so that I
May see beyond the doubt and dread,
To-morrow's smiling path of sky,
Let me not scorn the path I tread.

Let me behold the finished task—
Not now, but in the years to be,
Grant me the faith and strength I ask,
To bear for fatherhood's decree.

Lord, when I falter and am weak,
And difficulties bar my way,
Hold up to me the goal I seek,
Lift let me see beyond the day.

Lord, let me find in collosome care,
And bitter service to be done,
In petty failure and despair,
The larger glory to be won.

A young chaplain found a convict feeling a rat. "Ha! I see you have a pet, eh?" he inquired. "Yes, sir," replied the convict, his hoarse voice softening, and a gentle smile illuminating his hard face, "I think more of his ra' than I do of any living creature!"

"I have never been very strong but the last last summer was too much for me. This and the fact that my husband was out of work and I had to work day and night to keep from starving, left me a physical wreck. Luckily my husband was able to get a good job just when I had to go to bed. I tried everything I could think of to get strong, but each day I seemed to be getting weaker and weaker, I was reduced to a skeleton. I couldn't eat or sleep, I had no strength left and finally I was so weak that in trying to cross the floor one day I collapsed. I was very ill and weak then I didn't care whether I lived or died. And then I heard about that marvellous preparation—Lacnor! A friend of mine had used it with wonderful results and as it had done so much for her, I decided to try it. The results were nothing less than miraculous. In two weeks I was able to get up and walk about the house, my appetite had returned. I was actually hungry. I could sleep while I went to bed, something I had not been able to do for months. I have already taken six bottles of Carnol and I am still using it. I weigh more today than I ever weighed before in my life. I sleep like a child. I am never tired and my skin is as clear and my cheeks as rosy as a girl's. I claim the day I heard about Carnol." "Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

MRS. RHINOC EROS APPEARS

Did you guess who it was that Tinker Bob saw when he looked around at the sound of approaching steps? Well, it was none other than Mrs. Rhinoceros herself. She was interested to know if her son had caught the native. "Why were you running after that native anyway?" asked Tinker.

"That's the fellow that has been watching for a chance to catch my mother when she is asleep. If he caught her then he would kill her," replied the mother's son.

"But why, pray tell me, would anyone want to kill your mother?"

"Oh, the natives would take her skin and make leather of it and use it for shoes, and the horn on her nose would be made into a cup and given to the king to drink out of. The king of each tribe thinks that no one can poison him if he drinks out of a cup made from the horn of a Rhinoceros."

Most of the day is spent in the mud and water.

"How do you keep such things?" questioned Tinker Bob.

"Oh, one day a long, long time ago my grandmother was wallowing with me in the muddy swamp of the valley and while I was playing about in the water she told me a great many things that her grandmother told her. You see the most of the day is spent in the mud and water. If there is anything that we like it is mud and then more mud," said the son of his mother.

"I would think that you could find better things to do in the day time than to wallow about in the mud," said Tinker.

"Well, you don't understand," said Mrs. Rhinoceros. "If we should stay out of the water all day and not get a bit of mud on our backs, the awful little Gad Fly would be stinging us all the time, and when he stings it makes us so itchy that we nearly rub the skin all off, scratching our backs on trees and rocks."

"Pray tell me then, when do you get anything to eat?"

"Well, we feed at night when the Gad Fly has gone to bed, and the moon comes up. Some times we can come out if there is enough mud on our backs so that fly can't sting through it. There, I can feel one now on my back. Come on, it is time we were back in the mud till the sun sets."

Then Mrs. Rhinoceros scratched her back against a tree, and every time she rubbed up or down she grunted like a pig.

"Well, tell me what you use that horn for?" said Tinker Bob.

"That horn is for the purpose of tearing the thickest in pieces that may travel through it, and then it is always a help in time of trouble. We use it to fight with when someone like that native happens along."

Then Mrs. Rhinoceros and her son went away into the thicket where they could wallow in the muddy swamp till the sun went down. Then they could go out and feed.

WANT TREES PLANTED BY THE GOVERNMENT

Calgary, March 7.—The federal and provincial governments will be petitioned by the Calgary Horticultural society to make provision whereby a certain minimum number of trees must be planted on all land for which bonds are guaranteed by the governments. This request will be made in an effort to bring before all farmers the great value of shelter belts in dry areas of the province, which, it is hoped, will soon be placed under irrigation.

The following resolution was passed by the executive of the society recently: "Resolved that in all irrigated areas, where the federal or provincial governments are guaranteeing the bonds, or giving financial assistance, that gives them any power over such lands it be insisted that trees shall be planted on every quarter section, the number and kind to be left to the discretion of the provincial minister of agriculture; and that the Canadian Pacific Railway department of natural resources, the United Farmers of Alberta and all horticultural societies be asked to give the utmost co-ordination to the great benefits accruing from arbor culture in the dry areas of this province."

UNEMPLOYMENT DECREASES IN DENMARK

Copenhagen, March 6.—Unemployment in Denmark has been steadily increasing month by month, averaging 29 percent for the whole of 1921 and culminating in December with 35.6 per cent, of the total number of Danish workers, according to official reports.

High wages and the dumping of cheap central European goods are generally blamed for this state of affairs.

Economists, however, are of opinion that unemployment in Denmark, as elsewhere, is a natural consequence of the fact that more than half of Europe's population are unable to pay even the barest necessities.

Some statisticians assert that the country is too small for her fertile population of less than 3,250,000.

KITCHENER WIN FROM FALLS 2-0

Green Shirts Decisively Defeat Niagara Falls in Strenuous Game.

Hamilton, March 7.—Kitchener won the intermediate championship of Ontario here last night when they defeated Niagara Falls by a score of 2 to 0 in the roughest game ever witnessed in Hamilton ice. It was played before a record-breaking crowd. Hundreds came from Niagara Falls and hundreds more from Kitchener. A large number of Hamiltonians were also on hand. The Falls also brought a large number of the fair sex and a brass band. Interest was at fever thermometer, and owing to the strenuous going there was not a dull moment in the entire fracas.

Beattie Ramsay, the Varsity star, referred, and despite the fact that it was one of the hardest games of the year to handle, acquitted himself creditably. As the game drew to a close the players of both teams started to even up old scores, and the body-checking which was in evidence was almost unprecedented in this city. Twenty-three penalties were handed out. At the start of the period the ice was in fairly good condition, but as the game drew to a close it became quite sticky, and the players found it impossible to shoot the puck. Pools of water collected on the ice and made it extremely hard for the men to hit the disc off the surface.

Winners Always the Best

At no stage of the game, despite the closeness of the score, was the Kitchener aggregation in danger. They were always best, and only the sterling performance of Mayo in the Niagara Falls net kept the score as low as it was. He was the outstanding player on the night's play, several of his saves bordering on the supernatural.

The line-up:

Niagara Falls—Goal, Mayo; left defence, Bawtenheimer, right defence, Fraser; centre, DeGray; right wing, Harrington; left wing, Pennis; subs., Themens and Doyle.

Referee—Beattie Ramsay, Toronto.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

Ottawa Players in Lead.

Cyril Dennenay of Ottawa is giving Harry Broadbent, his team-mate, a great argument for the individual scoring honors of the league, and Dennenay's goal at Montreal, while Broadbent went scoreless, put him just one goal behind Broadbent, who has 31. Babe Dye of St. Pat's is practically certain of landing show money, as he has 27 to his credit. Corbett Dennenay and Harry Cameron are well up with the leaders, and the Ottawa boys are showing the way to all the defence men in scoring 19, the same as Dennenay. S. Cleghorn is the second high scorer of the defence men with 14. The Ottawa star forward, Nighbor, only has notched nine all season.

The goal getters, with 10 or more goals, are: Broadbent, Ottawa, 31; Cy Dennenay, Ottawa, 30; Babe Dye, St. Patrick's, 27; Malone, Hamilton, 22; O. Cleghorn, Canadiens, 19; Corbett Dennenay, St. Patrick's, 18; Cameron, St. Patrick's, 18; Noble, St. Patrick's, 15; G. Boucher, Ottawa, 12; Prodgers, Hamilton, 14; S. JUNIOR CLASSIC WON BY AURA LEE

Go Into Next Game of the Round With Two-Goal Lead.

Toronto, March 7.—Aura Lee juniors outplayed St. Mary's in the first of the O.H.A. final games at the Arena last night and won by 4 to 2. The Red and White lived up to all advance notices and earned the verdict. They got the breaks, it is true, but playing the way they did they deserved them. Their sixman defence held the speedy little fellows from the west end in check, while their forwards repeatedly broke away to rain shots at Goalkeeper Kells, who was at the top of his form and played one of the most sensational games ever seen here in the junior series. St. Mary's were hosting the net disgraced, and it is within the range of possibility that they will make a "comeback" on Thursday night and overcome the lead.

The Avenue Roaders can thank Charlie Dinsmore for their lead. Dinsmore never was all over the ice, breaking up attack after attack and the west end players could not shake him off. He is a substitute on the team, but for what reason no one has discovered. There was another outstanding player out there last night, "Dutch" Cain, Captain of the Garnet, Green and Grey, rising to great heights to turn back a persistent and dangerous foe. These two players dominated the situation at both respective teams, but that is not saying that there were not others who played remarkable hockey.

GIBBONS MAY MEET DEMPSEY

New York, March 7.—Tom Gibbons arrived here yesterday for his fifteen-round bout Monday night with Harry Greb. Gibbons said:—

"It looks to me that Champion Jack Dempsey is having a hard time getting fights, but after next Monday I will be able to talk business with him and relieve him of his misery."

Gibbons weighed himself today and the beam tipped 175, the figure he must meet when he battles Greb. Tom said, however, that he expected to enter the ring at 173.

WHITE AND DUNDEE MATCHED

New York, March 7.—Charlie White and Johnny Dundee have been matched today for a 15-round bout in the Madison Square Garden, March 17. Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, was originally scheduled to meet White, but was forced to call the bout off because of an injured hand.

Johnny Buff and Joe Lynch were also matched to fight at the Garden, March 20th.

BUFF INJURES THUMB

New York, March 7.—Johnny Buff, bantamweight boxing champion, announced yesterday that he had injured the thumb of his left hand and probably would not be able to box again for six weeks. He cancelled matches with Roy Moore, of St. Paul, scheduled for Friday night in Jersey City, and also Joe Lynch in Madison Square Garden, March 20th.

RATNER KNOCKS OUT DELANEY

New York, March 7.—Augie Ratner, New York middleweight last night knocked out Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., in the first round of their bout in Brooklyn. Delaney went down under a right hook to the jaw. Ratner weighed 154½ pounds and Delaney 158.

EDWARDS BEAT FRIEDMAN

Boston, March 7.—Danny Edwards, of California, last night received the decision over Abe Friedman, New England bantamweight champion, in a ten-round contest.

TIPLITZ WINS ON A FOUL

Philadelphia, March 7.—Joe Tiplitz, Philadelphia lightweight, won his bout with Joe Benjamin, of California, last night on a foul in the fourth round. Up to that point Benjamin had the better of the fight.

JUNIOR CLASSIC WON BY AURA LEE

Go Into Next Game of the Round With Two-Goal Lead.

Toronto, March 7.—Aura Lee juniors outplayed St. Mary's in the first of the O.H.A. final games at the Arena last night and won by 4 to 2. The Red and White lived up to all advance notices and earned the verdict. They got the breaks, it is true, but playing the way they did they deserved them. Their six-man defence held the speedy little fellows from the west end in check, while their forwards repeatedly broke away to rain shots at Goalkeeper Kells, who was at the top of his form and played one of the most sensational games ever seen here in the junior series. St. Mary's were hosting the net disgraced, and it is within the range of possibility that they will make a "comeback" on Thursday night and overcome the lead.

The Avenue Roaders can thank Charlie Dinsmore for their lead. Dinsmore never was all over the ice, breaking up attack after attack and the west end players could not shake him off. He is a substitute on the team, but for what reason no one has discovered. There was another outstanding player out there last night, "Dutch" Cain, Captain of the Garnet, Green and Grey, rising to great heights to turn back a persistent and dangerous foe. These two players dominated the situation at both respective teams, but that is not saying that there were not others who played remarkable hockey.

MAT CHAMPIONSHIPS TO BE HELD HERE

The bouts will be attended by most of the well known amateur wrestlers of the province and they will be under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. here and the Belleville Rotary Club. The classes will range from 108 pounds to the heavyweight class and a heavy entry list is expected.

BECKETT DON'T CARE WHAT HAPPENS TO HIM

Challenges Jack Dempsey to Championship Bout to Be Held Soon.

London, March 7.—Joe Beckett, British heavyweight champion, today authorized Jack McAuliffe, retired lightweight champion, to challenge Jack Dempsey for a fight for the world's heavyweight championship.

"McAuliffe can challenge Dempsey for me, the fight to be held in America this summer," Beckett said today.

McAuliffe is returning to America next Saturday on the Aquitania, and she hopes to get Beckett billed with the champion for the Fourth of July or Labor Day.

PETE HERMAN WANTS ACTION

The Little New Orleans Italian Wants to Meet Johnny Buff.

New York, March 7.—Pete Herman is gunning the way again to try to work up ring interest in the bantamweight division. Bantam were all the rage there until Champion Johnny Buff was away to England. His absence killed interest in the division, and now that he is back again he finds that the demand for his service is not as great as it was.

Herman wants to fight Buff, but he is not going to remain idle while waiting for the little Jerseyite to make up his mind to take a chance. Herman wants return battles with both Joe Lynch and Midget Smith.

Recently, Herman took on Babe Asher at New Orleans and scored a knockout in six rounds. Herman's performances set the Crescent City fans raving over his prowess. Now he is convinced that he is back in his old time form and he is anxious to wipe out the decision that Smith scored over him some months ago.

Herman is almost matched with Joe Lynch for a bout at New Orleans, but there seems to be a hitch somewhere. On the night of the Herman-Asher bout Lynch sent a telegram saying that he was on his way to New Orleans to sign articles. He evidently got sidetracked, as the New Orleans promoter heard nothing more from him.

Down in New Orleans Herman is an idol. Local pride in him is so strong that if he were matched there with Buff for the title the bout would break all records for that city. For that reason Herman's manager is willing to guarantee Buff more money than he can get for any match in this city if he will fight Herman in New Orleans.

Although Buff found things so unpleasant in England that he returned much sooner than he expected, he contends he performed in a few bouts in the New Orleans ring in a great favorite in England and the promoters have made him offers for two bouts so large that he has accepted, although he would rather remain here to meet Buff if the latter could be induced to meet him.

If Herman is scheduled to meet Joe Fox and it is likely that Criqui will be his opponent in the other contest. The Frenchman created a tremendous sensation when he knocked out Charley Ledoux in one round recently. Ledoux had met all the leading bantams of the world. He had been stopped by Kid Williams when the latter held the title, but no one ever handed him as Criqui did. Herman would give to concede considerable weight to the Frenchmen; but he thinks he could do it.

HUGE OFFER TO DEMPSEY

Would Receive $350,000 for Titular Match With Harry Wills.

New York, March 7.—Harry Frazee, owner of the Boston American League Baseball Club, announced late today that he had offered Jack Dempsey $350,000 to defend his world's heavyweight boxing championship against Harry Wills, negro heavyweight. Saturday, September 2, was mentioned as the date, the site to be selected later.

In addition to the Dempsey-Wills bout, Frazee said that he was ready to make suitable offers for the title bouts between Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion and Lew Tendler of Philadelphia, and between Johnny Buff, U. S. flyeight champion and Jimmy Wilde, premier English flyweight. No date were mentioned. Mr. Frazee said if these matches could be arranged they would be held as preliminaries to the Dempsey-Wills contest.

The sum offered Dempsey for the Wills match is $50,000 more than he received for his battle with Georges Carpentier at Jersey City last July. It is the largest individual purse ever offered to a boxer.

If Dempsey and Wills accept, Frazee said, the battle undoubtedly will be held in the East and out-of-doors, Boyle's Thirty Acres at Jersey City, where the Dempsey-Carpentier bout was held, and Fenway Park, Boston, the home of the Red Sox, were suggested as possible sites.

No offer has yet been made to Wills, Frazee explained, but added that if Dempsey's signature to a contract was obtained, Wills would be offered a sum large enough to induce him to sign for a bout which would give him a chance at the world's heavyweight title.

HER MIND CLEARS,

WOMAN REAPPEARS

Dayton, Ohio, March 7.—For twelve years Kingston has held unwittingly the secret of the disappearance of Mrs. Minnie Vanhorne from her home in Watertown, N.Y. While suffering from a nervous breakdown, Mrs. Vanhorne became possessed of the conviction that attempts were being made to have her confined to an institution.

In terror she left her husband and three young daughters and crossed to Kingston, and resided here in terrified solitude until her mind recently became clear. She immediately returned to her old home in Watertown, only to find her family removed to Dayton.

Arrangements have been made to send her there, and a glad reunion is in prospect.

WHITNEY BRANCH MAY BE OPENED

Ald. Patterson Visits Toronto as Good Roads Delegate for Belleville.

Alderman Patterson on his own initiative and expense attended the Ontario Good Roads Association Convention at Toronto last week and at the Council meeting Monday evening presented the following report, in reference to same:

"I attended the Ontario Good Roads Association Convention held in Toronto, March 1st, 2nd and 3rd, as your representative, and listened to a number of papers and interesting discussions on the object of good roads.

I was particularly struck by the absence of delegates from the cities and towns of Ontario. The gathering seemed to be made up of about 99 per cent. members of various county councils, and it occurred to me that if the cities do not take more interest in this subject, they need not be surprised if the rural communities of Ontario, go ahead with road building, and charge a considerable portion of same to the cities.

They had a banquet at the King Edward hotel on Thursday evening, at which the delegates were entertained to some interesting discourses by Premier Drury, Hon. Mr. Biggs, Mr. Wallington Hay and others.

Whitney Railroad Connection

As your representative, and along with Warden Kells and Mr. W. E. Wiggins, representing the County of Hastings, and Mr. Boss and Mr. Louis Allen, representing the Chamber of Commerce, we had an interview on Thursday afternoon with Mr. D. B. Hanna, President of the Canadian National Railways. We were very kindly received and went into considerable detail regarding extension of the G.T.R. line from Madoc through Eldorado, and thence on to Bancroft, Wallace and connecting with the Ottawa-Parry Sound line at Whitney. We tried to point out to Mr. Hanna that Belleville is the county town, and should have direct connection with this part of here. Mr. Wiggins particularly pointed out that it took two days to come from Toronto to Bancroft, and one must stay over night at Trenton. This he complained was exceedingly detrimental to the business development in pulpwood, paper, lumber, and minerals would take place if these goods could be shipped direct into Belleville.

We had over an hour's conference with Mr. Hanna and he has promised to go into the matter in detail, after them has been some opposition from the town of Trenton. The delegates, however, felt that the development of the county, and the convenience of the rural population of the County, were much more important than the little business that goes to Trenton, by reason of the present circuitous route.

Ald. Robinson stated that Mr. Patterson went to Toronto at his own expense in the interest of the city.

Ald. Patterson said that his interview with Mr. Hanna was of a satisfactory nature.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Ald. Patterson for his report.

WHITNEY TO RETAIN SOCIAL WORKER

Ald. Robinson's Motion to Allot Work to Salvation Army Defeated.

At the City Council meeting last night, Ald. Robinson moved, seconded by Ald. McCreery that the work being done by Miss M. Smith, as social worker be transferred to the Salvation Army for which the Army agrees to pay $100 per annum, said transfer to be made as soon as it is possible to do so.

Ald. Robinson spoke in support of the motion stating that if it was carried it would save the City $100 per annum. Miss Smith has also had an assistant which the city will have to pay for. The Ladies' W.C.A. have destined put the assistant on without the consent of the Council. Are they going to run the city and run it in debt? It is a disgrace to this community to have such a tax as we have today. We can well get rid of this expenditure.

Ald. Ostrom said he believed the W.C.A. was an efficient organization and congratulated the request made by the ladies to have the service of Miss Smith continued.

Mayor Hanna in answer to an enquiry from Ald. McCreary stated that Miss Smith was not a probation officer by law. She had some work done by a stenographer, but at the expense of the Ladies' W.C.A.

Ald. McCreary—Either abolish the office or retain it. Although he seconded the motion he would not support it.

Ald. Robinson spoke in support of the Salvation Army doing this work as the Army is the best fitted for the work. Why do not the Aldermen come forward and do something for the city. The women in the city are running the city in debt. Do not be carried away with the women. We are going headlong in this matter of expenditure.

Ald. Foster said he was partial to the motion as he had been first introduced, but he had since been convinced that it was not altogether in the right direction. Will accomplish more in the Council take over the duties of the W.C.A. and the Council.

Ald. Thompson—It is time we knew where the money was going in connection with the hospital and the W.C.A. work.

Ald. Ostrom—The W.C.A. should not be antagonized.

Before a vote being take the motion was lost.

Ald. Robinson asked for the yeas and nays which resulted as follows:

Yeas—Donoghue, Patterson, Robinson and Thompson—4.

Nays—Ostrom, Foster, Greenleaf, McCreary and Ostrom.—5.

HARDING PROHIBITS ARMS

Washington, March 7.—Shipments from the United States of arms or munitions of war to China, was prohibited by President Harding yesterday in an official proclamation.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

"Next afternoon I saw Mr. Wright and the president walking back and forth on the bridge as they talked together. A number of men stood in front of the blacksmith shop, by the fire, silently watching as I passed, on my way to the mill on an errand. They saw statement were in broadcloth and white linen and beaver hats. They stopped as I approached them.

"Well, partner, we shall be leaving in an hour or so," said Mr. Wright as he gave me his hand. "You may look for me here soon after the close of the session. Take care of yourself and, as often as you can, Mr. Wright and every captain and remember me to your aunt and uncle."

"See that you keep coming, my good boy," said the president as he gave me his hand, with playful reference, no doubt, to Mr. Wright's remark that I was a coming man.

"Mr. Post, come when! to be breakfast in the barn on the back lot," said the senator as I was leaving them. "You can do it Saturday, if you care to, at a shilling an hour. Brush the straw out of doors until you're finished, then put it back in the hay. Winnow the wheat carefully and pack it and bring it down to the granary and I'll settle with you when I return."

I remember that a number of men who worked in Grimshaw's sawmill were passing as he spoke.

"Yes, sir," I answered, much elated by the prospect of earning money.

The examination of Amos was set down for Monday and the people of the village were stirred and shaken by wildest rumors regarding the evidence to be adduced. Every day men and women stopped me in the street to ask what I knew of the murder, if I followed the advice of Bishop Perkins and kept my knowledge to myself.

Saturday came, and when the chores were done I went alone to the grain barn in the back lot of the senator's farm with my flail and measure and broom and fork and shovel and sacks and my luncheon, in a pasteboard box of which Mrs. Wright had provided me.

It was a lonely place with woods on three sides of the field and a road on the other. I kept the spring down beds of wheat on the barn floor and beating them out with the flail until the sun was well over the trees when I set down to eat my luncheon. Then I swept up the grain and winnowed out the chaff and filled one of my sacks. That done, I covered the floor again and the flailing and the flail eased my loneliness until in the middle of the afternoon two of my schoolmates came and asked me to go swimming with them. The river was not far from the barn and a good trail led to the swimming hole. It was a warm, bright day and I was fond of the water. The thought of cool waters and friendly companionship was too much for me. I went with them and stayed with them longer than I intended. I remember saying as I dressed that I should have to work late and go without my supper in order to finish my stint.

It was almost dark when I was putting the last sack of wheat into my cart, in the gloomy barn and getting ready to go.

A rustling in the straw where I had just stripped ran suddenly. I saw stealthy footsteps in the darkness. I stood my ground and demanded:

"Who's there?"

I saw a form approaching in the gloom with feet as noiseless as a cat. I took a step backward and, seeing that it was a woman, stopped.

"It's Kate," came in a hoarse whisper as I recognized her form and staff.

"Run, Harry; here's a bear out of the woods. I saw them. They will take you away. Run."

She had picked up the flail, and now she put it in my hands and gave me a push toward the door. I ran, and none too quickly, for I had not gone fifty feet from the barn in the stubble when I heard them coming after me, whoever they were. I saw nothing, but were gaining and turned quickly. I had Time to Raise My Flail and Bring It Down Upon the Head of the Leader.

had time to raise my flail and bring it down upon the head of the leader, who fell as I had sent a beef fall order de ex. Another man stopped beyond the reach of my flail and, after a second's hesitation, turned and ran away in the darkness.

SAYS SMALL IS HELD ON RANCH

Jas. W. Cowan Receives Interesting Letter From Windsor on Disappearance.

Toronto, March 7.—From a ranch in Windsor, Ont., who bears the name of a once famous French detective, Mr. James W. Cowan, manager of the Grand Opera House, yesterday received a lengthy letter in which the writer claims Ambrose, J. Small, missing theatrical magnate, is still alive, and that he is also a member of a family of some article owned by the missing man, were sent to Windsor, this man would put them in touch with a woman, who, he claims, is connected with "spirit guides." Information would be forthcoming in regard to Mr. Small's whereabouts.

The writer says: "Permit me to say that it is my belief, and frankly so, that the whereabouts of the missing man can be solved to Mr. Small's family and friends in due time, as I ventured to assure you that a little over a year ago, at the request of a friend in Toronto, Mr. Small; also I took the matter up with the guides of a spirit medium whom I have known for some time, and the greatest medium I have ever met among many scores during my investigations and experience during the past twenty years. I venture to assure you that the 'spirit guides' informed me that Mr. Small was then absolutely alive with his mind partly unbalanced, and under the custody of a friend, upon on a ranch in the Canadian west. Reports were given me from the time of his departure from Toronto on the 2nd until he arrived at the ranch in the west."

"This information was sent to Toronto with the request that some member of the Small family, or representative, go and bring with them some small article of any nature whatsoever that Mr. Small had in his possession, anything from a cuff button to a shoe or a cane and if found to be this I assured them that some astounding information and facts as regards the greatest of my mysteries. Apparently at the time the family and friends had become disgusted and held little hope of ever solving the matter.

ROTARY CLUB BOYS' NIGHT

club was fortunate in securing the services of Rotarian Charles E. Gordon, a member of the Boys' Work Committee of the Toronto club, who spoke on "Boys' Work."

Rotarian Gordon is a powerful speaker and his handling of the subject kept his auditors interested for more than half an hour and he was frequently congratulated on the work of the Belleville Club among the boys. He felt that the living evidence of Kenneth Clark before him was a sufficient example of the activities of the Rotary Club among the under privileged boys of the city.

The speaker advised the member to make freer use of their homes and offices in dealing with the boy. "The boy," he said, "Gordon is a hero worshipper". He advised all Rotarians to give the best that was in them for the sake of the boys about them, who unconsciously to himself were continually weighing in the balances to see if he might be their ideal of a life model.

Rotarian Gordon spoke of his work among the under privileged boys and girls in Toronto and emphasized the need for a better institution of the children. The usual vital questions asked by boys and girls should be answered in a clean wholesome way and Mr. Gordon, for it was the perversion of the ideas received when the children asked these questions that started many of them along the road to destruction.

Pres. Gordon Moffat spoke briefly and gave a world of advice to the youngsters. He advised them to be proud of the country of their birth for no country had the wealth of advantages that were enjoyed by Canadian children. He advised them to go to their mothers and fathers for advice. "Play fair with your parents", said Mr. Moffat in conclusion.

Rotarian Harry Ackerman, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee, gave a brief outline of the activities of his committee. Rotarian Rev. Taylor Dale, of Kingston, and Rev. Jos. Stewart, of the Kingston Club also spoke as did Pres. "Billy" House of the newly formed Trenton club.

The Kingston delegation consisted of—Pres. A. J. Stewart, Rotarians Thos. Mile, Earle Ashley, Rev. Taylor Dale, C. C. Nash, C. S. Arcille, Lou Best, Wray Van Luven, Jerry Robertson, Linton Guild, A. Coates, Howard Kellog, Dent Collins, Harry Braithwaite, Bert Boulthorpe and J. Hanly.

The office man and the outdoor worker suffer alike from derangements of the kidneys.

Backaches and headaches are among the symptoms. In some cases Bright's Disease, soon develops, others suffer from high blood pressure until hardening of the arteries sets in.

Relief is painful and fatal disease prompt action should be taken at the first sign of trouble.

Mr. A. D. MacKinnon, Kirkwood, Inverness county, N.S., writes:

"I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to all suffering from weak kidneys. I suffered from kidney disease for a long time. I may also say that for three years I was nearly always troubled with backache, and my stomach seemed to be out of order. After using temporary relief. After finally half of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I found after using a few boxes was completely relieved. I have also used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and find it a splendid tonic. GREAT DANE PINES FOR KITTEN FRIEND

Vancouver, March 7.—Since the death of his chum—an eight-months old kitten—a Great Dane dog has been inconsolable. The kitten was run over and killed here recently by an automobile. The two had been inseparable companions, playing together and walking the fairests together. Missing the companion, the dog took up the trail and was later found sniffing about the spot where the cat was killed. The dog still haunts the spot, visits at every opportunity—the spot where the tragedy occurred.

CONSERVATIVE PARTY TO BE THE OFFICIAL OPPOSITION

WINE, WOMEN AND SONG AT LEGISLATURE PARTY

New Faces Come Out on Farewell Party in the House — One Minister Resigns, but Premier Drury Refuses to Accept Resignation—House Committee May Investigate—Members Call for Housecleaning.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer and Canadian Press Limited

Toronto, March 8.—The Toronto Star says that "As a result of the farewell carousal held in Queens Park last spring the resignation of one of the U.F.O. Cabinet Ministers was placed in the hands of Premier Drury."

This action was taken when the Minister learned that his quarters had been used for the staging of the "Little Party" but his resignation has not accepted. Premier having satisfied himself that the honor of the Minister was not involved.

When Att. John Cowan brought forward a U.F.O. Executive resolution and moved in the Toronto City Council early yesterday morning to have Judge Coatsworth conduct an inquiry into the "last night party" of the 1921 Legislature, he touched a match to a bomb fuse. It simmered and sizzled all yesterday in the Parliament Buildings corridors, and, when the House opened in the afternoon, exploded with a bang, that probably be heard across the continent.

Hon. Thomas Crawford, Conservative member for Northwest Toronto, in tones of indignation, demanded a statement as to the truth of the reported Monday party, stating in discussed, agreed as to the gravity of a situation where the honor of the Province, and not of the whole Legislature, was at stake.

Premier Drury made tacit admission that the party had been held, but that the laws of decorum and of the statutes had been broken on that Monday evening. He declared that, in subsequent investigation he had assured himself that "the honor of no member of the Crown was involved in a way that would merit any severe censure."

Although Hon. Mr. Crawford was pleased to ascertain some voiced a demand for a cleaning of skirts in the House, after listening to the Premier's statement, let the matter drop without taking any definite action.

It is understood that, following publication of Att. General Cowan's notice of motion, the Drury Cabinet met to discuss the matter before the opening of the House. What the Cabinet decided could not be ascertained. The Premier, after the adjournment of the House, declined to discuss the subject further or to indicate whether the matter was now ended. In other quarters, however, it is assured that the Government does not propose to let the affair rest at its present stage.

In belief, rumors and allegations as to the "last-night" party at the

NO REDUCTION IN SALARIES

Services of Social Worker Will be Continued, Says Committee.

A meeting of the special committee of the City Council which had under consideration the matter of salaries paid to the city officials, was held yesterday afternoon and the work of the committee is about completed. Their report, will be ready for presentation at the next regular meeting of the Council. That there will be no reduction made in the salaries of any of the official decapitated, there is not the slightest doubt as the report will show.

It was decided that the services of the ladies of the Women's Christian Association at the office of the Social Welfare Commission will be retained. It was shown by the ladies that the office was necessary for the well being of the city, and it will be continued. Att. Robinson was opposed to the committee's findings.

It was decided that the services of the auxiliary members of the fire department were unnecessary, and a recommendation to this effect to the Council, recommending that they be dispensed with, also the services of Mr. Jack Reddick, as he does not reside far some time as engineer of the fire department. This will mean a saving of upwards of $1,800 a year.

As a result of the committee's work that Ald. Rollwood will press his motion in the matter at the next meeting.

ROSS MAY KEEP KINGSTON SEAT

Kingston, March 8.—There is a probability that the Kingston election petition of the Liberals will never come to trial. This is intimated by some leading Liberals here. It is said that difficulties have loomed up in regard to the securing of the necessary evidence, as parties involved decline to go into court. The counter-protest of the Conservatives has also had some effect and there is a strong possibility that in a few days an announcement may be made that the whole matter is in the hands of the Federal organization at Ottawa.

PREMIER RECOVERS

London, Ont., March 8.—Premier Lloyd George had sufficiently recovered from his indisposition to preside at a meeting of the Cabinet this morning.

STILL DANGER OF FLOOD

Lott's Dam Carried Away by Ice—Water Causes Some Inconvenience.

Old Man Probs did a good thing for the city last night, when, following the downpour of rain during the greater portion of the day, a cold snap came along, Treverly to a considerable extent, thus temporarily stopping the flow of water from various directions into the river.

The general impression yesterday was that this city would again be visited by a flood, and the predictions were well will ensue in the near future.

The heavy fall of rain yesterday was such that many of the drains and sewers about the city were unable to take care of the vast quantity of water pouring into them and in consequence overflowed to the inconvenience of a number of citizens. Trenton, also, water was experienced in a portion of West Belleville, south of Catherine street, on the Coleman flats, and in Bleecker Avenue. Two families on Bleecker avenue had the misfortune to lose some chickens by drowning, owing to the depth of water in the chicken coops.

At a few minutes after 11 o'clock Tuesday night, a considerable quantity of ice came down the Moira river from the vicinity of Lazier's dam and in its wild rush carried away the portion of what is known as Lott's dam from off the west shore. The ice broke up near the upper bridge and was held in obeyance on its onward rush when it reached a point opposite Cooper's print mill. From the latter point to the mouth of the river, the ice is at present the latest that is being seen away owing to the body of water that is flowing over it. Just above Lazier's dam at the Hamilton, there is a considerable jam of ice and should this come down before the lower part of the river has opened up, there would no doubt be trouble.

Yesterday Mayor Hanna, the City Engineer and his staff, were kept busy offering what relief was in their power to those who were inconvenienced by water about their premises.

SERIOUS FIRE.

Cheboygan, Mich., March 8.—The down-town section of this city is threatened with complete destruction by a fire which has swept two blocks and is still spreading. It was started at nine o'clock this morning.

VETERANS' COLUMN FOR THE INTELLIGENCER

The Intelligencer takes pleasure in announcing to the returned men of Belleville that a special department to be known as the "Ex-Thirgest Corner" will be inaugurated in next Friday's issue of The Intelligencer. Mr. H. TRAIN DERAILED FIVE INJURED

C. N. R. Train No. 54 Leaves Rails at Wellington This Afternoon.

The C.N.R. train No. 54 running between Toronto and Picton was derailed at Wellington at 3 o'clock this afternoon and some four or five people injured. The full extent of the injuried list is not yet known but the C.N.R. representative here states that Brakeman G. Jordan and Mail Clerk J. Jordan, were the most serious casualties.

The auxiliary has been despatched from the local shops and it is likely that the injured will be brought to the local General Hospital. The train was in charge of Conductor G. R. Robertson and Engineer J. Reynolds. Up to the hour of going to press there was the only report available. No one here could state the cause of the accident.

LATE NEWS FROM THE TELEGRAPH

The petitions came in several bundles and are said to contain upwards of 200,000 signatures.

PIKERS FILL MONTE CARLO; WILD PLUNGING ABSENT

Paris, March 7.—Never have pikers been so plentiful at Monte Carlo. The United States army of occupation is not that the season's play has amounted to only 41,000,000 francs, compared with 48,000,000 last year. The table this year are considerably larger than at any time since the war. The croupiers are taken back by this economy declaring that money is plentiful but that the individual playing lacks the wild plunging which has made Monte Carlo the world's greatest casino.

DOES THE P. S. CURRICULUM NEED A RADICAL CHANGE?

System at Present Too Complicated, Complain Local Teachers to Intelligencer Reporter — Vocational Instructor Needed for Slow Book Learners—Adapted to the School—Is There a Slackening of Discipline In the Home?

Is our Public school educational system too complicated? Are the pupils forced to remain in public school two years longer than the extension of the age limit, getting a course deal under the present system of classification? About 25 per cent. of the pupils who formerly passed the entrance left school to go directly to work. Should these students who pass now attend be given the same training as students studying for a professional?

In the opinion of many of the older school teachers who have given thought to the matter, it would be better to teach these boys a trade, that would be of far more benefit than the extra knowledge acquired by a couple of years spent in getting an education along professional lines when be practically without use. The question is—Is the curriculum of the schools to-day adapted to a vocational director who will aid the boys in getting started in the lines to which they are best adapted.

Quite frequently these are pupils who may be backward and slow in book-learning, but have considerable practical ability. Is it right to ask these pupils to spend extra couple of years grinding away at subjects that have little practical value, when if they had a chance to use their hands in a manual training class, or a sewing class, or in a shop, that would be of some use after leaving school? Such methods as carpentry for the boys, electricity for the boys and a more extended course of sewing and domestic science for the girls, would be a step forward as being feasible for the public school.

Compared with 15 to 20 years ago there is so much more to attract the pupils attention outside the school that it is becoming a problem to keep the student in the boys' mind. Why not adapt the movies to the classroom and the production and manufacture of foreign products? Take, for instance cotton. If the pupil could see the cotton fields in the south and transported on a river by rail to modern factories where it is manufactured, he would be impressed not only by hearing the lecture but by seeing the actual operations. Should not a part of this type to be a success in theatres owing to the fact that when a boy pays his money he wants to have something amusing, but in the school, it is the general belief that the motion picture would be considered only to teach certain subjects.

Are parents upholding the teacher in his efforts to discipline? Are they used to? Nearly every grown-up can remember his boyhood days when

HOUSE WILL OPEN TOMORROW

The Unofficial Opening, However, Will Take Place This Afternoon.

Ottawa, Ont., March 8.—The informal opening of Parliament, which takes place this afternoon at three o'clock, will not be a lengthy affair. It is merely a preliminary to the formal opening on Thursday, at the same hour. The Governor-General will not attend the opening to-day, but His Louis Davies, his deputy, will call the members of the House of Commons to the Senate Chamber and procure them to elect a Speaker. The members of the Commons will return to their own chamber where Mr. Lavergne will be chosen as Speaker and installed in that position.

On Thursday afternoon the Governor-General will drive to the Senate Chamber and deliver his speech from the Throne in the usual manner, after which Parliament will be officially open. After the Speech from the Throne, the members of the Commons will return to their own chamber, where, in all probability, adjournment will be made until next week.

Notice is given by the Minister of Militia of the introduction of "an act respecting the Department of Naval Defence." This will provide for the amalgamation of the militia, naval, air force and canadian police under the one Minister of Defence.

BOMB OUTRAGES IN BELFAST

Four Deaths Result When Military Fire Into Large Crowd.

Belfast, March 8.—Four deaths resulted yesterday from a continuation of the disorders which have been in progress since last week. Two boys were killed when the military fired into the crowd in Hanover street, a man was killed on Percy Hill, and another man died from wounds received in Stephen street. A number of persons were injured during the day.

There were no new bomb outrages last night. Another outrage occurred following the shooting of Sir Henry Wilson in Hanover street. Two soldiers were wounded by this explosion.

A Colonel Foster has English issued an order empowering the Crown forces to arrest any person suspected of acting in a manner prejudicial to the city's peace.

NEW IDEAS FOR FARMERS

Co-Operation is the Cure For Many Ills, Say Speakers.

Co-operative marketing was the theme discussed on Tuesday afternoon at the City Hall here by Hon. M. Doherty, Provincial Minister of Agriculture and Mr. A. Sayles of California. The latter has been brought to Ontario for the purpose of delivering addresses in various parts in reference to the movement, where it has been in force for some time in California and apparently with success.

Yesterday's meeting the attendance was somewhat militated against owing to the inclement weather, but upwards of 200 were present.

Mr. Mr Empey of Napanee, President of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, occupied the chair.

Mr. Atkins, District Representative of Hastings County, spoke briefly upon the subject, endorsing it.

Hon. M. Doherty

Hon. Manning Doherty, in his opening remarks, expressed his pleasure at being present at such a gathering. He, the speaker, did the development of this country was in the direction of sound co-operation. It was necessary to develop the system of co-operative marketing of our farm products. In other countries where this is carried on it was proved successful.

A survey of the agricultural countries show that those who are best organized for co-operative purposes had suffered less during the depression. That is the system for us to investigate. Our big corporations have adopted co-operative methods in regard to production and also selling their products. They pool their money to work out the best plan for the carrying on of their business interests. We should adopt the best methods for the selling of our products. The system of every man selling his own products is the right one. The marketing of our products should remain under the control of the producer. We must also see to it that the best products are produced. The man who produces a product is interested until that product is in the hands of the

PROGRESSIVE PARTY HOLDS CAUCUS TO-DAY

Refuse to Accept the Opposition ship and the Conservative Party Will be Known as the Official Opposition—Hon. T. A. Crerar Gives No Hint of the New Party's Attitude.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer

Ottawa, March 8.—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen will be the leader of the Opposition in the Commons. The Progressives to-day decided not to accept the official opposition.

Outside of the assembling of the members of the Commons' caucus for the election of a Speaker, all political interest centres in the first caucus of the Progressive party.

There are 64 Progressives in this House, and nearly every one of them will be present when the caucus opens at 10:30. Hon. T. A. Crerar, the Progressive Leader, arrived in Ottawa during the night, and this morning early yesterday morning he took possession of his Parliamentary suite on the fifth floor, immediately above that of the Premier. All day he held conferences with the men of his party.

Mr. Crerar was firm in his refusal to say anything about the results of to-day's caucus. He was just as reticent when asked whether the Progressive party would be the official Opposition. He simply stated that this latter problem was one for the caucus to settle, in his mind. Why not adapt the movies to the classroom and the production and manufacture of foreign products? Take, for instance cotton. If the pupil could see the cotton fields in the south and transported on a river by rail to modern factories where it is manufactured, he would be impressed not only by hearing the lecture but by seeing the actual operations. Should not a part of this type to be a success in theatres owing to the fact that when a boy pays his money he wants to have something amusing, but in the school, it is the general belief that the motion picture would be considered only to teach certain subjects.

Are parents upholding the teacher in his efforts to discipline? Are they used to? Nearly every grown-up can remember his boyhood days when

FORECASTS ON SPEECH FROM THRONE

Will Not be Read Until Thursday, but Text Given.

Ottawa, March 8.—The text of the Governor-General's speech which will open the first session of Canada's 14th Parliament will not be made known till Tuesday, but the probabilities are that it will indicate legislation on re-establishment, revision of the Bank Act; an immigration policy; amalgamation of the militia, navy, air force and Mounted Police under one control; Department of Defence; a possible indiction of policy in regard to the Government Railways and the Merchant Marine.

With the census figures now generally available, it is also possible that the session will see a Redistribution Bill. As Parliament, however, is scheduled to meet again in the fall, revision of the Bank Act and Redistribution may be left over.

NAVY LEAGUE NEEDS HELP

Subscription List to be Opened Here for Aid to Sailors' Fund.

A number of Belleville citizens have taken an active and helpful interest in the work of the Navy League of Canada which is doing such a splendid work among sailors and their depend ents.

Recently Capt. Bamford of the Navy League, visited Belleville and called upon the well wishers of the League. During the winter there has been a heavy demand upon the funds of the League, on account of the distress consequent upon the unemployment situation, and there is urgent need for financial aid to carry on the work.

It is the intention of the Navy League to open a subscription list in Belleville and it is hoped that all citizens having in mind the season of the year will contribute to their full capacity as it is a project which deserves the fullest support.

RETURNED MEN PROBLEM.

Fernie, B.C., March 8.—Following a meeting of Natal in the interests of Hon. J. H. King, last night, Hon. James Murdock said that within a few weeks the government would announce that it was undertaking a thorough investigation as to whether the country should not do more for the returned men.

SAFETY FIRST THOUGHT

"School safety lessons should prevent many accidents to children."

Strength

Strength of muscle does not indicate strength of nerves. On this account many people who look healthy enough suffer from nervous troubles and cannot understand what is ailing them. Sleeplessness and irritability are among the early symptoms. Indigestion and tired feelings soon follow.

Read this letter from an Ontario man:

Mr. W. L. Gregory, Chatsworth, Ont., writes:

"I had been troubled for quite a while with indigestion. At times there would be a sharp pain in the nerves of my stomach; and I also found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I was so nervous, and owing to the nature of my work my nerves became run-down. I took a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found great benefit from the medicine. They did me a great deal of good. I have not bothered at all with indigestion since, and can sleep much better. I have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to many of my friends, as I find it splendid for any one run-down and needing a tonic."

Consumer. Co-operation will mean much to the farmers of this country. It must, however, rest on a sure foundation. Move along the right line so that any organization that may be formed may be a success. Dairying was a good industry in Canada to-day but it should be a greater industry, in fact twice as large as it is at present. We must pay attention to efficient production, also efficient marketing. There was no reason why we should not compete with any other country in the world. A good Providence has given us a good country, especially the Province of Ontario. He was anxiously interested in the dairying interest. Last fall we showed the world that we could successfully compete with all countries in the manufacture of cheese. We will in other countries success, but we desire all the success we can get in our cheese industry.

The world's market for cheese is Great Britain, and we must do all we can to make us secure in that market. Denmark is going ahead of us in the bacon industry in the old country, getting a higher price for their bacon than Canadian bacon is selling for. We can produce just as good hogs as they can in Denmark but our bacon is not of a uniform character. There is no other way of marketing butter and cheese than by a co-operative organization. This will mean a uniform price for our product. Let us direct our home market, organize for self protection. He hoped every branch of our agricultural interest would be thoroughly organized.

Co-operation Necessary

Mr. A. Sapiro in his opening remarks said the dairymen of Ontario were well advanced as far as organization but not as well organized as the fruit growers in the Province of Ontario. Denmark, years ago, solved the dairy problem for that country. He was pleased to see all the co-operative system in California from its inception to the present time. After some years the fruit growers in California found out what co-operative marketing meant to that state. Each product had its type of problem and this is worked out. To-day 80,000 farmers in California are in the co-operative market Association. They did this because they saw the State was going behind. The wise man is the man who looks ahead and learns by experience. What does co-operative marketing, acting mean? It means the distinct duty of getting the goods where they is may be on the market in the best condition and to get the best price possible. Co-operative marketing means setting up a system of intelligent marketing of products and destroying the dumping system. Co-operative marketing means she merchandising o products in the place of dumping. Goods must be at the highest order in order to reach the consumer in the best of condition. We must eliminate waste in everything. In order to get good butter and cheese you must have the best of animals. Standard ize your products. In California we insists that it is the best thing that is sent out to the consumer. Make sure your products are right. The speaker impressed upon his hearers the necessity there was to put up products in a manner that they will be attractive. In California 30 million dozen of eggs are sold. In California oranges are shipped daily by the pound, whereas a few years ago it was thought that oranges could only be sold three months in the year. In the matter of dry stomach; and I also found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I was so nervous, and owing to the nature of my work my nerves became run-down. I took a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found great benefit from the medicine. They did me a great deal of good. I have not bothered at all with indigestion since, and can sleep much better. I have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to many of my friends, as I find it splendid for any one run-down and needing a tonic."

The Haunted Homestead and Mary Ellen—The house and barn of Alexander McDonald in which ghosts are said to have started mysterious fires and in which Mary Ellen, a ghost, braided the mane and tail of old Dobbin, the farm horse, are shown in the picture. Below is "Mary Ellen," the girl who "never left the village" of Caledonia Mills, Nova Scotia, where the fire-breathing spooks are playing their pranks. Mary Ellen is the farmer's adopted daughter, age just fifteen. It now transpires she has a beau. The young lovers will be quizzed by Dr. Franklin Prince, who is also on the way to Antigonish county to break bread with the ghosts. Alex. McDonald, the farmer, and Detective Carroll, who was slapped on the arm by the spooks, are seen on the right.

co-operative system is this: that we are organized as to commodity and not by locality. Co-ordinate and the world will be at our feet. In California we have no unincorporated associations, but co-operation means a bona-fide grower. Let no lawyers or business men get into the association only bona-fide producers. Quality and grade is essential in a co-operative association. Do not start until you are able to come out as a big organization. Start big and right. The next problem is to get the proper manager. Have no amateur, but a grower, and a good man. Get an expert in the business who knows the game. Get an expert to do expert work.

Co-operation amongst farmers has proved profitable. Win the market by proper grading of products, organize on business and sane lines. Fine cheese is made in this district but does the producer get out of the product what he should get. No. The speculator get the share the producer should get. Merchandise your own product, and the benefit will be for the producer. The farmers of California learned the lesson of co-operative marketing and for this reason they are to-day a prosperous and happy people. It has made a new condition for the California farmer. Start this system and show how you are able to take care of your products and reap the rewards that is yours.

After one informal discussion, the meeting adjourned, but not before a vote of thanks had been tendered to the speakers. A committee was appointed to select representative farmers of this district to meet other Dairymen of other districts in reference to discussing the advisability of forming a co-operative movement in Ontario.

NURSE THINKS NOTHING BETTER

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Advised for all Women in Poor Health

Toronto, Ontario.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and it is the only patent medicine I ever recommend. I am a nurse and if I find a woman is in poor health I always tell her to take it. Although you know that doctors and nurses do not use patent medicines I must say that I think there is nothing better than your Vegetable Compound. When I first took it many years ago, I was so tired when I got up in the morning that I could not eat, and when I went to bed I was too tired to sleep. My mother-in-law told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was just what I wanted so I took it and it soon built me up when I felt better. Since then I have found that there is nothing that makes me feel so well, for it seems to build my system right up. I don't know of any other medicine that has done so much for women."—Mrs. M. Pazzer, 1, Wellesley Ave, Toronto, Ontario.

Women testify again and again that they have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound "after other medicines have failed." It has helped thousands in the past years and not found wanting.

If you are suffering from any of the various ailments which accompany female weakness try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

TO BE RELEASED FROM PRISON

Writs of Habeas Corpus Issued in Case of Incarcerated Foreigners

This morning the Writs of Habeas Corpus obtained by Mr. Mikel in the case of Stanley George and Chris Marandi, were served on Thomas Ketcheson, Governor of the Belleville gaol.

The application arose out of the conviction of Stanley George and Chriss Marandi of the offence of assisting in distilling without a license, contrary to the Inland Revenue Act, when each was fined $200 and costs, or six months in default. It is contended on behalf of the prisoners that there was no evidence of assisting and also that the offence was not triable before the Magistrate.

The writ of Habeas Corpus is a very unusual writ, and when Mr. Mikel was seen to-day he said that the old Common Law Writ of Habeas Corpus was originally the prerogative writ of the King and arose in England when the country was covered with private prisons in which the powerful feudal barons imprisoned those who incurred their displeasure, and enabled the King to have the body of the person so imprisoned brought before the King's Court to determine whether he was improperly imprisoned. Later the writ became the right of the object and in the reign of Charles II. it was provided that Habeas Corpus Act was passed which related only to persons imprisoned for crimes. Now all such imprisonments were dealt with under the older law. Both the old Common Law and the law under Charles II. became part of the law of Canada when Canada became an English colony. The same writ is in force in the United States.

JUDGE DISMISSES JURY IN MURDER CASE

Juryman Being Alone With an Outsider Leads to Dismissal.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer

Brockville, March 8.—Justice Logie, at the resumption of the trial of Dan and Mary McMillan this morning, dismissed the jury and ordered a new trial at the next assizes. One of the jurymen had been alone with an outsider for a few minutes and when this was made known to the judge he dismissed the jury.

Dan McMillan and his wife, Mary, were yesterday afternoon placed on trial at the assizes here, charged with the murder of Jamieson Richardson, former husband of the female prisoner, who died under suspicious circumstances on September 8.

The prisoners were very pale as they took their seats side by side in the prisoners' dock, but otherwise showed little effect of their long confinement in jail. The female prisoner smiled brightly to her solicitor, Mr. G. H. Tucker. During the balance of the afternoon they showed the keenest interest but no failing.

REX STOCK COMPANY AT GRIFFIN'S TONIGHT

The Rex Stock Company are appearing at Griffin's tonight in a humorous and entertaining comedy, entitled "The Liars."

Two large and delighted audiences have witnessed the presentation of this comedy at Griffin's on Monday and Tuesday nights, which is produced in a finished manner which has served to make the Rex players so popular with local theatregoers.

The introduction of new specialties by the Park Kiddies and Seymour and Williams between acts, and special scenery serves to make the performance more entertaining.

IL TROVATORE IN ENGLISH SCORES A BIG HIT

Reports from every city where the all star cast of the Boston English Opera Company has appeared have told the same story, "packed houses," "a wonderful company," "nothing better heard in years," etc.

The company after playing fifteen weeks in Boston is on its way to Montreal where it opens a ten weeks' engagement March 13th, and is making a short tour before opening in the Canadian metropolis.

The principals comprising the cast are the artists which made the biggest hit in this opera during the Boston engagement and the same cast appears in every performance making it the first real all star cast to make a tour in opera.

Il Trovatore as everyone knows is the world's most popular opera. It's famous "Anvil Chorus" and "Miserere" are known the world over and when well done never seem to grow old.

Another thing of interest is that popular prices will prevail, from 50c to $1.50, will be the scale, and it is safe to say that anyone of the principal artists is alone worth the price of admission to say nothing of the entire cast, together with the famous chorus which took Boston by storm.

"SENTIMENTAL TOMMY"

Another famous work by Sir James M. Barrie, noted for its delicate humor and morality, has been picturized by Paramount, this is "Sentimental Tommy," cherished by many as the most outstanding book of their childhood. It will be shown at Griffin's next Friday and Saturday.

Those who were interested in Paramount's version of "The Admirable Crichton," fame under the title of "Male and Female," will welcome another Barrie picture. "What Every Woman Knows," portrayed by Monte Adams on the stage, was also made by Paramount.

"Sentimental Tommy" is an example of the bigger and better possibilities of the screen. Beginning with Tommy as a boy, it takes him through many entrancing episodes until he reaches maturity. Gareth Hughes plays Tommy and Mary Mackay is seen as Grisel. Mabel Taliferro and George Fawcett have big roles.

Larry Semon in a two-reel comedy, a new chapter of "Winners of the West" serial, and Pathe News will be exhibited in addition to the above offering.

Mrs. G. H. Bell and Dorothy of Winnipeg, are here owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Joshua Lang, mother of Mrs. Bell.

Springs of Business Activity

The Rt. Hon. Hamilton Fairley (New York) speaking at a recent meeting of the Canadian Club, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., identified Springs of Business Activity from which prosperity has been evolved.

"What should be the relation of the state to the individual in our modern civilization? Many politicians and statesmen have declared that state and individual is an ideal product of man as a philosopher, but as a business man, an interest in life immediately present.

Springs of Business Nature

"The world as we know it is a continual war, not so much a war between nation and nation as a war of man against nature. As the world is getting to be more populous, and its resources must be clothed and fed indefinitely, the nations into which mankind has grouped itself may weaken each other in the desire to contend for their own needs more or more sources of agriculture, and of production, but the dynamic spirit underlying human activities is the desire to provide for the present and for the future.

The Pioneer Spirit

"In this new land of Canada, however, the struggle of man against nature has not been so acute as in the old world, where forces sufficient for food, clothing and comfortable existence is consumed by so many as their undisputed birthright. We, as a race, have been pioneers and the sons of pioneers, who have homesteaded, cleared their own farms, prospected far and discovered mineral deposits, hewn out the wilderness and been the wilderness themselves if you will. We have not been scared readily than the philosophers of the more ancient days, but in our search we owe to individual energy in the way of natural assets. The development of North America has been civilized and developed by the efforts of man by the enterprise of sturdy individuals and by state effort.

The Personal Element in Business

"While the struggle of nature is disguised under the polite forms of settled and organized communities, it is still to-day, as it was in the beginning, the struggle of man against nature. The history of Canada and the United States is full of illustrations to meet who had, thrust on commanding positions in the world of affairs by the force of personal merit. Lord Strathcona, Lord Mount Stephen, Carnegie and Edison are typical of the spirit of individualism which has made the civilization of our continent what it is. In the fields of business life we owe much to the individualism which is dead yet, who, with a fair field and no favoured by traditions, have made their way to the front in new countries in the face of many obvious opportunities denied him in older nations.

"If the largest company or in the most complex organization, the driving power of the individual is the keynote of progress.

Dangers of Individualism

"But, however great a danger to the human race is unrestricted individualism? Every one, of course, will be met only a selfish policy; it may benefit society by the community. Man can be social animal but a duty, an ably to his fellows and to his neighbors. The business man or business company is a complete failure morally or state has a similar duty to the public. The very life of a business company is ultimately for the prosperity and benefit of the whole community, and while that work is most successfully pursued when it is in the spirit of the individual, it fails of its purpose if it is carried on solely to the detriment of the community at race and a whole.

State Socialism as a Remedy for Some Ills of Business

How easily an illness is due to selfish excess? How the force of evil can be used to some powerful ends to be its abuse of privileges and the neglect of the interests and opinion of the community as a whole is served by the spirit of service—service to the community, and service to the public. It will be conducted all the better, if it is virile and progressive, full of initiative and new ideas, free from red tape, official rule, cast-iron precedents and regulations, but it ought always to be conducted in the spirit of good citizenship.

The tendency toward state socialism and control, which is now happily passing away was the attempt to remedy the evils of certain individualism, both in the Old World and the New, during the first stages of industrial growth. The socialist movement was the "Back to Nature" or "Back to the Garden" movement, a return to extreme simplicity, to hardship to large measure of the people, and so in a measure to benefit in the body politic.

Can A Government Undertaking Be a Business Success?

The line of state enterprise lies in the making of profits under competitive conditions. That test can be applied to government operations. A government railway should be run to make a profit from the conduct of any of its enterprises.

A private enterprise, even when operating a public utility, like a railroad, has the stimulus of profit; it must be in a financially healthy state, profits fall and losses occur through mismanagement, and management must tear its own burdens. It is constantly watching business methods that no undertaking run by government can be a success. Apart from the fact that it is not the duty of any of its enterprises, and the business can be carried on for the benefit of the people, and not from operations generally overtaxation, and the burden of profits is hard for a business man to conceive that any business can be carried without being reminded that the profits are limited, but it is made a living by taking in one another's washing.

Government Interference Should Be Limited

The business man must always pay the taxes that are levied upon him for fellow taxpayers who bear the burden of expenditure in the form of government industry. If the assumption of government industry is carried on extensively, as some enthusiasts desire, the time would come when all the profits of the nation's industries national industry, and the inefficiency of government agencies in practical business affairs leads to the belief that so many steps had been taken to-day by governments, or by governments, it might not be possible to retrace our steps.

Neither hope nor fear was justified by the outcome. Both alike forgot that those were emergency measures, to be left behind when the needs from which they arose were met. Both alike overlooked the fact that this government action, however intended to increase economic efficiency, gave that efficiency to every industry and concentrated on the single purpose of winning the war, regardless of all other considerations. They failed to perceive that when normal peace conditions would no longer be impressed by the mere fact that the government was behind it, that the state would begin to inquire, how well it was conducting business.

War Measures Treated by Business Standards

The fact is that these war measures were treated by business standards, business standards and ought not to be judged by no measured. Into these standards the element of cost always came as a vital factor. Even the threes of war we did not always have time to think of the question of importance was the result attained, but the minimum expenditure might have had was due to the spirit in which they were received by the people, who showed every other demand than national safety, and accepted any income or wage to trade or industry as a patriotic duty.

The Industry Inward Attitude

As soon as peace came, contempt of criticism began to be heard. Contempt of criticism is dangerous. Criticism to be justified and groundless, illustration no longer appeared in a rosy light. The net result was that the spirit of the government was tried and found wanting. We had a practical demonstration of government operation on a large scale, and the conviction of the measures became widespread. There has been a complete reaction in public opinion as to the merits of government action in business affairs.

Service the Keynote of Success

The moral of all these considerations is that SERVICE should be the standing policy of the individual if we keep in mind that we are, each and all, servants of the public, because we can get wrongs. Our object in life is supply the needs and conditions to the well-being of the people, our duty is to do it efficiently, honestly, in full of initiative, as inventive in ideas and methods as possible, and this initiative is best fostered if we can count on a reasonable reward, but if we keep SERVICE as our watchword, our individuality will always be guided in the right direction. There is a spirit with us to-day more than anything else to success, but the success will only come to the man who is also of the public welfare, and it will obviate all likelihood of the friction between the two types and money is attempting to run your government.

If I may be permitted to give an illustration from the history of the company which I have the honor to represent. I quote from the statement my argument from the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It will, I say holds the unique record of being the only railway enterprise in the world that escaped the fate of being taken over by the government even temporarily as a result of the Great War. It is my belief is that its immunity was due to the impregnable position it built up in the confidence of the people of Canada through its record of service since its conception as a transcontinental railway. One of my friends said at the time, "Those criticized posters with which Van Horne plastered the country in the early days read:

"Fortune Politeness on the C. P. R."

This was merely a vivid expression of the caution with which the men who established the company that spent millions and considerable hardship in Canada, and considered they were building up their country, and were the very best of their benefits. The result was that when the question of the nationalization of the railway, able to weather severe financial storms, but they also established a popular railway in which the people of Canada have confidence. Its profits have never been excessive, and its prosperity is generally taken as reflecting the general prosperity of the Canadian people as a whole.

Protective Activity Best Stimulated by Private Enterprise

One of the principal lessons of the Great War was the tremendous power of production. We had listened so often to the theories of the socialist reformers that the chief evil of our industrial system was the inequality in the distribution of property and profits itself. The indictment is not to be true. We were more concerned with the principle of distribution than the amount to be divided. But the war showed us that in spite of all its mechanisms which had been built upon for supplying human needs itself, the Canadian plant, which is the largest of its kind in the British Empire, is carrying forward without delay its plans for production of gratuities and records on the largest scale."

COURT THROWS OUT SUIT FOR COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE RECEIVER

Action Peremptorily Dismissed —Powerful Banking Committee Readjusts Affairs of Big Graphophone Company

New York, March 5.—Receivership proceedings against the Columbia Graphophone Manufacturing Co., and all subsidiaries in the United States District Court at Wilmington, Delaware, entered an order denying the application made by certain stockholders for the appointment of a receiver.

In thus peremptorily dismissing this action, which was at the instance of only three stockholders—not of consequence—the court swept away the only opposition which has developed to the extensive plans recently made for the rehabilitation of the company's finances on a sound and favorable basis.

The readjustment plans, which are under the control of a powerful committee of bankers, are being worked out in the full confidence that they were conceived, and the financial world hails with satisfaction the outcome, which is regarded as assuring the continuation of the Columbia's vast business without interruption.

"The order of the Court in Wilmington," said Mr. A. E. Landon, Canadian Manager of the Columbia Graphophone Co., "is the very best news New York for a few days, "should give a complete and final answer to the misleading reports which have been spread about in recent weeks by certain interests hostile to the Columbia Company. The Canadian Company is naturally gratified over the success of the general plan. Certain reports that the Canadian factory is not operating are entirely false. Not only is this factory in operation, but in such unusually active operation that it is not improbable that we will be shipping gramophones to the United States market itself. The Canadian plant, which is the largest of its kind in the British Empire, is carrying forward without delay its plans for production of gramophones and records on the largest scale."

BRITAIN SAVED LARGE AMOUNT

London, March 5.—Austen Chamberlain, the Government leader, today told the House of Commons that the cost of the British delegation to the Washington conference was not excessive, but exceed $250,000. He said the abandonment of the construction of four capital ships would mean saving in 1922 of approximately $15,000,000., and that ultimately a saving of $150,000,000 would result from the Washington conference. Total savings on estimates for 1923 and 1923 probably would exceed $10,000,000, he added.

SMELT CATCH PROFITABLE FOR FISHERMEN

Fredericton, N. B., March 5—Fisher men of five counties including what is known as the North Shore of New Brunswick cleared up more than a million dollars on the smelt fishing season which is now closing.

Gloucester, Restigouche, Northumberland, Kent and Westmorland counties have all benefitted from the season's success, but Northumberland County with the Miramichi River as the banner fishing ground, made the biggest clean-up, estimates giving Northumberland, $900,000 of the one million which the smelt season produced.

Smelt were unusually plentiful all along the northern and eastern coasts of New Brunswick this year, and because of the unusually favorable weather, special permission was obtained where by the smelt season opened earlier and closed later than provided by law. The output was marketed both in Upper Canada and in United States, and in local city and fishermen are said to have averaged about seven cents per pound for their catch. Two men are known to have sold a night's catch for $300.

PRAIRIE FARMERS PLANTING TREES

At many of the gatherings of farmers in the Prairie Provinces during the winter of 1921-22, the subject of soil-drifting was discussed and the remedy most often proposed was that of planting windbreaks of trees across the path of the prevailing wind. About sixty million little trees have been sent out from the Dominion Forest Nursery Station at Indian Head since it was established in 1901, and in spite of inevitable losses due to mistakes, accidents and bad seasons a very large percentage are growing vigorously. Shipments for the season of 1923 will, it is expected, total five million and may run considerably higher. In addition to preventing soil-drifting, belts of trees shelter the farmhouse and farm buildings and permit the establishment of gardens, where tree and bush fruits and tender vegetables can be grown.

IMPORTANT MEDICAL DISCOVERIES IN PARIS

Solutions Found to Cure Erysipelas and Relieve Certain Tubercular Cases.

Paris, March 7.—Two important medical discoveries were announced to-day by the Academy of Medicine. One of them is a cure of erysipelas. Doctors Goubeau and Reiffer-reporting that a solution of tetrachlorate of sodium carbon placed on the sore causes an immediate halt to extension and infection. Early applications reduce the fever, the doctors declare, and continued use cures the disease.

Positive relief is promised to tubercular cases suffering from asthmatic crises. Dr. Bonveyron asserts that the respiratory passages can be cleared by the injection of a tubercular toxin in small doses spread over several weeks, the treatment rendering the patient immune from the usual breathing difficulties.

As soon, as peace came, murmurs of criticism began to be heard. Commercial standards of criticism began to be applied and government administration no longer approved in a very light. The net result was that the scale on an economic scale was tried and found wanting. We have had a practical demonstration of government operation on a large scale and the conviction of its weakness becomes widespread. There has been a complete reaction in public opinion as to the merits of government action in business affairs.

Service the Keynote of Sound Business

The moral of all these considerations is that SERVICE should be the cardinal policy of good business. If we keep in mind that we are, above all, servants of the public we cannot go far wrong. Our object is to supply the needs and contribute to the well-being of the people, our clients. We may be as progressive as full of initiative, as inventive in our methods and methods as possible, and this initiative is best fostered if we are not cast in a rigid mould, but if we keep SERVICE as our watchword, our individuality will always be guided in the right direction. Such a spirit will convince more than anything else to measure but the success will not be achieved at the cost of the public welfare, and it will obviate all likelihood of the existing ills, the danger of using money in attempting to run your business for you.

If I may be permitted to give an illustration from the history of the company which I have the honor to represent, I should like to make my argument from the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway. That railway holds the unique record of being the only large railway enterprise in the world that escaped the fate of being taken over by its government, or going bankrupt as a result of the Great War. My friends will be that its immunity was due to the impregnable position it held in the confidence of the people of Canada through its record of service since its consummation as a transcontinental railway. One of the startling and in the time most criticized posters with which Van Horne blackened the country in the early days read:

"Partisan Politicans on the C. P. R."

This was merely a vivid expression of the cardinal policy of men who established the company that courage and consideration for the people of Canada were to be the watchwords of all private enterprise. Those men were all imbued with an intense patriotism and belief in Canada, and considered that in building up their railway they were building up their country. SERVICE was the very breath of their nostrils. The result was that they established not only a monopoly for railway, able to weather severe financial storms, but they also established a popular railway in which the people of Canada had had their profits have never been excessive, and its prosperity is generally the best index of the general prosperity of the Canadian people as a whole.

Productive Activity Best Stimulated By Individual Initiative

One of the principal lessons we the Great War was the importance of production. We had listened so long to the complaints of would-be reformers that the chief evil of our social order was the inequality in the distribution of property and income, that we hardly stopped to see the truth. We were more concerned with the principle of division than of the amount to be divided. When the war showed us that, in spite of the defects, the mechanism which had been built upon her supplying human wants, we were not so much concerned from a hand-to-mouth existence. When we had to draw upon our resources we found them to be largely imaginary. This experience will not soon be forgotten and the gospel of hard work must be put into practice if human poverty is to continue.

Production and yet more production is the necessity of our age. For increased production the world has not yet found any better incentive than the hope of individual profit. As an actual producer the state machine is notoriously inefficient. Where production is socialized by those who at the same time are inspired by ideals of service, we have the healthy competition under which business may be governed, and the nearest approach to an ideal world that the business man can imagine.

COURT THROWS OUT SUIT FOR COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE RECEIVER

Action Peremptorily Dismissed —Powerful Banking Committee Readjusts Affairs of Big Graphophone Company.

New York, March 8.—Receivership proceedings against the Columbia Graphophone Manufacturing Co., sold at auction under the United States District Court at Wilmington, Delaware, entered an order denying the application made by certain stockholders for the appointment of a receiver.

In thus peremptorily dismissing this action, which was at the instance of only three lockholders—not directors—the Court order clears away the only opposition which has developed to the extensive plans recently made to readjust the Company's finances on a sound and favorable basis.

The readjustment plans, which are under the control of a powerful committee of bankers, are being worked out in the full satisfaction of everyone concerned, and the financial world hails with satisfaction the outcome, which is regarded as assuring the continuation of the Columbia's vast business without interruption.

London, March 8.—Austen Chamberlain, the Government leader, today told the House of Commons that the cost of the British delegation to the Washington conference was not expected to exceed £250,000. He said the abandonment of the construction of four capital ships would mean a saving in 1922 of approximately £15,000,000, and that ultimately a saving of $150,000,000 would result from the Washington conference. Total savings on estimates for 1922 and 1923 probably would exceed £10,000,000, he added.

MONTREAL FIRES.

The city of Montreal occupies an unenviable position as one of the cities of the Dominion with the highest fire loss. Since the beginning of the new year the news despatches have hardly missed a week without recording some fire of some magnitude in Montreal. In many cases there has been a loss of life and in every case a huge monetary loss has been recorded.

Our sympathy is however directed towards Montreal for this latest catastrophe in the loss of their City Hall.

A City Hall is in its way, a civic shrine, and the destruction of Montreal's municipal building brings grief to the hearts of all who took pride in its architectural beauty. It possessed some reminiscent of the Hotel de Ville of Paris, and held associations of high half a century.

The rapidity with which the edifice was consumed recalls the destruction of the Houses of Parliament at Ottawa five or six years ago. They were supposed to be fireproof, but as it turned out they were nothing of the kind. The Montreal City Hall was not designed or constructed as a fortress against fire and no wonder is that a building so combustible in character should have passed unscathed through all vicissitudes for a period of forty-four years. As a precaution, some few years ago, fireproof chambers were constructed in the basement and the city archives lodged therein.

Later reports show that this fire-proofing was indeed well looked after as many of the archives have since been recovered from the ruins of the building.

RUM RUNNING METHODS.

Recently there was published in a Canadian paper a description of the means by which liquor running is carried on around the Niagara frontier. He tells of the despatching of motor-launches containing on the average 40 cases of liquor on their trip to the other side. Every one of these cases of liquor must have been released under the eye of some Canadian customs officer whose duty it was to release it from bond.

The writer says in part:

"All were large rowboats. Two were loaded at both ends, their cargoes covered with tarpaulins, a legal preventive against search on the water by American officers without definite warrants to do so. They had all dropped down the river to fill in the time between sundown and darkness when the dash is made. Only two oarsmen rowed steadily in each of the weighted boats. In each of the others there were three. At ten minutes past seven the two laden boats turned their bows for the American shore and were soon imperceptible in the dark. Streaks of flame from the hundreds of lights on the American shore were reflected in the wide stretch of the river, but the boats were soon indistinct. Passengers on the little "dummy" pulling across from the Canadian side, must have caught glimpses of them, so close were they to the bridge.

"Those whiskey smugglers are destroying Canada's good name, as well as providing liquor for the operations of the rumrunners who are debauching the American people. Were there reasonable co-operation between the law enforcement officers of Canada and the United States no cargo of liquor could be released for "export" on the Ontario side of the border without having to run the gauntlet of well-informed preventive officers on the United States side of the Niagara and Detroit rivers. It is against the law of Ontario to move liquor by rail, road or river, except from one legal place to another. There is no doubt at all that if export facilities were refused to persons whose consignments of wet goods are conveniently near the international boundary, and if they were required to "export" from warehouses situated at interior points, there would be a speedy end of the disgraceful traffic.

"The conjunction of export facilities provided by the Customs Department, with dunk, a convenient river boundary, and a complacent preventive service on the American side, enables the men who organize smuggling rings to make great profits with the minimum of risk. Does the failure of the United States to prevent liquor from coming in lessen our moral obligation to see that it does not go out, and that Ontario shall not become notorious as a permanent refuge and base of supplies for rum-runners and bootleggers?

The Poets' Corner

O, RESTLESS SEA

O, restless sea! murmuring sea,
Ageless your beauty, your wrath, your glee,
Sometimes you roar with demonic power,
Vast waves throw up in a foam-crested shower,
Then you ripple and rock caressingly,
With glint of sunshine on wave, beautiful sea,
You sing a pean of joy and dance so free,
In tale why you murmur so ceaselessly
Do you whisper of secrets you know so well?
Are these the tales you would like to tell?
Of great sea fights and of pirates bold,
Who in some secret place have hoarded their gold?
Of the tropic isles whose feet you kiss,
Or the mariner who founds in you a grave?
And of mighty sea fleets and the battles they fought,
The sunken treasures you count as nought?
O, restless sea, murmuring sea!
Is this why you murmur so ceaselessly?
Of the barges for pleasure so your bosom set sail,
And you guided them safely through storm and gale?
Of ships has been taken the golden grain
To starving thousands over the main?
About the adventurous ones going out to explore?
You have borne them safely from shore to shore,
Through waves mountains high that you piled and swept,
And you hear the shrill cry of the albatross,
Or the calm still waters under tropic sky,
Where the dangerous and beautiful coral reefs lie,
O, restless sea, wonderful sea,
Is this why you murmur so ceaselessly?

A Laugh or Two

Their Strong Points

Youth is always an extremist. Some naval officers were discussing in their mess the great battleship question.

The more sober middle-aged men were inclined to think that the value of the battleship had been impaired by the vogue of the submarine.

"What is the value of the battleship today?" asked one grey-haired senior officer.

"No value at all," boldly asserted the youngest member of the mess.

But even that impulsive youth thought that he had gone too far, for he added.

"Of course, she's got a very nice deck for dancing."

His Last Meal

"George," said the young bride, "I'm going to make some rock cakes for tea this evening. But you must promise me you won't say that they are not as good as your mother used to make."

"If I eat the cakes, it's a promise but I can't help but keep," said George gravely.

"Why," she cried, "what do you mean by that?"

"I mean," he answered, in a hollow voice, "that dead men tell no tales."

The Silent Footsteps

"Ah," she sighed, "I shall never hear his footsteps again; the step I have listened for with eager ears as he came through the garden gate, the step that has so often thrilled my soul as I heard it on the front porch. Never, never again!"

"Has he left you?" asked the sympathetic friend.

"No, he has taken to wearing rubber heels!"

EVERY DAY A PICNIC

By BYRON STAUFFER.

Herein the one of the little secrets of health and happiness to make every day a picnic. The essentials of a picnic are not a fine day, a roadside and a basket of provender. Not merely the boiling cups holding the urns of good fellowship, conversation and shouting. Not even the appetite to be enjoyed even if less artistically, from the simpler results of a winter workday in the country.

Every day can be turned into a picnic of good fellowship. But however large the picnic spirit, there must be no effort to manufacture one. There is no use in scratching matches on the Brighton of a person who hates it the other end of the table-cloth. That will be a real fly in the ointment of a day's pleasure. Now there are six hundred thousand people within the orbit of our daily meanderings, and I venture to declare that, for every one of those we hate, we materially reduce the possibility of making every day a picnic. Not only may we be apt to hate them personally at some corner of the street and shock our nervous system by giving them the icy stare, but every time we think of them the picnic spirit lessens us. And in intensifying and multiplying hatreds we will soon make every day a hell!

"We're not on speaking terms just now," declared a young woman referring to a friend of her girl days. Which meant that each spit out a snakish dark of poison every time she met. And she could and would do this without at all injuring her own spirit or the sweetness of her greeting to her friend in their next moment. She cannot! No one can be really triumphant over circumstance unless his good will is universal.

Start your daily picnic at breakfast time. This cannot be done if Father must make his train and leave his wife and rush off to work, with the others still abed. Barring serious illness, all hands should get to the breakfast room hungry like wolves, the prospect of slipping back under the covers afterward, with the mind at ease that they are effecting well. They lo rdly ever do slip back—which is the best evidence of the good effect their early indispositions are a delusion. In my father's house it was very well understood that the child experienced a child at breakfast would be alarming enough to justify calling in the doctor and we hardly knew sighter as medicine as usually an appeal to Joe and Katie that you do so greatly miss their convivial presence at the table, will turn the trick.

Then too, can we not make the eight business hours somewhat of a picnic? However our workmates are, we can make our fellowship with them as interesting as a game of checkers. Even if they're somewhat disagreeable, it will be diverting to watch the effect of kindness and gentility upon ignorance and coarseness. Of course, he is to be taken for granted that you hold the first brace of qualities and your fellow-prefer the second.

Many manage to extract a heap of fun out of their noon hour. They have their meeting places, where they arrive on the dot; they discuss a choice of restaurants as if it were an annual banquet they were planning; they walk down the street with such constant observing that you would imagine they were celebrating a reunion of a college class of ten years ago; they walk at such side in choosing between a bowl of soup and a roast beef sandwich as they would in pursuing a warm card game or a dining car during the first twenty-four hours of a honeymoon. You can either do the same with your noon hour make it as lonely as a meal in a prison cell.

One element of the daily picnic must be variety. The same spot on the lakeshore, the same moment of meeting, the same games and menu would soon grow pretty stale. The husband who asks his wife to meet him at his office at five, once a week or oft, for a walk or a cup of tea does a wise thing for himself and her.

The Canadian Mother's Book tells of a husband's surprise when, on arriving home from work, he saw that his wife had changed her dress and laid her very best tablecloth. "What's causing our supper?" he asked. "You," she promptly answered. "Why, I thought you were having company." "You are my best company." That meal was a picnic, I will warrant.

When machinists with to multiply the speed of a piston by ten, say, they adjust two cog-wheels, one having ten cogs and the other a hundred. But to avoid having the same cogs constantly meeting each other, they put an extra cog in the larger wheel. This theory all a Wandering Cog of distributes the wear-and-tear equally and thus avoids a premature breakdown. Mortal put the Wandering Cog of variation into your days and make a picnic of them all.

SUMMARY OF REPORTS TO AGRICULTURE DEPT.

Middlesex reports fall wheat as looking well but spring a little spared. Huron also notices some heaving during the recent thawing weather.

Reports that the top does not look promising, but the roots may be all right, and that March conditions will really test the crop. The wintering of ice many fields during the latter part of February has caused serious damage.

Hay is being purchased in Huron at from $15 to $18 a ton for baling and shipping to Eastern Ontario. In other sections prices reach from $25 to $30 a ton.

The rise in prices is bringing out some grain, but there is as yet no general movement.

Elgin observes that live stock have been wintering well, although farmers are being stripped the Montreal market with some grade Hereford baby beeves, obtaining 8 cents a lb.

Milch cows have been selling at from $100 to $112 at local sales in Waterloo.

At a recent sale in Frontenac, registered Holsteins milch cows averaged $150 each, and good grade Holsteins averaged $85.

Leeds says that a carload of twenty-eight pure-bred Holsteins recently shipped to the United States from that county brought good prices. One good bull retailed to May Echo Sylvia belonging to Senator A. C. Hardy, brought $10,000.

Milk for condensaries is bringing $1.40 a cwt. in Elgin. Brant quotes milk as low as $1.35 a cwt. in the vicinity of Burford, although in Brantford $2.40 to $2.80 a cwt. is being paid. In Prescott and Russell $2.25 - net is being paid, while Frontenac farmers get as high as $3 a cwt.

Hogs are scarce at from $13 to $13.75 a cwt. Little pigs are fetching $12 a pair in Brant.

Port Arthur says that lambs are being sent to Toronto in fairly large numbers, and are bringing from 14 c 16 cents on the city market. A local dealer expects to bring about 50,000 lambs to Port Arthur next year to be finished on grain screenings.

Frontenac makes the following interesting and suggestive statement: "Social activities in rural communities are very marked. The formation of farmers clubs have created a great improvement in social life. The club house is one of the main centres of social evenings once or twice a month in the form of a banquet, dancing, box socials, debates and card parties."

Elgin reports the demand for farm help increasing. Wages are offering around $30 a month, with board, for eight months.

Frontenac says that the highest wages offered for a married man for year's engagement has been $600, but that average would be nearer $350.

Essex states: "An active demand for farm labor is being met locally by Scotch laborers at about $30 per month with board, for experienced single men, and $600 a year with house and perquisites for experienced married men."

JUST HOW TO MAKE RAISED DOUGHNUTS

Believing that there may be many kinds of doughnuts of this colmun who do not know "just how" to make raised doughnuts, I am giving the following recipe for directions:

Raised Doughnuts: At about 5:45 in the evening put 1 cup of sweet milk into a double boiler and scald over a hot fire. Do not let it boil. When nicely hot, pour it into a large mixing bowl and let it cool to the lukewarm stage (which will be in about 15 minutes). Then stir into it 1 teaspoon of salt, one-fourth of a cake of compressed yeast dissolved in one-third of a cup of tepid water, and not quite two cups of sifted flour; beat about one hundred seven-eighths ups. This will make a very thick batter. Cover the bowl with a clean dish towel and stand it in a moderately warm place to rise overnight.

In the morning you will find that it has not risen very high, but that it is light. At about 8 o'clock add to this light batter 2 well-beaten eggs, 1 heaping teaspoon of ground nutmeg, 1-2 cup of lard and butter mixed and melted together, 1 cup of light brown sugar, and one and one-fourth cups more of bread flour. This will make a very stiff dough. Turn more over the bowl with a cloth, place it in a warm spot, and let rise. At about 11 o'clock it will be ready to turn out onto a floured board and pat down (with the hands) to one-inch in thickness; cut out with cutter with either a small cookie cutter or a china egg-cup, inverted so that the rim acts as the cutter. Fry in deep clean, one at a time, and shape them gently into little balls; then place back on the floured board to rise for one-half hour. They will not rise much, but, will become light.

Then comes the work of frying them in deep fat. The bride who has never "tried out" fat or learned to "clarify" it, or

DONATES LARGE LIBRARY.

Fifty Thousand Volumes Presented to the People of Canada.

John Davis Barrett, donor of a library of 50,000 volumes to the people of Canada, is as picturesque a figure as there is in the Dominion. Barrett, 70, with a life-time of hard work to his credit, he is still full of vigor, and tells his friends he'd heard invites the veneration due to age, the twinkle in his eye and his capacity for service still keep him in the category of "young fellow." Mr. Barrett is now spending the happiest years of his life in London, Ont. Not long ago he was one of the best-known citizens of Stratford. But his citizenship is truly national. His collection of books, the fruits of his life labor, he gave to the whole of the Dominion, and to any one city in particular. The people of Canada should know more about him.

Half a century ago, Mr. Barrett was brought out to Canada, and by the Canada Tract Society, by the Grand Trunk Railway. The Barnetts were the days of railway engineering, when the Grand Trunk was recruiting engineering men for the Canadian lines, because there were no railroaders or superiors in the country in those early days. From the post of draughtsman at Montreal, Mr. Barrett was promoted to be mechanical superintendent of the Grand Trunk shops, which had charge of the carshops. Later he was transferred to the Stratford shops.

At Stratford, though a bachelor, Mr. Barrett occupied a large house, and had already begun his collection of books. As the years passed, the interest of the house literally crowded with volumes, until at last it seemed as if the structure would collapse. Still the books arrived and were stored away in the house. And so one day way the floors did not give way with the weight of the books he had stacked upon them, Mr. Barrett decided that it was impossible for the floors to collapse, because there were still more books packed beneath. The house became known as the "house held up by books."

Mr. Barrett at first collected books for his own personal use, but his collection soon got beyond that stage. Always a great reader, he had at first a predilection for Shakespeare and early got together a valuable group on the immortal bard. The works of Emerson, too, had much to do in the shaping of his own personal philosophy of life and he inclined to the work of this author. He never considered himself as a collector of books, but, when one day at a book auction in Montreal he found himself dislodged from another booklover for the possession of some old books, which in those days contained anonymous contributions from the greatest writers in the United States. He paid a big sum for the volumes and the fact was later afterwards had to admit to himself that he had become a collector and a connoisseur as well.

Later came books on the drama and finally encroached on the wider field of general literature. Mr. Barrett travelled extensively and brought back to Stratford many volumes of almost priceless value. He began to consider what the best disposition of the library would be, and at first inclined to the idea that he would present it to the Stratford Government as the nucleus of a national library. Still with some doubts of the wisdom of this, he regarded the opportunity of moving to London and decided to take the library with him and present them to Western University. This he did, making one condition in the deed of gift: "That the library was to be available for the use of any serious student in Canada." So, after all, his original purpose, that of creating a national library, is carried out. The Western University thought so much of this condition that had been inserted that they made the rule apply to the whole of the University Library. The Barrett collection, as it numbers 50,000 bound volumes, contains about that same number of pamphlets. Cataloguing has been going on for two years.

The donor of the valuable collection is one of the most ever-tempered, good-natured, and versatile members of London's literary set. He is one of the most active members of the Canadian Club and the Tuna Club League of that city. He was one of the charter members of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers and honorary president of the Western Ontario Engineers' Society, recently formed. Before leaving the city of Stratford he was a member of the light and water commission or that body and served for years on the library board.

"Saved My Little Girl!"

Mother tells how her little Ethel's life was saved.

That is what one woman wrote us recently, and then she goes on to say: "Ethel, who is just past eight, caught a bad cold last March. She had a cough, a highly strung, nervous temperament and could not be kept quiet in bed. I tried everything to no avail to think of to cure her cough. But, the cough became worse and from a rosy, healthy, sturdy girl she became weak and ill. Nothing we did seemed to stop the cough and by this time the regular symptoms of coughing had developed. These coughing spells left the child weak and, completely tired out. I believe this is a short time the cough would have reached the child's lungs. After trying everything I could think of, I saw an advertisement for Catnol, saying that this preparation would break up a cold, so I got a bottle from the druggist and before it was half finished my little girl had almost completely recovered her health. Her cheeks began to get back their old color. She started to put on fresh spirits and was out and play all day without being tired. Today, after having taken two bottles of Catnol, she is looking and feeling better than she has ever felt in her life."

Catnol is sold by your druggist and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you good, return the empty bottle and he will refund your money.

CANADIENS DEFEAT ST. PAT'S IN WEIRD GAME

Frenchmen Score Eight Goals in First Period and Win 8-7.

Toronto, March 8—Strange things happened at the Toronto Arena last night, and as a result the Faithful Irish would they were few—who attended, went away muttering to themselves. At the end of the first period the Canadiens were leading St. Patrick's by the most unusual score of 8 to 1, and they just lasted long enough in the remaining seconds to close the season with an 8-7 victory. The reversal of form was not the least, was remarkable. In the opening period St. Patrick's showed little interest in the proceedings, and the visitors "proceeded" to make play while the sun shone. They outchecked, out-played, outskated and outbrained the badly rattled team wearing the colors of the local club, but in the last forty minutes the shoe was on the other foot.

If Owl Goldie after the game commenced Boucher scored for the Canadiens, and in thirty seconds Coutu beat the defence and drove the puck past Roach. Odie Cleghorn came back with another in rapid-fire order, and the crowd began to cheer. Two minutes later Berlinguette got one, and then Noble scored for St. Pat's. It was only a flash in the pan, however, and Odie Cleghorn, Sprague Cleghorn and Bouchard tallied four times before the intermission.

In disgust Manager O'Donoghue banched "Red" Stuart, who was checking closely, and sent Noble to next period began it was apparent that the Irish were out to overtake the leaders, but when within the end of the game the play was very interesting, and as the locals gradually cut down the lead the fans showed their appreciation. With eight minutes to play they were only one goal behind, but the Frenchmen put up a stout resistance and prevented any further tallying.

LEONARD BOOSTS JOE BURMAN

Says That the Little Chicago Bantam Will Win the Title.

Benny Leonard, stopping off in Chicago, on his way to New Orleans, gave Joe Burman, the fleet-footed bantam weight, a great boost. He predicted that Joe, if he does not grow heavy will win the bantam title, and that if he graduates into the feather class that he has a good chance to beat Johnny Kilbane. In an interview, Leonard said:

"Burman has been closer to the Dempsey style of battling than any other man in the class and that is where he has a distinct advantage over the other boys, as I see it. I watched him several times and believe he is a student of the game and that he is going to go through in the right way. I know that it was the close study of different fighters that got me where I am today and when I see others do the same thing I naturally am attracted to them.

"I first noticed Burman training at Long Branch for the Levinsky fight Burman worked with him a lot and I was then that he learned the Dempsey system of rolling his head and slipping with the punch. Burman told me at that time that if he could perfect only a style of fighting he believed he would be just as good a fighter in his class a Dempsey was in his. I encouraged him in this belief, because I realized that what was good for a big fellow will open, must necessarily be even better for a little fellow with speed. So I told Burman to do the best he could to figure out this style of boxing. He is an apt student, he caught on in a hurry and now I regard him as one of the very best bantams in the country.

"Dempsey's style of fighting is one of the best known. He rolls his head with the action of his opponent, and therefore, presents little or no target to the blows hat are shoved at him by the jab time when under heavy fire, but I must say that I am not successful with it as others are.

"You see, I adopted a style of box ing early in my career and under the old adage that you cannot teach old dogs new tricks, I guess I have passed the stage of getting anything except ing what is in my category at the present time.

"The best style of fighting at the present time is one that brings a man into range of his opponent at every moment of the scrap. This is part of the Dempsey style of fighting. He's always ready to slam away with either hand and always in a position to hit especially when his opponent has missed. That's the very best part of it because with the rolling and leaning of the head your opponent is bound to miss continually."

JEFF PREACHES FIRST SERMON

"Just Let Your Conscience Be Your Guide," Says Ex-Champ.

Los Angeles, March 8.—"Let your conscience be your guide. It's nobody's business if I want to swear, smoke and drink so long as my heart is right."

This is the religion of James J. Jeffries, as expounded by him in his first sermon—a tryout last night in the church of an obscure sect located in an office building, within a block of Jeff's former Spring street bar.

Jeff made a picturesque figure in the pulpit. His costume featured a size 18 soft collar and a beautiful shirt of bright stripes.

Just before he stepped to the rostrum a fourteen-year-old boy prodigy, equipped with a bass voice, did some singing. Jeff sized behind a piano at the rear of the church, smoking cigarettes, and cocking an admiring eye at the prodigy from beneath the brim of a loud checked cap which he wore jerked down over his brows.

Hundreds Turn Away.

Meanwhile Dick Ferris, prominent sporting man and old time pal of Jeff's, when he was known as Ruhlin in the ring, passed through the congregation distributing religious tracts. Hundreds of the former champ's admirers filled the hall, the tryout being invitational affair. Hundreds of persons were turned away. They milled around the doors sturgling to get close to hear Jeff preach just as they used to mass to see him enter the ring for the grand sock to some pugilistic aspirant.

A. F. Fulterer, a friend of Jeffries and the man who piloted the champ into the religious field, spoke first. He explained that Jeff intends to put his historical rather than a religious interpretation on the Bible.

When it came time for Jeff to step to the platform he deftly flicked his cigarette into a corner, doffed his checked cap and strode up the aisle. Jeff looked as thoughhe was a bridegroom for a minute, but he soon got over it and launched into his discourse.

Just Is English History.

After expounding his doctrine that it was nobody's business if he wan't to smoke, drink and swear so long as his conscience guided him in paths of right, and he gave his fellowmen a square deal, he devoted his sermons would be simple explanations of Bible history and not religious speeches like a preacher sermon. Summed up in a phrase, the golden rule of his belief is "laissez faire," or the doctrine that what one does to himself to do—guided by one's conscience—is all right.

The churches are not reaching the people, he said, because ministers preach what they think the Bible means—put their own interpretation on it.

The man in the street, Jeff proclaimed, doesn't go to church because he knows the preachers have no message for him.

Jeff's sermon was received with loud applause and cries of: "Attaboy."

DIAMOND DUST

YANKEES AWAIT RUTH

New York, March 8.—Down at the Yankee training camp in New Orleans to-day, Manager Huggins and his American League champions of 1921, were all dressed up in their snappiest scenery in anticipation of the arrival of Babe Ruth, baseball's greatest slugger and baseball's child of fortune. They had been apprised of the fact that Ruth, after the heavy dipping of a copper penny, had won for himself a contract calling for a salary of some things around $52,000 a year and a $500 bonus for each and every time he bumped the "horse-hide for a round trip of the sacks.

Huggins had only one worry left—Aaron Ward, and his salary com plaints. The second baseman and Huggins talked over their differences, but failed come to terms. Ward is reported to be holding out for a salary of $10,000 a year.

FRISCH MAY LEAD OFF

San Antonio, Texas, March 8.—That Frank Frisch may be the Giants' leadoff man this season is indicated by his being placed at the head of the batting order during the last three days of practice.

Yesterday afternoon the team batted in the following order:—Frisch, 2b.; Bancroft, ss; Young, 1b.; Stengel, lf.; Cunningham, c.f.; Stengel, 1b.; Gelbert, Smith and Gaston, c.; and Barnes, p.

COBB SETS HOME RUN EXAMPLE

Augusta, Ga.—Ty Cobb has registered his first circuit clout of the season. It would have been a four-base hit in the regular campaign, at any rate, for it sailed over the fence at just about the spot Bobby Veach had knocked out to win the honour for himself.

The Georgian set the mark for his mates when he delivered the first real workout at Atlanta yesterday. Twenty-four members of the squad went through a long drill.

MILTON WINS LONG AUTO RACE AT LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., Mar. 8.—Tommy Milton, winner of the 1921 national championship under the American Automobile Association contest rules, yesterday was the possessor of 500 points towards the 1922 title and $10,000 prize money as the result of his victory in the 250-mile race at Ascot speedway Hill's speedward yesterday.

Milton, wiking his fast mount around the bowl for an average of 112.8 miles an hour, lunged into the lead in the first lap, and held that position throughout with the exception of a few circuits during the middle of the race, when Ralph de Palma, famous Italian pilot, crept out in front The veteran Italian went out of the competition in the 151st lap with a broken piston.

Jimmy Murphy, winner of the French Grand Prix last year, was the second driver to finish. His average time for the 250 miles being 109.2 miles an hour. Harry Harts won third place. Frank Elliott fourth, Eddie Hearns fifth, Joe Thomas sixth and Eddie Miller seventh.

GROW NUT-BEARING TREES

The advice to plant nut-bearing trees for shade and ornament in the settled section of Canada is good, but, as most of it comes from other countries where the conditions are different, it must be taken with discretion. One very useful point in a recent article was to the effect that walnuts may be grown wherever peaches thrive. It is true that walnut trees have been grown where peaches are not generally cultivated, but as a rule the walnut will not stand in the best development where it is too cold to grow peaches.

WANT ELECTRIC POWER

he was afraid to tell his dad about the whipping he got at school. There have been a number of cases in the last few years where boys coming from highly respectable homes have become criminals, and this points to a lessening of the strict discipline in the home and a tendency to spare the rod and spoil the child. We cannot expect the best results unless discipline is maintained in home and school.

In the rural schools where the classes are larger it is harder for the teacher to give individual attention, but rural teacher could do more along those lines were it not for coming and going almost yearly. In certain sections of the west they are adopting a plan that has possibilities of overcoming this, by having a house or teacherage, as they call it, for the use of the teacher, there-by making it possible for them to hire a married man.

Compared with that of our eastern provinces our public school system appears complicated and to fall of frills. Take Ontario for an example, what does the average public school youngster need to know about food values or school circulation? Would it not be sufficient for him to know the general rules of health and the necessity of fresh air and cleanliness? Again, the drawing one Belleville teacher suggests having cut the artistic side and confining the subject to mechanical lines.

The health of the student is much better attend to now than ever before, but stories spend their time in the various schools giving expert attention to the health of the scholars, in play-grounds and sports are also under better supervision.

We have a school system in Ontario that perhaps stands second to none but is it so poor to being perfect that it will not stand a few improvements it will not stand the changing conditions!

USE SUPPLIES AS A SCREEN FOR SMUGGLERS

Moscow, March 8.—Gifts of foodstuffs for the famine area were used by Lithuanians as a screen for a systematic smuggling operation, according to statements of Soviet officials, who are bitter in their denunciation of alleged illegal trade operations on the part of all the three new Baltic states.

Beneath the grain and flour the Lithuanians loaded into two cars for the famine area, Soviet officials say, they discovered large quantities of cocaine, spirits, saccharine, miscellaneous foodstuffs intended for sale and even railway implements not intended as gifts. Most of be smuggled supplies were of German origin.

Pope First XI. in Pontifical Regalia.—This is the first photograph of the Pope published in Canada showing him wearing his pontifical vestments. Made up of Archbishop, Cardinal and finally Pope in one year, the rise of the unusual personality from simple priest to the highest religious office in the Christian world is one of the most remarkable careers of modern times.

1921 Legislature have been to the effect that not only have many social progress, but two, into the small hours of the morning, and that liquor was obtainable. Several of the U.F.O. private members have been mentioned as having been in attendance. The bulletin-boys were said to have taken place in a certain place in a certain committee room and in a Minister's department, and it is said that there were one or two girls in attendance, and mention has been made of "dancing."

K. S. Storer, Liberal member for Algoma, said J. Walter Curry, K.C., Liberal member for Southeast Toronto, entered yesterday's discussion to question, if not the right, at least the propriety, of the Toronto City Council inviting to investigate the moral conduct of members of the Ontario Legislature. He moved expressed his opinion that it was none of the business of the Toronto City Council, and Mr. Curry as Toronto member, too—intimated (mentioning a Council trip to Windsor and Detroit) that some members of the City Council lived in glass houses, and, therefore, should not throw stones.

Reserved seats $1.00; admission $.75; children (war-tax). Sale of seats at Sills' Stationery Store. 8-1d

THE EYE IN RELATION TO HEALTH

Of all the organs in the body the Eyes are the most capable of demanding and getting an excessive amount of the general fund of Nerve Energy, for the reason that one-third of the energy matured in brain is occupied by the visual organs. George M. Gould, M.D., the celebrated oculist and author, says in a recent article: "The ocular reflex in thousands, or rather millions, often results in stomach trouble, dizziness, nausea, vomiting, headaches, colic. Many so-called stomach diseases such as neurasthenia, mental diseases and often suicide are beyond question frequently of eye strain origin." He further goes on to say: "I have cured by the use of glasses of high blood pressure. Gain in bodily weight is common after getting Scientific Glasses." We specialize in the correction of Refractive and Muscular Errors which cause latent and obscure forms of Eye Strain.

TRACES IN THE SNOW
Days of Peril in the Canadian Wilds.

"One morning," says Mr. O. O'Hara, writing in the Wide World Magazine of his adventures in Canadian wilds, "I started out for a stroll in the woods. Soon I came across the fresh tracks of a deer, and, intending to catch sight of the animal, I began to follow them.

"At the end of one hour I decided to return to camp. Convinced that I knew the direction, I struck, according to the tortuous trail of the deer, and after thirty minutes' walking I was stamped on sand on, and, seeing no signs of civilization, began to feel uneasy. Suddenly I noticed the tracks of a man headed in the direction in which I was walking. "Ah," I thought, "the man must be making for camp, and if I follow him I am bound to get there." Both sets of tracks led me on mile after mile until I began to feel uneasy. Perhaps the stranger was wandering around the camp! Perhaps he was lost! perhaps I was lost! I looked down, and to my astonishment discovered that a second man had joined the fellow whose trail I was following. I plunked up speed again and tramped on.

"After another long spell of travelling I observed that a third man had joined the pair. Feeling uneasy again, I stooped to examine the tracks more closely. Each man wore moccasins, and each had a patch on the right heel. I turned my right foot, and looked at a patch on the heel I had been following my own trail. I was lost! Panic seized me, and I started to run. Time to walk a few steps, then to run again. Toward evening I came upon a spot where a foot of a tree, utterly exhausted. Suddenly, through the branches, I heard a horse. I got up and crossed a clearing. Before me, hitched to a tree, brush parted, and not twenty feet away I saw a full moose burst into view. Again panic seized me, and I turned and ran.

"About dusk I found myself lying under an immense birch log. I got up and discovered that it had a long hollow. The temperature had dropped many degrees, and I was horribly cold. After I had built a fire at each end of the log I got between it and lay there shivering and expecting every few minutes to see a grizzly sink in between one of the fires and the log. Finally I started out through the woods again, and, still alcoholed and aimlessly until I came across an old logging trail. Probably that led to a camp, but which way should I go? Finally, unable to decide, I started off at random down the trail. I had not gone far when I heard a sound as if I had one of those queer sensations that one has when being followed. I went in the other direction.

"After three hours' aimless walking I came to a camp in a clearing. I was amazed to learn I had walked in the other direction the night before, and that the second camp which was at least forty miles away from the first."

How High Do Birds Fly?
Success has attended the application of the principle of flight to the solution of a disputed question in geography. The height of the flight of the birds during migration has been measured almost to the millimeter (from ten to twenty-one feet), on an instrument called a "bird trap," which two observers simultaneously watch. At most places the birds fly while crossing across the face of the moon were seen by two observers simultaneously on a lunar chart, ready at his side. Tracks being going from two separate points of observation, of course but intersecting at the identical position, and their distance apart being known, and for a calculation of the "parallax" of the moon, the height of the observations in one case were made, 1,000 to 2,000 feet. The detected heights above the ground varied from 1,400 to 2,400 feet. The last, however, was an extreme case, most of the observations ranging from 1,500 to 2,500 or 3,000 feet.

Not the Answer Expected.
In a class of children in one of London's poorest districts the subject under discussion was the formation of habits—good and bad. Somewhat inexperienced teacher began the lesson by asking the usual what invidious question: "What is a habit?" Up went the right hand of a boy of the class meekly answered "Mother."

Petroleum.
The story of petroleum in America reads like fiction. The Indians have of it, for in certain sections it oozes out of the earth. He knew that it could allevi pain, and the earliest recorded mention of oil in America, written in 1627, by a missionary, tells of its marvellous properties as a medicine. In those days a man's body took any trouble to dig for the oil, but used what came to the surface naturally.

More Income Tax.
Income taxation during the ten months of the present fiscal year which have elapsed, yielded $747,-114,471 as against $1,025,000,000 or 275 last year. The sum of $19,287,-971 was collected in business profits taxes as against $19,703,785 in the ten-month period of the last fiscal year.

No Bet.
A young man took his aunt to the races. Knowing that she was no bettor, "I think I'll put a fiver on Ambassador at ten to one."

"Oh, but you're too late," said his aunt, glancing at her watch; "it's ten to two now."

The Household Help.
"Jane," called the mistress from upstairs, "have you turned the gas on in the parlor as I told you?"

"Yes, ma'am," answered the new domestic jewel, "can't you smell it?"

HOUSE OF COMMONS OPENED BY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL

CHAMBER TELLS OF PROGRESS

Regular Meeting Last Night Discloses Very Satisfactory State of Affairs.

NURSE SPEAKS

Miss Healey Gives Outline of Her Work in Belleville.

An interesting general meeting of the members of the Chamber of Commerce was held in the Chamber of Commerce building last night. In the absence of the President, Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, the Vice-President, Mr. W. B. Deacon occupied the chair and kept everything moving in a business like way. After the routine business had been transacted Mr. Jamieson Bone, last year's president, gave a report of an interview he had as a member of a deputation from Belleville and the County of Hastings with Mr. D. B. Hanna, President Canadian National Railways. The object of the deputation was to lay before Mr. Hanna the necessity for better train connection between Belleville and the north; in particular to fill in the link between Madoc Village and Eldorado and between Wallace and Whitney. Mr. Bone stated that Mr. Hanna was most cordial in his reception of the deputation and about an hour was spent in talking over the various phases of the proposal. Mr. Hanna pointed out some of the difficulties in the way of carrying on such an undertaking but expressed a desire to have full information should be placed before him. Mr. Walter Wiggins, Reeve of Sidney, and Reeve Wills, Reeve of Tyendinaga, spoke in favor of the proposal. Mr. Hanna promised to give this matter his personal attention and believed that it would be possible to provide better connection than was now the case.

Mr. Bone also attended the Ontario Good Roads' Association Convention during his visit to Toronto and told of some of the proceedings. There appeared to be a great preponderance of rural members among those in attendance and, therefore, very little attention was paid to the highway problems of cities. Mr. Bone strongly urged that the cities should attend similar delegations to this convention so that their interests might be properly looked after.

Miss M. M. Healey, of the Provincial Department of Health, appeared before the meeting and stated that she had come to Belleville at the request of the District Medical Health Officer to lay before the citizens the necessity of employing a specially trained nurse for general public service especially for the purpose of advising

BRAVE WIRELESS OPERATOR JESTS WHILE SHIP SINKS

Log of Wireless Messages Show a Heroism Undaunted by Death—Gronfoft Sinks With All on Board.

New York, March 9.—The grim humor of a wireless operator, who laughed at death and flashed striking bits of wit to the end of his ship, the Norwegian steamer Gronfoft, wallowed and slowly sank during a mid-Atlantic storm last Thursday, was recorded on the radio log of the British steamer Estonia which arrived yesterday.

Each detail of the ship's plight, each call for aid was accompanied by the jesting comment of the radio man, whose identity still is unknown. He hinted as if he were going on a lark in part, instead of to the bottom of the sea. His last message, a disjointed one, was of defiance to victorious—with death as the butt of the joke.

The Estonia, herself, hard hit in the 1100-mile gale, made a valiant but unsuccessful effort to reach the Gronfoft, which for more than half an hour on the afternoon of last Thursday morning, reporting her position as somewhere 360 miles off Cape Race. The Estonia at that time was 48 miles west of the disabled Norwegian and steaming in an opposite direction. Captain Hans Gorssen turned his ship about and steamed slowly toward the Gronfoft.

Meanwhile radio operator Hansen engaged the operator of the Gronfoft in conversation. The latter sent out first the following—A stereotyped irony of the seas: "Got pitty the poor sailors on a night like this." Then followed a series of "Ha, Ha."

"And say," he continued, "the old man thinks this calm will be over by nightfall. We sure need some broom."

At last after an especial call for aid was sent out by the Gronfoft, and her operator jested again:

"Captain forward is making sandwiches for the life boat. Looks like we were going to a picnic."

Again, a half hour later, he sent:

"The old captain has a list on a run down heel. This is no weather for a fellow to be out in without an umbrella."

"Hold on," returned the Estonia's wireless, "we'll be alongside soon." The Gronfoft did not reply until 40 minutes later. Then:

"We are sinking, stern first. The boats are smashed. Can't hold out any longer."

The skipper dictated that—he ought to know—where did I put my pipe, sorry, we can't wait for you, pressing business elsewhere—

"S—o—"

The Estonia's operator quoted in reply these lines from Kipling's ballad of "East and West":

"What dam of lances brought them forth,
"Or jest or dawn with death?"

But there was no answer.

HOUSE WILL PROBE THE CHIPPAWA PLANT

Notice of Motion Providing for the Appointment of Committee.

Toronto, March 9.—The Drury Government's preliminary steps looking to an investigation of Chippawa expenditure, referred to by the Premier in the House a day or two ago, apparently are preliminary to an investigation such as Wellington Hay, the Liberal leader suggested: a committee of the House. Yesterday the Prime Minister announced that a notice of motion had been given to the clerk of the House, calling for the appointment of a committee to go into the whole matter, and that it would come up for consideration probably on Tuesday next.

The Premier's announcement was drawn out by Hon. G. H. Ferguson, who brought to the attention of the House and the Government the necessity for action being taken immediately in the wide publicity given the statements by the Premier and Hon. Mr. Carmichael, and the way in which they were being commented upon, was working an injustice to the engineers of the Hydro Commission, and in fairness the inquiry should be gone on with without delay in order to give them an opportunity to state their side of the case.

SINN FEINERS ASK FOR PEACE

Leader of the Free State Refuses to Compromise.

Limerick, Ireland, March 9.—The revolting members of the Irish Republican Army tried yesterday to make terms with Commandant Brennan. The leader of the loyal Free State forces told them flatly that they "must be soldiers first and politicians afterwards."

The parley lasted two hours, Commandant Brennan refusing to compromise and warning his opponents that they must obey headquarters. Richard Mulcahy, Minister of Defence, returned to Dublin, announcing that he is satisfied that the army will remain loyal, as a whole, and that Commandant Brennan's position is secure because the forces now at his command outnumber the revolters nearly five to one.

Although everyone here expected that Mulcahy would proclaim the reverters as outlaws, he adopted waiting tactics, hoping to settle the affair without further embittering the feeling in the South.

British Soldiers Halted.

London, March 8.—The Dublin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company reports that an armored party halted eight British soldiers under the charge of a sergeant, at Waterford last evening and ordered them to put up their hands. The sergeant alone did not comply, whereupon he was shot and wounded. The assailants seized the rifles and equipment of the soldiers and decamped.

TIGER TIRE PLANT VISITED

Members of the City Council Inspect This Hive of Industry.

Members of the City Council, headed by Mayor Hanna, yesterday afternoon paid a visit to the Tiger Tire Rubber Company's plants situated in the western part of the city, west of Moira street.

The party were cordially received by Mr. Seward, General Superintendent, and, with Mr. Davis, Mechanical Superintendent, were conducted over the plant, where they saw the many factors of tires from the raw rubber to the finished products. It was indeed a pleasing and instructive process to witness.

After the plant had been thoroughly inspected, those present assembled in the Superintendent's office where Mr. Seward gave some facts and figures, showing that the concern was in a prosperous condition.

From the auditor's report it was shown that during nine and a half months the gross profits were $85,000, out of which there were some expenditures to be taken. The net profits were, however, most encouraging. During the above period, the pay roll amounted to $82,000, the average being upward of $10,000 a month. The present month the pay roll will be between 12 and 14 thousand dollars. There are at present 100 upon the pay sheet. In nine months the business transacted amounted to $304,000. For the month of January of this year it was $25,000; February, $30,000 and March is expected to exceed this amount to a considerable extent. At the present time, upwards of 200 tires are turned out daily, but the plant has a capacity of 500 to 600 tires a day.

Mayor Hanna, on behalf of the Council, thanked Mr. Seward for the courtesy extended to the members and was also pleased to note that the plant was doing well.

POLICE DIG FOR SMALL'S BODY

Another Clue Fails in Search for the Missing Millionaire.

The police in a statement issued last night, declared that a thorough investigation had been made of information furnished by Alfred Rhea to the effect that he believed the body of Ambrose J. Small, missing millionaire theatrical man, had been laid in the Bonfield rubble dump. The police further declared that a force of between 20 and 30 workmen and a steam shovel had been used to turn over the spot pointed out and that Detective-Sergeant Mitchell as the section over he had seen fur men carrying what he thought was the body of a man on the night of December 2, the evening on which Mr. Small was last seen alive.

The police maintained Rhea appeared when the digging was done within 15 days from the time his story was first told to Detective-Sergeant Mitchell. Mitchell said last night he could not understand why Rhea withheld his story for a period of eleven months before he notified the police. They are satisfied, however, that a satisfactory investigation of Rhea's story had been made, without yielding any results. Unless some further clue was found no further digging operations would be undertaken.

RECENT RAINS DERAIL TRAIN

Many Injured and Shaken Up When No. 54 is Wrecked.

Picton, March 9.—The south-bound C.N.R. train No. 54 was wrecked at Pellingales Crossing yesterday afternoon. The road bed had apparently been washed from under the ties by recent rains and ends of the ties broke off with the rails. The train was composed of an engine, mail and baggage car and passenger coach. The engine after dragging the mail and passenger cars remained on the track, the two cars overturned completely into a ditch in about two feet of water. The passengers being extricated through the car windows, of which some were severely cut. Mr. Jack Fenton of Trenton the train mail clerk and his brother, the express messenger, were both seriously injured. The express messenger being injured by pieces of baggage and express falling on him. There were about 40 passengers on board, some more or less injured, but the most remarkable feature was that no one was killed or burned as the coach immediately took fire, supposedly from the gas tank of the illuminating system exploding.

The passenger and mail and baggage cars were destroyed except the portion which was under water. About all the baggage and part of the express was saved. A freight train passed safely over the track one hour previous. The engine and caboose going back up to Wellington and brought the passengers to Picton.

Among the passengers were the following Picton people: Mr. and Mrs. Homer White, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Crandall, Mrs. D. J. Shannon, Mrs. Montgomery, Dr. Knight, Mr. E. M. Young, Mr. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Case, Mr. Arthur Wellanks, Mr. Jas. Worrell, Mr. Daniel Way. Among the commercial travellers on the Bloomfield train were: Mr. Jenney of J. A. Johnson & Co., Brockville, leg broken and injured; Mr. Morrison, Toronto, head and face cut; Mr. Curtain of Ames Holden Co., Toronto, and Mr. Sales and Mr. W. J. Bain of Bain Wood Manufactured, Toronto; W. C. White, Toronto; J. A. Cameron, Petterboro.

The injured mail clerk and his brother, the express messenger were taken from home to have their wounds dressed. Neither were fatally injured. The mail clerk, Mr. Jordan, received several of his injuries in his heroic efforts to save the mail bags.

The latest report on the condition of Fenton brothers he is in much the same condition as yesterday, although he is now out of danger.

SUES FOR $5,000 DAMAGES

New York, March 9.—Because she cannot wear silk stockings, Mrs. Gayde Thiele filed suit for $5,000 damages from a local transit company. She fell on the rails and acquired a scar.

NO GHOSTS EVIDENT YET

Spook Party Has Already Spent Two Nights in Haunted House.

Halifax, March 9.—Dr. Franklin Haye was not called upon to extinguish the fire that had his members in the MacDonald homestead at Caledonia Mills, the reputed scene of many uncanny happenings were undisturbed last night.

Caledonia Mills, N.S., March 8.—The patter of heavy rain on the roof, the dripping of water from the eaves, and the rattling of shutters, and creak of loose boards in the high wind which swept up the valley before dawn, were the only occurrences which disturbed the rest of Dr. Prince and his party in the MacDonald mansion yesterday last night.

Following a complete investigation of the house and barn by the aid of lanterns, for it was dark when we arrived, the strict instructions of the scientist that he be left undisturbed, were carried out to the letter, although the sounds which issued from his room, up until a late hour, denoting that he was busily engaged in some further inquiry, were the cause of much speculation among the remaining members of the expedition.

GOVERNOR GENERAL OPENS PARLIAMENT

All of Pre-War Pomp and Magnificence in Today's Opening of the House of Commons—Governor-General Byng Officiates—Speech From the Throne Does Not Contain Much.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, March 9.—With pomp and display, Canada's fourteenth parliament was formally opened today by Governor-General Byng and the scene in the Senate chamber was a brilliant one. It was alight with uniforms and varied with the soft colors of the attractively gowned ladies. Sharp and distinct were the red and ermine robes of the judges of the Supreme Court.

Delivering the Throne Speech to members of the Senate and the Commons in the formal opening of the House, Governor-General Lord Byng expressed his sense of the great privilege that had fallen to him. The worst of the industrial depression is over and hope lies ahead, he said. After touching on such subjects as unemployment, trading for continued government aid and the decline of farm product values, together with restricted values, the speech went on to declare that adequate markets and marketing facilities and reduced transportation and production costs were at the root of the problem, and the Government therefore was negotiating towards larger foreign markets and conferring with the railways towards reduced freight rates.

U. S. SENATE DEBATES PACT

Lodge Makes Last Appeal for Ratification of Four-Power Treaty.

Washington, March 9.—Opposing forces in the Senate began "digging in" yesterday for the final battle over the four-power pact. Outstanding developments were:

A last appeal by Senator Lodge, Republican Leader, for ratification, in which he told the Senate that rejection of the four-power pact would mean the complete failure of the Armament Conferences.

A sharp clash between Senators Lodge and Democratic Senators, notably Reed of Missouri, who characterized the conference as a "farce".

A promise by Senator Borah, "irreconcilable" Leader, who sponsored the resolution which called forth the Republican leader's appeal, that evidence that Japanese statesmen take a different view of the Lansing-Ishii agreement.

Senator Lodge began the debate by delivering a prepared speech, in which he undertook to show that the real question of limitation of armaments and peace in the Pacific was inextricably interwoven with the four-power pact. He explained that the primary object of the four-power treaty was to get rid of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, the existence of which made production of armaments impossible.

PROHIBITION FORCES HOLD CONVENTION

Want More Energetic Enforcement of the Temperance Act—Delegation Will Wait on Premier Drury Today.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer from Canadian Press Limited.

Toronto, March 9.—To the big deputation of the Dominion Alliance which waited upon the Government today Premier Drury reiterated his previous declarations that the Government had no intention at present of making any changes either to loosen or to tighten" the Ontario Temperance Act but would do its utmost to see that the law as it stands at present is carried out.

The two-day provincial meeting of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, styled as the "prohibition convention," opened in Massey Hall yesterday, the sessions terminating in a mass meeting in the evening. Addresses were given on means considering a continuous and energetic law enforcement campaign under the Ontario Temperance Act and on the part of the Provincial Government, and also one calling on the Government to institute in all the schools, Universities and teacher training schools of the Province studies calculated to instill in the minds the inevitable evils of alcohol as a beverage.

At last night's meeting, Hon. W. H. Hanna, K.C., Attorney-General in the Provincial Government, presided. Some of his friends in the Legislature, he said, told him that he was the best hated man in Ontario. Whether it was true or not, it was delightful to receive such a greeting as had been accorded him that evening. It would not be delightful, he said, had good news to bring them. This was that after two years spent in practice the Ontario Temperance Act that prohibition was a success in this Province. It was not a success as to revenue, but it was a success as to administration, and in that it had accomplished what it was intended citizens. It helped the home and the girls and the boys of the coming generation, and, therefore, would be an inchoate solution of the matter. No act of Parliament could eliminate appetite or passion. Laws do not cure, although as in this case they may ameliorate.

At most people know there was a determined propaganda against the law, to discredit the law and those in authority. It was being "conducted in the press. The New York Sun said, to run a line which read: "If you see it in the Sun, it is so." Some of the newspapers published in Toronto should say, "if you see it in this paper, and it has to do with prohibition, it is not so."

LIGHT ORDINANCE IS USELESS

Inspector Passmore Tells The Intelligencer Recommendation of Council is Valueless.

Mr. Harry Passmore of Toronto, Provincial Inspector under the Motor Vehicle Act was in the city to-day and informed The Intelligencer that the recommendation passed by the City Council on Monday night in regard to allowing motor vehicles to park on the streets at night without a light was not worth the paper it was written on. The Inspector also stated that the law as it stands would be enforced.

Section 16a of the Motor Act reads as follows:

"Any by-laws passed by any municipal corporation or board of police trustees for regulating traffic on the highway which are inconsistent with the provisions of the Act shall be deemed to be repealed."

Section 16—"In the provisions of any by-law heretofore or hereafter passed which is inconsistent with the provisions of this Act shall affect or apply to motor vehicles."

The section in regard to having lights is exceptionally explicit, reading as follows:

"Whenever on a highway after dusk and before dawn every motor vehicle shall carry three lighted lamps in a conspicuous position one on each side of the front and one on the back of the vehicle."

FAMINE, TERROR IN RUSSIA

Prisoners in Concentration Camps in Terrible Plight at Present.

Moscow, March 8.—To prevent the death by starvation and disease of thousands of men and women in the various prisons and concentration camps of Russia, collection are being taken in the churches in the city and about the streets by ex-prisoners or by friends and relatives of prisoners.

Despite the amnesty proclamations of the Soviet government in November, last, the prisons and camps continue crowded with men and women political prisoners whose only crime appears to have been that they once were rich or that they fell afoul of old enemies who used their Communistic influence to avenge private grievances.

Conditions have been going from bad to worse since the famine with new prison means to be practically without food, clothes, heat or medicine. The organization known as the Russian Political Red Cross has had its meagre supplies and funds cut off, along with schools, hospitals and other institutions.

The people in the famine region are in a hopeless compared to those who are divided their liberty and all means of obtaining food.

In the camps of Novospasski and Pokrotsky, near Moscow, to the certain knowledge of The Associated Press correspondent, the prisoners are reduced to eating bits of refuse, like hungry animals. The best that is served them is grass soup and a piece of soup and pieces of black bread. The prison guards haven't much more to eat.

Some women political prisoners have been released, but the correspondent has information that aged and middle-aged princesses, mothers and daughters and wives, are still detained in overcrowded, ice-infested cells or rooms with but one piece of clothing to cover them and without soap to wash themselves.

One such people as these get into prison they stay there almost automatically because they are of no special political importance in present-day Soviet Russia.

The Cheka (secret police) authorities has just offered to send 400 real political prisoners—Social Revolutionists—to Kemakhvali, some small town they may select at least 150 miles from a railway if they will promise to remain there. They are now locked up in the Boutirsky prison at Moscow and thus far have refused the offer. Nevertheless a dozen or so of these prisoners have been released.

Among the 400 is M. Tchernov, leader of the Socialist party and chief of the Constitutional Assembly of January, 1918. This particular group worked for a time with Admiral Kolchak organizer of the people's party in Siberia.

Menshevik were arrested by the hundreds in every political centre of Russia and are still in various prisons.

Other political prisoners are anarchists, the cadets of Professor Milukoff, former Russian Foreign Minister, officers and relatives from the various "white" volunteer movements of the Don, Imperialist sets including men from the Denikine and Wrangel armies.

In addition, there have been scattered through north and central Russian prisons and camps men connected with the efforts to establish independent republics in Georgia, Azerbaijan, the Kuban and other sections of south Russia and the Caucasus, including Turkestan.

M. Dzerzhinski, the new chief of the Cheka, has refused to give American correspondents information on prisons and the scope of the arrests. A year ago the Cheka issued a report which was supposed on issue.

MEXICO LEADS IN SILVER PRODUCTION

Mexico City, March 9.—Mexico produced 31.6 per cent. of the total world production of silver in 1921 and the United States in the same period produced only 31 per cent. of the world total of 150,000,000 ounces, says the American Chamber of Commerce of Mexico.

The year 1921 was classed as a bad year in silver mining, due to the low market price of the metal but despite this condition more than 82,000,000 ounces were taken from Mexican mines.

Due to the revival of mining activity in Mexico during the closing months of 1921 and the re-opening of mines in all parts of the country, the Chamber expects that the Mexican production of 1922 will greatly exceed that of last year.

What Happens to Old Railroad Ties

The railway passenger who sees piles of worn-out cross ties piled up and set on fire by repair gangs along the right of way sometimes wonders why this is done and asks why people are not allowed to use them for fuel. The Pennsylvania Railroad has issued an information booklet dealing with this subject which states:—

"In the first place, it is far from true that all the old ties are burned. A considerable number are constantly being sold to persons living on or near the right of way, who buy them at nominal prices, usually ten or fifteen cents apiece, and use them for fuel.

"That is about as far as the railroad company has been able to go, thus far, in finding an outlet for these old ties. The problem of their disposal is practicable only in those cases where the ties can be delivered at a public crossing, or other point where they can be handled safely by the users, and where the cost of delivering the ties is not greater than the nominal prices obtainable.

"The Company cannot leave the public going promiscuously over its tracks and yards to gather up old ties. To do so would be practically letting down the bars against casualties on the tracks, as will which has been the cause of about half of all the fatal accidents on railroads in the United States.

"Efforts have been made to interest dealers in firewood in buying the old ties, but thus far with small success. The causes appear to be that the ties are often dirty; that they contain more or less stone, which dulls saws; that they split when it is more or less crushed, so that they burn out too quickly. These are among the reasons assigned by dealers who have not been willing to pay for the ties enough to more than recover the cost of collecting the ties and delivering them at the point at which they could be removed.

"Efforts have been made to dispose of old ties in a number of other ways, including the use of wood-pulp purposes, for the extraction of creosote for preserving and as ash for the ashes for fertilizer, and for manufacture into charcoal, but without success in interesting parties engaged in these occupations.

"The Company will be glad to consider, and thoroughly feasible to recommend, the present practice of selling old ties to individuals either at the nominal prices at points where they can be delivered without danger to the employees and without cost, for collection and transportation, more than offset the receipts. But the management will welcome any offer suggesting a way by which the old ties can be usefully disposed of or made available for commercial or industrial purposes."

The Canadian Pacific Railway goes further than the Pennsylvania Railroad and gives away the ties to those who will take them, such giving being surrounded with the necessary safeguards as to trespassing. The experience of the Canadian Pacific is that ties are taken only where there is no standing timber in the vicinity, and that in many cases the farmers taking the ties do not use them for firewood but for general purposes around the farm; indicating that the value of old ties as firewood in this country is extremely small.

A TREE FOR A TREE

When a forest administrator says that he hopes to see the time when a tree will be planted for every tree cut down on non-agricultural land he does not mean this literally. What he means is that when an acre of forest land is cut over that acre should be planted or seeded at once to bring on another crop. If this is done by planting it will mean that five or six times as many trees will be planted as are cut down, because to induce heightgrowth forest trees are planted much closer together than the mature trees stand when cut down. The trees that do not reach maturity are either thinned out and used for rails or fuel, or die off because the trees that have forged ahead have shut off their supply of sunlight.

HIGH PRICE FOR PINEAPPLE

Vienna, March 3.—A man "walked into the bar of one of the big hotels the other afternoon and placed a pineapple on the table. "One pound sterling or 40,000 kronen," he said.

There was no sale but the incident serves to illustrate the chaotic idea of values prevalent here. As Austrian unselled it gratefully, remarking: "its the first one I have seen since 1914."

U. S. WILL NOT ENTER GENOA CONFERENCE

Americans Decline Invitation to Take Part in Economic Conference.

Washington, March 9.—The United States positively declined the invitation of the allied powers to participate in the European Economic Conference which is to meet at Genoa, April 10.

The American declination was conveyed to the Italian Government in a note addressed by Secretary of State Hughes to Senatar Vittorio Rolandi Ricci, the Italian Ambassador to the United States.

While taking a deep interest in measures to promote the reconstruction of Europe, the United States, says the Hughes note, could not participate helpfully in the Genoa Conference, because it is to be met primarily, as economic, but a political conference.

London, March 9.—The decision of the United States not to participate in the Genoa Conference will not affect the date of, nor the plans for the conference so far as British is concerned, it was officially announced today

TURMOIL IN AFRICA GROWS VERY SERIOUS

Workers Are Rallying to the Call for a General Strike.

London, March 9.—South African workers have rallied in a fairly wide response to the call for a general strike issued by the executive committee of the industrial federation of trade and labor unions in favor of the miners, says a despatch from Johannesburg. Many shops in the suburbs remain closed, as well as their proprietors fearing violence. All public vehicles have stopped and delivery wagons have been prevented to do business. Slaughter house work or have ceased work and mechanics at Braamfontein and Germiston, important railroad centres, have gone on strike. Workers affiliated with other unions have been removed from their jobs.

Disorders occurred in different section of the city, says a Reuter despatch from Johannesburg. During the afternoon police fired blank cartridges in attempts to scatter strikers who attempted to eject a group of telephone workers. The uglies incident so far connected with the strike occurred in Vonbrandia Square when revolver shots were fired on the police by the strikers. The police were compelled by reinforcements in lorries who pushed forward with fixed bayonets and dispersed the great crowd.

ORANGE ORDER WILL FIGHT HARD

Grand Master Hocken's Voice Sentiment of Organ-gemen on School Issue.

Sarnia, March 9.—"The Orangemen will continue the fight for the school as long as there is a man in this Dominion of ours," said H. C. Hocken, M.P., Sovereign Grand Master, addressing a crowded Orange meeting in the City Hall last night. He fiercely attacked what he charged were the aggressive tactics of the Rev. Father Scollard and Father Keogh, the Roman Catholics in the Province, led by Archbishop McNeil and Bishop Fallon, in the attempt to obtain amendments to the Schools Assessment Act.

Mr. W. A. Elliott of the Elliott Machinery Company informed The Intelligencer that business with the firm is picking up. Shipments of their products are being shipped to England and New Zealand, and enquiries are being received from Buenos Aires in regards to the articles manufactured by the company. Recently additions to the number of 10 men have been taken on the staff and at present the company are employing 28 men. This is certainly encouragnior news and it speaks well for the products of the Elliott Company.

ALBERTUS, THE MIRACLE MAN COMING TO BELLEVILLE

Manager Forhan, of the Regent theatre announces the greatest mystic attraction ever seen in this city, next Monday, when the Great Albertus, the Miracle Man, and his company begin a long engagement at this popular Theatre. Albertus is the man of whom the late Theodore Roosevelt said: "He raised incredible questions that the profession of the occult to the dignity of the sciences at his recent remarkable exhibitions before the faculties of Harvard and Yale Universities."

Albertus is a famous crystal gazer and master mind reader, who at your present and future, locates lost or absent relatives, misplaced or stolen property, answers any question that may be troubling you he can help you as he has helped thousands of others. Skeptics are invited to put the most severe tests before him. None are too exacting for this master mind.

Over Sunday he will remain, Albertus will place a young woman in a twenty-two hour death sleep in the window of C. W. Lindsay, Ltd., in Front Street. She will be awakened on the stage of the Regent Theatre on Monday night.

"SENTIMENTAL TOMMY"

A picture for young and old alike—that is the description that may be applied to Paramount's screen version of Sir James M. Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy," which will be the feature at Griffin's to-morrow and Friday and Saturday matinee and night. It is doubtful that many grownups exist who haven't a fond memory of Barrie's imagination and practically all have read the story or have read about him at one time or another.

The story begins with Tommy's entrance with his sister, Elspeth, to the Scotch village of Thrums and in the course of Grizel from a crowd of youngsters who are throwing stones at her. It gives many episodes showing Tommy's flights of imagination which are the delight of the whole village.

The story takes Tommy and Grizel to manhood when Grizel becomes demented after the death of her husband, and sweetheart with another woman in his home. The closing scenes are dramatic and full of pathos and interest.

The role of Tommy is played by Gareth Hughes, a popular young leading man. May Mclvoy is Grizel, Larry Semon in a Scout comedy, "The Sawmill", a new chapter of Pathe's "The Veil", featuring Art Coord, and Pathe News will be exhibited on the same program.

MINISTERS TO RESIGN

Kingston, March 8—After being thirty-eight years in the Presbyterian ministry, Rev. Dr. W. S. MacTavish, Mackay, placed this resignation on the table, at the Kingston Presbyterian meeting yesterday afternoon. His health compels him to take a rest. Dr. MacTavish is an outstanding figure in Ontario Presbyterian Church circles. He formerly preached in Dunnville and Hamilton and for some time was the Church's Young Peoples General Secretary. The Presbytery also received the resignation of Rev. Dr. Brown, Picton. An address was presented to Rev. W. T. Wilkins of Trenton, who is retiring as the clerk ship after thirty years service.

Chase's Receipt Book is Their Doctor

"ON an old - fashioned bureau, in a house I know, lies a large-sized New Testament with the binding worn, and with it a much-used old copy of Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. When the calves have the colic or the neighbor's baby the earache, "Grandma" hands out well-assimilated advice from the Dr. Chase Book. When "Grandma" herself feels "run down," Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Almanac ready on the dining-room table among the salt and pepper shakers."

In these few simple words Mrs. Bert Smith, Way's Mills, Que., beautifully describes the way in which many a grandmother is a blessing to her family and to her neighbors as a guardian of health.

And what finer compliment can be paid to Dr. Chase's Receipt Book and Dr. Chase's Medicines than the approval of such mothers of experience as the one here described.

Just as in this home, Dr. Chase's Almanac hangs on the wall in the great majority of Canadian homes, and in the cupboard or medicine chest will be found one or more of Dr. Chase's Medicines ready for use in case of emergency.

If you did not receive a copy of Dr. Chase's Almanac it will be sent free by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

and assisting the mothers of very young children. Miss Healey had already gathered some interesting facts and statistics about child mortality in Belleville and showed that while the death rate here was lower than in some cities yet it was very much greater than where the best conditions prevailed. Toronto had started this work a few years ago and now one hundred nurses were employed. Ottawa, with a town less than that of Belleville had three nurses regularly employed in this work." Once the citizens were apprised of the necessity and possibly they would insist upon having the work done. The chairman and others present expressed appreciation of Miss Healey's address and the work she was attempting to do and promised the most earnest consideration and sympathetic support on the part of the Chamber of Commerce.

Strengthening the necessity of a more accurate and extensive knowledge of the mineral wealth of the County of Hastings the following resolution was unanimously endorsed:

"RESOLVED: That the Belleville Chamber of Commerce express its satisfaction the development of Industrial and Scientific Research, and the application of science to arts and industries, both by the Dominion and Provincial Governments, and urge that there was undeveloped mineral resources, especially the economic minerals of Eastern Ontario, be surveyed, inspected and reported upon in the light of modern conditions and the facilities of electric power by competent Government mining engineers and metallurgists."

and the Secretary requested to forward copies of same to the Prime Minister, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

The Secretary gave a brief report on the industrial situation and expressed confidence in the outlook. He had received more inquiries the past month than in any previous three months during his term as Industrial Commissioner. Some most important industrial prospects were now being negotiated with and he had strong hopes that some of these would decide upon Belleville as their location. There were many indications of a revival of business and of the desire on the part of the great industrial corporations to expand and establish branches.

A telegram was read from Lt.-Col. W. N. Ponton protesting against the destruction of the elm trees on Commercial street. The Chairman of Parks, Ald. H. W. Greenleaf, who was present explained that the large elm that had been cut down on this street was in a dangerous condition and liable to fall at any time. At the request of Mr. Cherry, the owner of an adjacent property, the city had taken action and had the tree removed. After some further interesting discussion of an informal nature the meeting adjourned.

ICE INDUSTRY AT BANFF

ICE OPERATIONS ON BOW RIVER AT BANFF.

The winter season at Banff, Alberta, gives opportunity for the preparation of an extensive ice-industry. It is unique as the only industry of its kind west of Saskatchewan. The ice-field on the Bow River at a 5 to 6 inch thickness by winter time is a tract two miles in length and is leased for ten years periods. Operations begin as soon as the river freezes over, in the cars, given to keep the space clear of snow. The ice is marked by a line. Two inches deep into cakes 22 by 44 inches. As ice chisels is made at one side of the river and the cakes are floated up to a bench for loading. As many as 60 men are employed in the work each season and they use the latest improvements as a splitting saw, a pike-pole for directing the pieces to the ice channel, an ice saw for sawing the cakes 22 inches down, for-

Toronto, March 9.—Edwin R. Smith, aged 62, committed suicide, yesterday afternoon, by his room at 1067 Dufferin street. Smith, who had been ill for some time, was found hanging by a necktie from a wall peg in a clothes closet. Smith had been despondent for some months because he believed his recovery was doubtful. He left a wife, his sister, who is unable to work, a circumstance which also helped to aggravate his condition and chance of getting better. His wife survives.

RUSSIAN MINES PASSING INTO PRIVATE HANDS

Riga, March 9.—Siberian mining and industrial properties are rapidly passing into private hands, says a dispatch from the Russian official telegraph agency at Moscow. The Siberian department of the Supreme Economic council reported, that up to December 1, 1921, out of 130 lease agreements signed, 79 were to private concerns.

Three bold "trusts" or working combines wherein a number of mines are to be operated by government agents, conducted along commercial lines, have just formed in Siberia. Salt and metal "trusts" have also been formed and a number of so-called "autonomous combines, privately directed, have been formed under names now familiar on European stock and exchanges.

MORE VOTERS FOR WOMAN

London, March 8.—By a vote of 386 to 68 the House of Commons yesterday permitted Lord Cecil to introduce a bill designed to extend suffrage to women on the same terms as men.

The division on the question of the bill's introduction resulted from the opposition to Colonel Martin Archer Shee, who said the measure would enfranchise 5,000,000 women. After the division was taken the bill was given its first reading.

THE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION

The conclusion of the Conservative caucus at Ottawa finds the Conservative party committed to many things, all of which are for the eventual betterment of the party. First and foremost the party has re-assumed the old name of Liberal-Conservative, a name as rich in promise now as it was to the party some decades ago. Secondly, the men in charge are committed to a national convention to be called as soon as the first session of the new Parliament prorogues.

Thirdly and decidedly not least has been the affirmation of faith in the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen as leader of the time honored Tory party. His election was a foregone conclusion and it seemed the only natural thing when it was announced that he had been unanimously re-elected.

Mr. Meighen has been tried by the highest tests and has been proved 100 per cent. efficient. His experience in Opposition was not the experience of the leader of the party but it was that of its right hand man of the House. Had the opposition Mr. Meighen would not take, no labors he would shun, in pursuance of his duties as a public man and as the first lieutenant of the party chief. He was most resourceful. In office he was a tower of strength to the Government, and finally as head of the Cabinet, with opponents on several fronts to contend with, he showed himself to be a statesman of the first order. He made his great reputation when the tasks of government transcended those of any other period in the world's history, in times of sore trial of the spirit of man, when the best performance of duty by governments conduced most to the upbuilding of Opposition. Men so weighted with cares of state as were the members of the war governments of the world and the reconstruction governments of the world could not give much thought to party management. Hence when polling day came, the odds were heavily against them, though the merits might all be on their side.

Now that Mr. Meighen has the responsibilities of an Opposition leader he has also the chance to give his time and talent to the work of educating the public upon matters and measures of policy. Under the late Opposition the public had to be satisfied with a stone when they asked for bread.

The people learned but little from the Hon. Mr. King either in Parliament or while he was stumping the country. And it would appear, if newspaper reports are to be given credence that he is still undecided as to the eventual course he will pursue in the House.

He will find to his cost that the leader of the Opposition is a veteran parliamentarian, one possessed of an alert brain, a keen blade of fearless courage. Truly the coming session which opens today should be interesting.

IMPENDING COAL STRIKE

The voting now in progress by the coal miners of the United States to determine whether there will be a nation-wide strike on April 1 is said to favor a suspension of work, says the Montreal Herald, though the votes are not to be counted until Friday. It is said that the United Mine Workers have adopted a resolution which includes a provision for a six-hour day, as well as a demand for a new wage scale. Whatever may be said in favor of the latter the former stands no chance of acceptance, judging by the tone of the coal operators, and it is probably nothing more at present than a gesture.

A sort of American triple alliance was entered into a couple of weeks ago by representatives of more than 2,000,000 union coal miners, railway workers and longshoremen for "closer co-operation of our forces which will operate more effectively to protect" the union workers in wage struggles. The agreement, drafted in the offices of 17 big unions, asserted that the purpose of the leaders was "to apply every honorable method" to obtain "adequate wages" for both the miners and the transportation workers, and it created an executive committee to decide on the course of action by the various unions whenever any emergency shall arise in the wage struggles of any of the allied groups. No specific programme of allied action was outlined, however, and President John L. Lewis, of the miners' union, told the conference that he did not ask for a sympathetic rail strike on April 1.

There is also a threat of serious rupture between the miners and the operators in the Calgary district, which has of recent years been a centre of restless agitation. The miners are asked to accept a reduction of about 35 per cent., which is a little over what the Nova Scotia miners were asked to accept some weeks ago. This was abated somewhat by the terms of the Gillett award, and the miners vote next week on the acceptance of a recommendation of the district United Mine Workers to agree to the wage proposition made in Montreal last week. The action of the American miners will not, therefore, affect Canada to any extent.

Full of treasures rare—
Through dawns shades the daylight scarcely

THE KHAN IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

The Prospero and The Puppet.

Every now and once in a while something undertaken learnedly and at great length to explain the amazing growth of our big cities. They give all the reasons why they have become, and the best reason is the chief reason, and if I had time and space I could show you that the chief reason is the only reason.

We are told that people go to the great cities because there are "opportunities" there. This is pretty vague. What is an opportunity? It would be well for all of us, big and little, old and young, male and female, to have it defined for us what an opportunity is, what it looks like, and how it can be identified. I walked a thousand miles the other day to reach a great city, and every step I took I met an opportunity going the other way. When I reached the end there was not an opportunity left in it. Take Jerusalem as an example. Jerusalem has seeded down the whole universe with opportunities. For two thousand years opportunity hath been travelling away from it, not towards it. The great Jewish movement is up against one stupendous argument.

There be no Opportunities there!

Now, if people come out of the woods which are full of opportunities and swarm into Montreal cities there must be a reason for it. The reason is not far to seek. The small town and the petty village are frightfully unfashionable. The beautiful town of Brantford hath been in the limelight lately and there is a reason. It hath a fine site. Certainly be a sweet place to live in for people who cherish the loveliness of home life. What, then, is the sin of Brantford wants with all them massive perpetrators, lop-sided lisnevers, pompous poets, eccentric artistes and obscure sneaks, liars, perjurers, etc., etc., passes my comprehension. That's the trouble in this age of progress with the small town. Everybody knows what's in everybody else's cellar, pantry, closet and trunk. You can't the desert were my dwelling place!" or failing that, a great city. Your neighbors will let you alone in a great city and that's why it's a great city. In a cock-robin town your neighbors won't let you alone, and that's why it's a cock-robin town. And the cock-robin towns are annually contributing their best people to swell the great centres of population. The only place where a man who loves the quiet life, and who is jealous of the uniqueness of his home, can live in peace is in a great city. Here give up their abiding places and their business and affiliations in small towns because their surroundings have become wholly unendurable. This summer you will see through the beautiful little villages out in the country, and you will say to yourself: What a heavenly place to live! You would be disillusioned if you tried it for a while. Not while than three families associate with or speak to the other—and then it's only an armed neutrality. I dropped into the local meetin' house one Sunday evening and the congregation and choir were singing that sterling old ditty:

"We'll know each other there,
We'll know each other there,
We'll know each other there."

But they don't know each other here! There were not half a dozen people in the whole shooting match who would speak to each other in the village street. Miss Lipstick, the soprano, who was shrieking "We'll know each other there" scant speak to her own mother—in public. The home profunds never even says good-evening to the tenor crescendo. There wasn't a word in that meeting house to spread food enough to be heard in Owen Sound: "In heaven above, where all is love, we'll know each other there."

If you want to live your own life, go into New Ontario, the Peace River country, or the old Province. Cast out superiority camp in the petty towns. The Pharisee is dominant in the country. The man who is self-setting out to Damascus breathing torture and death.

Brantford is one of the most beautiful and attractive of our minor cities. But I would hate to have to live there all the time. I would be mad in a couple of weeks, say in the summer months, but, by bedgos, I'd hate to have to live there all the time. The telephone was invented in Brantford and that's the reason. The inventor wanted to talk to some acquaintance in that town, but didn't want to get any nearer than a thousand miles.

In a town where the chief of police deems it his duty to supply," occasionally, to borrow a phrase from the local paper, I cannot understand how it is possible for a citizen to be debauched. I was told the other day that there are too many pious people anywhere. I am going to tell you where us pious folks fall down. We don't make piety attractive to the hell point. We appeal to Caesar too much. We are indignant if our neighbor plugs up his keyhole and pulls down his window blinds.

U. S. TRADE TAKES BIG SLUMP

Volume of Canadian Business Has Fallen According to Statistics.

Washington, March 9.—A heavy drop in the value of trade with Canada during the month of January this year, as compared with January, 1921, is shown by figures for exports and imports given out today by the department of commerce.

For January, 1921, exports to Canada were $73,023,191, as compared with $34,272,822 for the corresponding month, ending January 31, 1922, the exports were $220,999,400, as compared with $47,067,155 in the seven months ending January 31, 1922; the exports were $229,999,400 as compared with $547,061,155 in the seven months ending January 31, 1921.

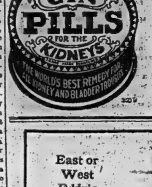

The general decline in the value of the foreign trade of the United States in January, as compared with January, 1921, is emphasized in the statistics as to trade by continents and countries. The figures for Europe follow:

Exports to Europe totalled $168,-959,246, compared with $332,219,033, in January a year ago, and $1,319,-287,611 for the seven months ending

Efficient Housekeeping

By Lucy A. Kirkwood

HOW ONE WOMAN SOLVED THE LAUNDRY PROBLEM

This morning I received the following interesting letter from a subscriber in whom a subscriber of the paper makes clippings from this page, and I quote it, hoping it may help some fair sister. The following week I see that I have the required number of points, 25, in these "Efficient Housekeeping" articles, and so I am entitled to a premium. Now, I don't want a premium, but I do want to make the two dollars' worth. Although two dollars means a good deal to me, I would rather have the help than the premium. So I am going to write you my problem which might prove of benefit to the rest of my fellow-readers. One of the hardest things in the life of most housekeepers is the disposition of the laundry. She is my first choice of three children. I live on a farm, and I do it myself. I do it herself. I do it in a public laundry. I have tried all three ways and know whereof I speak.

To hire a woman nowadays is an experiment, and to find a truly competent and conscientious one is not easy. Then, it means that most of the ironing is left over, and if the day is cold the housewife must use up most of the drying of the clothes on the sheltering side.

The second way—doing it oneself—is all right if she has an electric washing machine—one of Maytag's type, for since a woman is absolutely healthy, sometimes she saves doctors' bills by not doing her own washing.

Sending a family wash to a public laundry is out of the question for most of us because of the expense. But I wonder if many housewives know of the so-called "Bundle Wash" which most public laundries use now days? In this case you are sending everything except silks to a laundry that has two kinds of "Bundle Wash." One is the fine, all "Rough Dry," and the other goes under the name of "Ironed."

For the "rough dry," they charge ten cents a pound for the first 10 pounds, and eight cents a pound for every pound thereafter. Everything goes—all to be Rough Dried comes home starched—ironed. I send to be Rough Dried all my underclothes, napkins, sheets, pillow cases, towels, night gowns, children's underwear, napkins and handkerchiefs—in fact anything that does not need hand-ironing.

The "Ironed" wash goes for ten cents a pound for washing, with an additional 15 cents per pound for ironing—making it virtually 25 cents a pound. However, if flat work is included—the bundle to be ironed, it is not charged 15 cents additional. The only trouble I found at first was that as they receive you to have up their wash—half of either one or the other, I had always to send everything to be ironed, which, of course, made me

Tell Dyspeptics What To Eat

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas Or Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach misery are caused by acid stomach, and one nine cases out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Acid stomach is extremely dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they should eat a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to acidity and fermentation or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia.

This is probably no better, safer or more reliable corrective of acidity than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct laxative effect on the stomach or the intestines, nor does nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. However it does relieve because of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or cream and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and—not what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

The success of the flight seems to have whetted the Major's appetite for adventure, for on the trip Botwood-today states he made a flight northward along the Labrador coast to the Hudson Bay post at Nachvak, straight. Hitherto the Labrador settlers have had to depend for communication with the VALUABLE FLOWERS.

Orchid Enthusiasts Fetid Small Fortune Among Rare Blooms.

There was shown recently before the Royal Horticultural Society by Messrs. Sander a unique star-shaped gold and white odontoglossum orchid. This plant was first found and afterwards sold for $30 guineas. A large sum, but by no means record.

Perhaps the greatest orchid extravagant that ever lived was the late Baron Schroder. His collection was the finest in the world, and he established record prices for his plants. Once he paid nine thousand guineas which he gave for a tropical "lady's slipper" orchid from Sarawak was the highest price ever paid for such a flower.

Baron Schroder remembered his gardener in his will. This man had been given an opportunity to specialize in orchid collecting, and, on being given the selection of the orchids, chose with sound judgment the noted Beg Sarawak collection. The gardener he sold it for 3,000 guineas.

Twenty years ago orchid collecting was a big gamble. Many were the friendly fights between rival orchidists. Tragedies sometimes changed hands in the London salerooms. At Cheapside a wonderful spotted variety of orchid, Odontoglossum Crispum, was put up for sale. Baron Schroder bid high, but was beaten by Consul S. Price, who secured this unique bloom for 1,650 guineas. It was a tiny plant of only three leaves.

At one time orchid collecting was essentially a rich man's hobby. But of late years this has changed. It is now possible for the poor man to secure two or three blooms of no particular value, and by careful attention secure a plant that may bring him in a small fortune.

From time to time a perfectly new orchid appears in the silverspray. As often as not this has been cultivated by a poor man. In fact, to-day orchids are no longer "kept by the very wealthy classes."

The collecting of rare specimens has long been the pursuit of adventurous men. They have traveled into strange parts of Africa and southern America, risk life and fever to get it, and it is the hardships and troubles they have met that account for the huge prices often given for orchids.—Tit-Bits.

Doctor Your Door-Bell.

When your motor car goes on strike, you should be able to get it repaired without speaking the language of an electrician.

Uncrew the push and see that it is quite clean inside—a piece of dirt may be preventing it from making a proper contact.

If this does not remedy the trouble you must then turn attention to the batteries. Make certain that the terminals are tight, that they are clean and clear. If there is any "furring" or verdigris, clean it away and the underside of the nuts with a knife. Examine the wires to see that it rings the bell is done; if not the batteries are run down.

Have they a dull, deadache type? These look like jam-pots with black and-white labels on them. Suppose that they are, give them a thorough wash and fill each separate china by putting two ounces of sal ammoniac into each. Then fill them up with black lids with water. As soon as the sal ammoniac has dissolved they will be ring again.

Dry batteries need not be thrown away if they are run down. You can give them a new lease of life by drilling holes in the zinc case and standing them in jam-jars half-filled with a mixture of sal ammoniac and water.

A young Dane returned to Copenhagen the other day, and, fresh from the South Seas, he had taken a walk with Mrs. Jack London near the London Colonists' home. Consul S. Price was the highest bid ever it. Mrs. London said, "Do you know what people here don't?" The Dane confessed ignorance. "You have jumped over my husband's grave," she said. The Dane apologized for his seeming lack of respect, took the next train for South Brooklyn, and embarked on the Oscar II. for the Danish capital, where he related his experience. Jack London's Danish publisher, Herr Martin, said: "I never did quite believe that rumor."—N. Y. Evening Post.

The forests lie flat or move slowly downward, piling into valleys and filling up torrent carpet moves with them. OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

A new orange shade and pumpkin color are two good spring shades.

The henna and cocoa shades are smart for crepe frocks and navy is again good-for cloth models.

Women, even today succeed in making men happier than men make women—but then, the women spend no men's money in practising.

A prehistoric buyer of one of New York's dress stores said I think it will be a big storm's hat season: And you know that now beaver is as staple a color as is black.

A evening model from Jenny that is typically the perfection of head work is shown in soft green crepe, beaded in marve and crystal, and the design is a delicate one, a basket of flowers surrounded with Chinese decorations.

The Galerian Lafayette department store in Paris now has a nursery to care for the infants of the store's employees, while they are at work during the day, and 40 children are under the supervision of a trained nurse and a physician employed by the organization.

One of the features of the winter season, both in New York and London has been the painted hats, frocks and hair bands made by Princess Galitzine, of royal Russian birth, who long before the Russian Revolution claimed a reputation of no small repute as a talented artist of Paris training.

Crepe marocain Chinese figures are, it seems, to be very smart, and they are shown in some of the most attractively simple modes, gowns with sleeveless bodices, and intricately pleated and spangled skirts that must have yards and yards of material to them though they hang slimly enough.

JUST APPLY THIS PASTE AND THE HAIRS WILL VANISH

(Boudoir Secrets)

The judicious use of a delicious paste insures any woman a clear, hairless skin. To prepare the paste, mix a little of the powdered delatone with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for three minutes. When the paste is removed, and the skin washed, every trace of the hair has vanished. The pain alleviates the use of the delatone and it will not mar the most sensitive skin, but leave results, too that you get real delatone.

WHY NAMED "RIVER HORSE?"

You remember Jimp, Silky Sol and Tim's best? Well, while he was up in the north country with the others he learned another trick that was more popular than ever. Tinker, indeed, something moving across the river very often. At first he thought it was a boat. But as it came nearer he could see that it was not a boat, but another one of those animals creatures he'd seen with the elephants.

"Well, guess I'll find out what sort of new creature is in the jungles," he exclaimed Tinker Jim, "the creature is Mr. River Horse, is it not?"

"That's what the Jungle folks say it is, but some of the natives call me the Hippotomus. I'm not quarreling what they call me just so they don't catch me and take my hide to make a market," said he.

"Well, do tell me what in the world they would use your skin for?" asked Tinker Bob.

"Why do they call you the River Horse if you don't live on things in the river?"

"Well, we have to stay in the river in the day time or the natives would kill us, then we come out to feed at night. You see we fall asleep so soon that if we didn't have a bank of the river they would come upon us but we would be caught before we could get into the river."

"This is the little fellow's name," asked Tinker.

"Oh, we call him little Hip. He can't swim very far yet so we have to carry him. We must be going back now. The natives might get after us. I'm afraid of them. This is Mr. and Mrs. River Horse and their family."

"River Horse!" cried Tinky Bob, "I never heard of such a name before. If they are friends of yours call them over here till I talk to that baby River Horse."

"Grumph! Grumph!" called little Tim, and immediately the whole sleeping awoke and it was only a moment or two till they were all within

Iroquois Falls Defeat Kitchener at Toronto-9-3

IROQUOIS FALLS BEAT KITCHENER

N.O.H.A. Team Outclasses O.H.A. Representatives in Fast Game 9-3.

Toronto, March 8.—For the third time in as many years the O.H.A. champions of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association have shown that they outclass the O.H.A. intermediate champions. In a sudden-death game here last night the visitors from the far north defeated Kitchener by 9 to 3, and had their marksmanship been better they might have added to half a dozen more to their total. After a bad start the Falls sextet struck their stride and had the advantage, while in the third period they were all over the Green and White, and scored at will.

The Arena was filled to capacity when the game got under way, and the majority of the spectators appeared to favor the northerners. Local followers of the sport, evidently convinced that Kitchener is sure of victory, would prove no match for the Granites, got in behind the paperchasers and cheered their every move. In the first ten minutes, however, the Falls players were all at sea, and even some of their most ardent supporters were dubious as to the outcome. The local lads had a bit to do with it, as the visitors are accustomed to the hard, natural kind, and some of their players had never competed on artificial ice before.

In Wilson and Bydge the winners have a big, powerful pair of checking defence, while these players were also the most effective attackers on the ice. Wilson had a slight advantage in that he is a splendid stick-handler, but near the close Captain Bydge struck his stride and gave a great exhibition of puck-carrying and shooting. His shot was clean all the time, and he helped the net behind goal-keeper Zober four times. To Swift did the puck trend that the net guardian did see it. Once when accompanied by two team-mates Bydge tried a pass to shoot, and as rapid was the movement that very few in the Arena knew that he had shot until the puck landed in the net.

EVERYTHING SET FOR HOCKEY BANQUET

Presentations to be Made to Both Intermediates and Juniors.

All is ready for the Hockey Banquet at the Queen to-morrow night at 7.15. Harold Bartrell and "Sandy" Burrows will probably be there with their usual song pep, and a snappy programme has been arranged. Some gallant juniors have not been forgotten in the arrangements and a presentation will be made to them.

GIRLS DEFEAT BOYS WITH REFEREE'S HELP

Snappy Game at the Arena Last Night Results in Ladies' Win.

A fast and furious game of hockey was played at the Arena last evening between the girls' team, the Battersons, and Young Bachelors, being a game between ladies and gents. Though the boys were sorely aided by the referee who was on hand to cheer their favorites. The line-up was as follows:

Battersons—Goal, Helen Rogers; defence, Jean Hitchon, and Jean Kerr; Centre, Sylvia Rose; wings, Bessie Sayers, Violet Chesbor.

Bachelors—Goal, Allan Swayze, defence, Alex Kerr and Leo Hough; centre, "Doc" Smith; wings, Harley Green and Harry Green.

NOTES

The Boys were only allowed to use one hand. To touch the stick with both hands was an offence for which a penalty was imposed.

Mayor Hanna was the official referee and the Ladies were well pleased with his decisions.

The Ladies won the feat game with the assistance of the referee, the score being 6 to 3. Helen Rogers as goal tender certainly saved the game for the Suffragettes. Jean Hitchon made some telling rushes as a result of which a carpenter was called to repair the boards. Jean Kerr played a most commendable game. The most noticeable feature of the game was the soft ice as a result of which the scholars were not spilled.

PUCK SLAPS

St. Mary's and Avro Les juniors will settle the O.H.A. championship to-night, and it is expected that a record crowd will see these two clever teams engage in what promises to be one of the greatest duels ever staged in the history of the association. The west-enders are down two goals on the round, but not disheared, and they are determined to carry the battle to their bewilder and more experienced opponents. Win or lose, both teams will give their best, and that is what the fans want. The game will start at 8.30, with Referee Bill Box in charge.

Ottawa finished the season only a few points ahead of St. Patrick's and the Toronto players are confident that they will capture the Stanley Cup, which goes to the N.H.L. champions this season. Both teams took matters easily in their last league games, and are ready for the play-off series, with all the regulars in line.

SPORT STUFF

It is the custom of all sport writers to give the low down on how to play games ranging from shinny to tiddle-winks. So here goes:

:: :: :: ::

How to play basket ball.

:: :: :: ::

One man who must be kept in mind is the centre. They call him the centre because he is sometimes caught in the middle of the floor. It is better if he is a tall man, but the rules are very elastic and short men can take a stab at the position. Good centres should keep in condition and light exercises like sweeping the floor, chopping wood and other sundry jobs will help considerably in keeping them light and limber. Mental exercises are not advised—centres don't need them.

:: :: :: ::

Centres are made, not born. Some of them have been known to reach great heights but there was usually a basket up there. A centre should know when to pass and should be able to sense when to split a pair to draw to a straight.

:: :: :: ::

Basketball players mean well and nobody is responsible for them. They should spend their spare time in shooting baskets—not craps. Long shots are very effective but any body who follows the ponies will tell you they come only once in a life time. So what's the use.

CANNED JOHNSON

Plainfield, N. J., March 8.—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, was not permitted to give a boxing exhibition at a theatre here yesterday afternoon, as it had been advertised he would do. It was decided that such an exhibition would be a violation of the state law, since Johnson holds no permit from the state athletic commission.

Johnson had been announced to box four fast rounds tied to meet any of all local heroes, Johnson, however, merely gave a short talk in which he expressed a wish to meet Jack Dempsey in the ring.

A PROMISING YOUNGSTER

According to all reports, that 19-year-old Philadelphia middleweight, Tommy Loughran, must be quite a promising lad. They say that Jack Bryan Downey, the rugged, aggressive battler-a-speed lambasting over in Philadelphia one evening recently, shortly before that he handed Jimmy Darcey, also a very tough proposition, a thorough whalloping at the same hang, writes Jack Skelly. Any kid who can best both Downey and Darcey as effectively must be some fighter indeed, so Tommy seems to be worth watching. But, like all, Tommy has his little locked up in his class. Loughran is most anxious to meet Johnny Wilson for the middleweight championship, which at present is rather a difficult matter to accomplish, when one takes into consideration that Wilson is barred from fighting in some seventeen states and has his title locked up in some safety deposit vault in Boston.

New York—Midget Smith, New York bantamweight, won a 12-round decision from Frankie Daley.

Jack Bernstein won a 12-round decision from Johnny Darcy.

Williamson, W. Va.—Bob Martin knocked out Richie Stellard in two rounds.

St. Louis—Anthony Downey outpointed "Banker" Kern in ten rounds.

Atlanta, Ga.—Young Strihling and Harry Avera, draw, ten rounds.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

The Printers' bowling team last night not only administered a defeat to the K. of C. team, but established a new alley record, namely 2203. It was a great game and was witnessed by a number of spectators. Interest in the game was centred on the fact that both teams were a tie as two games played, as neither team had lost a game. The Printers now have a fairly good opportunity of landing the silver cup presented by Mr. Ed. Riggs, who is an enthusiastic bowler, and takes much interest in the game. In the game last night Printers won both high single score, namely 956 and the best three string, namely 2717. While Domenico for the K. of C. was high for a single game, 215, and Barrett, was high for three strings, namely 572. The margin for the Printers was a considerable one, namely 406. The players and scores were as follows:

HOME RUN BONUS BAD FOR PITCHER

Every Time Ruth Clouts One the Pitcher Will Get "Razzed."

New York, March 8.—Tons of the cash will fall upon the pitcher who slips this coming season and grooves one for Babe Ruth.

Every time the Bam does his $500 stuff, a few wise crackers will howl that the pitcher is gutting a cut for letting him hit.

This is but a natural result of the over-commercialized condition of all professional sport. No one is to blame but the club owners themselves.

Commissioner Landis, with all his time now to keep the game straight, could put in a few hours daily to good advantage by muzzling the big boob contracts.

Many fans figure that Babe Ruth is not worth the $50,000 that will come to him when his new contract is inked. If he isn't worth that much the club owners have made him think he is making it, on their valuation.

When the swat king was suspended by Commissioner Landis, "the regulars shrieked to the house-tops that they would lose sums from $40,000 to $50,000 each while he was out of the game.

If Ruth draws $500,000 each year in receipts, he certainly is worth half of it, and no one can blame him for cashing in when the magnates are especially willing to pay. If they do pay him, are so kind as to tell him how good he is.

Discipline prevails generally through the ranks of the players in the clubs the club owners have trained upon the plan of "yessing" each of the sport. If the magnates have not been making barrels of money, they have been giving the players reason to think players cannot be blamed for wanting some of it.

Ever since Ty Cobb and Landis took charge of baseball, it has been contended by many close to the sport, that the clubs owned baseball, as much investigation as the players.

GREATEST FEATS IN BASEBALL

What a Statistician Claims Are the Outstanding Events of the Game.

Here is what an American baseball statistician claims to be the greatest feats in the game of baseball:

For twelve years in succession, Ty Cobb led the American league in batting. This record covered a period of years extending from 1907 to 1919.

Honus Wagner, for seventeen consecutive years, 1897 to 1913, hit 200 or better in the National league.

Willie Keeler, for eight consecutive years in the National league, made 200 hits or more, reaching the high water mark for that organization in 1897 with 243.

"Babe" Ruth, in three seasons in the American league, 1919, 1920 and 1921, made his home runs his mark of 59 homers in 1921 stands as the record.

"Smiley" McInnes, during the season of 1921, played the entire season at first base, and only made one error. That one was very questionable.

George Gibson, in 1909, caught 142 consecutive games for Pittsburg. His team won the National league that year.

Ed Walsh, in 1908, worked in 66 games for the Chicago White Sox. He saved many games as a relief pitcher, and was credited with 40 victories himself.

In 1920, George Sisler, of the St. Louis Browns, made 257 base hits, breaking the record in that respect for major league.

In 1833, Harry Stovey stole 156 bases, a record that has never been approached by any of the modern-day runners.

"Hoss" Radbourne, in 1884, pitched in 73 games for the Providence club, of which he won 60. He worked in 27 games in succession that season.

"Wee Willie" Keeler, while with the Baltimore Orioles, went through an entire season in the National league without striking out. He was at bat 719 times before he was retired on strikes.

GONE ARE THE DAYS

A Comparison of Modern Baseball Salaries with What They Used to be.

New York, March 9.—George Wright, star shortstop of the Cincinnati Red Stockings, played throughout the entire season of 1869 for a salary of $1,300. The Red Stockings played 57 games that year, of which they won 56 and tied one, a record which has never been duplicated. Wright was the highest paid member of the team.

"Babe" Ruth, home-run hitter extraordinary, signed on Sunday a contract with the New York American League Club which will net him approximately $75,000 during the coming season. The contract is for three years, with a renewal option for two seasons additional. If continued for the full five years, George Norman Ruth will receive a total of not less than $375,000.

These figures give an idea of the development of professional baseball in the United States during the past fifty years. They also are the cause of frequent conferences behind closed doors, in which baseball magnates argue the question as to whether they are building a salary Frankenstein which will in the end turn and destroy what has been in the past a reasonably profitable business. Big league baseball club owners will not discuss publicly this subject except in the most guarded way. It is the concensus of opinion as expressed by the magnates, however, that the situation is serious.

Salaries This Year $2,000,000

It is estimated that the salary lists of the sixteen clubs of the two major leagues will aggregate more than $2,000,000 this season. The maximum figures for any one club are placed at about $225,000, and the minimum at a trifle over $100,000. To this expense must be added general rent, travel charges, local, State and Federal taxes, interest on mortgages, officers and clerical salaries and minor charges, such as advertising, ticket printing and supplies.

A study of baseball salaries over a period of the past thirty to forty years shows the steady increase which has developed from year to year. In the early seventies $1,500 was a top-notch figure for a star player. At the beginning of 1900 players of similar calibre were receiving from $5,000 to $10,000 a season.

Only two years later the famous Chicago Nationals' infield drew the following figures: Frank Chance, $10,000; Johnny Evers, $8,000; Joe Tinker, $5,500; and Steinfeld, $4,000.

About the same time Pittsburg was paying Hans Wagner $10,000 and Tommy Leach $4,000. The Athletics' famous infield, consisting of Eddie Collins, Frank Baker, "Stuffy" McInnis and Jack Barry, drew an annual total of $17,500 of which Collins collected

HOT AIR CHAMPS HAVE THEIR SAY

Battlers Knocked Out By Dempsey Always Have Perfect Alibi.

New York, March 9.—When one William Harrison Dempsey isn't swinging dismane, most of the scrappers are still "slow him" and time they get a couple of listeners.

Bill Brennan has been knocked out twice by the champion, but he contends he was the victim of an accident twice, and that the third time the accident will bounce back on Dempsey.

Acting on advice, Harry Wills isn't saying anything, but he has plenty of accomplices who will picture Dempsey on the floor in about three rounds.

Even Harry Greb will whip the heavyweight king twice a day if he gets an audience. According to Greb, he whipped the champion so badly when he was acting as his sparring partner before the Brennan fight that Dempsey will hardly speak to him now.

Tom Gibbons, who fights Greb here on Monday night, is he "frank." He says that Dempsey is the greatest heavyweight in the ring, and that he doesn't want anything to do with him for at least a year. "Later, perhaps, but not now," he says.

The Gibbons family looks to be the best in the group from which Dempsey may have to select his next opponent. It is true that he is practically untried, but it is not his fault. The good ones have given him the pass by for two years.

Gibbons looks like a sure winner by a knockout when he gets Greb in the ring. That blustery boy is fast, but he can't hit, and Gibbons is punching harder than ever before.

DIAMOND DUST

EXPECTS RUTH TO MAKE NEW MARK

New York, March 9.—Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the New York Yanks, expects Babe Ruth to make a new home run record this coming season.

"The handicap of five weeks will be an asset to him as he always does his best work under pressure," Ruppert said.

Erin Ward, holdout infielder, will have to quit baseball if he wants $10,000 a year, he said.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer—

Dear Sir,—I think now that it is high time that our City Council would start to do business. It is now over two months since the elections and there has been nothing accomplished. Oh, yes, there has been a new by-law passed, they advertise the fine hill site on Front, for sale. Now, sir, I think if the City Council is going to do anything this year for the benefit of Belleville they had better do away with the circus performance they have in the meetings at the City Hall and start work on some of the sewers required at once; which will make work for the unemployed. Now wake up and do something.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

One of the best concerts ever given in Shannonville was held on Wednesday night by the Ancient Order of United Workmen in their Hall in the village. The Hall has been newly decorated down stairs and is now quite fit to be used for entertainments. The seats in the Quinte District inside the object of the concert was to obtain funds to go on with improvements in the rooms upstairs, and also to the outside. It is intended to make the Hall adapted in every way for community purposes, one of which the people of the district may well be proud.

The well known Bridge Street Orchestra contributed the opening portion of the program. Bell & Smith's comedy sketch was well received. The following parties also contributed to the program: Miss Annie Bonter, Miss Yerex, Miss Butler, Miss Vanderfoort, Miss Taylor and Mr. Alex. Vanderfoort. A pleasing feature of the entertainment was the presence of Mrs. Reid of Bridge Street Orchestra, who formerly resided in Shannonville and rendered a vocal solo. George Greatrix, Master of Shannonville Lodge in an address made a strong appeal to the young men and young women of the community to help in the work of the Order. W. C. Vancouver.—Plans of twenty-nine nations affiliated with the international association of Rotary Clubs and blue-and-gold colors—will be seen from the Us to the Antipodes at Camville Street to the Capitol Theatre and Empress Hotel, Victoria, when Georgia and to the Areas, during the Rotarian Convention in April. Chairman Robert Shaw of the decorations committee of the local conference has completed all plans and expects to have the city ready for the Sunday first day of Sojourns, now having nearly 2,000, will arrive by boat and train on the 5th, 6th and 7th. C. N. R. and G. N. R. These three companies have provided that their depots suitably decorated. The Hotel Vancouver will be the official quarters and the management will have the Rotary emblems and colors in prominence everywhere.

Vancouver.—When the Canadian Pacific Empress of Asia" sailed from Vancouver for the Orient she carried in her hold the equipment of wireless equipment made up of a number of sets of improvements which are to be used by all prospectors for one of the large commercial wireless companies on the Far eastern oil fields in the Orient. These instruments are the highest quality obtainable and are valued at several million dollars in the aggregate. Large oil companies tion facilities and means to get the formation from the prospecting parties in the Orient has forced the larger concerns to use wireless telegraphy as a means of communication.

Several of these wireless sets have already been in use about a year in the Mackenzie River district, and have given great satisfaction. One surprising feature is that the famine had been caused by the "static" in these instruments, but the local troubles are always ascribed to the unseen spirits in the wireless telegraph instruments.

Vancouver.—That the new Canadian Pacific steamer "Empress of Scotland" is now the queen of the coast in performance, size, construction and furnishings, is the verdict of the passengers who came from Victoria on her first trip.

The steamer has commenced regular service, sailing from Victoria for Atalia T. Rippon, formerly of the Dominion Government Royal and will continue on the Victoria-Vancouver route until mid-summer, when she will go on the Skagway run under extensive repairs. Captain Gordon Grant is in charge of Chief Engineer Jas. Bain is in charge.

"Princess Louise" is a source of especial pride to the officials of the Company owing to the fact that she is entirely the product of British Columbia craftsmanship. Hull and engines were built by the Wallace Shipbuilding Co., and the superstructure, cabins, fittings and decorations are all local work. The only parts that are not the product of British Columbia are some of the furnishings which were taken out from the former "Irene" and "Princess Royal" ships.

FURTHER DROP IN U. S. EXCHANGE

Canadian Dollar Did Not Maintain Its Recent Improved Position.

New York, March 9.—Failure of the Canadian dollar to maintain recent gains has been a feature of the money market during the past few days. Recently discount on the Canadian unit was as low as 1-32 of one per cent. Today it rose to as high as 6 7-8 per cent. Yesterday's quotation was between 3 1-16 and 3 5-16, a gain of one per cent. over Monday's close. The dollar is reported to be displaying a heavy tendency, despite the loss of a further one per cent. today.

Dealers in Canadian exchange are at a loss to account for the break, especially since the announcement of the $11,000,000 Canadian National railway bond issue, which was marketed here. In some quarters, the increased discount rate is attributed to a pessimism in sympathy with sterling, which has been weak, and to a natural reaction from the recent heavy gains.

Traders say that there has been no real tendency in the money market during the past few days, but that it has been erratic without apparent cause. There has been considerable speculative demand, and both long and short interests are uneasy.

Holes in Planking

W.T.—Is in cruising the footbridge that some of the plankings at the ends are worn off, causing not a few holes, which if not repaired may prove dangerous to pedestrians. Some of the holes already in the planking are of sufficient size to allow the foot of a child to fall in. The Public Works Department of the city should lose no time in having some new planks replace those that have become worn.

U. S. ATTITUDE AT GENOA

Washington, March 9.—Within the next 24 hours, according to a statement made at the White House today, President Harding and Secretary Hughes will "record" the exact attitude to be followed by the United States Government with reference to the invitation extended by the European powers for American participation in the world economic conference to be held in Genoa.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

"Bill, you'll wish I hadn't the case and the constable went back to the pantry with me, prowling with his flash-light in search of the way. The constable letted his officer on the top of the pen and passed out quickly, while I seized the food for the pigs. Mr. Hartley met us at the kitchen door, where Detroit Hanks said to him: "If you'd look after the boy today I'll go back to the old nest. It's empty."

"God bless yer soul, yo had a busy night," said the schoolmaster with a smile.

He added as he went into the house: "I never knew a man to treat with more scorn and persistence. It was a perfect flood of it. It keep me awake until long after midnight."

CHAPTER XI.

The Spirit of Michael Henry and Others.

At the exhibition of Amos Orinshaw my knowledge was committed to the records and ceased to be a source of danger to me. Gradually I came to the village that day. On my way to the courthouse I saw him walking slowly, with best head as I had seen him before, followed by old Kate. She carried her staff in her left hand while the forefinger of her right hand was pointing him out. Silent as a ghost and as unheeded—one would say—she followed his steps.

I observed that old Kate sat on a front seat with her hand to her ear and Grimshaw stood in the aisle and told his tale and when she looked at him her lips moved as a strange unuttered murmur of her spirit. Her face filled with joy as one damning witness after another added to the evidence.

The facts heretofore alleged, and others, were proved, for the tracks fitted the shoes of Amos. The young man was held and presently indicted. The time of his trial was not determined.

I wrote a good hand those days and the leading merchant of the village engaged me to post his books every Saturday at ten cents an hour. Thence forward until Christmas I gave my free days to that task. I estimated the sum that I should earn and planned to divide it in equal parts and proudly present it to my aunt and uncle on the Christmas day.

One Saturday while I was at work on the big ledger of the merchant I heard a voice this time

October 5-8 Wright—To one and all of clothes for Michael Hagerr, from Mrs. Wright, Thurlow. Will be sold at Wright's residence, Thurlow, on Wednesday, March 15th, at 10 o'clock a.m. Terms cash. 2-1t

I knew then the history of the suit of clothes which I had worn since the rainy October night, for I remembered that Sam Wright, the father, had measured me at our home and made up the cloth of Aunt Dosh's weaving.

I observed, also, that numerous articles—a load of wood, two sacks of flour, three pails of lard, one cod, ten pounds of salt pork and four bushels of potatoes—all for "Michael Henry" had been charged to Silas Wright.

But by the merest chance I learned that the invisible "Michael Henry" was the almoner of the modest stipend, and really the benefactor of Silas Wright feeding the hungry and clothing the naked as the occasion arose, and always in the absence of its owner. It was the heart of Wright added to that of a modest schoolmaster, which sat to the green chair.

I fear that my work suffered in moment's interruption, for just then I began to know the great love for the boy Michael Henry. There was in the clothing that covered my back, its delivery and its acceptance, a touch of love and shared its benefactions.

I count this one of the great events of my life. Then for the first time in greater one, although it seemed not so at the time of it. In a traveler on the road to Ballybeen had dropped his pocketbook containing a three months' note for $4,700 and some cash, or if I remember rightly. He was a man who, being greatly annoyed at the loss, had withdrawn his money. Posters announced the loss and offered a large reward. The village was profoundly stirred by them. Some people, however, did not regard stirring in dust and groping in its grass and brushwood for pocketbooks as a task supposed to be lying there. It was said, however, that the search was not successful. So the lost pocketbook became a treasured mystery of the village and a theme for many a winter's eve toward Ballybeen—a topic of old wives and young men's debate at the fireside for unnumbered years.

By and by the fall term of school ended. Uncle Peddock came down to get me the day before Christmas. I had enjoyed my work and my life at the Hackets', on the whole, but I was glad, to be going home again. I was sorry to part with quite a little there were many passages in the sleigh.

"Now, Christmas to you both and plenty of it," said Hacket, as he made his adieus.

"Merry Christmas to you both and hills to your horse."

The hills rose sheerily as we hurried through the swamp in the hard snow path.

"We're goin' to move," said my uncle presently. "We've agreed to get out by the first of March."

"How does that happen?" I asked.

"I settled with Grimshaw and agreed to rent it. I hain't heard how Wright and Baldwin we wouldn't 'a' got a cent. They threatened to bid against him at the sale. So he settled. We're goin' to have a new home. We've bought a hundred an' fifty acres from Abe Leonard. Goin' to build a new house in the spring. It will be nearer the village."

MODERATOR RESIGNES OVER SALARY INCREASED

Hamilton, Ont., March 8.—When the Hamilton Presbytery yesterday approved of the increase in the minimum stipends of ministers from $1,200 to $1,500, adopted by the general assembly recently, Rev. C. B. Pitcher, of Oneida, moderator of the Hamilton Presbytery, resigned his position.

Rev. Mr. Pitcher objected to the approval of the increase on the grounds that it would work a hardship for the rural parishes.

PARIS IS KEPT CLEAN.

French Capital Is Known as a Unique City.

Paris is a wonder. Paris poor; but Paris is clean. The shelters of ancient days are gone, but the Parisians are famous for dirty streets, and they say without compunction that the necessity to maintain a system of street cleaning more sanitary and more extensive than any American city has yet dreamed of.

Even before the war Paris, like London, had adopted the sanitary process of waste disposal, but it is only recently that the street cleaning department has perfected its remarkable system of waste collection.

As required by the destructor process, all the waste of every family goes into one receptacle. Ashes, garbage, papers, broken glass and crockery are thrown in and every housekeeper may mix them all. The dry, ashes distinct from the wet, and the moist garbage holds the sales and papers; hence there are no papers flying about Paris streets, and the horrors of ash collection day are unknown.

The residents of each square are notified when the collector's cart will arrive, and receptacles are required to be on the pavement not more than ten minutes before the specified time and to be removed within ten minutes after the cart has passed. In the season in which I live I am was the hour of collection, writes a visitor. Ten minutes before 9 o'clock I can in front of every house. Promptly on the hour the cart, preceded the square, and by 7.10 every can had been emptied and had disappeared at the end of the block. Incredible, I repeated. The square had been swept.

This rapid, clean system of disposal is made possible by the cart, which is a huge, high-sided affair, in shape and swag-low, to lessen the labor of the unloaders. It has no fitting, for in three sections; as the cart moves along the sections fall into them another, and when the third has been dumped down the cart is ready to take its place to the destructor without the possibility of dropping one fragment of its contents.

The trains, or central plant, is outside the city. It comprises a large, four-class furnace, at the top of which are the furnaces, and leading to them a moving platform about a foot or two below the pavement. The carts dump their contents into this platform, and as it fails a number of men and women, armed with rakes, distribute the mass and pick out such articles as they think too valuable to be burned. Bottles are a prize.

The moving platform carries the refuse to the furnaces, on one side

NEW BAIT

Members of the Macdonald Family to Tempt the Spirit.

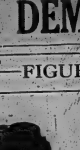

Colchester Mills, N.S., March 10.—Ghosts are still the order of the day and still no trees, trappings or shapes. The Antigonish ghost refuses to come within sight of bidding, in spite of the invitation in the presence of Dr. Prince, who is ready to receive him with the greatest sympathy and concern. Perhaps the wrong bait has been put in the net, so tonight Mary Ellen Macdonald and her foster-father will be used. SCHOOL MATTERS ABLY DISCUSSED

Dr. Edwards, Ex-M.P., Forcibly and Convincingly Combats Proposed Legislation.

The City Hall was last evening about two-thirds filled by citizens who assembled to hear an address on the separate school question which at the present time is a burning subject in the Province of Ontario. Dr. Edwards, ex-M.P., for Frontenac County was the speaker and he handled the subject in in a clever and convincing manner. That he is thoroughly equipped with facts and figures and can marshal them in a manner that drives them home to his hearers.

Mr. H. W. Ackerman, chairman of the Board of Education, occupied the chair, and in a few well-chosen remarks introduced the speaker. Upon the platform were Rev. Rural Dean Swayze, Rev. G. W. Marshall, Rev. A. H. Foster and some laymen.

In his opening remarks, Dr. Edwards stated that it was not the Protestants of Ontario that caused this controversy or agitation, but was brought on by those high up in the Roman Catholic church. Archbishop McNeil and other R.C. dignitaries desire to secure from the Legislature of the Province an amendment to the Separate School Act whereby larger grants for these schools will be received. The substance of the church notables' request was that the school rates paid by incorporated companies in the Province of Ontario should be divided on the basis of the attendance of the several years the public schools especially in the rural sections did not pay the grants separate schools got and the same conditions exists to-day. The speaker gave facts and figures to uphold this contention. In Middlesex County in 1921, the grant to public schools was $170.66 per school, to separate schools $1,100.00 for each pupil in the public school the grant was equivalent to $7.99 per pupil, whilst to the separate school it was equivalent to $33.95 per pupil. Why should there be such a discrepancy? Dr. Edwards also gave figures in relation to Legislative grants to these two schools in Frontenac County and they virtually worked out the same. In Grey County, three separate schools received a larger grant than the nine public schools in that County.

In any County you will find that the Legislative grant to the separate schools is greater than to the public schools. We pride ourselves in Ontario of being British subjects, but there are parts that do not bear this out.

We have schools where not a word of English is taught from Monday morning until Friday evening. The Protestants have not British fair play in this so called British Province. They will not ask a thing in Canada as a Protestant separate school, not even in Quebec. In Quebec they are not interested in the same sense as the separate schools in Ontario are, six Protestant schools only are received as Legislative grant a less sum than one separate school received on Howe Island with but few pupils attending same. There are at Pembroke,unless two separate Protestant schools but necessity ends of the establishment of those schools. We should all be under one school system.

LEGISLATURE MAY INVESTIGATE PARTY

Attorney-General Raney, in Prepared Statement, Disclaims Responsibility and is Promptly Called to Account by W. F. Nickle, K.C., for Evasion of Duty, as There Were Others at Jollification Than Members of the House.

Toronto, March 10.—The U.F.O. members who heaved a sigh of relief when the last word was heard on Thursday afternoon on the famous "last night party" and who since have been laboring under the delusion that the incident was a closed one, received a rude shock in the Legislature yesterday with Hon. W. E. Raney in the role of the shocker. The members generally seemed to have reached a tacit agreement to let the matter drop, but the Attorney-General, who has been subjected in the press to what in common parlance is known as "spanking" has still precisely belonging the House to go ahead and administer discipline.

The House, of course, was not in a mood to discipline anyone, and the net result of the Attorney-General's session was a speech by Sam Clarke, Liberal member for Northumberland, that introduced the name of Hon. Charles Stewart for the first time the first time as a Minister had been mentioned in the House. Mr. Clarke declared that he did not denounce a certificate of character; but he did not improve matters by his attempt to minimize the incident by recalling some of the things that used to happen in the good old days. Mr. Clarke's statement has brought upon him the criticism of W. F. Nickle, K.C., who hitherto silent, took exception to the Attorney-General's attempt to absolve himself of responsibility. M. M. Mr. Ferguson, after referring to the distinctive character of the campaign now going on, declared that the ideal for a county such as this was one set of schools state supported, but, as Separate schools were a part of the Confederation part, the bargain must be observed to the letter. But there must be no reaching beyond that, as was now being attempted, and any attempted encroachment must be resisted with all the strength available.

CANADA'S DEBT GROWS SMALLER

Smaller Customs Collections Account Largely for the Reduced Receipts.

Ottawa, March 10.—A decrease of $699,863 in the net debt of Canada during the month of February, as compared with an increase of $1,20,113 in the same month last year, is shown by the financial statement issued from the Finance Department today. The net debt of Canada on February 28th, 1922 $2,307,913,356 as compared with $2,307,886,102, as compared with $2,-329,685,984 on January 31st, 1922, and $2,307,913,356 on February 28th, 1921.

Total revenue collected for the eleven months of the fiscal year which ended on February 28th, amounted to $213,816,768, as compared with $189,916,180 for a similar period a year ago. This is a decrease in revenue of $75,-895,412. This decrease is offset to a degree, by a decrease in total expenditures amounting to $46,623,558. For the eleven month period of the present fiscal year expenditures totalled $267,-913,570, as compared with $339,597,-128.

The major portion of the decrease in revenue is, of course, due to a falling off in customs revenue. Revenues collected from customs during the eleven months of the present fiscal year totalled $91,056,176. Last year customs collections totalled $162,791,615.

SECOND SERIOUS FIRE IN QUEBEC ARSENAL

Damage This Time Amounts to Over $200,000—Outbreak Being Investigated by Fire Department Officials—No One in the Building at the Time.

Quebec, Que., March 10.—Damage to the extent of $200,000, resulted from a fire which broke out in the main plant of the Dominion Arsenal at 5-30 p.m. yesterday afternoon.

With all the city fire department fighting the outbreak and all the forces of the permanent militia and the city police on duty to keep the crowds back, the blaze was well under control at 7-30 o'clock.

The fire broke out in the case and bullet department about half an hour after the men had quit work and had left the building. There was nobody in the building at the time of the outbreak, except the watchman, who discovered the blaze. The firemen succeeded in confining the fire to the department in which it originated, but the blaze was a hard one to fight.

There was considerable comment about the fire, as this is the second outbreak in the arsenal grounds this month. The other fire occurred on the night of Wednesday, March 1, in the building on the Cove Fields, which is about half a mile from the main building on Palace Hill, which was the scene of to-day's fire. It was said to-day that the loss in the fire on the Cove Fields was $125,000.

There was some uneasiness in the city when the fire broke out, as it was feared that there were explosives in the building. The fire-fighters were promptly, stayed when word went around that the explosives were stor-

DOMINION ALLIANCE NEEDS RELIEF FUND

Prohibition Convention Hears Frank Statement as to the Financial Requirements of the Association—County Delegates Report Great Improvement.

Toronto, March 10.—A scheme for the purpose of wiping off the deficit which is at present hampering the work of the Dominion Alliance was submitted at the Provincial Prohibition Convention at Massey Hall yesterday afternoon. The report of a special committee showed that the total deficit of $15,000 was created in one year—1920—and stated the amount should be raised by a relief fund. The sum would have to be raised without impairing the regular income of the Alliance. The committee recommended that a special committee of fifteen members, representative of the various counties of the province endeavor to raise this "relief fund" of $15,000 to be applied exclusively to liquidate the indebtedness of the Alliance. The report laid stress on the fact that this fund must not be considered as a substitute for the ordinary annual subscriptions, as the regular income would be required to keep up the ordinary active propaganda of the year.

The conference generally approved the scheme, but it was decided that a conference of representatives of the counties should be held and the result of their deliberations will be reported to the convention to-day.

Rev. Ben H. Spence said it would be a great satisfaction to the men who directly had to do with the affairs of the Alliance if the load could be lifted, and if some means could be devised by which they would be free to gon on with their work without the tremendously hampering and harassing burdens they had been carrying.

E. H. Cleaver, K.C., of Burlington, learned and capable men who were doing everything to their power to undermine temperance legislation and temperance influences; and it was up to temperance people to meet and combat that condition. He was glad to see that throughout the Dominion Alliance which was capable of doing a militant work in connection with the great movement in the liquor trade, and it rested with the convention to come to the rescue of the Alliance. Day by day and week to week, were carrying the load for the cause which those present had fought for and which was so dear to them all.

Chairman of the convention, pointed out that there was a militant force of

ROCK SHOWER COMES FROM CLOUDS

Queer Happening in Chicago While Police and Newspapermen Inspect Warehouse.

Chicago, Ill., March 10.—Showers of rocks that had fallen from the clouds on a warehouse here have baffled police and investigators. While the town Marshal and a committee of newspapermen were examining the roof of the warehouse yesterday, a shower of smooth rocks sent them scurrying to shelter. Those standing on the street said the rocks came from the clouds.

GREAT GROWTH OF INDUSTRY

Canada Not Only a Country of Farms, Says C. M. A. President.

Washington, March 10.—The wide scope of the development of Canadian manufacturing, transportation and financial interests and the fact that Canada is by no means merely an agricultural country are being impressed on the people of the United States by President J. W. McKinnon of Toronto, of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Mr. J. W. McKinnon, who was in Washington recently gave out an interview in which he stressed the extent of Canadian interests other than agricultural, which is not always fully appreciated on the United States side of the border and, perhaps is not fully understood even by many Canadians themselves.

"The popular impression that Canada is primarily an agricultural country is one that has very little basis in fact," said Mr. McKinnon. "Canada is building herself up along four distinct, though interrelated lines of development. They are agricultural, manufacturing, transportation and finance. While, as I said, Canada is not distinctively an agricultural country, advances during the past decade along that line being remarkable. In 1900 the total value of her agricultural products was $361,000, in 1910 this value had increased to $623,000,000 while in 1921 even after a decided drop in the prices of many agricultural products, the total value was estimated at $1,575,000,000. During 1921 Canada produced more than 300,000,000 bushels of wheat or about one-half the amount produced in all the United States.

"Even a more remarkable increase, however, has been made in the amount and value of manufactured products. In 1901 their total value was $457,000,000; in 1911 it was $718,000,000 while in 1921 it had reached $3,223,000,000, notwithstanding the industrial depression that was prevalent at that time. Of the 8,500,000 persons living in Canada today, about two million are dependent upon the manufacturing industry for their livelihood, Canada's exports of manufactured articles during the past year amounted to $47.36 per capita as compared with a value of $60.80 per capita for the United States. 562 hundred United States factories now have branch establishments in Canada, which represent a capital investment of $400,000,000 and provide employment for 87,000 persons. During the war, and there are now more than 2,000 varieties of articles manufactured there that were imported in 1914."

Concerning the development of transportation, Mr. McKinnon said that the Canadian government is confronted with problems very similar to those of the United States. About half of the 38,000 miles of railroad in that country are now government owned and are now showing an operating deficit which is causing grave concern. Part of this deficit, he said, is no doubt caused by the increase in railroad wages in the United States during the period of government control, which were reflected in Canada.

REX STOCK COMPANY HERE MONDAY IN "FAIR & WARMER"

An entire change of scenery and vaudeville will go with the Rex Stock Company's next play, namely "Fair & Warmer", by Seymour and Williams will offer one of their feature numbers, and the Park Kiddies will offer one of theirs.

"Fair & Warmer" often called Avery Hopwood's masterpieces of comedy, is a play full of fun, wholesome laughter and witty lines, that aside from anything else it is a tonic for that jaded "Winter" feeling. The Rex Players have the unique experience of being the only company producing the comedy delight at popular prices, and it gives the same standard of production, that the two dollar shows gave it.

"SENTIMENTAL TOMMY"

Mabel Taliaferro, star of the stage and screen for many years, returns to the screen after an absence of a year in Paramount's version of Sir James M. Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy," which will be shown at Griffin's tonight and Saturday, matinee and night. Miss Taliaferro has the role of "The Painted Lady," the truthful mother of Grizel, heroine of the piece, and her portrayal is said to be flawless and constantly looks for a letter from her lover which never comes. It is the best of a role for which Miss Taliaferro with her calm, stately way is especially fit, and her interpretation of it makes it stand out as one of the classics of screen characterizations.

Miss Taliaferro's record is so well known that it may be passed over briefly. On the stage since she was two years old, she created such parts as Lovely Mary in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," Polly in "Polly of the Circus", Nance Olden in "The Bishop's Carriage" and Madeline in "Springtime."

Gareth Hughes is seen as Tommy and May McAvoy as Grizel and others in the cast include George Fawcett, Lelia Frost, Virginia Valli, Harry L. Coleman, Dale Davenport, and Alfred Kappeler.

The last chapter of "Winners of the West" serial featuring Art Acord, Larry Semon in a 3-reel comedy "The Barnyard," and Pathe News will be exhibited in addition to the above feature offering.

INDIAN DRIVER WINS SASKATCHEWAN DOG DERBY

Big River, Sask., March 10.—J. McDonald's team, driven by Antoine Maurice, an Indian driver from Isle La Crosse, won the first annual $35 mile Saskatchewan dog Derby, finish ing here shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning. He covered the course in 18 hours and 50 minutes. Celestin Derocher of La Plonge, also an Indian was second, coming in 31 minutes behind the winner. The rest of the field was not in sight when Maurice and Derocher finished.

The dogs of both the winning team finished in good condition. Mr. 10.0' McDonald's dogs trotted up to the line with the driver, Maurice, half asleep in his toboggan. Celestine Derpche came in also lying back comfortably in cariole. Both these drivers fed twice during the trip, but only stopped for half an hour at Green Lake, the turning point. The teams took turns breaking trail and led all the way. Maurice changed dogs often and used every one of his dogs on the lead during the race.

BRITAIN SELLS AIR EQUIPMENT

Decision Partly Due to Economy and Huge Ships Are Sold.

London, March 10.—Great Britain definitely has abandoned airships. The Air Ministry has announced that what is left of the great war fleet of aerial monsters is now for sale, which means that the plants, materials on hand, the latest ideas in mooring masts and hydrogen generating works must go too. The celebrated stations at Pulham and Norfolk already are awaiting dismantlement.

This decision has been taken, it is stated officially, partly as a result of the failure of the plan for formation of an imperial airship service, and partly on grounds of economy. The decision comes as a surprise because a recent official statement and the airship fleet would be kept intact for some time to give an opportunity for the Dominions to take action to link up the empire aerially. At the imperial conference last summer such pressure was brought to bear by the Dominions, particularly by Australia and Canada, that the airship scrapping program was delayed and there was hope that the service might be saved.

Then came the disaster of the R-38, with the great loss of British and American lives, which caused widespread discouragement of any development of the plan. The ultimate decision still was under discussion when the Roma was wrecked, and when even the staunchest friends of airships in this country gave up hope.

DOCTORS EXAMINE KING OF MONTREAL

Montreal, March 8.—"I am king!" This was the disputed statement of Morris Zimring, tailor, who appeared in the King's Bench Court here yesterday afternoon charged with having attempted to murder his wife by firing several revolver shots at her in their home last January following a quarrel over the question of his unemployment.

Zimring paid little attention to the charge, reiterating the statement that he was king, and surprise it with the question "Where is my doctor?"

When the lawyers in their dark robes entered the court room he exclaimed: "Take away those undertakers."

He will be examined by alienists.

SERIOUS CONDITION OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

Ability of Government to Maintain Order May Soon be Tested.

Delhi, India, March 8.—During the course of a speech in the legislative assembly yesterday in reply to criticisms of military expenditure, General Rawlinson, commander-in-chief of the British troops in India, said that despite efforts to reduce the expenses of the army he rise in food prices, clothing and rail charges had swallowed up all the economies.

He declared no further reduction of the army was now possible on account of the seditious propaganda which was being circulated among the population necessitating the calling out of troops almost daily to preserve peace and guard against attempts of seditionists to tamper with the loyalty of Indian soldiers. He said he would consider further reductions whenever united India showed her loyalty and devotion to the British empire, but under the present circumstances the internal British garrisons of India were none too large.

G.W.V.A. DOES SPLENDID WORK

A Resume of the Activities of the Local Organization Shows Great Strides.

On May 10th, 1917, a meeting of returned soldiers was called together for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada, the meeting being held in the Duley Building, Front street. A number of returned men attended and the organization was formed on this night. The following officers were elected: E. G. Blaylock, president; C. A. Gibson, vice-president; J. F. Duley, secretary; H. L. Porter, financial secretary; J. Gilbey, treasurer; M. Sprague and E. Carr, executive committee. On January 14th, 1918, the first annual meeting of the association was held, after a very successful year. The following officers were elected: E. D. O'Flynn, president; R. D. Fenton, vice-president; E. A. Gess, secretary treasurer; W. Bosgard, W. A. Hutchinson, C. J. Lewis, and J. V. Ross, executive committee. On January 13th, 1919, the second annual meeting of the association was held and the following officers were elected: R. D. Fenton, president; 1st vice-president, J. V. Ross; 2nd vice-president, C. W. Cutler; executive committee, Dr. R. W. Tennant, E. D. O'Flynn and George Hope.

At the first executive meeting held, it was decided that the association should have a paid secretary treasurer. This was attended to and F. H. Liddle was appointed. During this year many hundred joined the association, as the war was over and all the boys were returning. Col. S. S. Leake and Col. D. Barragar were appointed as honorary presidents of the association.

On January 27th, 1920, the third annual meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association was held in the City Hall and the following officers were elected: C. F. Wallridge, president; R. D. Finkle, 1st vice-president; L. Blaker, 2nd vice-president; executive committee, J. W. Day, Geo. E. Dobbs and W. Mannings; secretary treasurer, K. H. Liddle.

On January 10th, 1922, the fourth annual meeting of the association was held at the armouries and was attended by a great many members. The following officers were elected: J. M. Wilson, president; D. W. Dawes, 1st vice-president; H. W. Dillistadt, 2nd vice-president; executive committee, L. G. Madden, D. T. McManus, C. A. Thompson and H. C. Belsey; E. H. W. Liddle, secretary treasurer.

During the last three years the association have been putting on a Christmas tree for all ex-service men's children and soldiers' widows' children. During this time $3,000 worth of presents have been received, which cost $3,500.00, the money being given by the citizens each year, including a substantial grant from the G.W.V.A.

Since the organization started some $3,000.00 has been given in relief to returned men and their dependents.

Commencing June 3rd, 1918, the G.W.V.A. have been putting on celebrations and have brought thousands of people to Belleville, and have spent thousands of dollars in putting attractions; $11,000 being expended for attractions during the four years.

The association has been successful in adjusting hundreds of complaints of returned men and their dependents since the organization and are always willing to take up any just complaint. In August last year, the G.W.V.A. Regatta was held in Big Bay and hundreds of citizens witnessed the revival of sailing craft racing on the bay. The fine challenge cup was put up by the association, which will be raced for each year in the Bay of Quinte, under the direction of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada, Belleville Branch.

At the present time the officers of the association are negotiating for the erection of the Memorial Hall, which has been talked of for a long time. By means the association have held off in because of the high cost of building and they hope that the building will go up this year. They are also planning a bigger and better June 3rd celebration than ever before.

If any returned men or dependents of returned men require any advice in connection with any claims, etc., information will be gladly furnished by the secretary.

A number of returned men in Belleville have now received their war medals, the government would like all service men to make application in the same, as they will receive the proper address as so many have changed their places of residence since demobilization. There are a number of application cards that can be obtained from the G.W.V.A. on application.

In February, 1921, the Executive decided to start a canteen in connection with the association, and has been greatly enjoyed by the members coming to the boys, much the same way as in Bigsby. The canteen is in charge of a canteen steward.

SOLDIER SETTLERS NEED HELP

Government Will be Asked to Help Soldiers Out ... West.

Ottawa, Out., March 10.—The procedure necessary for the amelioration of conditions among soldier settlers, particularly in the prairie provinces and British Columbia, occupied practically the entire afternoon session yesterday of the Dominion executive of the Great War Veterans' association of Canada, Major John Barnett, chairman of the soldiers' settlement board, attended the meeting, and received statements concerning the situation in the west. Ian McKenzie, M. L.A., Vancouver, representative for British Columbia, declared that the economic situation was such that fifty per cent. of the settlers were so discouraged that they were seriously considering quitting. J. H. Marshall, Regina, representative for Manitoba, stated that 40 per cent. of the settlers in that province were similarly situated. W. J. Butterill, Red Deer, representative for Alberta, and "Jock" Cameron, Saskatoon, representative for Saskatchewan, did not think the situation was as bad in their provinces, but that it was serious enough to warrant immediate remedial measures. Many individual and group cases were cited in support of the statements.

Major Barnett informed the executive that the soldiers' settlement board had gone to the extent of its powers under the act to meet conditions. District officers had just been advised that where actions could not meet payments on account of crop failure or other causes beyond the control of settlers, they were to be deferred and distributed over the remaining period of the loans.

From the evidence secured, the executive will prepare a program of remedial legislation to amend the Soldiers' Settlement Act and place it before the present session of parliament.

SCHOOL MATTERS ABLY DISCUSSED

west to a Protestant school in Prince County and it did not interfere with his religious belief.

In the latter part of his address the speaker showed the injustice which would arise if the amendments proposed to the separate act was adopted. If it is a monstrous proposition declared Dr. Edwards. All we want is equal rights and we say we should Protestants be asked to have part of their taxes go to building a separate school any more than to assist in supporting a seclarian church and its preachers. If they get what they are asking for it will mean about $1,000,000 taken from Protestant taxpayers to be converted in the coffers of the Roman Catholic church. We should all work for unity and harmony, but our Catholic friends want too much. If we had a separate High school and a separate collegiate institute, separate normal schools, separate technical schools and it is a good thing to have such a separation, would it not be better to have separate committees. Let our boys and girls grow up together and if they do we will get rid of any distrust that exists. He has no control of the separate school Act as it was passed by the Imperial Parliament, but we can deal with it, and the amendments that may be proposed to the Act.

Rev. Hiriel Deacy Swayne spoke a few words in favor of the petition and closed on the principle of Dr. Edwards' address, in presenting to the audience a petition to be signed, which title he promised to be a legislature against the proposed legislation asked for.

J. H. G. M. Marshall also spoke a few words in support of the petition which was circulated and signed by the great majority of those present.

GOD'S LITTLE ARMIES

By BYRON STAUFFER

It was Britain's "Contemptible Little Army" that held the Teuton Attila's ruthless long enough for the French forces to rally.

For every reform there is always a contemptible little army. In the time of national shame, God is reported as declaring to Elijah that He still had seven thousand left which had bowed the knee unto Baal.

That Contemptible Little Army was so scattered that the discouraged prophet wasn't aware of its existence. The soldiers were at home, feeding the sheep and milking the cows.

All Ontario cannot be gathered to the big conventions at Massey Hall. The great mass of men are attending to their usual affairs, bringing up their children, worshipping according to their traditions, all fairly normal, for best on anarchy, immorality or grave immoderation.

But there is no card index, no badge of identification, telling us about their identity. When they come to town, they are unlikely to appear at the headquarters of the reform bureau. They declare themselves on any pending measure. Only in a crisis will they rise in their might and march against Baal and his legions.

For a time, God's seven thousand may seem to be timid creatures, fearful of the reigning Ahab and Jezebel but in the end they show true courage.

There is no sadder page in British history than that which records how Cromwell, the nation suffered Stuartism to raise its horrid head once more. The tide of loyalty to the throne overflowed to the extreme of servility. The body of the great Protector was torn from its splendid tomb in Westminster Abbey and hanged on a gallows. The head was then cut off and set on a pike upon Westminster Hall where it remained for twenty-three years. And none dared raise his voice against the outrage. But it was not conclude that courage was therefore completely dead. The noble seven thousand still lived! When James the Second's misdeeds reached the limit of endurance, these led the new cause which blossomed into the revolution of 1688.

True reform is evolutionary. Its process. It is always produced by the earnest convictions of a few clear-minded and clear-thinking men who slowly but surely convince their generation of the righteousness of their cause.

We still speak of red-light districts, because thirty years ago whole streets of United States cities were given over to flagrant vice, whose haunts were advertised by a red light. So in old St. Louis, Missouri, such districts were fare as Pine and Olive streets at night time were each marked by a double line of red lights a mile long. Such districts ashamed of the insult-serious at their city's disgrace. They got little encouragement from the social leaders and none from the press.

Throughout the land, however, a tide of moral courage was rising. Finally if penetrated the old Bourbon Democratic party. Then came a young man named Joseph W. Folk to the office of prosecuting attorney and did away with the whole of the St. Louis horror.

When we recall how lotteries were similarly outlawed, how duelling ceased, how slavery with all its inhumanity and their bawdy accessories have been banished—all by the power of a gradually awakened irritable public opinion—we cannot but be sure of the ultimate goal of moral conquest in which our race is marching. The Contemptible Little Army wins in the end.

The mob is noisy but, as Stevenson said, for best on anarchy, immorality or grave immoderation.

But there is no card index, no badge of identification, telling us about their identity. When they come to town, they are unlikely to appear at the headquarters of the reform bureau. They declare themselves on any pending measure. Only in a crisis will they rise in their might and march against Baal and his legions.

Best Cold Weather Food for Children

On these cold mornings, children need hot, sustaining breakfasts. It must be food providing properly balanced nourishment, containing the bodies for building the body, bulky waste to regulate the organs are digested, wholesome, with cold food, unbalanced or too highly refined, the children are improperly nourished, and fall easy prey to colds, adenoids, tonsilitis, bronchitis and many other weather ailments.

CANADA'S FIRE LOSS.

Canada has always occupied an unenviable position in the matter of fire loss and the figures recently issued by Mr. J. Grove Smith, the Fire Commissioner for the Dominion, give no room for any cause for congratulation. Of course Canada is placed in a position where the fire fighting authorities are pretty near helpless as happens in the case of forest fires.

But even with all these conditions against us surely the per capita loss of $5.22 on population could be lowered when we consider the fire loss of Great Britain which is only 90 cents per capita, with a total fire loss of $36,400,000. The fire loss for 1921 has greatly increased according to the report. There is certainly room for improvement in the matter of fire prevention in Canada.

During 1921, the 25,916 fires reported to the Department of Insurance occasioned property damage amounting to $45,-619,800, exclusive of the incalculable loss arising from forest fires. In comparison with the years 1920, 1919 and 1918, when the losses were $28,745,590, $25,361,240 and $33,817,050 respectively, the record for 1921 shows so substantial an increase as to tend to confirm the general belief that fires and trade depression go together. Of the total loss, approximately $34,000-000 or 75 per cent. was covered by insurance.

By provinces, the distribution of the fire loss in Canada was as follows: Alberta, $2,875,000 or $4.95 per capita; British Columbia, $3,050,000 or $5.82 per capita; Manitobs, $2,-054,000 or $4.67 per capita; New Brunswick, $2,276,982 or $3.92 per capita; Nova Scotia, $3,177,000 or $5.06 per capita; Ontario, $16,444,817 or $5.28 per capita; Prince Edward Island, $216,478 or $2.44 per capita; Quebec, $10,997,653, or $2.64 per capita; Saskatchewan, $3,755,000 or $4.93 per capita.

As reported by municipal officials, the losses in cities having populations of more than 10,000 amounted to $15,615,951 or $4.23 per capita; in towns of from 1,000 to 10,000 population, $5,184,085 or $7.32 per capita, and the villages and rural districts $25,314,894 or $5.31 per capita. In places having municipal fire protection systems the loss was $4.90 per capita, and in the unprotected places, $6.25 per capita.

There were 59 fires where the loss exceeded $100,000, 46 with a loss of from $50,000 to $100,000, 261 with a loss of from $10,000 to $50,000, 3,922 with a loss of from $1,000 to $10,000, and 21,558 with a loss of less than $1,000. The 59 larger fires established an aggregate loss of $15,824,801 and the 21,558 smaller fires an aggregate loss of $4,644,817.

Classified according to the character of the property involved, the more destructive fires occurred as follows: 49 in industrial property with a loss of $8,188,200; 32 in mercantile property with a loss of $5,559,000; 9 in institutional property with a loss of $1,948,561, and 15 in miscellaneous property with a loss of $4,301,465.

All of the buildings destroyed in the larger fires were insured but none were efficiently protected. The amount of money spent by the Dominion and Provincial Governments upon fire prevention work in 1921, amounted to $125,000, all of which, with the exception of $12,000 was raised by a tax upon licensed insurance companies.

TWENTIETH CENTURY GHOST STORIES

Many eyes are at present being turned toward the East and those even slightly superstitious are awaiting with breathless interest the outcome of the spook hunting expedition headed by Dr. Franklin Prince into the country of Antigonish, Nova Scotia. The scene of the spook hunt is a deserted farm house which during the past few months has acquired no mean reputation as the home of spirits whose antics have been as startling as they have been original. Incendiarism and cattle tailbraiding have been only a few of their playful tricks. The Montreal Gazette in discussing the case says:

"The house was formerly occupied by one Macdonald, a hard-headed husbandman of Caledonian extraction, there being also present Mrs. Macdonald, an adopted daughter by the name of Mary Ellen, and maybe another child or two. All went well until things went wrong. The cattle were roughly shifted about in the barn, mysterious fires made their appearance and these other ghostly happenings succeeded one another with such frequency and persistence that the Macdonald family surrendered at discretion and moved, bag and baggage, to more restful surroundings. A few weeks ago a Halifax newspaperman and a policeman went to the haunted mansion and spent a couple of nights there in the vain hope of solving the mystery. It is not recorded that they saw things which they ought not to have seen but they heard sounds for which they could not account, and the policeman was awarded in the visage by a shoe. He but none too gentle hand. He blamed the reporter, who promptly entered a general denial of the charge. In this instance the spook seems to shown a certain sense of discrimination, but this can be pleaded only in extenuation. Anyhow, the church and his companions retired, leaving the enemy in possession.

Professor Prince is now on the scene of these disturbing occurrences and intends to lay the ghost by the heels. He will closely catechise the Macdonalds, with special reference to Mary Ellen, will cast the eye of experience over the barn, will duly weigh the suggestion that wireless currents may have caused the mysterious fires, and will, as he further explains, feel his way. He takes with him a bell, which is part of the traditional paraphernalia for exorcising recalcitrant ghosts. Macduff places himself in a room by himself, which will enable tolna; a wise precaution in view of what happened to the policeman. Before long, therefore, the secret should be out. The expedition has a gentleman of experience in its chief spokesman, or spookesman, and the mystery will shortly be a mystery no more. There may be spirits, or it may be all moonshine, or it may be a little of both.

CRISP COMMENTS

The messages of love and loyalty sent to Princess Mary by 90,000 Canadian Free Masons is typical of a great organization that "acts upon the square."

Those social service delegates who travelled to Ottawa in an attempt to have gambling stopped on racetracks must be imbued with a faith that would move mountains.

Now that Viscountess Rhondda has won the right to a seat in the House of Lords, our own Miss McPhail, M.P., may have visions of yet ornamenting a seat in the Senate.

In every part of the country are persons curious to know whether the federal government is going to take any action in connection with the Merchants Bank collapse, and if so, what.

POISE AND BRAINS

Springfield Republican

The British are a very great people. The marriage of Princess Mary is only another example of how they manage to do the right thing before the final crack of doom. Remember the world war and how the British Empire came out of it bigger than ever. Look at Ireland—for years given up as hopeless. Think of Balfour coming to Washington and putting across the four-power pact, while getting the naval holiday, and going home with both Japan and America the sworn friends of old John Bull. So people on earth to-day have political tact, experience and skill equal to the British. Congratulations to former Premiers, now a humble Viscount—and if you please, felicitations to old England on leading the world just by poise and brains.

MARCH TO APRIL

Have I not loved thee long, O timid lurker,
Lurking in the shade?
Strong-armed and stingy-breasted daughter of the frost!
I yet can love, and oft as I do ride
On Love's fleet steed, sleigh-ing, thunder-clouds—Or, calm
Are my thoughts stable, and tender glow mine eyes,
O January—(OH) and quick my pulses thrill;
At thoughts of thee, and passionate regrets in
Spring to my heart from my unyielding willow.
My fearful fears [illegible] to possession
One thought of wining thy most favored grace!
My lion-will, at thought of woe carass
From thy clear hand—soon win both time and place.
Oh! to the death-fight with the Winter king
Fierce battle-reged ere he dit grimly yield—
Though with strong leg, square he and [illegible] firing
Bright trophies, love, from a proud victor's field!

I lay so cold and lifeless, O my Bride,
After that battle, thrust by many a spear:
Alas, for Aurora, cold-haired, piden-eyed,
Found me, and nursed me back to health and cheer,
She did my limb, she held me b her heart,
Breathed tender words and warmed with blissful tears.
My frozen blood, till death the magic art,
Of her bright smiles, held love and fear.

My life revived, my iron-sinewed strength
Leaped through my flesh, my blood to stronger wine
Of health and power was turned; I [illegible] at length
The love and grace, and exceeding sweetness
Of the fair Goddess, who did love me well,
But, O my bride, I loved her not as Wished to be loved. Oh! I can never tell
What thanks I owe her—how much owe to thee!

Ah, do not fear me, April. See, the flowers
Felt all the beating of my tender heart
Vibrate through theirs; they drank in hidden love
Delightsome nectar which I do impart
To those I love. E'en the tall tall do exhale
In raptured bliss at my touch, O tender!
They send with joy, and bring forth
Of the brown sorrow, and earth's barrenness hide.

Come to my heart—let our two selves
In one—not school of brightness. Let Shine forth, all goodness to the earth,
That which may lighten. Come, O my love—my wife!

Canadian Woman Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Manitoba.—"I can not speak too highly of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was nervous and dreaded my work. I had to force myself to do my work. Life was a misery and work was a burden. Even the sound of my own children playing made me feel as if I must scream if they did not get away from me. I could not even speak right to my husband. The doctor said that he could do nothing for me owing to my condition, but told me to report another miscarriage. My husband's grandmother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I started in right away and everyone noticed what a different woman I was in a short time. I went and engaged my doctor and he did not know me, I was so well. I was able to do my work alone now and it was a pleasure, not a burden. Now I have a fine bouncing baby to see the doctor's own words. I am able to nurse her and enjoy doing my work. I can not help recommending such a medicine, and anyone seeing me before I took it and seeing me now can see what it does for me. What it has done for me it can do for anyone in the same condition. I am only too pleased for you to use my testimonial."—Mrs. Irene Dafoe, 74 McCoe St., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

THE WOLVERINE

Few readers, indeed, appears to be [illegible]
Animals do not always appear to be guided by instinct alone; they are observant, at times to-observe what looks like actual malice. In an article in the World's Work Mr. Arthur Huntington tells the story of a wolverene that outwitted in this way:

"An old Dorrith Indian," he says, had been killing, skinning, and eating up a number of deer for his winter supply of meat when during his absence a marauding wolverene stole the entire store. Again, a few days later, the animal repeated the theft.
When it did so the third time the old man decided to seek revenge. He drew his hook to the trail, and just as he took the tracks indicated that he was very near his quarry; but either then or when he found the poor beast decided to wait until morning.

According to northern custom, he stood his gun and his snowshoes against a tree, put away from the trail to prevent the beast from injuring them, and then, wrapping himself in his blanket, he lay down to sleep.
When he awoke, sure enough, there was the old man trailed the thief, but the wolverene was gone, and with it the snow shoes. In the afternoon he found them, one of them lying in the snow, but of what use was one snowshoe? Late that day he found the gun also, but it was damaged beyond repair.

Filled with rage and despondency, he returned to his old camp, only to find that it, too, had been looted in the meantime. Then, and there, and fresh trouble began. For the wolverene had dragged it away, several hundred yards, and had piled the cans torn in ribbons, the bottles smashed and the trigger pieces.

Tired and hungry, defeated and disgusted, the old Indian sought his camp to make a fire and to rest, but when he reached it he could not find the fire box, which contained his flint and steel. Again the wolverene had been there. Then the old man realized the fact that the old man did not intend to permit it to enjoy the fruits of its cunning. And still the wolverene was at large!

But now the poor old Indian was no coward, and he was determined to accept that he imagined the whole transaction to be the work of a devil evil spirit. As a result, he gave up hunting and trapping for the time sake of say sort; and he and his family would have starved but his friends had not come to their rescue."

Harnessing the Jordan.

The waters of the Jordan, the Yarmuk and other rivers of Palestine are to be harnessed to supply electric power for the whole country, declared throughout the country. It is officially announced that Mr. Rutenberg, a Russian Jew, applied to the British Government for a concession to use these rivers. The project was examined and approved by the Palestine Electric Corporation, the Colonial Office, and an agreement binding that Government to grant Mr. Rutenberg the concession upon conditions was entered into.

Removing Stains.

Stains of any description may be removed by the following method: Dissolve one ounce of oxalic acid in a pint of water, and add to it a little powdered starch. Rub the stained part well with this mixture, and then wash in clean water. Repeat the process if necessary.

Cleaning Brushes.

To clean brushes used in waxing the floor, wash in solution of three tablespoons of household ammonia to a quart of water, rinse and dry in a current of air.

Brushes used for oil, paint or stain should be washed thoroughly in turpentine or coal oil, rinsed in gasoline, then washed in warm soapsuds. Dry, bristles down, shaking the brush

ON TRAINING OF COLTS

They Should Not be "Broken," but Educated.—Dr. Grisdale

Start When Weaning Season and Bridle and Halter and Give Light Work at First — Methods of Keeping Cow Records.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The too common practice of allowing colts to go "rambling" until they are three years old and then to be "broken" is a bad one, as they have required to perform the functions of a horse in the prime of its usefulness and is unfair to the animal. Colts should not be "broken"; they should be taught to become gentle and the unhandled, or unbroken colt; the muscular, respiratory and nervous system (the organs whose functions are taxed in the performance of the ordinary functions of a farmer) are weak and undeveloped from lack of function. Hence, when the unprepared animal is asked to perform ordinary horse labor, he has neither any knowledge of what is required to do, nor the muscular nor respiratory tone that is necessary for its satisfactory performance; therefore, unless very carefully handled, and very little work done for the first two or three weeks, trouble of various natures that will probably necessitate complete rest for a much longer time are very liable to result. Hence, a regular course of preparation during the winter months, or spring months, when the time of both man and horse is not so valuable, should be given in order to have the colt in proper condition when time becomes valuable, that they will be able to perform a reasonable amount of work with satisfaction to the driver and safety to themselves. This course should be commenced at least six weeks before regular work is required on the farm.

They Should Be Harnessed and Bridled Early.

The colt or colts should first be taught to wear harness and bridle and should allowed to run for a few hours daily in a box stall or pasture with the harness on. It is the good practice to match each with a gentle, smart horse, preferably a horse, or if necessary a pair of colts together, and allow them to drive, obey the words of command, stand still when asked to, etc.

When they have become reasonably steady in their harness and bridle they should be hitched to a sleigh or wagon. Care should be taken to see that the harness fits properly. This applies especially to collars. The collars in which horses are working at work later on should be worn. Both should be clean, soft and in a healthy fit properly, not being too wide, so as to allow a collar pad between, nor sufficiently narrow to pinch at any point. The bearing surface should conform thoroughly to the surface of the neck and shoulders, and when it comes in contact, except at the bottom, where sufficient vacant space to allow the fullest play of the animal's fingers should exist.

Exercise or Light Work a Benefit.

The colt or pair should be given daily exercise or light work. Come immediately with an hour or two the first day and gradually increasing the amount, until they are able to perform a full day's reasonable exercise without showing signs of weariness. The amount of grain given should also be gradually increased in proportion to the work or exercise given. By such means the muscular, respiratory and nervous systems gradually gain tone, the muscles with which the harness, especially the collar, comes in contact gradually become hardened and increased in power of resistance, hence become less liable to injury. Hence in many cases, on account of the hardening of the muscles, the colt will wear out a collar that may have fitted perfectly during the first few days' work. This should be attended to either by providing fresh collars or allowing an extra space of the old ones with pieces of felt, cloth, or chamois, without sweat pads, the latter is much better than metal straps.—Dr. Geo. H. Wm. C. O. College, Guelph.

Methods of Keeping Cow Records.

The following are the methods of keeping cow records:

1. A monthly milk sheet, ruled so that there shall be a column for recording the weight of the morning and evening milking of each cow for each day of the month, though some use a sheet ruled for seven days only and estimate the weight of milk given on for the other three days in the days, which may be consecutive or on the 1st, 10th and 20th of the month, making ten day periods between.

2. A milk scale, preferably one having a dial-face and two hands, one of which shows the net weight of milk in lbs. for which the scale is set. The scale costs about five dollars.

3. A four to eight-bottle Babcock test, where it is desired to know what each cow's milk tests in fat. This will cost from eight to twelve dollars complete.

4. The fourth and most important requirement is a pencil.—The-will-to-do. Without this, milk sheets, scales, testers, etc., are useless. By having scale, sheet, pencil, sample bottles properly labelled, and all conveniently arranged, it takes but little time to keep a record of each milking cow in the herd.

5. We would add a fifth need, which is, some form of permanent record book for monthly totals and tests, as milk sheets, and scales or records of testing, are likely to be lost and not available for reference. But if these are recorded once a month in a permanent form, they will prove a source of help in breeding, feeding and weeding dairy cows.—H. H. Dean, O. A. College, Guelph.

Beans, shoulders and other cooked portions should be soaked for several hours, then placed on the range in cold water, in order to render less

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

There is a tendency all the way through in the Paris collections for skirty fullness, but the fullness which hangs softly and does not stand out. Many of the models are plain, which fact perfectly fits in reason, but which there with the movement of the wearer.

Nearly all the Maginleine et Madeleine ordinary frocks of crepe have a bolero detached at the back and smart colored and black lace frocks, and gowns of light colors, gray and sand color crepe, are also accompanied with boleros, the latter ones being of light guipure lace imitating frish.

The collecting of Chinese jade is one of the fashion London pastimes of the hour, and a reposed perfectly matched pair of bowls of translucent jade, whose value at the present time ranks with the finest diamonds and pearls in the world markets, will cost as much as $15,000.

The Brandt collection is a pretty one, exploiting a line that gets narrower about the hips in order to give a very straight effect, which remains very slender as a whole, and the frocks are longer, specially evening frocks, which come to and even below the ankle.

The natural nonegay is returning to fashion, says London, and buttonhole bunches of Neapolitan and Russian violets, made of natural leaves, not artificial flowers, are favored by smart women who are wearing flowers of various kinds pinned to their fur wraps and tailor-made coats.

TIPS TO HOUSEWIVES

Cabbage with eggs, milk, salt and pepper, dotted with bread crumbs and butter and then baked, is delicious.

If a garment is stained with prune juice, soak it in kerosene before washing, and the stains will come out.

If iodine is spilled on cloth, wet the cloth in milk and let it stand overnight. Then wash and the stain will go.

If you buy a tinnan haddie look at the middle or around the backbone. If it is bright and yellow it will be dry there do not take it. Do not leave it in the paper after you get it home, but put it in a glass jar and screw wet and slimy around the backbone, just as a ham spoils around the bone.

To cut a pie with meringue on it wet the blade of the knife with water and you will have a good clean cut.

Woollen cloths used for finishing and polishing should be cleaned by soaking in hot water, to which half a teaspoonful of ammonia to a quart of water. Stir the cloths up occasionally, and when a good deal of the oil is off wash in hot soap suds and rinse in hot water containing a little floor oil to prevent rusting. For oiling or varnishing should be kept in a tightly covered tin, to avoid spittening and danger of spontaneous combustion.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN HURT WHEN BUS AND TRUCK COLLIDE

New York, March 10.—Fourteen crippled children, many of them with crutches or with legs in braces, were injured late yesterday when a Board of Education motor bus taking them home from a public school in Brooklyn was overturned in a collision with a heavy motor truck.

Attracted by the shrieks of the child ren, police and citizens battered out the windows of the bus and removed the terrified youngsters from the debris which imprisoned them.

IRISH GOVERNMENT ASKS BRITISH WORKERS TO REMAIN

Dublin, March 10.—Evacuation of the Haulbowline dockyards by the British Navy has been ordered temporarily stopped by the Provisional Government. This step is taken because discontinuance of work at these yards would result in the immediate departure to England of a large number of skilled workers. It would also bring hurried unemployment to several hundred other unskilled men, and would involve the scrapping of a valuable plant. The question of its final evacuation is under consideration.

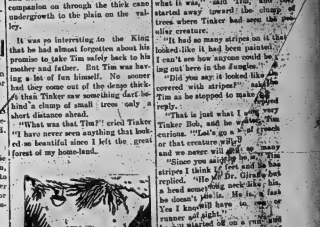

Tinker Bob and Silky and little Tim, the Elephant, were having a delightful time in the Jungle Land. The great River Horse went back to the island and little Tim took the King and his companion on through the thick cane undergrowth to the plain on the valley.

It was so interesting to the King that he had almost forgotten about his promise to take Tim safely back to his mother and father. But Tim was having a bit of fun himself. He knew that they came out of the dense thicket than Tinker saw something dart behind a clump of small trees only a short distance ahead.

"What was that Tim?" cried Tinker Bob, "it looked like a striped animal, but we so beautiful since I left the great forest of my home-land.

"Well, we'd better go over there and see who it was. If it wasn't a bird and it wasn't a snake, I don't know what it was," said Tim, and they started away toward the clump of trees when Tinker had seen the peculiar creature.

"It had so many stripes on it that looked like it had been painted. I can't see how anyone could be living out here in the Jungles."

"Did you say it looked like it was covered with stripes?" asked little Tim as he stopped to make sure he'd heard right.

"That is just what I saw you say Tinker Bob, and he nodded. "I'm sure I never saw anything that looked so beautiful since I left the great forest of my home-land.

"Come on and let's see what it is," Tim started off in his lead. "I'll bet he gets away before we get there," cried Tim. "Stripes I think I see and he has a head something neck like," he doesn't run like. He is a fast. Yes I know what you mean by runners and gaits," said Tinker Bob. He will started off on a run. "Come on Tim," Tinker Bob and Silky took off after his back. In fact Silky he was fallen off had it not been his tail.

"Don't leave he gone," cried Tinker as they rounded the clump of trees. "And just look at those stripes. Can you know who it was?

FIREPROOFING WOOD

Wood is such a convenient material on account of the ease with which it may be worked, its relative strength, its low cost, and attractive appearance that it it could be rendered fireproof it would be almost ideal for many purposes. The Forest Products Laboratories of Canada, under the leadership of the Director of Forest Service of the Interior are investigating various forms of fireproofing, which, if successful, will undoubtedly add greatly to the usefulness of growing timbers can be prevented. This is an important step in the right direction and in view of the progress already made, it is hoped that the problem may be solved even more efficient.

TWO DINNERS FOR THE WEEK-END GUEST

Chicken seems to be the favorite choice for a Sunday dinner. "Sunday chicken" when a week-end guest is expected. In most cases the guest arrives on Saturday afternoon, so an evening dinner is his first meal at his hostess' table. The following menu is for this first meal:

Saturday's Night's Dinner
Veal Cutlet
Mashed Potatoes
Creamed, Peas
Celery Salad
Coffee Lemon Soufflé

The only dishes which I think may, possibly, be unfamiliar to my readers in this menu are the following:

Cutlets Mashed—Put a slice of plain potato on an individual salad plate, set a half-banana upright in it (the end edged into the hole in the potato) and (for all of pineapple) and on the tip of this "candle" banana, put a piece of red maraschino cherry (for the candle's flame). Put a dab of mayonnaise dressing on one side of the pineapple-slice. This makes one portion.

Lemon Soufflé—Beat the yolks of 4 eggs until thick, then add to them gradually 1 cup of granulated sugar and the grated rind and juice of 1 lemon. Now fold into this the stiffly-whipped whites of the three eggs and turn all into a buttered pudding dish. Place the dish in a pie pan containing hot water, and bake in this way, in a moderate oven for 40 minutes.

Aura Lee Beat St. Mary's for Junior Honors

AURA LEE WINS JR. O.H.A. TITLE

St. Mary's Manage to Hold Opponents to a Tie Game.

Toronto, March 18—Fighting a desperate uphill battle against big odds, the St. Mary's juniors last night held Aura Lee to a 3 to 3 draw, and lost the round and the O.H.A. championship by 6 to 4. It was one of the toughest hockey games ever played in the lower series, and both teams covered themselves with glory. Outweighed all down the line, the wee readers won the support of the majority of fans, who cheered them on as the plucky little fellows fought it out like little soldiers. But Aura Lee presented a stone wall defense, and scored all for goal with the game, green and gray. They are worthy champions and should win the eastern and probably the Dominion championship.

The little fellows from the west end tried to keep the puck in their opponents' territory, and they succeeded better than was the case when these teams met last Monday. The six-man defense of the Red and White was hard pressed at times, but the players all found time to break away and hurl with shots at Goalkeeper Kells, who once again showed that he ranks among the best in the sport.

All in all the game was one of the best played here this year, with the fans sharing the honors as far as the play was concerned. In holding the conquerors of last Monday to a two-weekends did something that proved them capable of. Aura lee's probably the heaviest aggregation ever seen playing for the championship of the United States. Only in Boston and in New York can it be said that there are any real local players. The majority of players on several teams—one in Boston—have been promised or given jobs, which are incidental to their hockey playing.

"Having Canadians, most of them with no idea of ever becoming naturalized, play for the championship of the United States, is another thing that has reflected on the sport. With such a condition prevailing, there is little incentive for young players to try and develop in hockey."

Aura Lee juniors will be busy from now on. Tomorrow Aura Lee on the N.O.H.A. champions in a sudden-death game at the Arena, and on Monday they play against the Toronto title-holders next Tuesday. Wednesday the winners will leave for Port William, where another and such game will be played. The Port Mon. will compete in the O.H.A. Cup games at Winnipeg.

INTERNATIONAL HOCKEY

Pittsburg, March 18.—Preliminary arrangements are being made for an international hockey championship series between the champion teams of Canada and the United States, Roy D. Schooley, secretary of the United States Amateur Hockey association, said, here, last night.

Mr. Schooley declared that he was negotiating with W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the Ontario association, and that a championship series was a "very strong probability."

Under plans discussed, he said, the winning teams of Canada the United States would contest for the Wills International trophy after the season in the respective associations close on March 29. Two games would be played in the United States, at Pittsburg or Boston, and two at Toronto arena.

CANUCK HOCKEY PLAYERS

BARRED FROM STATES

Boston, March 18.—"Hockey in the United States is looked upon as more or less of a joke by the authorities who consider the sport in Canada," declares John J. Halahan, a local hockey writer. "For some time they have been asking many players that have been left unanswered, the most important of which, "Why do clubs in the United States Hockey Association attract so many clever Canadian players?" has brought forth the additional inquiry, "What is being done for them?"

"This winter there appeared in literature of many of the clubs throughout the country men who have been prominent in amateur hockey in Canada—now playing for the championship of the United States. Only in Boston and in New York can it be said that there are any real local players. The majority of players on several teams—one in Boston—have been promised or given jobs, which are incidental to their hockey playing.

There should be all kinds of action when the G.W.V.A. and the Canada Cement teams hook up in the final game of the City Hockey league tonight. Each team will be up and doing for the fall sixty minutes as both are anxious to be the group representatives to battle the Tiger Tiro team for the possession of the trophy.

The teams will line up as they lined up for the last game as follows:

BARRIEAU GETS BOUT.

Vancouver, March 10.—Jack Allen has signed Frank Barrieau for a ten-round bout in Vancouver for St. Patrick's Day. Frank has a host of friends on the coast who will be glad to learn of his coming. He is the claimant of the Canadian welterweight championship. Gordon McKay Steinie Schuman or Joe Egan will probably be selected as his opponent.

HOCKEY BANQUET TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Both Intermediate and Junior Team Members to Receive Handsome Gifts.

Everything is in readiness for tonight's presentation banquet at the Quinte Hotel. The sale of tickets has been so large that the capacity of the dining room is going to be severely taxed to get that crowd of fans in there this evening. The intermediate team is to be presented with signet rings and the juniors are to receive handsome umbrellas for their good work this year.

Mayor Hanna will occupy the chair and it is expected that a number of prominent Bellevillians will be present to voice their appreciation on behalf of the city.

SCRAP IRON

CARPENTER IS ILL;

BOUT SOUTH CANCELLED

Paris, March 9.—Georges Carpentier, the French boxer, has been suffering for the past few days with a carbuncle on the neck. A surgical operation was performed this morning and it is expected that this will alleviate the trouble. Carpentier's future plans and contracts it is announced, will be in no way modified.

Lippe Cancels Passage

New York, March 8.—Al Lippe, manager of Jeff Smith, Bayonne, N.J., middleweight boxer, today received a cable message from Paris, stating that Georges Carpentier was ill and would not be able to meet Smith in a 20-round match there April 8. The message, signed by Leon See, French sports promoter, read:

"Carpentier very ill. Operation necessary. Postpone departure Smith."

SMITH, INSTEAD OF BUFF

AGAINST MOORE FRIDAY

New York, March 9.—Harry Greb and Tom Gibbons are on their last lap of the training work for the fifteen-round battle which will be held in the Garden next Monday night. Gibbons has been knocking over his sparring partners with great rapidity, and his manager, Eddy Kane is scurrying around trying to pick up some huskies to help Thomas out. The St. Paul boxer appears to be in the best condition of his life.

Under the watchful eye of George Engel, Greb is going through his work in careful fashion, and, while they are not saving much, both of them believe that Gibbons is in for a warm time of it.

Midget Smith has been substituted for Johnny Buff to meet Roy Moore for twelve rounds at the Fouth Regiment Armory, Jersey City, on Friday night.

NEW YORK SCALPERS HOLD UP PUBLIC

Fans Will Pay Dear For Gibbons-Greb Fight Seats.

New York, March 9.—Ticket scalpers in New York never lose a decision. No matter what the weight is or what the rules are, the "specs" win.

New Yorkers have become such easy prey of the pasteboard jobbers that it is almost necessary to sign in a hallway and barter for a subway ticket.

It has gone so far that scalpers have finally swooped down on the fifty-day bike race. Without going to some of the "specs" and paying double or triple the face values of the ticket, it is impossible to get an admission slip for Saturday night, the closing night of the race.

There isn't a ticket in sight for the Gibbons-Greb fight next Monday night and walls are being raised to the sky. The show is being given by a charitable organization, and the "specs" succeeded in getting practically the whole house. Seven dollar seats are selling for $15, and the scalpers aren't anxious to sell.

Tex Rickard gave the "specs" a bad spell on the Dempsey-Carpentier fight.

Just after the tickets were placed on sale, some counterfeits appeared and several alleged manufacturers of the bad tickets were arrested. Rickard announced that bad tickets were in circulation and that it would be dangerous to buy from any but the box office.

Rickard has never denied that he had the counterfeits made himself. The arrested men were never tried and the "specs" were lucky to get rid of their stock at face value.

No method of beating the scalpers consistently has been devised. Ticket sellers at Madison square garden will not sell more than two tickets to one customer, but the "specs" use agents. It's an easy proposition to get several boys or girls to make online to ten lines through the line to the ticket windows.

The scalping business has become so profitable that a New York club in sport fans try to cultivate the acquaintance of a good "spec" where low prices prevail.

FOUR BIGGEST DRAWING CARDS

"Babe" Ruth, Al. Jolson, John McCormack and Jack Dempsey are the Best.

New York, March 8.—Jack Dempsey, Al Jolson, John McCormack and Babe Ruth are the four greatest drawing cards in the world. Dempsey holds the distinction of having "played" to more persons at a single sitting than any of the others, when, with Georges Carpentier, he drew 90,000 to Boyle's Thirty Acres.

Ruth probably stands next to Dempsey. The Babe's drawing power is limited only by the capacity of the baseball stands. He has frequently put on "performance" to close [illegible] persons. In a week's "run," the great Bambino probably tops them all in point of number of paid admission at one time.

Proportionately to their seating capacity, however, Jolson and McCormack, in their respective fields, easily equal Dempsey and Babe. They can pack the largest theaters and auditoriums that can be secured for their appearance. McCormack has time and again sung before audiences of 12,000 persons, and could have doubled the attendance had its hall been large enough.

When a gigantic promoter, a baseball owner, or a theatrical magnate pays these men big money, they are looking for chances. The return on the investment is almost certain.

Dempsey's field for a full display of his drawing power is, of course, the open air arena, with an important fight at hand, as Ruth's field is the baseball park.

Yet, put in a theater, the heavyweight champion has demonstrated that he draws them, too.

Mark Luescher of the Hippodrome, in a statement issued last night, said that Dempsey was pulling the crowds into that institution a ratio of $40,000 per week. No other champion in the history of the game, and no other theatrical attraction has been such a drawing card in a theater as Jack.

LEONARD OUT FOR FEW MONTHS

Injured Hand Prevents the Lightweight Champ. Signing Up for Bouts

New York, March 10.—Benny Leonard will not be seen in action for several months. The lighter is indeed anxious for a bout, but it seems that his right hand has the habit of getting bunged up nicely every time the champion gets in a mess.

"Benny won't fight for a few months," Billy Gibson, his manager, declared yesterday. "He wants to give his hand a fair chance to get in good shape. When he fights White he wants to be in perfect condition."

Leonard was offered a match in Madison Square Garden by "Tex" Dorgan, Charles White's manager, to-day. However, the Arena is said to be altogether too small, and it seems a sure thing that when the boys do meet it will be out of doors.

The Chicago boy will fight Johnny Dundee on St. Patrick's Night. If he wins he will be the only contender for Leonard. The latter will have nothing to do with Tendler, which clears the road for White.

Tom Gibbons is dropping the boys right and left in his work-outs in preparation for his bout with Harry Greb on March 13. Whitey Allen came tearing in right against a right hook in practice to-day. He took a trip down the centre of the Commonwealth Club gymnasium floor and was sailed for the day.

Greb is wasting no time. He is hard in the paces up at Jack O'Brein's quarters and is said to be in great shape.

Bobby Hewitson will referee tonight's Iroquois Falls-Granite Allan Cup elimination game at the Arena.

"BABE" RUTH SWINGING AT A FAST ONE.

The highest paid baseball player is here shown taking a hefty swat at the old pill. This is the conclusion of one of his home run drives for which he is to receive a $500 bonus this season over and above his huge salary.

DIAMOND DUST

BABE RUTH'S SALARY

Babe Ruth will get a bigger salary than a railroad president for next season, and a bonus of $500 for every home run. Baseball will not gain any through the last item. The big bipso will be straining for home runs every time he comes to the plate, and his team mates will naturally enough resent his powers of attraction. Christy Mathewson, the greatest figure that ever trod a baseball diamond, never received more than $11,000 a year, and one Mathewson was worth more than half a dozen Ruths.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

The Elliott team bowled a little stronger game than the G.W.V.A. give, finishing up 118 points ahead of their opponents. C. Dursberry showed the way for his teammates and Lancaster was high man of the Veterans.

GRADING CHEESE AS TO QUALITY

Belleville Will be a Grading Point for This Section.

Mr. John Elliott of this city, also Mr. M. Sprague have returned home from Ottawa, where they were this week, with many representatives of the Cheese and Butter Industry, to receive the Hon. Mr. Motherwell in regard to the grading of cheese etc. Mr. Elliott was appointed by the Boards of Belleville, Picton and Madoc, whilst Mr. Sprague was present in the interests of the buyers. There were representatives present from various parts of the Dominion.

The Minister, in addressing the delegates expressed his belief that quality was the thing for dairymen to concentrate upon, and if they did this it would react upon the character of the men engaged in the dairy industry and they would come to be a certain pride in the fact that they were supplying one of the finest articles of diet that was going to the best tables of the land. Butter had been graded and cheese would be graded for export purposes.

The proposition that cheese be graded at some central point was considered but it was decided to have grading points and Belleville will be one of these points. This will by no means interfere with the present arrangement between factorymen and the buyers. Cheese as usual will be inspected at the factories but graded at the grading station.

The meeting between the Minister of Agriculture and the representatives was most pleasing and the results obtained will no doubt, prove advantageous to the cheese and butter industry.

DOLAN THE DRUGGIST

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

He playfully nudged my ribs with his elbow. "Say, Bert, I'll bet you don't know what's the matter with Mrs. Brown's eyes, do you?" he went on. "I'll tell you what it is if you won't say anything about it to her."

I promised.

"It comes as it would nature intended," he explained, "and I don't want to do her any harm. It ain't anybody's business, anyway, but I'll tell you. Her husband died three weeks ago and he was thirty-eight hundred dollars ill. He was old Jim Brown, the banker at Ellensberg. Died without a codicil or will. Two months ago she slipped down to Portland, see, took the stage her self went over and saw a lawyer. Then she came home and I never see before in my life. We put it in the bank in Pendleton and it's out of Grandma's hands. I wouldn't trust that bank as far as you could throw a bull by the tail."

It was a cold, clear night, and when we reached home the new stove was snapping with the heat in the parlor and the pudding puffing in the pot and old Shep dreaming in the chimney corner. And Dad got down on a log at the door, and Mary hurried and leaped to my shoulders.

"Why, Bert! You're growin' like a weed—ain't you?—you're be my treat said as she stood and looked at me. "Set right down here an' warm yer—ayes!—I've done all the chores—Ayes!"

How warm and comfortable was the old cabin and how good everything tasted to it. I wonder if parad ises could seem more pleasant to me. I have had the best that the world can provide, in my time, but never anything that I felt with a keener zest than that pudding and milk and bread and butter and cheese and pumpkin pie which Aunt Deal gave us that night.

Supper over, I wiped the dishes for Aunt Deal, while Dick Peabody went out to feed and water the horses. Then we sat down in the great warmth while I told the story of my life in "the busy town," as they called it. Dad was saddened when they gave me then!

Those clothes and the story of how I had come by them taxed my ingenuity somewhat, although not beyond the limit. I was careful not to let them know that I had been ashamed of the homemade suit. They seemed to felt the truth about it and a little silence followed when I spoke. Aunt Deal drew her chair near me and touched my hair very gently with her hand as she began speaking.

"Ayes! I know," she said presently, "it's kind of creasing hard for you to be so much of sadness in it. "They, sin't used to coarse homespun, and fine clothes in the busy village. They made fun of ye—didn't they, Bert?"

"I don't care much for that," I assured them. "The mind's the measure of the man, you know, Grandma. They blame the boss for not repeated to me.

"That's sound!" Uncle Peabody exclaimed with enthusiasm for a speech.

Aunt Deal took my hand in hers and looked at me proudly, but she spoke not without speaking.

"Yes sir! gold to have to suffer that way by some, she said in a low tone. We're goin' to be more comfortable now, Uncle Jonathan and me, so West, but I couldn't bear to go off an far an' leave another air father an' mother alone an' all the folks we kind layin' here in the ground alone—it don't seem right, an' I'm glad ye by ay' wait for the sound o' the trumpet—ayes!—ayes!—I'll be for them hands o' yours—ayes!"

To our astonishment the clock struck two.

"Hurrah! It's merry Christmas!" said Uncle Jon. Gilliged, "comes on his feet and began to sing of the little Lord Jesus.

Dick Peabody him withe he stood beating time with his right hand after the fashion of a leader of orchestra.

"Of with yer boots, friend!" he exclaimed when the stanza was finished, "and warm yer feet and watch the fireworks!"

I pulled my boots on the chair round with hands clasped over the knee—how familiar is the process and how strange it seems more than half a century! I fighted a candle and lighted it, and sustain the fireworks fest, Uncle Peabody following close and stopping my hand as if he were afraid I'd burn enough for him. In the midst of our skirmishing the clock struck three and Aunt Deal had to go back to the stove and relight it.

Here and it seemed to me that it was the old room under the shingles! The best of the stovepipe had warmed its self through.

"It's been kind o' lonesome here," said Uncle Peabody as he stroked his window. "I always let the wind come in to keep me company—it gits so lonesome."

"I'll take hold

THE EYE IN RELATION TO HEALTH

More Quotations — Geo. M. Gould, M.D.

Systemic Diseases Caused by Eyestrain:—

"I have never seen a pair of emmetropic (normal) eyes, and yet we must agree that the vast majority of modern callings and work cannot be carried on without resultant harm to the eyes themselves, or to the bodily organs. Farmers, lumbermen, hunters and some others with their attention chiefly directed to distant objects, may get along fairly well, but such folk nowadays usually read more or less, and, if at night, in poor illumination. In our country there has been a thoroughgoing reformation and making hygienic the conditions of the factories of the entire United States. Especial attention has been given to the cure of those work-people who come down with the common ocular ailments. With all the rest-rooms and medical treatment it is confessed by Miss Ida Tarbell, in her illuminating "New Ideals in Business," that medical cures do not cure except for a short time; then it has to come return, and so ad infinitum. The illnesses are always precisely those that bring the Visiting Specialist his clientele (patients), and if he is worth anything, he cures at once and for a year or two.

"The Government Report of the Royal Commission of Canada concerning the health of the telephone girls tells us in plain standing with pity at their hurt eyes and ruined health. The telephone operators, the writers are subject to horrible eyestrain by the nature of their work. Listen to what the report has to tell of the eyestrain of these girls, and of its quick destruction of life.

"The intolerable fact seen on every page of the United States Report is that not the slightest hint is given that the two or three short years of telephone labor possible to the girls, with tenths of all their awful sufferings and—deaths, are largely due to constant near-range eye work without scientific spectacles. Many of the girls, of course, change occupations, and for many reasons; often, doubtless, because of the difficulties of keeping health. At all events, no blame whatsoever attaches to the employers. The fault in the general indifference to, or ignorance of the nature and consequences of eyestrain."

Dr. Gould then goes on to quote from a lengthy report of the Royal Commission of Canada a long list of symptoms the girls suffer from: "Pain and nervous debility, eye strain, nervous hysteria, nervous exhaustion, fainting, etc., etc., nearly all of which he claims is caused from the need of Scientific Glasses.

We make a specialty of all forms of Latent Eye Strain.

GREAT HURDLER WILL RETIRE

Earl Thompson, World's Record Holder, to Be a Coach in Future.

Hanover, N.H., March 10.—Earl Thompson, world's champion hurdler, has run his last race indoors. He announced yesterday that his appearance of the K. of C. games in Boston last Saturday, when he won the 45-yard hurdle in 5 4-5 seconds from seven rest behind scratch, was the finale of his career.

He will run outdoors twice more. He will "compete" in the Penn Relay Carnival in April and give an exhibition in the Dartmouth-Columbia meet in May.

Thomson has been consistently successful in all outdoors, during the last three years. He first came into prominence in 1920, when he and Bob Simpson's mark of 5 4-5 seconds for the 45-yard high hurdles. Later he clipped a fifth of a second off the time. He broke the world's mark for the 120-yard high timbers in the intercollegiates two years ago, and since then has not lost a race. Representing Canada, he won the hurdles at the Olympic games in 1920.

Thomson is a broad and high jumper and a dash man, as well as a hurdler. His high mark in versatility was reached two years ago when he picked up 39 points in a dual meet with Columbia. Thomson recently became coach at Dartmouth, and plans to move West as soon as present college year is over. He is going to take up coaching.

HIGH SCHOOL HOCKEY

At Arnott's arena last evening, from 7 to 8 o'clock, Form 3A gave 4C a beating to the tune of 5 to 2.

URGES POLICY ON IMMIGRATION

Deputation Representing Protestant Communions Wait on Premier King.

MANY POINTERS

Program Would Preserve Normal Standard of Life, Labor and Wages.

Ottawa, March 11.—A deputation representing the official boards of the Anglican, Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian communions in Canada, presented a memorial to the Prime Minister this morning upon the subject of immigration. The recommendations of the memorial were as follows:

1.—That legislation, preferably by a special commission, of a well-considered and constructive immigration policy, on a scientific and patriotic basis.

2.—That administration of such a permanent board of immigration of representative men with a measure of freedom.

3.—That co-operation be activities of Federal, Provincial and Municipal and voluntary agencies.

4.—That we have binding power of decision as to the amount of permissible immigration.

5.—That we have general concern for the reception, distribution, instruction and care of all newcomers.

6.—That the Government do not relinquish control of and responsibility for immigration and colonization. We would strongly disapprove of any policy that would in any degree delegate the responsibility to other agencies.

7.—That in the distribution of immigrants, segregation of large numbers of any one foreign-speaking nationality be avoided.

8.—That the Government give special consideration to the question of training of immigrants' children, with a view to their thorough language and citizenship.

9.—That the Government encourage and facilitate the movement of population away from our congested city centres, that would tend to the betterment of living conditions for all.

Hamilton, Ont., March 11.—Proceedings in the election protest have reached a halt, and while no official announcement has been made, it is understood that the charges of bribery will never come to trial. Dr. A. E. Ross therefore goes to Ottawa as representative for Hamilton.

FORMER GOV.-GENERAL MAY BE SECRETARY FOR INDIA

Rumor Prominently Mentions the Name of the Duke of Devonshire as Possible Successor to Montagu—Lord Reading Expected to Resign.

London, March 11.—The resignation of the Earl of Reading, Viceroy and Governor-General of India, was reported last night, from semi-official sources, to be imminent.

Premier Lloyd George, who has been indirectly disappointed by the failure of his friend to calm conditions in India, has now decided, with the support of the Cabinet, upon a complete change in the policy of dealing with the Ghandi movements.

In this connection the newspapers of Friday published a statement by Premier Lloyd today to the effect that the Government has ordered the immediate arrest of Ghandi. The premier denials throws into relief the fact that

The sentences are to run consecutively. He was sentenced last December to six months' detention and a fine of 500 rupees, but about a month later he was released, and rewarded Ahmedabad on the charge of violating the Criminal Law Amendment Act.

HOCKEY PLAYERS ARE FETED

Athletic Field May Materialize as Result of Last Night's Banquet.

If promises are any criterion than last night's banquet to the Belleville intermediates at the Quinte Hotel was productive of two things first and first most of course the citizens' of Belleville displayed their affection and appreciation of the teams both junior and intermediate and secondly and by no means lastly a fighting speech by Crown Attorney W. Carnew, K.C., promises much to the handicapped youth of the city for a new athletic field.

Mr. Carnew entirely unheralded and knowing was asked to speak and before long had roused his hearers to a fine pitch of enthusiasm and when he boldly declared that the youth of the city was being under disadvantages in their athletic endeavours and offered to give $500 for the erection of a new field he received an ovation which which was immediately followed by several others offering to donate sums ranging from $100 upwards.

The crown attorney after expressing his pleasure at being present told of the success of the intermediates team this year and said that they had always played the game like sportsmen and real men. When they went on the ice the boys risked their bodies and sometimes their very lives for the honor of the city they represented. He asked his auditors if they did not deserve the very best of facilities and his answer was met by a hearty approval from the crowd which packed the dinning hall. He called for a committee of business men to get behind the idea and see that something concrete was worked out in the immediate future.

Taken high and low it was a great evening. First they fed the boys and then they presented them with gifts and to show how much they liked them they even let them sing. Players and officials composed of "Gunner" Arndt, Bill Gross, Fred Adams and Sammy Symons rendered "Where the Back Sea old Virginny" with fine effect on the audience. The performance came to an abrupt stop, however when somebody in the audience advised the "Gunner" to "shoot" and he looked around for a pass and that spoiled the close harmony.

Ideal Chairman.

Mayor Charlie Hanna in the chair proved an ideal chairman. He did not inform the speakers of the evening that they were billed to speak and when he called on them and this of necessity kept the speeches down to very modest proportions. Mr. Hanna made the presentations on behalf of the fans of Belleville and all of the boys were greeted with hearty cheers as they stepped forward to receive the gifts. Mayor Hanna extolled the work of the boys and said that they had accomplished quite a wonderful achievement. They had taken part in 15 games of which they had won 12 and the goals for record for the season was a total of 117 goals against which only 61 had been scored against them.

Rev. Doug. Ramsay, President of the B. A. A. congratulated the boys on their splendid work and said that the city of Belleville was immensely proud of their record. No team, he said, in any sport could be a real team until they had taken two or three trimmings. Further, teams of champion calibre are not built in a day, said Mr. Ramsay, "watch us next year" he concluded.

The audience might have been larger last night had it not been for the absence of many Rotarians who were attending a new club at Lindsay but the absent ones sent their felicitations and one telegram was received from as far west as Vancouver from a former Belleville and another from Sunny Spain. It was regretted that Fred Boland the popular and efficient local leader of the intermediate team was unable to be present as he has been confined ill. Flowers for his speedy recovery were expressed.

"Home Grown Stuff"

Pres. H. F. Ketcheson, of the Chamber of Commerce was pleased with pride to the fact that every one of the members of both teams were Belleville boys, "no imported stuff there" said Mr. Ketcheson. He called upon the older men of the city to take a greater interest in the boys and their athletic work and their need for greater facilities with which to carry on this

NO MEDDLING BY DRY FORCES

Alliance Convention Deals Cautiously With Alleged Queen's Park Scandal.

SOME PROTEST

But Convention Will Allow Legislature to Act Without Advice.

Toronto, March 11.—Following the Biblical injunction to lay the dead away their dead, the Alliance Convention yesterday afternoon declined to take sides in the controversy in the Legislature over investigation the "last night" party, at the Parliament Buildings. The convention adopted the following resolution, predicensed by the resolutions committee:

"That in the matter remitted to your committee relative to the alleged violation of the Ontario Temperance Act by some person on the Ontario Parliament Buildings, this convention expresses its appreciation of the statement made by Hon. W. E. Raney, Attorney-General, to the effect that every facility will be afforded the Legislature for the investigation of the charges.

The matter was first brought before the convention during the morning's session. Rev. H. Heaver moved a resolution which was a request to the Legislature to investigate the charges and to punish to the full extent of the law; if it was shown that the O.T.A. had been violated by members of the Legislature or others in the "last night" party at the Parliament Buildings.

Ben Spence objected to the introduction of a motion without having first submitted it to the resolutions committee. It was against the by-laws. There were strict points of order raised, a motion to suspend the rules to admit the resolution was carried down, the matter being referred to the committee in the regular way.

LLOYD GEORGE HAS NOT QUIT

Rumor Set at Rest by Denial From the Premier's Residence.

London, March 11.—The Saturday Review declares that Lloyd George has virtually resigned the premiership for Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the House of Commons, who has the premier's resignation in his pocket with power to use it when a successor acceptable presents itself. The premier has expressed the desire, the Saturday Review says, that the Tory party become law before the country is made acquainted with his decision. He will then, it is said, appeal to the country on his own merits.

Then the Denial

London, March. 11.—A denial that Lloyd George has resigned, was issued today from 10 Downing Street, the Premier's official residence. On highest authority it was declared that a report in the Saturday Review, an ultra-Conservative weekly, which supports Sir George Younger, that Lloyd George had already resigned, was "without foundations."

ONLY TWO LABOR MEMBERS IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Ottawa, March 11.—The Labor party in the Canadian House of Commons this session consists of two members. There are a dozen other members of the House, who have affiliations with labor, but there are only two who look to labor as their first allegiance. The two members are J. S. Woodsworth, James Woodsworth, of Winnipeg, and William Irvine, of Calgary.

NO RESULTS IN SPOOK HUNT

Strange Tales are Told But Nothing Seen by Investigators.

Caledonia Falls, N.S., March 11.—Mary Ellen wouldn't or she couldn't, but she didn't, coax out the spooks at the MacDonald home last night. The night passed without incident and "a pleasant evening was had by all." The night was beautiful outside and it was beautifully expectant inside. The moon and stars shone without; eyes shone with wonderment, but they closed later in peaceful sleep just the same as they did the nights previous.

Mary Ellen had failed. When asked why, she said; "I couldn't help it." To-night Mrs. MacDonald, old, worn out, but determined to find out the cause of their disturbance if possible, will enter the home she was driven from. With her will be her husband and Mary Ellen, and thus the circle will be complete for Dr. Dunn.

Dan Chisholm, a highly-respected farmer, has told that one night about a week before the MacDonalds abandoned their home he saw something over the MacDonald home. It was a light just like the taillights of an automobile which hovered over it all night.

HOT DISPUTES IN PALESTINE

Jews and Arabs Are Clashing Over Privileges and Government.

Jerusalem, March 11.—New hope has been aroused in the hearts of the Arabian people by the fact that the publication here of a statement made by the London Morning Post that the British Government intended to give a new interpretation to the Balfour promise to make Palestine a Jewish homeland.

That declaration has been a thorn in the flesh of natives of Palestine who feared that it would result in the idea of a "Jewish Home" in the Holy Land. Their delegates have roamed Europe in the endeavor to influence public opinion in favor of Palestine for the Palestinians.

It is rumored here that a larger measure of self-government will be accorded the Arabs, that they will be allowed permanent representation in the cabinet of the government, and that fat government jobs so far occupied by Englishmen will be opened to them.

Toward all such concessions the attitude of the Arabs seems to be "Good so far as it goes, but we want more. We want to see the Jews out of Palestine."

This dissatisfaction with the present political situation is widespread is evident. Both Zionists and Arabs are complaining bitterly to Herbert Samuel, the premier, declares that the British Government's "Pro-Zionism policy" is allowing 600,000 people to be sacrificed on the altar of Jewish capitalism.

MANY REASONS FOR MONTREAL FIRE

Investigation Into City Hall Fire Brings Much Information.

Montreal, March 11.—Anarchy, compressed paper and electric wires were ventured as possible origins for the fire which destroyed Montreal's City Hall last Friday, in the course of the first session of the inquiry opened before Fire Commissioner Ritchie here yesterday afternoon.

The anarchy evidence was supplied by Alfred Bagg, who said he had reported to Alderman violent language heard by him at Labor meetings, and specially referred to speeches made by violence, alleged to have been uttered by a man employed as a court stenographer.

THIRTY-TWO KILLED IN RAND MINING RIOTS

General Miners Strikes in Reality Revolution, Say Authoritative Despatches — Nineteen of the Dead Are South African Police Troopers—Firing Still Continuing—Hundreds of Arrests Have Been Made —Miners Strongly Entrenched.

LONDON, March 11.—The general strike called by the miners' leaders at Johannesburg is in reality a revolutionary movement, according to a despatch from Capetown. The strike issue has been eclipsed by the threat against the State.

Large crowds are still in the streets of Johannesburg, even following the proclamation of martial law, and firing is heard every few minutes.

JOHANNESBURG, March 11—The casualties in the fighting between the striking miners and police had reached a total of thirty-two killed and fifty-seven wounded by nine o'clock Friday night, when the firing was still continuing. Of the thirty-two killed nineteen were policemen.

A Central News despatch from Johannesburg yesterday states that the fighting between strikers and police yesterday afternoon was a veritable battle. The casualties up to nightfall were reported to have included many dead and wounded.

At Wells and Fordsburg the police and military forces were surrounded by armed strikers and a hot and bloody battle resulted, in which there were many casualties on both sides.

Bombs and high explosives were thrown into the police station at Boksburg, and the railway tracks were cut at several points near there, resulting in serious loss of life.

The strikers are heavily entrenched at Benoni and several other points. At some places they are occupying the signal boxes at railway crossings.

Hundreds of arrests have been made throughout the strike area. Several strike headquarters have been occupied by the police and military forces.

A force of 2,000 strikers, armed with hand grenades and revolvers, have prevented the police detachments, stationed at Jeppes, relaforcing the units at Fordsburg.

Benoni, which was occupied by the police early yesterday, was again in the hands of the strikers tonight. A score of workers in the City Hall there were sandbagged by a band of plotters this afternoon.

Archbishop Matheson has sent a circular to the Anglican churches of Canada with instruction to allocate the second Sunday in April for Russian Sunday. Special collections will be taken up.

Dead Men Tell No Tales.

Ven. Archdeacon Paterson Smyth, rector of St. George's, Montreal, is an Irishman by birth, and was for years rector of the largest Anglican church in Dublin. Besides being a popular preacher, he is author of many deeply learned works on religious topics, some of which he has published since coming to Canada a few years ago and this phase of the archdeacon's work, W. T. Chapman, the veteran Montreal bookseller related an entertaining episode at the recent get-together dinner of Authors and Booksellers to launch the Canadian Authors' Week. Dr. Paterson Smyth had published a new book dealing with the future life. He dropped in to Chapman's to see how it was going. Mr. Chapman told him they had already sold several copies, and added, "One of my customers who ordered a copy of your book died before we could send it to him. Well, he knows more about it now than you could have told him, Doctor." The doctor looked at Brit as if the subject were too serious to be joked about, said Mr. Chapman, then the Irish in him asserted itself. "You're right," he replied. "Just think how the book would sell if we could only get him to write the final chapter."

Indian Twin Tragedy.

Frank Ambrose Mitchell and Mitchell Mitchell, the Indian Twin Tragedy of America, are dead. These two little Mitchell Indians, after a short illness of pneumonia, passed away recently at their home at the Indian village on the Tobacco, M.R. Their deaths were only five days apart.

Frank Ambrose Mitchell was 41 years old, his weight 318 pounds, and he was 10 inches in height. His brother, Mitchell, was 44 years old, weighed 314 pounds and was 2 inches in height. These two little men, without doubt, were the most famous twins Indians in America. They were little known except in their own immediately locality.

The mother with them living had been made some handsome offers to travel with her sons with circuses, and also from city museums, which, if accepted, would have made a fortune for them, but these tempting offers were always turned down.

YIELDING TO GOD

A SERMON FOR THE "SHUT-IN"—THOSE WHO ARE UNABLE TO ATTEND CHURCH SERVICES THROUGH ILLNESS OR INFIRMITY.

By Rev. W. H. Wallace, Pastor of Victoria Ave. Baptist Church.

"Yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead."—Romans 6:13.

The call to self-surrender to God is a life-long one. Such a surrender is the best way to live disciplinedly. Except a man take up his cross and follow Jesus, he cannot be His disciple. The first thing the Master demands of all who profess faith in Him is to deny self and follow Him. The great mass of Christians, as we know them, many of ourselves included, do not heed the first command of Jesus. Hence many are weak among us. Our desire and willingness to yield ourselves to God, will depend upon our motives. If we are not moved by the fact that Jesus loved us and gave Himself for us, we shall never be moved at all. There is no other motive worthy of such a demand—yield yourselves unto God. Jesus did this very thing, and we must follow in His steps. There is a fine story told of Dr. Kidd, of Aberdeen, Scotland, a leading minister. When he learned that most people were prejudiced against vaccination, he learned all he could about it. Then he invited all seekers who were willing to yield their children to him, to call at his home from 9 to 10 a.m. any week day and he would do it for them. He would trusted their souls to him; they might also trust him with their bodies. Many came to Dr. Kidd with confidence and yielded their children to him. Soon after the medical men had all they could do. We see here the power of faith and of a good example.

To yield ourselves to God is the secret of joy. Jesus said to His disciples when He desired them to follow Him example, "If ye know these things happy are ye if ye do them." Then the highest joys in life are found in the path of duty—in doing the will of God. Again, our true motive is in the example of Jesus: "I came to do Thy will"; "Who for the joy that was set before Him, endured the cross and despised the shame, and is now set down at God's right hand."

In yielding ourselves unto God we find the key of knowledge. "He that will do God's will shall know the teaching, if it be of God, and Jesus —John 7:17. When we "joy to do the Father's will" we find more of His will revealed to us. "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear Him; and he will show them His covenant." This is the experience of all God's people, as they yielded to the will of God their knowledge increased and more their way was made plain as they obeyed God. George Macdonald uttered a great principle for life when he said, "Do the truth you already know, and you will come to know the truth you ought to know."

Yielding yourselves unto God is the way to peace. This is the great fact in the life of Jesus, so that He could say to His followers: "My peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you, not as the world giveth give I unto you." This experience is true today, as with God's people in the past, "Thou will keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee, because he trusteth in Thee." This applies to our yielding ourselves in praise, prayer and thanksgiving. We remember when Paul was in prison, he was more concerned about his spiritual children than himself. He left these words for their comfort and ours: "Be careful for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."—Phil. 4:7,8.

Then, again, when we yield ourselves unto God we find the true spring of life. We are alive unto God. This is the highest inspiration of life, as Jesus found it, continually yielding ourselves to God. And this is the touchstone, by which we best everything in life. If there is anything in life we are not sure about we can best test it this way—yield unto God, then you may prove it that is the will of God. The best interpretation of our text is found in another part of this epistle to the Romans, in chapter twelve, verse one. "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies a living sacrifice, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God."

One ship turns east, and another west
With the self-same winds that blow;
'Tis the set of the sails, and not the gales,
Which tell us the way to go.
Like the winds of the sea are the waves of fate,
As we voyage along through life;
'Tis the set of the soul that decides the goal,
And not the calm or the strife.

The Christian Life.

Then hidden Love of God, whose height,
Whose depth unfathomed, no man knows,
I see from far Thy beauteous light,
Inly I sigh for Thy repose.
My heart is pained, nor can it be
At rest, till it finds rest in Thee.

Thy secret voice invites me still
The sweetness of Thy yoke to prove;
And fain I would; but though my will
Seems fixed, yet wants the power to move.

Yet blindness strew all the way,
I aim at Thee, yet from Thee stray.

'Tis mercy all, that Thou hast brought
My mind to seek her peace in Thee;
Yet while I seek, but find Thee not,
No peace my wandering soul shall see.

O when shall my wanderings end,
And all my steps to Thee-ward tend?

Is there a thing beneath the sun
That strives with Thee my heart to share?
Ah! tear it thence, and reign alone,
The Lord of every motive there;
Then shall my heart from earth be free,
When it has found repose in Thee.

Each moment draw from earth away
My heart, that lowly waits Thy call;
Speak to my inmost soul and say,
I am thy Love, my God, thy All.
To feel Thy power, to hear Thy voice
To taste Thy love, be all my choice.

NO BRITISH PUBLIC GRANT FOR RUSSIAN SUFFERERS

London, March 11.—Winston Churchill announced in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that in view of large sums already voted for European relief and the grave distress and suffering existing in other parts of British people, the government was unable to propose a grant from public funds, but would make every effort to aid in supplying medical stores for Russia.

"I believe the horror of the situation in Russia can hardly be exaggerated, but we must have regard to what we have already done," he said. He added that he could not overlook the fact that the Russian government has resources of its own which are being applied to matters much less urgent. There were cries of "Shame" at this from the Labor benches.

SENTIMENTAL TOMMY A PICTURE OF MUCH CHARM AND HEART INTEREST

Sir James M. Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy", which has proven one of the outstanding pictures of the year will be shown at Griffin's for the last time tonight. This is a delightful picture, and the cast is one of high class alike and was made by John S. Robertson, one of Paramount's leading directors. Gareth Hughes, Mary Mc-Avoy, Mabel Taliaferro and George Fawcett are in the cast.

YOUNG ORATORS COMPETE IN CONTEST

Charles Sankey Wins Prize for Best Oration of Night.

Friday evening in the High School Assembly Room a delightful Oratorical Contest and Concert was held under the auspices of the High School Literary Society. There were seven speakers, Harold Bradshaw, Doris Rog, Allan Lemon, Charles Sankey, Faith Crozier, Helen Dercoke, and Hazel Mitchell. The subjects were widely different, and all showed careful preparation. Those who were present were convinced that real ability exists in the school.

The first prize ($5.00) was won by Charles Sankey, on the subject 'Mars,' and the second ($2.50) went to Miss Hazel Mitchell who spoke on 'Canada.' The contest was very close. Of the remaining speeches, that of Miss Helen Dercoke on 'Art' was worthy of note on account of its originality and uniqueness.

During the programme, songs were rendered by Miss Helen Potter and Jack Deacon, while Miss Verna Rose an excellent reading. While the judges were out, Misses Florence Owers and Irene Hallah both in costume danced the Japanese Toddle. The judges were Mrs. McFee, Miss Tuite and Mr. George Stewart.

GENERAL DEBILITY FOLLOWS INFLUENZA

The After Effects Often More Serious Than the Disease Itself.

No reasonable precaution to avert an attack of influenza should be spared us. The disease itself often proves fatal and the after effects among those who live spared, make the life of the victim one of almost constant misery. Almost any of those who have been attacked by this trouble what their present condition of health is and most of them will answer: "Since I had the influenza I have never been fully well." This answer is due to the fact that the greatest weakness of the whole constitution of breath, and digestion. This is due to the thin-blooded condition in which the patient is left after the fever and influenza have subsided. This condition will continue until the blood is built up again, and for building up the blood and strengthening the nerves nothing can equal a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The value of this medicine in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mr. Edward J. McGuire, Penobscot, Ont., who says:—"At the fall of 1918 I was attacked with the influenza—and not in a mild form either. I was confined to my room for three weeks, and although the influenza subsided I did not regain my health. As a matter of fact I seemed to be getting weaker. I had no appetite, was subject to fainting spells and my feet and ankles were badly swollen. The doctor told me that my condition had developed into a serious case of anaemia, and although I was under his care for over two months I was not improving in any way. As this state of affairs existed I advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was loth to do so, as I began to think no one could help me. However, I was finally persuaded to try them, and by the time I had used two boxes there was no doubt they were helping me. I continued taking the pills until I had used a dozen boxes, when I found that every symptom of the trouble had left me and I was again enjoying the best of health. I returned to my work and have ever since been in good health and feel that I owe it entirely to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I think that anyone who is suffering from the after effects of influenza, or any form of anaemia should give this medicine a fair trial."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Hints for the Motorist

Professing To Facilitate Starting

AS AN ASSISTANCE in starting a cold engine, the "all knowing specialist" of pouring hot water over the carburetor and the intake piping (if any) is quite effective, but it is very messy, as the spill water fatal to wearing apparel, the gasoline fumes and the danger that some of it may enter the float-chamber around the priming pin. Several rubber hot water bottles, as warm as may be, laid on the carburetor and on exposed intake passages, serve very well, as the heat has time to be communicated to the metal and there is no spillage. It is also possible to make up a number of mild bags, of such form as to fit around the carburetor and exposed intake piping, to heat them in a stove oven or otherwise, and to use these as heating elements. These bags can be made of heavy cloth of very little expense, they will last indefinitely and answer very well. An ordinary electric toaster, set in operation under the well blanketed hood, has been used successfully as a preheating device. Most of these consume 500 to 700 watts and really give out a substantial amount of heat, but as most of them run red hot, reasonable precaution is demanded. It is the carburetor itself, especially the fuel bowl, to which starting heat should particularly be applied.

ANTI-FREEZE SOLUTION FORMULAE.

J. J. S. asks: Can you give us formulas for using glycerine and alcohol in the cooling system? Do these two liquids have the same anti-freeze properties?

Answer: According to the S. A. E., a mixture of equal parts of glycerine and water freezes at zero Fahrenheit, but this solution is very "pitchy" and boils at 226 degrees. A mixture of 45 parts of glycerine and 55 parts of water, 15% denatured alcohol and 14% of proprietor is used, which affords protection down to about five degrees below zero and is less subject to evaporation because of the presence of the glycerine. A half and half mixture of water and denatured alcohol gives protection down to about 20 below zero.

GEARS WON'T SHIFT WHEN COLD.

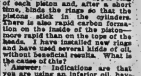

E. A. J. writes: Since cold weather has come on, I find it impossible to shift the gears on my car from first to second speed when it is first taken out and for half an hour after, but when it is warmed up, I can make this shift readily. I have thinned the lubricant in the transmission, according to the directions. Can you suggest a remedy?

Answer: As this difficulty disappears after warming up has taken place, it seems likely that the lubricant on the shifting mechanism, while cold, still remains stiff enough to prevent free motion of the selector device or the shifting fork of the second and top gear. You may have to further thin the lubricant in the transmission case so that it will be sure to splash up and free the shifting parts or you may have to take the gearcase cover off and use a kerosene oil mixture on the shift slides and other gear changing parts.

PROBABLY INFERIOR OIL

W. W. D. writes: Carbon forms very rapidly under the upper ring on each piston and, after a short time, binds the rings so that the pistons stick in the cylinders. There is also rapid carbon formation on the inside of the piston-rods and on the inside of the crankcase, and installed mileage and have had several kinds of oil, without beneficial results. What is the cause of this?

Answer: Indications are that you are using an inferior oil, having a very low resistance to heat, so low that the temperature prevailing inside the piston is able to decompose it, leaving a gummy residue. Its flash point is perhaps also low, so that it reaches the top piston ring and the hotter parts of the cylinder by the high temperature of the vapor prevailing, which may account for heavier deposits on the inside than on the outside of the pistons. The sticking of the pistons also indicates that the oil possesses very little lubricating value. Try using a light grade of the highest quality of oil you can obtain and we think your trouble will lessen.

WARNS FARMERS TO BE WARY ON FEED

Seed Commissioner Says Adulteration of Stock Foods Still Prevalent.

Ottawa, March 11.—(By Canadian Press)—The Seed Commissioner of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Geo. H. Clark, states that the adulteration of commercial stock foods is still prevalent, making it desirable that care and discrimination be exercised by farmers in purchasing them. While the bulk of the feeds on the market are as represented, there are still far too many, he says, that are fraudulent, or are misleadingly named, or contain materials unsuitable for feeding purposes. The following typical examples are given:

A feed recently offered for sale as barley meal at $4.00 a bag was found to contain no barley but to consist of ground corn, sorghum, bran meal and ground oat hulls. "Feed flour" at $4.50 per bag was found to consist of ground rice hulls, pulverized and dyed with some sorghum and corn. "Feed" the kind not specified, was found to consist of ground oat hulls with a vital weed seed content of 1870 per ounce. "Ground Oil Cake" was found to consist of ground corn cobs, a little linseed meal and barley flour.

Microscopical examination is necessary to determine the composition of a stock feed, as the naked eye cannot distinguish the materials present, particularly when they are finely ground. The Feeding Stuffs Act, administered by the Branch, is intended to standout fraudulent practices in this connection and to protect buyers. Samples of feed that show evidence of adulteration should be forwarded to the Seed Commissioner, Ottawa, together with all possible accurate information. The results, if need be, together with the information supplied, will be promptly issued for the special consideration and action of the inspector for the district where the article was manufactured or imported.

The capacity of the Ottawa feeding stuffs laboratory for the micro-analysis of feeding stuffs is about ten samples per day. The fee is one dollar for each sample examined and entitles the sender to the analysis for his own information or for court action.

NEWSPAPERS WIN PAPER ACTION

Justice Riddell Hands Down Judgment at Osgoode Hall Yesterday.

Toronto, March 10.—Mr. Justice Riddell yesterday gave judgment in favor of The Manitoba Free Press and thirteen other Western newspapers in their claim against the Fort Frances Pulp and Paper Company for alleged overcharges and made in the face of newsprint control. He held that the Orders-in-Council controlling newsprint were valid. He stated that it was not necessary to appeal to the power which might inherent in time of war for the public safety, as all powers exercised by minister, controller or tribunal were valid even in time of peace. The claim of the newspapers amounted to between $900,000 and $300,000, whereas the counter-claim of the company was for more than $5,000,000. It had attacked the newsprint control on the ground that it was a violation of the B.N.A. Act.

LEGISLATIVE SPREES.

The course of a Legislature like the game of love never runs smooth and the alleged liquor party at the Parliament Buildings at Toronto is just one of those little obstructions that the legislators like true lovers have to overcome.

Drummond's resolution introduced in the Toronto city council-public attention has been drawn to an incident concerning which silence has been maintained for some months, and certain U.F.O. members of the Legislature hoped that the silence would not be broken. The resolution alluded to calls for an investigation of the said incident. It is learned that a similar resolution was secretly passed long since by the U. F. O. executive. The resolutions relate to a lively gathering which took place in the parliament buildings on the night of the last day of last year's session of the Ontario legislature. It was a sort of celebration, which, rumor says, degenerated into something like an orgie of which wine, women and song were features. Apparently most of the members present were U.F.O. representatives, desirous of studying at close range some of the objectionable features of city life which do not appear on the streets and about which they had doubtless heard thunders of denunciation from rural pulpits.

Premier Drury, having received the admonitory resolution passed by the U.F.O. executive, investigated the matter, and told the House he had found that the honor of no minister of the crown was involved in a way that would merit any severe censure." This declaration is carefully and rather peculiarly worded. It produces the impression that ministers of the crown participated in the fun, and though their conduct may have been censurable it did not call for severe censure.

Of course there has been the customary mud slinging and inquiries have been put by members of the Legislature as to why the Toronto City Council should take it upon itself to censure the august and mighty members of the U.F.O. That part of the matter is however easily answered.

It is stated that the character of the celebration made it a case for police interference, and, as Toronto police were the only police that could interfere, the mover of the resolution thinks it desirable to have an investigation in order to ascertain whether in such cases the Toronto police have power to act.

This is not unreasonable. It is advisable that the limits of police jurisdiction be authoritatively defined in relation to legislators whose conduct calls for enforced regulation of some sort.

Meanwhile the publicity which has been given to the incident will probably do good. It will serve as a check upon legislators from the rural districts when they feel like loosening the bonds of restraint while in the city. And we may be sure that even if no official investigation is held, there will be many a searching domestic inquisition, the effects of which are likely to prove chastening.

MONEY FOR RESEARCH WORK.

The proposal that the Government of Canada should set aside half a million dollars for a National Research Institute, and also make an annual grant for research work in the public interest, is modest compared with the requirements of the country and compared with what has been done in the United States, says the Toronto Globe.

The National Research Council of the United States has issued a statement showing the funds available for scientific research provided by endowments and apart from direct contributions from public sources. In the year 1920 the income from such endowments reached twenty-two and a half million dollars. In round numbers, five hundred wealthy Americans have been sufficiently interested in the advancement of science to contribute to it. Commenting on this statement, the London Times says that it is unequalled with any similar compilation relating to Great Britain, and that the direct endowment of research is absolutely and relatively small in that country. But there is not the slightest doubt that in the industrial warfare of the future the victory will go to the people who are best equipped scientifically to wage it.

The Poets' Corner

A TRIBUTE FROM MARY

The swelling notes of the organ
Have sung the Wedding March;
And the strain was rolled and echoed,
Each classic vaulted arch;
While the bride on her departure,
On the arm of the gallant bridegroom,
Left slowly down the aisle.

The return from the ancient Abbey
Was made through famed Whitehall,
If whose precincts erected
A polished obelisk hall;
'Twas known to all as the Cenotaph,
Memorial to the dead,
Whose bodies lie in Flanders,
With crosses at their head.

While passing the Memorial,
By the wish of the Princess,
(Who pre-could not be there,
Despite her happiness),
The carriage stopped a minute,
While she deftly broke a spray
From her wreath of orange blossoms,
On the Cenotaph to lay.

Lassies erect and soldierly,
His hand to bearskin raised,
Gave thus his bride an unseemly
His silent meed of praise;
While headdress doffed by many eyes
Among the waiting throng,

A Laugh or Two

When They Landed

Little Joseph was boasting about his family.

Our family came over in the Mayflower, he declared proudly.

Oh, that's nothing! said Teddy. I guess they stayed with our folks, the first night they landed.

The Wrong Man

A rookie was reading an article about the kaiser which compared him to Nero. Who was Nero? Bill he asked a fellow rookie. Wasn't he a man that was always cold?

Naw, was the reply, that was Zero, another guy altogether.

Had The Habit

How's this? asked the lawyer. You have named six bankers in your will to be pallbearers. Don't you think it's all right, but wouldn't you rather choose some friends with whom you are on better terms?

No, Judge; that's all right. Those fellows have carried me for so long they may as well finish the job.

A Black Diamond

Sambo: Look yer heah, big boy, don' yo-all mess wid me, 'cause Ah's hard! Las' week Ah fails on a buzz saw an' Ah busts fo'-cousand-by-7.

Rambo: Call dat hard? Listen, man Ah scratches de bath tub.

Double Trouble

Lavitsky had given his son a severe thrashing for disobedience. The boy blood in tears, the father said:

Now, what you t'ink of that, huh? No answer. So Levitsky went on: I know what you t'ink. You t'ink, Damn! Just for that I give you another liking. I teach you!

THE KHAN, IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

SIGNS OF SPRING.

The wish is father to the thought.
When we think there will be an early spring and ask ourselves why we think so, if we are honest, we shall confess that we wish for an early spring. You may think your girl loves you, I hope she does. But it is best possible that you wish that she loves you and that's what makes you think so. The post tells us that winking, of all employments, is the worst. And the same post adds:

"Like our shadows,
Our wishes lengthen as our sun declines."

I don't believe this. Youth, which is a type of spring and spring, which is the symbol of youth, are full of wishes; they would be both poor stuff were it not wishes. "Spring is the blessed season, wishing time—none the better than to wish for much in October. This young working girl is coming downtown in the early morning smiling as she walks. She is wishing. You nice little thing, I hope you'll get your wishes. All of them. A little house, perhaps, away out somewhere, and a bit of a garden with real honest hens strawberries growing in it, and a coop with seven chickens in it, and a poory at the corner of the block, and a rain barrel at the back. That's the way, that the only way, most people get to heaven, wishing for it. I do believe that if you keep on wishing for most anything you will get it. I had a girl wished on to me the other evening. Sara Ann came to me and said that I'd just hafta take Eliza to the first and walk back to the Lone Star," which I did. Ann pointed her foot down it's got to be done, so, although my soul rebelled, I took Eliza to the first and walked back before we parted that night I had pledged her to go with me to the sugaring off. When that happened? Well, you really can't tell anything about a girl till you go with her. That sap bilin' was the beginning of a very special function I ever attended—and all on account of Eliza! There's a girl that you can't get tired of. She is full of wishes. You don't know what she is going to do next. I think that women are a good deal like spring. It is a wishing thing we don't know when we are going to see. If you have a girl like Eliza you will never be troubled with ennui. The know she is going to do something best but you can't even guess what it will be. I had a continuous time with a girl like Eliza.

There is one sign of spring which we don't need much. The Squire's chin and sash shirt are out of vogue. These are decorated at this season of the year, assumed, I should say, with little irregular golden whiskers made outof—you wouldn't guess in a month of Sundays, the yolk of an egg. Yes—the yolk of a hen's egg. In the late fall on the early winter when eggs are a dollar a dozen, about when spring is near Joe he goes into the bumshed does one better and speckles out in gold.

For decoration purposes egg has anything else I know of backed over the dump. It lasts, and what more do you want? A splash of egg on your vest will retain its golden effulgence for weeks, long after gravy, soup, Charlotte Russe, etc., have paled their festive hues and fires. Joe has got a blob of egg on his chin which is very effective, and the chunk on his coat lapel is all of thirteen inches like a nugget. If he were in Russia they would eat his clothes if they didn't eat him as well.

Another thing about egg is—it don't show dirt. You may decorate your shirt front and vest and the front of your pants with egg, and the constituents will retain their virgin and pristine beauty till the first of July. Doesn't matter how dusty or smoky or murky it may be, them egg transmutations never show the dirt. When I was a little shaver Grannie always insisted on accompanying the delegates when I was taken in great pomp to get a new suit of clothes. I remember that Grannie always demanded good what wouldn't show the dirt. This is a fine trait of character. I admire it very much. Would that we were all like Grannie and insisted on things that didn't show the dirt. For some things—and people—they try dirt at once. How many of your acquaintances are objectionable for this reason? And then there be others. "There's Pomeroy," you might fling her out into a sewer and she would climb out immaculate. She never seems to show the dirt.

Come, gentle spring, ethereal mildness, come!

She is coming on roller bearings and the roller bearings is eggs. On Easter Sunday she will jump the ties.

The Tide.

Tinker Bob's Stories

by Carlisle H. Holcomb

CRIMING IT TIME

Tinker Bob was dressed with what he thought was extreme neatness from head to toe. From his tall and his gaze was distinctly stylish. "I wonder what Mohammed is?" said Tinker to Tim.

Tim took this last striped fodder as meant to "size" him up, and Biffs.

"Humph! You think me laugh, do you, Tim? I know who that fellow is on the front page. He lives in the jolly palaces of the jungle. I suppose some good beer here to drink."

It must talk with this carnival, said Tinker Bob. He called to the fellow and here amongst the creatures and curious stripes stopped. It was strange enough to think that the folks of the jungle would do as the trees of the Garden do not. But there was some peculiar power about the King that caused all to obey when he spoke. Tinker Bob knew they knew he could in their friend and do them no harm.

The creature had no sooner stopped than another came into view, and he, like the first one who spoke, said: "I am the King of the Forest and I came here to get acquainted with the stripes of the Jungle. I want to know who you are."

The creature with many stripes seemed to be nervous and restless all the time. He wasn't afraid of Tim, the Elephant for he was a friend and he knew the stripes of the beast, but it was his nature to be nervous.

"My name is Zebra, the Horse Tiger and this is Mrs. Zebra." The marking of this fellow's skin was surely beautiful. Almost color was yellowish with white for the head and body and legs to his hoofs were regularly striped. They were all tan stripes on it to the very end.

"I am, who made so many stripes on your body?" asked Tinker Bob.

"Ah, I am easily tell you all about my stripes if that's all you want to know," said Mr. Zebra. "It's a long story, but I can make it short. I have to get back to the hills before dark for this a dangerous place—deep here in the valley at drinking time. You see my great, great grandmother was afraid she would lose sight of her little self because he looked so much like the ground and the trees and if an enemy would come along and frighten him he might run into the dense jungles and get lost. So it was that she went to the great doctor of the Jungle and told him that she wanted to have her colt decorated so that she would not lose him. You know who the great doctor of the forest is? His name is Dr. Giraffe. Well, he made these stripes and put them on the little colt for my great great grandmother and since that time the Horse Tiger has had stripes and that's why we are

Clam Pancakes

Clam pancakes are a simplified clam fritter; to make them use any good pancake batter, adding a little more baking powder and half the amount of salt that you usually do. Then stir in (for four people) one pint of chopped clams and enough of the liquor to form a batter that will pour readily. Cook slowly on a well greased griddle, as they will take about twice as long to cook as ordinary pancakes.

Efficient Housekeeping
by Laura A. Kirkman

GETTING READY FOR THE SPRING PAINTING

There are few houses that do not need a little restoring with paint in the spring. In place, however, of having most of the necessary daubing hereafter, with the high cost of household expenses, most of, indeed, will be inspected by the owner painters. This is not too formidable a task for the housekeeper if she has the proper equipment and knows some of the secrets of the art.

The well-equipped paint shirt should have the following things upon it: A denim over-all apron, a pair of large cotton gloves such as are sold by hardware merchants, a box of "patching plaster," and a putty knife with which to apply this plaster, old rags and crumpled linen paper for use in wiping up paint dripped from the brush, a two-gallon pail to mix the paint in, a slender wooden stick to stir the paint with (about a foot long) a can-opener, a pile of old newspapers to stand the pail on and to cover the furniture, one quart of turpentine, one quart of linseed oil and the necessary cans of paint.

Touching up painted walls, and painting a bare wall for the first time, are two entirely different things. In touching up a wall or woodwork that has already been painted, one may use the paint undiluted. But in applying paint on a surface for the first time, one should pour a little paint from the freshly opened can into an empty one and add the same quantity of turpentine, mixing well. Apply this mixture by brush or woolen and let dry for 12 hours. Then use the paint in its full strength for the second and third coats—allowing 48 hours to elapse between applying the second and third coats.

In painting a floor for the first time put a half-paint-half-turpentine coat on the entire floor, applying it at night. By morning the floor will be dry enough to walk on. Then, if the room is one which must be used during the day (as a kitchen or bathroom floor for instance), put on the second coat (which is undiluted paint) in strips, so that you may step over these strips of wet paint until the 48 hours are up during which to drying. When these strips are dry, paint the alternate strips, stepping on the ones you painted before. The third coat goes on in the same way.

To prevent the paint in the can from thickening and drying, between applying the three coats, cover the top of the can with several layers of newspaper tied down firmly; invert the can for an instant to moisten the paper over the tight, then right the can and put it away till needed. Of course these hands of paint come with a can-opener which may be put back on the can after it has been used once; but the above hint will be found very helpful in the case of cans which must be opened with a can-opener.

"A dash is four more wise" is an axiom which the housekeeper might well bear in the Spring, and it is not too early to prepare to put it into execution.

G.W.V.A. DEFEAT CAN. CEMENT 5-4

Final in City Hockey League Proves Win for the Veterans.

In one of the fastest games and clean-est seen in the city league hockey this year the G.W.V.A. defeated the Canada Cement Co. in two minutes overtime at the Arena last night. The boys from France were better on the heavy going, being used to the mud of the battlefields.

The C.C. Co. tired on end and the French diggers were all around the Cement Co. goal, throwing all kinds of puck grenades at Lizzett but were unable to beat him. There was a large crowd out to witness the game and there was lots of excitement for those watching the boys taking their dips in the wet. The first period Finkle made a fine goal, and shot from outside of defence and scored.

G.W.V.A. 1; C.C. Co. 0.

Cameron a few minutes after scored, and this was all the scoring for the first period

G.W.V.A. 1; C.C. Co. 1.

In the second period Parke of Point Anne's a long shot, that got past Percy, but Arnott tied it up a couple of minutes later. Both teams worked hard but could do no scoring.

G.W.V.A. 2; C.C. Co. 2.

THIRD PERIOD.

In the third period H. Genereux went down and shot from the defence and scored. Ketcheson, a few minutes after tied it up again. Three two minutes later Ketcheson put the veterans ahead but H. Genereux tied it up again just before the bell rang.

G.W.V.A. 4; C.C. Co. 4.

Overtime had to be played to decide the winner and in the first five minutes neither team scored. But in the last few minutes the Veterans scored one when Hay shot and scored, and then bombarded the C.C. Co. goal but were unable to score again, so the game ended—G.W.V.A.; 5; C.C. Co. 4. GRANITES OUTLAST IROQUOIS FALLS

O.H.A. Champions Win the First Game After Splendid Exhibition.

Toronto, March 11.—Granites outlasted Iroquois Falls and won last night's Allan Cup elimination game 7 to 1, giving the O.H.A. champions a two-goal lead for the return game on Monday. The winner of the series will play the Eastern champions, either Montagards of Ottawa or Sons of Ireland of Quebec, on Thursday and Saturday of next week. Granites were without Harry Watson, who is down with a grippe, but expect to have him in harness on Monday. The Curlers had at least a two-goal advantage on the play and deserved to win. The game was fast and the checking close and hard. There was little let-up in the speed by either team until the last 15 minutes, when the N.O.H.A. title winners tired, allowing Granites to sweep down the ice in two and three-man rushes. There was a capacity crowd at the game.

MODEL YACHT RACES NEW CRAZE

Young and Old in British Columbia Engaged in New Sport.

Victoria, B.C., March 11.—(By Canadian Press)—Model yacht racing is now the latest craze in British Columbia. Not only are the school boys engrossed in the delicate task of constructing models that can stand up to a good breeze, but older and wiser heads, including many former sealers and men who have sailed in square riggers and fore-and-afters are willing away most of their spare time trying to produce a craft that will win the honors, that will be at stake at the regatta to be held at Cowichan Bay and Victoria next July by the Pacific International Yachting Association.

Only this winter has model yacht racing gripped and fascinated the coast enthusiasts. Victoria and Vancouver have formed Model Yacht Clubs which are receiving special attention from the Royal Yacht Clubs. Seattle, Tacoma and Portland, on the other side of the border have likewise taken up the craze and boat-builders there are working with feverish anxiety in an effort to perfect boats that will be able to make creditable showing at the International regatta.

The amateur ship-builders are specializing in a boat of forty-inches overall, carrying 1,000 square inches of sale. Any type of craft may be built, three-masted, full-rigged ship, a four-masted schooner, a yaul or sloop, is eligible for the regattas, provided the lines with the overall measurement and the sail area. Most of the builders are sticking fast to the sloop as it offers less intricacies for the novice.

There is another recognized class, however, but it is not finding much favor due to its size, and also the increased difficultion of construction. It is a sloop of 79 inches overall, but but 38 inches on the waterline. This craft will be allowed to carry 2,300 square inches of sail and can be equipped with either the Marconi or Gaff rig.

Upwards of fifty models are now being constructed in British Columbia. The youngsters are showing the greatest enthusiasm. Some of them are making a proper job of the construction, framing and planking them with gouges. Their great ambition is to make the shell as thin as tissue paper. It must be possible to see a light through the sides. This is no small matter but it is giving young Canada a chance to show his ingenuity and workmanship.

The Royal Victoria and Royal Vancouver Yacht Clubs are arranging races to see who can produce the fastest models. Some of the boats now in the water are capable of bowling along at a good clip and they heel as gentley as a regular racer. The models are held in their course by an automatic steering device, working from the main boom to the tiller. The sail area and the tension has much to do with the success of the craft.

At present the models have to stand up to the gusty winter breezes. With the approach of spring six elimination races will be arranged and in this manner boats will be selected to race for the international honors of the Pacific Coast.

The races so far held have attracted more than ordinary interest. Many "experts," "critics" and just common

Many model shipyards have been established in the cellars of British Columbia homes and small boys are busying every effort to produce the champ looking yacht. The craze is spreading with great rapidity and it is expected that by the time summer arrives the harbors and bays will be dotted with the bright sails of model craft. It is looked upon as a great way to train for the future yachtsmen of the country. It will give the boys an early insight into the art of construction, rigging and bending of sails.

It is interesting to note that in a recent race held in Victoria, the model of a school boy won from the epic and span craft built by a former sealer who spent twenty years in sail.

When Children Are Underweight

ONE-MINUTE ESSAYS ON HEALTH BY DR. WM. P. REDICK

When the visiting nurse decides that your child is underweight, of course you will do all you can to remedy the physical defect, and yet you cannot diet a racer into becoming a draft horse.

In a majority of cases where the child fails to respond to diet it is due to digestive weakness. In such cases the child is certainly going to be benefitted by chiropractic spinal adjustments which will release 100 per cent. of nerve energy into the digestive organs.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments are restoring the conditions of health in diseases of the eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, pancreas, kidneys, liver and lower organs of the body.

EDDIE COLLINS IS THIRTY-FIVE

King of the Big League Second Basemen Still Going Strong.

Edward Trowbridge Collins, king of second-basemen, will celebrate his thirty-fifth birthday on May 2. This will be his sixteenth consecutive season as a professional baseball player and he still is in a class by himself. As captain and second-baseman of the Chicago White Sox, Collins expects to remain in major league company at least two years more, but when he retires from the game who will succeed him as the most brilliant player at the middle bag? Will the new king of keystone suckers be Frank Frisch of the Giants, Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals, Horace Ford of the Braves Bill Wambsganss of the Indians, or Jimmy Dykes of the Athletics?

At the present time Hornsby, it would seem, ranks next to Collins, but Frisch, who will never accept second rank, is clearly for the world champions this year, seems destined to surpass Hornsby in fielding skill and, unless accidents happen, he may develop sufficient ability to be rated in the same class with Collins before the latter leaves the pastime. Frisch did splendid work at third base last season, but his regular position is at second, and with the coming year's experience it is generally believed that he will be at least the equal of the White Sox star.

John McGraw, after the Athletics had defeated the Giants in the 1913 world series, declared that Collins not only was the best second-baseman that ever had been seen in the majors, but also was the greatest natural ball player the game ever had produced. In making this broad statement, McGraw ranked Collins above such remarkable second-basemen as Napoleon Lajoie, Bobby Lowe, Cupid Childs, Harry Davis, Tom Daly, Bid McPhee, Hobo Ferris, Miller Huggins, Claude Ritchey and Johnny Kerr, all of whom had been seen in action by the Giants' veteran leader.

As Collins nears the end of his spectacular career, McGraw again rises to remark that Frisch is the coming star at second base, a position that will make the achievements of the Fordham Flash unusually interesting this year.

How to Wash Your Clothes in an Electric Washer

THE FOURTH ARTICLE OF A SERIES OF TALKS ON WASHING CLOTHES THE ELECTRIC WAY.

The Electric Washer users of Belleville have developed various methods of doing the washing, but all of them have banished the old drudgery of wash day and they have found that there is not only a great saving in labor but also a financial saving in the wear and tear of the clothes.

Some find it is better to set all other work aside and confine their attention solely to the washing; finishing same in one day and half or two hours, while others carry on just the same as on any other day in the week with the washing an added duty.

1st Method.—Clothes are assorted in batches. After the first batch is washed it is put through the rinse water. While the second batch is being washed the clothes from the rinse water are put through the wringer into the bluing water. The rinse water from the second batch of clothes is washed the first batch has been rinsed and blued and is ready to be put on the line.

2nd Method.—Clothes are assorted in batches as in the first method. After the first batch is washed it is put through the wringer into the basket. The second batch is put in the washer and while the washer is working other house duties can be gone on with. When the second batch is washed it is put through the wringer the same as first batch, and so on until all the clothes have been put through. Often in the wash water is drained out of the washer and the rinse water put in, allowing the washer to agitate each batch of clothes from one to three minutes. Then follow the same process with the bluing water.

The second method will take a little longer time, but we think it insures perfect cleanliness. The agitation of the clothes in the rinse and bluing water displaces any dirt that may not have been removed in the wash water.

REBUILDING FACTORY

The Frankford Canning Factory, which, with a large amount of canned goods, etc., was destroyed by fire in several of last year, is being rebuilt. It will be on nearly the same site, and will be the same size as the last one employing about 50 people in the busy season. The factory is being fitted with all possible appliances for handling it, modern ideas, and it is expected that it will be ready for this season's canning. The Canning Factory has been an industrial asset to the village and caused great inconvenience to Agnes and company alike, when it was burned to the ground.

RAISING LEMONS

Mr. J. C. Morton, of Thomasburg, is the proud possessor of a lemon tree which is not only ornamental but brings forth fruit in due season. On Saturday last Mr. Morton dropped into our office and exhibited a lemon grown on this tree which measured 13½ by 13¾ inches. It was certainly a very fine specimen, and Mr. Morton informed us that the flavor is equal to imported fruit.—Tweed News.

AN AGED RESIDENT PASSES

On Sunday last there passed away a highly respected resident of Plainfield, Elsevir Township, in the person of Mrs. Pierce Casibeau, at the advanced age of nineteen years. She was a woman of kindly disposition, charitable character, and noted for her kind serving towards the sick. She was greatly beloved by all who knew her. She is survived by two sons and three daughters.

MINIATURE FLOOD

At Stirling village on Tuesday, during the heavy rain ice formed at the mouth of the sewer the result was that all orders as to the high side of Front Street from the Bank of Montreal to E. F. Coulter's store were flooded to the top. For a few hours the Memorial Park was like a swimming pool. In Brooklyn the street was wooded and the teacher were unable to get home until Mr. Wm. Bailey came to their assistance with his lorry boat and landed them safely home.

U-GO-I-GO PICNIC

A general meeting and indoor picnic under the auspices of the U-Go-I-Go Club was held last evening at the home of the National Tread Shoes, Ltd., premises on Pinnacle street and it proved to be a most enjoyable function. Various games were indulged in for which prizes were given. Later in the evening refreshments were served by the ladies present, and they were by no means stinted. The affairs under the management of the club are proving very popular and have a great tendency towards cementing the kindly relations which exist between the members of the firms and employees who are connected with the club.

Dr. McCreary has held among other appointments that of resident assistant at the Montreal General Hospital for one year, house physician at the Montreal Western General Hospital, obstetrical at the Montreal Maternity Hospital for one year and was resident surgeon in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, for another year. He is a brother of Ald. W. R. McCreary.

MAKING SYRUP.

In various sections of Ontario there have been tapped and boiling of maple syrup has commenced. Some sections report a very heavy run of sap and the indications are that it will be a good season for the maple syrup and sugar. So far as could be ascertained trees have not yet been tapped in this locality.

SATURDAY'S MARKET

Many of our country friends were to-day in attendance upon the market and offered for sale considerable farm products. There were not many changes to note in prices, but in some cases they were of the downward tendency. Fresh dairy butter sold at 24c. per pound and for a slightly lower figure for basket lots. Fresh eggs were comparatively cheap, the ruling price being 28c. and 30c. per dozen and basket lots were sold as low as 25c. per dozen. Dressed chickens are, however a luxury, selling as high as 22 each. In some cases $2.50 was paid for a pair. A few pairs of ducks were seen and sold at $2 a pair; Garden products are easily disposed of at fair prices. Potatoes sold at $1.50 and $1.75 per bag. A large quantity of meat was cut up at several stands upon the market and the price was reasonable.

THE INTELLIGENCER

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—One would interpret from the article which appeared in the issue of The Intelligencer under date of March 9th, (Chamber tells of Progress) that I was instrumental in having one of the large elm trees removed on Highland avenue. Such was not the case, but I did request Ald. Harry Greenlee to have a large limb that was overhanging my residence, same being very dangerous, removed. Ald. Greenlee took the job the next morning, and after examining the same, decided the whole tree should come out. I do not desire to receive credit for removing the tree entirely. It should have been removed long ago. I do not see how it remained so long without falling, as it was split in the centre to the ground, and very much rotted out. The size of the beautiful wood held it. Ald. Greenleaf and the men working on the tree are to be commended on the manner in which this tree was removed without damage and at such an exceedingly low cost.

I have been a resident of Belleville for a number of years and am particularly interested in the beauty of the city at large and particularly my own locality, and would be one of the last to injure or destroy the shade trees or anything that would interfere with the beauty of the city or its beautiful shade trees. I might further state that Mr. Bert Frederick and myself offered the city, free of cost, 12 or 15 feet of land in front of our properties, when they were repairing this hill last year, so as it would widen the street at this point, which had been accepted, would have made this locality one of the most beautiful sections of the city of Belleville, but on the contrary they narrowed the street to the detriment of same.

R. T. CHERRY.

K. V. A. HOCKEY

Last evening at the Arena, the sixty minute six of the local Hydro Department put it over the combined forces of the Power Department and that engagement by a score of 2 to 1, this winning a series of hard-fought games played for the usual cup and supper.

In spite of a couple of inches of water on the ice surface, it was some game. Up to the last few minutes the Power Department had the best of it, however, the locals came back with two goals in the last few minutes which was summed by one lonely goal. Badgeley for the locals introduced a new kind of slide, however he could not get away with it. We did not quite get the idea of the brass knob on the end of it either. Highlights on the goal, also quite a bunch of horseshoes. Freshie had an awful bad habit of trying to score when there is no net around. The referee had some time watching Harvey, however, he didn't get away with much. Freddie for the losers can shoot himself when he gets a chance, and Mac (if not so heavy as he thought he was, Armot) did not show up well on account of the spray, says he never was a good sailor. Oh, well it was a sixty-minute six need a square meal anyway. We do not know who the referee was. The line-up was as follows:

Locals	Position	Power Dept.
Hibbert	goal	Cook
Freshcie and Badgeley	defence	McElrath and Anderson
Oliphant	c.	Waldell
Armit	l. wing	Brown
Wheeler	centre	Lapsley

Power Dept. sub.—Leslie.

WINTER WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Our Canadian winters are exceedingly hard on the health of little ones. The weather is often so severe that the mother cannot take the little ones out for an airing. The consequence is that baby is confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms; takes cold and becomes cross and peevish. Baby's Own Tablets should be given to keep the little ones healthy. They are a mild laxative which regulate the stomach and bowels and thus prevent colds. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

KEEP FIT
Never let your system get run down — keep fit all the time

As long as you keep yourself strong and healthy it is impossible for disease to contract colds and other contagious diseases.

But when unfit your system becomes weakened. The slightest exposure finds you not feeling up to the mark, start fortifying your system against disease by taking Carnol. These remarks apply especially to children who do not realize the importance of taking proper care of themselves.

The peculiar feature about Carnol is that, while it is a powerful tonic containing cod liver oil, it has a distinctive taste.

Carnol is the ideal preparation for all run down conditions. It is an excellent remedy for anemia, consumption and all diseases of a wasting nature, due to impaired nutrition, poor and insufficient blood supply. Carnol provides food for the nerves and blood for the tissues. It increases weight and builds up the whole system.

Carnol is of special value in the treatment of all nervous conditions marked by depression of the vital forces and usually caused by prolonged mental strain, overwork, nervous prostration.

Carnol has proven an excellent remedy in Rickets, that crippling disease of ill-nourished children, and in other ailments.

Carnol is composed of that wonderful nerve builder—sodium glycerophate salts. This is commonly known as the "nerve salts." The Blood Food. It is the best blood builder and nerve tonic known. Carnol not only builds blood and nourishes the nerves, but also contains the nutritive properties of fresh beef which stimulates and nourishes the system.

In addition, there is cod liver extract with all the nauseating, bad-tasting elements removed.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say after you have tried it, that it has not done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. Price $1.00.

MOIRA RIVER ICE DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Cellars of Houses Along River Bank Inundated—Foot-bridge Smashed and Temporarily Out of Commission as Result of Grinding Ice Blocks—Ice Field is at Present Held Up Just Above Lower Bridge—Thrilling Rescue of Horses From Flooded Stable.

On the 85th of March, 1918, Belleville experienced a flood which did damage of the extent of several thousand dollars. Every year since some damage by ice shove has resulted and this year was no exception to the rule, although up to the time of writing the actual damage in dollars and cents is not great, much inconvenience has been experienced by the flooding of yards and cellars on the western side of Front street, and the extinguishing of a number of furnaces.

First Ice Jam

On Tuesday last, following a downpour of rain, the ice in the river commenced to break up. As a result an ice jam was formed at a point opposite Cooper's Mills and extended up the river for a distance of at least a quarter of a mile. This shove caused some damage, chiefly being the destruction of what was known as Lott's dam, located at Station street.

Since Tuesday a considerable quantity of ice had come down the river from the vicinity of Lazier's Mill. This field of ice was held intact for a few days and it was feared that it would come all together and that before any more ice came down the river, but such was not the case. During the past few days the ice has been coming in small quantities, and as a result the water has not risen to any great extent. The field of ice was anticipated by many old the worst fears were realized.

Between 11 o'clock on Sunday morning and 2 o'clock the ice came down from the direction of the bridge and was about in a good current. When this second rush took place what already had gone—which was about between Cooper's Mills, set is in motion and the irresistible force of the ice moving at the rate of about 15 miles per hour towards the river.

Footbridge Damaged

The footbridge, as usual, came in for hard knocks, and it has been a rigid structure, the probability is that it would have been carried away. It swayed to and fro on its cable supports as the huge cakes of ice struck the sleepers. Some of the sleepers and a few railings, also the flooring for a short distance, also the flooring for about fifteen feet at the west end was carried away, compelling the city officials to close the structure against traffic.

At a point just south of the footbridge the jam was held fast as the ice in the river from this point to the bridge and the railway bridge is better bridge are apparently firm. Huge cakes of ice were carried over the banks of the river at the south side and were left on them floating in yards in the rear of Front street premises.

At the present time there is a field of ice extending in the river from the footbridge to a point near the G.T.R. bridge, a distance of about a mile. Some of the cakes are a great size and of considerable thickness. From the quantity of timber among the ice

INDIAN NATIVES ATTACK GOVT. TROOPS

Twenty-two are Killed After Pitched Battle—Tribesmen Armed With Primitive Forms of Defence—Ghandi Issues Public Appeal.

London, March 13.—The British Government has taken full military precautions to cope with possible outbreaks of violence attendant upon arrest of Mahatma Ghandi, chief Nationalist leader.

Twenty-two Indian tribesmen were killed and 22 wounded, as a result of a pitched battle between British troops and Indian tribesmen near Delhi, when Government troops repulsed an attack by several thousand natives, under a chieftain named Moti Lal, in the Idar district, on March 3.

The tribesmen were armed with bows and arrows, guns, spears, swords and various other forms of native defence. The tribesmen are reported to have stated that they were going to reinforce a detachment of Government forces.

In the course of a speech at Delhi on Friday, the Pandit Maviayga declared the arrest of Mahandas K. Ghandi, the non-cooperationist leader, was a gross blunder on the part of the Indian Government.

The Indian Moderates appear to be taining strength, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Calcutta. They are endeavoring to carry out the program of Ghandi, despite the opposition of the extremists.

Prior to his arrest at Ahmedabad, where he was editing a Nationalist newspaper, Ghandi issued a public appeal to the people to remain quiet and to carry on the non-co-operation program with "clocklike regularity and precision with the speed of the Parjar express."

Ghandi said he thought that the people could gain reforms through peaceful and passive means or resistance more quickly than they can it by violence and bloodshed.

An appeal to the public to remain calm, "as we shall show no regard for Ghandi either by observing a hartal or going mad," was issued at Bombay to-day by the Congress Committee. Bombay is the most important of the natives refrain from invoking a hartal and maintain "a peaceful, cordial attitude toward all."

AUTO IN RIVER THREE DROWNED

Large Machine Plunges Down Embankment Into the Detroit River.

Windsor, March 13.—A large auto bearing a Michigan license, plunged down a thirty-foot embankment into the Detroit River, near the Village of Riverside, above Walkerville, at 10 o'clock last night.

Two men and one woman, all residents of Detroit, lost their lives. The machine was driving towards Windsor when the accident occurred. One woman who was saved is in Hotel Dieu here, unconscious, but with good chances for life.

The three bodies were recovered from beneath the wrecked car about midnight and are being brought to a private morgue here.

The victims have been identified by Riverside police as Mr. and Mrs. David Sapiro and Joseph L. Belvale, of Detroit. Miss Lulu Koch, who was saved, was the fourth member of the party.

BRITISH WORKMEN'S WAGES

London, March 13.—Wages of the British workmen were cut more than £6,000,000 a week in 1921, says the British Board of Trade. The reduction affected more than 7,000,000 workers and was almost equal to the increases by which had been granted in 1919 and 1920.

ALL QUIET IN BELFAST

Wounded Woman Died Yesterday, Making Week's Death List Total 22.

Belfast, March 13.—The prospects of a declaration of martial law give no encouragement that the military authorities considered the existing regulations sufficiently strong to take care of riotors without curtailing the liberty of law-abiding citizens.

The city was quiet Saturday night. The campaign to bring about a cessation of sniping is proceeding. Various houses have been seized and threatened by barbed wire. The tenants of these places are being accommodated elsewhere.

A woman wounded during the shooting on Friday died this morning, making the twenty-second death due to the disturbances of last week.

HOUSE DOWN TO WORK TODAY

Address in Reply to Reply to be Followed by Party Leader Speeches.

Ottawa, Ont., March 13.—With the opening of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne today the business of parliament will begin in real earnest. When the House opens at 3 o'clock this afternoon, F. J. McMurray, Liberal member for North Winnipeg will move, and Paul Mercier, Westmount-St. Henri, will second, the adoption of the address, and they will be followed by the three party leaders, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, the Prime Minister, and Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressives. Present plans are to have all three speakers speak today, to be followed by some of the other front rank speakers from each party on Tuesday. Within a few days it will be possible for the whips to get a line on their speakers and estimate how long the debate may be expected to go, but at present it is not known how many men from each party will wish to air their

PARDEE CALLED TO THE SENATE

Former Liberal Whip is Called to the Upper House.

Ottawa, March 13.— F. P. Pardee, former Liberal member of Parliament for West Lambton, Ont., and Gustave Boyer, re-elected on December 6, last, as member for Vaudreuil-Soulanges riding of Quebec, have been summoned to the Senate, it was officially announced last night. Senator Charles Ellis this morning caused by the death of the late Senator Milne, and Senator Boyer that created by the death of the late Senator Arthur Boyer. These two appointments bring the Senate representation to full strength and reduce the Conservative majority in the Senate to two, the late Senator Milne having been appointed by the Borden Government, while the late Senator Boyer was a Liberal.

BOY AUTHORITY AT ROTARY CLUB

Dr. J. K. Macdonald, Noted Educationist, Makes Impressive Speech to Rotarians.

Seldom has there been heard in Belleville a speech so well prepared, so significant in its outlook than that delivered by Dr. J. K. Macdonald, head master of St. Andrew's College in Toronto, to the Belleville Rotary Club at the weekly luncheon in the Quinte Hotel to-day. Dr. Macdonald spoke on "The Public and his Boy" and, for fully forty minutes held his audience with an exposition of boy life and the motives as interested as it was revealing.

The speaker first paid his respects to the boy movement for the great service they had bestowed on Education when they had financed the Federal Council and National Association of Education a project which needed an outlay of more than $40,000 to put its aims before the public.

Dr. Macdonald stated first that his talk was not to be on the subject of the underprivileged boy, but rather those who came from good homes where the attendant conditions upon boy life were quite as pressing. It was in the home he said that most troubles with boys arose. Where there was no understanding of the boy his motives and actions were apt to be misunderstood. There were many difficulties in the solving to the problem to and these difficulties should serve to spur on the parents to a better understanding of their sons. The adult mind, said the lector, is in many cases fixed and not prone to change, and the father there fore is either unwilling or unable to see the boy's viewpoint and to appreciate with him. "The father," said Dr. Macdonald, "should not only see as the boy sees, but should see more."

It was the father's duty to remember with the boy in order that a better understanding might exist. Other interests too often prevented the father from taking a better part in the home life. The speaker emphasized the danger of a parent allowing duties of a social, political or other nature preventing him from keeping in interest in the boy. "It is better by far that those interests should not be kept up," said the educationist, "but a proper balance should be struck." The speaker warned the Rotarians of selfishness. The kind that would not allow him to take an interest in the boy and the duty of the father to use the sculptors chisel with care and never the axe, in the shaping of a boy's character. "Remember a boy's character foundation can never be laid a second time," said the speaker, "and the period of formation is the father's great opportunity."

There was a tendency to throw the whole of a character development on the schools, said Dr. Macdonald, this was a mistake as no school could in itself take the place of proper parental guidance and instruction. "Remember to always be the MAN to your son, said the speaker, and remember that the home is more than a roof, bed and board. It is a place where all these subtle influences of family life radiate

GERMANY TO PAY U. S. WAR CLAIMS

New Reparation Plan Proposed by Council of Finance Ministers.

POINTS DISCUSSED

Sir Robert Horne Says Allies Are Paying Homage to Results.

Paris, March 13.—Authentic details of the Anglo-Italian reparations plan as discussed by the Finance Ministers' conference yesterday, have become public. The arrangement has been subscribed to by Belgium, but not yet by France.

1.—Under the plan, the payment of war debts to the United States would be assumed by Germany.

2.—Germany would pay off the entire indemnity in five years.

3.—France would be deprived of her present preponderant military position, while sharing in the prosperity resulting from the early return of economic normalcy in Europe.

"This project means that the Allies are at last paying homage to the realities," Sir Robert Horne, of England, today told his fellow-Finance Ministers, in laying down the points, of which the following were given as the principal points:

"The plan recognizes that the question, as submitted to the conference, is not merely as of the first billion of reparations, but the whole problem of reparations and inter-Allied obligations arising from the war.

"This project links the reparations and war debts as two phases of the same problem—two great aspects of the financial liquidation of the war.

LIQUOR BATTLE FOUGHT CLEAN

Provincial Operatives Are Now Returned Men of Good Repute.

Toronto, March 13.—No longer can it be said that provincial operatives whose duty it is to aid in enforcing the Ontario Temperance Act are persons they appear against in court.

General H. M. Elliott, commissioner of provincial police, has announced the policy of using such characters.

"I am aware," said General Elliott, "that in the past some of the operatives used by the police have been men of exceedingly bad antecedents. I have changed all that. For the last appointed and was given every support in my efforts to get rid of the undesirables.

"I do not appoint a single operator today, who is not an ex-soldier and a man of good character. At least three references from responsible persons. The task of the operator is a most difficult one, and difficult also. Also it is open to a great deal of abuse, so only a very reliable man can be entrusted with the work," he said.

"The operators employed by the provincial police today are all paid a salary, and are not subject to the payment of convictions they secure. This, in itself, automatically does away with any inducement there might be to secure convictions which are not warranted.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT PICTON

Planing, Flour and Grist Mills Burned; Also Some Stables.

Picton, March 12.—Fire totally destroyed the planing mills, flour and grist mills and the stables of Pratt & Hart here last night. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is thought that Hart's mill was ignited from a defective electric wire. Owing to the untiring energy of Mayord Newman and Chief Reid, the fire brigade, the coal sheds of this company, as well as Lake Co., were saved. A new building, being of frame construction, made an intense fire. The loss is estimated to be $20,000, partly covered by insurance. The principal loss being on the machinery. Their new flour mill was installed last fall.

SPOOK HUNT PARTY HAS BROKEN UP

Investigators Are Returning—Keeping Results Quiet, Although Advices Say Dr. Prince Has Solved the Mystery —Will Issue a Report Later in the Week.

Halifax, N.S., March 13.—Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, Investigating Officer of the American Institute of Psychic Research has told the Canadian Press that he is quite satisfied. This much is conceded by those who were instrumental in bringing the visiting psychic here in connection of psychic to Nova Scotia. But what manner of ghost it was which drove the Alexander Macdonald family out of their home in the dead of winter, took lodgeries with the Macdonald family, and subsequently played phantom pranks with a provincial detective and a newspaper reporter, hence on, interesting item. It a matter, it is announced, that will remain a dark secret until Dr. Prince writes it otherwise.

Those closest to the doctor learn-ed sions are of the opinion that the world will know about this particular ghost early this week, probably on the

The total death list exceeds 90, including 23 policemen. It is much quieter to-day in the centre of the city, but the outlying districts of Fordsburg and Vrpos remain in danger spots.

Fordsburg is still largely held by the strikers, who have ringed the district, occupying sniping positions. An aviator flying low—hooted the Reds who replied. The Town got hostile inflicted retaliated their positions.

The arrival of a big forces of Imperial troops in Pretoria, and a body of forgiters, encouraged the hope that the Government is getting the situation in hand.

The East Rand situation is described as still critical, with the Reds trying to make a westward to fight their way to Johannesburg to effect a junction with other forces of the strikers.

Premier Smuts announced late Saturday he would maintain law and order.

"The country must be prepared for very considerable trouble and bloodshed on an unanticipated scale," was the ominous warning sounded by the Premier.

MOIRA RIVER DOES MUCH DAMAGE

ice, some properties along the river edge must have suffered. Not only was the ice responsible for damage but water had its effect. It rose to a depth overflowing the low farm lands of the river and is an incredible short space of time yards on the west side of Front street from just below the upper bridge to the footbridge were inundated and stables surrounded by water. In the absence of any information had been taken as a horned child drands the fire, and will keep away from same, to those who have it, the past experienced trouble through the break-up of the ice in the spring had prepared for emergencies. The large stables in the rear of the Kingsley House were completely surrounded by water to a depth of two feet, while two and this state of affairs existed at other places along the street. Mr. H. E. Fairfield's stables in the rear his store were flooded as was also his storehouse where he usually keeps dressed hogs and straw. The shoe shop of Mr. Charlton in the same passage way as Mr. Fairfield's premises was submerged with water to a depth of three to four feet. Furnaces in the City Hotel premises, Wallbridge & Charlton's dining room, and other stores were put out of commission owing to the depth of water in the cellars.

The brick warehouse of Mr. James Roy being part of the burned brewery premises was pierced by the jam and the greater portion of the wall was carried away. A large stock of ice was carried through the aperture made.

Water to a depth of upwards of three feet was flowing through what is known as the Lindsay carpet factory, rising off from Front street. Even if the footbridge had not been damaged it would have been impossible for pedestrians to have used it as from off Front street it could not have been reached, owing to the depth of water in the gangway leading to the structure.

The Flooded District

During Sunday afternoon hundreds and even thousands of citizens visited that section of the city where the flood was at its height and viewed the damage caused by the ice. Cameras were much in evidence and many views of the flooded district were taken.

Horses Rescued

When the ice jam broke three horses the property of Mr. Coddicott, wood dealer in the city, were in a stable in rear of the Hastings House. In a few minutes the stable was inundated and the water was at such a depth as to almost reach the back of the animals. Mayor Hanna, learning of the predicament of the horses, secured a truck and with assistance rescued them from their perilous position. They were thoroughly chilled by their involuntary bath, but were soon provided with warm quarters after which a run about the streets. His Worship was commended for his prompt action.

Notes

Sunday Schools and even churches, were rather slimly attended on Sunday afternoon and evening, owing to interest being centered on the flood situation.

Business men and clerks who reside in West Belleville were today compelled to reach Front street by way of the upper and lower bridges owing to the footbridge being impassable.

A number were today busily engaged in securing wreckage from the ice and a large quantity of wood was secured.

A number of stores on the west side of Front street were today compelled to put up stores owing to the freezing being put out of commission by water in the cellars.

CANARY ISLANDS PLACES OF RARE BEAUTY

Vivid Description of One of the Mediterranean Show-Places Given by Mr. Sinclair—Curious Customs of the Natives—Land Intensively Developed.

The daily intelligencer takes pleasure in reproducing the following letter from Mr. D. V. Sinclair. It is the first of a series which the Intelligencer has arranged to publish on the European trip of Mr. Sinclair and family:—

To the Editor of The Intelligencer,—

Dear Sir,—Before leaving Belleville, I promised I would try and write for you, giving some of our experiences on the Mediterranean Tour.

In so short a time days since the Empress of France left New York with a full list of over eight hundred passengers, representing every state in the United States and several provinces in Canada. In all we have about fifty Canadians aboard and needless to say we have all got to be very well acquainted with each other.

We have also made many friends from the land to the South of us, and think I could safely say that never was there a more friendly lot of people started on a long voyage, I would just like to say briefly that we have had a delightful passage of over three thousand miles and since Sunday, Feb. 13th, we have lived on deck and I have never known what it was to put on my light overcoat.

From our wireless we learn that several ships crossing at this time have experienced very rough weather. At breakfast this morning we Canadians learned from our "Daily News" of the death of Major-General Bigar who was well known to many Canadians on our ship. To the friends in Belleville, Mrs. Sinclair joins with me in expressing sincere sympathy, while we also guide ourselves in the splendid service rendered by a former Belleville citizen.

I would like to write you fully of our trip to the Grand Canary Islands and one day over at Las Palmas, as I doubt very much if you ever get all your readers a letter from these Islands, which are very rarely visited by the regular passenger service and never before by a pleasure seeking party such as ours. These Islands are purely volcanic in origin, and rise directly from the sea, Mt. Teneriffe, reaching a height of 12,180 feet, which is the equal of our highest peaks in the Canadian Rockies. Teneriffe is snow-capped and presents a wonderful appearance from the sea, approaching the town of Las Palmas, about the size of Belleville, one sees through his glasses a town extending along the sea shore, so close to the sea, which is perfectly open except for a great artificial breakwater and some day may be washed into the sea from a tidal wave and above the town for miles in every direction the mountain sides are covered by many types of native homes. The residents of the Island are almost entirely Spanish with a mixture of some African races and these in turn all intermarried.

Our first greeting was from the boys who came to meet us in small boats and upon the entire day diving into the sea for white money as it was thrown into the water by the passengers from the ship decks. Little lads from ten years of age and men and older boys would dive into the water and often when we began to wonder if they would ever return, they would shoot up and always with the coin, which they would hold up with pride and also to encourage the throwing of more coins. Many of these fellows soon have made a good day's pay for money was thrown freely. In times all who wished were taken ashore and played in carry-alls, autos, cabriolets and donkey carts, and we set out to see the Grand Canary Islands. One of the wonder places of the world.

Our party of six, our own four and two very genial American friends were fortunate in securing a large seven-passenger auto and with this a man who spoke considerable, Eng lish and in this way we set out to see things and we sure had some day.

Now some of you readers may think that we did not observe the Sundays as we should, but I assure you that we visited more churches and received more benediction than Belleville people usually get on one Sunday. After a visit to the Old Cathedral, the colonies, the Public Square, the Casino, the store and shop district, where we saw hundreds of wine shops, for every place sells wine, and we really did not buy any, after this we started out for a sixty-mile drive through the most wonderful mountain scenery I have ever enjoyed.

Let me say that the Canary Islands abound in all tropical trees, plants, flowers, fruits, etc., and after a day here I would say that there is not a foot of waste land in the Island.

There are many beautiful homes of Spanish architecture but there are many thousands where the mass of the people live, little one or two-roomed houses and many of these dug out of the solid rock formation. We visited one of these dug-outs and found the family just on the little roof, the family pig in the cellar and a little plot of ground, perhaps a quarter-acre and this held back by a stone wall, which is like thousands of others, from slipping down in the rainy season and being lost in the valley below. From the front of every home I counted sixty-eight displays pots, every one held back by such a wall and situated in tiers one above the other, down the mountain side. From many observation points we stopped to admire the wonderful view and as far as the eye could reach, for miles to the right or left and from the sea to the mountain, all was one vast panorama of larger and smaller plots or fruit farms.

Perhaps I should say that all this wonderful production is only made possible by a climate varying from 52 degrees to 90 degrees F. the year round, and produces fruit and flowers twelve months and this climate is encouraged by a most wonderful system of primitive irrigation which waters every foot of the soil.

Many strange sights are seen in these far-away islands. Sixty miles off the coast of Africa.

Young men take their best girls out for a ride in an ox-cart drawn by two oxen, these being led by a small boy who runs ahead while a man with a sharp prod of steel offers suggestions that they go faster. These sleds are very highly decorated and are often seen with pink and white curtains while others have gay colored curtains.

Many times we would see a little donkey loaded by a native child sitting on top a big hay man and dangling his feet, while behind came his wife on foot, carrying a great bundle on her head. We saw herds of cattle being taken into town and to every case the calves were tied to the cows' tail in order to prevent them from dashing down the roadsides and thus being killed.

We saw many women washing at the roadside, sometimes clothes, dogs, goats, and sometimes themselves.

Sunday was a gala day in Las Palmas for sure was the first ship of its kind that ever sailed at this port. The people were dressed in their best and from the time we arrived until we left and along our long drive we were never out of hearing of the cheers of men, women and children.

Every one tried to be happy but we could read little faces of many men and women, that like so many Spanish Possessions the mass of the people have a very hard life and only the few live in luxury.

Tuesday we visited Madeira and to-

Kindest regards to all readers.

REX STOCK COMPANY IN "FAIR AND WARMER" AT GRIFFIN'S TO-NIGHT

Avery Hopwood's greatest comedy, "Fair and Warmer" has been selected for presentation at Griffin's To-night, Tuesday and Wednesday by the popular Rex Stock Company. This delightful comedy with its wholesome laughter and witty lines has always proved one of the most popular of the Rex players repertoire and no doubt Griffin's will be favored with large audiences nightly.

The story of the Gay young husband whose timid little wife would rather stay at home and wonder what he is doing, and the timid, home loving husband, whose wife finds her amusements among the gay white lights, is the back bone of the plot, which to relate in detail here would be to spoil the spectators enjoyment of the comedy. Rex has the role of the timid little husband a role that fits him like a glove, and beautiful Zana Vaida the thrilling little wife. The roles of the sporty husband and wife are portrayed by Billy Seymour and Florence Winters.

Fur Farming Supplements Nature's Efforts in Filling the World's Demand for Pelts

TYPES SHOWN ARE AGREEABLE ALIKE TO CANADIAN FURS AND MEN BY CANADIAN GIRLS AT HOME FOR AUTUMN WEAR

A LIVELY BEVY OF SILVER BLACK FOX PUPS BORN AND REARED IN CAPTIVITY

Conservation and preservation are the object of those interested in the fur industry of Canada. Without conservation, which means wise laws for the protection of fur-bearing animals and strict enforcement of those laws, these animals would soon be exterminated. Even with conservation of the best sort, wild animals cannot be protected from starvation in bad years, nor from the ravages inflicted by larger carnivora, so man has turned to the domestic propagation of many fur-bearers.

The fur breeding industry is, of course, the biggest money producer. The little maritime province of Prince Edward Island was the birthplace of this enterprise. In 1890 several breeders were engaged there in the business of raising silver black foxes, but they guarded with great secrecy their methods of handling and breeding the foxes and of marketing the pelts. In 1910 the industry experienced a wide development and fabulous prices were paid for breeding stock. Fox ranches are to be found all over Canada to-day, but Prince Edward Island continues to lead. In 1919 this province exported about 1,000 foxes of a value of about $800,000 and 2,500 pelts that fetched $75,000.

But the fox does not monopolize the fur farmers' efforts. There are in Canada ranches for the propagation of muskrats, beaver, mink, raccoon, martin, fisher and skunks. If they are provided with sufficient land on which they can live as in their wild state, and are supplied with food when the weather or unusual conditions demand it, they will thrive and multiply and yield the farmer rich returns.

Each year sees more and more Canadian farmers setting apart a section of their holdings for the raising of fur-bearing animals. Where wild animals are sought and used for foundation stock, the cost of starting a fur ranch is very small.

To show the beauty of Canada's furs a winter fashion show was carried out on Dufferin Terrace, Quebec, this winter. Messrs. Holt, Renfrew Co., furriers to H. M. the King, co-operating with the Canadian Pacific Railway, displayed scores of thousands of dollars in valuable garments. These were shown to advantage on pretty blondes and brunettes before the movie men and the visitors at the Ancient Capital. One coat alone was valued at $25,000.

OPPOSITION LEADERSHIP

In Mr. Meighen as Opposition leader the country has a vigilant watchdog of its interests in Parliament. An experienced parliamentarian and administrator, an ex-Prime Minister, and a critic whose powers of analysis and acute logic have rarely been excelled, Mr. Meighen is undoubtedly the best qualified Opposition leader that the Commons has seen for many years. There are those who contend that he is too prone to hurt, that he is too fierce and vehement in his attacks, but that, if it be an error at all, is an error that can hardly do much harm. And I hope in this, too, he added: that Mr. Meighen is never willing to wound without having the courage to strike.

At the opening of the fourteenth parliament of Canada in his first speech, Mr. Meighen indicated that his notion is that the duty of the opposition leader is to oppose. While admitting Mr. Lemieux's high qualification for the speakership, he criticised the Premier for having announced as early as last December that Mr. Lemieux would be speaker. The speakership is not an office in the gift of the government; it is the province of the House of Commons to choose its presiding officer, and the Premier had not the right to declare in advance who would be speaker.

In short, the new leader of His Majesty's loyal Opposition, by his attitude at the opening of parliament, gave indication that the duties devolving upon him are not going to be performed in any perfunctory manner.

THE CANADIAN DOLLAR.

The United States is beginning to worry about the big falling-off in the volume of its exports to Canada, says the Toronto Mail and Empire. It is certainly a serious matter for that country, for in the present condition of the world's markets, it is not easy to dispose of surplus goods otherwise, and more than ever before the Canadian trade is of supreme importance to our southern neighbors. The visit of Mr. Fielding to Washington seems to have satisfied him that things may just as well be left as they are, for the present, at any rate. Our dollar is getting back to par, and "there is in the United States an increasing appreciation of the fact that trade cannot longer be continued in its lop-sided form. The thought that if they want to sell they must at the same time be willing to buy seems to be growing among the American people."

In the meantime, efforts are being made in an indirect way to persuade Canada to increase her imports despite the Fordney tariff and other little impediments which have been placed as a barrier against the entry of Canadian goods. One of the most plausible arguments which have been presented to the people of this country appears in the December number of Forbes, in an article by Paul Clay on "Why Canada Pays Premium for U. S. Funds." The idea that the Canadian dollar was at a discount in the United States because of an excess of imports of American goods into this country is said to be "all wrong." Imports have nothing to do with it, according to Mr. Clay, who gives many tables of figures to back up his contention. It was after there developed a great export balance in Canadian trade that the premium on New York exchange began to rise, and the first substantial rise took place in 1916, we read, when the foreign trade of Canada consistently showed export balances. It is not imports, but the amount of the gold reserve held against the Dominion's notes which determines the value of the Canadian dollar. "The premium on New York exchange has increased and decreased in approximate conformity with the total amount of notes outstanding."

The fact remains, however, that the premium on the American dollar, in comparison with our own currency, grows less and less. The United States never had more gold at the back of her notes, so, according to Mr. Clay's argument, her dollar should be at the par value, especially since exports and imports have little to do with it. We know, too, that it has been since the made-in-Canada movement and the decline in the volume of United States' imports that our dollar has begun to reassert its true value. This is a gratifying development, and the policy which has brought it about is not likely to be abandoned even though we are told that "popular theories of economic causes and effects, more often than not, shoot wide of the mark. The public thinks with the heart and not with the head; it goes right on ethics, but wrong on logic. It has long been popularly believed that Canadian exchange sold at a discount in the United States because Canada was a reckless buyer of American products. And in Canada there has been no little propaganda against importation of American goods. But the popular belief is "all wrong." Right or wrong, the people of Canada know what is good for them. The movement to patronize home industry is not to be weakened by specious appeals of this character.

SETTING OF CANADA'S CAPITAL

Ottawa Journal

Where the world over will you find such a setting for a capital? Who would compare the Thames or the Seine or the Tiber or the Potomac with the Ottawa? Is London or Paris or Rome or Washington a natural background to compare with the Laurentian Hills? It is true that these and other cities, particularly in the old world, possess incomparably greater treasures in public buildings and association, monuments and art galleries. But these are the achievements of centuries, even where their achievements are possible in this new and vigorous land if we have the spirit to make them possible.

PROBLEM FOR THE STATE

Brockville Recorder and Times

One cannot avoid the conclusion that the State must take a more active interest in the problem of human health. It seems that the nation must live up to this job in earnest in going to cultivate a resource that is bound to put it in the forefront. None of them, however, has exhibited a tendency to spend an adequate amount of money in this direction.

The Poets' Corner

THE EMIGRAIT

What say the waves, as they creep up the shore?
What says the wind, as it knocks on my door?
What are the words in the roar of the sea?
What is the magic that's calling to me?
"Follow the sea gulls, that circle and sweep
Over the blue of the face of the deep"?
Leaving behind me the hauling land,
Facing to win with the work of my hand
That which shall wipe out the debt that I owe,
Hearing the call of the waters, I go.

High on your shelf, there is standing a Book;
Down from its resting place take it, and look
See how the cover is lost and is gone;
See how its pages are scattered and torn?
Scarce to my mind the dear days I recall,
When, long ago, 'neath the covers, they all
Lay as in glory and pride of a throne,
Now, on the wind of my destiny blown.
So to that Book I may pay what I owe,
Law of those pages, I fall and I go.

"Waiter", growled a customer, "I should like to know the meaning of this! Yesterday I was served with a portion of pudding twice the size of this."
"Indeed, sir! replied the waiter. "Where did you sit?"

THE "FORMER DAYS" HOAX

By BYRON STAUFFER

Despite the counsel of the writer of Ecclesiastes we are still prone to look back longingly and regretfully to the former days.

When you read of the present dearth of ministerial candidates, remember that Dr. Talmage declared in 1874 that United Protestantism could at once find more recruits for the pulpit, she must die.

When somebody laments the present paternity of children, and asserts that when they were young boys and girls obeyed their parents, remember that in 1646 Hugh Latimer preached a sermon full of bitter reproaches against parents for neglecting the "old-fashioned attention to juvenile morals."

When they abuse Rev. George Jackson for daring to ask how Noah's ark could possibly have held enough food to sustain all its animals a year, be advised that in 1670 a famous English theologian aroused a bitter controversy by asking the same question.

When you hear of some person declaring that his Ontario town is reeking with profanity just because he heard one indignant cartage man cussing the satelot for driving ahead of him, do not forget that hundred years ago orators swore for emphasis that Erskine, the model lawyer of his age, used bad words at the bar; that chaplains swore at sailors during divine service.

When men tell you that the theatre is corrupting, open your John Richard Greene and read how wanton were the plays and how licentious were the surroundings of the stage of the reign of George the Second. Ladies were not safe at the playhouses then.

When it is charged that a bit of our literature is suggestive, now that before Dickens in England and Victor Hugo in France fiction was in the main a filthy thing, to be avoided as a plague. Now our novelists present serious and our magazine writers proclaim efficiency.

When they point to last year's mammoth price-fight as a sign of degeneracy, remember that once upon a time two women were in open, regular rows, in which powerful weapons were used, and a certain matron before the doors, scattering fever and plague.

Oh, cheer up! And count it high time to read how, in 1380, the masses were in constant revolt against our generation, when some pessimist on square-toed outlook with his terrible creed, carefully declares that the world is going straight for the abyss. It isn't; it is climbing the golden stairs.

"I give you the right of way into Everyman's office. In the midst of a conference, listening to your rival's salesman, reading a telegram or special delivery letter, he will stop — and listen to Long Distance.

"I am the quickest Messenger on earth, reliable, never sick or on holidays. From the office I direct the operation of branches — buy and sell everything — make new customers — stimulate and encourage salesmen — forestall competition — verify credits — pacify customers — collect bills. I have been called 'the greatest business-getter in the world.'

Canadian Daily Newspapers Association,
Toronto, Ont.

Gentlemen:

Here are some of the reasons, responding to your request, why we believe in the value of newspaper advertising.

The daily newspaper is read by more consumers in each city or town than is any other publication.

The dealer is also most effectively reached through newspaper advertising, which leads him to stock, feature and push the goods so advertised.

Newspaper advertising completes and adds materially to the effectiveness of all other promotional work when co-ordinated with it in any city or district campaign.

Because copy can be changed so quickly in the daily newspaper a "psychological appeal" can be made at any time national or local happenings or changes in weather, market or price conditions present the opportunity.

The flexibility of newspaper advertising and the choice it presents of the amount, class and location of circulation enable the advertiser to quickly direct his campaign wherever and whenever it is most needed.

Our newspaper advertising has increased with our business and has been a very large factor in educating the public to a full appreciation of the distinctive merits of our product until to-day Shredded Wheat is known and eaten in almost every home in Canada.

Very truly yours,
George Slate Jr.

COULD HARDLY EAT ENOUGH TO KEEP HER ALIVE

"Tanlac Certainly Proved The Right Medicine For Me," Says Mrs. Allison Eats Anything and Feels Fine Since Taking It.

"I was in a badly run-down condition and need something to build me up, and Tanlac certainly proved to be the right medicine for me," said Mrs. W. H. Allison, of Melbourne Ave., Toronto, Ont.

"I was in miserable health for a whole year and felt tired and drowsy all the time. I never did like getting up in the morning, and my appetite was so poor I barely managed to eat enough to keep me up. Many days I couldn't do my housework, and the least exertion left me completely tired out. I was way below my normal weight, and my wretched health worried me no little.

"Well, it surely was a delight to me when I noticed a great improvement in my appetite after taking my first bottle of Tanlac, and I soon found then that it was a wonderful medicine. I am perfectly well, now, can eat anything I want, nothing hurts me, and I feel strong and well all the time. I can do my housework without trouble. Tanlac is simply grand."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville at Ostrom's Drug Store.

FORESTRY MOTION PICTURES

The most successful method for interesting the public in the forests and their protection has been continued. These include illustrated lectures, talks to schools, and distribution of literature to school children and to homes near or in the forest. By the co-operation of the Publicity Branch of the Department of Trade and Commerce, moving pictures have been taken of fires and fire-fighting, and also of tree-planting on the Provincial Forests. Similar moving picture theatres, lectures, and educational distributions will not have to depend on pictures of such scenes from other countries. It is hoped that the showing of these films throughout Canada will give Canadians some idea of the fact that their own country is in the van of progress.—Annual Report, Director of Forestry, Ottawa.

"Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

THE UGLIEST CREATURE OF THE JUNGLE

Tinker Bob, the King of the Forest, was anxious to go on farther in the Jungle land because he thought it must be getting toward Spring. He knew that Willie Chuck had been out weeks past to look the weather over; and he knew that the time was short, after Willie came out, till Jerry, the Jay, and Red Robin would come. It would never do for him to stay in the Jungle till the leaves came out on the trees of the Great Forest.

While he was thinking about these things Tim, the little Elephant, called to that familiar voice. "Humph, I know what you want to see."

"What is it you think?" asked Tinker Bob. "If there is anything here that I haven't seen I want to see it now."

"All right, I will show you where the folks live that you have not seen. You will not want to see them long," said Tim.

"You can't tell; I may want to see them a long time. Come, show me where they are."

Tim and Silky and the King started away toward the hillside. They went in the same direction that the Zebra went. "I hope you are not going to show me a herd of those fellows with many stripes," said Tinker Bob, "for, if you are, excuse me, I have had a little faster, "These fellows don't have any stripes. They are the ugliest looking creatures in the whole Jungle Land."

"Well, if they can be any uglier than that fellow we saw in the river with his baby on his back he will surely be ugly looking fellow!"

"Oh say, this creature is so ugly that it makes me sick to look at him. I hope it will not make you ill to see him," said Tim.

"Well, if it makes me sick I'll call Dr. Giraffe," said Tinker.

Silky began in haste to think of the King being cared for by Dr. Giraffe. He laughed so hard that he nearly lost his hold of Tim's long tail.

"Woof," came a voice from behind a clump of bushes. It even startled Tim himself. He wasn't expecting to find any creature so soon.

"Woof, woof," came another sound. This time followed by a deep, more sounds just like it.

"What is the world?" cried Tinker

"Woof," came a voice from behin d clump of bushes.

Bob. Then he saw the creatures themselves. Tim was afraid that they were the ugliest looking folks Tinker had seen in the Jungle. There was one big fellow who seemed to be the leader. He had a broad nose. Out of each side of his mouth extended two large tusks and all over his head seemed to be large warts. His head and his back were covered with bristly hairs.

Can you guess who this ugly looking fellow was?

QUEER FEELINGS AT MIDDLE AGE

Women Should Know How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps at This Trying Period.

Shortness of breath, dizziness, headache and nervousness. I would rise in the morning tired and weary, and at night would be completely exhausted. I had no appetite, could not sleep, and was very nervous. I suffered from these symptoms for about two years, and was under the doctor's care for a part of the time, but did not get any better. I was passing through the Change of Life, and I thought that was the cause of my trouble. I had read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how it relieved other women who suffered from similar troubles, that I decided to try it. I am glad I did, for after taking three bottles I felt like a new woman. I have taken altogether five bottles now and am as well as I ever was. I am all over these bad feelings."—Mrs. H. LANDES, 1630 N. 8th St., Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

For the woman entering middle age Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can be of much benefit. During this time of life certain changes take place which sometimes develop into serious trouble.

Melancholia, nervousness, irritability, headache and dizziness are some of the symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine of positive, especially adapted to assist nature in carrying you safely over this time. Why not give it a fair trial?

In these Roman Catholic institutions the missing London girl, Jean Link, was placed under the name of Margaret Smith. Convent records searched show that she was baptized there eleven years ago by a Catholic priest. Information as to the present whereabouts of the girl, who is now 13 years of age, was not forthcoming either from the convent or the Sisters of St. Joseph. It is understood the girl is alive and well, and will be handed to her relatives when proper credentials are produced by them. DESSERTS MADE WITH JAMS AND JELLIES

Several readers have written to ask me for recipes calling for jams and jellies. "My children will eat jelly on bread," say some of these letters, "so I would appreciate recipes that would help me serve the jelly in an attractive manner." I believe the following will be of help:

Jelly Sponge—Turn one glass of jelly into a pint measure and fill up the measure with boiling water. Stir until the jelly is dissolved, then add to it 1 tablespoon of granulated gelatine which has been softened in a very little cold water. Sweeten to taste with granulated sugar and turn the mixture into a mould that has been wet inside with cold water. Set the lined mold in a cool place for about one hour, or until the gelatine has begun to harden sufficient to adhere to the sides of the mold—then beat into it with an egg beater, one egg-white which has been stiffly whipped. Now put the mold back in the cool spot until the mixture has solidified.

Jelly Custard—Follow above-given recipe, but simply omit beating the stiff egg-white into the hardening gelatine. Serve the gelatine topped with a sweetened egg-white stiffly beaten. If desired, apple sauce (about 1 tablespoon of it) may be whipped into the stiff egg-white, as well as the sugar; apple sauce helps the egg-white to hold its shape and also gives a delicious flavor.

Jelly Fruit Cup: Slice 3 bananas and 2 oranges into a dessert bowl and add 1 glass of jelly which you have previously dissolved in 2 cups of boiling water strained through cheesecloth and cooled. This dessert is good served like this, or you may try it with the sweetened egg-white, stiffly beaten, with apple sauce added to it (this is called "apple snow").

Jelly Roll: Beat 3 eggs light, add to them gradually 1 cup of granulated sugar, ½ tablespoon milk, 1cup flour mixed and sifted with 1 teaspoon baking powder and a pinch of salt, and last add 1 tablespoon of melted butter. Line the bottom of a large bowl pan with thin wrapping paper, buttering this paper well. Then pour the batter into this and bake for 10 minutes in a moderate oven. When done, turn the pan upside down on a large piece of buttering paper spread on a table and sprinkled thickly with powdered sugar, now quickly peel off the paper which is stuck to the bottom of the bake. Spread two full glasses of jelly (any kind of jelly will do) over this upturned cake-bottom and roll up the cake at once, letting the powdered paper help lift it and roll. Wrap this paper around the cake till cool. You must do the rolling very fast or the cake is apt to break.

Another way to use jelly: Use it as a filling for cake, spreading it between the two layers of a simple white cake recipe, and frost the top of the cake with uncooked confectioners' icing.

Jam may be used instead of jelly in any of these recipes. Indeed, preserves of any kind may be used in most of them.

Tomorrow—Unopened Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Couldn't Extinguish Jack

Jack had returned to his ship apparently under the influence of drink, and was being interviewed by the officer of the watch.

That worthy, to prove whether Jack was drunk or not, ordered him to repeat the sentence: "The Irish cannabis ularly extinguished the conflagration."

Jack stood for a minute, blinking, apparently stunned, by the magnificence of the task.

Then, with a smile of triumph, he blurted out: "The Irish coppers put the fire out!"

Health turns the Clock Backward

Nine Reasons Why Spinal Neglect is a crime

1. The backbone is the foundation of the body.
2. It is composed of 24 bones, 24 of which are movable.
3. From between these joints radiate the nerves of the body.
4. When these joints are out of alignment the nerves receive undue pressure and the nerves do not receive their proper impulses.
5. A nerve under pressure is a nerve weakened, thus causing disease in the part it serves.
6. Chiropractic removes the pressure by an adjustment by hand. When this adjustment means that a part is restored to health.
7. If chiropractic means the simple to do all that it can do, remember that a part is restored to health it is caused by so simple a thing as best.
8. To keep the backbone free from disease, which is a prime necessity it is in violation of Nature's laws.
9. Don't be a criminal.

Lung Weakness and Hacking Cough

MONDAY HEALTH TALK No. 62

By WM. P. REDICK, D.C. Ph. C.

Many sufferers from terrifying lung diseases that hang on and on, threatening at any time to become virulent, have no realization of the fact that chiropractic spinal adjustments will go directly to the seat of this trouble and remove the cause.

If the spinal nerves to the lungs are under pressure it is most reasonable to expect lack of tone, weakness and disease. Chiropractic spinal adjustments by freeing the nerves for their work give Nature a chance and health results.

SUFFERED 15 YEARS.

"For fifteen years I had headaches, asthma, indigestion, lung weakness and a hacking cough, very inactive bowels for which I had to take purgatives and cathartics. I tried many different methods without relief. After taking several courses of chiropractic spinal adjustments, I can thankfully state that chiropractic has made me well in nearly all of the troubles. I weigh more and feel better now than in many years. I shall be glad to refer any one to the chiropractic method for I firmly believe it is the only method that can do any one any permanent good."—Mrs. Dora B. Taylor, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 13081f.

WEST END JUNIORS DEFEAT LOCALS

Two Interesting Games of Basketball Played at the Y.M.C.A.

Junior Game

In the second game the West End Boys beat the juniors of Belleville 32-22. The West End seemed to cover their men and did not let the Belleville boys get easy shots. In the first period the both teams went at it strong and the period ended 16-13 for West End. But in the last period the Belleville team seemed to have lost themselves and were not covering their men. And Southworth, the fast forward for West End secured 8 points in no time. It was one of the best games played here this year, and West End certainly have a good team and play well together. Southworth and Melville were the best for Toronto, while Cole was the outstanding player for Belleville, who got 10 points. Armstrong did not play his usual game and was off shooting like he generally does. Yeomans dribbled the ball too much instead of playing combination and lost it nearly every time. Maiden had a hard man to check and was kept busy all night. Allen and Marshall were busy all the time looking after the forwards who were dangerous. The game was fast and clean and no one was hurt. Mr. Keeber refereed to the satisfaction of both teams. After the game the Belleville boys entertained the West End boys to a lunch and the party broke up about midnight. The Toronto boys leaving on the 3:56 train for Toronto. The line-up was as follows:

West End	position	Belleville
Jenkinson	r. forward	Cole
Southworth	l. forward	Armstrong
C. Melville	centre	Maiden
Hutchison	r. defence	Yeomans
D. Melville	l. defence	Allen

Girls' Game

At the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night two good games of Basketball were played. The first was between the H's and the G's. Which the H's won by 15 to 14. In the first period the H's seemed to have it all over the G's and were up 9 to 3. But in the last period the G's seemed as if someone had talked to them and came within an ace of tieing it up. For the G's Grant Palmer scored 9 points out of the 14, and for the H's Helen Hurley had her eagle eye on the basket and put 5 points also. The line-up:

H's	position	G's

NEW WAY FOUND FOR RING KNOCKOUT

Quick Witted Second Pulls a Hot One in This Battle.

Talking about quick witted seconds Patsy Haley recently told this one: Back in the 90's Fitzsimmons and Dick O'Brien met in a Boston Ring. Dick was fat and out of shape, it was apparent that he was due for a trimming from the black,who hammered him all over the ring in the first round. In the second round O'Brien happened to land a wild swing. The negro fell through the ropes in O'Brien's corner and lay partly out of the ring, for in those days there was no platform outside the ropes. One of the negro's long arms hung down nearly to the floor. Frank, one of O'Brien's seconds crouching there, seized the glove and hung on. The referee, occupied in pushing O'Brien back with one hand and counting with the other, did not see what was going on. He counted Fitzsimmons out and declared O'Brien the winner.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

On Saturday evening at the Y.M C.A. Bowling Alleys the K.V.A. team and the Bell Telephone team were opposed to each other. The K.V.A. team had too much juice for the Bell boys and defeated them by a score of 2595 to 2444. Clayton Cornell for the winning team made the highest three rolling score for a league game, namely 677. He certainly bowled a most consistent game, his lowest score of the three games being 207. He was also high in a single game—236.

ST. PATS DEFEAT OTTAWA IN FIRST

Irish Obtain One Goal Lead For Tonight's Final Game.

Toronto, March 13.—When St. Patrick's left for Ottawa yesterday morning, one of their most valuable pieces of baggage was a one-goal lead that the Irish obtained in the first game of the home-and-home series with the Senators for the championship of Frank Calder's professional hockey circuit. On Saturday night at the arena before the largest crowd of the local hockey season, and in one of the fastest and best-played games this year, the St. Pats finished on the long end of a 5 to 4 score, and had it not been for several brake of ill-luck the local would have had a greater lead when the sixty minutes of play were over, as on the night's work, the locals deserved a greater margin.

Ottawa came down with the apparent purpose of playing their famous defensive game, but two quick goals by the locals in the first three minutes compelled the visitors to go out and get a few counters. This they did, and in the middle period were leading by three to two and playing that air-tight defensive game that is hard to beat. For the last period and the half minutes the locals gave the Ottawa defence some busy moments. The Irish adopted a defensive style that was successful against Benedict, that of shooting from long range, with the attacking forwards to get the rebounds before the Ottawa could clear. Finally, after "Red" Stuart had pulled off one of his many stops, Dye tore in and scored the equaliser on the rebound. Ottawa went into the lead two minutes later, to get it back until just before the second period ended that the leading Irish marksman rifled another past Benedict.

SCRAP IRON

MIXED CONTEST WON BY THE WRESTLER

Joplin, Mo., March 13.—A middleweight wrestler gained the decision over a middleweight boxer in a mixed contest here last night, in which each resorted to tactics of his own profession. The bout ended in the sixth round, when the wrestler pinned the boxer to the mat for the second time.

The participants were "Strong Boy" Price, Eldorado, Kansas, wrestler, and "Sailor" Adams, local boxer.

Adams sent Price to the mat for a count on four occasions, but the wrestler came back each time. Price gained his first fall after 40 seconds in the second round. His second fall came after 2 minutes and 45 seconds of the sixth round.

SPORT STUFF

"HOW TO PLAY BASKETBALL"

You fellows remember last week I started to tell you how basketball should be played. I was already dealt with the centre so now I'm going to attend to the guard. This is quite a novelty for the guard has often attended to me, but this is no column for personalities so I won't hurt any even at myself.

Guards should always be on their guard, that is what they are on the floor, (yr. If they are caught off guard it isn't any of my business and they have only themselves to blame, but I can't help commenting on it because I am here to fill up this column and give the public what they want even if they don't want it.

Unless one is a running guard he doesn't pass the centre of the floor and if he does someone is liable to make a pass at him and he becomes a "Failing Guards." Fools are the simpleos of the guard and basketball umpires don't like too many because they say it keeps them late for supper. The guard must learn to attack his man, but isn't allowed to use a club or any other tactics that would annoy his opponents. Guards can kick, push or punch at their check if they feel like it but I sin't making any promises as to how long it will be before he's knocked for a row of three bagpyrs.

Some of these days we'll run an illustrated lecture for guards on what to guard against, such as guarding against your friends when they want to make a touch or any other hard plays like that. Taken all in all a guard's life could be a lot worse—but not much.

Pretty soon I am going to give the low down on how to "rassle," I know a guy that used to room in the same house with a "rassler" and he is going to tip me off to a few mean holds.

LIKE STORY OUT OF A BOOK

The Rise of Babe Ruth Has Been Almost Miraculous.

New York, March 13.—"Babe" Ruth, like a character out of a Horatio Alger book, has walked, from a boy's estate to a place where he is the highest paid athlete in the world.

Ruth has put himself in the position of making more than any player in the game and more than a good many of the major league club owners do.

John McGraw, the highest salaried man in the game up to the time Ruth signed his new contract, gets $65,000 a year, and a percentage of the profits. Commissioner Landis draws $50,000 for directing baseball, and Ban Johnson, President of the American League, gets $25,000 a year. Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb, both playing managers, are understood to get between $25,000 and $30,000 a season. The great Christy Mathewson never drew more than $17,000 a year.

Ruth was getting $7,000 a year when he started his home-run stunts with the Boston Red Sox. Just before he was sold to New York for $150,000, he signed a three-year contract for $30,000 a year. When he came to the Kilties he was given some bonuses which enabled him to make about $30,000 last season.

Ever since he became prominent he has been mixed up in big money crowds, but he has not always cashed in on them. For instance, he was given a cheque for $2,000 for his movie stunts, but he held the cheque so long that it was no good when he went to cash it—the company had gone to the wall. Other ventures have been successful, however. He is said to have drawn $3,000 a week in vaudeville during the winter season.

The $500 bonus for home runs will be gravy for the swat sultan. Last year it would have meant $25,500. This year it may mean most anything.

Incidentally, Ruth will get the first pinch out of the show now that Commissioner Landis tied on him for barnstorming against the rules. The six weeks' embargo will keep Ruth away for a period during which he rapped out twelve homers last season.

WHO REMEMBERS PACK. M'FARLAND

One of the Cleverest Boxers in the Business a Few Years Ago.

Loss is heard of Packey McFarland these days than of any other noted boxer in retirement, yet Packey was easily the cleverest boxer of the last twenty years. He is now a prominent business man of Peoria, and he does not mix in ring affairs in any way.

It is strange that McFarland should be forgotten so quickly, for his was a great drawing card. He proved that the ring followers do appreciate clever boxing, although the hard hitters may be remembered a great deal longer.

There was something about McFarland's style that was highly interesting, even though he seldom scored knockouts. In this he was different from Jack Britton, Freddy Welsh, Jimmy Clabby, Battling Levinsky and others of their type, who were supposed to be wonderful boxers. McFarland always was the aggressor, and even though he did not stop his man he beat him so completely there never was any doubt about the winner.

Some boxers developed jab and cross tactics to such an extent that they seldom received damaging wallops, and so won the reputation for being remarkable clever. They earned their reputations decidedly cheaply, for there is nothing particularly clever about diving into clinches for protection.

It is extremely difficult to land solidly on one of those expert clinchers. When they step in for the purpose of grabbing a good hold they know when their opponent must start his blow, and it is an easy matter to duck a wallop when one knows exactly when it will start.

The boxer who keeps his chin out of range without clinching has every right to be termed clever. Men of that type are always popular with the fans, even though they may not be deadly hitters. But ring followers never will cushion over the men who depend on clinching for protection. That sort of

GIBBONS-GREB CLASH TONIGHT

Light Heavies Will Meet for Right to Box Jack Dempsey.

New York, March 13.—With both Tom Gibbons and Harry Greb at work here for their 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden to-night, interest in this contest is decidedly hot. No bout during the last few years, except the Dempsey-Carpentier affair, has attracted such widespread attention.

Mine hundred applications for press reservations have been received. These come from as far west as the Pacific coast. Practically every newspaper in the large cities of the Middle West will be represented.

Gibbons will have a decided advantage in the weight and also in height and reach. He will scale around 174 while Greb should enter the ring fully ten pounds lighter.

Weight has never mattered in the past to Harry Greb. The big fellows are usually easy for him. He hits too fast for them, and while he does not knock many boxers out, he usually outpoints his opponents by a wide margin.

It is no doubt the Gibbons' record of knockouts that makes him the favorite over Greb. Gibbons has sent a lot of the boys to sleep, but the names of his victims do not form an impressive list.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

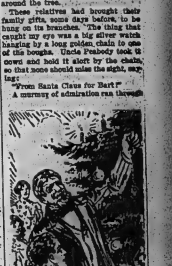

"Merry Christmas!" we all shouted, the smiles and nodded her head and sat down in the chair which Uncle Peabody had placed for her at the dinner table. Aunt Dest took the cloud off her head while Mate drew the comfortably rocked of the next years. Then my aunt brought some stockings and a shawl from the bedroom and laid them on the lap of old Kate. What if Kate fell upon us as we saw tears flow down the cheeks of this kind old woman of the countryside. Peabody, God bless her, God knows how it is. If had been since the poor, abandoned and had seen a merry Christmas and shared its kindness. I did not fail to observe them for some time and then looked! She was greatly changed.

She took my hand as I went to her side and tenderly caressed it. I prattler smile came to her face than ever I had seen upon it. The old story took returned for a moment as she held one finger aloft in a gesture which only I and my Aunt Dest, understood. We knew it signified a peril and a mystery. That I should have to dash for somewhere up the hidden pathway, I had no doubt whatever.

"From Santa Claus for Dest!" "From Santa Claus for Dest!" "From Santa Claus for Dest!" "From Santa Claus for Dest!"

A murmur of admiration ran through the company which gathered around me as I took the treasure in my trembling hands.

"From Santa Claus for Dest!" "From Santa Claus for Dest!" "From Santa Claus for Dest!" "From Santa Claus for Dest!"

"This is for Dest, too," Uncle Peabody chortled as he took down a field of soft blue cloth and laid it in my hands. "How there's something! Don't just about as slick as a kitten's ear. Feel of it. It's for a suit of clothes for Dest. Got it down at Burlington. Now gut-up there. You've got your load."

I moved out of the way in a kind case of sentiment. It was a good great day of pride and vanity. He did not try to conceal them.

The other presents floated for a moment in this irresistible tide of laughing good will and found their proper. I have never forgotten how Uncle Jobes chased Aunt Minerva around the house with a wooden mask which he carved and colored. I observed then were many things on the table which had not been taken down when we younger ones gathered up our wraps and started for Aunt Dest's room to feast our eyes upon it and compare our good fortunes.

The women and the big girls rolled up their sleeves and went to work, while Aunt Dest prepared the dinner. The great turkey and the chicken pie were made ready and put in the oven, and the potatoes and the onions and the winter squash were soon boiling in their pots on the stovetop. Meanwhile the children were playing in my aunt's bedroom and Uncle Jobes and Uncle Jaben were pulling sticks in a corner while the other men folks were engaged in the wall watching and making playful comments—all in the way of good humor. He was trying to touch his head to the floor and then straighten up with the aid of the broomstick.

In the midst of it Aunt Dest opened the front door and old Hattie Reed Weenan, entered. To my surprise, she wore a decent-looking frock of gray homespun cloth and a clean white apron. I looped over her head and ears and that about her neck and a pair of clean boots.

"Merry Christmas!" we all shouted, the smiled and nodded her head and sat down in the chair which Uncle Peabody had placed for her at the dinner table. Aunt Dest took the cloud off her head while Mate drew the comfortably rocked of the next years. Then my aunt brought some stockings and a shawl from the bedroom and laid them on the lap of old Kate. What if Kate fell upon us as we saw tears flow down the cheeks of this kind old woman of the countryside. Peabody, God bless her, God knows how it is. CHAOS REIGNS IN RUSSIA

Industry and Schools Are in a Terrible Plight Since the Revolution.

Petrograd, March 13.—Russia is a land of lost motion. In consequence of the social and economic upheaval since of the civil war, every institution, are trying to do something they are not fitted for. Offices are filled with persons who can, in many cases, read and write and have no qualification for their tasks but party membership.

Universities and higher schools are crowded with students who are not prepared for the courses they choose to pursue. Mad and wasted are working in quarters with those persons who are qualified to teach or do other intellectual work. (Ed.)

In the general shake-up nearly everybody in Russia has been forced out of his old sphere. City people have been forced into the country districts and country folks have been forced into the cities, especially since the famine became so serious.

Teachers have left the schools because they were inadequately paid, or not paid at all. Peasants have become landlords but lack the machinery, so think and toil necessary to put in crops. Families have been scattered and are vainly looking for lost members.

Individuals are having the same trouble adapting themselves to the new order that the government is and the process is slow and uncertain. The new economic policy, which grant the right of millions of peasants to own land themselves, is the only theory they obtained good for [illegible] and were able to exist under the old régime, with the cutting off of government free food from a large percentage of workers and government employes, wholesale readjustments have been necessary.

Government departments have been reduced in a wholesale manner to reduce the governments's food burden by more than one-third of the existing presses. Office buildings and business houses are being evacuated by [illegible] and commercial concerns [illegible] city taxes and help to [illegible] the government's [illegible] all property is to-pay rent hereafter. Many have no money and must get into less expensive quarters.

Every day seems to be a moving day now in the Russian cities. Sleds drawn by anything that will wear harness are hauling furniture to old addresses or to new quarters. Gentlemanly vans are hauling [illegible] and [illegible].

Everything is in a state of flux and the public is quizzically asking what the next development will be in the gradual change back to capitalism.

TORNADO SWEEPING SOUTHERN STATES KILLS MANY STREETS FLOODED BY MOIRA FRESHET

Much Inconvenience When River Overflows Banks and Inundates a Number of Downtown Streets—Trucks Commissioned Carry Pedestrians Over Flooded Areas—Ice Has Taken Two Shifts Since Last Night—Will Likely Hold Up Now For a Few Days.

During the whole of yesterday many citizens awaited with expectancy and anxiety for the ice above in the river to start moving, at the moment most anxious as to what would occur. What actually did occur was perplexing enough, namely the flooding of a portion of the city.

At about 4 o'clock a move in the large field of ice was noticed near the boathouse and in a few minutes the lower floor of many of the boats were blocked in the Moira from the foot bridge to Lott's dam, a distance of over half a mile, was going pell mell towards the mouth of the river. At this time the lower bridge was swarming with citizens but all speedily retreated as it was feared that the structure might be carried away or damaged in some extent. Fortunately such was not the case, but huge cakes of ice struck the stringers and one cake lodged the footing of the foot traffic way on the north side, but the damage was slight.

Ice Mass Stops Again

It was hoped that the body of ice would have sufficient force behind it to carry it out into the harbor, but such was not the case. About half way between the lower bridge and the C.N.R. and C.P.R. railway bridges which spans the river at its mouth, the jam stopped, owing to the ice in this vicinity not being broke up and there not apparently not force enough to break it up.

The result was that as soon as the body of ice stopped, water was backed up to such a height as to overflow the banks on either side of the river. Within a few minutes a miniature river was flowing down Coleman street from Moira Street, also down the lower part of Everett street and on West Bridge Street, from Coleman to Everett street. Not only was this a great inconvenience to those who were desirous to use these thoroughfares but a great inconvenience to the occupants of houses in the locality above named. The houses were surrounded by water and in a number of cases the water was of such a depth it was running over the ground floor, causing occupants to take refuge upstairs. For a brief space many streets south of Bridge street were flooded, namely Colborne, Brock and the lower portion of Mary streets. In Front of the Windsor Hotel on Coleman and Bridge streets, water was flowing to a depth of at least two feet.

Mayor Hanna Active

Mayor Hanna with the large force of the Water Works Committee was soon on hand, and with Mr. Henderson, street foreman of the city, in charge of the city trucks, pedestrians were conveyed to and from the flooded district. In at least two cases cases women were carried and also taken to the homes or relatives, others were also taken to friends homes for the night, as conditions were such that it was impossible to remain in their own homes. The trucks and police also were kept busy the greater portion of the night. This action on the part of Mayor Hanna and city officials was much appreciated and almost favorably commented upon.

Some cellars of business places on the west side of Front street which previously had escaped, were soon submerged by water to such a depth as to cause much damage thereto. The water also backed up to a considerable depth in some cellars on the east side of Front street. During the night the water receded to some extent and further fears of the flood were somewhat abated but only to be revived.

More Trouble.

At a few minutes before 7 o'clock this morning another movement occurred causing more trouble to a section of the city which previously had escaped. The ice jam and water went over the pavement wall on either side of the river below the lower bridge, forcing a considerable quantity of ice on Coleman street, below West Bridge street. In fact the ice is upon the street in such quantities that it will have to be removed before the street can be opened for traffic. The water rose to a height sufficient to fill the bed of the stream about the Springer Lock Works on Coleman street and the residences south of that industry were completely surrounded by water.

The lower portion of Front street did not escape the flooding, at one point opposite the Queen's hotel to No. 1 fire hall water is flowing over the thoroughfare at a considerable depth.

Damage to Property

When the above occurred last night damage was sustained to some outbuilding on the west side of the river bordering on Coleman street and the lower bridge and in the above this morning a large hole was pierced in the garage on the east side, allowing garage and show room premises at

GENERAL SMUTS BREAKS S. A. REBELLION

Government Troops Are Everywhere in Control With Exception of One or Two Small Districts.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

Johannesburg, South Africa, March 14.—Government forces have captured Brakpan from the rebels, entering the town last night. Brakpan is a mining centre, twenty-two miles east of here and was a strong-hold of the revolutionists.

Commando at Potchefstr, five miles west of this place have been notified by the Government to surrender at once or meet overwhelming their positions by 11 o'clock this morning, failing which they will be subjected to bombardment.

The back of the rebellion has been broken. Smuts and General Botha, it is said, the Government forces have met with uninterrupted success. The rebels are holding out in only two or three districts.

Johannesburg itself is clear and thousands of people watched the battle that was fought in the western suburbs. There are many deeds of heroism by the police. At one time 150 police at Brixton were surrounded by 1,500 armed rebels while going to the aid of comrades at Newlands. They were subjected to a 48-hour siege without food or water; small supplies were discovered from aeroplanes. During the whole time the firing did not cease.

Captured documents reveal a plot of the rebels to overthrow the Government and establish a Soviet. The strike was utilized to promote the scheme.

The prompt quelling of the disorders was largely due to the free employment of aeroplanes, which dropped on the rebels and drop food and ammunition to besieged loyalists.

Johannesburg, which on Saturday was invested on three sides, is at present quite safe. Krugersdorp, the the western limit of the fighting, has been captured by the troops. The Pretoria-Germiston railway line was still interrupted yesterday, but with the capture of Benoni and Dunswart, announced it is believed, most of the resistance has been overcome.

FATHER DELORME STANDS TRIAL

Accused Priest Appeared Today for Hearing On Murder Charge.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

Montreal, March 14.—A strong impression that the Rev. Adelard Delorme, accused of murdering his half-brother Raoul, an Ottawa College student was not in condition to understand what was going on was communicated to Judge Cusson by Gustave Monet, K.C. the accused's counsel, when the priest appeared in the accuses court this morning for his preliminary hearing.

The Crown is ready to proceed in the preliminary hearing of Father Adelard Delorme, charged with the murder of his half brother, Raoul Delorme. This statement was made today by J. C. Walsh, K.C., M.P., Crown prosecutor for the Montreal district. Mr. Walsh has come to Montreal from Ottawa, where he attended Parliament in order to prosecute the case co-jointly now before Judge Cusson.

Thirty witnesses are to be called. The hearing will likely take up the better part of the day and it is stated that it is more than likely it will have to be adjourned to another hearing. The reason given is that the report of the auditors of the estate of the Delorme estate of which Father Delorme was executor, has not yet been completed.

DEATH HAS LAST MOVE IN THIS CHECKER GAME

Old Cronies Fall Asleep at Board, One Never to Awake.

Wiarton, Ont., March 14.—When Isis Kidd and George Keyes, old rival checker players, fell forward in sleep over their checker board at Keyes' home, near Hepworth, on Saturday night, it was the last long sleep for Kidd. Mr. Keyes' daughter put her father to bed late at night, but was unable to move him from his chair to the floor. She placed a pillow under his head and a blanket over him. He was asleep when she went to bed and in the morning. He had apparently choked to death.

Kidd was a picturesque and well-known character of the district, and famous as a barn framer for 40 years, was in the habit of visiting Keyes and very often in the evening they would light their pipes and fill their glasses and sit down to a campaign at the checkerboard. Saturday they played late and when Miss Keyes looked in on them she found them both fast asleep and bowed over the board.

FRIGHTFUL DEATH LIST IN BELFAST

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer

NEW SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Horticultural Society Plans Much Work to be Started Immediately.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Membership List Has Now Over Five Hundred Names.

At a largely attended meeting of the Belleville Horticultural Society held last night in the Council Chamber, officers were elected, a thorough reorganization completed and immediate plans made for the beautifying park and playground accommodation for the city.

At the last meeting of the Horticultural Society, held on February 16, Messrs. A. Ashbaugh and J. Pinder, were appointed a committee to secure, if possible, at least one hundred members for the proposed reorganized society. It was gratifying to hear at last night's splendid reorganization meeting that nearly five hundred members have been secured.

Following the very representative meeting was opened last evening by Ex-Mayor H. P. Ketcheson, who was elected chairman, with Secretary, Messrs. H. Thompson, H. C. Earle and A. A. Affleck were chosen to appointive offices. The election was forcibly emphasized by a number of the men that it was necessary for the immediate beautifying of the city before and after this important mistake.

The Officers.

The following officers were selected:—Hon. President—Col. R. S. Lazier, E.-G. Porter, M.P., and Mayor C. A. Hanna. Pres.—T. Blackburn; 1st Vice-Pres., H. P. Ketcheson, 2nd Vice-Pres., P. C. MacLaurin; 3rd Vice-Pres., A. B. Cooper, and 4th Vice-Pres., W. B. Deacon. Members of the council are I. L. Hoare, R. J. Dickerson, Harold J. W. Belair, Aldi. H. Greenleaf, Jamieson Bone, J. G. Herity, W. E. Vallance, Alfred Pyne, Frank R. Rigg, T. A. Coppin, H. Ackerman, Mrs. L. B. Cooper, Miss Harry Yeomans, Mrs. Wm. Ponton, Mrs. C. J. Bonisteel, Mrs. A. L. Stillman, Mrs. T. Blackburn and Mrs. Arthur Vanluven. W. C. Mikel, Secretary, Mrs. A. Wonnacott.

A representative of the "Canadian Horticulturist," which is published monthly in Peterboro, told of the benefits of this magazine to such a society and offered it to members at a thirty-five cents per year, the regular subscription price being sixty cents. Mr. Cameron was present, but Mr. Cameron as to what the aims and objects of the society were, Chairman Ketcheson explained that the aim was to encourage the citizens to beautify their property, and create beauty and breathing spaces in the city. Mr. Cameron, "the flower city of America," as a standard. Mr. A. A. Affleck explained the allotment of certain blocks of the city to certain members as a community in which to canvass for additional members.

President's Address.

On taking his new office, President T. Blackburn explained that he was present for the honor conferred on him and warmly praised the work of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce despite the fact, said he, "that it comes in for considerable unnecessary criticism."

He believed that Belleville should produce two thousand members, for London, Ont., is launching ahead for a four thousand membership this year and Belleville has always done what any other town could do—and then some. With the hearty co-operation of all interested, the receipts should include government grant, membership fees, park appropriation (with payment of city council) school board grant, sale of bulbs and flower shows. An expert landscape gardener would be engaged to help along with the work, and before many years the children would have sufficient knowledge as to the beauty of flowers so that acts of vandalism which now occur, would cease, and whatever out-of-us would have occasion to say "Belleville," "Welcome" or "Home Sweet Home," we could "say it with flowers."

Proposed Beauty Spots.

Messrs. J. Benistel, T. Blackburn, L. B. Cooper and Chairman of Parks, H. Greenleaf were a committee chosen to act at once in an effort

MAN AT HIS WANTS TO START LIFE ANEW

London, March 14.—William Galop, 103 years old, for many years an infmate of the Park Royal institution, has made application to the governors for permission to leave because he says he wants to seek a job and start life anew.

He is hale and hearty, reads without glasses, writes a strong, legible hand, and retains all his faculties. He says that he never smoked or drank. He has traveled widely and thinks he should be given another chance.

SIR JOHN EATON IS STILL ALIVE

His Condition is Still Critical Report the Attending Physicians.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited.

Toronto, March 14.—It is stated from the home of Sir John Eaton that his condition is still critical and practically unchanged from that of yesterday.

The attending doctors this afternoon reported no improvement. Hope is still entertained for his recovery but the condition of the patient is very grave.

The following official bulletin was issued from "Ardwold" late last night:

"Sir John's condition remains unchanged. There has been no appreciable change during the past forty-eight hours."

From the nature of Sir John's critical illness, the family physicians state that nothing can be foretold as to the probable outcome. Everything that modern medical science can do has been done. His family doctors in Montreal also assisted. Members of the family who were out of the city at the time the crisis developed have returned, and are now assisting Lady Eaton, who has been constantly at her bedside since Friday. Prior to that Saturday the children were permitted to see their father, but since that time the privilege, to some extent has been denied.

Customs and Prohibition on Niagara Frontier Will Take Action.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

Buffalo, March 14.—Customs and prohibition enforcement officials are planning united action to track down the whisky smuggling which has reached considerable proportions along the Niagara frontier.

The plans have not been disclosed but it is understood that a request has been made to Washington for an addition of a motor boat to the equipment of either the customs or the prohibition enforcement department.

More Than Fifteen Killed When Cyclone Tears Through Southern States — Property Damage Exceeds One Hundred Thousand Dollars—One Village Practically Obliterated—Many of the Injured Are Not Expected to Live.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Ltd.

MYSTERY HOUSE CLOSED AGAIN

Dr. Prince Returns to Halifax, But Keeps His Finding Dark.

Halifax, March 14.—The revels of the "spooks" will be undisturbed in the Macdonald mystery house at Caledonia Mills to-night. Their approach unheralded by the tinkling of the ghost alarm bells, they will be able to fearlessly step forth from their hiding places on the stroke of midnight, to perhaps gleefully dance among themselves over the failure of their pursuers to learn of their whereabouts, or to discuss in solemn conclave, the possibility that the scientist may have uncovered a clue which will lead to the return of some disturbing presence.

Once again, the mystery house has been abandoned. Windows are boarded up, and doors securely locked from the outside, it presents the ordinary appearance of a deserted dwelling, but to Dr. Prince and members of the party, as they east a last look in its direction, when they took their departure this morning it represented a great deal more. Inside those four rough walls remain a mystery insofar as the public is concerned, still unsolved.

Absolute secrecy surrounds the official finding of Dr. Prince. Arriving in Halifax last evening in company with staff artist MacKinlay, he refused to even comment on the affair.

This is the first time in seven years that volumes of this report have been brought down coincident with the opening of the debate on address.

LOCKOUT ORDER IS EFFECTIVE

Employers Put Order Into Effect After Warning Their Men.

London, March 14.—The threatened lock-out of members of the Amalgamated Engineering Union by the Engineering and National Employers' Federation, went into effect yesterday in accordance with notice given some time ago by the Employers' Federation. The latter declares that the lock-out is from yesterday and until the members of the Union recognize the employers' right to conduct their own workshops and to have a solitary voice as to what constitutes necessary overtime. Other unions are taking a hand as to whether they shall accept the employers' terms on the question of workshop management.

The Engineering Union has issued a statement completely denying the allegation that the men challenged the employers' managerial rights, and maintaining that the dispute arose out of their interpretation of the clause in the overtime night-shift agreement of 1920. Under this clause they contend, they are entitled, especially in view of the large number of unemployed men, to a voice in the amount of overtime in production work and the conditions under which such overtime is worked. They assert that this point was recognized by the employers in the 1920 agreement.

He was recently presented with a medal by Mayor J. S. Parker in recognition of his services to humanity. The old negro, called on for a speech, modestly said he had really risked his own life "only six times" in saving others.

MEIGHEN ARRAIGNS THE KING GOVERNMENT

Foresees Disappointment for Those Who Look for Radical Anti-Protectionist Legislation from Present Government—Crerar Will Speak This Afternoon.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Ottawa, March 14.—Resumption on the debate on the Address this afternoon by Hon. T. A. Crerar is being keenly awaited as it is expected that he will outline the stand to be taken by his party on the many questions before the House.

The debate on the address will be resumed at 3 o'clock when it resumes at three o'clock this afternoon. The address will be moved by Senator Meighen and seconded by Senator Boyer. Sir James Lougheed will speak for the Opposition and Senator Dandurand for the Government.

Ottawa, March 14.—In the discordant chorus of Liberal proclamation of Modern Right Hon. Arthur Meighen found, in his contribution to the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne yesterday, the explanation of the "Pale, Pallid and Barren" announcement of the King Government's tariff proposals and its evasive and nebulous statement on the principle to be asserted, held keen decided by the general election. A veritable deluge of misrepresentation and misinformation had drowned public opinion. Therefore, he predicted that the people, whosoever how they had been deceived and betrayed by those calling themselves Liberals, would ultimately visit upon the heads of the Government and its supporters the penalty they had earned.

Railway News in Brief

Vancouver, B.C.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has called for tenders for the construction of a new dock across the Fraser River to replace the old one washed away during the freshet in May, 1920, of November. The new structure, which will be built of steel, is to be about 200 feet long with concrete piers. The concrete abutments will be placed further apart than in the former structure to allow for more sailvessels for another possible change of the river. The new dock, gallion, bridge, when completed, will be 60 feet wide and will provide a approach of bridge construction on the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Montreal.—Mr. G. D. Brophy is appointed District Passenger Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., at Saskatoon, succeeding Mr. J. H. McDonald, transferred, succeeding Mr. Brophy as city passenger agent, Montreal. Mr. Brophy entered the service of the Canadian Pacific on October 15th, 1910, as stock in the Passenger Department, New York. Subsequently following were: Sept., 1911, City Ticket Agent, Montreal; May, 1915, Passenger Agent on liner Metagama; April, 1916, travelling passenger agent, Cleveland; June, 1919, travelling passenger agent, New York; July, 1919, returned to Cleveland as travelling passenger agent; January, 1919, travelling passenger agent, Montreal; June, 1920, travelling passenger agent, Banff; October, 1919, travelling passenger agent, Boston; April, 1920, district passenger agent, Banff.

Vancouver.—The fifteen-storey hulk of the Hotel Vancouver is familiar to visitors to Vancouver, and of all the people who pass it each day and the many who have stayed in the "old hotel", it is probable that not one in thousands realizes just what a tremendous enterprise the hotel is.

To run the hotel—which has approximately 600 rooms—requires a year-round staff of about 300 employees. The comparatively small matter of keeping public rooms and balconying in spotless condition and cleaning the ornate plaster work around the retained requires the continuous services of five painters and ten helpers.

These men are hard put to it to keep ahead of the dirt which is brought into the hotel on the feet of laden air. While they are keeping the walls and ceilings bright the men that seven rotunda cleaners are at work each day keeping floors free of noiseless immaculate and seeing that worn-out electric light bulbs or burnt lead in lieuid — are instantly renewed.

But it is in the downstairs regions of the hotel, far from the gaze of travellers, that the majority of the large number of employees pass their days. In the basement rooms where light and power for the hotel are made there are five engineers; a chief, three third-class and one fourth-class. There are four firemen, four oilers, two shovelers and two trackmen.

Then there are basement cleaners, store-room men, four kitchen cleaners, two printers—for menus—a yardman, an ironman, five bell-boys and three men on food control. It is the duty of the last mentioned to see that every ounce of food which leaves the storerooms is accounted for, so that at the end of each day the profits on dining-room operation can be accurately checked.

The kitchen is the largest cafe in the hotel. Here there are a chef with forty-eight assistant cooks to serve the dining-room and grill. For the lunch counter there are three separate cooks. Two of these only do nothing but broiling, three do nothing but frying, three cook vegetables exclusively and there are six pastry cooks. In addition there are cooks for boiling eggs, some who make ice, others for coffee, and some who spends his life making toast and another whose sole duty is to clean and spud oysters.

The quantity of food necessary to feed the guests in one day would amaze the average housewife. No less than ninety dozen eggs are used daily. Between 3,000 and 5,000 lunch and dinner rolls are baked each day. To butter these, and for cooking, 100 pounds of creamery butter are used each day. Carrots are consumed at the rate of 100 pounds a week, and between 800 and 1000 pounds of potatoes are used each twenty-four hours. Other vegetables are used in quantities of from fifty to 500 pounds according to how many guests the use is in the house.

Drinkers from eighteen to twenty gallons of cream, fifty gallons of milk and from 175 to 200 pounds of poultry each day to satisfy the demands of the guests. Winter and summer in search of fish, the hotel sets out ten tons of ice each day.

The hotel's refrigerating plant covers a floor space more than twice the size of the Monument National, Montreal. It is capable of producing 200 tons of ice daily. The cost of operating the plant is from $1200 to $2000 daily.

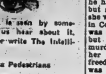

"FAIR AND WARMER".
A DECIDED HIT

Rex Stock Co. Present a Laughable Farce to Full House.

For laughing purposes only is the farce "Fair and Warmer" offered by the Rex Stock Company at their presentation at the Opera House last night. There was not a dull moment from curtain to curtain and the audience expressed its hearty pleasure at the performance last night with long and continuous applause. "Fair and Warmer" is one of those plays where the plot is simply a small framework upon which to hang the most number of amusing situations. Clever lines and witty repartee snapped and crackled all through the scenes and the work of every one of the company was a distinct pleasure.

Miss Zana Tarrant, as Blanny Wheeler proved an able doll for Mr. Snelgrove. She got every laugh there was coming to her part and added many distinct impression with her performance. The "Laura Bartlett" of Flora Williams was a character sketch right up to the leads and scored a distinct hit. Billy Seymour, Hazel Richard and William P. Mirelly did remarkably well as their parts and rounded out a performance that for good solid mirth and entertainment would be hard to equal anywhere.

Careless Pedestrians

A.T.—As the weather becomes more people are more inclined, it seems, especially the younger folks, to gaze at the sky while walking on the streets or crossing the street. With so many motors on the streets, this practice is dangerous. So, drivers should be more watchful, and, if you have to look at it and admire the sky it would be safer to do so at home.

Signs of Spring

R.H.—As a sign of life renewing spring the robins are coming back. Robins being seen by myself and several others this morning. Everybody knows their eyes open now for the birds as they come back.

A UNIQUE BRITISH HYDRO ELECTRIC INSTALLATION

A water power station with some original and most interesting features has just been completed in Scotland. A small head of water had been used for a long time in driving two mills by old-fashioned breast wheels. On to the increasing demand for power the question of reorganizing the installation became pressing. It was eventually decided to use the water power for generating electricity and to supplement the supply of water power by arranging a high level reservoir into which water could be pumped during the hours when the mills were not working. Actually the mills work for about 60 hours per week. During these working hours the water runs down from the high level reservoir through the same pipe up which is had previously been forced down, and it drives the ton wheel which generates the additional power required. This plan has been discussed by various hydro-electric engineers, especially in connection with tidal power schemes.

A REMARKABLE GEAR

As an almost invariable rule, when a gearing is required to give a big difference between the speed of the driving and the driven wheel, what is called double reduction in speed is made in two stages. A British firm, however, has constructed a most ingenious gear in which a ratio of 60 to 1 is effected with a single reduction. The gear is of helical formation and it has been run for some time transmitting 10 horse power at 1000 revolutions per minute without sign of distress or undue heating. The pinion has also been found to work satisfactorily as a driver, and the efficiency of the gear is stated to be equal to that of any ordinary double reduction gear. It is expected that this gear will be used for a large variety of applications, especially for the lighter drives in which it is desired mainly to transmit motion. The first pair of gears of this type will be deposited in the South Kensington Museum, London, to form part of a permanent collection of interesting mechanical devices.

Terrible Tale of Underworld

Prison doors closed recently upon Mattie Hawley, one of the most remarkable women of the underworld in the history of Kansas City. Directly or indirectly she had been responsible for the death of a dozen men, and was herself implicated directly in at least one murder, for it was the only crime that she was imprisoned. She appears to be of a type more commonly met in the movies than in real life, and this is what makes her an interesting study. It was in 1914 that she first began upon the underworld of Kansas City, coming from nobody knows where. It is said that she had respectable parents and was better-educated, especially as the training given to the development of her voice, which apparently was somewhat out of the ordinary. She was strikingly handsome, a brilliant blonde, with eyes that attracted attention wherever she went. They were large, light, shallow, of a slate blue tone, and absolutely without expression. They were not the lills of the "Girl with the Agate Eyes." Such eyes, by us, are recognized by psychiatrists are being generally the characteristic of pathologic liars.

Mattie Howard presently took up with Albert Pagle, a well-known gangster, who was just attracting the attention of the police through his took up with many men in the course of her career, and there is no doubt that the infatuation for Pagle was the greatest influence for evil and inspired her subsequent career. For a year the two lived together, if immorality, and then Pagle was arrested and sentenced to five years for highway robbery. Mattie was left broken-hearted, but began at once to plan for his release. Escape was out of the question, but she fell in with a shyster criminal lawyer, who told her that if she could raise $10,000 enough of the money her fancy man would be released to her.

So Mattie formed a temporary alliance with another girl named Sam Taylor. One morning a diamond broker, named Joseph Moritol, was found dead in a room with his head crushed in. It was known that he had spent the night with Mattie, but she had disappeared. Later on she was arrested in Taylor's company in Colorado and extradited. Taylor was sentenced to life imprisonment, but Mattie, with an indictment of murder in the second degree over her head, was able to regain her freedom on $10,000 bail. The bond was supplied by another gang of criminals, whose members hoped to use Mattie Hard in their nefarious work. It turned out, however, that she was able to double-cross the outfit was known as the Dale Jones gang, and Mattie employed its money for her own purpose of raising money for her incarcerated lover to such good effect that within a year every one of them had met death in one way or another, one, a woman, was in prison for life, Mattie herself remaining outside.

She had not enough money for the project, so she secured the aid of another desperado, named Spider Kelly, with whom she formed a partnership. Kelly was shot dead while attempting a hold-up, and shortly Mattie herself was on the scene in an automobile, but driven away before she saw her champion fall. Next she teamed up with George Kennedy Cruze. He was shot and killed while trying to hold up a gambling resort. Her new victim was George Lewis, a gunman, who was also killed in an attempted hold-up shortly afterward. With all this bloodshed, Mattie was still without the money that would procure Pagle's release, but in the meantime Pagle himself had cut down his sentence, and, to her great joy, he was released one day and restored to her blood-stained embrace.

Three weeks later he, too, was dead. He was shot and died from his wounds, after he had robbed the cashier of a bank he was trying to rob. Mattie, with her companion on this fatal enterprise, and its tragic ending broke her heart, was found lying dying in the hospital she refused to leave. There she died at last, and when Pagle passed away she lay for half a day alongside the body of his sin. She organized the finest funeral the underworld of Kansas City had ever seen. The room was filled with flowers, and the coffin smothered in them. It was borne on the pall-bearers from among the more illustrious thugs of the city, chanted the Biblical text for the funeral oration, and herself sang the appropriate hymns. She had to be torn away from the grave by force, and for two later she was arrested at the instance of her landlord, on the ground she would disappear, was tried for the murder of Morico, committed to the county jail, sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment. She laughed and sang as she was led away.

A NEW SOURCE OF RADIUM

Radium is perhaps the most costly substance in the world. A few grains of it are worth a fortune. To Save the Children

A group of Russia's starving children such as are being saved from death by Canadian contributions.

Russia's government says "save yourself," but Soviet children have none. Russia's people, a vast horde, but chiefly conscious, if at all, of social responsibility other than that which each man felt for his own immediate family, may have brought upon themselves and organization to be overwhelmed world. Her little children had nothing to do with it, and yet it is the little children of Russia that are faced with the hideous, ever-powering brunt of it all. They are not facing it: it is too great for them. In millions they have tottering to the ground that have swept over their once happy land. These lower and lower, are almost content to die, finding in death the end of suffering and the cessation of horror.

But their children—the parents' own human beings; if they were mere animals the protracted death-agony of their little ones would still be unbearable. To most of them there comes no help. The task of feeding their children first and then themselves is too great; they die and their children are left to wander about the country in quest of something anything to devour. Little claws that should be the pretty hands of children dig in the ground for roots, except when the ground is frozen, and kitchapers little rags, tries crawl from refuse heap to rubbish heap in search of some edible fragment may not be overlooked. Again, if they were animals it would be different, and gentle instinctively they would know how to treat a living from Mother Nature. But little children must be fed. They must have food found for them, and in Russia there is none; so they must die. Death is not the worst of it. If a peaceful death were all they suffered, it would not be bad. It is the hideous horror of the drawn-out struggle, and it is inflicted on children that are suffering. They are suffering to-day and must continue to suffer to death, unless—

Unless the civilized well-fed people of the world hear their revolting cry for help, and give that help quickly. It will be too late for countless thousands of children. The call has come to Canada with evidence far too horrible to print. The photographs reproduced herewith hereto suggest others, more dreadful, that cannot be published.

Will Canada, land of happy, healthy children, heed the call? The appeal is being made in the belief that she will. The "Save The Children" Fund has opened an office in the Zigia Building, Ottawa, and the Canadian people are urged to send their subscriptions now to Sir George Burn, treasurer of the fund at that address. One dollar will feed a child for one month. $250 will feed one hundred children until next harvest.

"He gives twice who gives quickly."

Saved from death by the humanity of those who have already contributed to this fund.

REPORT SUMMARY TO AGRICULTURE DEPT.

Following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Hatton says that he has caused injury to the fall wheat, but that it is too early to say the extent. The severe frosts also favor injury to both wheat and clover on low lying fields where the bad format of the soil and other contraries say that it is as yet too early to estimate the extent of winter injury if any, to these crops.

North Bruce quotes hay as selling at from $12 to $15 a ton.

Baled hay is selling in the Rainy River District at from $15 to $25 a ton.

Lotus alfalfa is changing hands at from $18 to $20 a ton in Perth.

Bruce says that a supply of home-northern grown alfalfa seed is being offered for sale in that county at $25 a bushel.

Owners of sweet clover seed are selling it for 12 cents a pound in Dundas county.

Hogs are quoted all the way from $11.50 to $12.00.

North Simcoe reports: "Associations report large shipments of cattle, much of which is well finished and showing a lack of bedding. Prices range from $5 to $7.50 a cwt. Hogs have slumped, but some farmers were paid as high as 14c. a lb., net. Little pigs can be bought very reasonably owing to shortage of feed. Prices reported $1 $4 a piece."

Bruce says: "Pure-bred animals offered at the Semi-Annual Sale recently sold at sacrifice prices in many instances. However, the best bull topped $170, and the best female $150, but the average was about $77.50. Two useful sires were shipped to the Toronto Stockyards for beef purposes."

Peel states: "Horses moving a little more freely; quite a number of unbroken colts are being sent to market. Springers and fresh cows seem to sell quite well at sales, one grade

Lennox and Addington reports: "At a recent auction sale, two year old pure bred Holstein heifers sold at prices ranging from $50 to $60. The farm machinery brought very low prices. It is almost impossible to get a bid on hay loaders. A number of farmers have tapped their sugar bushes. All next week many of them will be very busy making syrup. Considerable hay has been purchased for the Indian farmers in Tyendinaga."

Farm wages offered range from $25 to $25 a month with board, for partly experienced men, and around $35 a month for the average hired worker with experience, while well known and reliable hands get an advance on the above figure.

RESTORING BURNED FORESTS

If fire had been kept out of Canada's forests for the past century, we might have cut all the timber that has been cut in that time, and still have as much timber standing as when Confederation was consummated. That is to say, the annual growth would have been as great as the annual cut. But because the annual growth has not been so great as the annual cut plus the losses through fire, our forests have been deteriorating. The first thing to do is to stop the ravages of fire, and the next thing is to get new forests growing on non-agricultural lands. Canadian forests have wonderful recuperative powers, and, if these powers were assisted by natural and artificial seeding, and by planting, the tide would soon be turned, and the annual growth increased to a point where it would exceed the annual cut. The need for prompt action is not because Canada is in the midst of a timber famine now, but because it takes a tree half a century or more to reach a merchantable size, and, if famine is to be avoided, Canadians

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to get the genuine delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

DIVORCE MILL HAS PLENTY TO GRIND

Ottawa, March 14.—The divorce subcommittee record of 1921 seems to have been shattered, and applications are still coming in to officials of the Senate divorce committee. Already this year 123 applications are ready for consideration as compared with the total of 120 last session. It is understood that the divorce committee of the Senate will meet on Friday to elect a chairman, following which the committee will probably adjourn for two weeks.

Mme. Tetrazzini Tells About Her Experiences In All Parts of the World

From the day when, as a little girl of sixteen, Mme. Tetrazzini took her first audience by storm, to the time when she was making thousands by her golden voice, the great prima donnas lived a life of romance.

The first of many journeys of personalities she met was the Queen of Italy, who made the prophecy that "little Luisa Tetrazzini" would then known—would become a great singer. A few years later the diva was taking the capitals of the world by storm. Up to the present her voice has earned a few millions dollars.

A laughable experience befell Tetrazzini on her first tour of South America. The son of Tetrazzini's host—a boy of young years—had fell in love with her, and one day, in a moment of childish infatuation, let his passion. He was refused, but so persistent was the boy in his suit that he had to tell his father. The latter, laughingly said he felt youthful enough his son "occasionally went mad"!

While on the same tour she was invited to visit a certain small township. When she arrived she discovered the object of the visit.

"We have a cemetery without an enclosure, and there is nothing to keep the animals out," she was told. "We wish you to sing for us, and so raise the money to build a wall."

When she visited America, the singer formed a friendship with President Taft, which resulted in the revival of the old story told of every one who has shaken hands with a great personage—that his hand can never again be washed.

An American journal, in an article, mistook the latter superstition was observed by the singer. The article concluded: "Wag, of course, Tetrazzini washes both her hands," said the hotel clerk. "What would Tetrazzini do with a marble bath-tub if she washed only her hands?"

At a great public function in California the prima donna was the guest of honor. To please her the Governor of the State, who presided, announced that she could hold office for five minutes, when she would be able to give her order as to cases. Tetrazzini took the seat and gave the order. She was "Everyone drink what he likes!"

During her 1920-21 tour of the United States Tetrazzini sang into a restless country for the friends of American sailors. Mr. Daniels, Secretary of State for the Navy, at the conclusion, asked her to name her favorite song. Tetrazzini replied evidently which the song popularity recently: "How dry I am nobody knows!"

Once while on a sea voyage to Italy the singer had another peculiar experience. A wireless came from Paris to the effect that Caruso was seriously ill in the French capital, and that he could not be able to sing again.

Tetrazzini's greatest triumph was in Chicago, when she was asked by one of the passengers whether she was really herself, or whether she was a spirit. Her answer took the form of a song, which certainly proved she was no spirit.

The most memorable evening in Tetrazzini's life was November 2nd, 1907, when she made her bow to London. The occasion was responsible for one of the best stories in "My Life of Song," by Mme. Tetrazzini.

The great singer was excited, and when she got to Covent Garden she went to the curtain and surveyed the great gloomy-looking auditorium. It seemed empty.

"Where are the people?" Tetrazzini asked of one of the directors.

"The house is full," he answered. "You can't see the people because of the fog."

The Tipping Problem.

One of the hotels on the Riviera is trying a new scheme tipping problem by a profit-sharing system. At present when a guest of the hotel is supplied with vouchers by the hotel management for part of the 17 per cent. of his bill which is devoted to the tipping of the waiters employed. These vouchers are to be distributed by the guest among the hotel's workers, a list of whom is supplied to the guest with his bill. The system, as one readily sees, is only to get away from it by some method which will not increase the hotel bills. Some hotels have tried the plan of adding 10 per cent. to the guest's bill and from that amount distributing tips. But this resulted in the cashier's office getting as much as the attentive waiter. The new plan overcomes that difficulty.

OIL FROM SHALE

In various parts of the world there are deposits of shale from which it is possible to distill an oil on a commercial basis. An improvement on the usual process has just been introduced by a British engineer. The shale is powdered and heated until it is just about to give off vapor. It is then mixed in a revolving drum with sufficient lime to raise it to the temperature required for complete carbonization but does not raise it beyond the point at which all the volatile constituents will be distilled off. Taste made of this process state that no clinkering the material takes place.

GOLD IMPORT AT STANDSTILL DURING STRIKE ON RAND

New York, March 14.—For the first time in almost two years, gold imports from London to New York have come to a standstill, because of the prolonged strike of the miners on the South African goldfields. Not an ounce of gold was shipped here from London for the week ending yesterday.

Nearly all the gold received here from London since April, 1920, came originally from the Rand, but was shipped to the British metropolis for reduction, South Africa lacking such facilities.

"THE FATHER AND THE BOY"

Belleville yesterday had the pleasure of entertaining one of the most noted boy life workers in the Dominion of Canada and the whole continent, in the person of Dr. J. K. Macdonald of many years the loved and revered master of one of Canada's most noted preparatory schools, St. Andrew's College, Toronto. A tall upstanding man. A figure of authority he seemed, the very essence of sincerity and strength when he spoke to the Rotarian Club at the luncheon.

Here stood a man who for the last twenty years has devoted of himself to a task as sacred as it is monumental in the history of the country. "The boy of today is the man of tomorrow" is a stale platitude that many have had thrust at them and thrust at them until they are nauseated. Dr. Macdonald unfolded, however no portly platitudes. His speech was as crammed full of fact and reason as it could possibly be. The results of twenty years stewardship at one of the great character moulding forums of the country were impressed upon him. This man has made the study of the boy life not only a life work but has made it more—a living, glowing hobby and there are few who can withstand his impatiently when he demands a fuller understanding of the boy.

And the matter of his talk. It was very simple. Not a bit pedantic or involved. Simply this. "Be to your son what he thinks you are." Take an interest in the things that interest him no matter how trivial and unimportant they may appear to you. Here indeed is a message pregnant of many things. The average father of today finds himself tied down and bound to social, business and fraternal ties that take up his time in many cases, alas, to the exclusion of those more important, more sacred duties in the home.

The educationist did not condemn these activities. They were necessary, he said. But a proper balance had to be kept. The father in the relation to his boy stood as the sculptor who watches a masterpiece grow under his very hands from the inchoate mass that had been but a block of stone. Or that of a gardener who watches a bud of rare beauty unfold itself to the first rays of that all-powerful warming influence, the boy's father.

The innate bigness of Dr. Macdonald was evident in his conclusion when he besought the fathers present not to lean too much upon schools for the building of character in the boy and then characteristically enough invoked the aid of the "Great Teacher" to find the way of Truth and with God's help to walk therein.

Our thanks Rotarians and the thanks of the city of Belleville for the opportunity of hearing Dr. Macdonald.

"IT'S ALL IN THE POINT OF VIEW."

With a great deal of pride Premier Taschereau recently announced in the Quebec Legislature that the revenue accruing from the liquor traffic would enable Quebec to shortly pay off the provincial debt. He predicts, too, that all Canada and the United States will shortly follow the lead of Quebec in the official liquor policy, so great has been the success of the Province liquor act. The viewpoint however depends very much on where you sit and Ontario sees no way now and assuredly will see no way in the future of following in Quebec's path to obtain the "success" that Quebec so proudly announces it has achieved.

Premier Taschereau however received his answer from the Dominion Alliance Convention in Toronto last week in the speech by the Attorney General. The Hon. W. E. Raney had this to say in reply to the optimistic Premier of Quebec:

"After the experience of two years, or thereabouts, in enforcing the Ontario Temperance Act in this province, prohibition is a success. It is not a success as a revenue producer of four million dollars, or eight million dollars, but is a success as the ten commandments are a success. It is a success as the criminal code of Canada is a success. It helps men to be better. It is the safeguard of good citizenship. It helps the woman—the mothers, the boys and the girls. It is not an absolute solution. No legislation that any parliament could enact, that any congress could enact, will eliminate appetite or greed. These things will remain with us as long as human nature remains. Local option cures; laws ameliorate; and that is what prohibition is doing."

Premier Taschereau points to the gratifying fact that the operation of the Quebec law (under which a paternal government does not forbid the people to drink but on the contrary provides them with liquor—for a valuable consideration) has decreased the number of cases of drunkenness. How pleasant to find that the self same paternal government cares nothing for the moral disintegration of its people so long as a grossly materialistic debt is to be wiped out.

There are different ways of measuring success. When the whole of Canada and the whole of the United States are functioning under Quebec's present system, the main causes of Quebec's success will have disappeared. But she need not worry, for she is likely to enjoy her self-satisfied isolation for a long, long time.

However, one should not assume, because the Washington government refuses to participate in the Genoa conference for the reason that it will be a political gathering, that Uncle Sam is thinking of retiring from politics.

Bolton village, York county, should not lose heart, but should start to build up another record to beat the one which has just been broken. A day or two ago the first arrest in forty years was made in the village.

SERVING THE PUBLIC

Guelph Herald

The death of Mayor Wedlake of Brantford illustrates the fact, often lost sight of in these busy days, that there are men to-day serving their respective communities without thought of reward and as a sacrifice of their own interests. It is very easy for the general public to criticize men who are serving them; but side by side the fact is forgotten that the men criticized are doing the work for nothing else but a desire to serve the municipality in which they live, and, if they were less public-spirited and more selfish, they would be looking after their own interests instead of serving in the City Council or on some board or commission as the case may be.

MUSIC

I am born of the joy from an old refrain,
Where the thrushes sang near the wan declining stream.
The rapturous chantry dwells near me again:
While evening sleeps in the moonlight eglean.

I am born of the breath from the soul of the hills,
Apart from the wind and its rude, restless ways—
I am tenderly borne on unconfined wings
As an old wonder-song from remembered days.

I am born of the strange and wonderful air—
Neath the measureless clouds, so frail and so still,
I heard not own voice in a song, brokenly—
A challenge to nightbird, the river and rill.

I am born of a thought in the beauty of rhyme—
In sweet, sustained notes in a soul's melody,
That wandered afar in some forgotten time,
Nor halting nor fearing to dwell close to me.

THE KHAN, IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

SIGNS OF SPRING.

The Heavens Below.

I see you from afar, I'm told that you're a star,
You're behind the shadows in the grey blue,
Wherever you are, no clouds your beauty mar,
You reason its murky hour into a day,
Vainly by they try do I seek for thee on high,
Where the bright sun is shining in the day time,
But oh, you stars and beam, you glisten and you gleam,
You darkle and you sparkle in the Night time!

I couldn't find a verse, To illustrate the point I'm making—Alack, so I've had to go manufacture one my-self. The world would stand still if everything was done that could be done by anybody else, they said. That need be said. That is why the Lord will always furnish His people with a new world to go to. Moses and Christopher Columbus simply led the people away from themselves. They had a desire to try out. It's good for people to go where they don't want to, into the new land where they can make good. Columbus found a new land, where they will have to make their own bread, their own shirts and their own laws.

It takes a Moses or a Columbus to uncover the heaven below. When you can see your heaven, above it shines they emigrated somewhere else. It is an extraordinary thing that we know so little about the heaven below. Some people don't know a thing about the heaven below! That's no life no! If we were in the Moses' boots we'd see to it that we would be continually devising schemes to get to the heaven be-low. Moses knew that he could not get a Tower of Babel. It would be wrong also up-ot wrong side down rather, but it would be no use to worry more about than the skyscraper undertaken by our ancestors some thousands of years ago. There is many a true word spoken in jest, and I have long been under the impression that there is a heaven below. It is the heaven above, who were constantly and tirelessly planning to get here. If they were pressed I know they won't make a mess of it, as the Israelites made of Canaan and the white men made of North America. I am often troubled and this is what troubles me. Did the Lord foresee the land flowing with milk and honey, say, in the year 37 or one ear? Did he foresee the North American continent in the year 1492 and if so, why leave? Why Columbus? I have often thought that if Moses were asked to do it over again he would not be so accused, and Columbus would have preferred prison in the Mediterranean.

Here in the heavens below we are about that in the heaven above it is always day time. I don't believe it, for one. I hope it isn't true, anyway. The night sky particularly now in the spring time is a scene of unwearying beauty and of unfading splendor. You cannot see a single one of that host of glory in the day time. You have to wait till the darkness fall And this is in the night, most glorious night. It was not made for slumber."

I have a few friends in that better world above and for their sakes I hope that sometimes the Night comes down over the New Jerusalem and the moon, their dear old moon, rises benignly from behind the far hills and the twinkling stars come tip-toeing through the purple meadows of the sky. And, they will sit on their doorsteps of an evening and pick out the Dipper and the Plough, and the Bear, and the great square of Pegasus and all the old friends they used to do long ago. And the old folks will gravely discuss whether it's a wet moon or a dry one, or whether or not there will be any change till the next quarter. I fancy that heaven would be very beautiful on a moonlight night or a starlit night or even on a night when there was no moon, no stars. A beautiful place in the pale yellow radiance that never was on land or sea. But they tell me it is always noon there!

HUGE STEEL-MAKING KILNS

In connection with a process for producing steel direct from iron ore, a British firm is building some huge electric cylindrical dimensions. The first one, which was recently despatched weighed 280 tons and will be capable of dealing with a charge of 400 tons. A special train composing 29 wagons had to be made up for the transport of this enormous plant. Two others of the same size have been completed, in connection with large plants it is interesting to note that a casting weighing 122 tons was recently completed in a Sheffield foundry. This casting clearly approaches the weight of Sheffield's record casting, 130 tons.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:—Sir,—From the view of present conditions on our river—and water front, it bows that our city council has made a mistake, also in endeavoring to sell up dockage property which was acquired for a fire hall as the downtown position is evidently badly located. Also our Chamber of Commerce, instead of clamoring for a lake service steamer, should agitate for a harbor and river dredging service. These wouldlions may hereafter accrue annually instead of every four years.

Yours truly,
E. H. TICKELL.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—The reorganization meeting of the Belleville Horticultural Society which was held last evening in the Council Chamber and was well attended, I wish to express my appreciation and thanks to the gentlemen who so ably assisted in the canvass for membership, also to the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary and Lions Clubs and the members of the City Council, particularly Ald. H. Cleveland, Chairman of Parks, whose co-operation and suggestions were appreciated indeed. I wish also to thank those who so unstintingly assisted in this important work.

One fine old Belleville Citizen, when conversing with him over the matter, stated "God made Belleville beautiful, but her people have done nothing to help it." Can't our efforts be such, so as to say "God made Belleville beautiful and her people have endeavoured to conserve His ideal."

St. Thomas to-day is called the Flower City of Ontario. Can't our doing be such as to justify this, yet even surpass when it may be said: St. Thomas is the Flower City of Western Ontario and Belleville, the Flower City of Eastern Ontario.

Another thought I wish to suggest and I hope, Mr. Editor I am not trespassing too much. London Ontario has her civic Flowen the peony, St. Thomas, the Gladiola, Toronto, the rose, and our beautiful Belleville, what shall it be? The Ontario and Intelligencer, will wait your answer stone-ind, when it is chosen may it be such, the splendor that beauty of thought that characterizes the ideal of her people.

Yours truly,

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers, Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established, she needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical, and many are such far-reaching effects upon her future health, that the utmost skill is absolutely necessary for a mother or physician to withhold constant advice.

Many a young life suffered years of pain and misery that could have been spared them the victims of ignorance or ignorance on the part of mother. Many girls have come through the dangers and difficulties of this critical period.

Motherhood should take their place with womanhood, from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy weights, and from overwork, which does not let them over-study. If they complain of backache, pains in the back and lower limbs, they need a mother's thoughtful care and sympathy.

Mrs. A. J. Clouse about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound:

"Before my daughter was fifteen and until she was fifteen, she suffered every month so that she could hardly move around the house and when she would have these pains in school, she would have to be carried home. She also had headache, dizzy and faint spells, and soreness in her back. I used your advertisement in the Hamilton Spectator and got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her. She took it and it has been over-since. It has done her a world of good. I am glad to tell you of my daughter's health and will use her name if necessary."—Mrs. A. J. Clouse, 1 Oxford St., Hamilton, Ontario.

A Little Book Helped Her to Decide

Mrs. Mary Duffy, daughter, took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as the weather was cold and did not feel like going to school. She was then but one year from being through the danger and difficulties of the "change of life."

LET DOMINIONS ACT IN THEIR OWN FIELDS

London, March 13.—Lord Beaverbrook, speaking in London Saturday, advanced the interesting suggestion that the dominions should be entrusted, in certain cases, with the responsibility of helping the development of the colonial possessions of Great Britain, thus permitting the Imperial government to conserve its energies for new, undeveloped fields. The optimism, he said, would thus be enabled to appreciate the problems and appreciate the problems and difficulties which Great Britain had handled during long years of administration of the colored races.

In a rural district in East London an old man brought three shillings and six pence wrapped up in a scrap of paper on which was written in pencil the message: "From my four Mary who died last Christmas after nearly 60 years married."

Such gifts from the old were matched by others from young enthusiasts like the small girl who enclosed four shillings and six pence which she collected among her little friends.

G.W.V.A. DEFEAT TIGER TIRE IN HARD GAME 3-0

VETS TRIM TIGER OUTFIT

Despite Soft Ice, Fast Snappy Game Results Last Night.

Plenty of pep and action featured the sudden death game between the G.W.V.A. and the Tiger Tire Co., at the Arena last night. The Vets managed to pull out a 3-0 victory over their rivals for the silverware.

The game was fast and clean, only two penalties being handed out. The scoring was fast and snappy although the ice was very sloppy and soft.

The puck was faced-off at 8.10. The Vets got the toss-up Flakie starting the game with his usual wonderful work on the ice, but he only got to the defence in the first period. The Tigers played a good defence and combination game stopping the Vets at the defence each time, never very long shots were made by the Vets but the zone commenced to bend the same play back. One of the Vets, Jimmy Alexander was certainly handicapped on account of previous illness but still he played a great game. In the first period neither side had much advantage.

Both teams started the second period with some good rushes, the Vets working like a demon with the rest only seconding him. The Tigers did not have much chance to get away from their goal as the Vets made it their business to keep them there. Langdon was the first to get away for the Tigers with Holloway on his left doing his bit, in spite of the ice being sloppy the pair worked over centre ice and found many times in long shots for the goal. Clapper is goal hold his own with a wonderful display, but he had even better for the Vets. Flakie in one of his long end to end rushes scored the first goal for his team making it 1 to 0.

Boyer and Langdon worked hard in the third period to get a goal but did not get within two or three feet of the Vets' goal. Bill Holloway had his wind knocked out by one of the Vets' body checks. He was carried off the ice but came back inside of five or six minutes, both teams working hard for the game. Flakie, the star for the Vets scored a goal on one of his characteristic long rushes and inside of a few minutes repeated his performance, making the score 3 to 0. Then such a fight as would be a credit to the International was made by the Tigers. Both wings made furious rushes and played a great combination game but could not get pass the defence except by shooting. Even stopping these, Langdon the only man on the Tigers that was hit with a hockey stick on the nose. He was taken off the ice and with a piece of court plaster was fixed up.

The manager of the Tigers, Pat Boland, was out of the city last night and wasn't on the job. Billy Flakie was in charge of the G. W. V. A. team. The line-up was as follows:

G. W. V. A.	Position	Tiger Tire Co.
Fenn	Goal	Clapper
Wood	R. Defence	Holloway
Marshall	L. Defence	Goyer
Arnott	Centre	N. Goyer
Flakie	R. Wing	Hay
Ketcheson	L. Wing	Langdon
Alexander and Subs.		Fye and Hanna

ST. PATS AND OTTAWA PLAY SCORELESS TIE

St. Pats Are N.H.L. Champions and Will Play for Stanley Cup.

Ottawa, March 14.—St. Patrick's hockey team of Toronto will defend the Stanley Cup against Vancouver, the Western champions, this evening, chiefing to nothing score, gave the Queens City hockeyists a margin of goal on the round and a total of a 6 to 4 victory in Toronto on Saturday night. The game in the Ottawa Arena last night was played on ice inches deep in water, and on the showing here the new defenders of the cup are not truly the best representatives team of Eastern professional hockey. The combination of the ice added strength to the Toronto plan, which was to retain the one-goal lead already attained. Good stick-handling was well nigh impossible, and while the Ottawas for three quarters of the way tried by dint of brute force to get the opposing net, the St. Patrick's were content to resort to the old-time lifting game, to shooting from point position and to holding to keep the Senators from scoring. Practically all through the play the visitors were on the defensive, however, and probably not more than a dozen times during the night did the Green Shirts penetrate into Ottawa territory.

LEROY BROWN LEAPS TO WORLD'S RECORD

New York, March 14.—A world's record as well as titular honors were gained last night by Leroy T. Brown of Dartmouth, in the running high jump, when he scaled the bars at six feet, four and seven-eighths inches. The occasion was a meet held under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America. The old record of 6 feet 4½ inches was held jointly by Brown and John Murphy of Notre Dame University.

University of Pennsylvania runners also performed brilliantly in the two mile relay, which they won by five yards. Cornell was second, George town third and Columbia fourth. The success of the team was due in large measure to Leroy Brown, who ran the final mile in 1.55 2-5. The newly-crowned mile champion was given a tremendous ovation for his fine work. The winning team covered the distance in the good time of 7.53 2-5.

Granites..... 6 Iroquois Falls ..2

Granites win round 9-3.

GRANITES DEFEAT IROQUOIS FALLS 6-2

Toronto, March 14.—Gaulies defeated Iroquois Falls 4 to 2 at the Arena last night and eliminated the North ern O.H.A. champions from the Allan Cup series. As the curlers won the first game 3 to 1, they take the round 9 to 3, and will play either Montagnards of Ontario, or Sons of Ireland of Quebec, in the semi-finals on Thursday and Saturday of this week. The finals will be played next Monday and Wednesday with Port William of Regina Victorias representing the West.

PUCK SLAPS

Ritchie McVicar, the Iroquois Falls junior player is suffering from a dislocated shoulder sustained in the hockey game against Aura Lee. It is expected that his arm will be in a sling for four weeks at least.

Sudbury News—After decisively winning the O.H.A. interfunds on three times in as many years, it is surely time for the N.O.H.A. champion to be sent to the competitions as one of the best with the O.H.A. seniors for the Allan Cup. The general feeling in Sudbury is that we believe, that is the feeling in all the North, is that the trimmings which Sudbury, Soo and Iroquois Falls have accumulated in the second series down there, should awaken Means. Copeland, Hewitt and others to the fact that it is not fair to send the N. O. H. A. winners to the tape in too many games.

E. W. Ferguson of The Montreal Herald selects Goaltender Roach as the most useful player in the National League. Quite a compliment that to the local youngster, who is completing his first year in professional ranks. The Montreal critic also places Noghor, Noble and Sprague Cleghorn near the top of the list.

DIAMOND DUST

NO BONUS FOR RUTH

New York, March 14.—"Babe" Ruth's contract with the New York Yankees, which he signed in New Orleans on Saturday, reached its city this afternoon for the signature of Col. Jacob Ruppert, part owner, completing the deal, and, after the Colonel had completed that formality, he made the announcement that the stories about a $500 bonus for every home run made by the "Babe" during the season were totally baseless. Ruth, said the Colonel, will receive no bonuses whatever for home runs or anything else. His contract calls for a flat figure for the season with the privilege of a renewal for two years.

Just what the figures are Ruppert was unwilling to relate. It is certain, however, that no bank President or movie king would be in the least disturbed at the prospect of receiving an equal amount.

There was considerable feeling that Bogash ought to have been given the decision Seven of the rounds went to Bogash three to McTigue and two were even, according to a good many of the fans.

There he will place himself under Tom Andrew's wing. Andrews has arranged a bout between Tracey and Bill Brennan, it is understood.

LEONARD MUST MEET TENDLER

Champion Can't Ignore Challenger Very Much Longer, Say Experts.

New York, March 14.—Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard still insists that he will not meet Lew Tendler, the strongest contender for the title, because the Philadelphian took 10,000 forfeit last summer. This probably means that the match already has been agreed upon. Leonard's stand is the best kind of publicity stunt that could be devised.

Leonard well understands that the more difficult it is to obtain a thing the greater the value placed upon it. There is no doubt that the champion and his manager were greatly peeved last summer when Tendler took Leonard's forfeit, following the champion's refusal to go through with their match at the Philadelphia ball park.

Leonard declared that he had injured a thumb and he were a plaster cast for many days. Tendler said that was merely camouflage, and that if Leonard was not afraid to fight the champion could have his $5000 back whenever he entered the ring with him. Leonard came back with the retort that Tendler never would get a match for the championship as long as he held the crown and he probably meant it at that time.

Since the match has become the most desirable bout is possible to make outside the heavyweight division. It held in the open air next summer the receipts probably will double the present record for lightweight bouts. With so much money at stake it is unreasonable to think that Leonard would allow his ruffled feelings to prevent him from collecting his share.

If Leonard were foolish enough to let Tendler go, the champion would run the risk of losing much prestige. Boxing followers want this match. They have decided that Tendler is the one man who can give the champion a real fight. They are not greatly interested in Leonard's likes and dislikes, but they do want to see the best man on top. Leonard has not the right to veto his personal spite at the expense of ring followers in general.

That Leonard will pass up his share of the big purse that will be offered for this match, if he thinks he can win, is altogether unreasonable. If he does not think he can win the future, there is only one reason that would cause him to do it and that as nothing to do with the enmity that he feels toward the Quakertown entry.

That there is any truth in Tendler's hard-boiled assertion that Leonard is afraid to fight him does not seem probable. Lew looks like the best of the present set of contenders, but he does not look good enough to stop Leonard, or anywhere near good enough. He has and plenty of trouble with one who have been easy for Leonard, so that the latter has no cause to fear him.

However, Leonard undoubtedly is becoming more circumspect as he grows older. The champion has had one or two unpleasant experiences in bouts for which he had to make weight. Ritchie Mitchell floored him for the count of nine and Rocky Kansas roughed him up in a way in which he is not at all accustomed. Charley White sent him through the ropes with one of his powerful lefts, and now the champion hesitates about grueling him a return match.

If Leonard had ever boxed with Tendler there might be some reason to think that he had found out that the Philadelphian was bad medicine, but they never have boxed even a friendly bout. Leonard says that southpaws are easy for him and that Tendler would be particularly soft.

Last summer when the two were matched to box in Philadelphia Leonard told the writer that he was daily "expecting to hear that Tendler had withdrawn. He said that Tendler always had been afraid of him and that he could not make himself believe that Lew Tendler wanted to fight. It happened it was Leonard who withdrew from the match.

HOW JOHN L. WAS INTERVIEWED

Old Time Heavyweight Champion Was Always Glad to See Reporters

In the second instalment of his autobiography, in the January Bookman, Theodore Dreiser recounts his youthful experience as a reporter in St. Louis. One of his assignments was an interview with John L. Sullivan.

"Aw, haw! haw! haw!" I can hear him even now when I asked him my favorite question about life, his plans, the value of exercise (!), etc. He wants to know about exercise! You are all right, young fellar, kinda slim, but you'll do. Sit down and have some champagne. Have a cigar. Give 'im some cigars, George. These young newspaper men are all right to me. I'm for 'em. Exercise? What I think? Haw! haw! Write any damned thing yuh please, young fella, and say that John L. Sullivan said so. That's good enough for me. If they don't believe it bring it here and I'll slam it for you. But I know it'll be all right, and I won't stop to read it neither. That suit yuh? Well all right. Now have some more champagne and don't say I didn't treat yuh right, 'cause I did. I'm exchampion of the world, defeated by that little dude from Californis, but I'm just as good as I ever was, ain't I, right? Haw! haw! They can't take that away from me, can they? Haw!

LONG DISTANCE SWIMMING MEET

English Distance Game Will Boom This Summer, Say Authorities.

London, March 14.—The leading long distance swimmers of the world are to be invited to compete in a common tournament this year at swimming the English Channel, it is announced here. An international relay race—open to teams of men and women—may also be organized for the Channel coast.

A great boom in long-distance swimming is forecast following the action of Adolph Alexander, president of the Channel Swimming Club, in presenting that institution with a new cup to be competed for by aspirants of any nationality. The trophy is not a challenge affair but becomes the property of the first persons, man or woman, who swims the channel unaided, as did Captain Webb and T. W. Burgess.

The cup is said to rank well among the handsomest of sport trophies, but those to open it is exactly three feet in height and it is of solid silver throughout. It weighs 375 ounces and stands on a very fine onyx plinth. "Big Bill" Burgess won the first Alexander Channel Swimming Cup when he swam from England to France in 1911. Mr. Alexander's great interest in the sport is accounted for by the fact that Captain Webb was the hero of his boyhood. He considers the Channel swim the greatest athletic feat of which man is capable and the best incentive to long-distance swimming, regarded by him as the only really useful form of the art.

A SUCCESSFUL DANCE

Under the auspices of the local lodge, Canadian Order of Woodmen of the World, a dance and euchre party was held last evening in Victoria Academy and was fairly well attended considering the many counter attractions and the flood situation. An excellent programme of dance was carried out and these participants in the dances were toward card parties, in which the so-called prizes were given. Young's orchestra of the city provided a fine programme of music in the early light of the present. At midnight a luncheon was provided after which dancing was furthered until an early hour this morning. The floor was in fine condition for the dancers. The committees in charge served in the capacity of hosts and hostesses and helped to make the affair a success and their guests feel at home. The committeemen were: Alfred J. Hagan, J. B. Kelly, J. A. Gibbard, F. C. J. Yard, A. H. Palmer, T. G. Wells, H. Symons and H. D. Chamberlain. Prizewinners in the euchre contest were as follows: Ladies, 1st Mrs. E. Bunnett, 2nd Miss J. MANY CELEBRATE DIAMOND WEDDING

Friends and Relatives Join in Observing Sixtieth Anniversary.

Port Perry, March 13.—On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lent, formerly of Picton, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage at the home of their son-in-law, Rev. John T. Hall, "The Manse," Port Perry. Messages of congratulation were received from all over the Province. Their sons, grandchildren and great grandchildren were present for the celebration.

Mr. Lent was born at Lent's Cottages, four miles from Picton, on March 13, 1842, and was one of nine children to reach maturity—the eldest and only other surviving member of the family, Mrs. Eliza Lent Bullen, still enjoys good health at the age of 81. In 1853 Mr. Lent opened up a modest and genial business in Belleville. In 1859 he moved to Picton, where he continued in the same business for more than 30 years.

In 1863 Mr. Lent married Ellen Eliza Wellwood, the eldest daughter of David R. Wellwood. To them were born four children: Herbert, Agnes (Mrs. T. G. Hall, Port Perry), David of Milwaukee and Edwin of South Bend, Ind.

For many years Mr. and Mrs. Lent were prominent in the church, the social, and especially the musical life of Picton. Mr. Lent was a member of the Town Council for a number of years and much of the early temperance legislation of Picton was due in a small measure to his unselfish and untiring efforts in the cause of prohibition.

A unique feature of the anniversary was the presence of their pastor, Rev. John T. Hall, minister of Harrison of Picton, Mr. Harrison was present at their golden wedding 10 years before.

The Egyptian Agitators To Aid Cause of Peace

Lord Allenby Deported

Zaghloul Pasha, with a gang of his chief followers, has been deported from Egypt by Lord Allenby and they expect to spend the next few years in Ceylon. It is probable that Egypt has been rid for a while of this extremist, who was a second Arabi Pasha, and that breaking up Egyptian mobs will consist of more moderate views to represent them. Frederick Cunliffe Owen, correspondent, who is particularly well informed upon Egyptian affairs, estimates that it will be another forty years before Egypt is ready for a return to new the offer of autonomy which was made at Lord Milner's suggestion, and which the nationalists have been most unwise. For that long of time he predicts Britain will remain in control in Egypt as a guarantee of safety of all foreign life and property.

It depends largely upon the Egyptian people if the course of events from now on parallels the course of events following the outbreak of the so-called Nationalist movement in 1881-2. There followed then forty decades of prosperity and security such as Egypt had hardly enjoyed since the Pharaohs seven fat years at the time of Joseph. The Government was extricated from the slough of bankruptcy and the yoke of the oppressor was lifted from the peasant. The latter was confirmed in his holdings, and was relieved of the necessity of paying his taxes two or three times over, under threats from the corrupt tax collectors. As Mr. Owen says, up to the time of the dethronement of Khedive Ismail in 1879, the European has been treated as beasts of burden.

Then, under the reign of Tewfik, Britain, in association with France, secured the inauguration of a National Government in Egypt, and to endow the people with constitutional forms such as prevailed in Western Europe. The experiment was premature, for the Nationalism thus awakened, soon got beyond control, and threatened not only the prosperity of Egypt, but the lives and the property of all foreigners there. When the Khedive loyally tried to stand beside the foreign Government, the Nationalists rebelled and finally embarked on a crusade, which had as its avowed object the driving of every foreigner into the sea.

There were massacres of European in several parts of the country, and the rebels, led by Arabi Pasha, made a grievous effort to revive and entrench him in one of the royal palaces. The port of Alexandria was looted and pillaged, and there was another massacre of Europeans. The army revolted and the Nationalists was to take possession of the Suez Canal. This was the last straw, so far as British patience was concerned, and Lord Granville was instructed to join her, Britain sent a squadron to the Egyptian coast which was bombarded. This was followed by the landing of a force of 25,000 at Ismailia on the Suez Canal, and the battle with the rebels at Tel-el-Kebir, which ended the revolt and the movement.

The crushing of the insurrection and the deportation of Arabi and other leaders to Ceylon had the immediate effect of sending up the value of Egyptian Government bonds from 47 to 90 per cent., but the beginning of the great material prosperity which the Egyptians have enjoyed for the past four decades. Nevertheless, the Nationalist spirit was never entirely extinguished, and was stimulated from time to time by the pious utterances of certain English public men and writers who had little knowledge of the country and thought that the right of the Egyptians, like that of Belgium, Serbia, etc., to self-government was the same as the right of the British people to rule itself. The people themselves, The movement which led to the war, under Zaghloul, became more formidable than ever, and threatened the rise of Arabi. His extreme views are probably not shared by the great majority of the Egyptian people, who are more fully represented by the moderate counsel now in London trying to come to an understanding with the British Government, which seems ready to go a long way toward enlarging the autonomy of the Egyptian people, so long as British interests are safeguarded.

Then what a stirring of chairs and feet as we sat down at the table. Old Jack slid up the side of my mind and we were all surprised at his good manners.

We jested and laughed and drank cider and retrieved the years history and ate as only they may eat who have left behind cold muscles and the vitality of cares. I sang the song of the Barrel of Apples and felt or hear a hearty laugh without intending it. Then old Jack disdain. The old boy knows Rattlerod.

That Christmas brought me nothing better than those words, the memory of which is one of the fullest joys of life. I had several of my past down which I have been looking these many days. Afoot if you can do for a boy, worth while, is to give him something good to remember.

The day had turned dark. The temperature had risen and the air was dank and chilly. The rain began to pitch up their bonnes.

Roland by one, the sleighloads left us with cheery good-bys and a rattling of runners and a jingling of bells. "When the tide has fallen" Uncle Peabody and I went into the house. Aunt Deal sat in the stove, with Katy by the window looking out at the falling dusk. How still the house seemed!

"There's one thing I forgot," I said as I proudly took out of my wallet the one-dollar bill which I had earned by working Saturdays and handed it over to them in payment of the loan of my uncle, saying:

"That is my Christmas present to you. I paid it myself."

I remember so well their astonishment and the tremor of their hands and the look of their faces.

"It's grand—s'yes!" Aunt Deal said in a low tone.

She rose in a moment and beckoned to us to hold my hands. She passed her through the open door to the other room.

"I'll tell ye what I'd do," she whispered. "I'd give 'em to ol' Kaiser, s'yes! She's paid it up with us till tomorrow."

"Good—fine!" said Uncle Peabody.

So I took the money out of their hands and went in and gave it to the Silent Woman.

"That's your present from me," I said.

How can I forget how she held my arm against her with that loving, fatalistic, rocking motion of a woman who is soothing a baby at her breast and kissed my cheek! Then she refastened my arm and, turning to the window, leaned her head upon its sill and shook with sobs. The dusk had thickened. As I returned to my seat by the stove I could only see her form against the light of the window. We sat in silence for a long while.

Then Uncle Peabody rose and got a candle and lighted it at the hearth.

I held the lantern while Uncle Peabody fed the sheep and the two cows and sifted—a slight chore these wide.

"You and I are to go off to bed pretty early," he said as we were going back to the house. "Ye aunt Deal wants to be alone and get her cry of it all by herself."

"I dunno but she'll swing back into the world s'yes," said Uncle Peabody when we had gone up to our little room. "I guess all she needs is to be treated like a human bein'. Ye Aunt Deal ain't exactly a soft over nubbin' of a woman, but she's got her own pride and she knows for you that night in the ol' barn. 'Ho I took some of it,' says I, 'and I'll be a man' s' pat o' boots an' asked her to 'come to Christmas.' And I think I'll ride over over the blackmouth shop down to Bullerdelle's Mill. I need her. I'll come after her with the cutter but she shouldn't her head. I knew she'd rather walk."

He was awake as he spoke and soon we were both asleep under the shingles.

CHAPTER XII.

The Thing and Other Things.

I returned to Mr. Hacket's home late in the afternoon of the last day of the year. The schoolmaster was lying on a lounge in a corner of their kitchen room with the children about him. The flesh was falling.

"Welcome, my laddie back!" he exclaimed as I entered. "We're telling stories of the days of our youth and in time for the last o' them. Sit down, lad, and give ye ye patience! I'll soon be over."

After supper he got out his banjo, gleaming and new, and played away for set self-defense, in which, I was soon to learn, he was highly accomplished, for we had a few rounds together every day after that and I got some valuable form of exercise and I soon began to. My capacity for taking pain and punishment was developed in those days and before long I got the knack of "counting out" that pleased him more even than my work in school, I have sometimes thought.

"Good boy, my boy!" he exclaimed one day after I had landed heavily on the floor with the point of my shoulder in with yer right. I've a notion ye would be a fine boxer, s'yes!"

I wondered a little why he should say that, and while I was wondering he fetched me a stinging blow on my nose.

"Ha, my lad—there's the best thing I have seen yo do—get up an' come back with no sad in ye," he said as he gave me his hand.

One day the schoolmaster called the older boys to the front seats in his room and I among them.

"Now boys, I'm going to ask ye what ye want to do in the world," he said. "Don't be afraid to tell me what ye may never have told before and I'll do what I can to help ye."

Home Accidents

Seldom does a day pass without someone in your family happening an accident

Housekeeping means an end of bruises and knocks. Rooting time brings its burns, cooking often results in cuts; burns and scalds, while the children are "always in the wars." Consequently, every wide mother keeps a box of Zam-Buk close handy.

For its greatest ally is Zam-Buk, the cut finger or bruised forehead, the burn or scald, antiseptic Zam-Buk is the sure ideal Pyr-ale. Zam-Buk ends smarting pain and soreness almost instantly. It heals germ-free, cleanses the bodies tissues, and grows like new skin.

Zam-Buk is a pure highly refined balm, of Nature's herbal oils and essences. Its blend has several many a tortured hand, poisoned knee or crippled leg, common results of haphazard treatment with impure fatty ointments and salves.

There's no truer saying than that, "Daily Mishaps Make Zam-Buk a Daily Need."

The Patrols of the 1st Belleville Troop are being run on the Kim and Mark System with points for attendance, discipline and badge work. Competition closes on May 15th. There are several good prizes offered and the boys are working hard to make their patrol top boss. The standing up to date is:

1st Owl Patrol—26 Leader—Harry Redfern.
2nd Beaver Patrol—24—Leader Jack Boyle.
3rd Otter Patrol—21 Leader—Frank Folwell.
4th Bear Patrol—21 Leader—Jack Crozier.
2nd Hawk Patrol—21 Leader—Percy Fleming.
3rd Wolf Patrol—18 Leader—Chas. Harris.

The attendance was great at last night's meeting there being about 40 members of the Senior Division present. The boys showed by their numbers into their ranks, namely, Gerald Watts, Newton Wilbur, Chas. Wilkins and Theodore Mumby. All members who join the troop are voted upon and if any members of the troop miss three meetings in succession they are dismissed. The members of the troop pledged their support to the Old Chief.

Immediately after the general routine of business had been disposed of the scouts indulged heartily in a song-fest. The Chamber of Commerce obligingly furnished the song sheets. A feature of this connection of voices were two numbers executed by the Boy Scout Dissipated Quartette.

When the boys became hushy Mr. Charles Keeber continued the entertainment by relating his experiences and giving a resume of the Olympic Games held in Antwerp. His address was very illuminating, instructive, and well interspersed with humor. When Mr. Keeber finished his address he received an invitation tendered by Reg Hayes on behalf of the troop, and informed that a letter of thanks would be appreciated. Mr. Keeber will address the scouts again in the near future.

beautify the strip of land on the hill which needs attention.

Mr. J. O. Herity agreed that a miniature park be established on the portion of land from the Kyle House to the G.T.R. Charles carriage establishment and also the property on Pinnacle street. Miss Deacon heartily concurred and expressed his belief that it would alleviate materially the slum tendencies in this section of the city. Also Mr. Greenlees thought that the little island at the mouth of the Moira River would also make an ideal bathing place.

A committee consisting of Messrs. J. O. Herity, L. B. Cooper, H. F. Ketcheson and Chairman of Parks H. Greenleef will chosen to look over the city as to possibilities of more parks and playgrounds and bring in a report to the executive and city council.

STREETS FLOODED BY MOIRA FRESHET

the corner of West Bridge and Coleman streets.

At present the top of the solid intact part of the railway bridges and the projects are that it will remain there for a few days as the ice must be broken up before the water can be quite solid.

From the footbridge south, yards on the west side of Front street were quickly inundated by water which has caused considerable inconvenience to merchants, who are realizing that a flood was likely to occur had covered their goods from cellars to a place of safety.

NOTES

This afternoon the rain moved again, in a large quantity of the pressure under the railway bridge and out into the bay. This had a tendency to relieve the water which rapidly spread off the flooded street as it quickly overflowed them.

A number of little parties left this afternoon bent on wending through the low lying portions of the lower part of Chapman street in order to place that thoroughfare in a passable manner.

From the number of pieces of timber which were to be seen amongst the ice floes it would look a deal as if some other structure had been damaged.

DISASTROUS FIRE SWEEPS CHICAGO BUSINESS SECTION

FIFTEEN MILLION LOSS IN CHICAGO FIRE

Spectacular Fire Creates Havoc in Windy City Business Section—Blocks of Buildings Destroyed are Among the Largest in Chicago.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer,
Canadian Press, Limited.

CHICAGO, March 15.—A spectacular early morning fire today destroyed a full square of business buildings just outside Chicago's "loop" or downtown district, with a loss estimated at from ten to fifteen million dollars. The fire, which started in the centre of the block bounded by VanBuren, Canal and Clinton streets, and West Jackson Boulevard, was of unknown origin, burned every structure in that area, leaped north across Jackson Boulevard and wrecked the twenty-one storey Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad general offices building, and then jumped across Clinton street southward and burned nearly through to Harrison street.

SPRING FLOOD ALMOST OVER

Much of the Ice is Being Carried Away Today.

The ice floes in the Moira river are behaving very well to-day and a portion of the jam has made its way between the first and second pier of the C. N. R. bridge and out to the bay. The river is rising up to a point about one hundred and fifty feet south of the Lower Bridge. The ice cakes which composed this space have formed underneath the jam in their way and made out at the opening channel at the C. N. R. bridge, where the current is more progressed. The northern portion of the jam has settled considerably and the ice appears to be resting under the strong rays of the spring sun. Near the C. N. R. bridge, however, the cakes are very much [illegible]

Citizens moved with long bars are settling the cakes, and many large pieces have been carried away into the channel as a result. From all appearances to-day, the most serious phases of the jam and flood are over, and very possibly by evening such progress shall have been made as to warrant no recurrence of Tuesday morning's freshets on Front St.

Cellars and floors affected by Tuesday morning's flood have been swept out in many cases and are taking on a fair clean appearance, except for the damp atmosphere and the back yards at west Front St. which were flooded Tuesday are clear of water once more.

Shortly before 1 p.m. the ice moved forward again, and at that hour nearly half the distance between the Lower Bridge and the C. N. R. Bridge was totally clear.

I.O.O.F. HOLD GREAT MEETING

Visitors From Whole District Entertained by the Local Lodge.

Tuesday, March 14th, will long be remembered by the members of the I.O.O.F. of Belleville and Prince Edward county as a red letter day of pleasant memory. The Grand Master of Ontario, Bro. Major W. J. Hamilton of Port William, accompanied by Grand Secretary W. Brook of Toronto were in attendance and in the evening a meeting of Deputy Lodge of Instruction was held. Business connected with the Bay of Quinte District was carefully discussed, and every Lodge had a good representation. In the evening the members of Minpah and Belleville Lodges, assisted by the members of Quintena Rebekah Lodge provided a splendid banquet, in honor of their distinguished visitors.

The large Lodge Room was used as a banquet hall, tables being set in every available space, and additional tables were set in the anterooms. D.D. G.P. Bro. G. Way officiated as Toastmaster and Rev. Bro. G. Marshall asked the divine blessing. The good things provided were enjoyed by about 250 members, who were regaled by music from the I.O.O.F. orchestra.

After the toast to The King, D.D. R. H. Kerhesen proposed the toast of the Grand Lodge and Grand Master, in speaking to the toast Bro. Ketcheson referred to the esteem which the members of Ontario feel toward their Grand Master, due largely on account of his services to Oddfellowship, but on the service he rendered to King and Country on the battlefields of France and Flanders, for which he received decorations from both France and Belgium. On being to respond Bro. Hamilton received musical honors and prolonged cheers. The Grand Master's address was listened to with great attention and interest, as he spoke of the work of the Order in Ontario. Bro. Hamilton said although

PROGRESSIVE LEADER STATES PARTY'S STAND

Hon. Mr. Crerar Evidently Doubts the King Cabinet Will However Support the Government if its Policies Are Acceptable to the Progressives.

Ottawa, March 15.—There is a distinct disagreement between Hon. T. A. Crerar and Premier King as to the basis upon which they entered into their recent negotiations looking to the inclusion in the latter's Cabinet of representatives of the Progressive party. If the days when it was being announced that the present Prime Minister did not propose to "spare the blues or the Liberals at the Montreal sign of the three golden balls," it was understood that the intention was the object of Mr. King's advances to the Progressive leaders. Since the basis have been established, it is alleged that Mr. King's object was to effect a sudden conversion of Progressives to Liberalism by the simple process of appointing them to office. Yesterday Right Hon. Arthur Meighen in his speech demanded some account of the negotiations. He wished to know whether Mr. King had sought to bring about a coalition of Liberals and Progressive forces under a Ministry representative of both parties or whether he had merely sought to bring about a coalition of to desert the party they had led in the recent general election. Premier King replied to the demand: "I made it plain," he said, "that I would only consider that representation of the Progressive party) on the basis of its coming into a Liberal administration."

Yesterday the leader of the Progressive party, in his speech on the address, made a statement which but finally dissented from that view of the negotiations. "My Hon. friend, the Prime Minister, I think was misinformed by a sincere desire to do what was in the best interest of the country," said Mr. Crerar, "but when he states that he made it quite clear in any proposals or suggestions that this Ministry was to be a Liberal Ministry, I must say I did not so understand him. These negotiations were first commenced on the basis of policy and of personnel. Those, I think, are the essential questions."

SPECIAL CLASS FOR DULL CHILD

Dr. Sinclair Outlines Program for Work Among Sub-normal Children.

Sub-normal children, and provision of classes for their advancement was the subject of a very interesting and educative address delivered by Dr. S. B. Sinclair of the Ontario Department of Education, in the Council Chamber last evening. A very splendid gathering of local principals and teachers listened with interest, and it is quite probable that, when school opens here in September such a centrally located class shall have been established.

"For a hundred years ago, the attitude towards school children was "tick 'em and learn 'em" remarked Dr. Sinclair in opening, "but after a careful study of the child since about 1890, it has been proven that the child is as important as the subject. Though much care is exercised nowadays regarding the physical condition of school children, the mental condition has been neglected more or less. Since schools were first established some pupils have always been brighter than others, so that the annual examinations are not a test to all students, for it is necessary to test a certain kind of mind. Sixty per cent. of the three year old children, it has been proven in tests, will repeat a number of three digits after a teacher or examiner. Seven year old children will repeat a number of five digits, but the average normal person cannot repeat more than seven digits. In this and other more advanced ways, the mental calibre of a child can be estimated. If a ten year old boy passes a five year old test he is exactly fifty per cent. sub-normal or in other words a halfwit. By such "intelligence quotients," as the ratio is [illegible] tion of any child can be arrived at. That is, there will be the idiot, the imbecile, or the moron and so on from obvious idiots to perfectly normal children. These experiments are conducted, having been tested on thousands of children with the close co-operation of teacher, nurse, principal and parents. Dr. Sinclair said that in average, normal cases the I. Q. increases until sixteen years is reached, then remains fairly constant, while in sub-normal cases it begins to get duller after eight years of age.

Dr. Sinclair said that a number of schools were being graded I. Q. That is, students with an I. Q. under 50 are placed in institutions, between 50 and 70 who are defective in a separate class, between 70-90 and 90-110 who are back ward and those above 110 who are especially gifted. In the lowest classes they would be trained for a kind of work they would be fitted for in the future, children would be happy and radiant when all are equal, instead of discouraged as the "stubbed" material of the higher class. The bright pupils would be fit from the time spent on the dull pupil by the teacher, the teacher would not be driven to distraction, and the parents would be glad to know that their dearest treasure on earth was actually getting somewhere. Society would also be protected from its very worst evil, that of the fourteen year old girl with the seven year mind. They are a serious

CREAMERY MEN IN CONVENTION

Dairy Men See Demonstration of Various Steps of Butter Making.

The annual convention of the Dairymen of Eastern Ontario, commenced Tuesday morning, and will conclude on Thursday. This convention, which formerly was held in Kingston Dairy School, is being here this year, owing to the destruction of the school by fire.

Mr. L. A. Zufelt, superintendent of the Eastern Ontario Dairy School at Kingston, opened the convention with an address of welcome, after which an informal discussion took place on ways and means of improving the butter of Eastern Ontario. A practical demonstration was given in the morning at the Belleville Creamery.

The result of such annual "get acquainted" conventions has not only placed the competing dairymen on more friendly feelings, but has actually improved the butter of Eastern Ontario, prizes having been won by exhibits. The difficulties and successes of the dairymen are thoroughly discussed and remedies prescribed.

Mr. Putman, director of dairy education in Ontario; J. H. Scott, official butter grader for the province; Geo. H. Barr, of Ottawa; and Frank Hearns of London, chief dairy instructor for Western Ontario, are addressing the convention today. Messrs. Scott and Barr have with them samples of butter, to demonstrate the desirable and undesirable products.

The following dairymen are present: E. E. Patterson, Brooklin; F. L. Val leau, Trenton; J. Bogaris, Carleton Place; W. B. Leary, Ottawa; W. W. Dunn, Brooklin; Wm. Finkle, Pembroke; W. E. Kennedy, Brockville; W. S. Blakely, Picton; J. G. Thurtell, Picton; A. Coakell, Trenton; R. McBraker, Trenton; J. O. Tolmage, Kemptville; H. A. Townsend, Brockville; Chas. Thompson, Havelock; J. LOCAL BANKERS WILL NOT GET RID OF GIRL CLERKS Girl Bank Clerks Will Be Retained Here as Managers Find Them Efficient.—Matrimony Often Depletes Femine Staff, Complain Executives.

Are women bank clerks to be dispensed? Will women ultimately be forced to give up the positions gained in commercial institutions during the war? Are questions that have been the cause of considerable discussion since the announcement that several banks had given their female help three months notice. So far only a few temporary banks have been laid off in Toronto and Hamilton.

In a review of the local situation we find that there has not been, or is there likely to be any move in that direction here. All the managers speak well of the work done by the lady clerks, although they are now now employing many girls, owing to the fact that there are plenty of men, they intend keeping those that have gained experience with them as long as their work is satisfactory and they choose to stay.

One of the main drawbacks to the lady banker is the fact that they make a habit of getting higher positions than Teller, or in some cases Assistant Accountant, thus blocking the advancement of the men bank clerks. One manager also complains of the selfishness with which matrimonial affairs rob them of their women clerks, when they are just getting a thorough knowledge of the business.

Another of the difficulties a girl bank clerk meets is the inconvenience in moving from one branch to another as is often necessary. Several banks provide rooms for their men employes who do not live in town. An excellent example of this is the splendid suite of convenient and comfortable rooms provided by the Bank of Commerce.

It is obvious that women cannot be successful housekeepers and bank clerks at the same time, but the way has been her the chance to show what she can do in positions heretofore barred from her, and although the banks may eventually dispense with all female help with the exception of typists and accountants, it is likely that commercial and financial institutions will continue to employ far more women than ever before, previous to the war.

BIG VOTE IS POLLED BY MINISTER IN B. C.

Cranbrook, B.C., March 15.—Figures from 33 polls out of 63 in the by-election in East Kootenay to-day give Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Fed'al Minister of Public Works, 2,320 votes, to 1,860 polled by his Progressive-Labor opponent, H. Brandreth. These figures include complete returns from the principal centres of population, Fernie, Cranbrook, Michel and Golden.

CHAMBER HEARS NOTED SPEECH

Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce Delivers Interesting Lecture.

For genuine instruction and information the speech delivered last night to the manufacturers section of the Chamber of Commerce by Mr. C. H. O'Hara, deputy minister of Trade and Commerce, has seldom had at equal. Mr. O'Hara spoke on the work of his department, and the many-sided activities and his remarks were followed with keen attention by his auditors. Mr. O'Hara is very well known in Belleville.

The speaker first told of the formation of the department of Trade and Commerce, the first minister of which was a Belleville citizen Sir Mackenzie Bowell. From a personel of 10 the staff has now grown to somewhere near 1400 employes. Among the many departments connected with and controlled by the department was the Board of Grain Commissioners at Fort William who employes about 600 men, the Gas and Electric Inspection service, the Government of Weights and Measures and the Exhibits and Publicity Bureau which is carrying on a most successful work in the taking and distribution of Canadian industrial pictures which are being seen by audiences in every country in the world with the exception of Russia.

Mr. O'Hara then turned his attention to the Bureau of Statistics, which he said was one of the finest in the world. He unfolded to his auditors that the Bureau carried on a very vital work despite the fact that the business men of the Dominion were continually being pestered for reports and statistics The Commercial Intelligence branch of the Bureau was then described by the speaker who told the present system of Consular representations as Junior Trade Commissioners These men were all selected by the Civil Service Commission after examinations in properties and in nearly every case were expert linguists. The system of appointment under patronage had been an evil, declared the speaker, that the department now was very well rid of. The appointments were all

VOTE OF CENSURE DEFEATS NORRIS GOVT.

Manitoba Government May Resign Today as Result of the Action of Legislature — Disregarded the House in Motion to Abolish Public Utilities Board.

Winnipeg, Man., March 15.—The Norris Government was defeated on a straight vote of censure resolution and as a result Premier Norris, Governor, Sir James Aikens, returns from Tronto, Premier T. C. Norris will take up the formation of the Government in his hands.

A general election at an early date is inevitable, and the only point in doubt is whether the Lieutenant-Governor will indure the Government to carry on until election arrangements are made or whether he will call upon one of the group leaders to form a government that will do so. In view of the apparent impossibility of any group leader forming a Government that would command a working majority in the House it is considered probable that Sir James Aikens will make an effort to go the Norris administration to power in office until election arrangements are completed. Meanwhile the House stands adjourned till 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

William Robson, leader of the farmer group, may be called on by the Lieutenant-Governor to form a Government. He heads the second largest group in the House, and that being the case, would be first in line for approach by Sir James Aikins in the event of His Honor wanting another Government formed otherwise. Mr. Robson, however, has publicly stated that he would decline the task if asked to undertake it.

Food Value of Raisins

Dried fruits since the time of early civilization have formed an important adjunct to the dietary of many nations, and raisins were always featured in the stores for voyages of the ancient Phoenicians, who were also a part of the barter between them and the Britons. We are indebted to the Orientals for their introduction to the Western world.

The widespread use of this method of preserving grapes by the fact that fruits so prepared were palatable, easily transported, keeped well, furnished a great amount of energy, and nourishment, in a manner not at all understood until within the past decade, contributed generally towards keeping those who consumed them in a state of vigorous health.

When we understood a little more of the nutritive factors involved, it shall not wonder at the ability of the Syrian porter to walk all day under his load of burden after his simple meal of raisins and bread toward.

Raisins are doubtless the best known dried fruit we consume. They are produced by drying thoroughly the ripe grapes from the vines, and then proceeding on trays to be exposed to the warm sunshine.

It is especially worthy of note that only ripe grapes are used for raisins. All of the starch present in the green fruit had been converted into and asserted in nature's laboratory into readily digested sugars including those known as fructose or levulose. Cane sugar (sucrose) is not assimilated as such, but must first be subjected in the digestive tract to a chemical change known as "inversion." In raisins this process is already complete, so in a sense they are predigested; the fructose of grapes will form practically all of the carbohydrates, so a pound of raisins contains on an average 1,600 calories or 13 ounces of this easily digested food.

The edible portion of raisins is the seeded and seedless packed varieties is practically 100 per cent. The analysis of the edible portion as shown by the United States Department of Agriculture, is as follows: Moisture, 14.6 per cent; protein, 2.6 per cent; fat, 4.3 per cent; carbohydrates, 74.1 per cent; mineral matter 3.4 per cent; calories per pound, 1,600.

Since carbohydrates and fats contribute principally to the supply of bodily energy, it will be noted that raisins rank high as energy producers, and, in addition, contribute tissue-forming material of nearly the largest sugar, 2.3 ounces of water; 0.41 ounce of protein, 0.5 ounce fat and 0.54 ounce ash or mineral matters.

The sugars and proteins furnish 1,340 calories per pound, and the fat 4,320, so it can be demonstrated that raisins supply approximately 160 calories of energy for each ounce of food material. In energy values, a pound of raisins is equal to about a pound and a half of loin steak, twenty eggs, or four pounds of potatoes.

In addition to the food factors already mentioned, raisins contain about 2 per cent. of organic acids, which perform a special function in nutrition—that of maintaining the alkali balance of the blood. Since they act in the manner as with the mineral matters, they can be easily considered together. Very few of our foods are so rich in compounds of potassium as are raisins.

Finally, every one likes raisins, because they are appetizing. Their zest is apparent, and their sweetness is not cloying. In combination with other food, they improve its flavor, and materially increase its dietetic value.

Egyptian Whiskers.

What would have been the explanation of black, bushy whiskers on an ancient Egyptian? Historically, socially, customarily, they did not belong there, and yet thus accoutred lay the second mate of a ship found in the Theban necropolis which the Metropolitan Museum's expedition at that place chanced to excavate. It was named Stefamon, "Charioteer to the Generals" and in his coffin was found his whip, broken into three pieces and tied up in the middle. Now in his day, E. R. Winlock explains, horses and chariots had only been used in Egypt, but it was still remembered that they had come there from Asia, and probably the best horses and the most skilful drivers were aliens. The Asiatics always were bearded, so that the Egyptian charioteer, to be in the height of fashion, imitated them. "It makes one think of the days of bobbed and carriage in this country," adds the archaeologist, "when the most stylish coachmen were English, and so those of Yankee birth copied the English side whiskers."

Taste of Mosquitoes.

Careful observations have been made in France of the extent to which mosquitoes are attracted to domestic animals in preference to human beings. It was proved experimentally that mosquitoes have a strong predilection for the blood of rabbits, rather than that of any other domestic animal. This discovery has been practically applied in many parts of France as a protection from mosquitoes, and particularly from those that carry germs of malaria and similar diseases.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

SPARE THE MILK SPOIL THE CHILD

Importance and Value of the Product of the Dairy Cow.

Every family in Canada is vitally concerned in the milk food supplies. Among them milk and milk products are as indispensable in the diet of both child and adult as is bread itself. Referring to child nutrition, Dr. A. J. Amyot, Deputy Minister of Health, recently made the statement that "there are many under-nourished or improperly fed children in this country, whose condition both physical and mental, would be greatly improved by the more liberal use of milk in the diet."

In a pamphlet just issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, entitled "Why and How to Use Milk" of which Miss H. C. Campbell of the Dairy Branch is the author it is stated that milk contains all the requirements for the growth and repair of the body. Milk contains proteins from which to build new cells and repairs worn-out tissues. It contains fat and sugar, which serve as sources of heat and energy for muscular activity, and mineral matter, which have a regulatory effect and enters into the composition of the body, especially as regards the bones and teeth. The deficiencies of other foods are overcome by the use of milk in the diet. When milk is served with cereal, with bread or with other foods which contain poor sides and the nutrients in milk are used, but such other protein is conserved for those tissues which cannot otherwise be wasted. Butter, for which there is no real substitute as a beneficial food, is made from milk and cream is made milk with a large percentage of that soluble fat without which the normal growth and development of the body or of the mental powers are impossible. All the good of the milk is not contained in the cream—far from it. It still contains the protein, mineral matter and vitamines necessary to build bone and make blood. Nor is the food value of milk destroyed when it sours. Made into cottage cheese or clabber it contains as much protein as a pound of meat, and who can deny the deliciousness of sour-milk biscuits or griddle cakes? Buttermilk has a food value equal to that of skim-milk or sour milk, is easily digested and is delightfully refreshing to drink. Condensed milk is useful where fresh milk is not obtainable, but is not suitable as a permanent diet for babies. Evaporated milk will keep indefinitely if sealed, but when uncovered should be used as soon as fresh milk. If given to children, fresh fruit juice should be added to the diet.

One particularly interesting piece of information in Miss Campbell's pamphlet is a description of the manner in which milk may be pasteurized at home, thus being freed of any possible obnoxious germs, with practically no expense and with only a moderate amount of trouble. People who regard ice cream as a mere luxury are mistaken if it is a well made ice cream it may be stated that forty-nine recipes are given in the bulletin referred to for making delicious ice cream, all of which milk is the principal or most important ingredient.

U. S. PACKERS REPORT DEFICITS

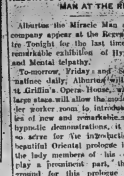

Chicago, March 15.—The annual statement of Wilson & Co., packers, revealing net earnings of profit of $8,443,650 during 1921, was made public yesterday. Including payment of preferred dividends, the deficit for the year was placed at $9,206,360, compared with profits of $1,500,000 in 1920 and $8,000,000 in 1919.

The statement said that while sales totalled fewer dollars in 1921 than in previous years, the tonnage was very nearly the same.

Wilson & Co. was the last of the big five packers to issue a statement, and each company reported a loss for the year. The aggregate deficit of Wilson & Co., Cudahy & Co., Armour & Co., Swift & Co. and Morris & Co. was $71,817,360.

STARTS LIFE ANEW AT 101

Former Oil King Will Attempt to Rebuild Shattered Fortune.

Baku, Azerbaijan, March 15.—At the age of 101 years, Hadji Tagiev, Baku's former oil king, who was ruined by Soviet nationalization of his property, has started to rebuild his fortunes where he began—a stone mason.

Hadji Tagiev is an optimist. "A man lives as long as he can work," he declared and, like a true Mussulman, he continues to dye his white beard brown.

He is using his spare moments in addition to write. For more than 80 years he has figured in many of the business papers by marking his mark with a short stick dipped in ink.

"One paper only—that is the times" he explained to curious friends when the restoration began to take shape.

Tagiev is known to America through his reception in his Baku palace two and a half years ago of the General Pierce Mission to Russia.

RIGHT KIND OF IMMIGRANTS WANTED.

Ottawa begins to take stock of the leakage of immigration, and not too soon. Statistics of the Immigration Department are disquieting. The population of Canada in 1881 was 4,324,810, in 1921 it was 8,784,790. Had the increase been due entirely to natural growth the doubling of the population in forty years would have been most satisfactory. But in the period between 1881 and March 31, 1921, 4,784,790 immigrants entered Canada after declaring their intention to settle in the Dominion, &c.

More than half of them merely used Canada as a halfway house en route to the United States. The Dominion Government must have paid out many millions of dollars in commissions to steamship companies and to agents abroad upon immigrants, many of whom never intended to remain in the country, while many more who might have remained drifted away because conditions across the border appeared to be more inviting.

It is quality in immigration Canada needs rather than quantity. The settlers attracted to the country must be anchored to the land. If they are not the leakage of the past forty years will continue. Representatives of the principal Protestant Churches, in a memorial on immigration submitted to the Prime Minister, urge that the Government shall not only take the responsibility for the reception, distribution, instruction and care of all newcomers, but that it shall also encourage and assist a movement of population away from the congested city centres that will tend to the betterment of living conditions for all.

The right kind of people for Canada are the kind who want to work and till and gain their living from the land.

THE LOCKOUT IN BRITAIN.

Lockouts are much rarer than strikes. One reason for this is that employers in most branches of industry are not so well organized as are the workers, but probably the main reason is that employers realize more fully than do the workers the serious risks incurred in the closing of plants and the suspension of industrial operations.

The big lockout in the British engineering trade appears to be the effect of the employers' determination to stand firmly by the principle of the employer's right to manage his business, on their eyes, apparently, a fundamental principle is at stake, one which they cannot afford to surrender.

And yet the particular question is merely the question of what is overtime. There is a difference in the interpretation of the overtime clause of an agreement. The employers interpret it one way, the workers another. One would suppose that this is just the sort of difference which should be adjusted by a board of arbitration. If the employers decided upon the lockout without making any effort to have the matter in dispute arbitrated, they are to blame.

In claiming the right to exercise managerial control of their own plant, the employers are on strong ground; but he is a wise employer who voluntarily grants to his employees a share in the management. That is the principle of the Whitley council plan, which promised to do so much in the way of promoting harmony and cordial co-operation between capital and labor in Britain.

Do we wish for more inhabitants in Canada? There is no need to import any. Let us take care first to keep at home those who are here; they are already Canadians; let us make life in the country easy for them; let us encourage colonization; let us place at the service of the people of the country the energy and effort expended on bringing strangers here; let us improve the hygienic conditions in which they live. People contented with their lot do not emigrate. It is in this direction our Government should work. The natural increase of population will quickly succeed in giving the country in a few decades permanent citizens, who cling to their native soil. They are the best. But what good to bring here people whose first care is to return to their homes or to get to live in the United States?

Letters to The Editor

Montreal, Que.,
March 19, 1922.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer,

Dear Sir,—I do hope and pray that the present Government's wholly unjust laws be not voted into power by this country will see their way clear to amend the criminal code, so that the purpose of abolishing the death penalty in this growing nation.

In my opinion, the law as it stands to-day, comes in direct conflict with Christianity. We are safe in saying that capital punishment is a direct contravention of the teachings of our Lord and Master, a usurpation of power that no nation can justify, a rebellious defiance of the Saviour who sends upon this earth to teach mercy, truth and forgiveness.

No country can ever hope to prosper which retains capital punishment on its statute books. Capital punishment and Christianity can no longer march shoulder to shoulder. We are hoening to the parting of the ways. Christianity objects to capital punishment because the Lord Himself condemned it.

Legalized killing must go. It is the only form of crime decried the individual, but preserved in the person of the State. Murder is in the eye of the law, a crime if committed by a private citizen, but a virtue if committed by the State, rather than the individual, is responsible.

Capital punishment is a statement: "Thou Shalt Not-Kill" applies to the State as well as the individual—that impudent, unwarranted assumption of thunder. It leaves no room for debate or doubt; it is succinct, positive, clear, and comes to us from the Father. The command is still here, old, but ever new, immutable, impregnable, admitting no space for quibbling, or dissembling.

"Vengeance is Mine, I will repay, saith the Lord." Theoretically, we still believe in the latter statement. We think that he who takes the life of another will suffer for it. We trust and, we are impatient with the Lord's slowness; we desire to expedite matters, to help Him, so, by making the offender to his doom as quickly as can decently be done—so we have him. The Lord's method is tremendously laudable, could we exhibit the badge of a Divine Deputy-Sheriff; but lacking this, it is presumptuous meddling with the affairs of the Almighty, and raises the question whether we are not collectively responsible for the sin we undertake we hang. And if we analyze our feeling or revenge which is without reason, the effect is savage and primal, differing little from the motive of the murderer himself.

The abolishment of capital punishment is an appeal to man's better nature, not his baser; to his reason, not his passion; to his thought, not to his prejudice; to his hope for the future, and not his pitiful blindfold reverence for the customs of a dark and superstitious past.

Capital punishment is unjust to the criminal; he has no chance to reform. He is sent into eternity regardless of whether his soul is saved or not. It is unfair to his family; it disgraces them and robs them of any means of support. If you doubt it, ask any one who has known of a family where the parent has been hanged, and knows how they have been hounded from one city to another. Capital punishment makes no allowance for varying degrees of guilt. It is irrevocable. It is wrong in principal. The State has no right to take life. Killing by a group of people is no more right than killing by one person. We claim that the Law of Moses, "Thou Shalt Not Kill" applies to the State as well as the individual. The same arguments for capital punishment were formerly advanced for torture. Statistics show that murderers have decreased in the countries and States which have abolished capital punishment. Life imprisonment is better. It is more effective as a deterrent. Conviction is more certain, and it is the certainty, rather than the nature of the punishment which deters. Its duration makes it a more severe punishment. It offers adequate protection to society. It prevents murderers from committing new crimes.

Yours truly,

R. BICKERDIKE.

SILLY SORTS OF ENVY

By BYRON STAUFFER.

Are you jealous of fools

Charles Kingsley said that his greatest handicap was admiring, envying and even following men who were really his inferiors.

Young Arthur Wellesley so admired a mediocre cousin across Ireland's shire that he was for a time tempted to throw up his military course for a wee place in the civil service.

Thomas Carlyle envied the stone mason work of his father and sighed as he declared, "A noble craft, that of stone mason. A wall will outlast a book." But he knew not that his Essays will outlive even the sturdy walls of Scotland's noblest castle.

When I saw the young farm-hands driving in camp-meeting, proudly swaying from side to side in their new top-buggies, with ribbons on their horsewhips, dusters on their laps and, above all, a shy but elated milkmaid by their side, I was tempted to ask father to allow me to abandon my studies at school in town. And to be perfectly candid, there have, ever since, been times when I, who have gone to town would gladly change places with any prosperous Waterloo County farmer. But my reason comprehending days the mental conflict lay between a horse and buggy, a few ribbons and a sweetheart and, on the one hand and an education won by self-sacrifice on the other.

"I was envious at the foolish," quoth the pathetic. A high school principal and the father of a bright lad were wondering why the boy had ended his days learning from the fifteenth place in the class. They found the reason in a new chum, an attractive but lazy, indolent fellow, whose motto was "What's the use?" and whom the lad was worshipping as a god.

A silly young woman became petulant with her plodding-beau because he wouldn't spend his all for a platinum and diamond wrist-watch ring, as her chum's fiance had done. He was well advised in deciding to buy no ring at all.

A young man had a position of splendid prospects for advancement, but which necessitated close application all afternoon on Saturdays. All his chums had the half-day off. They had lower salaries and poorer outlook. One Saturday morning in August he sent down word that he was ill and could not take the Niagara boat with his merry companions. The first man he met at Niagara-on-the-Lake was the boss!

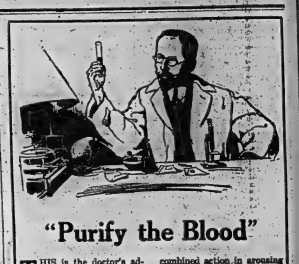

Are you jealous of the ostentatious display? Do you envy the man who puts all his goods in the show window? Do you begrudge that man his big house, four times too large for his little family? He can sleep in only one bed at a time, bathe in one bath tub, lounge in one room. Why envy him

ORDER BRITISH STEAMER SEIZED NOW RUN-RUNNING

Fort Pierce, Fla., March 15.—Telegraphic instructions have been forwarded for the seizure by customs officials of the British steamer Dearson Baby on charges of smuggling liquor into the United States through the port of Boston, provided officials on the ground are sure of the facts, it was said here by Attorney-General Daugherty to-day while here with President Harding.

MUNICIPAL FORESTS

The latest municipality to announce its intention of reforesting a tract of land under the Ontario Government scheme is Ontario county, which is the first county east of York county, of which later Toronto is the county town. This county extends from Lake Ontario on the south to the northern border of Manitoba district on the north, a distance of about ninety miles. At its last session the County Council decided to take up the reforestation of about seven hundred acres situated in the township of Uxbridge.

"Purify the Blood"

THIS is the doctor's advice to most people whose blood he analyzes at this season of the year.

Overeating of artificial foods, combined with too little outdoor exercise, leaves the human system clogged with poisonous impurities.

The liver is torpid, the bowels constipated and the kidneys so overworked that they become ineffective as filters of the blood.

The most rational treatment is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills because of their combined action in arousing these filtering and excretory organs to healthful activity.

Mrs. Albert Bruce, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I must say Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months have helped me afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two boxes and received great relief this, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box has done me a world of good better. I have now used three boxes and am completely cured. I shall always recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and tell my friends about the benefit they have been to me."

PITABLE WRECK SAVED FROM EARLY GRAVE

"I couldn't sleep, my nerves were all unstrung, I was steadily losing weight."

"My husband is a mechanic and nerve wreck. We have six children to keep, the care of seven and fifteen dollars husband and myself have denied ourselves many things in order to give our children the best schooling we could afford. I have often stayed up all night to mend clothes for them or doing mending for other folks. I always done the washing and ironing for the eight of us. I also do my washing and iron the cooling. The outcome of this was that I was down and out, a physical wreck, being could stand or so walks down. I became a complete nerve wreck. I was reduced to a skeleton. I was in such a run down, high strung condition that the slightest thing would start me on a crying fit which I couldn't control. My daughter, seven years old, left school from school to help in the housework because I couldn't do anything as the least exertion left me in a frenzy. I was the finest example of a complete nervous breakdown you ever saw. Everything was trying with me—couldn't sleep, didn't want to eat, had that awful crying feeling which I cannot describe but every one I spoke to about by those who have had it. They all said that I was ready to go anything that was going. I tried everything that was recommended but did me any good. One day my husband came in and read about a preparation in a drug store called Carbol. He thought it would do me good so I got it. I started taking Carbol and was doing more than I had ever done before and was feeling stronger than I ever felt in my life," Mrs. T. 9.123

MAKING YOUR OWN SOAP

I have received several letters from my Column Readers quizzing me on soap-making. The thrifty housekeeper saves all her beef suet, mutton tallow and pork fat until she has about a pailful, then she renders it out and "tries it out"—that is, melts it—in a pan in the oven or in the top of her cooker. She then strains the hot melted grease through a piece of cheesecloth laid in a wire strainer, pressing the scraps with a spoon to extract all the fat possible. To the liquid she adds twice its bulk of warm water and 1 tablespoon of salt, to put this over the fire. When it has boiled for five minutes, she lets it stand in a cool place till cold, then scrapes the cake floating on the surface, and this is now carefully removed from the pail and stored in a cool place till there is enough more "tried out" fat to add to this and make soap. Allow 3 pounds of fat to a pail of water, to collect before making your soap. The formula on the can of lye should be followed exactly, using 1 can of lye to each 3 pounds of fat, but many housekeepers declare that they obtain more satisfactory results from using five pounds of fat to each of the lye.

The first step is to turn the contents of one can of concentrated lye into an old pot (not an aluminum one) and add 1 quart of warm water, the lye will become quite hot and should be allowed to cool before the fat is added to it.

While the lye is cooling, begin melting your five pounds of fat. When lukewarm it should be added to the cool lye. Stir with a long stick while you add the fat. Do not at any time touch the lye with your hands, as it will burn the skin.

Now pour on the hot of lye will stir you simply to combine lye and fat in get good soap; but the cleansing power of the soap as well as the color will be much improved if you also add cup of household ammonia and one small cup of borax. Then stir 20 minutes or until thick and pasty, and turn into pasteboard shoe-boxes. Before pouring the mixture into these boxes and the boxes in the sun as air—so that they will not have to be moved after the soap has been put in them. So hand-air whiten and harden the soap. In about one hour the soap will be solid enough to cut into cakes, but it should then be left overnight before being taken from the boxes.

The secret of good soap-making lies in combining the right amount of fat with the right amount of lye. Too much fat makes a greasy soap, and too much lye an acid soap. To be satisfied of great—scraps saved here and there from mutton tallow pork fat and beef suet—make it difficult for the housekeeper to strike the exact proportion of lye to add—but the above directions generally result in a soap that is at least useable. In soap-making, as in everything else, experience is necessary for perfect success. So, if you fail this time, Bride Readers, don't give up, for you will succeed next time.

Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

THE MOST DANGEROUS CREATURE

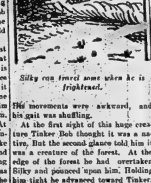

Silky was not very much interested in Warty, the Hog, so he took a little journey into the dense forest near by. Now he always was a curious fellow anyway, and his curious nature had more than once gotten him into trouble. But then Silky was not alone curious. I am very sure that many other creatures are curious also, and sometimes they are sorry for it too. Well Silky was usually sorry after it was too late.

The forest was so thick that the sun never did shine upon the ground. The trees were tall and their branches interwove. After Silky had proceeded some distance he found that it was really dark in the forest. He did not get very far, however, till there was something strange occurred over his head. He thought the forest was trembling in from the top. Such a noise he never heard. It was a good thing that he was not far from Tinker Bob and Tim, the Elephant. For, had he been a great way off, he never would have gotten to safety.

Out of the forest he started as fast as he could go, and you know that Silky can travel some when he is frightened. He leaped over fallen trees and swung under low branches. But it seemed to him that there was something after him. In fact it seemed to him that the whole forest was after him. Such a noise he had never heard. At first it sounded like the cry of a hundred monkeys and then it sounded like the cry of a thousand monkeys and then it didn't sound like anything that he had ever heard. On he went as fast as he could, knowing that the creature or what ever it was, was gaining on him.

Presently he reached the edge of the forest and saw Tim and Tinker Bob coming. He felt better, of course, but even then the danger was not over, for out of the forest came the most dangerous creature that has ever been known to man. Yes, more dangerous than the King Lion himself.

Now you are trying to guess who it is that could be so dangerous as that? Well, the creature that Tinker Bob saw for the first time in his life was about six feet tall and had dark-brown and black hair all over him. He stood up and walked on two feet. His face was black and his arms were long.

Silky ran timed some when he is frightened.

His movements were awkward, and his gait was shuffling.

At the first sight of this huge creature Tinker Bob thought it was a native, But the second glance told him it was a creature of the forest. At the edge of the forest he had overtaken Silky and pounced upon him. Holding him tight he advanced toward Tinker Tim, seeing this fellow recognized him and cried to the King to get out of the way quickly for he was the most dangerous fellow in the whole forest. But Tinker Bob was not afraid, for he was it that took Silky in this manner?

ANNUAL MEETING NEXT MONDAY

Central League Will Hold All Important Meeting at Oshawa.

Many amendments to the Central League constitution will be discussed at the annual meeting in Oshawa next Monday. Among the most important is one from the Lindsay Club proposing that the one-umpire system be adopted.

The schedule committee, consisting of Jack Cosgrove suggests that the Central League residences be changed from May 15th to March 1st to take effect this season, while Secretary John. G. Noble proposes that commencing next season the resident rule in January 1st to comply with the O. H. A. requirements. The Secretary has a long list of amendments, including one for the appointing of an official scorer by each club, whose duty it shall be to mail a box score of each home game to the league. Included in the amendment does not provide for any payment to the official scorer, probably an oversight on the part of the Secretary.

The salaries paid to umpires will also be discussed at the meeting. Two amendments have been submitted. Last year umpires received $15 and expenses per game. Mr. Chester of Oshawa, now submits the following: "The umpires shall be paid at the rate of eight dollars per game, plus mileage which shall be paid by the Treasurer of the Central Ontario League and no umpire shall travel upon each club to cover same. John Nott, last year's secretary, submits another amendment that "Umpires shall be paid at the rate of $7 a game and expenses, the latter to be computed at 1½c a mile each way, the minimum charge to be $4.

Another suggestion has been made by Mr. Erais Parsons, first vice president of the Central League, was to form an intermediate series consisting of teams from Oshawa, Whitby, Bowmanville and Orono, with a view to developing senior players and creating interest generally.

SCRAP IRON

DECISION FOR LYNCH

Providence, R.I., March 14.—When Referee Phil Powers of Boston gave Jim Lynch of New York, former bantamweight champion, the decision after a terrific 15-round battle with Terry Martin of this city here last evening, the crowd showed its dissatisfaction by staging a near-riot. Police escorted the referee from the ring. Martin scored a knockdown in the initial session, and, in the opinion of local newspapermen, carried seven of the twelve rounds.

In the semi-finals Billy Harman, Boston, won from Jimmy Kirks, New York, when the referee stopped the fight in the eighth round. Harman won all the way.

FRED FULTON KAYOES HOLLAND

Philadelphia, March 14—Fred Fulton, Minnesota heavyweight, last night knocked out Jim Holland, Baltimore, in the sixth round of a scheduled eight-round bout. Fulton floored Holland four times in the first round but the Baltimorean come back strong in the second round and was on even terms until the knockout blow, a left hook to the jaw. Mickey Walker, Newark, N.J., won from Jack Palmer, Philadelphia, on a foul in the fifth round.

Worcester, Mass., March 15.—Kid Lee, of Worcester, was a decision over Young Grudwell, of Boston in a ten-round bout last night. Lee weighed 141, Grudwell, 138.

AURA LEE JUNIORS DEFEAT McGILL, 9-4

Toronto, March 15.—Aura Lee Junior O.H.A. champions, defeated McGill Juniors, 9 to 4, at the Arena last night, and won the all Eastern title. The victory qualified Bill Marsden's lads for the John Ross Robertson Cup semi-finals, and they leave to-day for Fort William where they will play a sudden-death game with the G. W. V. A. team, Thunder Bay champions. If Aura Lee win this game they will go on to Winnipeg for the finals, which will be played on Monday and Wednesday of next week.

GREB NOT FAVORED TO MEET DEMPSEY

Must First Prove His Class by Meeting Georges Carpentier.

New York, March 15.—The subject for debate by boxing fans this morning is "How far has Harry Greb's victory over Tom Gibbons advanced the Pittsburg boxer in his aspirations for a match with Jack Dempsey?"

This question is bringing out a wide difference of opinion, and consequently more controversy. The majority of the sport writers of the morning papers do not appear to consider the Pittsburger to be a very serious possibility for the heavyweight championship.

"Last Monday's affair was all very well in its way, but Greb must defeat Georges Carpentier before he will be entitled to demand a bout with Dempsey."

Jack Dempsey sat at the ringside. At the finish he said it was the best fight he had ever seen and that Greb is "a wonderful ring man."

HARD LUCK ROBBED DEGAN OF PERFECT SCORE AT TOLEDO

Toledo, O., March 15.—Joe Degan of Buffalo, in his third game in the two-man event in yesterday's American Bowling Congress classic toppled 299 pins. No. 6 pin wavered on his last ball, but stood up and robbed him of a perfect score. Degan teamed with his brother, Christy, in this event and rolled into first place with a score of 1,297 in the three games. Scores were; 246, 429 and 632.

MONTAGNADDS WILL GET GRANITES

Ottawa, March 14.—Montagnards of Ottawa defeated the Sons of Ireland at Ottawa here to-night in the first game up against the Granites Thursday night in the semi-finals for the Allan Cup. The Ottawa Frenchmen ran up a total score of 7 to 2 in the home-and-home games against the Irishmen from the Ancient Capital. The match here was played on soft, slushy ice, and little idea could be formed as to the relative merits of the teams. Making allowances for conditions, the locals will have to put up a much stronger game to hold their own against the O.H.A. defenders.

The athletes now are warming up
In Dixie training camps,
To trim the field from throwing arms
And shine up batting lamps.

The scribes will spin a thousand yarns
About young So-and-So,
They'll rave about the way he bats
Can hit and field and throw.

Each manager will win the flag,

FARMER WITHIN AN ACE OF MEETING VIOLENT DEATH

Kingston, March 13.—Edward McLaughlin, a farm hand employed by Chester Cowan, of Kilburnie, came within an ace of meeting a violent death while working at a sawmill on the Cowan farm. He was engaged in sawing wood, the power being provided by a powerful gasoline engine. The belt flew off the engine and McLaughlin ran to replace it despite the warnings of his companions to keep away. He was caught in the belt and was being rapidly drawn towards the revolving shaft that would have certainly meant a horrible death. He was unable to extricate himself from the belt, but Mr. Cowan succeeded in throwing off the power in time to save his life. He was brought to the Kidal Hea in Kingston, and is suffering from cuts and bruises and shock.

BELLEVILLE BOY RUNS FOR PRESIDENT

Gordon Robertson Nominated for High Office at Toronto University.

The Intelligencer has received a copy of the "Varsity" an election bulletin issued by the undergraduates of the University of Toronto. It contains the gratifying news that Gordon Robertson, a well - known Belleville boy has been nominated for the presidency of the U. C. Literary and Athletic Society.

In an alleged interview with the candidate the paper has this to say of Mr. Robertson: "Approached by a committee of his fellow undergraduates, S. Gordon Robertson, President of the Junior Year, University College, has accepted the nomination for President of the U. C. Literary and Athletic Society. Though first in the field for the honours it is a safe guess to say that he will be the last out of it. Mr. Robertson has many, if not all the qualifications for this office including a goodly sum of Personality Cash, with which he bites off his words with great precision and effect.

"Gordon is being able to reproduce a very recent picture of the modern snapped while presiding over a mass meeting of the year. The President was unaware of the photographer's presence and constantly looks a little tired and retired.

Mr. Robertson has two serious purposes in seeking the honour—to Belleville at the mid-year during the summermonths till the snows come again and the town can turn out another Intercollegiate hockey team; and second to put the old Lit and the new Athletic Society of U.C. at the top of the slats as a reasonable university organizations.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

For some months I had been studying a book just published, entitled "Unimaginable Sound-Band," and had learned its alphabet and practiced its exercises. I had also read and known the remarks of Mr. Hackett in soundband.

The academy chapel was crowded with the older boys and girls and the teachers. The speaker never slipped his words in school as he was wont to do when talking familiarly with the children.

"When the leaves fell our little village has occupied the center of the stage before an audience of millions in the great theatre of congress. Unleading citizen—the chief actor—has been crowned with immortal fame. We who watched the play were thrilled by the query: 'Will Uncle Sam yield to temptation or cling to honor?' He has chosen the latter course and we may still hear the applause in distant quarters beyond the sea. He has decided that the noble reverence must be paid in honest money.

"My friend and classmate, George Bancroft, the historian, has written this letter to me out of a full heart:

"'Your fellow townsman, Elihu Wright, is now the largest figure in Washington. We were all worrying for fear the genius of Jerry Clay until it began to crumble under the irresistible attack of Mr. Wright. On the 16th he electrified a report upon it which for lucid and accurate statement presented in the most unpretending manner was universal admiration and will be the foundation for the intrinsic excellence and for having achieved one of the most memorable victories ever gained in the United States senate. Mr. Wright has made Clay himself dwarfed by the irresistible force of argument in the report and has left the question of fiat money in the gutter, where it belongs. The resolution having been rejected by a vote of 64 to 1.'

With what pride and joy I heard of this great thing that my friend had accomplished!

Going out with the crowd that evening I met Sally and Ben Hunt of Dunkelberg. The latter did not speak to me and when I asked Sally if I would walk home with her she answered curtly, "No, thank you."

I have got a bit ahead of my history. Soon after the opening of the new year—ten days or so later it may have been—I had begun to feel myself becoming a new and strange man. It was a feeling as intangible as heat, but as real as fire and more terrible, it seemed to me, to bear. I felt it like the attitude of my play fellows. They decided me the conductor and when Miss Henry Wills had taken a leading part. The invisible, inaudible, mysterious thing wrought a great change in me. It followed me through the day and lay down with me at night. I wondered what I had done. I carefully surveyed myself daily. They looked all right to me. My character was certainly no worse than it had been. How it preyed upon my peace and rest and happiness—that mysterious hidden thing!

One day Sally Dunkelberg came down to see me and I walked through the village with him. We met Mr. Dunkelberg, who merely nodded and hurried along. Mr. Bridges, the merchant, did not greet him warmly and chat with him as he had been wont to do. I saw that The Thing—as I have come to think of it—was following him also. How it darkened his face! How even it can feel the aching of the dogs, bloodless wounds of that day, I could hear it better alone. We were trying to hide our pain from each other when we met each other. How strange my uncle turned away and walked toward the church! He can name rarely in the village of Canton after that.

May had returned—a warm bright May. I had entered my seventeenth year and the work of the farm was fascinating.

Having nothing to do one afternoon, I walked out on the road toward Ogdensburg for a look at the woods and fields. Soon I thought that I heard the sound of galloping hoofs behind me. I looked back and I saw Sally coming the turn by the river and coming forward me at full speed, the mane of her pony flying back to her face. She pulled up beside me just as I had imagined she would do.

"Bart, I hain't somebody terrible," said she.

"What?"

"I say, who is coming to our house on the stage today. Granny Barnes is trying to get up a match between me and Ben Hunt. I'm rich and hopes he will want to marry me. I got mad about it. He is four years older than I am. Isn't that awful? I am going to be just as mean and hateful to him as I can."

"I guess they're only fooling you," I said.

"No, they mean it. I have heard them talking it over.

"He comes to-morrow you."

"Why?"

It seemed to me that the time had come for me to speak out, and with bursting cheeks I said:

"Because that God has sacrificed you to me already. Do you remember when we kissed each other by the wheel field one day last summer?"

"Yes."

We had faced about and were walking back toward Canton, I clean by the pony's side.

"May I kiss you again?"

She stopped the pony and leaned toward me and our lips met in a kiss like the thought of which makes me lay down my pen and bow my head a moment while I think with reverence of that pure sweet maiden of seventeen to whose waters I love to wash my spirit.

CHAMBER HEARS NOTED SPEECH

given a special training in their particular line of work being sent overseas to represent Canada. The staff has been praised by many for its work and had now achieved a high state of efficiency.

M.G.Hiers presided with the manufacturers to give the department cooperation in every respect and in one respect more than any other and that was in keeping the shipment of goods up to sample. The Canadian Trade Commissioners were trying to do their utmost to bring trade to the Dominion. He told of one case in Australia where a Canadian Commissioner had switched a $425,000 order to Canada that was originally intended for a firm in the United States. But the Trade Commissioner had to have the support of the manufacturers in keeping up this good work and the manufacturer's end was simply to keep his good up to sample. "Keep your shipments up to the letter or representation," said Mr. O'Hara even to the color of the label".

A motion of thanks on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce was moved by Mr. Jamieson Bone and seconded by Mr. W. B. Deacon. The thanks of the Chamber assembly was conveyed to the distinguished visitor by Pres. H. F. Kelcheson, who presided.

RUSSIAN RELIEF FUND.

Belleville will be the first city in Canada to have a kitchen named in its honor.

True, Ennis is out to be the first, and starting, but Belleville is near the top with more than one and a half hundred dollars, which will surely be collected tomorrow.

The men of the Canada Cement plant were very generous in their collection and sent a check in for one hundred and twenty-seven dollars and eighty cents, made up from collections running from $1.00 to 5.00. If other industries in the city will make an effort similar to this, Belleville will go over the top tomorrow, and pictures of our schools, churches and lovely streets will hang in the Belleville kitchen in the name of district of Russia, which has been assigned to Canada by Great Britain, and where 1924 bushels of wheat will be fed every day till harvest time through the kindness of Belleville citizens.

Any wishing to send in checks to assist in getting Belleville "over the top" will please send same in form of "Save the Children Fund" to Mr. John Elliott, Treasurer, at the Standard Bank, or drop same in, and they will count at their own bank, which will be acknowledged by Miss Pearson.

DR. PRINCE ISSUES REPORT ON FAMOUS ANTIGONISH GHOST

BEAUTIES OF MADEIRA VIVIDLY DESCRIBED

Mr. D. V. Sinclair Describes One of the Beauty Spots of the Old World—Many Curious Customs and Conditions Noted—Once the Home of Christopher Columbus.

The Daily Intelligencer takes pleasure in reproducing the following letter from Mr. D. V. Sinclair. It is the second of a series which The Intelligencer has arranged to publish on the European trip of Mr. Sinclair and family.

Cadiz, Feb. 28th, 1922.

Seven days ago I wrote you giving some impressions of my visit to Las Palmas and the Grand Canary Island.

Since then I have visited Madeira and Lisbon where we spent three days and now are in the beautiful city of Cadiz, one of the oldest cities of Europe. While any of the places would suggest material for many letters, there are good reasons why I wish to turn back one week and tell you something of the picturesque city of Madeira, a place of real importance long before Columbus found the New World of America. It is said by some that Madeira was known to the Romans, who secured vegetable dyes from them and called them the Purple Islands.

The Madeira Islands have an area of less than four hundred square miles with a population of over 150,000 of about 375 persons to the square miles. This will help one to understand how the city of Madeira is maintained.

The Public Buildings are massive. The parks and squares are in keeping with the general beauty design of the city, which built as it is on the mountain side, presents a real picture as one approaches from the water. While the people of Madeira are Portuguese and the people of the Canary Islands are Spanish; a stranger is apt to think of these two groups of islands as being peopled by the same people, their customs and methods of dress, homes, agricultural, business and commercial pursuits being the same. The one called as a medium of travel is more in evidence in Madeira than in the Canary Islands, in fact in the former place a yoke of oxen hitched to a heavy cartained and highly decorated sled is all that is required for a bridal or wedding procession.

As an evidence of the popularity of the conveyance I will relate a very funny experience we had, "a the passengers of the Empress of France approached the landing pier we noticed hundreds of the ox-sleds awaiting to drive us about the city and as I stepped on the pier and landing was charged to a point about a quarter of a mile away. As our small party turned to make the trip we noticed at times ox-sleds turned at once and away they all went amid the greatest shouting I had ever heard. I was left kind of a race and with curtains flying and oxen, men and boys running. As we as well as I were the only two not members for many years to come.

Beautiful Drives

After visiting the nearby points of interest we proceeded to securing a large auto, in which six of us together with a native who had spent several years in Boston, set out upon one of the most wonderful drives I ever expect to experience. We drove about for several world renowned drives away

BUTTER GRADERS IN CONVENTION

Various Butter Samples Before the Dairymen at Wednesday Session.

The dairymen continued their convention on Wednesday afternoon in the Council Chamber. Mr. George H. Barr, chief butter grader for the Dominion, and Mr. J. H. Scott, official grader for the province of Ontario addressed the dairymen and gave them samples of Ontario prize butter, Danish, Australian and New Zealand commercial butter. As far as the samples of Danish butter went, it will be no source of worry to the butter makers of Ontario, but the Australian and more particularly the New Zealand product is certainly excellent and reflects credit upon the dairymen of Ontario prize butter made from choice, selected cream.

When New Zealand butter comes into Canada and competes with our prices as No. 1 butter, it is then our further action towards more perfect butter by the dairy men of this country. A more perfect system of grading was urged by the two speakers who stated that Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Ontario were the only provinces in the Dominion where grading was not carried out to the letter. In New Brunswick it is compulsory for dairymen to grade their butter.

The New Zealand butter was an excellent sample, with a fine flavour, texture and rather moist but the Danish product was a pale, and sticky composition which was not so pleasing to the taste. The Ontario butter was of excellent quality also. The convention concluded on Thursday.

EXPLODING LANTERN DESTROYS BARN

Cow, Pigs, and Hens Victims of the Devouring Element.

The exploding of a lantern was on Tuesday night responsible for the destruction of the barn of Murray Tow-plied, causing a blaze which could not be extinguished.

Mr. Osterhout succeeded in rescuing all the live stock from the barn except one pig pen adjoining the barn was also destroyed. Some implements were unfortunately burned, also a few hens which were in a coop near by, and which was burned.

The loss to Mr. Osterhout is a rather serious one, and the entire contents of the barn were destroyed. As the contents there was an insurance which will nearly cover the loss. The fire saved for a considerable distance and fortunately burned, also a few hens neighbors visited the scene.

TAX RETURNS COMING FAST

Precaution of Sending Out Forms Early Makes Big Difference.

RETURN SYSTEM

Workings of the Tax Explained by Local Office Chief.

Mr. W. L. Doyle, income tax inspector, when interviewed by The Intelligencer this morning, stated that the returns are coming in rapidly, accompanied by the cheques for 1921 income tax, owing to the fact that the forms were sent out early this year. The response of the taxpayers is very gratifying. March 31st is the last day for employers making returns of employees paid at the rate of $1000 per year and over) corporations' return of dividends paid to shareholders, to make returns. Executors of estates must also make returns of the estate on this 'date, showing the distribution to the beneficiaries. The office has one month in which these various returns are posted in a record of each individual's concern, so that when the time for making individual, and corporation returns of income arrives (April 29,) the assessing staff is prepared to commence assessing. The returns of a number of individuals and corporations should be filed on this date, at least 25 per cent. of the total of the company the return, and the balance payable in bi-monthly instalments, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. Where no payment is made, or where payment is not sufficient to cover instalments, there is additional interest at the rate of 4 per cent. charged.

The office will be rushed towards May 1st, so it will be wise to come now for best attention. After May 1st it is a slow process, checking, investigating and assessing returns. All assessments made, must receive the approval of the Commissioner of Taxation at Ottawa. Interim receipts are issued from evening time immediate payments, but a further, final receipt is issued when the assessments have been approved and additional payments, if any, are made. Additional payments cover assessments made by taxpayers who discovered by the assessors on reviewing the returns. If it is found that the taxpayer has paid more than he should, a rebate cheque is issued with the final receipt. Persons paying in full at the time of filing returns, naturally receive first consideration.

Local Office Ready.

The local office is in splendid shape to meet the rush, as the staff have practically all cleared up. Although there are 30,000 returns on file, they are reviewed every day and kept systematically, nothing being left to chance.

When the cashier in the local office accepts the cheque, an interim receipt is issued, and the amount is posted in the ledger. A duplicate of the interim receipt is given to the taxpayer, one left on file and one forwarded to Ottawa with the returns. Postal moneies are cleared each day from the office. The file with the triplicate receipt is passed on to the clerk in charge of index card records, the return is reported as having been received, and filed by the filing clerk. After May 1st, when the records have been prepared ready for the returns deliveries, paid wages received, produce sold, etc., on to the record card of the individual; a duplicate of the record card is placed with the return, and passed back to the assessor, who has performed the return, also the record card, from which he checks the individual return. If there is any point not clear or any discrepancies, he gets in touch with the taxpayer and straightens the matter out. The assessment is then made, and one copy of the return forwarded to Ottawa for approval. When this approval is received, a bill is sent the taxpayer for the unpaid balance, if any. If the taxpayer's return is equal to the assessor's findings, a final receipt is forwarded to him, but if the taxpayer has overpaid, a receipt for the reduced amount is sent him and also a cheque covering the balance.

GEESE FLY NORTH EARLIEST IN YEARS

Woodstock, Ont., March 16.—A flock of about 30 wild geese sailed over the city yesterday, on their way to the Northland. They settled for a time on a strip of water to defendit of the city and local hunters were soon on the way. The birds, however, took their departure before the arrival of the hunters. The "doldiners" state this is the earliest they remember wild geese moving north.

HORTICULTURE HEAD DISMISSED AT COUNCIL

Discharge of Prof. Crow Leads to Sharp Reply to President.

Guelph, Ont., March 16.—The trouble in the Horticultural Department here broke out afresh in a new form yesterday when an announcement was made by Prof. J. W. Crow, head of the department since 1918, that he had been dismissed from the college staff by President J. B. Reynolds. The dismissal will take effect on May 31 next. Several days ago Prof. Crow stated that he had been asked to resign, but said that he had no intention of handing it in. Refusal on his part to do so has apparently resulted in the dismissal being given him. Since announcement was first made that Prof. Crow that been asked to resign, no statement has been made to air the O.A.C. troubles in the legislature, but little light was thrown on the subject. Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, stating in answer to questions that Professor Reynolds was head of the institution and he alone as responsible for discipline there.

WHEAT BOARD WANTED BACK

Delegation from Canadian Council of Agriculture Waits on Premier.

Ottawa, March 16—The request of a delegation from the Canadian Council of Agriculture for the reestablishing of the Canadian Wheat Board will be referred to the agricultural committee of the House of Commons. This was the answer given by Premier King, after a conference with the delegates lasting nearly two hours and Council yesterday before two o'clock yesterday afternoon.

During the conference, the absolute necessity for reestablishing the Board was stressed by the delegates, who insisted that the need for it was imperative to prevent the farmers' wheat be saved. J. A. Maharg informed the Premier and members of the Cabinet present, Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior; Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Trade and Commerce; and Hon. W. E. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, that the acreage sown in Saskatchewan this year would be reduced unless the farmers were assured that the Board would be re-established. Unless the Wheat Board was re-established, Provincial Governments of the West might have to take drastic action to protect the farmers.

WORK BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Splendid Progress is Being Made by Girls' Welfare Organization.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Plans Formulated for Summer Camp of Girls in Training.

The annual meeting of the Belleville Girls' Work Board for the election of officers and general business, was held in the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday evening. Miss Robina Templeton in the chair.

The annual report of the board was read by the secretary, Miss Henrietta Fenn. Briefly, this told of the meetings held during the year and of the promotion and advisory work continuously carried on in the Sunday School of the city. Nearly all of these Sunday Schools are actively represented on the board by two officially appointed leaders of girls. Some outstanding activities of these groups are Canadian Girls in Training and Organized Sunday School Classes were cited: A Mother and Daughter Banquet, Chaw, several successful dramatic ventures, sales of homemade cakes, candies, Chaw work, and one of the most original and valuable) the beginning of a Social Survey of the city among the girls of Belleville. The report having already been read at the successful Social Service Banquet in Bridge Church in February, was adopted as read.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Miss Nina Yeomans.

Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Frank Bristol.

Sec.-Treas.—Miss Robina Templeton.

A matter of the first importance to all represented was then discussed thoroughly and definite steps taken towards its realization—A Canadian Girls' in Training Camp for the girls of Belleville. Excellent and experienced leadership will be available, and it was unanimously carried that such camp under adequate supervision be held in preference to the ordinary summer camps under already prominent denominational leadership. The detailed arrangements for this were placed in the hands of a committee composed of Miss Harriett McFetish, Miss Henrietta Fenn, and Miss Nina Yeomans.

On the matter of a Mother and Daughter Banquet for all C.G.I.T. girls it was then taken up and it was decided to hold this on the Monday following Mothers' Day, the first week of May. Mrs. Nayler, Mrs. Bristol and Mrs. Peck were left in charge of arrangements.

The financial report was read and adopted and attention called to the Social Book Shelf which is now established in the Y.M.C.A. conference room. Here the Y.M.C.A. conference room. Here the splendid selection of valuable books on leadership of girls and supplying material for story-telling, nature study, geography, physical training, study-methods, etc., may be taken out and so on. These will be added to from time to time, and are at the service of all teachers of girls in the Sunday Schools of the city.

The meet-ng was then adjourned.

MUST REMAIN IN CUSTODY

Justice Meredith So Orders in Case of Foreigners Convicted Here.

Some time ago Stanley George and S. Marasoff, two foreigners, were convicted here for being implicated in the illegal manufacture of liquor. A term of imprisonment was imposed, and Mr. Mikel, K.C., who defended the accused has been making efforts to have the accused liberated on bail pending appeal. Yesterday at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, the case was argued in Judges' Chambers before Hon. Mr. Meredith, C.J. with the following result:

Rex ex rel, A. C. McFee v. George —W. C. Mikel, K.C., moved on return of habeas corpus to quash conviction of George, under Sec. 36 (1) of Inland Revenue Act, R. C. Brennan, for magistrate. Motion dismissed. Prisoner remanded to custody.

Rex v. Marasoff—W. C. Mikel, K. C., for defendant by Police Magistrate at Belleville, on charge of assisting in distilling or rectifying spirits in an unlicensed place. F. P. Brennan for magistrate. Motion dismissed. Prisoner remanded to custody.

ANTIGONISH SPOOK WAS MARY ELLEN

Dr. Prince, Famous Investigator, Issues Report Which Lays Blame for Weird Happenings at Nova Scotia Farm House on Young Girl.

Halifax, N.S., March 16.—"The fires were produced by the physical means of the hands of the girl of the family, Mary Ellen, the fifteen-year-old adopted daughter of Alexander Macdonald, as shown by marks left in the building. She was not, however, morally culpable owing to having been in an altered state of consciousness. There is the added possibility supported by a body of evidence in other quarters that trances allied to this was brought about by a discarnate intelligence. This is a theoretic possibility, whereas the external facts seem certain. The experience of Harold of Whidden and P. O. Carroll were probably of supernormal nature which does not necessarily imply that the super-normal cause was spiritistic. It may have been owing to a psychological cause which is perfectly natural, though as yet imperfectly normal."

Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, director of the American Society of Psychical Research, assumed to be the eighth the results of his investigation into the fires and other mysterious happenings which centred around the Macdonald and his family from their home at Caledonia Mills, Antigonish County, during January, Dr. Prince tells a summary of his official visit is as follows:—

"I left city of six nights and five days at the house in the vicinity of Antigonish, N.S., which has attracted so much attention, on the Monday of last week. It is difficult to condense a report of some seven thousand words into a week-ends statement, and only the salient points can be mentioned.

"Apart from the statements of Signor Marconi and other experts, I have proved that the wireless and the theory connected with it are the wayward manifestations of intelligence to be endowed with intelligence to know just when people are in the house, which is usually in the upper part of the room walls, with a repugnance to having persons in the cellar, and to be dealt with ability to transport cushions from one room to another and the like.

"The fires were manifestly set by human hands, judging by the unmistakable signs left in the house. The burns are always on the wall-paper than the reach of a person five feet tall, which is the height of the girl in the family. Over the bed which is on one end of a room they are never higher than such a person could reach standing on the bedsidy or money weather, one would not wish to stand on the bed.

POLICE STOP HYPNOTIC DISPLAY

Subject Who Was to Ride for Twelve Hours Removed.

A feature of the "Alberius" Company playing in this city this week, was the placing of a hypnotized man on a bicycle, on the rotunda of the Regent Theatre, where he was to have pedalled over a period of twenty-four hours. He was placed in position shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, and there drew large crowds of curious spectators as he motioned to the traffic, and climbed into a higher bike seat for greater visibility.

Shortly before 12 p.m. however, the man was taken down by order of Chief of Police Kidd, by reason of a city by-law which states that, "No public performance may be given on the streets of the city. If a store window can be procured, it is the purpose of the show to continue the performance within the law."

GOVERNMENT NOT ANXIOUS TO DEAL WITH TARIFF

Hon. J. B. Baxter Has a Few Things to Say About the King Government's Attitude—People Advised Not to Take Election Promises Too Seriously.

Ottawa, Ont., March 16—As a member of a party whose principles and policy "are not altered and trimmed according to the latitude and longitude of the area in which they are outlined," Hon. J. B. Baxter, K.C., Dorchester, in the House, P.Q., yesterday replied with gentle, but nevertheless effective, sarcasm to some of the Government's statements made on Monday. Mr. Baxter was Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue in the Government of Sir John Arthur Meighen. He was "invited to the Cabinet between the resignation of Sir Robert Borden and the date of the general election. He has the parliamentary manner developed by long years of experience in the Legislature of his province and by previous experience in municipal affairs in St. John.

Mr. Baxter referred to Mr. King's remark that a number of Conservative members were actually minority representatives inasmuch as they had been victors in three-cornered contests in their constituencies. Coming from the Prime Minister, the observation was particularly ill-timed, because the situation he described was precisely his own.

Mr. Baxter found a text for exposition of his address also in the Prime Minister's remarks. This was in the opposition not to take Liberal campaign literature "too seriously." The member for St. John found that Mr. King had wished his remark to be accepted as jocular. If it was to be understood that, the electorate of Canada, the people of politicians were only as words and idle phrases merely to catch votes, the Government can expect sincerity in its public life. Conservatives in their literature had said exactly what they thought and the Progressives had used neither camouflage nor subterfuge.

Mr. Baxter, commenting upon the Premier's assertion that Canada now had a representative House of Commons, reiterated that Canada had a House of Commons largely representative of "some people who stepped late into the campaign and had a very invigorating effect upon it."

Mere Youth a Counterfeiter

William J. Flynn, former chief of the United States Secret Service, has recently told the story of the youth counterfeiter who was prosecuted in the United States, perhaps the most young criminal in the history of crime, and the youth that the secret service had employed to utter the counterfeit paper and the secret service had conducted his career. The name of this evil prodigy is Henry Russell Wilkin. He was born in Jersey City, and was but 18 years old. He came of respectable parents and was of fairly good but lacking in sophistication. At the age of fifteen he announced that he was through with schools and intended to go to work. He was rather clever with his pencil and impressed the Jersey City circus people with the skill in designing advertising layouts. He was of sanguine temperament and had an image of the advertising world of Jay Hood Mills Company in Kansas City. He had a little studio and was earning perhaps $35 or $40 a week.

One morning he read an account of a salesman finding a packet of counterfeit bills which he presented at a bank where he learned that they were counterfeit. It seems that this chance item made a criminal out of Wilkin. According to Mr. Flynn it was then, when he was fifteen years old, that he set out to be master of the art. He knew nothing about chemistry, papermaking, engraving, printing, or any of the technicalities of the expert counterfeiter must know about them all. His general education was not equal to that of a boy who had spent a couple of years in high school. Yet by study and hard work he made himself within a couple of years the most dangerous counterfeiter the Secret Service had had to deal with. He did it by reading in the public library. Working by day he devoted his evenings to the study of technical works on engraving. He had a retentive memory and forgot nothing that he had read. Then he began experimenting tools and by practice became as clever as any engraver in the Government service. He took up a course of chemistry, dealing with papermaking, and read all the library had to tell him.

He read volumes on drying and struck up an acquaintance with a well-known Boston printer who permitted him to visit his plant at night and study the various processes. All this work and study, according to Mr. Flynn, was compressed within the period of one year. Wilkin's counterfeiting quite square was a series of three visits to the Government printing plant where the paper is made for the Government. The paper is there carefully guarded as gold in the mint. Every scrap of it is accounted for. There is never a scrap. It is a special paper, and the formula of its manufacture is secret. Visitors are shown through the plant in care of a guide, and, under the guise that was a visitor. He saw no more than the others with whom he was there, but practical imitative purposes one might say this was nothing at all. But everything he did see was photographed in his brain. He devised himself for one year to the study of papermaking. Then he concluded that he was ready for the next step and removing to New York got a job with an advertising firm. He intended he set up his little plant and began work on counterfeit bills.

From first to last he never used an engine, which fact makes him unique among skillful counterfeiters, for all the others photographed the banknote they are to imitate and work from that. The chief trouble with his first bills was that they looked too new. The plates were good, the impression fine, and the weight of the paper was correct. But the bills were too stiff. After a month Wilkin hit upon a chemical solution that aged the bills, and then he started out to circulate them. Within three years he had passed or $5,000 counterfeits and not one of them was questioned, though hundreds of them passed through the banks. He began to speak of the manufacture of five and diagnosed of $,000 of them. Only twice was he challenged. In both cases the bank keeper who refused one spurious bill accepted a second spurious bill, and Wilkin with admirable nerve offered him. He began to make two-dollar bills, and they were as good imitations as the others.

In the meantime, of course, some of the bills, perhaps an infinitesimal percentage of them, had been promptly encountered by the banks and had been passed to the Secret Service. Detectives went to the paper and found that it was not the kind the manufacturer that the paper was genuine. So it was considered that it had been stolen and for six months the bill was watched with the greatest care. From all over the country the bills came back, and in Kansas City alone at their wits' end. All they could do was wave everybody that there were counterfeit bills in circulation and rush to the scene when a new counterfeit was discovered. It was a little foreign drug store, bought a fountain pen, received in exchange for a two-dollar bill, and went out. The shopkeeper began to think. He was struck by the fact that the purchaser did not even try the pen or test the bill, which is the obvious thing for the purchaser of a pen to do. He concluded that he wanted the change. He was right. So he ran to a bank with the bill. The teller pronounced it genuine. Another teller and it was a counterfeit. He noted the name that Henry Wilkin was arrested at the station. He had plenty of bogus money in his pocket and made a confession.

ing up in the South of France, in Switzerland or Scotland but if they have anything out this Madeira drive all I can say is that I've been all over and I've never seen the Madeira drive was one continual surprise, partly due to the ingenuity of the engineers and to the engineering skill and industry of the contractors of the driveway, which seemed for the greater part to be cut out of the mountain side. Then with every twist and turn first to the right and then to the left, once view was ever changing and the great panorama effect ever secured increase in beauty.

The name Madeira signifies wood and when I asked why so named, was told that originally the Island of Madeira was covered with a great growth of wood and that when the discovery by a great fire that continued to rage for a period of seven years.

As one sails along the coast of Madeira for a distance of about thirty miles, he may see through his field glasses numerous water falls that drop over sheer cliffs, a distance of from 800 to 1,000 feet and these run-ways appear as a fine mesh in the appearance and color of the Grand Canyon of Arizona or the Great Yellowstone Park in the U. S.

These streams at such altitudes explain the thorough system of irrigation as found on Madeira Island and also helps one to understand the wonderful growth of all tropical plants, trees and flowers that the mountain sides of this beautiful island.

I do wish some of the good people of Belleville who are so fond of flowers could visit the Island. The gardens and hedges abound with climbing roses, Heliotrope, hydrangeles, fuchsias, geraniums and many others. It is said that these last flowers grow twenty feet high in all few months, we saw these filled with bloom and the air was ever charged with fragrance. We saw many houses that were almost hidden by a covering of Purple Bougainsavillia (I had to ask how to spell this word and it may not be correct), but I assure you the beauty of these homes is beyond me to describe. As I looked upon all this beauty I felt that the wonderful fine product of the soil in fruits and then saw the little donkeys making their way up the great hillside. We saw the two big baskets of earth, to replace that which had been washed into the valleys below, and I could not help asking myself the question, what would the little donkey produce if the little donkey could be replaced by more modern and effective methods. The women and the donkeys are the two great burden bearers and both look anything but happy as they trudge along under the heavy burdens.

Life is made possible by every member of the family being at work and the beautiful hand worked linens, embroideries, laces, etc., which we saw on sale at every turn, was an evidence of the industry of the people. These linens together with hand-made reed chairs, baskets, etc., were sold in quantities in the American tourists, many of whom paid prices far in excess of the home prices for the same goods.

ALBERTUS THE MIRACLE MAN

TONIGHT

Albertus, the Miracle Man, and his company, are appearing at Griffin's tonight to Saturday, with a matinee for ladies only Friday, and regular matinee Saturday.

With the ample stage room afforded by the Griffin stage it will enable Albertus to give his performance he wishes to give, and which was impossible on the restricted area of the small stage at the Regent.

The early portion of Albertus' performance consists of an oriental prologue with a background of beautiful silk tapestries, the lady members of his company appearing as his assistants. After revealing some new and startling demonstrations of scientific hypnotism, he will answer all sensible questions submitted to him. Skeptics are invited to put the most severe tests before him, and have no toe exacting for this master mind. Years of travel and study in far eastern lands have crowned Albertus the greatest exponent of his weird and mysterious calling.

It is not to be assumed that Albertus' performance embraces only the hackneyed side of hypnotism and telepathy. On the contrary, mirth as well as mystery enters into his make-up and humor is a strong factor in the laugh-making. His rapid-fire line of patter keeps the audience convulsed with laughter and not infrequently the startling and surprising results of his feats produce what the stage knows as lots of laughter.

In addition to this offering an excellent photographic picture has been arranged for exhibition, the feature offering being Thomas Meigran in "The Easy Road," a Paramount picture of "Winners of the West" featuring Art Accord, will be exhibited.

"What we want in Manitoba is a business government," he went on. "The cost of government has been extravagant. The burden of taxation has become intolerable. We need a substantial cut in taxation."

DANGER OF LOCUSTS.

Fighting the Ancient Pest in South Africa.

Prof. Faure, discussing the locust problem at Pretoria, said that though most people had at some time in the past seen swarms of voetgangers or grays, comparatively few were aware of the fact that locusts had been giving a great deal of trouble off and on during the past eight years, principally in the Cape, where government's efficient supervision, the locusts had been kept fairly down so well that practically no swarms had escaped from the Cape, thus realizing much for the principal grain growing areas.

Locusts had been known from time immemorial. The Chinese wrote about them more than 3,000 years ago, and locusts constituted one of the plagues of Egypt. Rand, South Africa they began to give trouble during Governor Sir Bartle Frere's first summer at the Cape, and ever since then the country has not been free from them for more than eight to ten years at a time. Locust trouble comes in cycles, the first year of the cycle being followed by a series of non-locust years, during which the locust may shortly after the breaking up of bad droughts.

The South African entomologists were greatly puzzled to know how the locusts managed to tide over the years when no swarms were seen or heard of. During the last five years or so it had been found that the creatures bred on its swarm and form as soon as its numbers are increased to such an extent that it could no longer form swarms. The single locust lives, then, longer than as a grasshopper. As soon as conditions once more become favorable the single guerilla warriors collect into small swarms, don the regulation uniform, and fortunately appear on the scene, after due increase in numbers, as a swarm!

The progeny of a single female locust could easily reach the astounding total of about 30,000, in about 15 to 18 months. No wonder then that swarms appear as suddenly and unexpectedly as they do. The grasshopper chase the brown locust escapes the attention of farmers often, and it is often alleged that Consequently it is often alleged that the eggs of the insect have remained in the soil for 10 to 20 years, when a swarm of voetgangers appears near a land where locusts were seen 10 or 20 years before.

ENVER PASHA.

authorities, held him responsible among other crimes for the death of approximately 1,000,000 Armenians. The Constantinople Government charged him with the crime, with the murder of a prince of the Mohammedan house, with leading the imperial treasury and with peculations during the war. Enver was the first to Germany; he was heard of next at Moscow trying to ingratiate himself with the Soviet government.

In a short time he turned up as King of the warlike Kurds, chosen to the throne by the tribesmen and his wife was a niece of the Sultan. He appeared at Angora, but, embittered by the coolness of his reception, he retreated to Kurdistan and, when he had organized there, he overthrew the small republican of the Armenians and established a new set up in each of them a Soviet Government under control of Moscow. His schemes, like the Turkish Nationalists understood it, was to join with Trotsky in the overthrow of Turkish Nationalism and the conversion of Asiatic Turkey to Bolshevism. Before he could bring his plans to fruition he died suddenly. He has started for Angora, not a peacemaker as he hoped, but a schemer.

Those form the latest chapters in the remarkable life story of Enver, modern Turkey. Enver was the son of a carpenter. He was born in the old 'odu Jow for Abdul Hamid. Around the Yildiz Kiosk he was ward for his faithfulness the Sultan promised the youngster that he should be educated as an army officer. Strange as it seems now, the Sultan kept his promise and the boy whom he had in his power became the chief actor in his overthrow. Enver was one of the leaders of the Young Turks; he soon became a power. Power in the Ottoman Empire by making himself the head of the Committee of Union and Progress. Through his ambassador at Berlin, Von Sanders, the officer sent by the Kaiser to train the Ottoman army, he came easily under German influence. He and Talaat conspired with the Central Empires long before she entered the war. It was jubilation in his country when Russia, about the bombardment of Russian ports and forced Turkey into open hostilities.

During the world war he was supreme commander of the Ottoman Empire. His two so-called chief ministers, Talaat Bey and Djemal Pasha were merely creatures who willingly carried out his orders. Both of these men were made co-defendants with Enver in the Turkish court martial that found from Constantinople at the same time he did. Djemal was shot by an armenian on the streets of Berlin, and his chief counsellor, Said Al Pasha, was killed by an Armenian in Italy. Djemal Bey, who has twice changed nationalities, is still living.

TOP FLOORS

Romantic Garrets Have Some Decided Advantages.

"Poets and garrets, I fancy that the two great and none too complimentary associations of shabby genteel and shabby mode is responsible in large measure for the repugnance which many people entertain for top floors," says a writer in Scribner's Magazine.

Those tattered-coated fellows who contributed to the "Grub Street Journal" are said to have lived on top floors entirely because by such means were as shockingly limited. I feel certain that this fact alone does not account for the popularity of top floors among poets. Rather, I think, it is because three moving-stone dwellers are round the corner. For whatever the cost, top floors boast unrivaled sea views go, but they only are not vulgar.

On the score of purely mundane merits, we may note the absence of personal lodgers overhead, in the way their feet, scurry over hard floors when they dance, fear, late in the morning with the most terrible racket, and spill liquids which seep through the floor and stain the ceilings. On the score of friendship, we have the fact that the top-floor dweller be provided with an elevator he may soon discover who his sincere friends are.

Please know them during the years of his work on the top floor. Then, when he has outgrown his small portion of his 'Comedie Humaine' and can afford more commodious quarters, he will not forget the period of his life. Why did Dr. Johnson compare his Dictionary to the large, beamed room at the top of his house in Gough Square, on Fleet Street? He had other good rooms at his disposal—much more pleasant, too, in many particulars. And the narrow, winding staircase to the top floor, must have erected a heavy toll from his less much time carried his ponderous body up or down.

What about Victor Hugo, during a period of exile at Hauteville House, Guernsey, in which he carried fully-planned splendor of the lower floors and attention of the top of his house to a glass-enclosed place with a black shelf where, standing, he wielded his writing pen, in full view of gardens, the fort, and the great ascending sea-wall? Or Old Hawthorne chooses for his study a lower-like room above his house in Concord? War did Walt Whitman spend the last years of his life in a room on the top floor of his small house in Camden, N.J., sitting in an oak chair by one of the windows with the floors littered with newspapers, bundles of old letters and manuscripts, and articles of clothing?

The Archbishop's Hunt.

In days of yore, when wild land was supposed to belong to the King, and was granted out by him for knight service or other feudal acknowledgment or rent, the rights of the chase were jealously guarded; and long after the holders of lands had conveyed away their rights to actual owners, they had to obtain a royal license to hunt, even in a considerable area, to hunt even upon the lands they had themselves occupied. Old records are full of such grants of free warren in different parts. For many centuries the Archbishops of York were extensive landholders in Notts., England, and having several residences there, had parks, and chases laid out to have been mighty hunters. They had to obtain leave to hunt, to establish their right to hunt, and in the reign of Henry II. it was found, upon inquiry, that the people at that time and his successors enjoyed the right of hunting in but in the Sherwood Forest for three days at Christmas. At Easter and at Whitsuntide also he might also enjoy the pleasures of the chase in "merrie Sherwood."

A Martin Luther Story.

While several continental nations vie with each other as to owning the house in which Luther was born in the Christmas tree, it was undoubtedly the British Prince Albert early in Germany by Prince Albert early in the reign of Queen Victoria. One story ascribes the first tree to Martin Luther, who, walking home one rather pretty idea that the dark branches of the trees, sparkling and lily illuminated with colored candles, and hung with its bright ornaments and gifts would remind the children of the dome of heaven with its innumerable stars. Then, in the midst thoughts of praise and gratitude to Him who is the Giver of all good things around them. In Germany great preparations are made for the Christ tree, and on the appointed hour the children file through the rooms in which presents are raised, and parents eagerly seized and opened.

The Gramophone Predicted.

A prophecy of the gramophone may be found in Cyrano de Bergerac's "Voyage to the Moon." Cyrano's imaginary traveler tells of a machine which could reproduce with a lunar inhabitant, which had neither mouth nor ears. The book reads wholly for the ears and not for the eyes. "Write on a piece of paper what to read it, he winds up that machine which has a great many springs, then he turns the hand to the character which he desires, and straight he runs through all the tones of a musical instrument, proceed all the different sounds of which the voice of the lunar grandees make use of for expressing their thoughts instead of language."

Dante's Skeleton.

The municipality of Ravenna has arranged that certain fragments of Dante's bones, which were abstracted at the time of the first disinterment of his birth in 1865, but were subsequently recovered, should be restored to the rest of the skeleton. The tomb's coffin will, therefore, be reopened, the bones were placed in their proper place, and the coffin closed again.

Milton, March 16.—Rev. W. M. MacKay, of Milton, is the proud owner of a Plymouth Rock hen that has laid a record-sized egg, which measures eight and a quarter inches one way around, and six and three-quarters the other, and weighs four and one-eighth ounces.

MANY GERMANS IN STRIKE MOVEMENTS

Employers Settled and Met Employees' Demands in Almost Every Case.

Berlin, March 16.—Thirteen million workers participated in strike movements in Germany during the first nine months, 8,000,000 of them members of Socialist labor unions. The strikers involve 2,500,000 women.

Strikes and threats of strikes numbering 38,000 affected 643,000 business days and almost in 547 cases they were for higher wages and shorter hours.

These movements in a loss of 12,716,023 work days and cost labor 98,000,000 marks a week during the period of idleness.

The workers secured weekly increases of wages amounting to 608,150,838 marks, (equivalent to about $27,000,000) an average weekly increase of 55 pfennigs per workman. Double pay for overtime was also secured.

Employers in almost every strike promptly agreed to arbitration and nearly all were settled with no demands damage than loss of time and temporary suspension of business.

Demands for higher wages brought about by the increased cost of living is considered an unpleasant necessity by the labor unions. A statement recently from union offices said:

"Incessant demands for more pay are regretable from the workman's standpoint. Unfortunately more wages are necessary. There seems to be a rather hopeless race between wages and prices, in which prices so far have been leading."

The statement added that the wage and labor troubles were only another evidence of the "unhealthy" condition of the German state.

SOME STOCK FEEDS ARE ADULTERATED

Seed Commissioner Issues Warning to Users of Commercial Preparations.

In administering the Feeding Stuffs Act, the Seed Commissioner at Ottawa has made the discovery that many commercial stock feeds are adulterated with worthless substances which give only bulk and weight. A product sold as barley meat at $4 a bag, was found by microscopical examination to contain no barley whatever. The material consisted of a mixture of ground corn, sorghum, bean husks and ground oat hulls. This mixture had the merit of containing some nutritive matter. Another mixture sold as ground oat cake, however, was much less valuable inasmuch as it consisted to a large extent of ground cocoanut shells, which is a very indigestible product, together with a little barley meal and barley flour. These discoveries unfortunately shatter confidence in feed mixtures in general, many of which are sound and good. They go to prove, however, the necessity for a careful enforcement of the Feeding Stuffs Act by the examination of samples of feeds purchased by farmers where there is reason to believe that misrepresentation or fraud has been practised.

Beaudoin gained entrance to the house by claiming to be a gas-meter reader.

U.S. RAILWAYMEN EXPECT FIGHT

Wage Struggle May Eventually Lead to a General Strike.

Cleveland, March 16.—Forecasts of a bitter wage fight between railroads and employes, which may result in a general railroad strike, were prevalent in union circles here yesterday. This followed sudden cancellation by the brotherhoods of regional wage conferences with the carriers.

The regional conferences, the first since the war, were held so important by the brotherhood that the chiefs here passed up the joint conferences-meet in Chicago last month to attend the preliminary sectional hearings in New York and Washington. Shortly after the first meeting with railway executives, however, there arose a strong dissatisfaction on the part of union officials with what they called the "dictatorial aloofness" of the carriers' chiefs.

A. F. Coyle, an officer of the locomotive engineers, expressed that dissatisfaction tersely today: "The attitude of the railroad was arbitrary. It was as if they said "take it or leave it" in offering proposals to us for settlement of the troubles."

The unions are prepared to resist strongly any attempt to reduce wages said to be contemplated by railroads.

BOXING CONTROL

Mr. Boxing is a grand game that is liable to come to much harm when it is not properly controlled. Harm, as its essence, physical encounter, is enough in itself to raise the combatants and the audience to a high degree of enthusiasm and properly so. There must, however, never be a repetition of the scene which followed the termination of the boxing bouts at the Armouries last night.

There was evidence of a woeful lack of organization from the start of the first bout. Referees were changed three times during the evening and not a bout went by but some person in the audience was asked to act as a judge.

There is the kind of mis-management that is going to kill boxing in this city and almost did in Toronto, Montreal and other boxing centres, and indeed Montreal is still having a lot of trouble with some of the boxers that appear regularly on the card there who take a few pats and immediately lie down and sulk for the spongo.

This is certainly not the case here. Every one of the lads that took part in last night's tournament was willing and gave the very best he had for the goodly sized audience. It was after the main bout when there was trouble to secure both a judge and referee that the final debacle of the evening took place.

The boxers Marakas and Edmunds fought an eight round match which was replete with science and courage, but when it came time to get the decision of the judges it was found that there was one judge too many where three were to have been one too few. The result was a squabble in the ring which the referee finally managed to quell by calling for an extra round. The boxers however refused to go on and called for a decision which the referee gave by calling the match a draw. There ensued immediately an argument which finally terminated in a fight and the police were compelled to clear the place.

In future all men seeking to promote boxing matches should be compelled to secure a license from the Police Commission under which supervision every program should be placed. The commission should make it a point to see that a referee and judges acceptable to all contestants are appointed and that no one else but the regular appointees should have anything to do with the rendering of decisions. This supervision will be for the eventual betterment of the game here and certainly in the best interests of all concerned.

FUTURE OF FUR FARMING.

The plans of several men to start a muskrat farm out Newboro', on the Rideau Lakes, direct attention to the extremely profitable possibilities of fur farming. Miss Agnes C. Laut, in her book, "The Fur Trade of America," refers to this kind of farming as "most hopeful and fascinating," and adds enthusiastically:

"You can call it by any name you like; but when human care of a fur-bearing species supplies the world with over 3,000,000 lambskin coats a year, transforms a whole Province like Prince Edward into a silver fox farm, increases the number of buffalo in one park from a few hundred to 5,000 in ten years, changes the skunk into a domestic pet, though it can change neither the odor nor the stripes, brings back the number of beaver from a rarity to almost a pest, and restores the depleted Alaska Seal Islands to the yearly production of 100,000 pelts a season, there is no end to the best days of the seal fisheries, fur farming has come to stay. Then years ago the greatest authorities on the fur trade were saying fur farming could not be done. Today they are asking, Will it be overdone, like the tulip craze of Europe? To which the most obvious answer is, if furs as beautiful as silver fox or Alaska seal become as common as muskrat there is no woman buyer who will object."

Of all the fur-bearing animals, muskrats can be the most easily farmed. Stock a marsh where the muskrat's natural food is plentiful and nature will do the rest. Two litters of rats come in the first season, three seasons afterward, and the pups run four to twelve at a time. "Taking these figures," says Miss Laut, "you can do a problem in muskrats that will make you dizzy. You will find at the end of the third year very close to 1,000 for a beginning of one pair."

The price has advanced from 10 to 50 cents in 1907, 80 to 85 cents in 1911, $1.25 in 1912, and $5 to $7 for perfect pelts in 1920. One acre of marsh lands will furnish 50 rats a year without diminishing the future catch, and if these rodents are taken only when the fur is at its best and yield only $2 each, the marshes will beat the spring wheat lands of the Northwest. "Furs may be furs," says the author, "but there are times when they begin to look like diamonds."

CRISP COMMENTS

Opposition leader Meighen stigmatizing Liberal tariff proposals as "pale, pallid and barren," is a fairly good opener to what promises to be a snappy session.

Explosion of bombs in Belfast appear as common as were firecrackers in Belleville on an old-time Queen's birthday.

Ontario license commissioners propose to stimulate tourist traffic by the restoration of tax exemptions of business tax from standard hotels. It is not likely, however, that they will seek advice from Quebec as to one of the most potent lures in this direction.

TRUTH IN NEWSPAPERS

It would probably be entirely safe to say that 90 9-10 per cent. of all the news published in the papers is true and accurate. And there is every reason why this should be so. A dishonest newspaper, a newspaper that deliberately distorted news, and in this its own ends or the ends of some interest in happened to represent, could not expect to enjoy public confidence for any length of time.

WEST DEMANDS A VOICE

Fort William Times-Journal

The expenditure of Sir Hughes has reached a total of seven million dollars and, by the time that the developments is carried out to the full extent of the program, it will require another four million dollars. The claim that the responsibility for the soom of this magnitude is good reason for this district to have represent ation on the commission is justifiable from every point of view, and, even though Hon. Mr. Carmichael may not have the overwhelming majority that he may ultimately be withdrawn, the demand for Western representation stands with as much force as ever, though it may be necessary to amend the composition of the Hydro Commission, by adding another member to act as guardian of the interests of the West.

NATURE'S MESSAGE

Can you hear in the best of the humming, birds song
The song of the Cosmos all Nature doth sing?
Do you see in the sprinkling of silver and gold
The jewels of God?

So daintily hiding in crevice and fold,
The work of a hand that around us hath sought
Tender love to express in the work that it wrought?

When you gather a flower doth each petal impart
Creation's old story, not science or art,
But a labor of love, with a purpose divine;
Each color a glory, each perfume a sign
That the Master took joy in the works of His hand,
That a record of love it forever might stand?

In the waves of the sea or the winds as they blow,
Or the light in the eyes of a loved one we know;

A Laugh or Two

Rival Bidders

The clergyman's eloquence may have been at fault, still he felt assured that an old gentleman fell asleep during the sermon on the two consecutive Sundays. So after service on the second week he told the boy who accompanied the aforesaid that he wished to speak to him in the vestry.

"My boy," said the minister, when they were closeted together, "who is that elderly gentleman you attend church with?"

"Grandpa," was the reply.

"Well," said the clergyman, "I you will only keep him awake during my sermon, I'll give you a big cake each week."

The boy fell in with the arrangement, and for the next two weeks the old gentleman listened attentively to the sermon. The third week, however, found him soundly asleep.

The vexed clergyman sent for the boy and said: "I am very angry with you. Didn't I promise you a nickel a week to keep him awake?"

"Yes," replied the boy, "but grandpa now gives me a dime not to disturb him."—The Christian Intelligencer and Mission Field (New York.).

SUMBUDDY'S DARLING

I love to see, and hear, and read about cheerful things. But despite the fact that this is a beautiful old world, I am often filled with a disheartening melancholy. Perhaps you have noticed it? I fancy so much. Anyhow, spring, gentle spring, is near at hand, and the birds will sing again.

Although Orphie was the darling of the most lovely of God's girls, yet was she not born upon her without a feeling of sadness. She was a melancholy poignant. Her beautiful young life was to be futile. Early in her career she started out to find a sumbuddy unto Butch. Butch, as you may remember, is her smooth and untoward brother. He is solid ivory from the ears. Memory hath carved on that ivory a record of the gorgeous meals he has had in his time. At a distance in Butch's tablet erected to the unfeeling memory of a long list of heroes who fell in the fight for food, Butch's name will be set. But Butch can recall every big feed he has had since he was four years old. Butch's sumbuddy unto was destined to be disillusioned, and it is this sympathy which utters the most earnest wishes that God may long keep this able and vigorous man in body and mind for directing the interests of our beloved province.

WEST DEMANDS A VOICE

Fort William Times-Journal

The expenditure of Sir Hughes has reached a total of seven million dollars and, by the time that the developments is carried out to the full extent of the program, it will require another four million dollars. The claim that the responsibility for the soom of this magnitude is good reason for this district to have represent ation on the commission is justifiable from every point of view, and, even though Hon. Mr. Carmichael may not have the overwhelming majority that he may ultimately be withdrawn, the demand for Western representation stands with as much force as ever, though it may be necessary to amend the composition of the Hydro Commission, by adding another member to act as guardian of the interests of the West.

ONE USE OF CONCERTS

Woodstock Sentinel-Review

The population of Canada by radiophone in the United States is said to be keeping a lot of people at bend ni night. There is no need to go to the theatre to hear a concert; all that is necessary is to have a wireless outfit in your own house. But then a lot of many people who attend concerts don't go because they like to talk to a musical accompaniment.

The Poets' Corner

NATURE'S MESSAGE

Can you hear in the best of the humming, birds song
The song of the Cosmos all Nature doth sing?
Do you see in the sprinkling of silver and gold
The jewels of God?

So daintily hiding in crevice and fold,
The work of a hand that around us hath sought
Tender love to express in the work that it wrought?

When you gather a flower doth each petal impart
Creation's old story, not science or art,
But a labor of love, with a purpose divine;
Each color a glory, each perfume a sign
That the Master took joy in the works of His hand,
That a record of love it forever might stand?

In the waves of the sea or the winds as they blow,
Or the light in the eyes of a loved one we know;
In the pleasure of life or the sorrows that mar,
In home or abroad, though we roam far or near,
In sunshine or shadow, His love may we see,
We in birth, death and life, 'tis forever to be.

A Laugh or Two

Rival Bidders

The clergyman's eloquence may have been at fault, still he felt assured that an old gentleman fell asleep during the sermon on the two consecutive Sundays. So after service on the second week he told the boy who accompanied the aforesaid that he wished to speak to him in the vestry.

"My boy," said the minister, when they were closeted together, "who is that elderly gentleman you attend church with?"

"Grandpa," was the reply.

"Well," said the clergyman, "if you will only keep him awake during my sermon, I'll give you a big cake each week."

The boy fell in with the arrangement, and for the next two weeks the old gentleman listened attentively to the sermon. The third week, however, found him soundly asleep.

The vexed clergyman sent for the boy and said: "I am very angry with you. Didn't I promise you a nickel a week to keep him awake?"

"Yes," replied the boy, "but grandpa now gives me a dime not to disturb him."—The Christian Intelligencer and Mission Field (New York.).

RUSSIA GRIPPED BY TYPHUS

Epidemic Has Been Growing in the Volga Famine Area.

Moscow, March 16.—Soviet Russia is grappling with the worst epidemic of typhus fever and recurrent typhus which has been spreading since November last. The Volga famine area is chiefly affected. In the centre of Russia the epidemic has invaded the big cities of the Moscow and Petrograd governmental districts and in the west the cities of Minsk, Smolensk, Vitebsk and in the north Vologda.

In Moscow itself the epidemic is growing rapidly and the number of cases is exacting from the Moscow population is already now seven to eight times greater than at this period of season and it is feared that before the winter months are over 1 might well overpass the epidemic of 1918.

In December over 4,000 cases of typhus were registered in Moscow, while in January the first three weeks of January 4,783 cases were registered in hospitals. But the real number of cases is much higher than this figure.

The epidemic shows no decline and death casualties are not below 40 per cent. Hospitals are overcrowded, are very inadequate. The Moscow hospitals are overcrowded and the Moscow Soviet is trying to provide 3,000 new beds in them to meet the epidemic.

The railways are the channels by which the epidemic is carried from the famine stricken areas into Moscow. Every train brings victims of the Volga districts. The Moscow stations where many refugees' homes as well as typhus victims arrive are crowded and the Tartar hostels are the chief centres from which feed the epidemic here.

To cope with the situation, the government stopped passenger traffic on the Moscow railways for six weeks. Baths have been organized at various railway terminals and all refugees and military detachments arriving here are compelled to use them. The Moscow itself bathing facilities were afforded in all districts.

MAGNESIA FINE FOR ACID STOMACH

Quickly Neutralizes Acidity, Stops Fermentation, Sweetens the Stomach.

Nine people in ten, when food upsets the stomach, groaning about it, think they have indigestion. In reality they are suffering from "acid stomach." An excess of acid in the stomach causes gas, heartburn, bloating and sour risings.

To have a strong healthy stomach capable of easily and normally digesting three hearty meals a day you simply must keep those excess acids neutralized and the stomach contents sweet. No artificial digestents are necessary. Just get a dose of Bisurated Magnesia from any good drug store and take a teaspoonful of the powder or two tablets in a half glass of water right after eating or whenever the slightest pain is felt. The result is amazing and you will be delighted with the almost instant relief it brings. This famous stomach sweetener combines Magnesia and Bismuth in desirable proportions and is not only splendidly effective but entirely harmless. It instantly stops and keeps the stomach sweet, strong and healthy all the time.

Bisurated Magnesia is well-known to druggists everywhere and is used annually by more than a half million people who never eat a sour meal. A reason with no more fear of indigestion.

IS SPRING CLEANING FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Peterboro', March 16.—Following upon the heels of the City Council's demand for the resignation of Fire Chief Geo. Grange last evening, came the resignation today of Assistant Chief H. Johnston. Lack of efficiency was the reason the Council had for demanding a change of management. Assistant Chief Johnston said he was unable to enforce the necessary discipline. The local Fire Department is enjoying all the thrills of spring housecleaning, and further changes in personnel are anticipated.

NEW PLANS FOR PALESTINE

High Commissioner Will Also Be Known as Commander-in-Chief.

London, March 16. — Provisional plans for the future government of Palestine under the British mandate which have just been issued make provision for the appointment of a High Commissioner to be known also as Commander-in-Chief. He is to have power to appoint an executive council to be "constituted in such a manner as may be directed by the British government."

The High Commissioner will also be assisted by the Legislative Council of 25 members. Of these latter, 12 are to be elected and every man in Palestine over 25 years old will be entitled to vote.

The High Commissioner would be authorized to divide the country into provinces or districts and all rights in public lands and also all mines and minerals.

Three languages, English, Arabic and Hebrew are to be permitted in the debates of the Palestine Council, of the South.

"You Are Looking 'All In'"

"YES, and that is just how I feel."

"What seems to be the matter?"

"Why, I had tonsilitis, and my whole system seemed to be poisoned and run down. So much so that I do not seem to gain strength."

"Well you let me be your doctor and do as I tell you?"

"I will do anything to get strong and well. I have been sitting here too long already."

"Well, you send to the drug store for six bottles of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and take one pill after each meal and at bedtime. Before me, it will not be long until you feel the benefit of this treatment and find yourself gaining in health and vigor."

"How do you know?"

"I know from personal experience. After I had the 'flu' I was left terribly run down. My wife and I run down; could not sleep; the little food I ate did not seem to do me any good, and I was getting pretty blue."

"Yes."

"Well, my wife had been using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and insisted on me trying it a trial. You know the rest, for I was soon about again, as hale and hearty as ever. I have told lots of people about this Nerve Food, and never knew it to fail yet."

"You are to be the doctor in this case, so I will follow your advice."

TINT GRAY HAIR

"Quit Taking Faded, Streaked, or Streaked Hair", says Mme. Rumford—"Ask Sure Improvement."

"Mme. Rumford, please explain how to tint gray hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur. It is so easy to prepare your own mixture. Everybody knows Sage Tea and Sulphur darkens gray hair, but the trouble is to prepare it at home, which is troublesome and sticky. I have a much better way. I buy my Sage Tea and Sulphur already combined, all ready to use, in bottles, for 50c, under the name of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. Anyone can use it without detection, as it does it so naturally, so evenly, that no one can possibly tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after one or two more applications it becomes beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. It is the best I have ever used or sold in my 30 years in business."

Mme. Rumford's Sage and Sulphur Compound is sold by druggists everywhere in the United States and Canada.

"Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

TINKER TALKS TO MR. GORILLA

If you do not guess who the fellow was that took Silky captive at the edge of the forest we will try to find out more about him today. He came out of the forest and approached the King. Tinker Bob spoke to him and said: "You had better let that Monkey go; or he will be so frightened that he'll die."

The creature answered in some kind of a motion that Tinker Bob did not understand. "I mean what I say," said the King. "You can't fool me with any kind of motions."

"Grumph," cried Tim, "Don't you let that fellow get hold of you or you will never speak to me again. He will squeeze you to death."

"Are you going to let that monkey go or will I have to give you a whack on the head first?" said Tinker unafraid.

The creature understood what was said and was not so anxious to come forward as he was at first. "We don't want anyone to come into this forest, not even Elephants," replied the fellow smartingly.

"If doesn't make any difference to me about what you allow" said Tinker Bob. "No one gave you the forest and I expect to go through it and you will not do me or the monkey any harm."

"If you enter the forest you will be squeezed to death," said the great creature.

"Why don't you want anyone to enter the forest?" asked Tinker.

"Because there's fruit in the forest and it belongs to us and we don't want anyone to steal it. It's what we live on."

"Well, I say drop that monkey," demanded Tinker Bob. He knew that Silky was getting ready to faint for he was nearly frightened to death.

"No, I'll not drop him till I teach him a lesson." Then he will mind his own business and not get into other folks houses and try to rob them of their fruit." Then he gave Silky a good shaking.

Tinker ran to him and whacked him on the head so hard that he dropped Silky and held his head. He had never felt such a pain before. "Now," said Tinker; "tell me what your name is?"

"My name is Mr. Gorilla. I will tell you anything if you will not give me such a blow again. I feel sick."

"Where are the others of your tribe?" asked Tinker.

"They are in the tree tops of the forest watching to see that no one takes the fruit and nuts that we have to eat."

"What makes you put your hands on the nape of your neck when you stand up?"

"We always do that in order to balance ourselves." Presently there sounded forth from the forest a yell and a dozen Gorillas came into view.

WAYS TO USE STALE BREAD.

The economical housekeeper never throws away stale bread. For, so many delicious dishes may be made with it. The following supper menus introduce some of these:

Cocoa	Cannel Chicken Soup with Crackers
	Bread-Croquettes Dessert

If one will learn one is served into either canned chicken or vegetable soup just before serving, the soup will make a nourishing and satisfying supper dish. To make the croutons, cut slices and crusts of stale bread into small pieces and turn these onto a hot frying pan in which plenty of melted butter is sizzling. Fry well on one side, then stir up the pieces so as to turn them over to brown on the other side. Or, bread-cubes with hot melted butter, spread them on a pie pan and slip the pan into a hot oven; they will soon brown richly.

Cocoa	Ham and Bread Dish
	Preserves
	Cocoa Delia's Lemon Bread Dessert

Ham and Bread Dish: Fry slices or crusts of stale bread in a delicate brown in smoking hot bacon fat or beef dripping. Then lay these brown slices in a shallow pan and turn over them finely chopped cooked ham which you have wet to a paste with sweet milk and seasoned with pepper. Sprinkle grated cheese over the top and slip the pan into the oven until the cheese melts.

Delia's Lemon Bread Dessert: Put into a saucepan 1 cup of boiling water the juice and rind of 1 lemon, ½ of a cup of granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon of cornstarch mixed to a paste with ¼ cup of cold water, and 1 tablespoon of butter. Let these ingredients boil up together over a very hot fire until thickened, stirring constantly, then add the beaten yolk of 1 egg, let boil up a moment longer, and turn the hot mixture over two cups of stale crusts of bread which have been broken fairly small with the fingers. Mix well and bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes. Beat the egg-white stiff, sweeten to taste with 1 tablespoon of granulated sugar, and spread this meringue over the baked pudding just before serving. Slip the dish back into the oven until the meringue is delicately browned, and serve at once (it is and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Edmunds and Marakas Fight Eight Round Draw

MIX-UP MARS BOXING BOUTS

Marakas and Edmunds Put Up Fine Battle to Draw.

It speedily turn out of boxing fans were present last night to see the fistic exhibitions staged under the auspices of 11.am'COol. R. Vanderwater D.S.O. and officers of the Argyle field infantry, at the Armouries. The four preliminary bouts, and the main bout between E. Edmunds and P. Marakas were real thrilling and clever they mixed it freely.

The first bout, between L. Gould and T.L.St.Louis was won by the latter Gould got the first and second round finishing strong. Gould got in some nice body pokes in the third but St. Louis got the last round and decision.

The second bout, Sexton vs. Beer Wells opened with a crash, Sexton starting strong and getting round Wells got his 2 with lefts of action and rights. S and 3 were his decisively, Sexton clinching frequently. Wells was so busy when Sexton being unable to land the more he set in the fifth round.

Al. Sandell and Kid Baity went 4 rounds for a draw. Baity, although apparently busier than his opponent could not get away with much on Sandell. The first and third round was Sexton's. Baity got the second and final round while Sandell had the edge in the 4th and 5th rounds.

J. Seamark won a decision quite handily from D. Theriault in the feather weight championship of the city. Thrasher is a game scrapper, however and stayed with the game to the finish, although taking considerable punishment. Round 1 was a snappy session and was a tie. Seamark got No. 2 by a small margin but No. 3 was fairly even being a vicious encounter, both boys reacting in the blows at a terrific rate. Seamark had the better of No. 4 and the last round was rather slow, both contestants showing the result of the strenuous going.

The big 5 round, main bout of the evening between E. Edmunds and P. Marakas for the welter weight championship of Belleville was a splendid exhibition, the fight being called a draw, Edmunds holds the title, and several times Marakas has tried to get the medal from him. Edmunds got the decision in their last bout. Edmunds landed his blows to the face and Marakas to the body, both fighting in entirely different styles.

While the first round looked very even, Edmunds got No. 2 by a small margin getting Marakas to the corner and holding out a few to his head. The third round was also very even, Edmunds having the edge early, but Marakas registering his blows just before the gong. Marakas started strong in the fourth and made it his round. No. 5 was a thriller, Edmunds having the edge by his clever head punches. Edmunds flailed into the 6th putting Marakas to the rope by vigorious fighting but tired himself so that Marakas had a small margin on the last two rounds.

The judges of the first four bouts were T.P. Wells and H. Robinson; H. F. Chevrier, light weight champion of Ottawa, who has been training Marakas refereed three of the bouts, and Ken Collins handled the Thrasher-Seamark exhibition.

The 15th Regimental Band furnished music during the evening, and entertainer Jack Scott gave a trump monologue sketch.

The one event of the evening which spoiled the fun was the free-for-all scramble over the decision of the main bout owing to a dispute between the judges. The mob was quickly cleared and no arrests made. Some of the men who were evidently a little strong in their patriotism started the fight and had it not been for the quick action of the police in clearing the hall a serious fracas might have resulted.

TUNNEY TO MEET GREB

Gene Tunney may be the next opponent for Harry Greb. The Madison Square Garden management is trying to arrange the match, and it is likely the pair will get started in a fifteen-round battle on or about May 2. Tunney at present is the holder of the U. S. light-heavyweight championship from Dundee's headquarters here.

Postponement was due to Promoter Frank Mulkern's inability to obtain permit from the Wisconsin State Boxing Commission for a March 27 bout, as another fight is scheduled near the Mulkern arena for that date.

HOW MUCH IS BABE RUTH GETTING?

Does the Bambino Deserve That $500 Bonus For His Clouting.

Babe Ruth keeps getting more famous all the time. The swat king to now the captain of the New York ball club. The club perhaps figured that he deserved the honors and privileges that go with the title. It seems also that the club made an error in announcing that Ruth was to get $500 every time he rapped over the fence. Instead of getting a nice bonus for doing his act, he is to work on straight salary. The name of Commissioner Landis wasn't mentioned but it is rather easy to assume that the boss of the game suggested to the Yankee owners that everything wasn't well with their arrangements. Miller Huggins manager of the club, didn't like all the publicity that Babe's contract was given. Huggins has a principal dozen club and he would have a hard time telling Bob Meusel that his home run wasn't worth $500, especially if it won a close game. There is no doubt that Ruth is still working under the contract that gives him $500 for a homer, but the club has denied it and it will go on the records that way. Everyone admits that it was fad to make it known that Ruth was to get $500 every time he connected with one. Some also expressed the opinion that Ruth was getting too much money. However, he is worth every cent he is getting because he packs them in every place he goes and the club's owners figure the gate in these days as a player's greatest asset.

LEONARD-DUNDEE BOUTPOSTPONED

New York, March 16.—The long awaited bout between Benny Leonard, light weight champion, and Johnny Dundee, scheduled for March 27, in Milwaukee has been postponed until late in April, the exact date as yet undecided, it was announced yesterday from Dundee's headquarters here.

SPORT STUFF

Plenty of good battling at last night's bouta.

:: :: ::

Those that weren't scientific were willing to mix it and make up for their lack of knowledge.

:: :: ::

Everything seemed to be up in the air. No official referees or judges anywhere in evidence.

:: :: ::

If boxing is to stay in this city they'll have to do better than that.

:: :: ::

Those boys Edmunds and Marakas showed lots of class and will certainly make good if they follow the game up.

:: :: ::

Edmunds has a beautiful left jab that he sends in every minute or so that looks promising.

:: :: ::

Marakas is a wicked two fisted fighter and his short snappy punching is a treat to watch.

:: :: ::

These boys should be matched again over the same distance with a qualified referee and judges and then the long discussed point as to who the better man is will be decided once for all.

:: :: ::

It was unfortunate that the evening's entertainment ended as it did. Fight fans should school themselves to applaud with their hands only.

:: :: ::

Remember too that fisticuffs are wanted only inside the roped square.

:: :: ::

Boxing is a great old game; it can be witnessed by women and children at any time provided things are run right. There is nothing brutal in the sport and it's up to those who attend the bouts if the game is to go ahead here and take a hold upon the sport fans of the city.

:: :: ::

I thank you.

WAR TO THE DEATH NEXT WEDNESDAY

Rotarians Will Take on the Lions in Baseball Game.

At the Armouries on Wednesday evening of next week a game of indoor baseball will be staged, which will be one of the events of the season. A team representing the Rotary Club of this city will endeavor to take into their camp and tame a team from the Lions Club—no easy task. A valuable trophy—a cup made of the best tin procurable in the city—has been manufactured and is on view in Mr. C. J. Byers' store. This will be presented to the successful team as a token of their prowess. Both teams are getting into shape for the affray, which, to say the least, will be exciting.

The proceeds will go towards the upkeep of the boys' camp at Moira Lake.

MLLE. LENGLEN WINS DOUBLES TENNIS MATCH

Nice, France, March 16.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen to-day played her first tournament tennis since she was defeated by Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory last summer. She was paired with Count Michael Soumarokoy-Elston, former Russian champion, in the mixed doubles, and with Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of California, in the women's doubles.

While they won both matches, 6 to 0, 6 to 2, and 6 to 2, 6 to 1, respectively, the French star failed to display her best form, and kept away from the net, being content with a back court game. She appears to be still short of the necessary training for hard singles match.

COOPER SMEATON TO REFEREE STANLEY CUP SERIES

Montreal, March 16.—No Stanley Cup games will be played at Hamilton President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League announced, when the news that Vancouver and St. Patrick's might be asked to play there was communicated to him this afternoon. He said all the matches would be played at the Toronto arena, commencing Friday night. Cooper Smeaton, or Smeaton, Montreal, would referee the whole series.

QUEEN'S MAY DROP ALL BUT TWO TEAMS FROM COLLEGE SPORT

Montreal, March 15.—The Athletic Board of Control of Queen's University is seriously considering the withdrawal of their teams from the majority of the Intercollegiate Unions, according to word received at McGill to-day. A According to the suggestion Queen's would continue to be represented only in the hockey and football leagues, and enter into entirely local competitions so far as the other branches of athletics were concerned. The difficulty in financing the large number of trips made by their teams is the hitch, and at a mass meeting of Queen's students last week they very solemnly discussed the suggestion of withdrawing their teams.

If the proposed plans are accepted by the Queen's athletic authorities, it will mean that the Intercollegiate competition in Canada will be left to McGill and Toronto Universities almost altogether. Even under the present conditions there have been many complaints about the schedules being too light, and it is probable that they would have to go to the American colleges more and more in order to fill up the open dates.

DEMPSEY LOOKS TO EUROPE FOR HIS NEXT VICTIMS

New York, March 16.—If those contenders who have been snapping at the heels of Jack Dempsey continue wrangling among themselves, Jack may go through with his threat and journey overseas, to pick up some easy money.

Tom Gibbons and Harry Greb stepped out in Madison Square Garden the other night and when it was all over two more candidates, who might have been considered as opponents for Jack, were eliminated. Greb trounced Gibbons soundly, but he did not show enough power to warrant a combat with the big heavyweight champion. He lacks a heavy punch.

It is generally conceded that Willis would be a more even match for Dempsey than anyone remaining on the horizon. He has the physique and experience that would appeal to the fans who want a run for their money when Dempsey is asked to defend his title again.

LEHMAN HOLDS DISTANCE RECORD FOR PRO. HOCKEY

Vancouver, B.C., March 14.—Hughie Lehman, goalie of the P.C.H.L. champion Vancouver hockey team, and more familiarly known in hockey circles as "Eagle Eye", is cognomen wished on him half a dozen years ago, is holding his twenty-third year in senior hockey. He is probably the oldest player in point of service in major hockey to-day. Lehman has been playing regularly for twenty-three years, playing goal all the time, and he has established a record of which any athlete may well be proud. Lehman appears to be good for several hoary years in the puck sport.

Vancouver has won four championships in all. The record of the Coast League is—

	TEAM	Won	Lost
1912	New Westminister	9	6
1912-13	Victoria	10	5
1913-14	Vancouver	13	4

QUEEN'S RETAIN HUGHES

Kingston, March 16.—Billy Hughes, formerly of Sault Ste. Marie, who has been signed by Queen's University for the past two years, to-day signed a three year contract to remain in Kingston, and his decision was the cause of much jubilation among the University students.

Hughes is a noted lightweight boxer. He was sought by half a dozen other prominent athletic clubs. George Awrey remains as Director of Athletics at Queen's. The latter draws $4,500 a year, being in the same category as a University professor.

GOVERNMENT WILL REBUILD DAIRY SCHOOL IN KINGSTON

Kingston, Ont., March 16.—Word was received late yesterday afternoon of the decision of the Ontario Government to rebuild the Eastern Dairy School in Kingston. Two months ago the school was burned, and since that time strong representations have been made by the dairy interests of the east for its rebuilding. The Minister of Agriculture was in favor of Kingston as the centre for this school owing to the presence of the Queen's University laboratories and specialists here.

Efforts were made to have the Dairy School centralized with the Agricultural School at Kemptville.

It is thought the aged lady, while about to set the trap, was overcome with pain when the trap closed on her hand and fell out of her boat. Coroner V. L. McIlwithie is investigating.

BROTHER BEAR STARTS SOUTHWARD

Maybe Lake Scugog Bear Has Been Run Down by Railway Advertising.

Port Perry, March 16.—Fresh tracks of a bear have been seen in the swamps, both north and south of this town, during the past few days. A few citizens claim to have seen brain smbling along at a little distance in the woods.

Bears are frequently seen in the woods north of Lindsay, but not for many years has one been seen in this district. It is supposed that it came up from Sturgeon Lake along the Scugog River, and made its way to the head of the lake.

The tracks were first discovered at the extreme south end of the lake, about three miles south of this town, and at that point the bear was without a doubt on the ice, as it was reported that the bear had been killed near Seagrave, which is just off the lake, and also at Port Perry, but as yet this report cannot be confirmed.

SPIRIT HAUNTS WINDSOR FAMILY

Windsor, March 16.—The Crandil family, living on the outskirts of the city, are in a state bordering on mental terror. For a week the spirit of their father's spirit has haunted their home. The people believe it is the soul of Mr. Crandall's father, who departed this life two weeks ago in Jackson, Mich.

Although last night they were troubled less than usual, their nocturnal visitor was more violent than ever. It began at about 11-15 o'clock, as Franklin Crandall sat waiting for its appearance, he was startled from his chair and ran pell-mell across the room to the feet of his wife, who sat dozing, tired out from the long vigil.

Members of the family crying "Flossie," "Pearl" "Flossie," it hovered about the room, then disappeared as silently as it had come. During the night feeble knocks were heard at the walls and ceiling and now and again an odd moan and groan; but, eventually, all was quiet. The spirit had vanished whence it had come, and the Crandalls were allowed to rest as best they might for the remainder of the night.

GRAND KNIGHTS HOLD ELECTION

propaganda of the officials higher up in the Roman Catholic Church. We submit that we have only one system, composed of public, high schools and collegiate institutes. The separate schools belong to the Roman Catholic Church as we know it. We are told that no change will be made at this session of the Legislature in the distribution of public school moneys. We wish to place ourselves on record in protest against the very great increase in the grants to the separate schools out of the public funds, a matter which has only been drawn to the attention of the public casually. We would like to have the taxpayers of the Province fully informed by the Minister of Education, as in the case of the Hydro, as to how the money is being appropriated to the maintenance of the separate school system. That we are not lone-rangers against anything that would encourage the establishment of separate high schools, or the extension of the public dollar from the public monies for the upkeep of separate schools. Unless we wish to be treated unfairly as we existed in Europe for the past century, we must prepare now to make this Dominion a land of peace, love, unity, faith, one school, and one flag. It is time for us to say that religion or religious opinions have no place in the machinery which governs the citizen, or his rights or interests in the Dominion of Canada.

The following officers were elected for the year: Mr. Birtch, G.M.; T. Armstrong, D.G.M.; Jones Brown, D.D.G.M.; Rev. Charles Reid, J. Pettingham, R. M. Patterson, J. W. Bell, Lowery, W. Brown, H. Philip, A. Ferguson, Deputy Grand Chaplain; D. J. Sutherland, Grand Registrar; Wm. Leslie, Deputy Registrar; Moore, Treasurer; C. A. Lount, Grand Lecturer; S. J. Kerr, Deputy Lecturer; W. T. Burks, D.D.C., Kingston; Gibson, D.G. Censor; Col. Beckett, Grand Marshal; E. Ball, Deputy Grand Marshal; Beaver; A. Ellis, Deputy Grand Standard Bearer.

Among those present are the following: Grand officers, Duncan Monroe, P.G.M., Cornwall; C. A. Lount, D.G. M., Aultsville; H. A. Graham, D.G. M., Kingston; Rev. M. Rutledge, G. Chaplain, Harrowsmith; W. C. Reid, G. Treasurer, Brockville; C. Reid, D.D.C., Kingston; Rev. A. McLaughlin, B.A., B.D., D.G. Chaplain, and W. Campbell, M.P., of Brockville. Twenty-five Orange county lodges are represented.

MAY PUT U.S. TARIFF BILL OVER UNTIL NEXT FALL

Washington, March 16.—Long delay in ratification of treaties in the Senate, along with delay of the Tariff Bill in the House, threatens to keep the serving to renew talk that the tariff measure will be held over until next fall. The Senate committee and the authorities are that the Tariff Bill cannot pass the Senate before June; that it will be followed by a long wrangling in conference, and that, with the House members eager to go home for the summer, there will be no early election campaigns, the tariff will be forced over for months.

Some prominent trade papers predict delay until next fall or winter.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

"I guess God had starved enough," declared Sally.

"I knew that you were walking on this road and I had to see you," explained Jim. "People have been saying such terrible things."

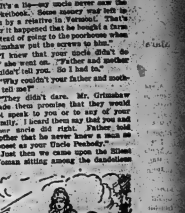

"That's why," said Sally.

"They say your uncle threw the pocketbook that was the last straw. They say he was the first man that went up the road after it was lost."

"Why couldn't your father and mother tell me?"

"They didn't dare. Mr. Grimshaw says they promise that they would not speak to you or to any of your family. I heard them say that you and your uncle did right. Father had another that he never hear a word about so your Uncle Peabody."

Just then we came upon Miss Simeon Woman sitting among the dandelions.

We Came Upon the Silent Woman Sitting Among the Dandelions.

by the roadside. She held a cup in her hand with some honey on its bottom and covered with a piece of comb honey.

"She is hunting bees," I said as we stopped beside her.

Jim leaned petted my shoulder with a smile and threw a kiss to Sally. Suddenly her face grew white. She pointed toward the village and then at Sally.

"She means that there is some danger ahead of you," I said.

Then Jim suddenly picked a long blade of grass and tipped its end in the honey at the bottom of the cup. She came close to Sally with the blade of grass between her thumb and finger.

"She is firing a charm," I said.

She smiled and seemed to the pat a drop of honey on Sally's upper lip.

She held up her hands while her lips moved as if she were talking.

"I suppose it will not save me if I break it off," said Sally.

She turned and in a moment a bee lighted on the honey. Nervously she broke at it and then came at it with pain.

"The bee has left me yet," I said.

She covered her face with her hand-kerchief and made no answer.

"That's extraordinary! Most clays," I said as I ran to the river bank.

I found some clay and moistened it with the water of the river.

"There, look at me!" she groaned. "The bee bit my nose."

She uncovered her face, now deformed almost beyond recognition, her nose having swollen to double its size and redness.

"You look like Rodney Barnes," I said with a laugh as I applied the clay to her affected nose.

"And I find him the old boy. I think my nose is trying to jump off and run away."

We were nearing the village. She wiped the mud from her prodigious nose and I wet her handkerchief in a pool of water and helped her to wash off the clay. Her nose was somewhat less in the road. In a moment I observed that one was half the natural size.

"Then I shall be a prayful soul was Sally's. The girl was a born actress.

"Been riding in the country," said Mr. Latour to this Mr. Latour.

"This is Mr. Latour, Sally," said her father.

They shook hands.

"I am glad to see you," said the stranger.

"They say I am worth seeing," said Sally. "I am a fresh friend, Mr. Segwa. When you are tired of seeing me, look at him."

I shook the hand he offered me.

"Of course, we must all be good looking," Sally remarked with a sigh, as if her misfortune were permanent.

CENTURY OLD BRIDE
DESERTED AT ALTAR

Kansas City, Mo., March 16.—Friends today tried to figure out whether it was a hoax or not of fact that caused Sima Berry, 80, to flee from his prospective centenarian bride as the preacher was about to tie the matrimonial knot.

The stags was set at the home of Mrs. Hannah McMahon, 100 years and four months old, for her marriage to Berry. The guests had arrived. Then one of reporters came in to "set up" the wedding.

Berry got mad. He declared he wouldn't "get in the papers, wedding or no wedding, bride or no bride."

The guests, bride and reporters tried to argue with him. He refused to listen. He grabbed his hat and left. And he hadn't returned at a late hour today.

Berry is a gamey walker, for the centenarian bride-to-be is a widow, the mother of four children, and relatives say she is not interested in having been baptized and held prisoner by Indians near where Chicago is now, when she was four years old.

HORSE FROM THE HANDS.

Champion of Wheat Cut and Industry Dies In Britain.

Two men who began their careers as girl boys have just been promoted to military honors in the Old Land.

They are Mr. William Thomas, who is a native of Abermeadle, Glamorganshire, and Mr. D. H. Walters, who started life at Haynes' Monmouthshire, and they both began work as "trappers."

When Messrs. S. Instone & Co., Ltd., started their collieries at Aberkenfig, Bridgend, Glamorganshire, and at Kilburn, Yorkshire, both joined the company as "pony drivers" and in their spare time studied mining engineering with enthusiasm, that they both gained their certificates together at the Mining Institute, Cardiff.

The new Mayor of Scarborough, Alderman Walter Walters, Bryn House, began work as a newsboy. Mr. Boyce is not ashamed of having been born in the parental home having sold newspapers for a living. It was his ambition as a young man to be mayor of his native town some day.

A friend recently told him she remembered being at a Band of Hope meeting when the late Mr. Joshua Rowntree, at that time M.P. for Scarborough, said of a small boy who was giving a recitation:

"Why, there's the boy that William Boyce may one day be mayor of Scarborough!"

Mr. Boyce is founder and managing director of a drapery and furnishing firm with premises in Scarborough, Bridlington, and Hull.

Mr. Thomas Black, a Dundee Corporation tram driver, has gained his position in order to complete a university course for medical degree. Mr. Black entered the service of the Dundee Corporation as a tramway conductor in 1914. He took up the study of medicine, and passed the preliminary examination in 1919. He stayed during the war, and on returning to Dundee in 1919 he resumed his studies. He became an inspector of his department. Mr. Black is also a skilled musician, as a 'cellist, and bandmaster of the Salvation Army in Dundee.

Friday Profit.

One of the most lucrative professions in existence seems to be that of a British pilot. Incomes of $5,000 or more a year are not uncommon.

Three hundred and fourteen pilots are employed by the Port of London Authority, and last year the average fee of these men earned on an average $5,000 each. Eighty-one received $5,461, and eighty-one made $5,036; while 150 pilots received $4,611 each. Of all men averaged $5,440. The number of ships piloted was 13,000, or 1,000 more than the year $4,313.

Not all pilots average such big incomes, for at Mabou, in Essex, two pilots earned only $160, and five on the Irish coast only $180 each. The exception no port other than London possesses pilots who earn more than $5,000 a year. The exception is Port Talbot, in Wales, where seven pilots, last year earned on an average, it is stated, $5,000 each, or $,017 apiece.

A pilot certainly earns his money. He must have been for seven years in the service—including a captain's certificate, and have passed an examination to speed three months in the river, and three months in the waterway on which he is to be stationed. Then he must pass a final examination every year before his license is renewed. Besides his personal geographical knowledge, he must know every inch and every mark.

While on duty the pilot is responsible not only for the safety of ships, for hundreds of lives and thousands of dollars' worth of cargo as well.

Lucky Royal Servants.

The Royal Household costs King George at least £8,000.

Besides the four hundred and fifty servants employed on the royal palaces receives a present valued at from £5 upwards. On the coronation, there are eight hundred estate employees, 1,000 Metropolitan, and 4 Sandringham, each of whom receives £1 from the King, the total sum being five pounds in value.

A short time before Christmas His Majesty makes a list of the charities to which he wishes to send donations, and about £2,000 is spent in this way.

An enormous amount of food, consisting of beef, currants, raisins, and flour, is distributed to the poor from the royal kitchens at this time of the year.

The royal family spend Christmas very quietly, after the Christmas cards are allowed to go to their homes for about ten days, the King paying their expenses.

Lenar Photographs.

A recent report of the moon secretary of the British Astronomical Association dwells upon the many additions that have been made to the map of the moon by recent photographs, which are the great 100-inch reflector at Mount Wilson, and suggests that a complete photographic atlas of the moon made by the same instrument would be a magnificent achievement. It would consist of the Mt. Wilson photographs depicts a whole of the Mare Imbrium, a rough count of the craters and crevices shown in this region gives a total of more than 700, of which more than 200 are not found on the existing maps. It would take an expert observer, using a powerful telescope, several years to detect and map all of these minute details, which have been recorded by the camera in less than two seconds.

Holding the Breath.

The average time a normal healthy man or woman can hold the breath at one full inspiration varies from 40 to 50 seconds.

Alpine Accidents.

From April 1st to mid-August, in North Tyrol, 21 climbers lost their lives and 76 suffered severe injuries.

GOVERNMENT SUBMITS HYDRO LEGISLATION TO HOUSE

HYDRO LEGISLATION SUBMITTED TO HOUSE

Makes the Scheme a Local One Entirely to Minimize the Responsibility of the Province—Municipalities Will Have to Pay Over Deficits on Lines in Cash.

Toronto, March 17.—The Drury Government's Hydro radial legislation long awaited, was submitted to the House yesterday afternoon. Its general outlines have been so frequently indicated in speeches by the Premier that interest in the Government's scheme has been largely reduced to the matter of detail. The Government through the bill given first reading, reiterates its refusal to permit the province to become a party to radial development by way of bond guarantee, but keeps its pledge to place every facility in the way of the municipalities going ahead with construction on their own account if they see fit.

The plan, in short, is that the municipalities may go ahead with construction and operation through a municipally-appointed body, to be known as the Municipal Electric Railway Association, which association will have a status similar to that of a board of trustees and will be representative of all the municipalities in the particular radial project under its control.

In principle, there is little that is novel in the nature of the plan adopted. The financing is substantially the same, with this exception, that wherever possible, has the right to sell those bonds from time to time in order to make up any deficit that may appear in the operation of the road, the Drury Government regards this potential impairment of the security implicit in issued bonds as unwarranted financing and requires, through its bill, that, should deficits occur, the municipality shall pay over the amount of same. Then, when the association has first mortgage bonds against the railway property, the purchasers will be protected by the certainty that, since each of the municipalities are responsible, provision will be made for lodging them with the proper agency.

MINERS' STRIKE IS IMMINENT

Unless Agreement is Reached Men Will go Out April 1st.

Calgary, Alta., March 17.—By an overwhelming vote, miners of the United Mine Workers of America, district No. 18, comprising Alberta and Eastern British Columbia are voting in favor of a suspension on mining operations on April 1 in the event that no agreement is reached in the international. Returns coming from 15 out of the 24 locals show 2,479 in favor of refusing the operators' proposed wage schedule and 227 for acceptance.

Lethbridge, Mountain Park and Drumheller Valley returns are not to hand, but it is stated by the miners' headquarters here that the vote will average 20 favoring suspension of operation against one in favor, of accepting the reduced wages.

BUTTER EXPERTS VISIT CHAMBER

Delegates to the Convention Are Entertained by the Directors.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their weekly luncheon yesterday entertained five prominent members of the Butter Manufacturers' Association, which organization has been holding its convention in Belleville the present week. Though the fine grained butter was not entertained came from points as widely separated as Lougueuil, and Compolost about 15 miles south west of St. separated as Lougueuil, and Compolost about 15 miles south west of St. remarkable fact that three of them had been educated at Belleville colleges and another had sent his son to be educated at the Ontario School for the Deaf. Mr. Mackenzie Roberts-son, Belleville Creameries, Limited, introduced the visitors and they were given a round of welcome by Mr. H. P. Ketcheson, President of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. L. A. Sufelt, Instructor of Butter Making at the Kingston Dairy School, in the course of a brief address expressed his great pleasure at again visiting Belleville and told of the splendid work that was being done by the manufacturers and by the convention in the attempt to improve their product and make it second to none in the world. He recommended that action be taken in the course of instruction so as would produce an article both in cheese and butter that would increase consumption.

Mr. R. S. Hamer, of Cornwall told of experiences at Belleville when he was here attending Albert College and paid a high compliment to Belle-

ANTIGONISH RESIDENTS SCOUT REPORT BY PRINCE

People in Vicinity of the Haunted House Are Angry With Famous Investigator—Claim Mary Ellen Far Too Young to Have Had a Hand in the Pranks.

Halifax, N.S., March 17.—Amazement and disbelief followed closely in the wake of the report issued by Dr. Franklin Prince this morning in which he charges Mary Ellen Macdonald, adopted daughter of the farmer who was forced to abandon his home in Caledonia Mills through a chain of alarming happenings that have become the talk of the continent, with being the cause whether of her own volition or while possessed by some spiritual force acting as a material agency to work out its objects. This sentiment is chiefly in Caledonia Mills where the people who were eye witnesses to the actual happenings while Dr. Prince was likewise fully aware of the existence of such a place as Antigonish or the Mills, lay aside the first as a reflection on their veracity and judgment. There are many, however, who welcome his supposed solution incriminating Mary Ellen and indulge in the ready "I told you so."

But the people of the Mills, Lew Macpherson, whose reports regarding these phenomena of which he was a witness, have been generally accepted as the most valid and straightforward, was spoken to this afternoon by a Herald correspondent. He was apparently much surprised at Dr. Prince's report.

"He is wrong," said Leo, "and I would tell him so to his face. I was there and saw, and I know that Mary Ellen did not set those fires either of her own accord or actuated by an invisible force. She just did not. She couldn't have. I was always right beside her when many of the fires occurred. I am not a fool and I have had enough experience out in the world to realize the significance of such things."

MIMIC WAR IN PROGRESS

Local Militia Carry on Strategic Campaign Against Peterboro' Rangers.

A unique war game has been in progress here for the past three weeks between the officers of the Argyll Light Infantry and the officers of the Peterboro Rangers. The ground on which the imaginary battle is being fought, is in the province of Quebec, from Sherbrooke on the east, to Montreal on the west. The Argyll's are represented by what is known as the red forces under the command of Lieut.-Col. R. Vandervaart, D.S.O. and his officers as staff officers. The Peterboro Rangers are designated the blue forces under the command of Lieut.-Col. A. MacPherson and his officers as staff officers.

Immediately war was declared, the red force detached two brigades to the south of the St. Lawrence river at a Hyacinth, thus securing freedom of action and flank protection for the onward actions. While the battle is still in progress, the red force has been acclaimed by the umpires, to have placed their enemies arts serious disadvantage. However, late last night, the blue force had, by a skilful manoeuvre, lessened the advantage gained previously by the red forces; and it is surmised that when the attack comes, it will be with equal weight on both sides. The "battle" will be conducted by Saturday. The umpires are General F. W. Hill, C.B.C.M.G., D.S.O. and Col. P. O. Hodgins, D.S.O., D.S.O., B.M.D.

RAND LEADER UNDER ARREST

Union Officials Say Strike Was Forced by Armed Extremists.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited.

Johannesburg, South, Africa, March 17.—Joe Thompson, president of the augmented executives of the South African Industrial Federation, has been arrested in connection with the mine strike.

Two rebel leaders were killed in the bombardment of Fordsburg by government forces, it was announced today.

The old industrial trades union of South Africa has issued a statement, saying that the recent general strike which was accompanied by revolutionary activities and defeated by armed government forces, was called by the executive, which was partly coerced by the revolvers of the extremists who would not allow anyone to leave the room until the strike decision was reached.

CITIZENS COMPLAIN OF CITY WATER

Water Has Bad Taste Due to Sediment Being Carried Down by Spring Freshet—Latest Report Shows Supply is Pure—Municipal Filter Needed—Sickness in City Has No Connection With Water.

The Intelligencer has been receiving complaints over the telephone regarding the condition of the city water supply. The complaints are to the effect that the water is muddy in appearance and has a dull taste. As a result numerous citizens are anxious to know whether or not there is any connection between the water and the prevalent sickness in the city.

When asked this morning, why the water appeared so muddy at the present time, Mr. E. T. Austin, water works manager, was certain that the obvious and very good reason was because of the spring freshets carrying sediment into the bay, and such conditions can never be altered without a filtration plant. "Sanitary Inspector Wills sent a sample of the water to the Provincial Board of Health, Toronto, each week, and only Thursday, received word that the water was O.K.".

Mr. Austin did not believe that the present condition of the water had any relation with the sickness in the city.

Mayor Hanna, when interviewed stated that he had received a complaint this morning from a citizen, and in taking the matter up immediately,

"Do you believe that the city water is causing sickness in the city?" asked the Intelligencer.

"No I do not," replied the Mayor. "There are only a few cases of typhoid fever, and I am not excited in one or two cases the causes have been traced to well water.

Dr. H. S. Crook, M.O.H. for Belleville when, approached by the Intelligencer stated that the cause of the discoloration in the water was the spring freshets, and the taste due to the liberal quantity of chemicals used in purifying the water. "Such conditions shall continue to exist also," added Dr. Crook, "until a filtration plant is installed. This would cost in the neighborhood of $250,000." The water is healthful and pure, however, according to the weekly report received on Thursday from the Department of Public Health, Toronto.

"Have the citizens been advised to boil the city water before using," the M.O.H. was asked.

"They have not, but the moment I receive word from the department that the water is not pure, I will warn the citizens," Dr. Crook does not boil the water for his personal use.

NORRIS GOVERNMENT WILL CARRY ON IN MANITOBA

Legislative Tangle in Western Province May be Straightened Out—Farmer and Labor Support Would Give Government Necessary Strength in the House—Lieutenant-Governor's Position Stated.

Winnipeg, Man., March 17.—It appears almost certain that there will be no immediate dissolution of the Legislature and that the Norris Government will remain in office until sufficient time for necessary supply bills to be voted and important but non-contentious legislation put through.

The definite statement was made by F. J. Dixon, leader of the Labor group, last night that this group was agreeable to the administration carrying on till the tangle into which Provincial affairs had got, has been straightened. J. T. Haig, leader of the Conservative group, would not give the premier such a promise at once, but he stated last night, he wants the Government to clear out and make way for a Conservative administration, which, he claims, he would readily form, if requested to do so by the Governor. So as the support of the Labor group, however, would be ample to keep the Junior Norris Government in power, the Conservative leader seems to hold on to the reins for a time, and, in addition, a fair proportion of the co-operate.

The Lieutenant-Governor, Sir James Aikins, is expected to reach this city to-day from Toronto. Immediately after he arrives at Government House, Premier Norris will tender the resignation of the Government. It is regarded as probable that Sir James will urge Mr. Norris to remain in office till interim supply is voted and the affairs of the province put in some sorting like shape.

Though Premier Norris absolutely declined to-day to give any information as to how he would view such urgent request by the Lieutenant-Governor, it was stated that the good reason for believing he would accede to it. In that case the Premier would ascertain if a majority of the members of the Legislature were agreeable, and Mr. Dixon has, at any rate, publicity stated that his party would

WORKINGS OF OLD AGE PENSIONS ACT IN LONDON

London, March 17.—More than 72,000 persons in London are dependent on the old age allowance, according to figures just announced. In addition about 19,000 septuagenarians are in workhouses or hospitals, receiving free medical treatment and clothing, or under the care of the guardians.

More than two-thirds of the old-age pensioners are women. The total shows a considerable decrease over 1914, although there is a marked increase in the number of women.

A maximum of 10 shillings weekly is granted under the pensions' act. The minimum is one shilling a week. At income of £26 a year disqualifies from the pension benefits.

Few, if any, destitute people are nowadays allowed to spend the night in the open. From 1914, when hundreds of homeless Londoners slept nightly on staircases and under arches the figure has declined to an odd case here and there.

RUSSIA NEEDS MANY ARTICLES

Constantinople, March 17.—Borislaw Koulaief, Russian Soviet Trade Commissioner in Constantinople, says that Russia is exporting wool, timber, furs, skins, silks and other products in exchange for food, agricultural implements, drugs, optical instruments, etc., which are in great need in Russia.

"We have made important contracts with British and French firms", he continued. "Twenty-five ships went through the Straits of the Bosphorus on November 6 on their way to ports in the Crimea. Their cargoes consisted mostly of foodstuffs and agricultural implements.

"Our export trade is far from attaining the normal, not because we lack raw materials in which Russia abounds, but because our export operations can only be established on a basis of sound agreements with our neighbors and with the rest of Europe and America."

FARMERS IN MANITOBA TO HAVE LITTLE HELP

Winnipeg, March 16.—There will be little or no demand for farm help in Manitoba this spring, judging from inquiries already received, C. F. Coleman, Superintendent of the Provincial Branch of the Employment Service of Canada, said to-day. Only sixty replies have been received to an inquiry sent to 260 agents two weeks ago, and these indicated that there would be required only for spring work.

INDIGESTION IS ENTIRELY GONE STATES KELLY

Old Time Strength Has Returned and Feels Like a Brand New Man Since Taking Tanlac, Declares Hamilton Citizen.

"Tanlac has restored me to perfect health, and the best I can say for it is not as good as it deserves," said John Kelly, an employe of the Ford Car Assembling Company, residing at 12 Bold St., Hamilton, Ont.

"Ten years ago I have a severe case of pneumonia which left me in an awful weakened condition, and a few weeks later I had an attack of grippe. My stomach got all out of order, and I could scarcely eat enough to keep me alive. For six weeks my legs were so weak I just had to hobble around on crutches, and my back and shoulders hurt awfully. I couldn't stoop over without hurting so bad I thought my back would break. I couldn't bring my hands together in front of me because of the pains in my shoulders. I was constipated nearly all the time.

"Well, since taking Tanlac I know it is a wonderful builder. It gave me a shale of an appetite after I had been sick in bed for months, and my food giving me indigestion like I used to, it got to agreeing with me wonderfully so that I always had plenty of strength and energy. In fact, I feel as well today as I ever did in my life, and can do as good a day's work as any man. Tanlac can't be recommended too highly."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

WHAT VISITORS COST CANADA

Full Report Has Been Tabled in the House of Commons.

Ottawa, March 16.—The cost to Canada during the past year of entertaining various missions which came to this country has been tabled in the Commons by W. S. Fielding. The visit to the French mission entailed an expenditure of $9350, and those of the Prime Minister for New Zealand and Australia, Lord Jellicoe, of the British House, $720; Canadian representation at the Washington Disarmament Conference cost the country $18,500, and for representation at the Genoa Economic Conference, a provision of $35,00 was made.

For the repatriation of ex-soldiers and their dependants during the year $81,911 was expended, and under emergency relief, unemployment relief, there are several items. Construction works in Dominion parks to provide employment for workless men entailed a cost of $81,291; emergency relief and relief to unemployed $300,206; and department of soldiers' civil re-establishment for assistance to unemployed ex-soldiers $510,348.

CANADA'S POPULATION

SOME OF THE FIGURES SHOWN BY RECENT CENSUS.

Ontario Contains One-Third of Entire Population of Dominion of Canada, But Has Lost Its Commercial Supremacy and Voting Strength Is Gradually Drifting From the East.

Publication of the results of the census of 1921 turns attention to the gradual shifting westward of what may be called the centre of gravity in respect of population and parliamentary representation in Canada. Ontario, with a population of 2,933,662 in 1921, is the home of almost exactly one-third of the people of the Dominion. In 1911, Ontario, with 2,523,276 people, boasted 25 per cent. of the inhabitants of Canada. Quebec—whose population determines the unit of representation in the eastern province of Prince Edward Island, from which there has been a pretty constant stream of emigration to Western Canada for years. Prince Edward Island had 94,021 people in 1921, according to the census returns. Its population increased until in 1891 it had 109,078 dwellers on its area of 2,184 square miles. Since then its population has declined until to-day its people number 88,615 or five thousand less than in 1871. At that, Prince Edward Island has a greater density of population than any of the other and larger provinces, namely 40.5 persons per square mile.

Ontario's population has grown from 1,620,851 in 1871 to 1,914,428 in 1881 to 2,114,321 in 1891 to 2,182,947 in 1901 to 2,523,276 in 1911, and reached 2,933,054 in 1921.

With the opening up for settlement and the development of the great territory west of the Great Lakes, the weight of population has shifted westward. In 1871 there were only 108,476 inhabitants in that western land out of a total population of 3,689,257 in the Dominion. In 1881 there were 152,165 out of a total population of 4,324,810. In 1891 the number of inhabitants of the western half of the Dominion had doubled. There was a population of 339,646 souls west of the Great Lakes out of 4,833,239 in all Canada. In 1901, there were 646,517 people in Western Canada out of 5,371,315 in the Dominion.

In 1911, the Western Provinces and territories had 1,742,182 people, approximately 20 per cent. of the population of the Dominion and according to the 1921 census they have 2,490,282 inhabitants or approximately 33 per cent. of the total population. They will be represented after the next redistribution of constituencies by 69 members in the House of Commons.

The increase in the Dominion's population and the spread of settlement into new provinces has been reflected by increases in membership of the House and changes in the representation of the provinces. Under the next representation act, the People Act, the House will likely consist of 241 members distributed as follows: Ontario, 81; Quebec, 65; Nova Scotia, 14; New Brunswick, 11; Prince Edward Island, 4; Manitoba, 14; Saskatchewan, 16; Alberta, 12; British Columbia, 14; Yukon, 1. In the House, which assembled immediately after Confederation, there were 181 members, of whom 82 came from Ontario, 65 from Quebec, 19 from Nova Scotia and 15 from New Brunswick. Manitoba entered the Confederation in 1871 and was accorded four members. British Columbia joined and was given six members in 1871. Prince Edward Island and other six members. The Representation Act of 1872 increased the House to 211 members by raising Ontario's representation to 82 and Manitoba's to five. In the same Parliament, the Northwest Territories were given four members and the Commons membership rose to 215.

The Representation Act of 1906 gave the House 221 members and took cognisance of the organization of the new Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. The House was constituted as follows: Ontario, 86; Quebec, 65; Nova Scotia, 18; New Brunswick, 13; Prince Edward Island, 4; Yukon, 1; Saskatchewan, 10; Alberta, 7; British Columbia, 7; Yukon, 1. The redistribution of 1914, brought another reduction in the representation of the Eastern Provinces and increases in the West. Ontario was given 82; Quebec, 65; Nova Scotia, 16; New Brunswick, 11; Manitoba, 15; Saskatchewan, 16; Alberta, 12; British Columbia, 13; Yukon 1.

Prince Edward Island would have had only three members but legislation was passed providing that the representation of a province in the Commons should not fall below the representation in the Senate. Prince Edward Island now has retained four members in the Commons and the membership of the House stood in the last Parliament at 235. Another redistribution must be made, however. By it, the representation of the Eastern Provinces in the House will likely be reduced by three members while that of the four Western Provinces will be increased by a dozen.

FISH EAT FEVER GERMS

Pacific Coast of South America Free of Fever at Last.

Lima, Peru, March 17.—The Pacific coast of South America is free from yellow fever for the first time in history and a little fish locally known as "Pejie" has been the most effective agent in the battle to rid Peru of the dreaded disease.

The fish, which will have to be scientifically identified in Washington was found to be the most active destroyer of mosquito larvae. More than 700,000 of them have been distributed by canoes and throws in all the water containers in the houses in the Departments of Lambayeque and Libertad. For an ordinary water container of two or three gallons, two or three fish were sufficient.

No food was provided so that the hungry fish would live on the organic matter in the water. Every night or ten days inspectors visited the houses to make sure the fish were still living and doing their work.

The final chapter of yellow fever campaign is being written by Dr. Henry Hanson of the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, which is sending large sums to help the government of Peru rid her territory of the dreaded pest.

Seven hundred miles of the coastal section of Peru have been the battleground of the campaign and the estimated number of deaths is 1,200. For months Dr. Hanson and his associates have fought heroically to keep back the advancing lines of the scourge, at times it was feared that the epidemic would spread south to Lima, the Peruvian capital, and to Guayaquil, Ecuador, but the campaign has resulted in a victory for the health forces.

There has been no cases since July 1921, but the work is still going on as a precautionary measure. Dr. Hanson has about 125 men working in the coastal region in the south and will continue until about May. They do not intend to leave the faintest doubt when they have finished that there is any danger of fever lurking in Peru. This is expected to be the last yellow fever campaign on the Pacific coast of South America.

ALBURTUS CONTINUES TO AMUSE AND MYSTIFY LARGE AUDIENCES

Alburtus, the Miracle Man, continues to amuse and mystify large audiences nightly. His performance opens with a wonderful exhibition of crystal gazing, for one half hour at each night he answers all sorts of questions submitted to him, establishing a record at this performance by answering forty-three questions in thirty minutes, some of which embraced misplaced or stolen property, domestic complications, as to the future success in business of the inquirer, and numerous other varied questions, and soon proved too exact for this master mind.

Seeing with a thousand eyes into the past and the masked future, Alburtus announces at every performance that he will answer all proper questions submitted.

The second portion of Alburtus' program offers a wonderful study in the science of hypnosis, and escape from public restraint, into this portion of his program he has injected considerable humor, the antics of his students at times scaling the audience into roars of laughter. One factor that has helped Alburtus' performances more so popular with Belleville theatre-goers is his rapid-fire line of pleasing patter which keeps the audience constantly in good humor.

In addition to the above exhibitions of Alburtus, a program of entertaining photoplays has been arranged for exhibition commencing Thursday Meighen in "The Easy Road", with Accord in a new chapter of the western drama "Days of the West". Also the first of a series of travels with the Prince of Wales on his 50,000 mile journey. The latter program will be repeated again to-night, and Saturday matinee and night.

ITALY FRIENDLY TOWARD RUSSIA

Rome, March 16.—Parliament opened to-day with the strictest formality and ceremony, and under the unusual absence of the usual agitation. There was no heckling and no necessity for the use of the gavel to quiet turbulent scenes.

Signor de Facta in his address reviewed the situation at home and abroad. He asserted that exceptional methods for balancing the budget and eliminating the deficit were incompatible with the best of sentiments toward Germany and Russia, and he declared that Germany would respect her engagement and become an element for peace and reconstruction in Europe. He hoped the commercial agreement already concluded with Russia would be the first step in important agreements when the two countries had taken better stock of their mutual conditions and resources. The premier added that the Government was bending its efforts to prepare for the Genoa conference, whereat Italy's brave victors and vanquished would meet to discuss mutual interests.

Mr. McKenzie says that the money is deposited in a regular bank until needed for loans in the regular way, for the cash finding its way almost directly to the provincial treasurer for his use. Provincial bonds are taken as security by the Provincial Bank.

IRELAND'S HAPPY DAY OF DAYS

ter to secure such adornment, for sure local tiyrists have a liberal supply for sale. One florist interviewed, had a window full of Shamrocks, some in full bloom, and still another has the genuine patty green, grown in Ireland's bread. There are no pieces of the sold Peat sod for sale, however.

St. Patrick post cards, stationary and favours are not moving as rapidly as former years, according to the state ments of Front St. merchants who were interviewed. One lady stated that it was difficult to buy real good novelties this season as the salesmanship did not carry as complete a line as usual.)

"What would you attribute this to?" pertured the scribe.

"Either the stagnant condition of affairs throughout the world, or possibly the phase in Ireland," was the reply.

At all events, such is the case, there being also fewer clay pipes and smaller quantities of Irish shag being sold, although a leading Front St. jeweller who decorated his window with shamrocks and pipes found an increase in business, so his saleshop stated. He appealed to the Irish population and found their hearts as warm as ever.

The Catholic Women's League will hold an Irish concert and lecture this evening in St. Michael's Academy, in commemorica of St. Patrick's Day.

RHEUMATISM vs. T.R.C.'s

Lumbago, Neuritis, Sciatica

Have you given up? Have you resigned yourself to that old, gnawing pain that nothing seems to relieve? Do you think because you can't go to Hot Springs or take some expensive treatment that you must suffer indefinitely? We have many cases considered hopeless, tried everything but knife, electricity, who found relief by using T.R.C.'s. ("Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules"). We have thousands of letters that prove T.R.C.'s to be the most practical and successful Rheumatic remedy ever offered. Don't suffer another day. Get a box today.

PRAISES WORK OF G. W. V. A.

To The Editor of "Shrapnel Corners" Intelligencer

Dear Sir:—Allow me a few words in connection, also in favour of the G. W. V. A., for one I am a member of the G. W. V. A. But some members have dropped out of it to join the O. A. U. V. and the knocking they do against the G. W. V. A., is enough to make any one sick. They don't seem to realize how much value the G. W. V. A. really is to the returned man at this time—non-official agencies in combating unemployment and distress in all parts of the country. Statistics compiled from reports of 700 out of 827 branches show cash disbursements for relief since November 1st of approximately $1,400,000, while clothing collected and distributed, meals provided through gratuitous committees and service, shelter, medical attendance etc., were valued at not less than another million, making a total of approximately two and a half millions. No single institution has attempted to cope with the present problem upon such a broad scale. The work was carried on last year in like proportions.

COME ON ALL YOU BILLIARD PLAYERS

During the last year several billiard tournaments have been run off by the members and suitable prizes given, to the winner, the runner up and the highest break, at the present time we are taken the names for another tournament, any member interested in this line of sport should call at the billiard association rooms and get full particulars.

NO MEDALS GRANTED FOR HOME SERVICE

London, March 17.—The announcement yesterday in the House of Commons that the Army Council had decided not to grant medals for home service during the war, was received with cheers. The Secretary of State for War, Right Hon. Sir W. Worthington-Evans, was reminded that special constables had received medals, but he replied that they were not army medals.

G.W.V.A. COMBATS UNEMPLOYMENT

Association Has Been Active in Relieving Distress and Want.

During the past two years, the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada can lay claim to having been one of the most active—if not the most active—non-official agencies in combating unemployment and distress in all parts of the country. Statistics compiled from reports of 700 out of 827 branches show cash disbursements for relief since November 1st of approximately $1,400,000, while clothing collected and distributed, meals provided through gratuitous committees and service, shelter, medical attendance etc., were valued at not less than another million, making a total of approximately two and a half millions. JUNIOR CITY COUNCIL IN SSESION ability of editing and publishing the paper discussed at our last meeting. Both these gentlemen offered me half a page in their respective papers. It would be to our great benefit to accept their offer. Instead of adding an individual paper would cost $25, reach only a few people and would be an unprofitable venture. Whereas, on the other hand, ante-columns would attract the notice of 5,000 readers and cost us nothing.

A duplicate copy of each item of news is to be made so that each newspaper will receive its at the same time.

The paper committee adjourned and returned to the meeting.

Ald. Day—We will adopt the advice of The Intelligencer and The Ontario, to edit a weekly paper. Seconded by Ald. Jones—Carried.

Moved and seconded that Ald. Curry, it be appointed editor, and that every member of the Council be a reporter and submit all news to him.

Mayor Hayes then took the chair.

Ald. Crozier—I move that the Junior Council challenge the Senior Council to any game from checkers to rugby or any other game played on the land, water or in the air.

Ald. Day—I resolved that the games be limited to indoor and outdoor baseball and the same to be played a sprint. There will be no games of chance.

Ald. Redfern—Has any answer been given to the challenge? Is it great to play boys' work?

Mayor Hayes—There has been no answer. Definite business was then subject to discussion.

West Athletic Grounds

Ald. Bunkard—I move that the Junior Council look into the matter of the pontoon bridge that is proposed to be built across the marsh to Zwick's Island.

Mayor Hayes—Col. Ponton proposed that the bridge should start by beginning below the Devil's Elbow and that the island be made into an athletic ground.

Ald. Bunkard—I move that the island be utilized as an athletic ground. Poles could be filled in and the land levelled for a baseball diamond by the city engineer and a half mile track built around it. A wharf could be built for deep draught boats. Aquatic sports could be included, and bathing house should be a feature.

Mayor Hayes, when interviewed on this matter, informed the Council that the Lions' Club were looking after an athletic field and would start operations as soon as their options were completed. It will be built this year.

Moved by Ald. Bunkard and seconded by Ald. Redfern that the Council adjourn.—Carried.

The next meeting, to be held on March the 30th, will be very important and as new bylaws will be introduced.

Thin Blood Like Skim Milk

JUST as milk is a perfect food, so is blood a perfect nourisher of the cells and tissues of the body.

But thin, watery blood is like thin, watery milk with the cream skimmed off, and you do not look for much nourishment in skim milk.

Impaired heart's action is one of the first results of a weakened condition of the blood. There is shortness of breath, the circulation of the blood is imperfect, you are easily tired and suffer from indigestion.

The heart is a tireless and prodigious worker so long as it is supplied with an abundance of pure, rich blood with which to replace its own waste.

To overcome this starved condition of the system it is necessary to supply to the blood in condensed and easily assimilated form the elements of nature which go directly to supply the nutritive factor in the blood.

These ingredients are found in happy combination in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Gentle though wonderfully potent in action, this restorative treatment feeds the blood, and through the medium of the blood sends new vigor and energy to every cell and tissue of the human body. The heart's action is strengthened and the feelings of fatigue and lassitude disappear.

CITY OF WIZARDS

Place of Weird Wonders is Located in Lower Burma.

According to Natives, the People There Possess Supernatural Powers of Both Man and Demon.

There is a town in Lower Burma which is surely the most weird and uncanny place on the map.

Few Europeans have ever penetrated to it, but Indians who have been there declare it is inhabited by wizards and necromancers who wield strange powers.

Visitors who enter this town of Kala Thanpyet six said to be doomed. A native who went there found a terrible silence brooding over the place. His bearers would not enter the place, declaring that the marshes which almost encircle it are the abode of beings, neither human nor supernatural, but possessing the characteristics of both man and demon.

The woods are entirely devoid of birds. The strangest noises and grotesque noises are heard coming from deeper parts of the forest. The night is made hideous with the noise of gongs and the wild chanting of wizards invoking the spirits of the dead to appear.

Strange are the stories of miracles told about this town. A trader saw a fowl taken out of a bag, its head cut off and cooked. Another saw in which the bird, when placed on the ground, walked away.

Another trader in Burma has sworn that he saw a necromancer expand himself to more than twice the size of a balloon, collapse, and disappear to the sound of an explosion!

There are wizards who believe they can change themselves into the shape of wild animals, and they strike terror into the hearts of shy, superstitious natives.

Women who have been subbed with oil sanctified by a wizard are said to lose their reason and to flee away into the jungle, there to become the Occult Revive. They retain their human shape for seven days, and if within that period a man shall anoint himself to the same process of being assisted with the magic charm, and shall follow the woman to the woods and swear by her to her love, at the end of the seven days she is transformed into a tigress.

Italian Industry Threatened.

In the sulphur districts of southern Italy, American competition dominates, and unless some understanding can be reached with American producers it is difficult to see how this important industry can continue to operate. During the first years in which American sulphur found a ready market for it in the market, an agreement for a division of territory was entered into with the Sicilians, but at present the superiority of the American companies over their competitors is so great that there would appear to be no reason why they should make concessions. However, it is reported that a representative of the American sulphur producers is now in Italy with a view to discussing the situation.—Commerce Reports.

Send Nurses to Nicaragua.

A large area a few miles north of Wimennuca, Nev., is covered with sand dunes that were formed since Lake Lahontan disappeared. These dunes are fully 75 feet thick, and their steeper slopes are on the east side, indicating that the whole vast field of sand is slowly moving toward the west. The march of this sand is irresistible, and the government has constructed a number of changes in the roads in the southern part of Little Humboldt valley during the past year. Instead of places in this region the telegraph poles have been buried so deep that they have had to be spliced in order to keep the wires above the crests of the sand dunes. The sand is of a light cream-yellow color and forms beautiful ridges and waves that are covered with an artistic fretwork of wind ripples.

Making Real Rubies.

In the Atelier Industrielle in Paris there are chemists who are able to accomplish by a few hours' work what nature requires thousands of years to complete.

It was after years of experimenting, that M. Wernueil produced in his own laboratory a genuine ruby. Since then not only rubies, but many tinted sapphires also have been made. That they are the real article, perfect as nature's precious stones, is proved, and many pronounce them superior, for they contain exactly the same substances as natural gems, and are formed by mechanical forces that are similar to those employed by nature in her laboratory underground.—Popular Science Monthly.

Jokes on the Joker.

The bookkeeping class and the psychology class were the only ones which recited on the deserted third floor. I got into the back of the last class, where the skeleton used by the physology class was kept. The rest of the members entered and took their seats. I planned to groan and make ghastlike noises to frighten them. I started to move about and knocked the skeleton down. The teacher opened the door quickly. "Joe" he inquired, how I felt at this moment, with the skeleton on top of me.—Exchange.

Ottawa, March 17.—R. S. Webb, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Buenos Aires, reports that prospects for Canadian trade in the Argentine are brighter than for at any time during the past year, owing to the falling exchange rate, improved position in export trade, and increasing number of inquiries for Argentine importers.

SOUTH AFRICAN TROUBLES.

Yesterday's news despatches convey the gratifying intelligence that the uprising in South Africa is at an end. Whether this uprising was planned by Bolshevist agents from the start, or developed naturally from the unrest of the miners in the Rand, is not at present certainly known; but it is certain that it is likely grew to be very dangerous both in character and proportions. A large number if not the majority of the insurrectionists appear to be extreme radicals who aim at setting up a "workers' republic" after the pattern of the Russian proletarian oligarchy.

Another danger which may be even more menacing than that of Bolshevism is the bad effect which this uprising is likely to have on the natives. Many of them have been killed by the fighters since the trouble started in the Rand; many others have been made to suffer in various ways. Most of the natives are of Kaffir stock, the most intelligent, enlightened and courageous of the African races in South Africa there are some seven millions of them, and only 1,500,000 white men of all races. The most terrible calamity that could befall in South Africa would be a general uprising of the blacks against the whites; and armed conflicts between opposing sections of the white population tend to increase the danger of such a rising.

England's interests were never well protected when General Smuts took command of the situation. With his keen soldierly eye the former Boer leader in the South Africap war realized that the strike issue was but camouflage and that he would be compelled to meet force by force.

It is gratifying to know that loyal Dutch burghers have rallied round England and given him ample fighting strength. Once again he has saved the Union. As a statesman he routed in the political field his own racial kinsmen who would have disrupted South Africa in a spirit of revenge. As a soldier he has united the fighting men of both races in standing up to an armed attempt to destroy the State. It is a special providence for his country that it should produce in Smuts a genius to guide it in this critical stages of its history.

BARNUM WAS RIGHT.

These seem to be palmy days for swindlers, what with Ponzis and "boy Ponzis," and bucketshops and gentlemen who can multiply one-dollar bills ad libitum, by means of two sticks of wood. The "easy mark" himself is not lacking, as one of the most astonishing cases now engaging the attention of the Barry, Wales, police court shows. Three prisoners are alleged to have been carrying on "stupendous and gigantic turf frauds," whereby people in all parts of the world are said to have been victimized. Cities in England, Wales, the United States, Canada and Italy have contributed to the "get-rich-quick" scheme, whereby for the investment of £100 a permanent income of £17 a week was guaranteed, the increment to be made in connection with English racing transactions. Among those who have been pouring their money into the coffers of these financial wizards are lawyers, doctors, clergymen, tradesmen, colliers, policemen, sailors, soldiers, "old ladies, young ladies, married ladies, single ladies,—in fact, every part of the community."

In January and February, 1921, it is said that no less a sum than $760,000 was received,—"and while money still poured in, the interest was not going out very regularly." People in humble circumstances realized on all their assets, selling their war loan stock, mortgaging their houses and getting rid of their farms in order to have some kind of share in this wonderful scheme. A large number, according to the prosecuting counsel, gave up their work. "Why work when they could get £17 every Tuesday morning for every £100 they invested?" The number of accounts between August 6 and September 16, 1920, was 3,856, and 225 included in these accounts "did not have a penny apiece." It reads like a regular "South Sea bubble." Truly, the number of the credulous is legion, and neither education nor example suffices to protect them.

Exit hockey—now for an exciting game of marbles.

India, Egypt, Ireland, South Africa—but never Canada.

Uncle Sam, with customary astuteness, may claim priority payment for his bill of $261,000,000, for occupation of Germany, but that certainly does not imply that it is as good as handed in the already bulging vaults of the U. S. treasury.

Progress toward perfection in radio stations and receivers, that enables more hearts and more ears effectively to be heard at great distances, will be certain to induce anything but a harmonious feeling among phonographic interests.

Arkansas has substituted electrocution for hanging, and the other day twelve attempts were made to electrocute a negro criminal before they succeeded in killing him. That is worse than being strung up by a lynching party.

A favorite method of riding into newspaper prominence in connection with famous mystery cases seems to be on receiving tions of men of the night disposing of a mysterious black bundle on the night of the tragedy.—Similar stories were circulated in both Sir Seaull and Delorme mysteries.

MATERIAL FOR A "RED".

Kitchener Record.

The action of the obedient boy, who refused to do a little extra work because "it is not my job," threw the farmer into one of his fits. He had been misled by the mine manager and says the boys are not up to the "old days." Time would have gone on quite anyway. That lad is promising material for a "Red" and is being utilized in an efficient school.

SORRY OR GLAD

Edmonton Bulletin

The head of one of the large flour milling concerns says that there is no chance of flour going down while wheat is worth its present price, and that if wheat goes up flour will have to follow the lead. The announcement is one to leave the householder wondering whether he ought to be sorry for himself or glad for the country. As a consumer he would like cheaper flour, but as a unit in the mass he must recognize that the farmer needs the money and that if he gets it everybody will share in the benefits.

HARVEY'S OPINION MELLOWED

Hamilton Spectator.

Prior to his appointment as U. S. Ambassador to the Court of St. James, Colonel Harvey was not noted for pro-British attitude. As with others, however, close contact with British statesmen and others has mellowed his opinion to such an extent that he is now accused of under-friendliness, and his recall is demanded by Senator Reed of Missouri. There is no denying that he is friendly to all things British by the latter individual.

SPRING

The skies are dull, and cold and gray,
And snowflakes flutter through the air;
How dark and cold it seems to-day!
Oh, how I wish that Spring were here!

But hark! What is that sound out there?
A birdie twittering, faint but clear;
Though dark the day and cold the air,
A robin's carolling, "Spring is here."

And look down there beside that gate,
A snowdrop peeping through the snow;
Old Winter may be staying late,
But now I know he'll have to go.

My life seemed gray, just like the sky,
A friend I loved I thought had gone;
But I've learned that friendships never die,
And my heart now echoes, "Spring has come."

Letters to The Editor

Dear Sir,—Just a small space in your valuable paper in answer to an item I read in the Intelligencer, I noticed you mentioned about Mayor Hanna and Mr. Henderson, the street foreman, taking people to the British water in their cars, whisky I think, was a very good act. But which, do you think, would have been the better act—to get people across the water who lived on dry land, or the people who were working around in ten inches of water, try to save their stuff which was soaking wet, also fires out and could not get near them to keep them going? I might say I was left in this condition, and with small children in the house as well, if it had not been for Mr. Henderson, the street foreman, and another gentleman whose name I do not know. But I want to thank both of these men for their kindness to us. —Could not something be got done to stop the rain a damp house all night without any fires just for the lack of some one coming to get them. But those men cars were very busy in caring for others that were on dry land and not in ten inches of water with feet soaking wet. Now I think it is time our City Council should try to get boats or cars on the bay another spring when they know what it is. If a man says he can't get you with his car, why there is no excuse for him with a boat. But as it was, I got to dry land O.K. But it was by the will of these two men. Before I close I would like to say that we had lots of water and no fire to boil it with.

I remain yours truly,

U.S. SEEKS AID FROM CANADA

Coal Situation Begins to Worry the Authorities at Washington.

Washington, March 17.— With growing fear of a nation-wide coal strike, which may affect both hard and soft coal fields, it is possible that the President may call a general conference in Washington of operators and mine workers' officials. Fearful that the industrial and political effect of a strike, some of the President's close advisers favor the idea of a conference. The President is expected to take up the matter on his return from Florida on Saturday.

If the threatened strike develops, the United States industries will turn to Canada's coal supply for partial relief, though many non-union mines will continue to operate.

Bituminous coal miners who have voted to strike on April 1, "come what may, will have the support of the American Labor movement in their struggle," President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, said in a statement to-night.

THE CITY AFTER DARK

By BYRON STAUFFER

The social, yea the moral, test of a city is the extent to which people go after the sun goes down. When the laborers are stowed away, the vault combination turned, the safe closed and the office locked—whither bound then for the next six hours?

Chicago is a really dark; it is the best lighted city in America. Fifty thousand lights are turned on at dusk which make many a land. Every Chicago, with four times our population, has six thousand more lights. In the theater district of 7,500,00 tallow candles to illumine our streets, and as many more for our homes. It is as if every man, woman and child were given twenty-six wax candles, and all at once, every evening.

Light helps crowds. When Kingsway was cut through the centre of old London, the streets which had attended in the dark immediately vanished. Bishop Fowler used to say he too hung on to a street light like into a rat hole, you destroy the nest of that hole for rat purposes forever. Well, the lights are on in the city every evenings? Well, sixty-five thousand attend plays or movies. As many more are in the cafes. Many are busy taking a walk down a nearby business street.

Five thousand men are at ladies Do not worry, wife; the police room will furnish hubby with fellowship, protection and a higher order of things.

Another five thousand are in the gymns and rinks. A much smaller number, 2,500 I think, are at the literary societies and the libraries.

Twenty-five thousand young people are dancing; only half of them in public dance halls. I saw a thousand on one floor. The dances were not all exactly desirable. Quite a few young girls arrived at the dance hall unaccompanied. The program continued. I was told, until one in the morning. On our homeward journey we passed at least a dozen large churches—all dark as pitch. The dozen churches represented an investment of over a million; many contained organs of unspeakable grandeur and expense. I wondered whether these auditoriums or at least the lecture-rooms, could not be utilized as well-supervised places of amusement for the young.

Many of the young people attending churches live in flats, apartments or small cottages, and the public hall is to them what the private dance is to the more fortunate people of Rosedale and the Hill.

At present we are suffering from unregulated dances, many managed by so-called clubs which are really a few men bent on commercializing the taste for dancing.

If the city council or the board of education could control these gatherings by the appointment of competent supervisors, there is no reason why dancing could not be made as safe and wholesome as any male exercise; the dances should be sternly censored. The most serious feature of the present state of affairs for young women is the promiscuous acquaintanceships formed, and the perils that may pursue.

I saw six young women bubbling a motor-boat at the Technical School. A twenty-six-year-old lady was hanging domestic art. Two hundred people were listening to a lecture on "Light and Salmonella." A large class; including two clever-looking Japs, were being taught watch-making. In short, I saw seven thousand people, old and young, receiving instruction from three hundred devoted teachers. There were lessons in cooking, tailoring, dressmaking, millinering, clothes-designing, and household economics. Five women were artistically decorating a room. A group of men were building a tiny bungalow; others were wiring rooms for electricity; still others were putting in plumbing and steam-fitting. There were lessons in clay-modelling, pottery, drawing, chemistry, languages, music and arithmetics. Counting the matriculation and university courses at the Y. M.C.A., the high schools and the public schools, there are more than twelve thousand people receiving instruction every evening during the winter months.

Watching these night school students and recalling the motley crowd I saw at a certain dance-hall I knew who will be the masters and who the slaves in fifteen years from now. Which will you be, young fellow?

Tinker Bob Stories

by Carlisle H. Holcomb

SOMETHING WRONG IN THE FOREST

Tinker Bob was interested in Mr. Owl's story. Soon after, he saw them coming out of the forest he was more interested than ever. But, something was strange about them. It was not that they chased chattering so they came bounding out of the forest. They bounded out of the forest in an entirely different manner. The leader, who seemed to be most interested in Tinker Bob's investigations was so full of chattering that something had gone wrong in the forest.

"What in the world is the matter?" said Tinker Bob, as a big monkey came up to the leader and began chattering as fast as ever he could.

Suddenly the leader seemed to grasp the meaning of what was said by this chattering fellow and he bounded into the forest as fast as he could go. The King and Silky looked at each other and then looked at Tim, the Elephant, as much as to say, "Well, what do you think of that?"

"Tinker knew that something exciting was happening or going to happen and he too, went into the forest as fast as he could go. Such chattering and barking you never heard. There was not only a dozen but several dozen Gorillas all talking at once. They paid no attention to Tinker Bob for they were interested in something more exciting.

"What is it all about?" cried Tinker and he followed them thru the forest. They did not answer. Now they were away ahead of the King for they can travel some. There were those who traveled thru the trees and some who traveled on the ground.

He bounded into the forest as fast as he could go.

not catch him. Then it was that Tinker Bob showed his power as he has done so many times in the forest at home.

He tapped another Stego and the creature could not move another step. And out of his mouth dropped the baby Gorilla. What would have happened, had not the King of the Forest been on hand, it would have taken much time to tell. Enough for me to tell you now is that the Gorillas of the Jungle land were so happy that they wanted to make Tinker Bob their King.

A Doctor's Vision Realized

Victuric Product in World Wide Demand

The very month that the great Dr. Bell, Alexander Bell, G. Jackson placed ROMAN MEAL, made in Toronto, on the Canadian market. Because it was a balanced food made from whole wheat and rye cut into the proportions of health with bran and linseed, the doctor dreamed of serving it all over the English speaking world. But war came and Roman Meal waited content except ROMAN MEAL for a time almost disappeared from the market. Yet the demand has survived and to-day it is shipped to British, South Africa, Australia, Hong Kong, Glasgow, Scotland, Harrogate and several others. A $2,000,000 corporation has been formed to market this Canadian product in the United States. Its profits also are coming back to Toronto and Toronto, and Dr. Jackson's dream is fast being realized.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

No girl ever forgets the first man who tells her she's been an inspiration to him, even if, five years later, she concluded that she probably didn't mean it.

Miss Frances Hawkins, California girl, is carving her way through the University of California by teaching fellow students to whistle in real demi tasses.

That a movement to organize a political party composed exclusively of women to be half equal to a party to-day, with every prospect that it will be in working order by the time the next general election is held.

That women police are the latest addition to the force of Perth, which has the reputation of being exceptionally good, and easily comparable with police forces in the cities of foreign countries.

That Palm Beach reports that meagy crushes are the world for evening, and among the favored styles are jade chiffon over gold and silver draping effects, or having long bead fringes that are caught and hung in loops on skirt and waist.

That a new French hand colored frock which "glooms the day or weeks" lilac and the short skirt and bands of dark brown nanzoon outlining the short sleeves and the crossed draping on the skirt, while a wide brown ribbon brocaded in silver formed the deep low girdle, which was looped at the side and whose long ends trailed the floor.

CANADIAN VETERAN SUICIDES IN CROWD

New York, March 17.—Hundreds of men, women and children, crowding a platform on the Ninth avenue elevated line on their way home to-night, were horrified to see William Oliver, 30, a former Canadian soldier, jump in front of an oncoming train, which crushed him to death before the brakes could be applied. "God have mercy on my soul," he had written in a note found in his clothing.

RUSSIAN COMMUNISTS HOLD HOUSE CLEANING

Moscow, March 17.—The cleaning of the Communist party which rules Russia has resulted in the past two months in the expulsion of 8,413 members, out of 400,000 examined.

In the case of local offenses, the Cheka (police) agents make a severe distinction between Communists and non-Communists, the former being often held to strict account on the ground that as a Communist his code should be higher.

NIAGARA FRUIT PROSPECTS

Toronto, March 17.—"Prospects for the Niagara fruit crop are all right so far," said Erland Lee, a prominent grower of the Stony Creek section yesterday. This statement bears out the opinion expressed by fruit men at recent meetings in the Niagara peninsula. According to many authorities present favorable weather prospects are overshadowed by themselves. "Perhaps it is the weather," says George S. Wilson, Agricultural Representative at St. Catharines, "but growers in this neighborhood are feeling more encouraged than has been the case for many years past."

HIGH COST OF LIVING IS STILL STRONG IN VIENNA

Vienna, March 17.—The cost of living is still skyrocketing here. It increased 21 per cent. in January. Taking 100 as the index for the beginning of 1921, it reached 924 in December and 1,161 by the middle of January, 1922.

ARGUMENT HAS BEGUN IN FREIGHT RATES CASE

Ottawa, March 16.—The arguments of counsel in connection with the freight rate equalization case, before the Board of Railway Commissioners started this morning. H. J. Stockdale, K.C., representing the Province of Manitoba, made a long speech in which he argued for lower rates for the Prairie Provinces, pointing out that he called undeserved injustices to the present rates. It is likely that C. G. McGreer, K.C. of British Columbia will follow.

KINGSTON SHIP OWNERS TO RAISE RATES 25 P.C.

Kingston, Ont., March 16.—At a meeting of the vessel-owners in Kingston it was decided to reduce freight rates 25 per cent. for the season of navigation, which opens with the break-up of the ice. The announcement was made by J. H. Sowards, one of the prominent business men of the city.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman

YOU SHOULD BE HAPPY AT YOUR HOUSEKEEPING

A Reader Friend who signs herself "Unhappy Housekeeper," has written to ask me this question: "What do you think makes a housekeeper happiest?"

My correspondent then goes on to say that she is not happy in her housework—that she drags from task to task with a leaden heart, and on most days finds herself envying over something her husband or children have said to her, "I have people to talk to all day," she finishes her letter, "but I guess I'm too morbid or sensitive, or something, to enjoy life. It's awful! I'm overworked; for, my children help me all they can when high school is out. It's just that I seem to loathe over things so easily."

Now, Reader Friends, this letter proves a point I am always fond of making—and one I am often repeatedly in this column: the point that a housekeeper needs a gripping interest outside of her housework, to keep her happy.

And it does'nt matter much what that interest is, so long as it is a thrilling one to that particular housekeeper! Some women find this absorbing interest in planning their flower gardens all winter and executing those plans in summer. Some women find it in entertaining their parties and putting the plans through. Still others find it in club life, or in the work of some charitable organization.

Whether we realize it or not, we cannot be happy if we do not have A Dream. And by "A Dream," I mean some goal to strive toward—something that will give our Ambition full play.

So, if you want my answer to the question, "What do you think makes a housekeeper happiest?" here it is: "Having an Ambition!"

The woman who drags about her housework with no thought beyond the pots and pans, is bound to have a leaden outlook. But she who trudges through her work so that she can have time to spend on some occupation dear to her heart—she is the happy woman.

And, just incidentally, an ambition makes all the difference in the world in a woman's looks. Have you never heard the remark "No, she's not beautiful, but she has so much expression that she seems beautiful." It is A Dream that gives you this keen look. Only Ambition can make a "fire wire" of you.

So, when the Reader who wrote me the above quoted letter, reads this article, I hope she will do as follows: take a steaming hot cup of coffee, curl herself up in one corner of her favorite seat, and ask herself what interests her most in life beside her family and home. If her answer is "I don't know," then begin a series of investigations to find out what proves of interest. Many a woman has fairly wrapped herself up in the art of weaving, beginning by buying a simple hand loom on which she could make small pieces such as table covers, lengths for a hand bag, or pillow tops then, later on, saving her money to buy one of the expensive foot looms on which rugs and portiers may be woven.

But, whatever you choose—choose it right away! Plunge into an Interest, and you will be caught on the tide of it and swept on to the sea of contentment.

Dempsey to Meet "Strangler" Lewis in Unique Bout

DEMPSEY READY TO MEET LEWIS

"Strangler" Challenge Has Been Accepted by Heavyweight Champion.

Nashville, Tenn., March 17.—Billy Sandow, manager of Ed. Strangler Lewis, world's wrestling champion, today deposited a check for $5,000 with the sporting editor of the Nashville Banner in connection with a challenge to Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, for a wrestling match, to be staged anywhere in the U. S. or a State to be selected later.

Lewis has challenged Dempsey to a finish match, Dempsey being eligible to enter the ring with bare fists and no either hit or wrestle, while Lewis will be confined to efforts strictly to wrestling. No holds will be barred.

"The challenge has been issued to the boxing champion," declared Sandow, "with a view of demonstrating to the public that wrestling is superior to every way to the fistic art as a means of self-defense. It is against that the challenge is accepted, $5,000 willing to wager $5,000 personally that Lewis will defeat Dempsey before a qualified referee, within 20 minutes."

It realizes that Jack Dempsey is one of the greatest boxers that ever stepped into a ring," said Lewis, "and there is no desire whatever on my part to minimize his ability, but I honestly considered that I can handle him. It is my contention that the world's heavyweight champion wrestler is superior to the champion boxer at all times."

Dempsey Accepts.

New York, March 16.—Jack Dempsey is ready to meet Ed. (Strangler) Lewis in either a straight wrestling bout or a mixed bout of boxing and wrestling, Jack Kearns, the champion's manager, declared today when informed of the challenge by Billy Sandow.

"Lewis could not throw Dempsey in 20 minutes' straight wrestling," he added.

"Dempsey is a good wrestler, and could also hold his own in a rough-and-tumble fight," Kearns said, "and would accept the side bet that the champion would last 20 minutes with Lewis, and also would wager $10,000 that Dempsey would, in a mixed bout, knock Lewis out within the time limit."

GRANITES WIN FIRST GAME FROM MONTAGNARDS

Toronto, March 17.—Montagnards, of Ottawa, will not defend the Allan Cup against Regina Victorias at the Arena on Monday and Wednesday of next week. The visiting team show a whole lot better hockey on Saturday night in the return tilt with Granites than they did against the O.H.A. champions in the first of the semi-final games last night. The Carters won 7 to 2, and they weren't lucky to gather the five-goal lead, either. He theirs because they played the best hockey, and because Harry Watson could do just about as he pleased against the Eastern champions. The Granite star darted in and out against the Montrea, bewildering them with his stick handling and skating. He scored five of the seven goals and assisted in one of the other two.

REFEREED BOUT

SPORT STUFF

OUR SPORT SERIES.

The professor will try and interest you in wrestling all of which goes to show that the prof. is an optimist if nothing else. For beginners five minutes on the mat is sufficient. Quick finishers won't take any longer, unless the wrestlers happen to be brothers in law or something and want to make a real family squabble out of the matter.

Wrestlers should be strong everywhere but in the head. They should have more than ordinary share of bone and muscle, though muscle is the predominates, but as all wrestlers are the same there ain't been any kicks yet.

Wrestling fans are said to be the most easily satisfied people in the world, and after watching some wrestling matches we can readily believe this.

After you have wrestled an opponent almost into a state of coma it is considered a great hunk of strategy to give him a running kick in the ear. This will speedily awaken him unconscious and then you've got him where you want him. Another good trick is to sneak up on him while he is standing on the mat and throw him out into the audience. This is an added advantages because it usually starts a fight in the front and there ain't nobody but wouldn't join in a fight and make things more interesting.

They're talkin' now of matching Strangler Lewis with Jack Dempsey. "Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise," some wise guy quoted once and he musta had Lewis in his mind when he was figgerin' it out.

FRENCH IDOL MAY NEVER BOX AGAIN

Carpentier Has Been in Poor Health Since Dempsey Fight.

Paris, March 17.—Georges Carpentier, the world's light heavyweight champion pugilist, may never fight again. This was the opinion expressed by medical men in close touch with Carpentier as he left to-day for La Gsarobe, his country home south-east of Rennes, where he purposes to recuperate for a few weeks and then go into training for a bout with Ted "Kid" Lewis at Olympic, London, in May.

"The boy does not realize the shape he is in," said one of the doctors who examined Carpentier prior to his departure. "His great courage and utmost confidence in himself in response to his public gratitude led to the last very sick man."

The actual weight of Carpentier after the recent operation he underwent was given out as 160 pounds, but close friends of the champion say he is below that by pounds.

Philippe Roth, promoter of the Ledoux-Criqui fight here, who is an intimate friend of Carpentier, said to the associated Press to-day: "It would be cruelty to match Georges in his present condition against anyone. God forbid that he should be defeated by Lewis."

The double pounding Carpentier received from Dempsey in his fight with Dempsey in the Jersey City arena last July summer caused Mrs. Carpentier, who saw the moving pictures of the battle, to request her husband to forsake the squared circle. It is understood that she has emphatically renewed this request during his present illness. Contrary to printed reports that income taxes had taken away all of Carpentier's available money to keep the wolf away from his door many years to come.

Medical men trace Carpentier's ill health to defeats he suffered at the hands of Billy Papke and Frank Klaus when he was only a youth and did not say it was aggravated by the punishment he received in the Jersey City fight with Dempsey.

GIBBONS BACK IN HAM CLASS

Harry Greb Ruined All His Hopes for Championship Bout.

Harry Greb, with his leaping, dashing, smashing, crashing attack, an attack of peccadilloes and harmless punches, but coming swift and fierce like a cyclone, and the undivided onset of a swarm of wasps, not especially harmful, but terribly annoying, just about ruined Tommy Gibbons' out of a career of a million dollars Monday night at New York. The win of the fiery, hop-skip-and-a-jump Pittsburger turned the Gibbons bubble and the dream of Tom and Mike (include in this Jack Kearns and Jack Dempsey), that Tom might get a crack at the present heavyweight champion. It was a return blow for Gibbons, that he hasn't been able to fathom Greb he might have been built into an opponent for Dempsey, and would have been certain of a huge sum for his end, and in the meantime his earning power would run close to that of Dempsey himself. But Greb shot the balloon of Gibbons' hopes as full of holes as a Swiss cheese. Gibbons must now go back to the job of kocking over soft ones. Greb is right up there, and if he isn't the light-heavyweight champion of the U.S. It is because Geno Tunney will not mingle with him.

The new Egyptian parliament to have the last word in approval of these negotiations.

SEAGRAM HORSES BEING HELD BY THE U.S. GOVERNMENT

Buffalo, March 17.—William Bringle, trainer of the Seagram racing stable at Waterloo, Ont., arrested by Customs officials at the International Bridge Wednesday night on charges of unlawfully importing horses into the United States, was given a hearing before Commissioner Klein to-day. Bringle waived further examination, and the complaint was turned over to the United States district attorney for action by Federal grand jury. It is expected that the trial will be brought up at this session of the jury.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

Mr. Hobson Donaldtown she brought beautiful-ing? I had rich blue eyes when we had happened to fall in—while Mr. Latour looked a little pale and worried.

"My field is not beautiful, but they say that I have a good heart," Sally assured the stranger.

They started off, I sensed myself, on a trail through the woods to another road. Just there, with Sally, were her head to see it stood still a moment in the edge of the woods, under the trees the highest branch of the period of my life.

Chris Peabody looked for an hour and I was about the middle of the next week that I received this letter from Sally:

"Dear Sar: Mr. Latour gave us and drove to Petersen in the car. Said he had to meet Mr. Parish. I think that he had seen enough of me. I began to hope that he would—he was so good looking, but mother is very glad that he went, and so am I, for our minister told us that he is one of the wealthiest young men in the state. He is very rich and very bad, they say. I wonder if old Kate heard about him. Her charm worked real saucy—didn't it? My nose was all right in the morning, but I think I can't meet you Saturday. Mother and I are packing up to go away for the summer. Don't think I shall be thinking every day of those lovely things you said to me. I don't know what they will try to do with me, and I don't care. I only think I'm free. In fact, that God has married us to each other.

"Yours forever,

"SALLY DUNNE-BERRY."

How often I read those words—or did the carelessness of the young!

CHAPTER XIII.

The Bell Fate.

Three times that winter I had seen Miss Sally Dunne-Berry. Followed the Mount Weaman clothed in rags and pointing with her finger.

The first of these times came on. He had had "blood on his feet," as they used to say, all the way from Petersen to Lewis county in his flight, having attacked and slightly wounded the man with a hatchet who had tried to detain him at Raley Lake. He had also shot at and killed a deer in the edge of Lowville, where his arrest was ordered. His bad luck followed him all these men—and as his character as a desperate man had been established, his description was sent broadcast in the face and the trades, which the book of the first three days of the search struck convinced the jury of his guilt.

I remember well the look of the Reverend Judge Gray as he announced the sentence of death upon Amos Grimshaw. A day of unusual shooting through a window at the hotel afternoon fell upon his grey-haired head, and he looked down with the meter light of his spirit. Slowly, solemnly, he pronounced the words which were to shock, as they did, the whole country. It was his way of saying them that first struck me with the dignity and majesty of the law. The kind and fatherly tone of his voice put me in mind of a priest engaged in some work in which all question and which was very familiar to me through my father and in others related to it.

Slowly the crowd moved out of the courtroom. Some of the newspaper men and calmly whispered to his lawyer, who stood at his side. He was ordered to notice him since the trial began, but now, or did he now. Many had seen that day, but not he. Mr. Grimshaw never showed but one emotion—fear of escape. He had no fear now. His face was hard and stern. He appeared as he walked from the courtroom, his cane briskly beating the floor.

The Silent Woman—as ragged as ever—was waiting on the steps. Over her head her long gray hair was blowing. He turned and struck at her with his cane and shouted in a shrill voice that sang out like a trumpet in his frenzy:

"Go 'way from me. Take her away. Take her away."

REIGN OF TERROR RESUMED TO-DAY IN CITY OF BELFAST

WILL RESUME DEBATES ON LOCAL QUESTIONS

Chamber of Commerce Announces That Open Forum Meetings Program Will be Carried Out—Well Known Citizens Will Debate Questions of Interest to Belleville Citizens—Findings Will be Incorporated in the Chamber's Program of Work.

Last season the Belleville Chamber of Commerce began a series of studies of life and conditions in our city. This course of study proceeded by an entirely original plan through the medium of open forum meetings to which the general public was invited. The various phases of city life and activity were to be considered under ten main topics, viz:—Education, Civic Affairs, The People, Business, Recreation, Employment, Accessibility, Transportation, Living conditions and Healthfulness. Eight of these study topics were covered at open forum meetings at the City Hall last winter. Two remain to be considered—Living Conditions and Healthfulness—and will be taken up at a single meeting in the very near future. As during the preceding meetings the topics will be debated by able speakers from each affirmative and negative standpoints. Three judges will score the standing for each, and a recommendation committee will endeavor to bring out finding that may be embodied in the Program of Work of the Chamber of Comerce.

The Debaters

The topic "Living Conditions" will be debated affirmatively by Mrs. W. G. Mikel, President of the Women's Christian Association, and negatively by Miss M. E. Bailey of the Provincial Department of Health who has come to Belleville and has been making a painful survey and study of living and health conditions in our city. She has already discovered many things that will occasion great interest and much surprise when reported at the meeting.

The subject "Healthfulness" will be debated affirmatively by Dr. J. L. Tower, M.C., M.D., one of the youngest physicians who has an extensive knowledge of conditions in Belleville from the standpoint of health. The negative knowledge of conditions in Belleville from the standpoint of health. The sensible side of the discussion will be led by Dr. M. S. Branscombe, who also has an extensive and accurate knowledge of his subject as it applies to Belleville and who may be expected to bring out some truths that will provide food for serious thought to all who may hear him.

In this, as in the preceding open forum meetings, community singing will be a feature and the Bridge Street Symphony Orchestra will be on hand to render some of their spirited selections. Mr. I. L. Moore, Principle of Ontario Business College, will occupy the chair. The general public is invited to these meetings. Advertising and tickets will appear within the next few days.

Healthfulness

The last century has been a period of building achievement, the present century promises to be one of human improvement. We have been hoarding knowledge and wealth and boasting of that the human mind is capable of knowing and doing, we are now ready to use this wealth and knowledge and experience for the general improvement of the race by increasing its capacity for work, service and happiness. In a word, we are turning from the objective to the subjective study of human society.

Natural Situation.

The natural situation of a town or city obviously has much to do with the promotion of health or disease. If a centre of population is placed where there is difficulty of drainage owing to the low-lying nature of the land or the like, disease and sickness breeding, marshes surrounding, the health authorities have a serious problem on their hands.

The ideal location for a city is one that is high and airy and easily drained.

Water Supply

The water supply of a city should be of the purest quality but should be tasteless and odorless and free from all forms of disease-breeding bacteria.

It is difficult to ever estimate the value of a supply of pure, fresh food to the community's health. This can not be left to caprice or individual honesty but must be insured by frequent and thorough inspection.

Milk supplied to cities should be inspected and tested not less frequently than once a month. The milk supply should also extend periodically to the dairies where bottling takes place and to the stables where the cattle are housed.

There should also be rigid and careful inspection of meats and the conditions under which it is sold both in shops and on the market.

Foods liable to adulteration or deterioration should likewise be tested and reported upon from time to time.

The foods supplied by hotels and restaurants should be inspected in a similar way and the condition of kitchens noted.

Sewerage Disposal

No city can claim to be modern that does not have a sewerage system reaching to every quarter of the municipality. The sewerage should not be permitted to pollute the streets and waterways but should be taken care of by disposal plants.

Disposal of Refuse

Garbage from dwellings and waste and residue from factories and industrial plants should be collected and disposed of as frequently as is necessary.

Prevalence of Disease

The evils and suffering caused by sickness, the danger to the community due to contagion, the burden upon the family or the city due to charges for nursing, physicians' attendance or hospital care and the loss of efficiency in the individual, make disease prevention a matter of prime importance.

The continuation of smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever, chickenpox, measles, tuberculosis and other forms of communicable but preventable dis-

SCHOOL BOARD CHANGES BANKS

By Majority Vote Members Decide to Put Account in Standard Bank.

SCHOOLS CONGESTED

Board Wants No More School Registrations Till the Fall.

At a regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education held last night the business transacted was chiefly of a routine nature. Some discussion took place relative to a motion to transfer the Board account from one bank to another with the result the motion per tained after the yeas and nays had been recorded. A fine report of High School matters presented by Principal McLaurin, as appearing elsewhere was spoken to before being referred to the School Management Committee. Some matters of general interest were attended to during the session.

Members present were Messrs: H. W. Ackerman, chairman; F. H. Chesney, K.C., Chown, J. Elliot, H. Emery, F. Harrison, A. Jones, A. Mc-Gie, F. Sharpe, G. T. Woodley, Mrs. McFie, Mrs. Chown.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Accounts, etc., were on motion, laid upon the table.

The Board went into Committee of the Whole on reports, etc., Mr. Woodley in the chair.

The Finance Committee's report re accounts was passed without discussion.

Signal System

A report was presented from Mr. F. H. Chesher in reference to the signal system in the Ann street school. The cost to make a change in the school would be about $80.

Mr. McGie—Our electric system in the schools is not satisfactory. The wires are frequently grounded on the lath, and the batteries wear out. Mr. Cresher, is familiar with the Ann street set up and his report is valuable. The bells and apparatus do not work. If this can be remedied for the amount mentioned, he would be in favor of proceeding with it.

Mr. Chesher—Bell wiring is not injurious. Put in a transformer and it would be of great service and do away with the trouble.

The report was adopted.

Communications

Miss Foster tendered her resignation as a teacher in Queen Victoria School owing to ill health.

The resignation was accepted and the matter was referred to the School Management Committee.

School Congestion

Mr. Barrager, Principal of Queen Mary school, wrote the Board on behalf of the Principals of the schools in the city relative to requesting parents not to ask for the enrolment of new pupils until September, owing to the school accommodation being overtaxed.

The Board coincided in the request owing to the congestion of the schools. Principal Mott respectfully asked that the Principals of the schools be allowed to attend the annual meeting of the Teachers' Association at Toronto.

The request was granted and the principals of the schools will select their representative.

Messrs. Ackerman and Deacon, members of the Board were selected as representatives to the Trustees' Association Convention in Toronto.

Changing Banks

Considerable discussion took place relative to a motion to change the Board's account from the Merchant's bank to the Standard Bank.

Mr. Elliott presented a statement showing the taxable properties of the banking institutions of the city and the taxes each paid to the city.

Mr. Elliott—We have not left the Merchant's banks, the bank has left us, and is merging with the Bank of Ottawa. The Bank of Montreal has the city's account. What bank has a larger staff and made more improvements than the Standard Bank, which is the heaviest tax paying bank in the city.

Mr. McGie—Has the penny bank account been considered by the banks in the matter.

Mr. Diamond—The Board has nothing to do with this account.

Mr. Pontos—It is a good policy on on the part of the Board to change the bank account. The Merchant's

KU KLUX KLAN PLEDGED TO BRING BULLOCK TO TRIAL

Lecturer for Famous Southern Secret Society So Informs an Audience in North Carolina—States Negro Will Be Returned in Ninety Days.

Hickory, N.C., March 17.—Speaking before a large audience here last night Dr. Arthur Talmadge Abernethy of Asheville, lecturer for the Ku Klux Klan, stated to a man in which he said Governor Morrison was refused extradition of a negro to Canada, and asserted that one million Klansmen from Maine to Texas had been pledged to see that the negro is returned to North Carolina for trial.

"And this will happen in the next 90 days," he added.

While Dr. Abernethy did not mention the name of the man he said was sought by the authorities of this state, the audience understood him to refer to Matthew Bullock, wanted at Norlina on a charge of attempted murder growing out of a race riot there about a year ago. Bullock was recently given his liberty by Judge Seider at Hamilton, Ont., where he was arrested when Governor Morrison refused to send witnesses to Canada to testify at the extradition hearings.

Dr. Abernethy had been discussing the efforts, he said, the Ku Klux Klan were making to assist the officers in enforcing the law. He referred to a case in Asheville, in which he said, a negro was taken to the road gang through the efforts of the Klan and told of two white women being escorted out of their homes by negroes.

It was near the close of his address that the speaker referred to the Canadian case and declared that the man sought by the authorities of this state from Canada would be returned to North Carolina for trial and that a million Klansmen from Maine to Texas were pledged to this undertaking.

Dr. Abernethy did not say what measures would be taken by the Klansmen in having the negro brought back to North Carolina, but his remarks were applauded by the audience.

INDIAN SEDITIONIST LEADER RECEIVES HEAVY SENTENCE

Ahmedabad, British India, March 18.—Mohandas K. Gandhi, the Indian Non-Cooperationist leader who was arrested recently on charges of sedition, was sentenced today to six years' imprisonment without hard labor.

ARREST MADE IN TAYLOR CASE

Unknown Canadian Soldier is Arrested on Charge of Murder.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer.

Canadian Press Leased Wire.

Los Angeles, California March 18.—A former Canadian soldier, wanted in Los Angeles in connection with the murder of William Desmond Taylor, noted film director, voluntarily surrendered to the police in Lancaster, California, and is on the way back to this city in custody of two local detectives. This fact was announced here today by the police authorities, admitted that during the war he served with Taylor in the British army.

The unnamed soldier denied any knowledge of the Taylor murder, His arrest took place after he had been identified as one of the two men who told an automobilist who gave them a lift, that they were on the "get" a former British army officer residing in California.

SUGGEST PLANS TO STOP FRESHET

Citizens Make Suggestions to The Intelligencer to Obviate Trouble.

Four years ago this spring and also two years ago, the Moira River caused much trouble, inconvenience, and considerable damage as a result of the ice jams, and the overflowing of its banks, in the city limits, between the Upper Bridge and the C.N.R. Bridge. During the past two weeks, similar conditions have prevailed, and it is appearing as though the ice jam annual event may occur, if the upper kind of winter and spring weather prevails.

Varied are the suggestions given as to how the situation may be corrected but one suggestion volunteered to The Intelligencer is well worth passing also.

The Harbor Commissioner has erected revetment walls, on the North bank, at the Upper Bridge and the Lower bridge, a splendid idea; but between the Lower and Upper bridges the banks are low, and if the city would cut off the point which juts out on the east side, between the Lower bridge and the Upper, and use the stone for a revetment wall in this section it would aid materially, and only by making this one open river course, but by building up the river bank. It was also suggested at the meeting that request the C.N.R. bridge and also between the Lower bridge and the foot bridge, also removing the piers of the Lower bridge. The bridging operations would quicken the river current and the piers would no longer interfere with the progress of the ice on its journey bay wards in the Springtime. There is a dredge at Frankford on the Trent Valley canal which could handle the work between the foot bridge and the Lower bridge at any rate.

WOMEN JUROR ASKS FOR PERMISSION TO GO HOME

Trenton, N.J., March 18.—After being locked up two nights in the local police jail, Mrs. Anna Cunningham, a mother of five children, has come to the conclusion that a woman's place is in the home. She was excused from further jury duty by Judge Martin today on her own application.

"A woman's place is not on a jury, particularly if she is married and a mother," Mrs. Cunningham said, after she had been excused. Her experiences in being locked up over night and her worry over leaving Her family alone had greatly wrought her and rendered her unfit to give her best services she said.

HIGH SCHOOL DOING GOOD WORK

Interesting and Instructive Report Presented by Principal MacLaurin.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

School Has Been Extra Successful in Departmental Scholarships.

At the Board of Education meeting on Friday evening, Principal McLaurin presented a report in reference to the High School, which was both interesting and profitable. The report was referred to the School Management Committee after some discussion in reference to social gatherings interfering with school work. A synopsis of the report is as follows:—

Organization—It is pleasing to report that the division of the middle school into three classes instead of two has resulted in a very much improved grading and judging from the reports received from the different members of the staff, and also from the marks obtained on monthly reports. The pupils are doing better work in their classes. There are still a few pupils in the middle school who are not doing the work I would like to see done, but this is due to lack of efforts on the part of the teachers, but rather to indifference and lack of application on the part of the pupils themselves.

This year for the first time we shall have pupils writing the departmental examinations from all three forms in the middle schools; one form will write on all subjects necessary for junior matriculation, and the other two forms on five papers completing the work for junior matriculation next year. The standard has raised from 40 per cent. to 50 per cent. on each subject and the percentage of 60 per cent., has been removed.

Under the new regulations in June 1922, there will be no pupils writing departmental examinations from every form in the school and it is quite possible that there may be over 250 pupils writing. The departmental examinations begin on June 13th and terminate at the end of the month. The staff is conversant of the new regulations and that so far as Belleville High School is concerned, the staff have power to recommend for entry to bring about all round success on the part of the pupils than during the present year.

Social and Literary—The teachers and pupils have co-operated so that no social evening has been arranged and no dance or "at home" has been carefully supervised. The oratorical contest held on March 10th was a decided success. Miss Chase Sankey winning the first prize and Miss Hazel Mitchell the second prize.

Athletics—The hockey team has done well and got into the finals with Brownsville High School. The girls have been active in basketball and have been a good account of themselves.

Scholarships—The following pupils have won scholarships at the recent departmental examinations, the Queen's Scholarship and Chris Carter scholarship, by Miss Dorothy Wagner; second Carter scholarship by Miss Era Rose; first Carter scholarship by Miss Margaret Mitchell. Since the inception of these Carter scholarships in 1914, Belleville High School has succeeded in capturing 21 out of a total of 24, with a cash value of $1400. Miss Betty Williams was awarded the Board scholarship of $25 for the highest aggregate on the school examination, and Miss Alice Evans, the Great War Memorial scholarship for the highest aggregate on the middle school examination. The boys continue to show a great deal of interest in the cadet corps and rifle shooting.

Memorial Tablet—Arrangements have been practically completed for the erection of the Great War Memorial tablet in honor of men who have served in the Great War. The tablet should be erected before the close of the present school term, or early in September.

Mr. Millburn returned to duty on March 16th, after a prolonged illness and was welcomed back by the members of his class and fellow teachers.

The attendance in the school has a larger average than heretofore and this is due to the new Adolescent Act and the faithful services of Mr. W. F. Ashley, School Attendance Officer.

SHOOTING AND KILLING RESUMED IN BELFAST

After a Rest on St. Patrick's Day, Terrorists Resume Operations—Bombs Thrown and Deaths Result—Women are Among the Casualties Reported—Sinn Fein Bodies Suppressed.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Ltd.

BELFAST, March 18.—The terrorists, who had remained under cover all of St. Patrick's Day, resumed their activities today. Shortly after the curfew hours a news vendor proceeding homeward on his bicycle was shot through the breast and a man was shot and killed in Newtownards Road. A bomb was thrown in Thompson Street, the missile wounding several persons. A girl who was wounded by the bomb died after being taken to the hospital. Newtownards Road was in a turmoil after the breakfast hour.

Two men dashed into Thompson Street, in the Sinn Fein district, and threw a bomb through an upstairs window of a small dwelling where an elderly woman, Rose McCreevy, and her niece, Mary Mullan, were sleeping. Pedestrians who forced an entrance found Mrs. McGreevy seriously wounded and her niece mortally wounded. The latter died before being taken to the hospital, where Miss Mullan died shortly afterward.

Early this morning the body of a man was found in Claremont Lane with a bullet through the head.

The Ulster Home Office has in the last forty-eight hours suppressed five local bodies in the 4th county area, all having Sinn Fein majorities, regarded by the Northern Government as recalcitrant. Commissioners have been appointed to discharge their duties. The bodies suppressed were: The Magherafelt (County Derry) Guardians; the Rural Councils of Cookstown (County Tyrone); Downpatrick (County Down); Lisnaskea (County Fermanagh); the City Council of Armagh.

BELLEVILLE BAR IS REPRESENTED

Col. Ponton Elected Recorder and Historian of Bar Association.

At the Canadian Bar Association in Montreal last week Colonel W. N. Ponton, K.C., was elected Recorder and Historian of the Association, which now numbers over 2000 members from coast to coast. At the close of the annual meeting of the Ontario Bar Association Colonel Ponton was elected a member of the Executive Council, on which the Belleville Bar have been continuously represented since the foundation of the Association in which they took so large a part. A historical paper prepared jointly by Mr. W. B. Herrington, K.C., and Colonel Ponton was read by the latter and was much commented on by the speakers. The next meeting of the Canadian Bar Association now embracing over 2000 members, will be held at Vancouver and Victoria in August next.

NO CHANGE IN SIR JOHN EATON'S CONDITION

NORRIS GOVERNMENT RESIGNS OFFICE

Lieut.-Governor Will Announce Course He Will Follow Today.

Winnipeg, Man., March 18.—Premier T. C. Norris tendered the resignation of the Provincial Government to the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir James Aikins ,yesterday afternoon. No action was taken by His Honor, who is expected to announce his decision and announce today the course he will adopt.

The interview took place at Government House, hall an hour after Sir James arrived in the city from Toronto. It lasted about three quarters of an hour. Premier Norris outlined the circumstances leading to the defeat of the Government on the Tallrod resolution.

EXPECT TROUBLE IN INDIA NOW THAT PRINCE HAS LEFT

Authorities Say That an Explosion Will Clear the Air—Prince Did Not Come in Contact With Very Many People in India.

London, March 17.—The Prince of Wales left Karachi today for Ceylon, en route to Japan, after a four months' tour of India.

The results of the tour were declosed in a long cable dispatch received today by the London Times from Sir Percival Phillips, its correspondent in India. The chief feature of this dispatch was its assumptiveness.

Sir Percival, who accompanied the Prince during every stage of his tour says, regarding it:

"In my own opinion, the Prince has not influenced the political situation one way or another. There is undoubtedly a great feeling of relief among officials now that it is over and that the anti-British elements have not gone nearly so far as they intended in trying to wreck it.

"It would be idle talk to assert that the influence of the Prince's personality has been felt by a majority of the people, of India, for he has not come in contact with them there as he did in Canada and Australia.

"The Prince has had a general view of the greater part of India, but law and'scanty glimpses of the life of the natives.

"Precautions charged with the responsibility for his safety were determined to prevent, even by the most extraordinary measures, any possibility of his being harmed while in territory under their jurisdiction.

"The result of this was that the Prince saw only those Indians who could be induced to appear along the streets of the official processions at the polo grounds or at the ceremonies embodied in the official programs.

"One notable exception was at Peshawar, where a state drive was arranged through the bazaars. The sudden—hartal resulted in a most humiliating exhibition which the local authorities apparently were unable to avert.

ALBERTUS GIVES FAREWELL PERFORMANCE TO-NIGHT

Albertus, the Miracle Man, concludes his Belleville engagement at Griffin's, tonight. During the week, Albertus, a professed student of the psychic and occult sciences has entertained large audiences nightly and perhaps the secret of his success is that the performance aside from their mind-provoking qualities, offer much food for serious thought. An excellent philosophy program is being offered in addition to Albertus and consists of "Helena Meighan in "The Easy Road," the third chapter of "Wizards of the World" serial, and a travel with the Prince of Wales on his 50,000 mile tour.

THE SECRET OF HER SUCCESS

"How does he do it?" is the question asked, on all sides regarding the Rex Grand Company, now playing at Belleville theatregoers look at the billing for this week's play, "Daddy Long Legs" which Rex and his company are to present at Griffin's this Monday to Wednesday. The answer is simple. When one looks at the enormous business being done by this splendid company, one begins to realize how the splendid stories it features and the clean-cut, refined manner in which they are staged, is always making a nice little profit, one feels that the day is not far distant when Rex will be one of the powers in the theatrical world.

To give Rex true credit, he himself is as much surprised as any one, at the business he does. He is quite a dreamer and believes that his shows should be produced regardless of expense. His gives a play everything it should have, and then sits back in amazement at the business that real productions at popular prices bring from a public that appreciates the worth of a man who really tries to produce value, instead of unjust profits.

AN ATTRACTION TO BELLEVILLE

Young men and women are coming—are coming to Belleville from places hundreds (often thousands) of miles away. They come because their parents and business men and graduates from here have convinced them that the business training at Ontario Business College is the best, obtainable anywhere in Canada. They pass by numerous other business colleges and pass through other attractive cities. As each season's students go from the College into business life, they make known the thorough and practical O. B. C. courses, and the advantages of Belleville as a place of residence, thus influencing others to come. There is a young man now attending whose five brothers are successful O. B. C. graduates. He is from a county in Eastern Quebec from which many students come every year. Besides the large numbers of long-distance students there are, as usual many attending from Belleville and this vicinity.

popular actor-singer plays his annual engagement at Griffin's next Thursday night, March 23rd, in his greatest play, "The Happy Cavalier," under the direction of Augustus Pitou Inc.

"The Happy Cavalier," is described as a romantic comedy in four acts, and is the product of Anna Nichols, playwrite-ress of "The Happy Cavalier," and is to be greatly excelled by the beauty with which its various types are acted by the distinguished star and his clever organization company. Coming so soon after some of the modern problem plays it is like a whiff of morning air after a stroll down from a crowded and fetid street car. It fairly bristles with bright, sparkling comedy, with dashes of tender sentiment and is full of novel situations. Fiske O'Hara brings into the production all his charm, virility and personality, and his presence is not long missed at any time. His new songs are delightful and appropriate.

HOW WINNERS SPEND NOBEL PRIZE MONEY

Noted Men Who Have Won Famous Prize Spend it Differently.

Stockholm, March 18.— Anatole France, the French author who won the $40,000 Nobel Prize for literature last awarded, has just appeased the curiosity of the Swedish public by telling how he spend and invested the money. Most of it is already disposed of, he announced.

"The Nobel Prize awarded me," said France, "has given rise to much talk and stupidities. I have spent some of the money for some very beautiful Gobelin tapestries—exquisite, royal ones. The rest of the money I have invested in French national defense bonds. I consider that an excellent and most comfortable means of investment."

Knut Hamsun, the Norwegian novelist, whose "Growth of Soil" helped win for him the Nobel Prize for literature, showed that he was in earnest when he wrote the above mentioned book. He invested most of the Nobel Prize in blooded stock and other improvements for his farm in Norway.

It will be recalled that Theodore Roosevelt who won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1906 for his efforts in bringing to an end the Russo-Japanese war gave his $40,000 to the Foundation for Promoting Industrial Peace.

SHE DIDN'T WANT TO LIVE

"I felt so ill and wretched that I didn't care whether I lived or not."

This was Mrs. W.'s experience. If you are not feeling well you should read every word of her letter. She says, "Unless you have actually experienced what it means to be ill, really ill, you don't know what suffering it. I felt so ill and miserable that I didn't care whether I lived or not. I am naturally of an active temperament and as a result I must have overworked myself, because I began to feel tired and weak after the least exertion. At times my face took on a deathly pallor, I was sore all over, I was troubled with dull pains which at times produced nausea. My body felt as if somebody had been pounding it—every bit of it pained. When I laid down at night I could not get into a comfortable position and the consequence was I got very little sleep. The pains, which finally ceased sleeping in one position for any length of time, gave me frightful dreams from which I awoke weak and perspiring. I was nauseated and they told me that I was completely run down and needed something to build me up. Their prescriptions only helped me for a while. One day I found a circular about Carnol and the statements in it sounded so honest and true and free from any exaggeration that I decided to try it. In six weeks after taking the first bottle I was as well as ever. If any one had told me that Carnol would do what it did for me I would've have believed them."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 7-122

ALBERT COLLEGE HOLDS CONCERT

Boys of the School Entertain the Girls and Faculty.

To celebrate St. Patrick's Day the boys of Albert College were hosts last evening to the girls, the faculty and their guests.

The Central Hall was beautifully decorated with Irish streamers, shamrocks, pigs, pipes, balloons, etc., while the promenade cards were of a neat shamrock shape. The guests were received by the committee, Messrs. Miller, Searle, Cryderman and Hansel, assisted by Messrs. Ralton and Redmond.

The programme was of a real Irish nature and consisted of six promenades, interspersed with the following items:—song, Boys' Glee Club; reading, Frank Cryderman; solo George Fearn; reading, Clifford Miller; solo, Clayton Searle, song, Boys Glee Club; Two contests, one woven around the names of the present students, the other of a musical nature, were conducted at different periods. Lunch was served at 10.15, which brought a very happy evening to a close.

PLEASANT SOCIAL AT TABERNACLE

Fine Program Rendered in Commemoration of St. Patrick's Day.

A commdrum social and musical programme was presented at the Tabernacle Methodist Church last evening in commemoration of St. Patrick's day. A large audience listened with interest to the highly entertaining program and later enjoyed the refreshments at the close of the musical program. The rooms were very prettily and appropriately decorated.

Mr. J. E. Walmsley opened the program with a short chairman's address. Miss Wylda Palmer contributed a piano solo, after which Miss Georgina Ruttan gave a reading. A solo was rendered by Miss Doris Roe in fine voice after which a dialogue entitled "Bridget's Investment" kept everyone mirthful. Miss Muriel Greene next then sang an appropriate solo in splendid voice, which was followed by a reading by Miss Eva Davis. A solo was also rendered by Mr. J. Alexander, and a duet by Misses Kathleen Palmer and Muriel Greenleaf.

Rev. W. Elliott, the pastor gave a short address at the conclusion of the program.

THE SECRET OF LIFE

A SERMON FOR THE "SHUT-IN"—THOSE WHO ARE UNABLE TO ATTEND CHURCH SERVICES THROUGH ILLNESS OR INFIRMITY.

By Rev. W. H. Wallace, Pastor of Victoria Ave. Baptist Church.

"If ye abide in Me and My words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you. Herein is My Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be My disciples." John 15:7-8.

Jesus begins this chapter thus: "I am the true vine, and My Father is the husbandman. Every branch in Me that beareth not fruit, He taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, He cleanseth it, that it may bear more fruit." Our Lord here opens the book of nature for the last time to complete the training of the Twelve. It had furnished many illustrations for the parables and discourses of the past three years, but none is more rich in suggestions than this of the vine and its branches. No wise teacher is afraid of repeating himself. So again Jesus said "I am the vine, ye are the branches." We first all need truth repeated that it may grip our hearts and minds, and bring about results in all our lives.

The great thought that we should take to heart, and profit by in this sacred lesson suggested in our text, that union with Christ is the true source of fruitfulness. "Abide in me and I in you"; that is the way to be fruitful, rather than by efforts after individual acts of conformity and obedience, however needful and precious these are. The best way to secure Christian conduct is to cultivate communion with Christ. This is our chief need.

Think you midst all this mighty sum Of things for ever speaking,
That nothing of Him will come:
But we must still be seeking?

We must get away into the "secret place of the most High" and rise in to a higher altitude and atmosphere than the region of work and effort, and sitting down at the Christ, let His love and His power pour themselves into our hearts. Lord is not laying down a law, but giving a promise, and putting His veracity to test for the fulfilment of it. If a man will keep near Me, He says, he shall bear fruit. And note the little word which now appears for the first time—"He shall bear 'much' fruit." We are not to be content with a little fruit. The abiding in Him will produce a character rich in manifold graces. "A little fruit" is not contemplated by Christ at all; but "much fruit." Then note the awful fact, that if we are not producing fruit judgment must follow. All the branches that bear not fruit are cast off and are burned. If we are not in the Vine we will be in the fire. So separation from Christ means barrenness, withering and destruction. You see how faithful Jesus is as a teacher. God help us preachers to follow Him. He could not speak of fruitfulness without speaking of its converse. We too must tell the solemn truth, even if some do not like to hear it. Union with Jesus means fruitfulness; but separation from Him means destruction. Are we bearing fruit? Or are we getting ready for the fire? Again, we note that union with Christ is the condition of satisfied desires. "If ye abide in Me and My words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you." See the importance of having His words abiding in us. That is His words enter our hearts and minds, and influence our wills and desires, so that His words form our prayers, and we "ask what we will"—and, because our wills are in accord with His will, we are sure to get what we ask—"and it shall be done unto us." Even our ways please the Lord, for He is working in us to will and to do of His good pleasure. If we pour a glass of wine into a glass of water and ask them the water will be in the wine and the wine in the water. So in like manner all that we do, while our own acts, should be manifestations of the indwelling Christ. The last thought in our text is that unto which Christ which makes for fruitfulness, ends in glorifying God and increasing our discipleship. "Herein is My Father glorified that ye bear much fruit, so shall ye be My disciples." This is the chief end of life, so to influence men and women, and children too, that we shall bring them into fellowship with Christ. Are we so living that people look on us and say, "If God can make that man such a blessing in his home and church He can do the same for me." Conduct is the fruit of character, but it also reacts on character, and either makes or mars character. We are all in the making. We do not reach perfection of discipleship here, but we are becoming true disciples by union with Christ.

Thou are the Vine,
And I, O Jesus, am a branch of Thine;
And day by day from Thee
New life flows unto me.
Nought have I of my own,
But all my strength is drawn from Thee alone.

As severed from the tree, the branch must die,
So even I
Could never live this life of mine
Apart from Thee, O living Vine;
But Thou dost dwell in me,
And I in Thee!
Yea, Thine own life through me doth flow
And in Thyself I live and grow.

WILL RESUME DEBATES ON LOCAL QUESTIONS

case is a standing reproach to modern civilization.

All forms of contagious disease should be reported at once, the home placarded and a rigid quarantine enforced.

Hospitals

Every city should have adequate hospital accommodation to take care of those who are ill at normal times but with a reserve accommodation for reasonable numbers during epidemics.

The hospitals should not only be well situated and of modern construction but should have all the latest appliances known to medical science as aids in surgical work or the treatment of disease.

Housing

The housing of the people is so vital a factor in determining the health of the community and its influence is so closely connected with the social and moral atmosphere that it deserves special attention.

Each community should have a comprehensive building bylaw to determine location, character and appearance of dwellings.

Every man should own the home in which he lives.

Every home should have a clear space around it and lawn and garden plot.

Rooming, apartment, and tenement houses should be carefully and frequently inspected to make sure that good sanitary conditions are preserved.

Overcrowding of families in small, badly ventilated and ill-lighted rooms is to be discouraged.

Rents should be reasonable in amount.

Death-rate

The death-rate in cities where high-class living conditions prevail does not exceed 8 per 1000 per annum.

Clean streets generally go with those conditions that mean a clean bill of health. Dirty streets are fruitful disseminators of disease germs.

Inspection, when intelligent, thorough and persistent is a most valuable means of disease prevention.

The people themselves, by acquiring the health habit, can help promote their own physical well-being. Cleanliness, ventilation, plenty of out-door exercise and wholesome food will make men healthy and wise.

The care of children, first in the home, and then in the school should receive greater attention. Many cases of disease or permanent bad health are due to lack of knowledge of the elementary principle laws on the part of the parents.

LIVING CONDITIONS

Housing

Not only in regard to physical health but especial reference to social and moral conditions, the housing facilities of a city are of prime importance. The same laws and regulations should apply to the securing of good living conditions as to hygienic stipulations.

Parks

Every city should contain an abundance of light and airy workmen's houses, containing "improvements" and of such a cost as to make it possible to rent for a moderate amount.

Employment and Wages

That city is best situated where the demand for labor is sure and unsteady because of varied industry and where the wages paid are in reasonable relation to the cost of living.

Commodity Prices—Market

A good local market and reasonable prices of food and wearing apparel are essential concomitants of good living conditions.

Raw Materials

Convenience of access to the raw materials of industry as well as to light and power has also an important indirect effect on individual and general prosperity.

Country Environment

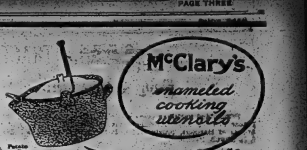

The country environment of a city is also important and when good agriculturally furnishes a sure and abundant supply of fresh food, a most valuable consideration to trade and a social relationship that is in every way desirable.

Institutions

The social standing of any community is marked by its public institutions, not merely those devoted to education but the homes for orphan children, the aged and dependent poor, and those who are sick. Parks and playgrounds ought also to be considered in this connection.

Prevention is better than cure. Many of the physical, social and moral ills of which we now complain and which are so prevalent could easily be prevented by a little intelligent instruction and supervision such as is given by the modern social and community worker who comes into personal contact with the problems themselves and assists in their solution.

Good sanitary conditions in stores, places of business and industrial establishments are essential for those the workers spend the greater part of their working hours. Good enforcement of law has a most salutary effect on living conditions. Crime and loose moral conditions are the direct results of lose police methods. The social conditions of any given community are sometimes the cause and sometimes the effect of good or bad living conditions. Strong social consciousness and vigorous public spirit are the usual properties of ideal living conditions.

On Friendly Terms

On Thursday last a number of ladies gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Miller, all ready with their needles and thimbles to enjoy the day at the quilting frame. At 11.30 a sumptuous dinner was served and later refreshments were served, to which all did ample justice. When all returned to their homes, they had three quilts completed.—Item in Rural Journal.

Little Louise was lost on the street and was brought into the police station. The officers tried in every way to learn her name. Finally one of the officers said:

"What does your mother call your father?"

"Why," said Louise, very indignantly, "she don't call him any name she likes him."—Harper's Magazine.

A SUBSTANTIAL GHOST.

Dr. Franklin Prince's official report on the strange phenomena in the supposedly haunted house in Antigonish, N.S., should dispose of that "sensation." The doctor finds that the queer happenings were the work of plump little Mary Ellen, the fifteen-year-old adopted daughter of the Macdonalds, who own and occupied the house. It is an explanation which from the first seems to have occurred to every intelligent person familiar with the details of the case.

Dr. Prince, who is an expert in psychic phenomena and a student of occult science, is loath to admit that Mary Ellen produced these "spirit-manifestations" off her own bat, as it were. He suggests that she unconsciously to herself, acted under the domination of some super-normal influence—that of some entirely mischievous discarnate spirit. This is probably incapable of proof. The likelihood is that Mary Ellen was influenced to act as she did by some dominating personality, but that that personality was by no means discarnate, but still imprisoned in the flesh. Mary Ellen has a young man with whom she "keeps company." The young man has not hitherto figured in the story of the haunted house. Investigation might bring to light some motive that influenced him and Mary Ellen to scare the Macdonalds out of their senses and render the Macdonald home temporarily uninhabitable.

Most minds are attracted by the wonderful and the mysterious. When things happen like the manifestations in the Antigonish home, there is a general inclination to attribute them to some occult agency. But in such cases the test should be whether the manifestations could be the effects of a natural, normal cause or causes. If they can be so explained, then it is always reasonable to assume that that is the true explanation.

It is known that mischievous girls and boys—not to say men and women—have frequently been convicted of producing manifestations which mystified and alarmed other people, having been impelled thereto by various motives. In this Antigonish case it is demonstrated that the mysterious manifestations could have been, and probably were, produced by a girl. There is no need to look for any other explanation. So far as the ghost is concerned, an alibi has been established.

WASHINGTON AND GENOA.

The refusal of the United States to participate in the Genoa Conference is discouraging though not surprising. The decision is governed by party exigencies, says the Toronto Globe. The Republicans went to the country less than two years ago on the policy of avoiding responsibility for the European problems bequeathed by the war, and cannot consistently join so soon in a council of European nations. The Administration fears also that acceptance of the invitation would provoke a quarrel in the Senate which would further endanger the treaties formulated at the Washington Conference.

Of course these reasons for the decision are not officially avowed. In his note Secretary Hughes complains that the Genoa Conference is not primarily economic, "as questions appear to have been excluded from consideration without the satisfactory determination of which the chief causes of economic disturbance will continue to operate." This is a plain rebuke to the present French Government, which has insisted on ruling out the subject of German reparations. Mr. Hughes makes the participation of the Moscow Government another pretext for abstention. The United States is now the only great power that still refuses to bow to the inevitable in Russia, but it will not wait for a change of Government when it begins to see a revival of Russian trade.

It is to be hoped the present attitude of Washington toward Europe will be modified by events. Americans justify it by the refusal of some continental countries to reduce their military burdens or to make an heroic attempt to lift themselves out of a financial morass, but their recovery is being retarded because the United States will not join Great Britain in remedial measures. In the meantime the United States pays the penalty by the loss of its export trade.

WE MUST GO FORWARD

Montreal Star

This country cannot stand still. It cannot afford to stand still. It must go either backward or forward. Upon the spiritual force that animates its people will depend its future for advancement or retrogression. To develop, strengthen and direct that force ought to be the aim of all who are capable of leadership and whose positions entitle them to speak with authority. Of that there can never be any vestige of doubt.

Let us have no faith in pessimism as a national policy. Let us believe in the gospel of optimism as applied to nations as well as to individuals. But it would be placing a premium upon folly to pretend that there is not grave reason for pessimism unless the present national tendencies towards extravagance, irresponsibility, and the shifting of burdens are not arrested. We have an unfailing faith in this country's future, and in the basic solidity of its citizen's mentality. We believe the Canadian is capable of any sacrifice and any achievement, and it is because of this faith and this belief that we have striven to emphasize what seems to us to be growing into more than a serious national menace.

And in the east, reflected pinks and blues
Across the fleeting dark clouds lie.

Silhouetted against this field of gold,
Stand stole pines, in mute dismay
To see the blood-red sun retreating,
And with it take the fading day;
While from the silence, deep, intense,
The rapids leap to louder play.

The happy birds, with tired and silent voice,
To branchy havens all have gone,
While sleeping night bids them again
To lead the endless chorus on;
And stealthy, creatures also stir awake,
To hunt and slay until the dawn.

Then, as prevailing darkness falls,
Upon the damp and silvery ground,
From distant hill a sad-voiced owl,
Hoots out its ghostly sounds—
A deep and camouflaged happiness,
To see, at last, the night fall round.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir:—I am sure the public appreciate the privilege you extend to them to use your columns to print various letters, though, like all other Citizens, we have in Belleville certain people, who never help themselves until every other source of assistance is cut off, and then they generally want to protest because some one else was more fortunate than they were; a sort of Independent hatred to one more successful than themselves.

I am prompted to pen these lines to you by a letter I read in last evening issue signed T. Barriage, who claims to have been left to the mercy of the rushing waters on Coleman St., during the recent flood. The facts in connection with this case are as follows:—Very few minutes after the street was flooded Everett Smith, my driver, and myself were on the job with our truck. We first got several families out of their homes on Coleman Street and offered to take Mr. Barriage, but he refused insisting something about having moved up stairs. We then turned our attention to other streets that were being flooded, and got all out that we could. This work of rescue was completed before we made any attempt to run a ferry, after which we got word that Mr. Barriage wanted to come out. The water was then very high and we made the attempt to get up Coleman Street again but the deep water stalled our car, and we were compelled to come back. Later Mr. Barriage was able to get to Coleman Street but his car, too, suffered to such an extent that he could not use it again for several days. The remarks of Mr. Barriage were unjustifiable, and my statement can be verified by those who were there and heard all in connection with the case. He said they could have been reached by boat but any one who saw the current on this street would know that was next to impossible.

Thanking you for your space.

Chas. Hanna,
Mayor.

RED CONVENTION HELD IN MOSCOW

Congress of Far Eastern Peoples Not of Much Importance.

Moscow, March 18.—The Congress of the Far Eastern Peoples held here under the auspices of the Third International was regarded as of minor importance by the unexpected visitors.

Those attending it were for the most part students, the important leaders of the various countries staying at home and sending word that it was useless to attend a conference when Russia was returning to a bourgeois organization.

There was a good deal of loose talk about war and revolution in the Far East but not of a nature to convince the Russians present that it could materialize.

Many of the delegates were picked up right in Moscow and one Chinese socialist of prominence refused to attend. Officially there were 144 delegates, 52 of whom were Koreans, 16 Japanese, 43 Chinese, 23 Mongolians, 5 in Javanese and 2 Kalmucks.

In principle, the Third Internationale promised to help the national movements in the countries represented, of that such movements might later be diverted into Marxist labor movements. It is understood that the Third Internationale that so far there is no real Communist movements in China, Japan or Korea but nationalist agitation. It is the same that the revolutionist object to existing governments.

The second decision taken, also in principle, was that the Third International should help to prevent the development especially of American influences in China and in general to prevent any European powers interfering for capitalistic purposes there. But no money was promised to help revolutionary or nationalist agitation.

It was the impression gained by the Third Internationale that the Japanese Communist of socialist movements are taking the trend of those in England, with the government making concessions when obliged to do so.

Canadian Daily Newspapers Association,
Toronto, Ont.

Gentlemen:

Here are some of the reasons, responding to your request, why we believe in the value of newspaper advertising.

The daily newspaper is read by more consumers in each city or town than is any other publication.

The dealer is also most effectively reached through newspaper advertising, which leads him to stock, feature and push the goods so advertised.

Newspaper advertising completes and adds materially to the effectiveness of all other promotional work when co-ordinated with it in any city or district campaign.

Because copy can be changed so quickly in the daily newspaper a "psychological appeal" can be made at any time national or local happenings or changes in weather, market or price conditions present the opportunity.

The flexibility of newspaper advertising and the choice it presents of the amount, class and location of circulation enable the advertiser to quickly direct his campaign wherever and whenever it is most needed.

Our newspaper advertising has increased with our business and has been a very large factor in educating the public to a full appreciation of the distinctive merits of our product until to-day Shredded Wheat is known and eaten in almost every home in Canada.

Very truly yours,

"Tinker Bob" Stories

THE TRUTH ABOUT MR. PANTHER

I know someone is asking the question, "What creature that captured the Baby Gorilla? Well, I will tell you what the King she was he tapped the Stone of Knowledge. He was taken to the very front of the tribe of Gorillas and there he saw a jungle creature carrying in his mouth the baby Gorilla. This creature was like a cat that you see every day only it was about six feet long and could eat a dozen cats like you see at one meal. It was a spotted fellow. The upper portion of his body was yellow with black spots on it.

He is a blood-thirsty creature and is always lying in wait for some unfortunate jungle dweller to come along. This little fellow had wandered away to get into a hiding place. Probably this creature who had been waiting for just such a chance, sprang upon him and started away on the run, dragging the poor little fellow with him.

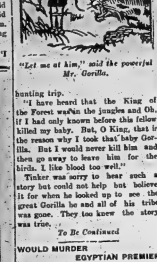

"Well, now tell us what your name is?" demanded Tinker Bob.

The creature was trembling with fear. He didn't see why it was he could not go farther. "My name is Mr. Panther," came the low answer.

"Let me at him," said the powerful Mr. Gorilla, "and I'll show you who is boss in this forest."

But Tinker Bob knew that if he did let this big fellow at him there would be nothing left of him. "No," said Tinker, "I will take care of him. Now tell me why you were carrying this little fellow away?"

Then the Panther told his story. "I have had to do this because of what that big fellow did to me. My little babies are hungry and I was out in search of food, and I came here to see if there was a chance of getting something to eat in the forest. You know we like blood of any kind and from any creature, and this fellow owes me something. Once upon a time he came out of this forest and into the thickets of low bushes, and it happened that one of my children was playing in the bushes and this big fellow caught him and killed him. Why he did it I could not tell for he doesn't like his meat fresh. But he likes to kill and then let his victim lay on the ground and he goes back to the forest to tell what he did while out on a hunting trip.

"I have heard that the King of the Forest was in the jungles and Oh! if I had only known before this fellow killed my baby. But, O King, that is the reason why I took the baby Gorilla. But I would never kill him and then go away to leave him for the birds. I like blood too well."

Tinker was sorry to hear such a story but could not help but believe it for when he looked up to see the great Gorilla he and all of his tribe was gone. They too knew the story was true.

IF YOU CAN MAKE A GOOD BOILED CUSTARD—

The woman who can make a delicious boiled custard is never at a loss in preparing desserts or supper dishes at short notice. But, upon questioning several young housekeepers, I find to my amusement, that all housekeepers do not know how to make a good boiled custard.

So now I am going to tell 'just how' to make this most versatile dish. Begin by separating the whites from the yolks of three eggs. As only the yolks are used in a boiled custard, set the whites aside to use for the meringues, cake icings, et cetera, and proceed as follows:

Beat the three egg-yolks slightly and stir into them one-fourth of a cup of granulated sugar and a pinch of salt. Set 2 cups of milk on the range in a small saucepan to scald (do not let it boil) and when this is hot pour it gradually into the egg-yolks stirring constantly. Then, set this into the top of a double boiler and cook on a hot fire, over rapidly boiling water, for about fifteen minutes. During this cooking, you must stir the mixture all the time. When it "coats a spoon" (that is when it is thick on the spoon) it is ready to pour off into a bowl to cool.

A boiled custard may be used in the following ways:

Floating Islands Dessert: Beat two egg-whites stiff, whipping into them 2 tablespoons of granulated sugar and a few drops of vanilla, extract. Drop this meringue by spoonfuls on cold boiled custard, chill, and serve.

Apple Snow Custard: Whip 3 egg-whites stiff, beating in 3 tablespoons of sugar, then, also whip in 2 tablespoons of cold, sweetened apple sauce. Pile this "snow" on individual portions of cold boiled custard and serve.

Fruit Custard Dessert: Pare 3 oranges and remove skins from 2 bananas. Cut the fruit into small pieces, dividing it into four equal portions. Put one portion into a dessert saucer and pour cold boiled custard over it. (This recipe makes four individual portions. Use the custard recipe given above.)

Egg-Custard Supper Dish: Make a boiled custard from recipe given above but omit the sugar. While it is still hot, turn it into a baking dish and add to it 4 hard-boiled eggs which have been sliced into fairly small pieces. Sprinkle buttered crumbs on top and slip the dish into a hot oben to brown. Then serve at once. This dish calls for a good many eggs, but is a nourishing and delicious one to serve on a "special occasion" such as a guest supper.

Chicken-Custard Supper Dish: Make a custard from above-given recipe, omitting the sugar, then add to it, while still very hot, 1 heaping cup of diced cooked chicken. (The canned boiled chicken may be used if desired.) Turn all over slices of toast on a platter, and serve at once.

Cheese Custard Supper Dish: Make a boiled custard as above directed, but omitting the sugar. While still hot, stir into it 1 cup of diced American cheese, and as a moment until cheese begins to melt, then turn the mixture over slices of toast and sprinkle all with hard-boiled egg rubbed through a sieve, or finely minced.

In making custard for the first time take care to remove it from the fire just as soon as it coats the spoon thickly; otherwise it will curdle from over-cooking.

Floating Islands Dessert: Beat two egg-whites stiff, whipping into them 2 tablespoons of granulated sugar and a few drops of vanilla extract. Drop this meringue by spoonfuls on cold boiled custard, chill, and serve.

Apple Snow Custard: Whip 3 egg-whites stiff, beating in 2 tablespoons of sugar, then also whip in 2 tablespoons of cold, sweetened apple sauce. Pile this "snow" on individual portions of cold boiled custard and serve.

Fruit Custard Dessert: Have 3 oranges and remove skins from 2 bananas. Cut the fruit into small pieces, dividing it into four equal portions. Put one portion into a dessert saucer and pour cold boiled custard over it. (This recipe makes four individual portions. Use the custard recipe given above.)

Egg-Custard Supper Dish: Make a boiled custard from recipe given above but omit the sugar. While it is still hot, turn it into a baking dish and add to it 4 hard-boiled eggs which have been sliced into fairly small pieces. Sprinkle buttered crumbs on top and slip the dish into a hot oven to brown. Then serve at once. This dish calls for a good number of eggs, but is a nourishing and delicious one to serve on a "special occasion" such as a guest supper.

Chicken-Custard Supper Dish: Make a custard from above-given recipe, omitting the sugar, then add to it, while still very hot, 1 heaping cup of diced cooked chicken. (The canned boiled chicken may be used if desired.) Turn all over slices of toast on a platter, and serve at once.

Cheese Custard Supper Dish: Make a boiled custard as above directed, but omitting the sugar. While still hot, stir into it 1 cup of diced American cheese, stir for a moment until cheese begins to melt, then turn the mixture over slices of toast and sprinkle all with one hard-boiled egg rubbed through a sieve, or finely minced.

In making custard for the first time take care to remove it from the fire just as soon as it coats the spoon thickly; otherwise it will curdle from over-cooking.

Liddle, Secretary of the Athletic Association gave a talk on the question of amalgamation, stating that he did not see why the War Veterans should amalgamate with other soldier societies, when the C. W. V. A. has more money than all other soldier societies combined. Mr. Liddle also objected to the change of the name of the society from C. W. V. A. to Bellevue Lou Garrett also compli-mented the team on their success of the afternoon, and Mr. J. LAURA LEE LOSE AT FORT WILLIAM Fort William, Ont., March 17.—Laura Lee were vanquished by the Davids of Fort William in the O.H.A. Memorial Cup junior championship semi-finals tonight by a score of five to three, completely upsetting the dope. In the fact of the superior weight the High wer veterans' team by heavier shooting, faster skating and an exhibition of close checking that called for speed for sixty minutes of play surprised even their own town supporters. Fort William now goes to Winnipeg for the finals, meeting the winners of the Varsity Regina play-off.

PUCK SLAPS

VANCOUVER WINS FIRST STANLEY CUP GAME

Toronto, March 18.—Some wonderful goaltending by the veteran Hughie Lehman, combined with a certain amount of luck in the last period, enabled the Vancouver Millionaires, champions of the Pacific Coast league and conquerors of the Regina Capitals, to defeat the Toronto Arenas in the first game of the Stanley Cup series at the Arena last night before one of the largest crowds that has ever witnessed a hockey game in this city. The score was 4 to 3 and the winning goal was scored just three and a half minutes before the expiration of the sixty minutes' play, and came just at a time when the crowd expected the game to go into overtime. The third period started with the score even, each team having scored three goals during the first two periods and without taking anything from the victorious team, the locals had a distinct margin on the play for almost eighty per cent. of the last twenty minutes.

YANKEE OWNERS EXPECT MIRACLE

Think that Babe Ruth Will Beat His Last Record.

New York, March 18.—Colonel Jacob Ruppert and Colonel T. L. Huston, the principal owners of the New York American league club, are so proud of Babe Ruth as the odd-ments William banker of his gold-handled cane or the chief of the volunteer fire department of his badge.

They may think he staked a lot when he came to talking salary, but they have a conscious air of self-satisfaction when he hits the ball over the fence. Each looks around with a bland smile as if to say: "That's one for Some murderer of a ball, isn't he."

Colonel Ruppert glows and Colonel Huston wiggles.

Thinks He Can Do It

Colonel Ruppert thinks Ruth may break the home run record again this year even if Commissioner Landis does prove obdurate.

"You can't tell about Ruth," said Col. Ruppert to-day. "He makes records when you least expect it. He may break that home run record. He's big and strong. How can you tell what he will do? What would he have to do to break that record? Make 60 homers wouldn't he? Well, he made 59 last year."

"He hasn't got so many games in which to make them," was interposed.

"That doesn't affect his grit and ambition," answered the owner, full of courage, "that batter of ours. He said he would break the record in 1921, and he did it. Though it looked at times as if he wouldn't. He never quit trying. Try is his partner in Ruth

TRYING TO RUB OUT YOUR RHEUMATISM

It Can't Be Done—The Trouble Must be Treated Through the Blood.

The pain of rheumatism is something you cannot rub out. Every sufferer from rheumatism has tried to rub this trouble out or that on the affected part, but after all the rubbing the pain remained. Rubbing did not cure it and will not cure it.

This blood and rheumatism come together and if they are properly treated they will go together. Rheumatism is in the blood—in poor watery blood. Sometimes cold, damp weather, sometimes colds and pains, but it is the condition of the blood that is at fault, and only by correcting this, and making the blood rich and red can the rheumatic poison be driven out. This is what is done in the treatment of rheumatism with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Acute and muscular rheumatism soon disappears as the thin blood is built up, and when the blood has been restored to its normal condition the trouble vanishes. This is proved by the experience of Mr. John A. O'Neill, Port Hood, N.S., who says: "I was a periodical sufferer from rheumatism for years, I tried many remedies, but with indifferent results, and I had about decided that the trouble was too firmly rooted in my system to be got rid of. While I was suffering from an attack of this kind I advised me to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. I first got three boxes and by the time I had taken them I felt much better. Then I got three more boxes, and when I had taken them not only was the rheumatism gone, but I was feeling better in every way. If you suffer from rheumatism I strongly advise a trial of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail, paid at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CATHOLIC WOMEN HEAR LECTURE

Conditions of Under-Privileged Classes Vividly Described by Speaker.

Rev. Father Sullivan of Toronto, delivered a most interesting and instructive lecture at the Irish Canadian Club in St. Michael's Academy last night under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League, before a capacity audience. In opening his lecture, Father Sullivan stated that his talk would not deal with St. Patrick because for the first time in nearly two hundred years, his words or any poor words could do no more for Ireland, as she was a free country now. The speaker also predicted that Ireland would now go ahead, and make many of the free countries of the world.

The lecture was on the social conditions of the world at the present time, and the speaker, by virtue of the fact that he had laboured amongst the poor of the New York tenement houses for a number of years, was able to give intensely interesting, concrete examples of the result of poverty in the metropolis. "I am not a Socialist nor a capitalist," said Father Sullivan, "because I am neither the one nor the other, strictly conception of life, but I do say, that the workers in large cities are underpaid and overworked, and cannot live decently on their wages. Ill-paid, under-nourishment, occupational diseases and premature death are the sure result. These conditions the Catholic Women's League throughout Canada were urged to unite and demand redress from the government.

Although mothers' allowances and widows' pensions are not the cure, there are yet many duties we owe our weaker brothers. It is necessary to feed their souls with the Bread of Life, but the whole conditions such that from the monotonous, bum drum life they now exist in, they may have comfortable, healthy homes and well-nourished bodies.

Rev. Father Wright of St. Michael's Church on behalf of the audience tendered a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker and hoped that they might be favoured by another visit in the future.

A choice Irish programme preceded the address. Miss K. Baldwin rendered a solo in a sweet voice. Miss Dorothy Grant accompanied her on the piano. Miss Grant, a young girl, in Irish costumes gave a finished interpretation of a good old Irish jig. Miss Harriet Harrett gave an appropriate solo in splendid voice. All numbers were heartily encored. Miss Harrett accompanied Miss Grant on the piano.

"Please, Tired Out Lady"

ONE-MINUTE ESSAYS ON HEALTH BY DR. W. J. REDICK

Please, tired out lady, let me introduce you to your backbone; writes Grace Margaret Gould in the Woman's Home Companion.

Your backbone is a nerve centre. Between the vertebrae are the spinal nerve openings, and each of these openings is filled with nerve filaments going to some part of the body. When one of these movable vertebrae become displaced, it causes bone pressure on the nerves in the nerve opening. Chiropractic spinal adjustments by a method which it stores the joint to alignment and removes the pressure. Normal health follows.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments are restoring the conditions of health in diseases of the eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, pancreas, kidneys, liver and lower organs of the body.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

It seemed as if water were falling on his face—it grew so white. Then Private Woman stood as still as he, pointing at him with her finger, her look unchanged. Twenty years passed between us. I lifted the head of Mr. Grimshaw, and laid it on my knee. It fell like the head of the stranger in Rattleroad. Old Nate bent over and looked at the eyelids of the man which fluttered faintly and were still.

"Dead?" she muttered.

Then, as if her work were finished, she turned and made her way through the crowd and walked slowly down the street. Men stood aside to let her pass, as if her fatal the power of her spirit and feared the touch of her garments.

Two or three men had run to the house of the nearest doctor. The crowd thickened. As I sat looking down at the dead face in my lap, a lawyer who had come out of the courtroom pressed near me and bent over and looked at the set eyes of Benjamin Grimshaw and said:—

"She floored him at last. I knew she would. He tried and he met his key, but I tell ye that bony old finger of here burnt a hole in him. He couldn't stand it. If I have held down to some men under the strain. She got him at last."

"Who got him?" another asked me.

"Rovin' Kate. She killed him, poisoner her knew at him—he."

"She's got an evil eye. Everybody's afraid of the crazy ol' trollope."

"Nonsense! She hasn't half as much in the noddle of her!" said the lawyer. "In my opinion she had a good reason for plotting her fiance at last. Then she came from the same town he did here in Vermont. To don't know what happened there."

The doctor arrived. The crowd made way for him. He knelt beside the still figure and made the tests. He rose and shook his head. Grimshaw was dead.

"It's all over. Let one of these boys go down and bring the undertaker."

Benjamin Grimshaw, the richest man in the township, was dead, and I have to be hear of any interference.

Three days later I saw his body lowered into its grave. The little brother's spirited was dead there with the same and smile on her face that I had noted when I first saw her. Mrs. Hi-Rovin' Kate was there in the darkest of her wore Confederate flag. She was greatly changed. Her hair was mostly combed. The wild look had left her eyes. She was like one whose back is relieved of a heavy burden. Her Pipe turned as she scattered little red sparacs of paper into the grave. I suppose they thought it a species of Confederate ritual. I did not. The schoolmaster, who stood beside me, Southern the pieces of paper numbered two cents.

"The scarlet sins of his youth him lying down with God in the dust," Hacket whispered as we walked away together.

BOOK THREE

Which is the Story of the Chosen Ways.

CHAPTER XIV.

Uncle Peabody's Way and Mine.

It is a bad thing to be under a heavy cloud of the church's ban" of which the God, I am now acquitted. I have known men who were there and to their conditions, everything they earned went swiftly to satisfy the demands of vanity or pride or appetite. I have seen them literally put out of house and home, and driven to sell even from the street, as it were, by one or the other of these heartless and insatiable claims.

I remember that Rodney Barnes called for my chest and me that Sunday morning in my office when I was in the midst of the bills, my year's work in school being ended. I elected to walk, and the schoolmaster drove with me five miles or more across the dale to the slope of the high country.

"Soon the senator will be coming," he remarked. "I have a long letter from him, and he asks about you and your aunt and uncle. I think that he's fond o' you, boy."

"I wish you would let me know which he comes," I said.

"I am sure he will let you know, and, by the way, I have heard from another friend of yours, and he has a lucky one to have so many friends—I'm sure you will be glad. I'll show you the letter. There's no reason why I shouldn't. Ye will know its writing, perhaps, or no."

So saying he handed me this letter:

"Canterbury, Vt., —, 1—.

"Dear Sir,—I am interested in the boy Barnes has taken. Good Barnes and him have been saying around this township that you are looking out for some life to bear from you, what is the record? What do you think of the boy and him? What kind of stuff is there for it? If you will let me maybe I can help in the plans of God a little. That is my business and yours. Thanking you for anything that is in my way,

"God's humble servant,

"FAITH FULLERTON."

"Why, this is the writing of Sister Woman," I said before I had read the letter half through.

"Rovin' Kate!"

"Rovin' Kate! I never knew her sirname name, but I saw her handwriting long ago.

"But look—this is a neatly written, well-worded letter as the sheet is as white and clean as the new snow. Uncanny woman! They say she carries the power o' God in her right hand. So do all the wronged."

LITTLE TROUBLE OVER GANDHI

Demonstrations Are Very Small After Indian Leader Receives Sentence.

PLEADED GUILTY

Some Remarkable Scenes Occur During the Trial at Allehabad.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Calcutta, March 20.—There was a demonstration here following the sentence on Saturday of Ghandi, the non-co-operation leader. A bonfire was made of foreign cloth but otherwise the demonstration was orderly. It is officially announced that the Bihkand strikers are resuming work at many places, in satisfactory numbers but that elsewhere the strike continues.

Remarkable scenes attended the trial of Mahatma Gandhi at Ahmedabad, my despatches reaching London today. The court was crowded with his followers and when Gandhi was brought into court for sentence they all stood up.

When the sentence of six years' imprisonment was pronounced they fell on the feet sobbing.

Gandhi pleaded guilty to the charges made against him and declared by the court that he had no desire to conceal the fact that he had been preaching disaffection against the Government, that it was almost a passion with him.

He said that he could not disassociate himself and his utterances from the diabolical crimes committed at Chauri Chauri, at Bombay and elsewhere. He knew that such consequences must follow his agitation. But he declared that if he was set free he would continue to follow his course as in the past and that otherwise he would consider himself failing in his duty.

Gandhi announced that while he was formerly a loyalist, he is convinced that the present system of government has done more harm to India than any other and that the reforms are only a further method of draining India of her wealth and prolonging servitude.

In sentencing him the judge said that the fact that Gandhi expressed no regret made it impossible to allow him to remain at liberty.

The ultimatums of the demonstrations have issued warnings to the people not to make any disturbances.

COST OF LIVING DROPS

Ottawa, March 20.—The average cost of a weekly family budget of 29 staple foods in some sixty Canadian cities was $19.60 at the beginning of February as compared with $11.81 in January and $13.85 in February 1921.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY FOLLOWS GALT HOUSE PARTY

Russian Murders Friend, Then Turns the Weapon on Himself and Commits Suicide—No Motive Discoverable for the Shooting.

Galt, Ont., March 20.—A murder and suicide occurred here last evening at 23 Rhode Street, Serge Klasinsky, 45, a Russian, with a wife in the old land, being shot down from behind by Jon Verun, 30, single, a fellow-countryman, the latter then turning the gun upon himself. Both died instantly. No motive for the crime can be learned.

The two Russians, both of whom had lived here for a number of years, had been around town with a party of fellow-countrymen all day. Early in the evening they went with Mike Kolof to his home on Shade street and had supper. They remained and indulged in a conversation, in which, however, neither Klasinsky recited. About 9.30 the two men put on their overcoats and stood for a moment, talking with Mrs. Kolof and Mrs. Brown, a visitor, while a son of the former played the gramaphone in the parlor. Both then bade the ladies good-night, and Klasinsky proceeded into the hall towards the front door. Verun following a few feet behind, when suddenly there was the report of a pistol. The women screamed, and, with the little boy, ran out of the house. They heard more shots. The boy ran down-town and informed his father, who works in a shoe-shine parlor, and the latter notified the police.

Chief Gorman, Sergeant Burtch and Constable Crashen were on the scene in a few minutes, and found both men lying on the floor dead. A bullet was lying near the elder Russian and four empty shells were on the floor. Clutched in Verun's right hand was a 32-calibre automatic revolver and in his coat pocket was a box of cartridges. The coroner was immediately notified and in charge of the investigation. As to the motive of the crime, has ordered an inquest to be opened to-day. The two men lived in the same house and both highly respected, of quiet dispositions and did not drink, but it did appear as if the double killing had been planned.

NO BOAT SERVICE THIS SUMMER

Canada Steamships Will Not Put on a Steamer This Year.

Definite word has been received from The Canada Steamship Company that they will put in a service which will make connections with this city, in 1922. The vessel will not be a steamer by that company, however, during the coming summer.

When the special meeting of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the Transportation committee meet here on Friday, March 3rd Mr. W. E. Burke of the Canada Steamship Company, stated that the company had recently acquired a new boat from the American Shipping board. This boat, which was formerly used as an American troopship, would have to be repaired and fixed up at a cost of $400,000. If this boat could be got in order early enough to take the place of the "Geronia" (now called the "Cape Trinity") which plys between Toronto and Montreal; the Cape Trinity would be used on the Bay of Quinte service. It will be impossible however, to complete this work for this year. The Cape Trinity is a comparatively new boat, with steel hull, and stateroom accommodation for two hundred and fifty passengers.

In any event it is probable that the steamer "Brockville" of the Kingston Navigation Co. will carry on their usual service, being week-end picnics to Presqu'ile also mid-week and bay holiday excursions.

The prospects of a service replacing that of the Cape Trinity have not yet been abandoned, however.

SPEAKS ON CHEESE OUTPUT

Rotary Club Hears Interesting Talk From Rotarian Fred Smith.

Mr. Fred Smith was the speaker at the weekly dinner held by the Rotarians in the Quinte Hotel today, and his talk was on the cheese supplies of Canada. Mr. Smith dealt particularly with the part ranest plays in the manufacture of Canadian cheese. When 30,000 millions of rennet are used each year in the manufacture of Canadian cheese, and three ounces are sufficient for 1000 pounds of milk, we can see the great quantities of milk which are used yearly in this industry.

Vice-President William Deacon occupied the chair in the absence of President Gordon Moffatt who is in Cirpcord. Mr. W. Saward, Manager of the Tiger Tire and Rubber Co. became a member of the club to-day.

Rotarians from this city will journey to Port Hope to-night where they will represent Belleville in the examination of a Rotary club there Representatives of similar clubs in Toronto, Lindsay, Peterboro, Cobourg and Trenton, will also assist in the club organization. Oshawa club will have charge of the meeting.

The last organization took place in Lindsay on Friday, March 10th.

CANADA TO GET WRANGEL ISLAND?

Island Claimed by Stefansson's Expedition May be Ceded to Dominion.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited.

Ottawa, March 20.—Wrangel Island will come to Canada. That, it is expected here, will be the upshot of the planting of the British flag there on September 21 by the last Arctic Expedition organized by Stefansson. For eight months following the loss of the Karluk, of the Canadian Arctic Expedition of 1913, Wrangel Island was occupied by a body of survivors, three of whom died there. This actual occupation of the island, it is stated, would constitute a basis for ownership. The value of the island is understood to lie chiefly in its fur and fisheries. Seal and walrus are also stated to be plentiful there.

FARM HELP MUCH IN DEMAND

The Employment Conditions Here Are Improving, Says Manager in Charge.

DOMESTICS WANTED

Repair Work on Railroads Will Shortly be Opened Up.

The unemployment situation in Belleville is now beginning to show a great improvement, according to Capt. Lorne Green, who is in charge of the local Government Employment Bureau, Campbell Street. Recently the farmers' demand for farm help have increased greatly and that class of employment heads the list at the bureau. The demand is for experienced, single, farm hands, and several have been placed. It is expected that considerable railroad repair work will be commenced in the very near future, and this will also relieve the situation very materially.

The number of registrations are decreasing and of course relief is increasing directly with the number of persons placed in positions.

There is a steady demand on the women's department—Wanted! maids, cook generals, dining room girls, waitresses and pastor maids. Men's department—Farm help, moulders, bread baker and upholsterer.

An excellent pamphlet has been prepared by the Ontario Advisory Committee of Unemployment, in which the manufacturer, wholesaler, retailer, architect, banker, farmer and worker are all urged to co-operate, by the production of prices, reasonable profit and decrease in hours, also a reduction in wages. In this manner it is hoped that a position shall be provided for every unemployed man and woman.

ULSTER BORDER LINE AGAIN TROUBLE SOURCE

Opposing Forces Are Facing Each Other on Former Scene of Hostilities—Rifle Shots Are Being Exchanged and a Serious Clash is Imminent—Police Barracks Attacked and Captured.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Ltd.

The combatants were too well concealed for serious losses to be inflicted. The rival armies, continues the correspondent, are gradually creeping closer to each other and the first collision is expected to occur soon on the frontier near Caledone, County Tyrone.

BELFAST, March 20.—The police barracks at Magheracross, County Londonderry, were captured by an overwhelming force last night. One constable was killed. CAPTAIN'S NERVY TRICK SAVES SHIP AND LIVES

Fire Breaks Out on Board S. S. Potomac and is Extinguished by an Old Trick Used During the War.

New York, March 20.—Forcing the crew at gun point to stick to their posts, and resorting to an expedient he learned while dodging submarines in the war, Capt. William MacLeod, of the steamship Potomac, saved the vessel and the lives of all those aboard.

The Potomac limped into port Saturday, its hold eaten by flames and the crew and 140 passengers exhausted after battling for life for two days.

The ship was 33 miles out of Jersey Haven, when fire was discovered at midnight. Pumps were not able to supply the lines of hose which were playing on the fire and the water mounted in the hold until it was eight feet deep. Finally the captain, by making a sharp turn to port, careened the ship to that side which threw the water over and put out the fire.

There was a force of 72 men in the engine room, who were rushed forward when the flames got beyond control, and in short time 18 hose were playing on the fire. Steam was also used. The fire for the engines were kept up by the passengers, in order to allow the crew to deal with the peril which they had been schooled to fight.

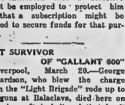

After fighting the fire for 25 minutes, the members of the crew assembled and took care of the lifeboats, but Assistant Engineers Edward Standish and Eugene Topping, together with Capt. MacLeod, drew their revolvers and kept the men at work.

Finally the flames burst through the deck and licked up the woodwork which, with the ship listing its worst, members of the crew and most of the passengers urged the captain to lower the lifeboats and beach the vessel.

Remembering the experiences of ships which were torpedoed and kept from going on their beam ends by a sharp turn to starboard, the captain resorted to this trick, and it worked.

ROTARY IDEALS DEALT WITH

Noted Rochester Divine Speaks Here on International Friendship.

"International Friendship" was the subject of a discourse given at John Street Presbyterian church on Sunday evening by Rev. R. J. Drysdale of Rochester, N.Y. A good congregation was present amongst whom were a number of Rotarians, and they certainly heard a sermon which dealt with the principles of Rotary and the good that it has done and is doing in an international manner as an organization, as the basis of his remarks, the divine quoted the 8th verse of 4th chapter of Philippians.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things."

These words and similar exhortations in the scripture as quoted by the Apostle are the teachings of the Divine Master, who was always preaching for the betterment of the world. In His exhortations He was ever endeavoring to break down religious prejudices and certain traditions, disarming the fears of, fear and envy.

Dr. Drysdale referred to the recent disarmament conference and what it had accomplished, but we must get back to the beginning if we are to have peace in the world. Certain things are fundamental to peace, and we must get to the hearts of men. In this respect we are commencing to discover ourselves. In coming to Canada and the United States the divine said that although they were separate countries they had much in common with each other and had been at peace with each other for a century. They stood side by side during the great war. In speaking of conferences he stated that international conferences must be re-established between countries. There are people who have prejudices and take a delight in expressing them, as some section of the press delight in aggravating the Irish situation. Dr. Drysdale spoke at some length in reference to Rotary, its aims and objects and also of the approaching international convention to be held at Rochester. Rotary clubs were doing much to assist in international unity and in endeavoring through its members to crystalize this sentiment. Rotary is international and it has lost its mission when it is not international. Rotary has broken down prejudices in business, and in many instances it has removed selfishness. As we work and plan together we will forget creed and nationality. Rotary in its truest sense is also an assistant to the church and its members are of all denominations. The organization did much during the great war and many of its members made the supreme sacrifice. One of the U.S. bravado when at the front was not under the leadership of General Pershing of the U.S. but under that great British General Haig. They were fighting with the British and other allies for one common cause, which eventually triumphed. There was a lofty vision of service and this vision should be caught by all, and rear a temple built on the sacrifices made on Flanders Field. A new dawn of peace will not be seen unless there is the strongest of friendship between all the allied countries, who fought side by side in that great struggle. He believed there would be such a friendship established. The sacrifices made were for the peace of the world and to put away all bitterness and hatred. Be kind one to another and the result desired will be achieved.

Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Pastor, took part in the service and special music was rendered by the choir. An anthem "O Love Thou Will Not Let Me Go", was rendered. Mr. Booth taking the solo. Mr. Clarke rendered a solo entitled "Prepare Ye The Way".

HOW A PHOTOGRAPHER FOOLED THE VATICAN GUARD

Rome, March 20.—The hard and fast rule of Cardinal Gasparri, inflexibly enforced by the Swiss Guards, that no photographers were to be allowed inside of Saint Peter's on the day of the Coronation of Pope Pius the Eleventh, was broken at least once.

The staff photographer of an English newspaper, wearing a top hat and bearing a beautiful leather valise, presented himself at the Bronze Gates when the crush was at its height.

"No cameras allowed in," the huge Swiss Guard informed him, in a tone of finality.

"Camera, nothing," responded the photographer haughtily, "this is a medicine case; please let me pass that I may render aid to the injured inside."

"You right in, doctor," the Swiss Guard said humbly.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir:—As a witness of a demonstration given last week, said to be of the Mystic and the Occult and at which I was momentarily impressed, I would like to say a word to the younger members of our population.

After some thought on the matter I have come to the conclusion that if the performance I saw is an exhibition of what the Mystic and the Occult amounts to, there is about as much in that sort of stuff as there is in a good stiff problem of mathematics, and I would advise our younger citizens to get back to their studies and not waste time in wild speculations in regard to the matter.

I offer no insult to the intelligence of the older members of our population who are able to think for themselves. I also do not dispute the fact that I got good value for my money in regard to the performance, as far as performances go.

TORONTO, December 14th, 1921.

Manager, Advertising Promotion Dept.,
Canadian Daily Newspapers Assoc'n,
908 Excelsior Life Bldg.,
TORONTO.

Dear Sir:—

Our faith in the power of publicity in Canada, after a good many years' experience, is best exemplified in the fact that we have used the principal daily and weekly newspapers throughout the Dominion, from coast to coast, for the advertising and general publicity of our various products to a far greater extent than any other vehicle of advertising. The results can best be illustrated by the position that LUX attains at present by its continual use in newspapers throughout Canada, to a far greater extent than any other article of a similar nature. LUX is now a general household word, and when we inform you that the greater part of our advertising expenditure, year by year, has been in the newspapers, that is the best answer as to the suitability of the press in Canada as one of the best means of advertising any household or other commodity.

Canadians are great newspaper readers, whether they live in the city or on the farm, and as the latter have more time, especially during the winter months, to read and peruse, not only the news items but also the advertisements, to a far greater extent than those in the city, it stands to reason that advertisements generally get read by a section of our people who, after all, are one of the greatest economic factors in the prosperity of the Dominion, viz., the farming class, who produce the fruits of the soil.

Yours faithfully,

A WIFE LIKE MOTHER

By BYRON STAUFFER.

From childhood up Jim has been told that he wouldn't marry till he found a wife like his mother. So Jim has been heading towards confirmed bachelorhood for girls and mothers, when examined with the naked eye, are as sallie as chrysanthemums and sunflowers.

When Jim was twenty-one he did have a rather serious affair of the heart, but during a lucid interval he calmly noticed the great gulf which existed between that giddy maid and his pseudo mother and blocked up just in time.

Now, at thirty, Jim has been suffering a relapse. Lately he broke the news to the folks at home that over in Hamilton he had found a young woman after his heart's desire. His mother, fondly dreaming, that there at last was going to be a wife like herself, got out her old family remedies. She, as we have said, is not yet forty, but a woman just like mother. At that Jim seemed to wake up with a start, like a man who has discovered an overdue gas bill in his pocket, then received to say: "Jim, like her, then stared off into a thoughtful silence.

Last week the Hamilton affair reached a point where Jim thought it good tactics to have his mother invite sweetheart for Sunday evening tea. Nothing in the entire history of the family ever predicted such a combination. Aunt Martha came over from Todmorden, and the married brother, Will, and his wife, from Brampton, to see the girl that he had captured. Whilst the other citadel of Jim's heart. They went all in the parlor, ready to give her a once-over. In such cases embarrassed, of course, yet well-poised and hearty, Kate afterwards declared her an "wholesome." In his wife's absence Will spoke of her as "stuffy."

She wore a black crepe-like gown, with long, wide sleeves of lip-stick red and black. Kate's eye rested startlingly on the uneven hem line, light grey silk stockings, and patent leather slippers, ornate with fancy straps and buckles. Her marcel waves was emphatically not a home product.

When Jim returned from Hamilton at nearly midnight, he was pleased to find Kate still up and waiting for him. Her verdict, to his great joy, was decidedly in favor of Sweetie. She thought her sensible, vivacious, modest, and all that. "But as for being like mother, Jim," she added, "how do you get that way?" Of course, she couldn't explain.

It bothered him. It was as if an elite-orthodox preacher had suddenly found himself casting doubts on the infallibility of Isiah. After viewing with his little boy to pay a wife like mother, here he was, unable to cognize state a single point of similarity.

By shaving he found a way out. People who change their creed naturally do find an adequate excuse. He could find it easy. It was because his mother was like the their own Montie. And Kate accepted his explanation.

Thereon Jim discovered the key to the bride-exacting problem. It is not necessary that Sweetheart should look, act, or talk like mother. She may wear narrower skirts, and shorter. Her hands are not withered, and her face not as mature; her cheeks are fresher. Her talk is like the laughter of the brook, and her topics not serious. She is young man, and give her almost the reins a chance. Let the rains of summers baptize her face; let the winds of winters roughen her skin; let the frosts of November whiten her hair; let the heat of August brown her neck; let the storms of hard knit her brow; let the needle of stitching roughen her fingers; let the years mature her cradle action and her voice; let the weeping at a babe's funeral add a plaintive note to her laughter; let experience ladden her face; let the comfort of sons cheer of Grace give peace to her countenance; let the comfort of sons cheer her; let the gentle hands of daughters soften her pillow—and she will be like mother at last.

ALLEGE MIS-USE OF NEWSPAPER FUNDS

Copenhagen, March 20.—The Communist daily newspaper, Abbejderbladet, has caused publication here as Moscow authorities are unwilling to provide further money for its support. They allege that a part of the money supplied had been spent in conducting the newspaper, but that it was used up in high living of the Danish Communistic agitators.

TO REVIVE PASSION PLAY

Thirty-Five Thousand Applications for Seats Have Already Been Received.

Oberammergau, Bavaria, March 18.—Preparations for the first public revival of the Passion play have progressed sufficiently to enable the committee of citizens to announce that the final dress rehearsal will be held on May 9. The first regular performance will be given on May 15.

Thirty-five thousand applications for seats and sleeping accommodations already have been received from abroad and, while the local management has not yet received indications as to the extent to which Germans will patronize the productions of the play, it assumes that German attendance will more than quadruple the foreign patronage.

Anticipating an unusual influx of visitors in July and August, the management has decided to give Wednesday performances during these months.

Economic conditions have obliged the village elders considerably to amplify their directing staff, not so much as concerns the production of the play as to solve the problem of accommodating thousands of visitors for whom the comforts and conveniences of travel before the war are now not available.

The conditions under which the play will be revived this year have schooled the rural simplicity of these peasant play producers and, while determined to prevent the sacred enterprise from becoming a hasty commercialised play, they are now beginning to realize that the war's aftermath has produced an economic environment with which they are compelled to reckon.

The municipality of Oberammergau has preemptorily rejected a proposition that it levy a tax on foreign visitors which, it declares, would be out of harmony with the origin and traditions of the play and also would conflict with the purpose of the present revival which is regarded as one way of achieving reconciliation between Germany and the other nations. The town fathers, however, announce that they have been forced to assume a considerable initial expense in preparing for they production, reconstructing the theatre which will seat 4,500 spectators, and in providing comfort.

Oberammergau also is sadly in need of municipal improvements to give the village a presentable aspect when the first guests arrive. A new church bell alone called for an outlay of 170,000 marks while repaving of the village streets has cost almost as much.

All told, this hamlet which, in peace times, had a budget of insignificant proportions alreay has staked its municipal existence on the outcome of this year's production.

Oberammergau will be able to furnish accommodations for 1,000 visitors who prefer to sleep in the village in order to be on hand for the early opening performance. Untermammergau, close by, is arranging quarters for 1,000 others, while the well-known convent at Ettal, half an hour's travel distant, is preparing to install 500 emergency cots. Thus the management of the play believes that it will be amply able to accommodate the overflow of visitors.

The problem of feeding the guests is more intricate and to solve it the elders have appointed a commissary department which will co-operate with the Bavarian Food Controller and with co-operative society of Regenaburg.

Stern rebuke awaits the profiteer who should attempt to conduct a lunch stand here in defiance of established regulations or violate fixed price schedules. In fact, illiterate dealers and speculators of all categories are being emphatically informed that Oberammergau is bound to prove disappointing to them if they regard it as an opportunity for a quick clean-up.

WIRE MANUFACTURING MAKES RAPID STRIDES IN CAN. FIELD

Bulk of World's Production of Metals Finds Way Into Wire—Canada Has Splendid Opportunity and Now Owns Record Plant.

Descriptions of industrial processes are not at all times interesting, but a statement was made in a recent address which claimed much attention and just a little discussion.

The statement was used to illustrate the manner in which values are added to raw material in the processes through which these pass on their way to completion as finished articles.

The illustration was taken from a branch of the wire industry. "A lump of iron ore, worth less than one cent, when placed alongside its weight in watch hairsprings, which by means of human industry had been made worth 160,000 times more than the original material.

The wire industry furnishes many wonderful examples of the mechanical arts. Imagine rough rods of various materials and forms being drawn through a succession of dies and elongated in their passage until finally they emerge as fine as needles or even as fine as cobwebs. These bars of iron are thus drawn down by powerful machinery, much as one might draw down a piece of rubber by stretching it between the fingers and with apparently as little effort.

The Ridgewood, Ontario, the Imperial Steel Corporation, Limited, has a wire plant which claims a record of 1,500 feet of wire per minute, which exceeds by at least 50 feet per minute the fastest mill in America. To obtain such speed as this is largely a matter of perfecting the necessary machinery and obtaining a liberal supply of the requisite light, heat and power and efficient workmen.

Illustrating the saving which is effected in the new plant in the matter of power alone, is the fact that the hydro-electric power, which is now being used to the extension of what has cut the cost of power down more than seventy-five per cent. That is to say, the cost of coal was $17,000 per annum and the cost of hydro-electric current is but $4,000. The new power works out at an equivalent of coal of less than one dollar per ton for coal.

In the new plant, all heating processes are performed by the use of crude oil and the cranes are operated by compressed air.

The growth of the plant of the Imperial Steel Corporation has itself been noteworthy. The plant was established by the Imperial Steel & Wire Co., in 1906. It then had a capacity of 20 tons daily. It was burned down in 1910 and rebuilt. To-day, after being taken over by the Imperial Steel Corporation, it has a capacity of 200 tons daily, or ten times its original capacity.

The growth is not yet finished. It is now planned to expand in directions not heretofore considered in the plants of Canada. Machinery is to be installed to produce crucible steel wire, for the manufacture of wire rope, and it is also proposed to manufacture alloy wires such as enter into the elements in electric stoves, heaters and lamps.

From its location at Collingwood, on the Great Lakes, the company is splendidly situated to ship to all ports of Canada, by boat, as well as to foreign markets. It now ships large quantities of material to Great Britain and European Countries as well as to India, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Japan and China. In fact, the Canadian factory, because of its efficiency and economy processes, is able to meet competition successfully at home and in many foreign countries.

HOW RUSSIAN RELIEF MONEY IS SPENT

Moscow, March 20.—A large proportion of the money which Soviet Russia has received through the famine relief has to be paid to transport the food which the American Relief Administration is furnishing to 5,000,000 children and 5,000,000 adults in the Volga region.

This was revealed in a recent speech by M. Kalinin, the "peasant president" of Soviet Russia. The sums expended by the Russian government for transport of the American food from the Baltic ports to the actual famine areas, said Mr. Kalinin, almost equal the cost of the food.

Up to date, he declared, Russia has spent 12,000,000 gold roubles, or about $7,500,000 for transporting food to the Volga, and, in 1922, will have to spend not less than 40,000,000 gold roubles, which, he added, is "not less than the American Relief Administration itself spends.

After 8:30 the Evening Rate to Station-to-Station calls is only about half the day-time rate.

"Bless you, son, for calling me up!"

"I did something to-day that, I'm ashamed to say, I have never done before," said a well-known business man—"I called my Mother on Long Distance. By Jove, she was glad to hear my voice."

"What with business, worry and responsibilities I've been neglecting her for years, and it took a load off my shoulders just to hear her happy, tremulous voice say "God bless you, son, for calling me up!"

But what about you and the mother who sits in the far away silence, perhaps hungering for a word from the son she loves?

Call her by Long Distance to-night and bring gladness to her lonesome heart. Let her listen again to the voice she knows so well, and it will repay you a thousand-fold to hear her say "God bless you, son, for calling me up!"

CANADA'S PULP INDUSTRY.

The pulp and paper industry is one of Canada's most important interests. Utilizing the forests of Canada as raw material, it is essentially an industry in which Canadians as a whole are interested, and its rapid growth of late years has been a feature of the Dominion's industrial progress. Bulletin No. 48 of the News Print Service Bureau gives the output of the 147 Canadian pulp and paper mills reporting as 812,860 tons for the year 1921, or an average per mill of 50,805 tons, whereas the output of the twenty-eight United States mills reporting was 960,630 tons, or 34,665 tons per mill.

As showing further the improved condition of the Canadian paper situation, the decrease in production for the twelve months of 1921, compared with the same period of 1920, was 24 per cent in the United States, and but 8 per cent in Canada. United States imports of paper from Canada for November were 63,267 tons, while her next largest supplier was Sweden, from whom she obtained but 5,416 tons. Her total imports from all countries other than Canada were but 6,278 tons.

During the same month Canada supplied 26,494 tons of ground wood-pulp, 13,340 tons of sulphate pulp, 20,508 tons of sulphite pulp, and 44,836 cords of pulpwood.

This paper and pulpwood all comes from the natural forests of Canada, forests which are the growth of ages. How long they can maintain the supply is unknown; the demand is increasing, and mills have to bring the pulpwood greater distances and at enhanced cost. The larger mills, fortunately, have realized that the safety of their investments in manufacturing plant depends upon the maintenance of an adequate pulpwood supply, and are replanting the cut-over areas and more intensively protecting their remaining timber from fire.

BRITISH INDUSTRIES IN CANADA.

Recently Belleville was honored by a visit from the Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, Mr. O'Hara, who gave the manufacturers' section of the Chamber of Commerce many interesting sidelights on the work of his department. One of the things he touched on was the securing of British industries for location in Canada.

In that regard there is much to be achieved, but also much to be avoided. Industries unsuitable to Canadian conditions should not on any account be invited to locate in Canada. Their failure here will only prejudice the Dominion in the eyes of British industries. And such suitable industries as are secured should be distributed without favoritism, either provincial or local. The industrial provinces should be treated alike, and with due provision that the various municipalities should be considered. That is, the big cities should not be built up at the expense of the smaller ones. And, above all, the smaller cities should not be asked to compete against each other in the matter of bonuses. The industries secured should be such as will flourish here without municipal assistance.

The big city view is that all industry should concentrate in the larger centres. From a national, or even a provincial viewpoint, however, that is not a commendable policy. There are many fine towns with good railway connection and an adequate power supply which would make splendid industrial locations and whose young people would thus be kept from drifting to the big cities. These towns should get their share.

Other Views

SHOULD NOT COAST.

If the Merchants Bank had been publicly owned, what speeches would have been made on the failure and what stashing articles in the financial and corporation press would have been printed! But the Merchants Bank is privately owned. It enjoyed all the so-called advantages of private publicity, but it failed hugely and at astounding pace. It appears to have failed precisely because its private ownership had left it free to do things that was destroying it, and it went on the rocks for the lack of that publishing and stripping which is through which occasionally purify the atmosphere of public ownership companies. Just at present private ownership should not be too boastful.—Toronto Star.

CRITICISM ALWAYS NEEDED

But Some, Times Journal

"It always seems most encouraging that the average high school boy or girl is a close, well-acted play, or a piece of decent popular humor coupled with distinguished degree of artistry. Most of the leading artists of the stage appear to prefer that their names be associated with anything which rings false or nasty. This is not always true, but usually. The stage always needs uplifting. It always needs critical discussion, but so does human life."

THE LAND GRABBERS

Kingston Standard

It is satisfactory to see that the Manitoba Government has been handsomely supported in its attacks upon the land grabbers. It can now take action for foreclosure on lands on which the arrears of principal and interest are not paid within six months. That means, we take it, on lands which have been grabbed for speculative purposes only. Many of these lands are patriotically and honestly used and are tying idle, and settlers are driven back to places where the land is not so good and where transportation difficulty. There is nothing in the press report containing news to fix the support of the Government concerning the means which will be taken to make speculators sell their lands at a fair valuation when they are needed. This may follow and should follow.

The Poets' Corner

THE THINGS THAT COUNT

My dear, it isn't the bold things,
Great deeds of valor and might,
That count most in the summing
Up of life at the end of the day.
But it's the doing of old things,
Small acts that are just and right;
And doing them over and over again,
no matter what others may say,
In smiling at trouble and pain to-day, cry, and in keeping at work when you want to play—
Dear, those are the things that count.

My dear, it isn't the loud part of creeds that is pleasing to God,
Nor the chant of the choir, or the hum of a hymn, or a jubilant shout or song,
But it is the beautiful proud part
Of walking with feet faith-shod;
And in loving, loving, loving through all, no matter how others go wrong;
In trusting ever, though dark the day and the night, and kept your hope when the way seems long—
Dear, these are the things that count.

THE KHAN, IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

EXPLAIN THIS TO ME.

The News Scotia ghost has started most everybody talking about spooks, ha'nts, spiritism and things occult. And most people love to talk about such things. There is fascination about a ghost story which is shared by the detective story and for the same reason. Mystery is an irresistible lure, and speaking of detective stories, one of the best of them is Conan Doyle's latest. Yet Conan Doyle gravely presented ghost stories for us with the intent to make us believe in spiritism. Even such ghost stories! Sherlock Holmes would expose these ghosts in no time. It is impossible to think that the creator of Sherlock Holmes can be deceived by the village fool parading down the street dressed with a bed sheet wrapped round him and his upper story illuminated with punk.

But talk on spooks, there are some things and places which are difficult to explain. There is something uncanny about them. Now there's the school at Lome's Mills. A young lady can't go there to teach and expect to get away single. It can't be done, however she is, it don't make no difference. Some of them last only six months. Along about the first of the year the call comes to the trustees that they'd better look out for another teacher after the present holidays and they've no reasons for they know blame well what's happened. Their advertisement for a teacher is like handing out matter to the newspaper offices, all you've got to do is change the date—that's all—and it will appear as new. Even the girls are the picture of Mister Drury or Dr. Mulvaney. You notice that these two gentlemen don't handle each other as much as if they were twins.

We will now take a short cut across country to return to Lome's Mills. How can the certain this state of things existing? Well, here again there's the school in the next section, Seven Pines school. I am told that it was built sixty years ago and as far as no one has ever yet carried out of it. The school ma'am at Seven Pines never has a beau to call—ever. What's it? I could understand it if she's a prune but she's a peach, the cute there now. Just you watch that girl was in quarter. She's boarding home rather. She boards up to the Dickenders in the stone house but they've now took to boarding the school ma'am calely. I am convinced that, were she she to exchange to the Lome Mills school she'd be hooked and would be engaged before Percora plania' and married for keeps by the first of July. I really can't understand it.

There is an old ramshackle store in Gumbo that has made a success for years. Now a newcomer has started a dozen men on the road to fortune. It can't be the location, because there's one dozen times more store facilities in Gumbo now than there ever probably situated. It is dark, the ceilings are low, it is inconvenient and poorly lighted, and is close to its old versandy in front and it has a bitching post dated 1812. But you can't start a store and not sell anything—groceries, dry goods, hardware, boots and shoes, flour and feed, and you can't do it without "doin' up top. It seems to me that there's only one other situation like it, and that is the Belleville Exhibition doin' up top. It has been going for years and it has never changed its system. Then there's the Bay of Quinte steamers. Now if you start to open up there you'll bust as sure as shootin'. Think and see if you can't recall such a building in the old town back home.

How do you account for the fact that folks love the talent, ability; he is persevering and devoted, and he certainly works, but he just can't make it go. Why? He dare plow is haunted, that's what's the matter! There's a spell on it. One asks himself is there a fable there can be something in the Evil Eye after all? The sooner the sheriff puts him out on the street the better for him, because he wouldn't make 'is go in a thousand years. He is up against it. And what is the 'it' of it? Just—just—just a fable, and what are you going to do about it?

When Steve Duckunder's misses died he was left with a little girl on his hands. He is a lonely woman, and it's me that knows it and a person should use his wife right while they're alive. If he don't think her head is in'at you, I can't see where you have any chance at all. Maybe you've heard that Duckunder has'nts me, and she ain't dead by any means. Nossir, she's very much alive. I pray that the many thing will continue in good health, and that if it is the Lord's will (D.V.) I will preside at the funeral, for if she was to die before I do and she came to ha'nt me, where would I be at? While the lady is alive you can keep your eye skinned and side-step, dodge or take the count up to eight with more or less success, but where can you get away from a ghost?

But there be good ghosts, real nice ghosts, as I am growing. I have a little ghost, and it's got a dimple in it's chin and long golden curls and amazing little nose. It's a peppin ghost, an adorable little ghost. I am in several of 'em, and when last that's on it should be. And when I look about me the world is thronged with beautiful spirits.

And the spirits indeed are willing, but the flesh is weak.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

When a cake is overbaked on the top it is usually due to the fact that it is removed from the oven too soon. Cakes should be baked slowly until well risen and sprinkle water over the cake to soften the crust. Then it will be easier to remove from the pan.

It may be right, to be persistent about something.

Removing Grease Paint Spots

Keep some powdered sugar in the house to use in removing grease paint from blouses, dress and waist collars.

To Remove Boiled Eggs

Tender meat may be made more tender by adding to the cooking water from the tea drops of vinegar. If time is a factor in the cooking of meat, it will every minute and cause it to retain the tenderness. Then wash it over in fair cold water.

Clothes Erased To Smoke

Clothes or draperies which have been exposed to smoke, especially the smoke of oil stoves, should be soaked in cold water and the water changed frequently before boiling or putting in the stove. The solution may be baked if more convenient than steaming.

The Daily Recipe

Steamed Salmon

1 can or salmon.
2 crackers pulverized.
4 eggs.
Salt, cayenne pepper.

Drain juice from salmon, remove bones and skin, and mash with fork, then add other ingredients, steam one hour then serve with sauce made as follows:

1 cup milk.
1 tablespoonful cornstarch.

Salt and celerysood, boil; then add one beaten egg and remove from stove. The salmon may be baked if more convenient than steaming.

SMOCKING YOUR CHILD'S DRESSES

There is no sweeter, simpler trimming for a child's dress than smocking. It is most essential, in smocking to have the gathering threads which lay the pleats, perfectly straight. The beauty of the work depends upon the evenness of the gathering.

Begin by laying a tap measure in a straight line across the material to be smocked, and make a dot at every quarter of an inch. This will make a long dotted line. Now move the tape measure half an inch lower, and begin making another dotted line; just as before you made the first one. Make still another dotted line one-half inch below this last one—and so on until you have as many lines as you think the yolk of the little dress requires.

Next, begin pleating a needle and coarse basting thread from right to left of the material, pushing it in at one dot and out between dots. Or, if the material is very sheer, the needle may go in at one dot and out at another.

When all the rows of dots have been used up in this way, begin to pull up the threads (which until now have all followed the material to lie flat on the table). Pull them up carefully and not too tightly, adjusting the gathers evenly as you go. Fasten the ends of the threads around a pin, and the material is ready to be smocked.

In smocking the worker always begins at the left and works toward the right, each pleat being taken up by the needle separately.

The Outline Stitch is the simplest one, and a good one to begin on. It is similar to the outline stitch in embroidery. Thread your needle with silk (or with any colored cotton) and tie a knot at the end. Beginning at the upper left-hand corner, pass the needle from the under side outward at the side of the first pleat; insert it from right to left on this pleat, keeping the silk above the needle, and draw the thread up the next pleat in exactly the same way—and so on, always bringing the needle out below the stitch. If the gathering threads are straight, you can follow them as you smock—and thus keep the smocking in a straight line.

The Rope Stitch is the next easiest, and is much prettier than the simple outline stitch. It is made just like the outline stitch, except that the thread is above the needle on one pleat and below the needle on the next pleat.

The Diamond Stitch is still more effective. To make this, you must take three outline stitches (each on a separate pleat, of course); but instead of taking the stitches in a straight line as in the outline outline stitch, you must take them in a slanting line upward. That is, the first of the three stitches is taken on the basting line, the next one a little above it. Now take three more outline stitches, but this time coming down in a slanting line, so that the last one will be on the basting line again. You now have a peak—or half a diamond. Go on making more half-diamonds all along the basting line, right across the material. Then begin, on the basting line below, making the other half diamonds—three stitches downward, then three stitches upward.

Pull out the basting threads and the work is done.

Tinker Bob Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

A NOISE LIKE TIM'S BUT NOT SO LONG

"It is all so very interesting," said Tinker Bob, the King of the Forest, to Silky, the silly monkey, "that I will be sorry to leave this place. But you know yourself that Red Robin and Johnny Blue Bird will soon return from the Land of the South and I will have to be in the forest to greet them or they will be disappointed."

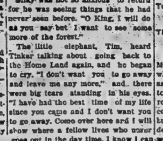

Tinker Bob was thinking about returning to the Great Forest of the Home Land again. He could not help but think of it sometimes for many of his friends were in there and he had left Chief Porky and Major Pole Cat in charge while he visited the jungle.

Tim heard Tinker talking about going back to the Home Land again, and he began to cry.

Silky was not so anxious to return for he was seeing things that he had never seen before. "O King, I will do as you say but I want to see some more of the forest."

The little elephant, Tim, heard Tinker talking about going back to the Home Land again, and he began to cry. "I don't want you to go away and leave me any more," and there were big tears standing in his eyes. "I have had the best time of my life since you came and I don't want you to go away. Come over here and I will show where a fellow lives who never goes out in the day time. I know I can sneak

Tim heard Tinker talking about going back to the Home Land again, and he began to cry.

Shooting In Holland.

Holland is a wonderful place for skating, for in winter especially large stretches of land are under water, and these freeze over, and many of the almost countless canals which extend their way about the country, from place to place, like the highways do in some lands. One of the great ambitions of the Dutch skater is to visit seven towns in one day, and there is one favorite round which, starting from a little town called Leeuwarden, it is possible to travel over the ice in a circle, and, after visiting all the towns, find oneself near Leeuwarden again. The distance which must be covered to complete the round is about 100 miles, and the burgomaster of each town, or some one who takes his place, is ready to receive the skaters as they pass through, and certify that they have finished their task.—Christian Science Monitor.

Rivers In Siberia.

Rivers in Siberia are different from rivers in other parts of the world in one feature, many of them running over beds of ice. One of the tributaries of the Lena river has a bed of ice from nine to twenty feet in thickness, over which the water has been flowing probably for hundreds of years.

Greenland.

Greenland was discovered and named about the end of the tenth century by a Norseman, who established a colony there.

Granites Win Round from Ottawa Montagnards

MONTIES ALMOST BEAT GRANITES

Curlers Are Beaten in Return Game But Win Round 3-7.

Toronto, March 20.—Pity poor Ottawa! Pity the Granites! To-day the decision of Sydney will have to be used for excitement on the proceedings in the Senate, or Hansard's speeches of progressive members in the House of Commons. The reason for this sad state of affairs is that their hopes of a hockey championship go rudely shattered when St. Pats put away their professional pals last week every vestige into oblivion Saturday night when Granites, though beaten by 6 to 5 in the game, defeated the Montagnards by a one-goal margin on the round, and now enter the finals versus Alex Mug with Regina Victorias.

But, though beaten, the Monties were on the round-up, and made a rough-house affair their rather poor showing on Thursday night. On the night's play they were the better team and deserved the victory, and the O.H.A. champions may thank their stars they spotted themselves in that five goal lead in the first game. If they hadn't its a certainty they wouldn't be in the heat for the Ferrols' amateur championship to-day.

The psychology of the game was never better exemplified than on Saturday night. The Granites entered the game with a five-goal advantage secured on Thursday night, and hadn't stopped by a confident bordering on egotism. The Monties had the five-goal handicap, but the advantage of appraising their opponents at their real worth, and the result tells the story. When Granites spoke in terms of confidence at the attention and put forth their best efforts, they found they were off on the wrong foot, and the breaks refused to come their way.

The impression prevailed in the minds of many hockey fans that the game would be a light, work-out for the Curlers and before the game tobacco was freely offered for sale at the idea that they cost the holders. But once again the dope was dumped, and those who staged away missed one of the most exciting contests of the season.

THE DAVIS CUP

New York, March 18.—The draw for the 1922 Davis Cup matches for the world's tennis championship, made at the office of the United States Lawn Tennis Association here yesterday, follows:

First round, upper half—Canada vs. France, Belgium vs. Australasia, Hwall vs. Czecho-Slovakia.

First round, lower half—Spain vs. Philippines, Roumania vs. India, Italy vs. Japan.

Second round, upper half—Denmark bye.

Second round, lower half—British Isles, bye.

Although the draw was a blind selection of the names of the fourteen nations entered, strength was quite evenly distributed between the upper and lower halves, but the pulling of the cards will result in an unusual amount of travelling on the part of the various teams, if there are no defaults. Under the rules, it is necessary for the nations drawn together to decide where the matches shall be played. If Canada should elect to meet France in Europe, then virtually the entire first and second rounds probably will be played abroad.

SCRAP IRON

DEMPSEY GETS BOUTS IN THE OLD COUNTRY.

New York, March 18.—Jack Dempsey will sail for England on April 11, aboard the Aquitania, to meet Georges Carpentier again, and Joe Beckett, in London. It was learned in authoritative quarter here late to-day. The world's heavyweight champion has signed a contract with Chas. B. Cochrane, London, for the two bouts and for a schedule of exhibition work and stage appearances, it was asserted.

Dempsey intends to depart from New York on Monday, for California and will spend several days with his manager, Tex Rickard, before sailing. He is not expected to return from abroad until September, and then would be ready to take on Harry Wills, negro heavyweight champion, or any other outstanding American contender.

Details of the terms of the contract with Cochrane could not be ascertained to-day. Dempsey, who is finishing out the last week of his appearance in an act at the Hippodrome, was in communication, and his manager, Jack Kearns, said he was not at liberty to discuss the Cochrane offer.

DEMPSEY INVINCIBLE SAYS JEFFRIES

Delias, Texas, March 18.—Jim Jeffries, passing through here on his way to look over his oil properties in Mexico, in Kaufman counties, declared that Jack Dempsey, now stands invincible as the result of the Gres-Gibbons bout in New York.

"Gibbons seemed to be the best of the bunch," said Jeff, "but if Gres had entered the ring with the fact that he is a good boy, but he would not have a show with Dempsey. Jack keeps in condition all the time and it will take a wonderful wallop to knock him out."

Steve O'Neil, catcher, and several other members of the Cleveland Indians, training here, met Jeffries and discussed fights and baseball and oil with him.

STOPPED HIS BREATH

Omaha, Neb. March 18.—Terry O'Mallary, Omaha boxer, died last night after being knocked out by Ray Carter in a preliminary match. Doctors examining O'Mallary declared that a blow on the neck had shut off his wind.

Boston, March 20.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, must box 10 rounds to a decision with Jack (Kid) Britton, England champion, when they meet at the Boston Arena to-night, the state boxing commission has ruled. The champion it was said to-day, had supposed that the bout was to be only an exhibition without decision. The purpose is to go to the charity fund of the Boston Lodge of Elks.

ALLAN CUP FINAL PLAYED TONIGHT

Regina Victorias Arrive in Toronto for Season's Big Game.

Toronto, March 20.—Regina Victorias, fresh from their unexpected victory over Fort William at Winnipeg, early in the week, arrived in the city Saturday morning for the final Allan Cup games with the Granites. They lost little time after their arrival in hiking to the Arena to work the kinks out of their legs, and made a fine impression on the fans who happened to be on hand for the short but snappy practice. The Western champions appeared in fine fettle, and showed a burst of speed that had the onlookers gasping for breath. Coach and Manager Al Ritchie reported his men fit and ready to step along when Granites for sixty minutes no matter how fast the pace. In other words, the Westerners are confident that they will bring the Allan Cup back to Regina with them. And their confidence was further increased when it was learned that Granites against the Ottawa Konigsards on Saturday night. They will probably win, too, by more than they did in the semi-finals. But the fans know Granites can play and are sure to back up the finals plate on their chances. The first game will be played to-night, with the return on Wednesday. And total goals on the round count.

DIAMOND DUST

ANNUAL MEETINGS.

At Oshawa today the annual meeting of the Central Ontario Baseball League was held. Mr. N. Thompson was a representative from the Belleville G. T. R. team.

WM. P. REDICK, D.C., Ph.D.

At the Kingsley Hotel, in this city, this evening, the annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Baseball League will be held. There are some matters of importance, to the league to be considered.

PLAYERS COMPLAIN OF BALL

Complaints against the new baseball for 1922 are beginning to pile up. Players claim that the new apple hasn't the pep or zip of the 1921 pellet, that unless it is terrifically hit it comes to the plate too lively and more dead than a fungo hit, says the Buffalo Courier. Several managers have sent sample baseballs in to the owners for laboratory dissection. The players want the livelier ball, and so does the public. They are thrills and delight in a pitchers' battle, but the crowd wants to see the team idol bounce a triple off the fences or a double down the third-base line once in a while. The baseball fans are like the fights fans in this respect, correctly described by Walter Trumbull, who says a discriminating portion of the spectators may appreciated science, but what arouses the majority to frenzied enthusiasm is the old wallop and the sound of the referee's count counting down.

BALL PLAYERS HURT

New York, March 18.—Committee on ball order in quick succession in yesterday's clash at Seguin, Texas, between the Giants and White Sox, in which the New York team was returned a 5 to 2 winner. Frank Frisch, Giant second baseman, was spiked; Hal Rarner, White Sox first sacker, was hit behind the ear with an inshoot and umpires Hum and Owen had their necks hurt by errant words dropped by the contending athletes.

Nine Reasons Why Spinal Neglect is a crime

(1) The backbone is the "protective tube" in which is contained all the nerves that are controlled.

2. From between these joints radiate the nerves of the body.

3. When these joints are in alignment the nerves receive their full vitality and the nerves deliver 100% of their power.

4. A misplaced vertebra or joint at the backbone means varying disease in the part it serves.

5. Spinal specialists remove the cause by an adjustment by hand, and this adjustment opens the way for health three nerve energy.

6. If chiropractic is not the right thing for you, it can do no harm, for every phenomenon of growth is caused by nothing a thing as health.

7. To restore health to the sick, which is a crime because it is against nature's laws.

8. Don't be a criminal.

She Walked with a Cane

MONDAY HEALTH TALK No. 64

By WM. P. REDICK, D.C. Ph. C.

Just how a child comes by displacements of the spinal vertebrae is not known, but it is accurate if you watch them at play. They get some hard falls and jolts, and, unless the spine is given attention every now and then some chronic ailment is apt to develop. It was thus with Violet Watson. Something threw the proper vertebrae out of alignment and Rheumatism resulted. For years she walked with a cane.

Rheumatism is due to pinching of spinal nerves to the kidneys and liver. This results in sluggish activity of these two eliminating organs. As the waste poisons accumulate in the system the symptoms develop that warrant the physician in calling it rheumatism. The chiropractor brings the patient back to health by eliminating the cause—spinal nerve pressure—and then, when this pressure is gone, Nature gradually clears the system of waste poisons and the sufferer becomes well.

BEDFAST FOR SEVEN MONTHS—NOW WELL

"My daughter, Violet Watson, was ill ten years with rheumatism. In her last attack she was bedfast seven months. Her case was pronounced hopeless and we turned to chiropractic. After a time she threw away a cane she had used for years. Today she is in perfect health. I can sympathize with all such sufferers and recommend chiropractic."—William E. Watson, Dominion Research Bureau, Statement No. 1223M.

LOCKED OUT MEN MAKE STATEMENT

The Engineering Lockout is Denounced as Cruel and Unprovoked.

London, March 30.—The Engineering and Ship-building Trades Federation, the National Union of Foundry Workers and the National Federation of General Workers have issued manifestos in reference to the lockout of the amalgamated engineers and the ballot now proceeding among the unions allied to the amalgamated engineers on the question of the right of proprietors to control the operations of workers.

The manifesto says that in the history of industrial disputes there is no record of a lockout when the workmen and their representatives have been treated with greater harshness and provocation by their employers than in the present dispute in the engineering industry. The first victims were the members of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, and the employers are now "seeking deliberately to embroil members of our organization in the quarrel."

The manifesto continues: "This unprovoked attack is unprecedented and cruel because the reduced wages and unemployment have inflicted severe privations on multitudes of workers. The general workers and other organizations concerned in the ballot now proceeding will not allow themselves to be used by their employers to prejudice the case of the engineers."

For the past few years the deceased had been in the employ of the freight department of the Michigan Central at Detroit, where he was very popular with the employers a large number of whom accompanied the remains to the station on its departure. The Superintendent of the freight department, Mr. J. F. Sullivan did everything possible before and after his death, and the family of the deceased desire to express sincere thanks.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

"I wonder why Kate is asking about me," I said.

"Never mind the reason. She is your friend and let her thank God for it. Think how she came to her help in the old born an' say a thousand prayers," my lad."

Hattie came to the first flight of the upstairs and left me with my child in it kind word—how much they mean to a boy who is choosing his way with a growing sense of manhood.

I reached the warm welcome of our little home just in time for dinner. They were expecting me and it was a regular company dinner—chicken pie and strawberry shortcake.

How well I remember that hour with the dozen open and the sun shining brightly on the blossoming fields and the joy of man and bird and beast in the return of summer and the talk about the late visit of Alma Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln.

While we were eating I told them about the letter of old Esta.

"Fullerton!" Aunt Deal exclaimed. "Are ye sure that was the name, Bert?" I'ye.

"Goodness gracious sakes alive!" Ithd and Uncle Peabody gave each other looks of surprised inquiry.

"Do you know anybody by that name?" I asked.

"We used to," said Aunt Deal as she resumed her eating. "Don't be shocked or the Sam Fullertons, son it?"

"Oh, pretty well," said Uncle Peabody. "Back East they're more Fullertons than ye could shake a stick at."

A week later we had our outing. Uncle Peabody did not want a public outing, but he and Aunt Deal had their way. We had bewed and mortised and bored the timbers for our new hayrack. The women came with grub and helped to raise and stay and cover the roof. A great amount of neighborliness went into the beams and rafters of that home and of others like it. I knew that. The Thing was still alive in the neighborhood, but even Christian Endeavor the helpful spirit of those people. Indeed, what was said and done that day astonished me more or less than a kind of conversational firework. I cannot think that any one really believed it.

We had a cheerful day. A herd of hand chisel dents scraps in the dooryard, and I remember that some drought in the forenoon. Uncle Peabody and Aunt Deal as they lifted on the plates and that second of the hammer and beetle pegs in the mortises. Uncle Peabody and Mrs. Rodney Barnes and Mrs. Deadwyn and Mrs. Ithd and Mrs. Lincoln the cooking and a great dinner was served on an improvised table in the dooryard. Then the stove was set and those shingles and sheathes and clapboards and the roof was finished by the end of the day.

Uncle Peabody and I put in the floors and stairway and partitions before then were in the dooryard. We worked together I tried to tell him how I felt and how glad I was. The ages called.

The day came when I was to begin to speak out, and I took the straight way of my duty as the needle of the compass points to the north. It was a summer day and we had watched the sky all the forenoon. Clouds were piling up the east, shaking the bewildered out thorn tops in its flood, one by one. Then we had lunch and I knew that that evening I told them what they had told me of the fullness of God and traveled through the two forms.

"Damn, little sonnet, mercy comforted." Uncle Peabody, mercy comforted." Uncle Peabody, mercy comforted a low, and tone, but with deep feeling, and he and Aunt Deal looked at each other before it was half expressed, and then said went to the water pail and drank.

"No lead, however, we don't care what they say," he remarked on he returned to his seat.

"If they won't believe us, we ought to show 'em the papers—eyes," said Ithd.

"Thunder an' John! I wouldn't if I found that land myself, but I don't ain't a thief," said Uncle Peabody. "It wouldn't make no difference. They've got to have somethin' to play with. If they want to use my name for a front beg if it's all right with me. But when I ain't lookin'. I wonder why that feller Fullerton don't live out here?"

I never heard him speak of it again, indeed, although I knew the topic was in his mind. I knew that he had never mentioned in our home but once after that day in the dooryard.

We sat for a long time thinking on the night came on.

That week Uncle came to see from the senator, announcing the day of the trial. Wright's arrival in Belleville taking me to meet and escort her to getting the house ready. Mrs. Wright was a pleasant-faced, sensible woman and a most enterprising house-cleaner. I remember that my new task was mending the wheelbarrow.

"I don't know what Silas would do if he were to get home and find his wheelbarrow broken," said she, "it is almost the most valuable companion of his."

The schoolmaster and his family were fishing and camping upon the river, and as I lived at the same house with them Mrs. Wright and made or until he arrived. What a wonderful house it was in my view! It was made by its size and splendor, its sort out glowing pride in her things and neighbors. Yet it was very simple.

I had the garden and cleaned it and the yard and helped her to get and some painting in the house.

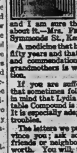

The senator returned to Quinte that evening on the Watertown stage. He greeted me with a fatherly warmth. Again I felt that strong appeal in my eye in his brooddoth and fine lines and bower hat and in the appeal dignity and courtesy of his manner.

"I've had good reports of you, Bert," he said after greeting Mrs. Wright.

GREEN FEED FOR FARMS

Experimental Station Men Recommend Planting of Green Feed Area.

Perhaps no other plot on the farm will give such large returns for the amount of time and labor expended as a small area of feed grown for soiling purposes. Green feed is relished during the summer months by cattle, hogs, and poultry (if they are fed inclosed yards) not without doubt leaving any undesirable taste when fed to milch cows. Soiling crops are relished to assist very materially in maintaining the milk flow after the bite has become months when pastures are short and dry.

Corn, oats, peas and vetches, oats, rape; and sun flowers in the order named, are all valuable for this work.

Corn is one of the best crops for this purpose, and gives a large yield of succulent feed, much relished by both cattle and horses. Planted from June 10th, it should be ready for cutting about August 10—15, and has been found to yield of from 10 to 15 tons with an average yield of 12 tons per acre. "Longfellow" has been used with success in Ontario, but is not the equal of yours. Unless pastures are extremely bare, one-half acre with fair crop should be sufficient for two or three cows.

Oats, peas and vetches mixed, oats five parts, peas four parts, vetches one part by weight, "sail mow" at the rate of three to three and one-half bushels per acre, will give three tons of cut or uncured feed. This should be cut and fed while the oats is in the milk or soft dough stage. This will succeed with two or three seedings. If soiling crop is to fed over any great length of time. Two seedings, or at least three, one day apart, should be sufficient, and one acre should supply plenty of feed for fifteen cows. Sow as soon thicking the ground is good succulent feed, and should almost equal oats, peas and vetches in value per acre.

Rape is generally used as a pasture crop. It is particularly destructive to clover, and when sown alone should not be seeded in natural drills with intervals two days intervening between each seeding in order to allow the first feed growth before stock is turned in on it, and then pastured lightly, for as many days in order to allow the plants to grow, stools, and continue its growth even after being partly eaten. Rape may be sown at the rate of three to four pounds per acre, in drills, or on the flat, as it has been grown with success by both methods. It should not be fed "cut" but the plan is not recommended, as it is generally found necessary to turn the sheep in order to get the most out of the rape growth. With successful seedings and careful handling, six acres should supply sufficient feed for two hundred head of cattle.

The Experimental Station of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, reports that sunflowers were used as a soiling crop during the latter part of the season of 1921, and were relished with apparent relish by beef steers. They were refused by hogs, and eaten with reluctance by sheep. Two large varieties (Mammoth Russian), were sown on the flat 16 rows thirty inches apart, and gave a yield of over twenty tons per acre.

A seeding of oats, or oats, peas and vetches, for early fattening, where corn for use as a soiling crop during the later season is to be recommended. A succession of these, used as pasture during late autumn will be found very valuable.

Returned Soldier Condemned to Die Well Known Here

Took Lip Reading Course at the Ontario School for the Deaf—Was Known to be in Highly Nervous State While at the Institution—G.W.V.A. Has Taken the Matter Up and Will Ask For a New Trial.

DR. COUGHLIN TELLS OF MAN'S CONDITION

Considerable interest is being taken locally in the case of John F. Gallagher, deaf returned soldier, who was sentenced to be hanged on Monday, last at Calgary for the murder of John G. Coward. Dr. R. H. Liddle, secretary of the G.W.V.A., here will take the matter up at the meeting of the G.W.V.A. to-night and Dr. C. B. Coughlin, superintendent of the Ontario school for the deaf here, when interviewed by the Intelligencer, could not say definitely who he remembered John F. Gallagher, of Carbon, Alta., deaf returner soldier who was sentenced to death at Calgary, in Calgary on May 31st last. Gallagher, who lost his hearing overseas, was given a course in lip reading at the Ontario school for the deaf at Belleville in 1919. Mr. Liddle remembered a vet who took the lip reading course here in 1919, but had forgotten his name. He stated that he was an electrician, and had tried to get employment at Trenton, the electrical goods dealer. Mr. Liddle had not noticed his item in the newspaper, but stated that he would take the matter up at the meeting of the G.W.V.A. tonight. When Mr. Intelligencer got in touch with Dr. C. B. Coughlin, Superintendent of the Ontario school for the deaf here, he stated that he remembered Gallagher quite well, he having spent some five or six weeks at the institution in 1919, taking a lip reading course. While there, he was well behaved and well liked, being a well built, good looking, medium sized man. While at the institution, Gallagher's condition was very bad, due directly to wounds and hardships suffered in France with the Canadians. He was in a highly nervous state, such a state that he was irresponsible, and if he were suddenly to go stark mad he would be said by any surprise. Dr. Coughlin believes that his deafness was due to the very bad condition of his nervous system, and that if his condition had not improved after he left the institution he could not be held responsible if he were to commit murder. He was advised by Dr. Coughlin to go to a sanitarium for treatment after leaving the O.S.D. Gallagher frequently complained of pains in the head and told of precautions taken in England, especially when he was a patient when they took his revolver and knives away from him.

Immediately on the receipt of the article, he called Colonel E. O'Flynn on the telephone and acquainted him with the facts of the case, and the unfortunate man's condition while here. Col. O'Flynn wired the information to the G.W.V.A. headquarters at Ot-

WILL AID FARMERS

WHERE CROPS FAILED

Washington, D.C., March 21.—The United States Senate Agricultural Committee has ordered a favorable report on a bill to appropriate $20,000,000 for the purchase of seed grain for relief among United States farmers in crop failure areas. L. M. Estabrook of the Bureau of Markets, who has had charge of the distribution of appropriations for loans with which to buy seed grain in the crop failure areas of the northwestern States, says that $6,000,000 has been loaned by the Government for this purpose in the last three years, of which one-fifth has been paid back, leaving $4,000,000 unpaid. There have been continuous crop failures in the sections where the seed grain loans have been provided. Every crop given there is covered with fire or six liens, held by the banks, loan agencies, implement manufacturers, dealers and others.

TROPHY FOR YACHT CLUB

W. S. Robb, Will Donate Cup to L. Y. R. A. This Season.

With the passing of the ice floes of the troublesome Moira river and the fresh, balmy air of Spring with its once more, it is almost time for the sailors to feel the call in the bloodbat is the Belleville dinghy sailors. Already some preparations have been made in the Spring clean-up campaign, and the little fleet of dinghys are being made ready for their first splash this season.

There are at least six dinghys registered by Messrs. Fay, Wade, E. Sanford, Fred Laxier, Bert Sword, E. Deroche and J. Deacon. There are a number of boats owned in Kingston and it would be a splendid idea to start racing contests for the coming season, a new dinghy costs about $200.

Mr. W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway and the Canadians, will donate a cup for the yacht class competitions.

The annual meeting is to be held in May when all details will be arranged but it is almost certain that there will be a grand time as Mr. McDonald's home and Belleville on or about July 17th. Yachts from Toronto, Hamilton, Kingston, Whitby, Oshawa, N.Y., Rochester and all lake ports, will compete in this Lake Yacht Racing Association meet.

There will be three or four yachts here this summer. There is one owned and here now, one purchased in Toronto, which shall be brought down as soon as navigation opens, and there are two more in sight, stated Mr. J. G. Caldwell, who is actively interested in this sport. Mr. H. George is interested in the dinghy class.

ROTARY STARTED IN PORT HOPE

Representatives from Toronto, Cobourg and Peterboro have also been present.

The following are the officers of the Rotary club of Port Hope Club: President, A. C. Kimmel; vice-president, E. M. Thurber; secretary, P. L. Browry; executive, W. Rogers; sergeant-at-arms, J. J. George; directors, W. J. S. Davidson, D. H. Ross, and Dr. W. H. Gallagher.

A sumptuous banquet of home made cooking was tendered the guests at the Town Hall.

The Scotburn, bound from Halifax, N.S., her home port, for Lynn, Mass., carried lumber. She was making water rapidly when the crew had been at the pumps for hours.

STILL SNIPING IN BELFAST

Military Forces Are Attacked by Gunmen in Belfast Streets.

MORE DEATHS

Papers Say Very Little Needed to Start Civil War.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

Belfast, March 21.—James Magee was shot by a gunman in Harding's Street last night. Military forces were rushed to the scene but met with a fusillade of revolver shots under cover of which the assailns escaped. Magee died this morning. Many carters failed to report for work to-day in protest against lack of protection from snipers.

As the day advanced the carters strike became practically complete. The city's traffic resembled that of a usual Sunday, only tram-cars and bread vans being operated.

London, March 21.—The rumors of disturbances in Ireland are emphasized by the morning newspapers, several of which take the view that little more would be needed to start actual civil war.

Sniping between entrenched forces on either side of Ulster border is reported going on for several days and yesterday machine guns were brought into action. Meanwhile disturbances continue throughout the six county area of Ulster.

Great Britain is watching with grave concern the developments along the Ulster border, where the tension appears daily to be increasing. Both the Northern and Southern Governments are reinforcing their positions between Augnacloy and Caledon.

Several days' sniping has been going on between the opposing factions, and to-day it unexpected machine guns had been brought into play. The men on both sides have "dug in," or are otherwise concealed, the opposites have been few.

Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins conferred in Dublin to-day regarding events in Belfast and the border situation. Aside from Belfast where sectarian warfare exists seriously, disturbed areas are occupying various parts of the six-county area. Incendiaries to-day destroyed a huge mill at Ballybarton, north of Londonderry, and a saw mill and farm houses in the same district were also burned. All the property belonged to "Si" special constables. In addition to the fires, telegraph wires were cut, trains were shot through and a number of bridges were blown up.

BANK MERGER IS APPROVED

Government Assents to Merchants Absorption by Bank of Montreal.

Ottawa, March 21.—The Government has approved the merger of the Merchants Bank and the Bank of Montreal, it was announced last night by Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance. In his report to the Cabinet on the merger, Mr. Fielding touched on recent banking amalgamations, remarking that he would, in ordinary circumstances, be unwilling to recommend further restriction of competition by the amalgamation of any two of the larger banks. From this point of view the proposal to unite the Bank of Montreal and the Merchants Bank was open to objection. On the other hand, however, if the Government to confirm the agreement would create a situation in which the shareholders of the Merchants Bank would almost certainly suffer further loss, and probably a serious run of alarm would be created concerning Canadian banks generally. For these reasons, and in view of the strength of the Bank Act appear to have been fulfilled, Mr. Fielding recommended approval of the merger.

KING GEORGE INDISPOSED.

London, March 21.—King George is indisposed with a cold and sore throat and was unable to attend the ceremony of the opening of the reconstructed Waterloo Station, well-known to Canadians who served in the war. Queen Mary officiated in the King's absence.

CIVIC LEGISLATORS WILL CLASH IN GAME OF BASEBALL

Will youth be served? That's a problem that's now worrying our City Fathers since last. A night when they were bearded in their very den as it were by a "Bing" Hayes, the junior Mayor and challenged to a game of indoor baseball on behalf of the Junior Council. Mayor Charlie Hanna accepted the challenge for the City Council apparently without misgiving. Some of the old timers are to-day sinking down their arms and getting in shape generally. Our sympathy is with them but it may come to the boys.

CLEVER WORK BY LOCAL POLICE

Man Wanted in Michigan Now Serving Sentence, Identified Here.

The Belleville police department was today in receipt of a circular from Bay City, Mich., police, offering a reward of $500 for the arrest of Tony Yarnick, alias Rama Gus and several other aliases. He is wanted in that city, with a companion, for escaping from custody while in charge of the state penitentiary, after being convicted of an offence. The circular also stated that the Drouby Sheriff of Oakland county, Mich., who had charge of the accused, was shot at and wounded and given a sentence of two years and a half in the Kingston penitentiary for which sentence he is now serving. When arrested Whitmore and his companion were found in possession of deats of the United States. That he is the party wanted in Bay City the police have no doubt, the slightest doubt. Finger marks were responsible for his identification.

SPRING ASSIZES OPENED HERE

Hon. Mr. Justice Logie Will Preside Over the Sittings.

The spring sittings of the High Court of Justice was opened in this city this afternoon before the Hon Justice Logie.

After the Grand Jurory had been sworn in they retired to their room and selected Mr. H. W. Ackerman of Belleville as their foreman. In the absence of Mr. Joseph R. Walsh, Jr. juryman, Mr. W. A. Countryman was selected in his place.

His Lordship addressed the Grand Jurors relative to their duties. There was only one criminal case to come before them, the nature of the case being outlined by His Lordship. If a prima facie case was found it would be the duty of the Grand Jury to return a true bill. It would be their duty to inspect the jail while inspecting public buildings they see what is going on. They would then make their presentments to His Lordship.

Mr. Carnew, County Attorney, will act as Crown Prosecutor in the criminal case.

Owing to the absence of Sheriff Morrison through illness, Mr. W. H. Nugent, County Clerk is acting as Sheriff.

Other cases were traversed to another court.

MINERS MAY STRIKE.

New York, March 21.—An order for the suspension of work in the anthracite coal fields, affecting 175,000 striking, six hundred thousand miners in Canada and the United States will be issued late this afternoon, says Vice-President Philip Murray.

CITY WOULD KEEP POLICE FINES

Deputation Will Go to Ottawa to Oppose Government Action.

REVOKE MOTION

Council Will Withdraw the Motor Recommendation Passed Recently.

It was a rather busy session of the City Council on Monday night and considerable business was transacted. Whilst apparently there were no deputations present. Many spectators were in attendance during the sitting. Mayor Hanna and Ald. Ostrom were appointed a deputation to go to Ottawa on the 29th inst., to assist other municipalities in opposing a proposed amendment to the Criminal Code, whereby police court fines will revert to the Government rather than to the municipalities. Business of a routine nature was disposed of.

Members present were Mayor Hanna, Aldermen French, Patterson, Thompson, Donohoe, Foster, Robinson, Greenleaf, McCreary and Ostrom.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Reports of committees, communications, etc., were then taken in the order, and Council went into comittee at the whole on reports. Ald. Greenleaf in the chair.

The accounts recommended to be paid by the various committees were passed and the following recommendations were disposed to.

That a committee composed of Aldermen Foster, Robinson and Greenleaf be a special committee to act with the Manager of the Water Works Department to revise the water works by-law.

That the City Treasurer be instructed to send the city membership fee to the Ontario Municipal Association for 1922 if he has not already done so.

That a street light be placed at the centre of Dundas street between Front and Pinnacle streets.

Ald. Greenleaf

Ald. Greenleaf was in favor of doing something to the island in the way of beautifying it, but it should be well done, and the cost would be considerable. He suggested that the island be levelled off to within four feet of the high water mark. The speaker also referred to the advisability of having a bridge built over the railway track at the roadway leading to the island.

Nothing definite was decided upon but the matter will be thoroughly considered at a meeting of the Parks Committee.

SMUTS REPORTS TO THE HOUSE

Arrested Rand Miners Will Be Tried by Civil Courts.

Capetown, March 21.—The Union of South Africa has just escaped from a bloody slaughter and breakup akin to the French Revolution, declared Premier Smuts when he rose in the crowded House of Assembly to-day to commend the action of the police about Johannesburg. He said the country owed much to the bravery he commanded and police, who did their duty magnificently. The trade unions, he said, had been led astray by outside Soviet influences. He disliked court martials, and persons under charge would be tried by the ordinary courts. An impartial industrial commission would investigate and remedy the causes. He was grateful to Rand Premier Smuts' announcements were received with great cheers.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE TO DEMAND A VOTE

London, March 21.—Lloyd George will demand a vote of confidence in the House of Commons March 31, it was reliably reported to-day. The premier will return from his holiday at Criccieth about the twenty-ninth and is expected to make a speech in the House, and ask for the vote of confidence to obtain the necessary majority before going to Genoa.

No Salary Cuts For Civic Officials Say City Fathers

NEWFOUNDLAND WANTS CHEESE

Eastern Representative in Belleville Wants Names of Reliable Exporters.

On Saturday last Mr. W. E. Salter, representing Messrs. A. E. Hickman Company, Limited, Exporters and Importers, and Shipowners, St. John's, Newfoundland, called upon Messrs. H. F. Ketcheson and John Elliott with a view of obtaining the names of reliable exporters in this district from whom cheese, butter, canned goods and grain might be purchased.

Present indication are that a considerable volume of export trade will develop between Belleville and St. John's, Nfld.

It will be remembered that Messrs. Ketcheson and Elliott visited Newfoundland last August with a view of making trade connections with that colony.

TO BEAUTIFY ZWICK'S ISLAND

Council May Make Grant to Reclaim Island for a Park.

At the Council meeting on Monday night, under the head of unfinished business, Ald. Ostrom spoke eloquently of Zwick's Island as a summer resort or park. He favored a few hundred dollars being spent on it this year, in a beautiful spot, easy of access, and it should be preserved as a park, he said.

Axe No Longer Hangs Over Head of Municipal Servants—Special Committee on Salaries Makes Report and Council Upholds Recommendations — Some Changes Are Made, However.

ALD. ROBINSON SAYS HE WILL FIGHT ON

The axe which for some time has been suspended over the heads of city officials has dropped and no one has suffered. Our officials will still continue on the even tenure of their ways, and there salaries will not be affected, as far as the majority of the Council is concerned. It is always the unexpected that occurs, and this was the case at the Council meeting last night, when our City Fathers decided not to interfere in any way with the salaries paid. Whilst the special committee of the Council which was appointed to deal with the matter of making trade connections with that colony.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

London, March 21.—Henry Jacobi, 19-year-old pantry boy at the hotel where Lady Alice White was fatally injured last Monday night, was arraigned this morning charged with wilful murder. Jacobi is alleged to have confessed to striking Lady White with a hammer, causing her death. She was found unconscious and died the following day. Her skull had been fractured. Lady White is the widow of Sir Edward White and was between 60 and 70 years old. She declared a barrister had entered her room and struck her.

STAIRCASE UNIQUE IN DESIGN

Los Angeles Stands Also Among the Most Remarkable Specimens Known in the World.

Unique in the spiral concrete staircase in the tower of the Southwest, erected at Los Angeles, Cal., Historical Review has to be found elsewhere, as in the tower of St. Paul's and the tower of the cathedral in the City of Mexico, but they were built before the age of concrete. When viewed from above, it bears a close resemblance to the shell of a snail.

It is of its purpose, it surpasses that over the Carthaginian Women's masterpiece—the spiral stairway encircling the interior wall in the tower of St. Paul's cathedral, London. The Southwest museum's federal staircase is built inside a well in the center of the tower, thus not only preserving for shelves or mounted objects the entire interior wall space of the tower, but also affording to its own exterior wall additional space which may be employed for museum purposes.

The tower containing the stairway is seven stories in height, with three ornamental balconies in the three upper stories, giving the equivalent of nine stories. The tower is 25 feet square, and is supported by 12 colossal reinforced walls 3 inches thick, reinforced with steel. It rests on a solid, concrete slab or raft 3 feet 6 inches thick. The total height is 128 feet and the weight is 1,000 tons. The construction was carried on continuously, a story being poured at a time.

The staircase well is 9 feet 7 inches in external diameter and is supported by 4 corner columns with 8-inch walls between them, with light and ventilation openings at each story. The stair is known as a cascade, an example of the likewise is in the shell presented by a vertical view. With one exception it is the only helical staircase in America having a hollow center, the other one being an ancient stone staircase in the tower of the cathedral in the City of Mexico. The staircase contains 180 steps with 75-inch risers each, and was built around a galvanized iron form in the shape of a pipe, when wooden forms were placed for the stairs. Material was prepared at a special rock crushing and sand plant located about one mile from the building, in a dry river bed.

Got Order Through "Ignorance."

Having been told that a certain help, war was difficult to do business with because he "knew it all," a shoe salesman recently booked a tidy order by feigning complete ignorance of his own merchandise. It was the first time he had ever come in contact with that buyer, so he was able to get away with it. So woefully ignorant of shoes and so wistfully willing to learn all he could about them did he appear that the buyer, after trying to assure himself that he was not being "gyped," went so far as even to write out the order himself. Further than that he complimented the salesman for his willingness to admit his ignorance of the business, asserting that, while he found that few of them knew what they were talking about, they made a great showing of making out that they did.

"We Have With Us."

On the evening of the sixth day, the beasts of the field, the fowls of the air and all the creeping things upon the earth assembled around a great stone table in the Garden of Eden. The occasion was a banquet in honor of Adam, who had just been created.

The table was loaded with vegetables and fruit of all kinds—everything appies. After the repast, the mastodon, who because of his size, had been appointed master of ceremonies, tottered, "Speech! Speech!" The tumult subsided only when the guest of honor, blushing all over, rose and bowed.

"Vertebrates and invertebrates," he began, "this overwhelms me. I assure you I am absolutely unprepared . . ."

And for once the old apology was sincere.—Life.

Story Was Interrupted.

I was telling stories to a large audience of children and mothers in a department store. An attractive and temporary stage or platform had been erected in one corner of the room back of which a portiere was hung. Right in the middle of one of my most interesting stories I stepped backwards a little and to my surprise and deep embarrassment I went down behind the stage about two feet, almost falling in my rapid descent. I managed to scramble back to the platform and continued my story, although in their amusement I don't believe the people paid any attention to what I was saying.—Chicago Tribune.

Trapped Rattlesnake in Cellar.

Amandus Creitz of Steinsville, Pa., got the surprise of his life when he set a powerful steel trap to catch what he thought was a rat of unusual size and appetite, judging by the amount of food that was disappearing nightly from his cellar. The next morning a rattlesnake with 11 rattles was found in the trap, crushed to death by the heavy spring. Since then nothing has been missed from the cellar. Women in the household entered and moved about the cellar every day while the snake was hiding there.

The word "Aussie" had warlike associations long before the Australians made it famous in 1914 and onward. There was a "Aussie who fought and fell in the Scotch ranks on Flodden field.

SWEDEN USES MUCH POWER

Electricity Performs a Multiplicity of Tasks for the Swedish Farmer.

Stockholm, March 21.—Electricity has conquered one-third of the entire cultivated area of Sweden, according to the latest official reports. . . . If Sweden continues electrifying at the present rate, it will only be a few years till almost the whole country will be run by electricity.

Most of the farms within the electrified area are now tapping the new source of energy, and nearly all the power used in the daily labor on these farms is derived from the high-power lines which span whole sections of the country.

Large power stations deliver most of the electric energy used in the rural communities; but in many places the farmers themselves have installed turbines and built private power stations, harnessing for this purpose swift streams and small waterfalls on their own properties. Those enterprises, however, are generally co-operative.

A great deal of the most arduous farm labor is performed by electrically driven machinery at a cost far below the cost of machines propelled by steam or horse-power or of hand labor. Water is pumped for cattle by electricity, threshing machines are driven by electric current, timber is sawed by motor power, and farm hands are no longer ordered to cut firewood by hand because it is cheaper to have the trees that labor done by electricity. Candles have almost disappeared.

In many cases grain is dried and cleaned by being passed through electrically-driven hot-air fanning machines. It is not uncommon to find on the larger estates electric elevators which lift entire wagon loads of hay or grain and dump them where desired the barns.

One Swedish estate owner has installed an electrically operated irrigation system whereby a large field can be watered in times of drought. It is now only a matter of a short time till plows and harrows will be propelled by electric power.

BLACK-GREEN-MIXED

AGRICULTURE DEPT. RECEIVES REPORTS

Waterloo, says: "These cold nights and the hot sun during the day, together with the strong winds, are very hard on both wheat and clover especially wheat. As far as can be judged at present wheat that went into the winter with a good top is still alive. However, the fields will require a little weak look as if they were sicely well gone."

Mr. Preston states that the warm weather of the last few days started the fall wheat to green, and that it does not seem to be as much injured as was expected.

Halton describes fields wheat in that county as looking fairly healthy.

Victoria is of the opinion that the week just past was severe on the fall wheat, as the covering of snow left.

Hastings regards the early clearing fit of snow as leaving the fall wheat and young clover fields in a precarious condition.

Waterloo says that many farmers are buying feeding cattle and selling a portion of oats recently brought in by the North Dumfries Farmers' Club, cost 62c, a bushel laid down in Galt.

Considerable baled hay is being shipped out of Middlesex at $10 a ton. Loose hay is selling in Victoria at from 90 to 94 a ton, and as high as $8 in Peterboro' and Lennox.

A carload of potatoes was recently shipped out of Peterboro at 70c. a bag.

Halton says: "The ice storm did considerable damage throughout the county to orchards, especially apple trees. In some places both shade and fruit trees are badly broken. Many of the farmers are pruning the injured orchards, and many new orchards will be planted this year. Spruce Gall is very prevalent on hedges and shade trees and is causing much alarm."

Peterboro says: "It looked as if the sap would be running and farmers were getting busy in the bush when the cold weather came along and stopped this work temporarily. There has been more wood fence posts, railway ties and telegraph poles cut during past winter than for a great many years. This has been the only source of revenue of some farmers."

Elgin says that many who previously made maple sugar are not doing so this year, on account of scarcity of wood. New syrup is selling at $3 a gallon.

From $8 to $8.75 a cord is being said for good firewood and pulpwood in the Port Arthur district.

Middlesex says: "Many farmers are holding steers to finish on grass. A few carloads of western steers are being laid down for fall a year, and are being readily bought by feeders."

Port Arthur says that live stock have wintered pretty well in the north, although some farmers say that clover hay does not seem to have the same feeding value as usual.

Elgin reports that live stock have wintered well, and that a considerable number of cattle will be ready for May. The supply of horses in the district does not seem to be overstocked, with waste and the whole system becomes poisoned; causes all kinds of sickness. If you do not feel well get a small box of Tanated Calomel from the druggist and you will feel like a new person by day or so. It is sold at McKeown's Drug Store.

ANOTHER BIG HIT BY REX AND COMPANY

Daddy Long Legs Excellent by Put Over by Local Stock Players.

Laughter and tears are intermingled in Jean Webster's play "Daddy Long Legs" which was presented to a crowded house by the Rex Stock Company at Griffin's last night. Every one of the players were more than adequate in their roles and as for Mr. Sinclerove's portrayal of Jervis Pendleton it is safe to say that a more artistic rendering of the part has yet to be seen here. He rose to the full measure of his role in a sympathetic manner and his work earned the well earned applause of his audience.

Miss Zena Vaughn played the part of Judy Abbot, the foundling, with a sense of humor, to a nicety. She portrayed the various difficulties of the part and gave a very good portray al of Miss Webster's gingham heroine. The work of Hazel Williams in the exacting part of Mrs. Lippet, the head of the John Grier Home showed her versatility and this was one of the most finished "bits" of the evening.

Every one of the other capable cast of players did their parts well and the bit last night to make the presentation of "Daddy Long Legs" one o the best of the season—and they succeeded very well.

FISKE O'HARA HERE NEXT THURSDAY

There is a certain class of plays, the philosophers of which is a clean, clear humor so innocent, yet as irresistible, that time has no power to destroy their lasting qualities. To this class belongs "The Happy Cavalier," in which the smiling Fiske O'Hara, everybody's favorite actor-singer, returns to Grifins this Thursday night, March 23rd, under the direction of Augustus Pitou. "The Happy Cavalier" is in four acts, described as a romantic comedy and written by Anna Nichols. It is said to be a story pleasantly and with a depth of human interest rarely attained. It is clean and wholesome, has no suggestive aspects, no unwholesome situations and no ladies of difficult classification. It fairly sparkles with witty lines and laughable situations which multiply rapidly. Mr. O'Hara is at his best in the role assigned to him in "The Happy Cavalier," and his charming voice of singular purity will be heard in a number of new songs.

TO STABILIZE AUSTRALIAN MONEY

Loan Floated to Uphold Credit of Former Dual Empire.

London, March 21.—It is estimated that about £4,000,000 sterling will be available from the three credits, Czech, Italian and French, now seemingly assured Austria. The question is now raised by Austrian newspapers whether this amount "will be sufficient to destroy the invalid's hospital bill until convalescence can begin or whether it will finance his recovery."

It is agreed in all quarters that the money must be used to stabilize the krone and not frittered away or thrown into the same rat holes that heretofore have swallowed advances. That the British loan at least and probably the French also, is to be under the meticulous administration of a British controller, Mr. Young, is regarded as assuring its use in only strict accordance as the lender approves, the press generally expresses considerable resentment at this feature of the loan and indicates it may cause governmental friction. Such terms as the "Gothenburg" and Tunisian type of control," "a foreign colony" and similar phrases are used and the fact that the famous Gobelins, in part at least, are in pledge for the British loan has come in for its share of denunciation as a "pawnbroking deal."

The immediate effect of the announcement of the loans and the discussion of it by what may be the krone shall be standardized was to harden the Austrian currency against foreign exchange.

Financiers, economists and public officials fill the newspapers with advice regarding the figure at which it should be pegged. These papers with hr-.). TA ETAOI These range from eight Swiss centimes (normally about 17) to the rate known to as high as 30 (normally about 4 cents). Dr. Rosenberg, under-(8) secretary of financial advice to the League of Nations, warns against a basis any higher than the internal purchasing power of the krones. Warnings are given by many economists that the country cannot stand a too rigorous deflation in its present social and economic condition.

It is considered that all the civilized involved in the present negotiations are eventually to be consolidated into that proposed by the League of Nations.

CITY WOULD KEEP FINES

ing that he estimated it would cost $10,318.50 to construct a sanitary sewer on South Fare street, Geddes street, from south Fare street to Evan street, Evan street from Geddes street to North Front street and North Front street from Evan street to College.

After some discussion, a motion prevailed that the report be acted upon and the sewer constructed under section 9 of the Local Improvements Act.

It was shown that this sewer would be necessary if the new school in Ontarioan Ward was built this year.

The Committee rose and reported. Reports received and adopted.

Inquiries

Ald. Robinson asked Ald. Ostrom where he had saved money for the city according to a report which appeared in the newspapers.

Ald. Ostrom—I am ever alive to Ele city's interest, and was successful in debentures well. We also bought some securities which were of benefit to the city. He was prepared to defend his department, and not to spend money in a reckless manner. His work would bear this out.

Ald. Henderson—The highest bidder is the purchaser of debentures and this does not require any great effort on the part of any Alderman to make money for the city.

Ald. Ostrom—It needs careful consideration, and that is what I gave to the matter, not all the sales were public but some private. He (the speaker) could not understand Ald. Robinson singled him out for censure.

Mayor Hanna—What about paving Station street?

Ald. Donohue—I have a motion on this matter.

Mayor Hanna—Bleecker Avenue and East Moira street are in a bad condition. Is there something to do?

Ald. Donohue—Yes. East Moira street may be paved.

Ald. Greenleaf—Does the city get any revenue from a bill board erected on the small island in the river above the upper bridge?

Mayor Hanna—We have had some.

Ald. Greenleaf—Fix this island up for a small park.

Ald. McCreary—North Front street above the railway bridge needs some attention.

Ald. Donohue—When we get crushed stone street will be attended to.

Ald. Greenleaf thought that some poles on Commercial street of the Hydro and Bell Telephone might be dispensed with now.

Mayor Hanna—This matter could be laid before the companies.

Ald. McCreary—A committee was appointed to investigate the West Dundas street and Commerical street sewer. Has it made any report?

Ald. Patterson—We will make the investigation as soon as weather is permissable.

Motions

Moved by Ald. McCreary, seconded by Ald. Foster, that the request of Mr. Birkett for a light on North Coleman street be granted.—Carried.

Ald. Donohue moved, seconded by Ald. Patterson, that the city engineer procure the approval of the Provincial Board of Health of the plans of West Dundas street sewer also for a sewer on Geddes street to the proposed new Coleman Ward school.—Carried.

Ald. Robinson moved, seconded by Ald. Donohue, that James Rose, Contractor for repairs to police station be given $300 on account.—Carried.

Ald. Patterson moved, seconded by Ald. Donohue, that the sewer on Bath, Parks, Evans, and North Front streets be constructed under section 9 of the Local Improvements Act.—Carried.

Ald. Donohue moved, seconded by Ald. Patterson, that Ald. Greenleaf be a committee to wait on the property owners and property owners on Front and Station streets in order to secure their approval of the construction of permanent pavement on said streets, that such pavement be of such a width as this Council may decided and that the ratepayers concerned shall be assessed for a width of 12 feet on each side.—Carried.

Ald. Greenleaf moved, seconded by Ald. Robinson, that the auditor be requested to assume the responsibility of checking the various accounts against orders issued by City Treasurer, thus relieving the treasurer of this work and making audits before payment of accounts.—Carried.

Ald. Robinson moved, seconded by Ald. Thompson, that the auditor be instructed to procure for the inspection of this council, an itemized statement from the Corby Library of the account headed miscellaneous, which amounts to the sum of $1,315.02 for the year 1922.—Carried.

Ald. Thompson moved, seconded by Ald. Patterson, that the recommendation passed by this Council on March 9th, the parking of cars on certain streets without lights be rescinded, owing to the fact that said resolution is contrary to certain sections of the Provincial Vehicles Act.

That the Provincial Legislature be petitioned through the Ontario Municipal Association, to have passed this said Motor Vehicles Act so to enable

Famous Mystery of Theft Of Crown Jewels in 1907 Recalled by Recent Events

Among the papers that were destroyed by the British officials before the Castle was handed over to the Irish Free State is it possible there could have been any referring to the theft of the jewels of the order of the crown Jewels in 1907? It is possible, for no doubt the documents that were burnt were not connected with that very useless, but that many were given to the flames because the publication of their contents might provoke scandal.

Theft of the jewels remains one of the most peculiar and baffling crimes of many years, on account of the intrinsic and historical value of the gems, the prominence of those involved and the impenetrable mystery that has surrounded the affair. In the past fourteen years not a trace of the jewels or the thief himself has there been any public acknowledgment that the jewels have been discovered, though powerful efforts have been made and failed to the case.

The missing jewels were sent to Dublin Castle in 1810 by King William in order that they might be worn during the visit of the Prince of new Knights of St. Patrick. They consisted of the insignia of the order and a large diamond star, said to have had a history and to be worth over a million dollars. They were in the official custody of Sir Arthur Vicars, a high functionary of the Irish Government, and at the time of the robbery the Ulster King at Arms was Sir Arthur Vicars. He was the author of many books on heraldical investigations, was a member of the Royal Archaeological Society and lived in the highest circles. When he discovered that the loss of the jewels was generally approved, though he was a popular man, he was astonished. The jewels were kept in an old-fashioned safe in a room which was occupied by two clerks in the day time and three at night. The safe was opened with a double-barrelled key, which remained in the possession of Sir Arthur Vicars. So far as known, there was no duplicate of it.

Suspicion fell on the servants who were missing from the safe was made in the morning. Next year Lord Dunraven and Aberdeen had been made Lord Lieutenant of Ireland respectively, and Lord Londonderry as a Knight of St. Patrick. On examination of the safe showed that the jewels were gone. Sir Arthur was not charged with having taken them, but as he was responsible, he was accused of having neglected proper precautions and was asked for his resignation. He refused to give it and appealed to King Edward to go into the investigation. Some months later he was informed by the Secretary of State for Ireland that as the King had decided to make a different disposition of the office of Ulster King at Arms, he could no longer be considered in the employment. That is to say, he was dismissed in disgrace. He offered a thousand pounds for information as to the whereabouts of the jewels, and retired into private life, devoting himself, it was supposed, to an effort to solve the mystery.

His troubles were by no means over, for he was made the victim of innuendoes in the less scrupulous newspapers and received a stream of anonymous letters, which made grave reflections, not only upon his own conduct, but upon that of members of the viceregal family. His detectives were unable to trace these letters, and to this day the so-called "Hidden Hand" remains hidden. Eventually, however, he was given the opportunity of taking a slanderer into court when a London newspaper printed a story which he considered libelled him. The paper said that the real thief was a woman and that Sir Arthur had shielded her, that the jewels were never taken out of the castle; and that Vicars was defended him.

Sir Arthur Vicars, through his attorneys, pleaded that the statements and suggestions in the article were false and asked for a substantial verdict. The newspaper published in full its justify' his statement by naming persons, the thief being a woman called Murphy, and then known as Mme. Robinson. She was said to have been assisted to Paris by Sir Arthur. The jury gave Sir Arthur heavy damages, for the publisher had failed to prove a single statement. Abroad with this public vindication Sir Arthur appealed to King George to hold an investigation, but His Majesty altered no more than he had been shown by his father. In 1917 Sir Arthur found sentence-ment of his troubles in marriage. He died last April, still under a cloud officially, it seems unlikely at this late date that the mystery will be solved. Possibly the truth will crop out in some spicy memoirs a half century hence.

Dear Sir—A word of comment in regard to a timely and appropriate article in Monday night's Intelligencer under the heading of "Need, Better Teaching." One would hardly regard it as a mere coincidence.

I would advise those who are Skeptics to Truth and Reason, but who would not dispute anything they read or ridicule, to read it over carefully and get rid of any illusions they may still have in regard to the Occult.

Dispensing With The Spring Bolt

Elimination of Its Grease Cups And Others Appears Feasible

LUBRICATING SPRING-BOLTS is the most disagreeable and most frequently required of all motor car maintenance acts, and its neglect is a prominent cause of chassis deterioration. Realizing these facts, engineers in seeking for a remedy, have proposed to eliminate the springbolt entirely and to replace it with a device that would require no greasing or other attendance. The motion of spring over the chassis plates on their bolts is constrained and under pressure, but very limited in extent and is searching for a substitute for the conventional spring-and-construction, attempts have been directed to the providing rubberized-fabric links at spring connections instead of the bolt-and-eye construction. Heavy multiple-leaf springs, which in practice, in performing successfully the service of constantly bending under heavy loads and in its reasonable to believe that they would serve the purpose of holding spring ends in fixed relation to each other and the slight motion required between them. Until quite recently it was assumed that the universal joint, in the drive shaft, must also be a mechanical type, consisting of steel pins turning in bushings, and requiring constant lubrication, but it is now found that the universal joint, in which the bending of fabric discs allows all required motion to take place freely, is very satisfactory—has result which nevertheless tested on the utility of such material under other similar conditions of service, where the necessity of lubrication is especially to be avoided. Another scheme for retiring the spring bolt is to fasten the ends of the springs to their rubber blocks, held in the spring hangers, and it is to be noted that in this construction as well as the one previously described, there should be some cushioning and noise deadening effect secured at the point as well as a steering tendency if the construction is right. Development along this line may be watched with hopeful interest by all who are tired of the trouble and maintenance cost of the most annoying features.

GENERATOR BOOSTS BUT DOES NOT CHARGE

A. M. La R. writes: Recently my Ford has been slow in functioning because one of the brushes was completely worn down. I took the brushes replaced and the commutator turned down. Now the generator heats after a short time and I can get no current from it into the battery. What do you think is the trouble?

Answer: The trouble is that in turning off the commutator, one or more of the armature coils were left short-circuited by copper carried over the commutator bar in undercutting. In case this happened, the generator might build up, but it would pass enough current through the armature short-circuit to heat it seriously and, at the same time produce so low external voltage that the relay would not work and the current to the storage battery. You better have your generator overhauled by a Ford service station. Have the short-circuit existing in its windings. Also try cleaning the relay by hand with the engine running at good speed and see if current flows in the "charge" direction. A voltmeter test of the generator, when running, would indicate whether the correct voltage was being developed.

CHAINS ON FRONT WHEELS

W. E. H. asks: Is it advisable to use chains on the rear wheels of the Ford wheels, as I have very little or no traction on the rear wheels, even with the wheel chains.

Answer: We do not recommend chains on front wheels, except perhaps in the case of model vehicles which have to run a great deal in deep ruts, which they cannot get out of, under certain road conditions. Short-spring Ford should have chains. Even in such cases they create a disturbance when the front wheels are turned enough to contact the rod on the car rail. They do do with such violence as often to turn the car sideways in the road, even if it is running at speed. The front springs are short, and the front springs are so close that the chains cannot be put on very tight, strike on the springs and the cross chains usually catch on the brake cops or other projections, locking the wheels or doing much damage.

Occasions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, and inquiries of an immediate nature if desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

EDDY FACTS

Eddy's are the creative pioneers of the match industry in Canada. Over 70 years of constructive efforts have built a complete organization.

When the first SULPHUR match was made in Canada,
EDDY MADE IT.

When the first SAFETY match was made in Canada,
EDDY MADE IT.

When the first WAX match was made in Canada,
EDDY MADE IT.

When the first SILENT match was made in Canada,
EDDY MADE IT.

When the first NON-POISONOUS match was made in Canada,
EDDY MADE IT.

Invention by match-making and match-packing was first introduced into Canada by Eddy's.

May you never know the paralyzing fear of an unexpected blaze—from a match head flying off like a rocket!

To increase the margin of safety, the head of every Eddy match is glued to stay on tight—it can't fly off aflame!

A man strikes an Eddy match. There is a big hot flame that burns bright and steadily. If he shakes out the flame and drops the match on the wooden floor, among sawdust, paper or shavings, it falls clear—cool—entirely freed from fire risk, with the head still on it.

Every Eddy match now leaving the factory will do just that. It is treated with chemicals to prevent the dangerous "after-glow"—is made self-extinguishing.

First in Safety, first in Convenience, first in Economy, the Eddy ideal still prevails—"The most of the best for the money"—since 1851.

East or West, Eddy's Best.

BACKWARD CHILDREN.

The recent visit of Dr. S. B. Sinclair of the Ontario Department of Education and his talk to the teachers of the city of Belleville has turned the attention of the interested people to this much-mooted and backward child. Dr. Sinclair, who is an authority on this phase of educational work, suggested a system of semi-segregation for the dull child.

It is interesting, however, to read the opinion of the medical experts of the United States Public Health service, who, in their last report to the department, say in part:—

Backward children are not always, perhaps not often, backward because of either mental deficiency or slothfulness. Many of them are backward solely because of such ordinary and easily remediable defects as adenoids, near-sightedness, or bad teeth.

A case in point was recently reported by the official representative of the Public Health Service in the eighth sanitary district of Vermont, in which the Service is co-operating in a child health work project.

Medical inspection of one of the graded schools in October, 1919, showed that it had been thought necessary to instruct in a special room sixteen pupils who had seemed to be unable to keep up with their respective classes. Physical examination showed that each of the sixteen had some serious hampering physical defect (chiefly enlarged tonsils, adenoids, defective hearing or eye-sight) which, rather than any mental handicap, was the probable cause of their inability.

Through the co-operation of the school directors, the facts were brought to the attention of the parents or guardians of the children and all were set right before the end of the year.

On re-examination of the pupils the next December (1920) it appeared that all of the sixteen previously backward children had caught up with their proper grades and were moving up in them with their classmates. A year later, in December, 1921, some of these sixteen children were among the mental and physical leaders in their grades.

PRESERVING HISTORIC SITES.

An interesting division of work being carried on by the Dominion Parks Branch of the Department of the Interior is the preservation of historic sites. These are among the most valuable records of any country, and, as a means of education to younger generations and a stimulus to finer patriotism, their value can hardly be computed. Records of this kind help to build up a national consciousness, and they are especially important today when we are trying to absorb an alien population. The early days of the settlement of this country are full of romance and, fortunately, many landmarks yet remain connected with them. They are, however, rapidly disappearing, and unless active steps are taken to preserve and protect them they will most certainly be obliterated, to the great loss of future generations.

Considerations such as these prompted the Government to take up a few years ago the work of the preservation of our national historic and pre-historic sites, a work which is carried on by the Historic Sites Division of the Dominion Parks Branch. A beginning was made in 1914, with the setting aside of old Fort Howe, at St. John, N.B.,—scene of so many stirring events in the early history of Canada—as a national park. The outbreak of the war prevented further action until in 1917 Fort Anne, Annapolis Royal, which may be called the cradle of civilization in Canada, was transferred to the Department of the Interior for historic park purposes.

It was decided that the first matter to be undertaken should be a comprehensive survey of Canadian historic sites. This work has been prosecuted by the Board and the Parks Branch during the past two years. To date nearly 600 sites have received their attention, and out of this number those deemed to be worthy of national importance have been selected for action. The sites include the relics of old French and British occupation, forts, battlefields, historic buildings, and other places immortalized in Canadian history. Not the least interesting is the old fort of Louisburg, once the key position of Canada, proudly called the "Dunkirk of America," and the strong citadel of France at the threshold of the continent. Built at a cost to France of about six million dollars, its final capture culminated in the withdrawal of the French lilies from this continent.

Between fifty and sixty sites have now been passed upon, and immediate steps will be taken by the Parks Branch towards securing titles to the sites and having them suitably marked. A design for an artistic tablet to be used in this connection has been prepared by a well-known Canadian artist, and tablets are now being cast in bronze. Engineers of the Parks Branch have also submitted an attractive design for a memorial cairn, built of rough stones, which it is intended to erect on some sites where the original remains have been completely obliterated.

A stock pool is apparently the place in which suckers are drowned.

DUTY TO SUPPORT NATIONALS

Ottawa Journal

Despite adverse conditions, despite overlapping, with its loss of efficiency and economy, the National Lines have been producing operating surpluses in recent months. Last year they exceeded $1.1f in earn one dollar. It may be well that they have been earning one dollar with an expenditure of 87 cents. And as time goes on, as overlapping is eliminated, as economies in operation are effected, when the Grand Trunk is amalgamated into the National Lines, as immigrants are brought into the country, the improvement will be more marked. But even be years, it cannot be otherwise before the roads will cover their fixed charges, but that time will come. Meanwhile, the duty of Parliament, Press and public is to give all possible support to national operation, exposing deficits where they exist, but refraining from carping and futile criticism, and above all, repudiating attempts to hand back the lies to the conditions and the interests whict brought them to the present unhappy pass, and which necessitated their being taken over three years ago.

The Poets' Corner

A WORD

A word, a stinging word, that cut
Like sharp and poisoned dart,
A word, that struck with stabbing pain
Into a trusting heart.
Fell from the lips of friend one day,
As swift as bird a-wing,
And wondered if she can that spoke
Felt nothing of the sting.

Another word I heard the day,
A word of hope and love
The fell on a discouraged tear
Like blessings from above;
Twas that he, who spoke the word,
To soothe the soul in pain,
Would feel that wounding form of love,
Warming his heart again.

I heard again a cruel word,
From thoughtless lips one day,
A word that rushed a young life,
And buried its joys away—
A life all full of hope and pride
Blasted by slander's breath,
In which all hope and faith had died
A life that longed for death.

Another word, a tender word,
To soul despaired in sin,
That all his depth of being stirred,
That love awakened in;
It raised a heart from deep despair
In danger's direful hour,
The star of hope that glimmered there
Revealed its mighty power.

A word is such a wondrous thing,
Though oft, 'tis sad to tell,
We fling them fast with cruel sting
To hearts we love as well;
But words that wound and words that heal,
And words we ill say—
Of these God asks a true account
When life has passed away.

Not In It With Mabrer

A schoolmaster sent a note home to father, and to make sure that it had been read, asked for its return to him, signed.

The note's concluding sentence ran: "The boy is a good worker, but talks too much; and the teacher was astonished to read the parent's marginal comment: "You should hear his mother."

A Conjurer's Dilemma

The conjurer in the village school room had invited any man from the audience to step up on the platform, and a youth responded.

"Now, friend," said the conjurer, "I suppose you consider it a matter of impossibility for me to make the rabbit in that box on the table pass into your coattail pocket."

"I dunno about impossible," was the reply; "but I wouldn't do it if I were you, sir."

"Oh, you'll be in no danger, I can assure you," said the sleight of hand man, airily."

"I wasn't thinking about myself," the youth answered, calmly. "I was thinking of the rabbit. I've got a couple of ferrets in my pocket."

THE KHAN, IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

LEAD, KINDLY LIGHT.

A. It was carrying an armful of wood, and I had to pass around Ole Dad, who was sitting reading the paper in front of the stove with his sock feet on the dampers. I couldn't help seeing over his shoulder, and I couldn't help feeling that he was reading Bishop Fallon's new Lenten speech. He breathed explosively as he read like a deep sea monster that had just had a depth charge from the Americans on him. Occasionally Dad marked a paragraph with his pencil-like thing, and snorted like a distant steamer when Dad smelled well and proceeded to the end. Then he folded the newspaper and put it under him on the chair and felt for his pipe, I had taken a seat on the wood box.

"Well?"

"They's jest one outstanding thing in the hull oration that marks it as a Bishop Fallon" pronouncement, and that is the statement that the priests are the natural leaders of the people. Now, I'm not denying that pronouncement was warmly applauded, and you will notice that his Lordship complimented himself that that leadership was acknowledged and was considered quite satisfactory.

"The Bishop's speech will be a historic document for the reason that we now know where we get off at, for which much thanks. We know now who's doin' it." We know exactly who are the Hindenburgs, the Ludendorffs, the von Kluckes and the von Klochs. Tis well."

"If it is true that the priests lead the people and the people are led by them, it explains much that has disturbed the world of men lately. This is probably the explanation of Ireland. What's the matter with Ireland? has been the question on every lip for quite on forty-eight two-three score now. Bishop Fallon appears to have furnished the answer. Lead kindly light."

"The other day a bunch of Irish Republicans plotted a Lewis gun on the platform of a railway station, and in a train load of soldiers and sailors each with bullets, killing four passengers and wounding eleven others. Lead kindly light!"

"It was an ambush—a death trap, which would have won the admiration of the Apache Indians. Eagle on those feared riders when armed with tomahawk and scalping knife they lay in wait for their victims in the dark. I have no doubt but that distinguished teacher of the Irish Mister Terrence, would, have considered those red "Republicans", as tribal lost cousins. Who are leading these people Bishop Fallon, quietly confesses "It is we!"

"Now," continued Ole Dad, "it is a great temptation for a bad leadership with its responsibilities. A people; a nation may be led over a precipice and cast into an abyss. Germany is the most recent example. A people, a nation may be led into the swamps of anarchy and lost there, as is the case with Russia.

"Bishop Fallon was sure of an intelligent audience when he talked like his. Bishop Fallon's talk will sound perfectly familiar to one who has read about Mayence in the Province. Bishop Fallon would hardly have made the mistake of creating a militant saint out of the present Revolution Sprachite. He would scarcely have led the applause when Beverley Trumbull fell mortally wounded or bleed to death in his wife's arms. The other crowd not only applauded that inexcusable slaughter, they exulted over it. They had the effrontery, the cheek and impudence to try to establish Mister Sprachite as a national hero—the first great Christian hero. Their women showered the family with bouquets of sympathy. Although future histories will wonder why they couldn't spare a little for the woman and child of Mister Sprachite.

"Lead, kindly light.

"The people of Ontario will not take kindly to being led by their preachers. They make too many bad breaks. They have noticed that the assemblies of so-called religious politicians does not measure up with the Red Cross Union in culture, liberality, generosity, eloquence, self-abnegation, sacrifice, patience or brave sense!

"The pastors will undertake to lead the people to the House of God the people will defy them ever as their fathers killed them, but when they undertake to lead the people to the polls, the people won't folly. They are going to find out that the people will folly their leaders, but they are going to know, by hedges, who leads them, at why an' where and what's it goin' to cost!"

"NOT THIS SESSION" FOR REDISTRIBUTION

Toronto, March 21.—Provincial redistribution will not be an item of Government business at the present sitting of the Ontario Legislature. In all probability, however, it will be dealt with at the next session—the last in which Premier Drury and his colleagues may occupy the Treasury benches without a new mandate from the people.

Premier Drury is well aware of existing disparities as to representation in rural and urban ridings, and when asked as to when the Government expected to deal with the matter, in the light of the new census figures, he said: "Not this session. The Government, however, realizes its responsibilities in the matter, and will not shirk its duty."

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Product of Canada

It was known many years ago that yeast is an excellent thing for the many ills that result from disordered stomach or run-down blood condition. Lately eminent scientists have been investigating the matter thoroughly and their findings point to the fact that the beneficial effect of yeast has not been overrated. The yeast treatment is very simple and economical — and altogether harmless.

Before each meal eat a Royal Yeast Cake, or take a cake dissolved in water or fruit juices. The scientific investigators say that the curative elements in Royal Yeast are the vitamines and nuclein which it contains. It is certainly well worth a fair trial by those who suffer from any of the ailments mentioned above.

Efficient Housekeeping

MAKING EGGS "STRETCH"

"My children love eggs," says a writer from a Reader Friend, "but as an economist is not the most economical kind I can serve,—and, Goodness knows! I labored in economics at Smith College with two sons to educate. My family consists of four, but one of the broken dozen seem to satisfy."

I like to have my Column Readers help me their problems. For it frequently happens that I know of something that will solve them. The writer whose letter is quoted above, for instance, will be helped by the Bread-crumb Omelet introduced by the following supper menu:

Bread-crumb Omelet
Cornmeal Muffins
Cream Apple Sauce

Breadcrumb Omelet: Break stale bits of bread into small pieces, and to two cups of bread-crumbs add one cup of hot milk. Let stand until the bread is soft. Then beat the whites stiff in a large bowl. Put the yolks into another bowl and add to them 4 tablespoons of lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon salt, and a dash of black pepper. Mix well.

Then soaked breadcrumbs (with the milk) into the stiff egg-whites and add the egg-yolks at once. Stir, not fold, these ingredients into the egg-whites until all are mixed together. Then pour the mixture into a hot frying pan in which a little fat of bacon fat or beef drippings are sizzling. Let cook without stirring for about five minutes over a moderate fire; then put the entire frying pan in the oven, so that the fluffy part of the omelet will not leave the pan in the oven for about four or five minutes, after which the omelet will have risen a little. Then remove it from the oven, turn one half of the omelet over the other, sliding it gently onto a platter, using a pancake turner to do this, and serve at once.

Eggs may also be "stretched" by being combined with ham. I know of thrifty housekeepers who buy two slices of ham (about a pound to the slice), and fry or broil these slices as the meat dish for dinner, taking care, however, not to put all of the cooked ham on the table. The small piece, thus reserved, forms the meat dish for luncheon or for the following day's breakfast combined with eggs as follows:

Ham Scrambled Eggs: Make one slice of toast for every member of the family, putting these on dinner plates. Now break three eggs into a mixing bowl and beat well; then add to them ½ teaspoon of salt, a dash of pepper, 1 cup of sweet milk, and as much chopped left-over ham as you have on hand (not more than two cups). Turn the mixture into a hot frying-pan in which a little fat is sizzling, and let stand a moment; then begin scraping the mixture from the bottom of the pan constantly with a large spoon, just as you would in making ordinary scrambled eggs. When hot, and the eggs cooked, spread it equally over the slices of toast and serve at once.

In England at present there is a vogue for blue ceilings and the library of Hugh Walpole, the celebrated novelist, has a brilliant blue ceiling with a highly polished surface, while inverted globes of light created a soft reflection on the heaven-tinted ceiling and ivory-tinted walls and woodwork a deep cream in tone are in harmony with the spirit of quiet cheer which pervades the room.

Reminiscences of Raconteur

The greatest of Canadian wits is George Ham, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who has just published his reminiscences of the past seventy-four years.

As a young man, George Ham was one in a train at Aitken, Minnesota, a lumbering centre, when a wild-eyed lumber-jack, with an ugly look in his eyes rolled up, and his trousers stuck in his top boots, leaped on the car, and, furiously brandishing a six-shooter, swaggered down the aisle.

"Who am I?" was his constant cry to the half-scared passengers. "Who am I? Blankety, blankety, blank jay blankety blank eyes, who am I?"

"As he approached Ham, the ferocious became, if possible, a little bolder," Mr. Ham writes, and the revolver was flourished a little more frantically. At length the wild man grabbed Billy (now Col. William G. Bell, a prominent citizen of Winnipeg) by the arm, and looking the disturber in the eyes, asked in a startled way: "Billy, tell the gentleman who he is!"

"That's all there is to the story," for the bully subsided and was carried by the rear door assisted at the sight of relief and hearty laughter of the passengers."

Many more good yarns are to be found in this book, "Reminiscences of a Raconteur."

Mr. Ham tells an amusing story of the visit of the King and Queen of the Belgians to New York.

"The mayor," he writes, "is very democratic. There was a parade of school children, which was reviewed by the King and Queen. After the function, the Queen acknowledged her pleasure to the mayor, said sweetly: 'Your Honor, I want you to express my feeling at seeing so many well-dressed, healthy children of your people, and hearing their sweet voices in perfect unison singing the beloved native song of my country. You should be proud of them. Your citizens should be, for in them are those who will grow up to be the future fathers and mothers of a race that will make the United States of America greatly great and mighty'—perhaps the greatest in the world."

"And His Majesty majestically replied: 'Queen, you said a mouthful that time!'"

A certain member of the Canadian Parliament was known to be rather chilly, towards his supporters, and so a friend advised him to be more sunny with them.

The member asked what he was to do, for he was more scalds and crack a joke with them. "How do you mean?"

"Well, that weather is snowing now, and if someone should pass a remark on the weather you will say, 'Oh, it's snow matter.'"

And surely enough a few days later one of his followers overtook the member and remarked that it had been snowing hard. The member, suddenly remembering his advice, or he had received about cracking a joke, but having forgotten it, promptly replied, "Oh, it's immaterial."

Naturally the Canadian Pacific Railway is a "big noise" in Canada and—listen to this: "It appears the company issued notices to some hotels, restaurants, and store-keepers protesting against the unauthorized use of its initials, 'C.P.R.'"

One such notice was mailed to Timothy O'Brien, who was the proud proprietor of the "C.P.R. Barber Shop" in a prairie town. Timothy's reply is entitled to a niche in the temple of fame:

"Dear Sir,—I got your notis. I don't want no last word with you or big company, I don't want to paint a soo sign, as I now have a nice and fashin'ble name. If your company owns most everything—hotrodes, steamers, most of the best land and the time, but I don't know as you own the British Channel. The letters on my shop don't stand for pure railroads but for sumthin' better. I left a mother in Ireland, she is dead and gone, but her memories are dear to me. Her maiden name was Christina Patricia Reardon, and what I want to do is what you are going to do about it. I suppose you won't argue that the balance of my sign what refers to cut rates has got anything to do with pure railroads. There ain't been no cut rates round these parts that I know of.

"Signed, Timothy O'Brien."

The officials of the road concerned are reported to have acknowledged themselves answered.

Will Improve Roads.

The Drury Government's proposal of a gasoline tax to create a fund that can be used as interest on good roads bond issues has met with a fairly favorable reception throughout the province, and the good and bad points of the idea have been generally debated. As a cent a gallon the revenue from the tax, about five gallons per week per car, would be about $10,000 a week or $500,000 for a year. This would pay 6 per cent. on a bond issue of about $8,000,000.

According to Ottawa statements, the average cost of Ontario highways for which Dominion aid is being given is $22,380 a mile. It is evident, therefore, that the proposed tax would be able to provide a fund sufficient for only a few hundred miles of highways. Whether Ontario motorists would be willing to make the exercise for a limited mileage remains to be seen.

A Large Egg.

A second bid for fame has recently been made by a white Leghorn hen in Calgary, which laid an egg measuring 8½ inches in circumference around the ends. The same hen laid an egg only slightly smaller one year ago, but in the interval has produced only the ordinary sized eggs.

"Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

MR. SAMMY, AND MRS. SUSIE TAPIR.

There was a splash and Tinker Bob scarcely knew what had happened when the creature which had been approach plunged into a deep pool in the midst of the swamp. "Come on out of there," said Tim. "There is no one here who will hurt you."

"He is a funny creature," said Tinker Bob. "What is the world does he find out here in this wet place to eat?" The fellow was a little larger than a dog but had longer legs, which he used to better advantage.

Tim couldn't answer the King's question but he called to the frightened creature who came out of his pool and gave Tinker a good chance to look at him. "This is the King of the Forest," said Tim and he will do you no harm. He has come over here to see the folks who live in the valley and on the hills of this land. Come over here and talk to him."

This fellow with a short nose and a short tail and a long head and a white spot on his back came up close to Tinker Bob and sat down. Yes, he sat on his haunches like a dog and began to talk with the King. Said he: "I heard about you being here in the jungle land. I have to go to see Dr. Giraffe, and he told me that you would likely be over to see me, but I did not know that you would be so soon and I was surprised to see you coming with Tim. When I saw you coming I left my own side of Hunting-ton-ton-ton

CENTRAL LEAGUE ANNUAL MEETING

Eight Club Circuit to be Put in Operation This Year.

Oshawa, March 20.—The largest gathering of amateur baseball enthusiasts ever held east of Toronto, assembled in the T.M.C.A. here today for the annual meeting of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League. Delegates were present from Bellville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Peterboro, Lindsay and Oshawa, the towns that comprised the circuit for the last three years, while the Lonsdale Athletic Association and Bowmanville Baseball Club had representatives seeking for affiliation. The delegates present were: Cobourg, President A. C. Himsel, H. C. Higginbotham, W. McLeod; Oshawa, Vice-President R. Parsons, Secretary-Treasurer J. G. Sherter, C. M. Anderson; Lindsay, F. W. Maynes, M. J. Dedman; Port Hope, Past President, Sandy Lockington, Arthur Mark, Geo. Strong; Bellville, N. Thompson, R. O. Adams; Peterboro, Jake Solomon, W. H. Walker; Lonsdale, T. Henderson; Bowmanville, C. O. Patterson, H. E. Wilson.

At the morning session President Kimmel addressed delegates and congratulated Oshawa on winning the Johnston Cup and championship and the league on the sport provided and the pleasure derived in presiding over such an organization the past year. His announcement of retiring from the main office owing to pressure of business, cast gloom over the meeting, but his concluding remarks about taking a less active part on the side lines broke the cloud. Secretary-Treasurer Nott gave a summary of 1921 with a financial statement showing receipts of $1,546.61 and expenditures of $1,323.47, leaving a balance in the bank for the coming season of $162.14.

Applications from the Lonsdale Athletic Association and Bowmanville Baseball Club were received and communications from Spaldings Bros., L.A., M. B. Dalmage, secretary of O. D. A. A., and members of last year's executive who were unable to be present, were read.

Election of Officers

The election of officers for the season of 1922 was next on the program and the following were chosen to guide the affairs of the league: Immediate Past President, A. C. Kimmell, Cobourg; President, E. Parsons, Oshawa; First Vice-President, M. J. Dedman, Lindsay; Second Vice-President, P. Deff, Bellerville; Third Vice-President, Jake Solomon, Peterboro; Secretary-Treasurer, J. G. Nott, Oshawa; Executive Committee, Fred W. Maynes, Lindsay; R. D. Adams, Bellerville; S. Lockington, Port Hope; H. E. Barnes, Cobourg; C. G. Patterson, Bowmanville; Geo. Peacock, Lonsdale; C. M. Anderson, Oshawa and J. Solomon, Peterboro.

During the afternoon the applications of the Lonsdale Athletic Club and Bowmanville Baseball Club were accepted by an unanimous vote, making it an eight-team league. Amendments to the constitution, which allows ball players from a town of 5,000 or less to play in the nearest town connected in the Central League; also committee to hear all protests, neutral umpires, the appointment of officials powers to send in box scores from each town, the schedule for umpires as to expense account, were all discussed and dealt with.

Secretary Nott and President Parsons were elected delegates to the O. B. A. annual meeting. The league decided on a double schedule, the winners to play off for the championship.

BALL LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED

Bay of Quinte Team Organized—Officers Elected Last Night.

The Bay of Quinte, Intermediate, Baseball league was fully organized for the coming season, when the representatives of the five teams met at the Kingsley Hotel last night. Those present were: Messrs. N. McNeil and R. E. Loucks of Napanee, Messrs. E. R. Abbott, J. L. McWilliam and G. W. Bowler of the Canada Cement Co; Messrs. F. Cummings, A. Rendall, P. C. Burns and M. Chapperon of Deseronto Messrs. R. W. Sharp, S. Croft and E. Croft of Picton; E. L. Fraser, E. P. McDonald, W. A. Rose and A. Ireland of Trenton.

Representatives from Deseronto were displeased with the working of last season's organization, claiming that they did not know that a double schedule was to have been played until the single schedule was finished. If it had been a single schedule, Deseronto would have won the league, Kingston having run thrown out on the last game, for playing two senior men. It was pointed out, however, that the secretary of the club, who lived in Deseronto and represented their team did not object to the courses taken, when the re-organization meeting was held after Kingston had been thrown out. Deseronto, however, agreed to wipe off the slate, and the officers for the coming year were elected as follows:—

Hon. Pres.—E. L. Fraser, Trenton.
Hon. Vice-Pres—E. J. Roy, Napanee.
Pres. J. C. Burns, Deseronto.
Vice-Pres.—R. Abbott, Napanee.
Sec.-Treas—R. W. Sharpe, Picton.

The executive will be selected by the respective clubs at their annual meetings.

President Burns thanked the boys for his nomination to the important office, and stated that though there had been some friction amongst the clubs, they were going to make the league better than over this year.

Sec-Treas. R. W. Sharp was appointed a delegate to attend the annual O. A. B. A. meeting held in Toronto on April 1st and he was also nominated for the executive of the O. A. B. A.

The residence rule was fixed as May 1st, except in the case of students who are attending colleges abroad. The visiting team is to supply the umpire in chief, and the home team the base umpire. Each team, when playing at home shall pay the visitors 40% of the money carrying with the distance the visiting team had to travel. In the event of postponement on account of weather conditions the expenses are divided equally between the two clubs.

The admission fee will be $10 and all games must commence at 3.30 p.m. sharp, unless other arrangements are made no less than 48 hours before the hour of play. The home team will be required to supply three American League, regulation baseballs at the beginning of each game. Players in the suburbs of a town or in the country may play with a team if they do not pass through an incorporated town between their home and the town with which they desire to play. If a player lives in one town and works in another he may choose which town he will play for but must not change after having played in one game. All players must be registered before any game, and the Secretary of the home club must report the result of games played to the League Secretary. All protest must be entered within 48 hours after game, by registered mail and accompanied by $10, the team losing the protest forfeiting the $10.

This league, which is to be a single schedule of twenty games, will open on June 3rd, and two games per week shall be played until the schedule is completed, the two leading teams to play the finish to play off for the championship of the Bay of Quinte League in a home and home, play to play games, runs to count.

The schedule will be drawn up on May 1st at the Kingsley Hotel, here.

SCRAP IRON

O'DOWD BEATS BARTFIELD

New York, March 21.—Mike O'Dowd St. Paul, former middleweight champion was awarded the judges' decision over Soldier Bartfield of Brooklyn in a 12-round bout here last night. O'Dowd forced the fight all the way.

"CARP" AGREES TO BOX

BEFORE NEXT OCTOBER

Paris, March 21.—Georges Carpentier, the world's light heavyweight champion, has signed an agreement to box in Paris any American, British or French heavyweight or light heavyweight who may be selected not later than September of this year. The bout is to take place in an open-air ring seating 40,000 persons, which it is proposed to build.

If a bout is arranged it will be Carpentier's first in Paris in three years.

BOXERS IN TRAINING

That hard manual labor is the best preparation for a ring career is now recognized by the best trainers of boxers. Not long ago Gene Tunney went up into the Maine woods to work in a lumber camp for the purpose of hardening himself. The scheme worked so well that he came back in the rough and easily won the light-heavyweight championship from Battling Levinsky.

Eddie O'Hara, who died Saturday night, was the latest boxer to try the scheme. While he was knocked out by Tunney recently he decided that the thing that made Gene so formidable would do him no harm, so he went to a lumber camp, working hard for ten hours a day.

O'Hara, like Tunney, was rather light in build. He found that work in the ventilated gymnasiums did not develope his frame quickly enough. He expected to put on the needed poundage in a few months and then try again.

INDOOR BALL LEAGUE FORMED

Officers Elected and Teams Entered at Y. M. C. A. Last Night.

A meeting was held last night at the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of organising an indoor baseball league, which it is hoped will get under way in the beginning of next week.

Seven organizations had representatives present and six of the seven were able to state definitely that they would enter a team.

The organization bodies stands: Sec.-Treas., Frank Cushing; executive—Grand Trunks, Walter Gerow; G.T.W.A., Roy Madden; U-Go-I-Go, Mr. Wheeler; K. of C., Leo Barrett; Tiger Tire, Joe Goyer; Junior Athletic Club, Asa Yeomans; Bankers, Mr. Blute.

The Rotarians, Lions and K.V.A. are unable entrants, and if they become in, it would make a ten team league, which by playing a single schedule, could be completed before the outdoor ball season begins.

On Thursday next, at 7.30, there will be a meeting at the Y.M.C.A. of the executive of all teams entering the league to complete the organization and draw up the schedule. Every team must have such a representative present if they wish to enter the league.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

HARDLY UP TO SCRATCH

It is just possible that the damp weather affected their bowling arm last night as on the whole the scores were a little below the average. The only member of either team to show any real speed was Shappee of the Bell Telephone Five, who rolled 561 for the high three-string and also the high single of 219.

Tonight the Printers will endeavor to make the Lions eat out of their hands.

EXPERTS DIFFER ON MIXED BOUT

Some Say Wrestler Will Have Edge, While Others Pick Dempsey.

New York, March 21.—Wise boosters vary in whether a socking flat or a pyrSonic arm offer the best method of delivering a knockout.

It would be interesting to let Jack Dempsey and Strangler Lewis do an illustrated debate on the subject, but there is little chance of it.

Dempsey would want too much to much to prove the statement he made some time ago, more or less to the effect that all wrestlers were walking examples of something loose in the head. Lewis also would want something to prove his counter-argument that, if boxers had to work like wrestlers, there wouldn't be any boxers.

New York might furnish the necessary purse, because any town that fails for two six-day bike races a year and eats up the trick meatches of the "trasslers," trust would fail for anything.

The New York commission has to be figured, however. Since the athletic solons of the state have gone out of their way to drive wrestling out of the state by sanctioning the rolling and flying falls it is about a dash that they would not allow a pure commercial proposition like Lewis' suggestion of a match with Dempsey.

Without wearing the cloak of a pure money grab, the question concerning the relative merits of boxing and wrestling as a means of self-defense is interesting, and it has been tried several times recently.

The wrestlers in four late cases have succeeded in putting the shoulders of the boxing opponent to the mat. In three cases the fall came when the wrestler drew at the feet of the boxer upset him and then locked his arms.

Addicts of "rassling" maintain that a fast wrestler, even on his feet, can get within the guard of the fastest hitting boxer and hold him in a clinch without danger of personal injury.

Boston, March 21.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion boxed ten rounds in an exhibition contest with Johnny Clinton, New England lightweight titleholder here last night.

OLYMPIC GAMES MAY BE HELD IN LOS ANGELES

Paris, March 18.—Los Angeles will get the 1924 Olympic games if there are not held in Paris, Baron Pierre de Couvertin, president of the international Olympic Committee, told the correspondent of Auto yesterday.

"In no case can the Olympic games be held in France in any city other than Paris," he was quoted as declaring. "If Paris does not organize the games they will automatically revert to Los Angeles."

He explained that Robert S. Weaver former ambassador to Switzerland from the United States, at the meeting in Lausanne when the games were awarded, pledged the word of Los Angeles in favor of Paris only. The committee then decided that if for any reason whatever the games could not be held in Paris Los Angeles automatically would be chosen.

RETURNED SOLDIER CONDEMNED TO DIE

taws. It is believed that these statements will carry much weight in the case, as a determined effort is being made by the Great War Veterans Association to secure a new trial for Gallagher.

John Fi Gallagher of Gardner, Alta., was sentenced to death at Calgary on January 31st for the murder of John G. Coward. It is claimed that the trial proceeded without publicity, it being made that the prisoner would know all details of the proceedings, owing to his deafness.

Gallagher is a returned soldier who served seven years with the Imperial Forces. His character since discharge was noted as exemplary. For a time he was a member of the R.N. W.M.P. He enlisted at Tregina, Alta., in September, 1914, and was seriously injured on April 24, 1915, at Ypres, when both his ears were injured. On the sixth of August of the same year, he was buried by a shell at Ploegsteat, as a result of which he became totally deaf.

He returned to Canada in May 1916. He is in receipt of a 50 per cent. pension pending on account of this disability.

Petitions are being circulated broadcast throughout Canada. It is pointed out that a greater part of the evidence consisted of conversations between Gallagher and the police and other witnesses, and was almost entirely circumstantial.

Failing a new trial, the Minister of Justice is asked to commute the sentence.

been considerable fun poor Fred Lemond. "Poor Fred I could guess the trouble. But how kind to me," he laughed. "What have you been studying?"

"Latin. O, always mentioned the Latin first), algebra, arithmetic, geography, geometry and history."

He asked about my soul and uncle and I told him of all that had befallen me since the day of which I had spoken only with him and Sally.

"I shall go to see Jesse to-morrow," he said.

The people of the little village had learned that he preferred to be left alone when he had just returned over the long, wearisome way from the scene of his labors. So we had the evening to ourselves.

Mrs. Wright, tired and weary after the day's work, went to bed early and, at his request, I sat with the master by the fire for an hour or so. I have always thought it a fortunate thing for me that I came to call of my plans and gave me advice and encouragement which have had a marked effect upon my career.

I remember telling him that I wished to be a lawyer and my reasons for it. He told me that a lawyer was either a pest or a servant of justice and that his chief aim should be the promotion of the latter cause and good will in his community. He promised to try and arrange for my accommodation in the office of a friend and near neighbor and to lend me some books to read while I was at home.

"Before we go to bed let us have a little settlement," said the senator, "and I will make it now, as I am at the table there and make up a statement of all the sums you have given me."

I made out the statement very neatly and carefully and put it in his hands.

"That is well done," said he, "I shall want you to stay until the day after to-morrow, if you will. So you will please add another day."

I amended the statement and he paid me the handsome sum of seven dollars, remarking that after I went to my room that night I stitched up the opening in my inside coat pocket, where my wealth, with the needle and thread which Aunt Dest had put in my satchel, and kept with the jacket under my mattress.

CHAPTER XV.

I Use My Own Compass at a Fork in the Road.

Swiftly now I moved across the border into manhood—a serious, eager, restless manhood. It was the fashion of the time, those days.

Mr. Wright came up for a day's holiday in July. My uncle and I took him up the river.

While we ate our luncheon he discussed my affairs and spoke of the famous chance which he had kept on a table in the vestibule of the Wright House for his callers. He described Mr. Webster—Daniel Webster, Clay, Rives, Calhoun and Benton. I remember that Webster was, in his view, the least of them, although at his best the greatest orator. We had a delightful day, and when I drove back to the village with him that night he told me that I could go into the office of Wright & Baldwin after harvesting.

"It will do for a start," he said. "A year from that I shall try and get a better place for you."

I went to work on with little in it worth recording until the letter came. I speak of it as "the letter" because it was the first from my father. It was from Sally, and it said:

"Dear Frank: It's all over for a long time, perhaps forever—that well depended on you. I shall be true to you, if you really love me, even if I have to wait many, many years. Mother and father say and read your letters. They say we are too young to be thinking about love and that we have got to be grown up. How can I stop it? I would have to stop living. But we know the sad cases before your sentence now. I hope that yours is as good as mine. Father says no more letters without his permission, and he stamped his foot so hard that I think he must have made a dent in the floor. Talk about slavery—what do you think of it? Mother says that we must wait—that it would make father a great deal of trouble if it were known that I allowed you to write. I guess the soul of old Grimshaw is still fading out. But I will not stretch out that lovely day as far as we can. On the third of June, 1846, we shall both be twenty-one—and I suppose that we can do as we please then. The day is a long way off, but I will agree to meet you that day at seven in the morning under the old pine on the river where I met you that day and told me that you loved me. If either or both should die our souls will know where to find each other. If you will carefully memorize these words and only these to my mother—I will be tremendously vincti, but do not despair.

"SALLY."

What a serious matter it seemed to me then! I remember that it gave Thad a rather cool spell. I wrote the words very neatly and plainly on a sheet of paper and mailed it to Miss Drunkenberg. I wondered if Sally would stand firm, and longed to know the opinion of Jesse Hall. More than ever I was resolved to be the principal witness in some great matter, as my friend in Asbury lane had put it.

I was eight months with Wright & Baldwin when I was offered a clerkship in the office of Judge Westbrook at Colebrook, in Schoharie county, at two hundred a year and my board. I knew not then just how the offer came to me, but later I had the senator and Mrs. Wright have recommended me. I know my

HAVE THE RIGHT TO "HOLLER"
Writer Objects to Restrictions That Are Imposed on Boys Who Just Want to Exemplify Ruley Stoles.

Our boys breathe the spirit of liberty, though we older ones often stop and agree when the topic comes up. On a fence in an eastern city in a neighborhood where the boy population is large appears the legend, in paint: "We want the freedom of the block." The police have forbidden the boys to play the block. Wed.

One other protest survives among many that have been obliterated. It reads: "No notice. Beware of the cranks." There we have it, the youthful opinion of the many older people who are always carping about notice. It is what shops of advertising call the line drawn where one ceases to enjoy and annoy, does not even notice. It? What is the notice with our editors? serves that a-1 cranks age they grow, the more? Ad. ists, ad. writers, ad. reasons, all notices are undesirable, even delightful—the louder the better; and then, just as the reason of the Fourth of July becomes comprehensible and the whole thing is enjoyable, our eyes are opened to the folly of our accustomed ways of celebrating it.

We ought to find a better way of banishing noise than by bedlaming the boys. They may not see and hear any way clear to giving them the "freedom of the block," but yes we are in duty bound to provide them with "blocks" where they may find "self-expression" if they see every "thing" of toys" entitled to a 60-acre lot in which to "holler." F. R. Coffey, in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

So He Kep on. Mr. Hollingsworth Jones, always unlucky, was now on his last legs. All night long he had been tramping the streets of London, for he had no money, no home, no food, no friends—no nothing.

But stay! Suddenly he realized that the road down which he was walking was the smart road and that in the first errant road had once resided Jenkins, the rich pawnbroker. Why not call again, but he would throw himself upon their mercy.

No. 87A—that was the house. He mounted the steps. There was only a dim light flickering in the hall, but he gave the bell a vigorous pull. Soon he found himself face to face with a woman of grim and terrible aspect—dressing gowned, curl papered.

"Please, Mr. Jenkins, I've got" he faltered.

"Mr. Jenkins!" she cried, "Mr. Jenkins straight in! I'll Jenkins him! He's tramping—London Tit-Bits.

Says They Are Noble as Men.
An eminent astronomer, Prof. William H. Pickering, of Harvard University, has put forth the interesting theory that the moon is not a product of dead world. Professor Pickering believes that he sees through his telescope that spring-up spiders, under certain conditions, and altogether almost as suddenly, when the conditions change. The astronomer also says that about the planet Mars we are inclined to think that Professor Pickering's observations are "all wet." Ed. Of course no one thinks that there is any "fishy" about Prof. Pickering. Even if Professor Pickering is right, there could be nothing more than a kind of "moon" relationship connotable, perhaps, to arctic moon.—Youth's Companion.

Tailor's "Goose" First Use
While gas ranges are the common place thing in every city home today and gas has upwards of 2,000 indoor uses, new applications are seen at comparatively recent origin.

After the successful use of gas for lighting, the first, generally, used, gas utensil was the tailor's "goose," or pressing iron, which was formerly heated by the American Gas Association.

Ancient Use of Glass.
The first use of domestic gas-burning appliances for cooking purposes, which grew from small beginnings, was the stove, or gas range. As late as 30 years ago, no gas stoves were offered for sale in this country.

German Soils in Africa.
The first gold mine to arrive in Johannesburg, South Africa, is a German. It has a most interesting history. Seven years ago a set of three balls with electric control, was found in the ruins of a house bombarding the late ex-kaiserin of Germany. They were discovered by the Belgian Army, which at the outbreak of the war ran into Tsoorlo, where the goods were warehoused. Recently the owners of the warehouse demanded that the contents should be delivered. Among the latter are the committee of the Friedenau Church, in Berlin street, whose German-made pipe organ, standing about 30 feet, created circumstances, made shift to pay the organ-builder's account by that the bells, which are described as "the finest in Africa," now erected in the church in question.

Bank Raised the Ante.
A farmer while doing business in a Maryland (Pa.) town met the other day threw into a waste basket an envelope containing $1,400 in cash. The money was found by a scrub woman, who returned it to the bank. The farmer was rewarded by a reward, the bank realizing that the woman might have kept all the money, and being ashamed at such a poor requital, gave her a liberal present in token of her honesty.

Interesting Facts About Gallagher Come to Light

Returned Soldier Condemned to Die in Calgary, Stayed With Parents of Belleville Resident While Taking Hospital Treatment in England — Story of the Murder Trial Comes Out — Was Not Properly Defended.

FURTHER FACTS ON MAN'S CONDITION

Interesting Tests in connection with the condition of John W. Gallagher, returned soldier, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of J. S. Coward at Calgary on January 31st, have come to light here today.

Mr. Chris. Lewis, of the Quinte Battery Service Station, stated to The Intelligencer that Gallagher stayed with his (Lewis') parents while in England. The Lewis family live at Uxbridge, just outside of London. They state that Gallagher was a fine fellow, but was in a very bad condition owing to war injuries. He repeatedly complained of head troubles while in hospital in England. On returning to Canada, Gallagher communicated with the Lewis family, and for a short year when they were touring Canada, they endeavored to look him up in Calgary, but found he was in jail. The A.W.O.L.'s returned to allow an interview with Gallagher, but were given money by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, which he spent in the suede-coats for the girls. They also asked that news of the outcome of the incident be forwarded to them. It is rumored that some wine is mixed up in the case and was the cause of the shooting affray for which Gallagher is at present under sentence of death.

Canada-wide interest is being manifested by all War Veterans' Associations, but in Belleville last night, the following resolution was unanimously passed: "Resolved that the Belleville branch of the G.W.V.A. thoroughly endorse the action taken by the Dominion Command in advising a letter be sent to Mrs. Gallagher, a Calgary soldier, and would submit that every provision be made for them so that justice has been protected in the trial.

DRURY GOVT. INTRODUCES NEW CHIPPAWA RESOLUTION

House Will Be More Specific in Calling for An Investigating Committee—Hon. Howard Ferguson Presses for an Immediate Inquiry.

Toronto, March 22.—The resolution which Premier Drury has placed upon the order paper in the House, in response to the appointment of a special committee on Chippawa expenditures is only a "blanket" one which will be withdrawn and replaced by one more specific, when the Government is ready to deal with the matter. Premier Drury conveyed that information to the House yesterday, when Hon. G. H. Ferguson drew the attention of the Government to the delay in getting a committee appointed to pass upon the serious allegations made by Hon. Dougall Cavanagh and the Premier, against the Hydro Commissioners.

Mr. Ferguson had referred to the fact that the two Opposition groups had nominated their representatives for the committee and were now waiting on the Premier. In view of the nature of the allegations made, there should be no further delay. He also drew attention to the wording of the notice given. The general inquiry indicated it did not refer to the statements made by Hon. Mr. Carmichael.

The Premier agreed that there should be no delay, but insisted that it was necessary that the scope of the inquiry should be definitely outlined before it was commenced, and it was not his intention of the Government to tie up the committee hoses without indicating definitely the line the investigation should take.

Hon. F. C. Biggs laid before the House an amendment to the Toronto and Hamilton Highway Act, the effect of which is to bring that highway under the terms of the Provincial Highways Act in respect to maintenance. Future expenditure upon the road will, therefore, be paid for by the province and the municipalities in the proportions specified—50 per cent. by the municipalities and 50 per cent. by the province. The Dominion is now paying 60 per cent. toward Provincial Highways, but it is not likely that the Dominion will be asked to contribute toward the Toronto-Hamilton Highway, the province paying the whole shot. The revenue received from fines, etc., will be deducted from any expenditure made and balance divided as stated. The bill does not refer to the Dominion in any way.

Hon. Mr. Carmichael.

The Premier agreed that there should be no delay, but insisted that it was necessary that the scope of the inquiry should be definitely outlined before it was commenced, and it was not his intention of the Government to tie up the committee hoses without indicating definitely the line the investigation should take.

WHO WILL GET POLICE REWARD?

Belleville Officers May Come in for a Share of the Money.

Who will get the $500 reward offered by the Bay City, Michigan, police, for the arrest of Tony Yarnick, alias Hoss Gilmore, alias John McCormick and other aliases, who, it was discovered Tuesday, was safely lodged in Kingston Penitentiary where he is doing 25 to 40 and a half years?

Belleville police figured prominently in the case but the circumstances are rather complicated. Yarnick and a companion were being conveyed to the Michigan State Penitentiary, after having been convicted of an offence committed by them in Belleville. They escaped from the officers, and after a gateway; furiously wounding the Deputy Sheriff of Oakland County Mich., with several revolver shots. So ends that side of the story.

Last autumn, in October G. T. R. constable Maher of Belleville arrested a man at the depot here, who was begging his way on the railway. On being examined by Chief of Police A. Kidd, he would not give a good account of himself, stating that he was from Texas. He was consequently remanded, and charged with carrying a

NO DAMAGES IN AUTO CASE

Jury at Local Assizes Brings in a Verdict Favoring Defendant.

The case of Chas. Smith versus Roy T. Laverne occupied the attention of the Assize Court here this morning, it being a claim of $2,000 damages sustained when the car of defendant and plaintiff figured in a mix-up on the provincial highway, east of the city limits, near the hospital on July 6th last. Chas. Smith is the plaintiff and Laverne the defendant. Col. E. O'Flynn, K.C., appeared on behalf of O'Flynn, for the plaintiff and Major Ponton, of Ponton and Ponton, for the defendant.

On July 6th last, Smith and Laverne were driving their cars on the Provincial highway just east of Belleville. Laverne was ahead of Smith and when Smith attempted to pass him it is alleged that Laverne turned to the South 'or left side of the road instead of the right side with the result that Smith was turned into the ditch, his car being badly damaged and the occupants injured.

Mrs. Orr, of Trenton, a passenger in Smith' car, on the right hand side of the rear seat, testified that he heard two blasts of the horn when about forty yards from Laverne's car, he felt a thud but could not swear that Laverne was at fault. Mr. Laverne took the party to Dr. G. S. Crook after the accident, and then to their home on the Trenton road. Miss swore he did not tell Laverne that it was rotten (Laverne's) fault, the accident occurred, when asked the question by Major Ponton. He stated that Smith turned very sharply to the ditch and was using the ditch for a considerable distance and that he judged the speed at which they were travelling to be from 15 to 20 miles per hour.

Dr. Wm. J. Johnston of Trenton stated that Smith was suffering from shock, bruises, stiffness, and bone or fess semi-conscious when he attended him after the accident on July 6th. His back was bruised and he had a double rupture which will never be right again without an operation. Dr. Johnston thought the operation would cost three or four hundred dollars, including nurses' fees and other items, and it would last from six to eight months at least. This while not a serious one is classified as a major operation.

Mr. T. Pulver, garage owner of Trenton, repaired the car (not perhaps) of the plaintiff and stated that he believed the accident had depreciated the value of the car some $150 or $200.

The jury after deliberating upon the case brought in a verdict for the defendant.

WHERE CANADIANS PLANTED THE UNION JACK.

Map shows the location of Wrangel Island, which will probably be added to Canadian territory, following the hoisting of the British flag there by Allan R. The island is about the size of Jamaica, 100 miles off the northeast coast of Siberia, and is a paradise of the Polar bear.

FATHER DELORME TO STAND TRIAL

Priest Will Appear for Voluntary Statement on March 27th.

GRUESOME EXHIBITS

Crown Uses Tailor's Dummy Dressed in the Victim's Clothes.

Mutual, March 22.—Rev. Adelard Delorme, committed for voluntary statement on March 27 by Judge Conron yesterday afternoon in the Magnate Court, is expected to be then committed for trial, and to appear before the Court of King's Bench in Jeffe next on the charge of slaughtering his half-brother, Raoul, on or about January 6 of this year.

Yesterday the Crown completed the development of its case in the Esquesta Court. This morning when the court opened a gruesome spectacle greeted those taking part in the case as they entered the room. Near Mr. Justice Latour's chair a dummy, dressed in the clothing which had been worn by the victim at the time of the tragedy, was exhibited by Dr. Delorme, the Provincial Autopist, to reconstruct certain phases of the crime, notably as to the clothing the young man wore when shot. The soiled and dilapidated coat, the collar and shirt soaked in blood, the necktie ruffled out of place and out of shape, presented a faithful reproduction of the position in which the body was left after being deposited on a road in the suburbs of the city.

New features in the evidence yesterday were Dr. Derome's evidence on the handwriting on a parcel sent to the private address of Detective Lecain, one of the officers handling the police investigation, and which contained a watch marked "A.D." and a piece of chain which fitted into a broken guard found on the body, and his contention that it was the same as the handwriting of Father Delorme reproduced in a local paper.

Dr. Derome's other evidence yesterday was the finding of how he had magnified the writings to compare them, and had by the same means established a similarity between the stitches in the piece of quilt used to wrap up the dead man's bullet perforated head and a quilt found in the Delorme house.

Wm. Haines told of the sale of a revolver to Father Delorme, the transactions with the priest were that the revolver had been left by the latter with the witness' father as a customer for his repairs. The priest had called on witness on December 27th to secure the revolver, and when asked upon witness had suggested that the priest should buy a Bayard automatic pistol instead of the revolver. Also. The priest had said he needed the weapon for his personal protection, when he went out on his pastoral tours. The priest bought the automatic. When witness sold the weapon to Father Delorme, he was instructed to him by the detectives after Raoul Delorme's murder he noticed it had been severely oiled, apparently by an amateur.

BECK WANTS HYDRO PROBE

Says Government Must Share Onus for High Chippawa Costs.

Toronto, March 22.—In a speech of nearly two hours' duration, Sir Adam Beck before the meeting of the Hydro-Electric Municipal Association of Ontario, in the City Hall, yesterday, made reply to the criticisms of the Drury administration in Ontario. He welcomed an investigation if it was coming, but declared that practically responsible, for the Government had been advised of the exit arrest as soon as the Commission was informed of it, and had been consulted in all the developments. At the conclusion of his address, a resolution expressing confidence in Sir Adam Beck and the Hydro was passed, three cheers being given for the first-citizen.

Mine Strike Order Becomes Effective Midnight March 31

Official Command Has Been Issued From Headquarters by Mine Workers' President—Some 600,000 Men Will be Affected by the Order—Responsibility for Suspension of Work Rests on Mine Operators, Says Manifesto.

CANADIAN FIELDS WILL BE INVOLVED

New York, March 22.—The official order for a general strike of 600,000 bituminous and anthracite miners in the United States and Canada, effective at midnight March 31, was released here yesterday by John L. Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers of America.

The suspension order, which now is on the way in the mails to the 3,000 local unions of the United Mine Workers, provides for the calling out of all workers except those that are necessary to "insure the proper care and protection of all mining property."

Calling upon the miners to "exercise good judgment, moral courage and loyalty," the decree warns that no violence must be attempted during the strike, and "there must be no drunkenness, disorder or disturbance of the public peace."

Responsibility for the suspension of mining "rests squarely with the coal operators," declares the order, calling the refusal of the mine owners and the central competitive field to meet the miners in a joint interstate conference to negotiate a new wage agreement, "a studied indifference that it is ready to participate in such a conference at any time."

The entire strike policy, which embraces the joint wage scale signed by representatives of President Lewis and Phillip Murray, International Vice-President, and Thomas Green, International Secretary, declared that the referendum vote of the bituminous miners had been overwhelmingly for a suspension of work.

"The suspension, ordered by the international convention of the United Mine Workers of America and the membership by a referendum vote", states the order, "will continue until terminated by action of the Policy Committee of the United Mine Workers of America and until you are further officially advised."

WRANGEL ISLAND IS DISCUSSED

United States May Object to Claim of British Sovereignty.

Washington, March 22.—Claims of British sovereignty over Wrangel Island in the Arctic Ocean, northwest of Behring Straits, recently advanced by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, as a result of his landing an expedition there last September, are being given serious consideration by the United States Government, it was said yesterday at the State Department.

In view of the wide ramification of the question, department officials were unwilling to discuss steps which might be undertaken to secure whatever rights to the island that might have accrued to the United States from the landing there in 1881 of two officially accredited United States expeditions, but it was said a close study of fact with their international bearing on the almost forgotten territory was being made, and the position of the United States would be set forth when that study had been completed.

Chief interest of the American Government in the island, it was learned was due to its strategic position from the standpoint of economic and commercial developments.

SITUATION IN IRELAND GOES FROM BAD TO WORSE

Irish Republican Army Will Hold Convention Despite the Order of President Griffith—Army Says Dail Has Been False to Oath.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer and Canadian Press Limited

Dublin, March 22.—It was officially announced by the Republican Organization that the Irish Republican army convention, the holding of which was recently forbidden by Arthur Griffith, President of the Dail Eireann will be held in Dublin Sunday as arranged, this means that a definite split in the army ranks has occurred. According to Commandant Roderick O'Connor, Director of Engineering of the Headquarters staff of the army, only 40 per cent. of the armies' members believe the army has been let down and that the Dail has been false to the oath of republican oath by agreeing to accept the inclusion of Ireland within the British Empire.

Belfast—There has been marked activity by the Ulster special constabulary in the Derry District early yesterday. Along the Derry Donegal border they have blocked a number of roads and in some cases digging trenches across them.

London—The situation on the border between Ulster and Southern Ireland is going from bad to worse and is such that some trifling incident might draw the rival forces into conflict which would shatter all prospects of peace in Ireland, says the London correspondent of Times.

The much-discussed question of whether the mouth granted to Ulster by the treaty is the mouth of signing the Irish Free State should count from the date of passage of the Free State Bill or from the date of the formal adoption of the Free State constitution has been settled by a declaration of the Irish Provisional Government in favor of the later date.

Arthur Griffith, President of Dail Eireann, in a letter to Winston Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, while admitting there is room for ambiguity in the interpretation of the Anglo-Irish Treaty, says the Provisional Government recognizes that concessions might be made in favor of allowing Ulster to consider the constitutional before exercising her option.

CROP PROSPECTS GOOD ALL OVER THE WORLD

Ottawa, March 21.—A crop report issued by the International Institute of Agriculture to-day from the International Institute of Agriculture states that crop conditions are satisfactory in Belgium, Bulgaria and Prussia have improved, and in Poland, Italy and Czecho-Slovakia. The crops of the United Kingdom, Algeria and Tunis show average prospects. Rain has continued in India under favorable conditions.

North Bay Man Killed.

NORTH BAY, Ont., March 21.—Charles Bourbonnais, aged 44, a carpenter, was instantly killed Saturday night, when he was struck by a C.P.R. passenger train entering North Bay from the west. He was walking on the tracks at the time, and according to Engineer Arthur Leech, who claims his view was shut out temporarily by the steam from of the locomotive rounding a curve, had his back to the oncoming train. The body lay undisturbed until Sunday morning, when the identity of the victim directed an inquiry to the local police for the man, who had been missing since Saturday night.

TORONTO, March 21. — John Knott, aged 59 years, Grand Trunk Railway engineer, was fatally injured when he was thrown from a caboose at Minden yards on Friday. Knott died in Grace Hospital on Saturday. He was employed as a fireman when Knott was standing on the top of a caboose that was being shunted down the track when a freight engine pulled out. He was thrown to one of the rails, fracturing his skull.

DOUBLE SUICIDE IN BOSTON

Chemist Drinks Poison From Same Phial Used by Sweetheart.

Boston, Mass., March 23.—The body of Otto Rudolf Larsen, student of chemistry, "too poor to marry one of the world's most wonderful women," lay beside that of his sweetheart, Pauline Virginia Clark, in the morgue here today. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology student fended death in the same poison phial he furnished the beautiful divorcee.

Larsen ended his life in a park here, swallowing cyanide of potassium. The glass phial from which Pauline Clark drank her deadly draught last week was found crushed in his bleeding fingers.

The student wrote a complete history of the case which led to the Clark woman's death before he himself committed suicide. He told of how, after all weeks ago, he concocted a "cup of death" for his sweetheart, knowing she would master or later use it. To end her life. He said she had promised to wait until her mother returned from Jamaica, where Clark had told him, Larsen wrote, of the tragedies of her life and he "wondered she had resisted so long the temptation death really is."

DOPE DEALERS KILLED TAYLOR?

So Says Drug Smuggler When Arrested in New York.

New York, March 22—A new clue in the William D. Taylor murder mystery was in the hands of New York police yesterday.

Anthony Gessel, arrested as a narcotic smuggler, supplied it when he told the police Taylor was slain by agents of a "dope" ring with whose operations he had interfered.

Gessel asserted that he sold morphine at $150 an ounce to a movie actress, one of Taylor's friends, who, he was told by the "dope" ring, was going to California, he said, she ceased using drugs and it was generally believed Taylor had prevented her from so doing. He was killed by the ring for interfering with its operations, Gessel said.

This disposed of the Taylor clue, it was heard before. Gessel, however, is suspected of knowing more than he has divulged. He may be able to give the names of those implicated in the murder.

MARK TWAIN EDITION IS SOLD FOR $200,000

New York, March 22.—The highest price ever paid for a single edition of any author's work was recorded Saturday, when Gabriel Wells, dealer in rare books gave forward a $200,000 for a new definitive de luxe edition of Mark Twain. From the sale of this edition alone the Clemens estate will receive more money than the writer of one of today's best sellers receives from the sale of fifteen copies of a book. This royalty, added to the extraordinary returns on the popular edition of Mark Twain, makes his earnings the greatest recorded for any writer. The value of the edition is enhanced by the personal touch the pages done by Mr. Clemens before his death.

U. S. TO CHANGE LAW ON IMMIGRATION

Washington, March 23.—That the United States immigration law will be changed so that aliens will be required to live five years in "contiguous territory" before they can be admitted, is an announcement by Chairman Johnson of the House Committee on Immigration. This will check large numbers of aliens who, under the present law, remain in Canada, Mexico or the West Indies one year, are then eligible to enter the United States.

IS THIS WHAT AILS YOU?

By BYRON STAUFFER.

Have you failed to achieve your purpose? Then think of Cyrus W. Field; how he struggled on electric current beneath the Atlantic; how he twice failed to lay the cable, then succeeded only to find a fatal defect in the insulation; how he tried again and lost; how the fifth attempt was crowned with great and permanent success. Think of Field and try again.

Must you work or ill-health? Read how Robert Louis Stevenson barely retained his grip on life by submitting to a genuine exile in far-off Samoa; how he toiled against physical prostrations; how he maintained good cheer amid coughings and hemorrhages. Read "Treasure Island," remember-in what agony it was written, and cheer up!

Are you dreading old age? Recount John Wesley's prodigious labors right up to his death at 88; think how General William Booth drove his wonderful campaign to the very last, how the other Booth—J. R. of Ottawa—does his daily stint at seventy-five; how John Wanamaker is writing business editorials last. 83. Step lively fellow! There's no time to lose.

Must you plod forever with huge debts at that? Walter Scott faced such a situation when nearing middle age. He was the Waverley novels and produced three big works a year, with numerous poems besides. Indeed, excepting Marmion and the Lady of the Lake, his best works were written while harassed by business cares. Then, just when he boasted of being able to pay "more than twenty shillings in the pound," he found himself debtor to the extent of $600,000. Then he plied his pen once more and succeeded in nearly wiping out the whole amount. "Forward! March! There is still time.

Are you overcome after your scalp? Look at the cheery face of David Lloyd George and take courage. He has been a newspaper man, editor, pamphleteer and then goes to Chequers for the week-end, while his foes plan fresh assaults against the British Premier.

Does all seem irrevocably lost? Hark back to Sir John A. Macdonald in 1873 when the defeated premier returned to Toronto, cowed and dismayed. After a week of profound dejection, his old-time jauntiness returned, he went straight to his task and in five years made his foes a staggering blow, regained the premiership and held it till his death thirteen years later. "Once more into the breach, my friends, once more!"

Is bearing slipping from you? A Canadian boy, Dr. J. H. Potts, was not only a successful editor in Detroit, but spoke forcefully and melodiously, though never hearing a syllable of his sermons.

Perhaps sight is failing. Think of Sir Arthur Pearson's noble work. If it be that both sight and hearing desert you, let Helen Keller's imperishable career sustain you.

Does the loss of an essential organ drive you from your work? Dr. W. H. Covington, blind from birth, at affliction made a pastorate impossible. He took to writing and has made a pronounced success as editor of the Christian Guardian.

Are you traveling on the edge of a precipice in the form of a sinking heart valve? Rev. R. J. Campbell is in imminent danger every time he engages the pulpit. Rev. R. J. H. Jones? But they are not like the dull preacher who explained that the reason he didn't let himself loose in his sermon was because there was a tendency to high blood pressure in his family and he didn't want a stroke!

Have you been slandered? Henry Ward Beecher; we are told by Major Pond, almost went mad during the Tilton charges, but the day of his exoneration came. Alfred Dreyfus was called back from Devil's Island and given back his commission. Look confidently for the day of your deliverance. Only evil conquers itself—and created the best public sentiment of your community? Gus Greeling at a banquet, Dr. Rainsford speaks words which, when he read them in cold print the next morning, smote him with deep remorse. He penned an apology to the people of New York City, paid for its publication in every paper and rose higher than ever in the esteem of his fellow-citizens.

Are your merits unrecognized in middle life? Have you failed to reach the summit in your life work, even though you have tried hard? Frank McGlynn had not only mediocre parts in plays. He was about to give it up for a bad job at $3 when he got a telegram one day, taking him to take the part of Abraham Lincoln in John Drinkwater's new play. That's he established his homeliness and won fame on his merits.

Newfoundland, where wage negotiations are still under way. The Western Provinces of Canada, including British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, however, are covered by the suspension order, as is also every union coal field in the United States.

Under the clause leaving necessary maintenance men at work, President Lewis estimated that 10,000 pumpmen, engineemen, watchmen and other essential workmen would be exempted from participating in the strike in the anthracite and bituminous mining fields. Of this number, he said, approximately 3,000 will be left at work in the hard coal region.

Final arrangements and details for the conduct of the walk-out, President Lewis said, would be decided upon at the meeting of the General Policies Committee of the United Mine Workers, which will be held in Cleveland next Friday.

RADIUM FOUND IN B.C.

RICH MINERALS HAVE BEEN LOCATED BY ENGINEERS.

Deposits Discovered on the Islands of Valdez and Vancouver, from Which Enough Radium Were Obtained—Protective Formation of Ore Reminds of Yet Richer Deposits.

After nine years of persistent searching in a great many parts of the world, from South Africa to Alaska, R. H. Neave, a skilled engineer and prospector, recently discovered two radium-bearing ore deposits on the islands of Valdez and Vancouver, off the coast of British Columbia. The story of the long hunt for an end radioactive rocks is in a way reminiscent of those of the searchers for the Holy Grail, the fabled Fountain of Youth, the philosopher's stone, and other mythical objects, for like them, Neave was actuated by an altruistic purpose. Not merely all the powers that the ancients ascribed for it to various, Neave, the search for more of the precious metal foremost in his mind. Mr. Neave, nine years ago, decided to devote his time to field work in search of radio-active areas, for, while there were plenty of men experimenting with the natural and scientific possibilities of radium, they were few in one, as far as he could learn, making a systematic search for the great deposits undoubtedly most exist on the earth's surface where this precious substance was hidden. So he started out. He covered a good deal of South Africa. He came to North America and prospected from the mountain regions of Idaho, Montana and Washington, a great portion of the heart of British Columbia in the Rossland, Fort Steele, Vancouver, Bloom and adjoining regions, where the miners might possibly be discovered. Following this, he prospected on the east coast of Vancouver Island, one of the most difficult portions of the Pacific Coast. He spent two years on Cook Peninsula, a desolate and uninhabited region, where landings have to be made through a narrow mass of kelp from a coasting steamer. In this region, while conducting his prospecting, he found that for some unknown reason the flora was stunted, particularly the hemlock trees. Whole forests of these had their terminal growths at an height gray, that is, the branches were small at the trunk and grew larger outward, ending in natural "tops and billets." This was also true of the cedar trees and shrubbery. Here the wildness that yielded peas as large as the cultivated variety, which were used satisfactorily for food.

Moving from the coast, after two years of ineffectual search, he discovered, in the fall of 1919, after nearly nine years of searching, a stream of radio-active rocks Valdez Inlet, Vancouver Island. These he tested in two ways, by using an electroscope, and also by taking photographs, or radiograms, two of the principal tests for radium-bearing strata. Radiographs are taken by placing the rays given off by the rocks in contact photographic of coins, keys, etc., through such opaque substances as light-proof paper on a sensitized photographic plate. At the time of making his discovery, Neave was not in possession of an electroscope, a very sensitive instrument. But he was of an interested turn of mind and manufactured one which answered the purpose. This instrument is electroscope consisted of a small brass jar, with a rubber cork through which passed a metal rod. To the rod (and inside the bottle) a piece of gold leaf was suspended by its centre. The rod and gold leaf were charged with electricity generated by rubbing a piece of ebonite with a silk handkerchief, then touching the two ends of gold leaf to fly apart, to a little less, the gold leaf slowly drops to its original position, but if a radioactive rock is brought near the instrument the gold leaf drops suddenly.

In August, 1921, he made another find, on Valdez Island, a place called Open Bay, an uninhabited stretch of jagged-of land, where copper-mining had formerly been carried on. The tests applied this time, in addition to using the electroscope, and making photographs by rays from the rocks, also consisted of using the scintillescope. This is a high-powered magnifying glass, mounted at the proper focus above a sensitized screen or plate of some kind, and coated with zinc sulphide. This latter chemical has the property of becoming luminous when struck by the Alpha ray or helium particles, which radioactive substances shoot at the enormous velocity of 16,000 miles a second. A good sample under the instruments shows numberless twinkling pin points of light.

Satisfied with the area of these two fields, Neave, together with samples of the rock to Sir Ernest Rutherford, the famous British physicist, expert. The mere analysis for simple rocks cost $100, and for complex ones much more. Sir Ernest's reply, fully confirmed his own experiments as to the highly radioactive nature of the minerals found. At this writing, of course, no estimate of the two field's productive possibilities can be ventured. Developmental work alone will reveal the amount of radium which may be obtained.

Patagonian Monster May Be More Megatherium.

The mysterious monster reported from the wilds of Patagonia may be a descendant of the creature shown above. So says Professor Onelli, director of the Buenos Aires Zoo. This is the Megatherium, a big, furry animal standing 20 feet high when erect. It lived a million years ago and in spite of its size is believed to have dined on insects and ants, like the modern sloths and ant-eater. Its enormous claws were used for digging, rather than for fighting. Fairly recent remains of the zoological family to which the Megatherium belongs have been found from time to time in Patagonia.

WORKS LIKE HUMAN MACHINE

Soviet Minister of Foreign Affairs is a Tremendous Worker.

Moscow, March 22—The fact that the human machine requires sleep is one of life's tragedies to George V. Chicherin, the Soviet Foreign Affairs Minister. Sleep is also a tragedy to those who have to do business with him.

The best hour to have an interview with Chicherin is between midnight and 6 a.m. The only hours he devotes to rest are between 8 a.m. and noon day. The remainder he spends in work, with short 15-minute to half-hour rest intervals when he goes to his bachelor room adjoining his office and lies down possibly to sleep for a few minutes.

His clerks have a hard time of it as they cannot adjust their hours to his. They are permitted to work 24 hours at a stretch and then have life easy for two days.

Chicherin is always on the job, except for the four hours mentioned. He has stated that as he grows older he hopes to eliminate these sleeping hours. He looks well, is round-faced and has few grey hairs, shows no signs of his sleep wrestlings.

Food is also a material difficulty with Comrade Chicherin. He gets so absorbed in his work that he frequently forgets to eat and when reminded that he must, he takes but a few bits of bread and butter. Sometimes, he is postponed and his doctor has constantly finds that it is through lack of eating. When asked if he has eaten anything, Chicherin is unable to remember.

LAW KNOWS NO EXCEPTIONS

Bulgarian State Requires Manual Labor Even From Royal Blood.

Sofia, March 22.—Even King Boris' two sisters, the Princess Eudoxie and Princess Nadejda will be obliged to contribute their share of work to the Bulgarian state under the new compulsory labor law which requires all citizens up to 30 years of age to give at least 10 days of their time every year in useful work to the community.

This ruling has been made by the stern peasant Premier, Alexander Stamboulisky, the most powerful man in Bulgaria and maker and breaker of kings.

Bulgarian women, said the Premier, will be compelled to make garments on bed linen for hospitals, contribute special labor to orphanages and asylums, help to care for the poor and so on. Girls under 30 years old will be obliged for a period of three months in each year to study domestic science and the useful arts so that they can become more proficient factors to society and contribute to the common good.

Premier Stamboulisky says that one of the causes of Bulgaria's rapid recovery from the war is the work done for the state by which it is ruled, by the volunteer labor army. He estimates the value of its work at 300,000,000 leva (nominally worth about 60 cents each).

The volunteer army has been at entire accord with M. Stamboulisky. "It has built roads, streets, waterways, bridges, canals, warehouses, schoolhouses and sanitary systems. It has drained swamps, tilled the land and planted trees." The Premier pointed out that Bulgaria now has a law prohibiting the sale of liquor at bars unless the "voters decide they want it. "You see", he said, "we are following somewhat in the path of you Americans in regard to prohibition. Some day Bulgaria may be completely dry."

DIFFICULT TO FIND SPOT TO WEIED PRUNING KNIFE

Peterboro, Ont., March 22.—A special committee of the Council discussed civic salaries here last night, presumably for the last time this year, and no action was taken. Everywhere the committee turned with the pruning knife there was some opposition to its application.

The committee was formed with the idea of a reduction of the wartime increases commensurate with the reduction in the costs of living, but it seemed to be better in theory than in practice.

Switch Derangements

In "Starting" Electrical Troubles Don't Forget The Switches

IMPERFECT CONNECTIONS are a more common cause of trouble in ignition, lighting and starter circuits than defects in the electrical units themselves. The current is controlled by switches of some kind and although fairly switch action is not infrequently the cause of annoying and sometimes baffling derangements, this possibility is very generally ignored. When it is realized that the ignition switch is operated very little that the engine is stopped or started and that lighting switches are frequently manipulated, it is not strange that their performance is open and cause to function reliably after long service, thus giving troublesome results. In case of electrical trouble it is therefore not safe to ignore switches and buttons as possible sources of difficulty, as they are decidedly fallible. There are a great variety of switch types and forms, with buttons that push and pull and some with levers or buttons that turn, but in nearly all cases the circuits which they control are closed and opened by the bringing together and separation of metal contacts, the spring action of which is depended upon to give a firm and reliable connection. These contact springs tend to lose their resiliency and thus to fail to make together reliably and sometimes actually break in service. If the right metal is not used contact parts are likely to stick and sparking instead of making them clean and reliable connection is no longer made and, if the contacting surfaces are of soft metal, they are quickly damaged, to be self cleaning. Intermittent connection may be the result. Contact springs and other parts occasionally become lose in their fastenings and fail fully to receive the required motion and to convey the current, the cause of this usually being the loosening of the small screws which are used to hold them in place. Dust works into some switches, interfering with their action both mechanically and electrically. The wires which form current conductions to switches are prone to loosen up under the binding nuts which are supposed to secure them and produce uncertain connections, which are specially break in service. Even the copper clips, forming the end connections of switch wires are occasionally soldered on carelessly and interfere reliably and unreliable. Switch assemblies embodying circuit breakers naturally have extra parts subject to derangement and the reasonable course to pursue if trouble is to the instrument board, a switch can be removed and the slack usually left in the wires permit it to be brought out enough for inspection purposes, without jacking up the car.

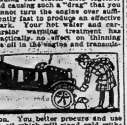

WHAT MAKES AN ENGINE STALL?

M. R. asks: What makes an engine stall frequently, other than an awkward use the part of the driver?

Answer: The most common cause is the use of too lean a fuel mixture which results in missed explosions or explosions too weak to carry the engine over the dead center of the pulse, when the vehicle load is applied. If the carburetor is not adjusted rich enough, or if the engine is given too much air in proportion to the intake system, an engine stall is likely to result when the throttle is closed quickly or when the load is another cause. If the throttle is set so as to give a very low idling speed, stalling may result, unless the operating cars is used and a clutch with a tendency to engage quickly, is quite likely to stop the engine unless its speed is considerably increased before engagement.

SCOTS SETTLERS LAND IN CANADA

First of Parties to Arrive Under Veteran Settlement Plan.

London, March 22—The first of the Scots farmers who are to be brought to this country through the offers of Rev. Father MacDonnell, M.C., who won his distinction as chaplain in the great war, were due to arrive in Halifax to-day.

There are 750 in the party, and they are to be scattered to points in Middlesex, Essex and Kent. While the majority of the Highlanders are Catholics, there are also a number of Presbyterians, who decided to come to this country under the auspices of Father MacDonnell, and these are to be located near churches of their own faiths. The men are practically all returned soldiers and excellent farmers, who, when they have worked long enough in order to acquaint with Canadian farming methods, intend to apply for farms under the Government settlement scheme.

Within a year Father MacDonnell expects to bring about 1,000 such farmers to this part of Ontario.

FOREST CONSERVATION.

Plans to make the reforestation of barren lands in Ontario a matter of "acting concern" of rural councils and of individuals, the Canadian Forestry Association has drawn up a hard-hitting program of educational propaganda to be applied through its various channels during 1922.

The Canadian Forestry Association is independent of all governments and commercial interests and while such independence is the mainspring of public confidence, it constitutes also the army's one obvious financial weakness. The Association has recently applied to the Government of Ontario for a grant of $5,000 for 1922 and quite rightly has suggested that such a grant would be a fruitful economy rather than a postable expenditure. With lecturers and demonstrators skilled in precisely such work as is now planned for Ontario, and with such inside facilities as two railroad cars, one a forest exhibit car dealing with forest protection, the other a tree planting car, complete as a motion picture auditorium, the Association is prepared to give more extensive educational service to this province than has been the case in any previous year. These days are a reputation placed the matter before the Premier and his Minister of Lands and Forests and a decision will be reached shortly. To supply the impulse that will result in better forest fire prevention and in an active campaign of reforestation is surely worth $10,000 from our public treasury even in a year of financial strain.

DECLINE OF DRUNKENNESS.

One of a multitude of indications that the Ontario Temperance Act and other prohibitory laws are working to the advantage of Canada is shown by the statistics of crime.

In 1920 the convictions for drunkenness throughout the Dominion were only 39,769, as against 60,975 in 1913. In other words, notwithstanding an appreciable increase of population during the last eight years, drunkenness has decreased by nearly 35 per cent. This record is the more remarkable because conditions in Quebec and one or two other provinces favor the consumption of liquor.

Figures obtainable from Toronto and other parts of the province discredit the propaganda of the wets about the amount of bootlegging, homebrewing and secret drinking. The O. T. A. is generally well worked and in the main well enforced. But it would be idle pretence to say that the evils of alcohol have disappeared, and that the fight for sobriety has been victoriously ended.

The liquor traffic in Ontario is like a conflagration that has been subdued but still smoulders. It will burst out anew unless good citizens remain on guard.

CANADA TODAY.

Those who are familiar with the weekly publication, Canada, an illustrated journal published in London, England, and Montreal, by the Canada Newspaper Company, will be pleased with the annual number, Canada Today, 1921-1922. This is the sixth of the annual series, and will be found fully abreast of the standard set in former years. There are articles on every phase of national life, and the final useful feature being the index, by means of which any special information required can be readily found. The volume is especially intended for those living in the old country, who desire to acquaint themselves with the possibilities, resources, activities and opportunities offered in this "land of promise"—and of performance. The 128 pages are profusely illustrated, and the reading matter is all of an interesting and authentic character.

Agriculture, homesteading, fruit-growing, professional openings, city life, education, cost of living, industrial conditions, sport, the various game laws of each province, emigration, descriptions, bits of history, finance, trade—everything necessary for an intelligent understanding of the Dominion, is treated of. There is a map of Canada and useful statistics relating to area, population, produce, prices, land values, mineral products, etc. A gazetteer gives a short description of all cities with a population of a thousand and over.

Though the publication is intended primarily as a guide book for intending emigrants and those living outside of Canada, who are interested in the Dominion, it will be found exceedingly valuable for Canadians themselves, as a cheap and handy work of reference.

Though the son of a Detroit millionaire has been condemned to shovel coal for five days as a penalty for speeding, it is not expected he will be thus impressed with "the dignity of labor."

The interest in that celebrated legislature "party" has sifted into the back townships. Various rural members will be due for "across my heart" declarations to their constituents as to their innocence.

READING TOO MUCH

Boston Globe.

The function of reading is to supplement experience, that is, to test out the truths learned by living, and to enable one to simplify, refine and live to more and better purpose. This being the case, it is not true, as is so often said, that "we cannot read too much." You can read too much if you can read too little; you can read too much trash; but you can read only that you can think too much.

FOREIGN POLICIES AND DAILY LIFE

Our daily life is influenced every hour of our existence by the repercussions of political facts, a great alliance of, just as the above Paris items has gotten been portrayed as forgetting, amidst the lure of city life, the interests of their country's welfare. DEFLATION STILL GOES ON Providence Journal.

Any theorist or agitator who proclaims the possibility of keeping wages where they were three years ago is obtaining of economic history. The law of supply and demand is as inexorable as it ever was. There must be a readjustment all along the line, and it is folly for employes in any class of productive industry in which there has been an extraordinary advance in money compensation to expect to escape the downward trend.

Wages are still far above the 1914 level. In most industries they represent a larger purchasing power than that of eight years ago. Living costs are gradually decreasing, and the wage they needs whatever will be the requirement of a deflation in labor as well as in materials and commodities.

The Poets' Corner

MARCH RAIN

The March rain falls; the naked trees,
Grey-lighted in their mists of snow,
Sway slowly, idly, in the breeze;
The grey sky peers, the cold drops blow.

And mark the sabre-snow below.

The March rain falls; behind the sky
The gray light wanes. The sullen sun
Has gone his way, and day-sounds die;
Streets end in lagoons unlived.

Athwart the cloud dull thunders run.

The March rain falls; through thickening mist
Lights struggle out and flicker down
The snow-choked rivulets that twist
Themselves below; while lightnings frown;
Still the rain on trees and town.

A Laugh or Two

TRY AN INCLINED PLANE

The doctor called on a man who was ill, and told the wife that she must put him into a recumbent position.

"A what, doctor?"

A recumbent position, said the doctor.

As soon as he had gone, she went to a neighbor, and said: Mrs. Brown, would you lend me a recumbent position?

But Mrs. Brown was determined not to show her ignorance, and answered: I'm very sorry, my dear, but I've just lent mine to Mrs. Sun.

Move Up There!

I never go to church, the millionaire said. I guess you've noticed that blshop?

Yes, I have noticed it, said the bishop gravely.

I guess you wonder why I never go to church, don't you the millionaire guessed. Well, I'll tell you why, bishop. There are so many hypocrites there.

Oh, don't let that keep you away, said the bishop smiling. There is always room for one more.

Brotherly Love

Yes, said the principal of the young ladies' school to the proud parent. You ought to be proud to be the father of such a large family, all the members of which appear to be devoted to one another.

Large family. Devoted! grasped the old man in amazement. What on earth do you mean?

Why, yes, indeed, said the principal, beaming through her glasses, no fewer than eleven of Dora's brothers have been here to take her on the river, and she tells me she expects the tall one with the blue eyes again to-morrow.

PARLIAMENTARY HIGH JINKS

CONTRIBUTED

The somewhat unconventional party held at the rooms of one of the Ministers during the closing hours of the 1921 Session of the Ontario Legislature has been the cause of much embarrassment to the United Farmers of Ontario in the Drury Government, to the Attorney General, to the Dominion Alliance and to the guests who attended the party. Briefly because it is said that the liquid refreshments were not confined to lemonade.

It is easy to understand the disappointment and irritation of the rank and file of the U.F.O. The spokesmen of these people have always been inclined to accuse the old-timers of the two old parties and the elected representatives of these old parties themselves of forgetting, amidst the lure of city life, the interests, or their country's welfare. The vital conditions of existence and are indeed a part of that existence itself.

Any theorist or agitator who proclaims the possibility of keeping wages where they were three years ago is obtaining of economic history. The law of supply and demand is as inexorable as it ever was. There must be a readjustment all along the line, and it is folly for employes in any class of productive industry in which there has been an extraordinary advance in money compensation to expect to escape the downward trend.

Wages are still far above the 1914 level. In most industries they represent a larger purchasing power than that of eight years ago. Living costs are gradually decreasing, and the wage they needs whatever will be the requirement of a deflation in labor as well as in materials and commodities.

Of course, the Attorney General has also been afflicted. He is thought to have been zealous in the enforcement of the O.T.A. and his want of activity in the present instance has left him open to the charge of inconsistency. Besides he was not happy in the reason he gave the Assembly for his inactivity. In stating that he was merely the servant of the members he did less than justice to his high office. It is true that the members within certain defined limits may control the Ministers, but while the laws remain on the Statute Book the members themselves are subject to these laws to the same extent as the most obscure citizen—at other words become within a few, and are in no sense above the law.

While the reason given by the Attorney General for his attitude was, from a technical point of view, much to the point, for criticism in the matter itself. After all, the Attorney General should not act as an informer. It is not consonant with British ideals of the dignity of the law that the highest law officer of the Crown should assume the general role of an informer or inquisitor. The method adopted by the Puritans of New England in the enforcement of the so-called Blue laws was most unBritish. Hon. Mr. Rigney would have been on much surer ground if he had followed the precedent set by a former Attorney General, the Hon. J. M. (now Sir John) Gibson, who when asked to use his authority as Attorney General to prevent breaches of the election laws, contented himself with the laconic reply, "I am not a policeman."

The Dominion Alliance at a recent meeting had to face the unpleasant task of dealing with a proposed resolution urging investigation of the incident. The Alliance was on the horns of a dilemma. It had, a few hours previously, put on record a strongly worded demand for a strict enforcement of the O.T.A. and, to vote down the resolution, was equivalent to laying down one rule for the lowly-placed law breaker and another for the highly-placed law maker. On the other hand the alliance evidently did not wish to add to Mr. Drury's embarrassment. As a way out of the dilemma the somewhat equivocal course was followed of substituting another resolution approving the Attorney General's reasons for inaction as stated above. The apparent inconsistency of the Alliance would have been more impressive if it had adopted a resolution dissociating the incident but declining to make any recommendation.

The U.F.O. guests no doubt have had some painful interviews with the premier and are still suffering more or less from the frowning glare of feeling. If they had mustered sufficient moral courage to have risen in their places one by one and simply stated that they were at the party and were sorry for it the explanation would have been generally accepted. As the matter now stands some of them will no doubt find it necessary to give longer and elaborate explanations to their constituents.

ITALY CANCELS ORDER FOR GERMAN LOCOMOTIVES

Rome, March 22—The Italian Government says that it is cancelling in part an order for 350 locomotives originally placed in Germany and ordered to be changed to the account of Germany's reparation debt to Italy. But Italian locomotive works, notably the Breda and Ansaldo, have protested, and have carried on propaganda through the press charging discrimination against home industry.

The Italian Government in the future intends to favor and subsidise home locomotive works.

Noted Traveller Arrives in Rangoon After Nine Months Trip.

Rangoon, March 22.—F. Kingdon Ward, explorer and author, has arrived in Rangoon from a nine-months trip into China, five months of which were spent in the independent kingdom of Mull, in Chinese Tibet.

Mr. Ward spent most of his time on this trip in collecting plants for Edinburgh University, bringing back with him about a thousand varieties of rare plants, some of which are new botanically. He also found four new species of the blue poppy. These, with their seeds, have been shipped to Edinburgh.

After travelling through northern Burma and a part of China, he entered Chinese Tibet and headed for Mull, a small kingdom, covering about 15,000 square miles, with many high mountain peaks, some of which are over 20,000 feet above the sea. Mr. Ward said that was ruled by a powerfully-built man, a Lama, who lived in an enormous monastery surrounded by a guard of 6,000 warriors.

Mr. Ward found on arriving there that the Lama was suffering from disease, but he soon recovered under the explorers treatment and thereafter Mr. Ward was given quarters in the monastery for himself and a companion and his servants were well looked after.

In Mull and the adjoining kingdoms the party found that the villages, though few and sparsely settled, are all extremely prosperous. This is explained by an abundance of gold which is washed out of the river sand in many places. While men are not welcomed in these places as the explorers suspect that they come for gold.

Mountain sheep abound in Mull, large about the high cliffs, which are mostly devoid of vegetation.

WILL PRODUCE FOXES ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

Vancouver, March 22.—An effort is being made to reach other farms on Vancouver Island. Foundation stock is being imported from Prince Edward Island. The climate of these two extreme portions of the Dominion being similar, it is claimed that success of the new venture is assured.

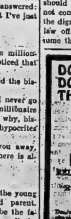

The proprietors of the first ranch have acquired two pairs of the animals and have commenced operations in Saanich, following out the system of housing and feeding advocated by the successful breeders of Prince Edward Island and other Eastern centers.

ANSWERED LETTERS.

Perplexed: "I keep house far four men folk, two of whom are night workers. I get up at six, get them a breakfast of two of the men who go to work at 7:30, then get another breakfast at 9:30 for another, and still another breakfast at 10 o'clock (then two, later for the night workers). I get them a lunch at noon, and add then get a dinner at three in the afternoon for the night-workers, and at about six the rest of us eat. At that time I am so tired that I have no enthusiasm left to prepare nice dishes with it. I would like to know if yet some of my friends think I have a soft time and say that I ought to take in roomers. And do the family washing. Do you think I should? Also tell me what to put behind the gas range to keep it from smoking the wall."

Answer: I think you are doing as much work as any woman ought to undertake, without even considering doing the family washing and taking in roomers. In regard to the rest of your letter which I have not quoted here, I wish to say that I think it is fearly responsible amount. Now, in regard to the gas range: all gas ranges that stand near a wall should have a sheet of asbestos behind them. Otherwise they are not only a fire risk (for the wall in time gets blistered), but they discolor the wall.

A Reader: "Kindly tell me how to paint my kitchen floor. I have been painting it, but it does not wear well."

Answer: I judge from your letter that you have put only one coat of paint on the floor and that it has absorbed it all and looks "blotchy." An old floor needs three coats, and the first should consist of half turpentine and half paint. But as you have already put full-strength paint upon it, the best you can do now is to put on two more coats of paint and then a coat of floor varnish. Consult your local hardware merchant in regard to a reliable brand of spar varnish. Paint the last strips so that you can walk on the unpainted stripe while the others dry.

Mrs. Z.—"Kindly publish a recipe for making condensed milk out of pure cow's milk and tell me if that is the recipe."

Answer—You could not make condensed milk without the proper machinery, and is, I believe, a trade secret.

Miss M.—"How does one take spots off the top of a varnished golden oak table caused by setting too hot dishes upon it? Also tell me the best kind of pad for a dining table, besides asbestos?"

Answer—The stains made by heat on almost any kind of wood may be removed by rubbing with hot milk. White felt is the only substitute for an asbestos table pad—but this is not as satisfactory as asbestos. Where small dollies are used on a polished table instead of a table-cloth, however, one may use felt of many mats encased in linen covers to go under each individual plate daily to protect the table from heat.

A Little Girl—"I would like to learn to crochet and make some of the articles mentioned in your column. Please tell me what the abbreviations in your crochet directions stand for."

Answer—All fancy work shops sell inexpensive booklets explaining the different crochet stitches. If you cannot obtain one of these in your locality, send me a stamped self-addressed envelope for the name of a firm from which you can buy such a booklet by mail.

WOOLER

Probability That There Is A Mysterious Race That Has Not Been Reached by Civilization.

William Hugh Knight, a member of the British Royal Societies, one of the ranking members of the expedition sent by the London Times on occasion some years ago when he was also in touch closely, a figure which he believes to be that of one of the "Abominable Snowmen" to whom reference has been made by members of the Mount Everest expedition. He said:

"Shortly before the last Tibetan war I was returning from Simla, on the Himalayan, a Tibetan guide, and over train of about forty or fifty coolies. We were coming down a track which leads from Gatson to Gobidoon. We wanted to go to Gumbu by the higher route, not Tenzin Wagdi, our guide, said the cooles would not go that way because an evil spirit dwelt there. I was not sure Gumbu we had to climb the long ascent. My companion had gone on ahead with the coolies. I was about half a mile behind, about half a mile below Gatson.

"I suddenly saw, nearby my horse, go an open clearing, not ahead, loosened the girths and proceeded the animal to feed. Just about setting. While I was musing I heard a slight noise, looking round, I saw a huge fitness or twenty paces away, a figure which I took to be a man. It stood a little more than six feet. The lower part of the hairy man that the Everest expedition talk about the Abominable Snowmen.

"Standing on the spot of my recollection, he was a little under six feet high, almost stark naked. His hair must have been matted for November. He was a kind of pale yellow all over, which I took to be natural. His hair was matted hair on his head, little hair on his face, highish cheek bones and large, broad nose. His muscular development in the arms, thighs, legs and shoulders was great. His hair, in his hand what seemed to be some form of primitive weapon. He did not see me, I stood there, and I watched him for some five or six minutes. He was filling a bag, which was standing some man or beast far down the hillside. At the end of some five minutes he started off at a rim down the hill, and I was impressed with the immense speed at which he travelled.

"So far as I can remember, I mentioned the matter to my companion that night, and to Glenda White when I saw him at the residency and also to Mr. Noel Landon. He says is that they took it rather as a matter of course. Miss Jean Carter spent Sunday with her cousin, Mrs. Helen Miller.

HE SAW SNOWMAN

Englishman Corroborates Story Told by Explorers.

Probability That There Is A Mysterious Race That Has Not Been Reached by Civilization.

William Hugh Knight, a member of the British Royal Societies, one of the ranking members of the expedition sent by the London Times on occasion some years ago when he was also in touch closely, a figure which he believes to be that of one of the "Abominable Snowmen" to whom reference has been made by members of the Mount Everest expedition. He said:

"Shortly before the last Tibetan war I was returning from Simla, on the Himalayan, a Tibetan guide, and over train of about forty or fifty coolies. We were coming down a track which leads from Gatson to Gobidoon. We wanted to go to Gumbu by the higher route, not Tenzin Wagdi, our guide, said the coolies would not go that way because an evil spirit dwelt there. I was not sure Gumbu we had to climb the long ascent. My companion had gone on ahead with the coolies. I was about half a mile behind, about half a mile below Gatson.

"I suddenly saw, nearby my horse, go an open clearing, not ahead, loosened the girths and proceeded the animal to feed. Just about setting. While I was musing I heard a slight noise, looking round, I saw a huge fitness or twenty paces away, a figure which I took to be a man. It stood a little more than six feet. The lower part of the hairy man that the Everest expedition talk about the Abominable Snowmen.

"Standing on the spot of my recollection, he was a little under six feet high, almost stark naked. His hair must have been matted for November. He was a kind of pale yellow all over, which I took to be natural. His hair was matted hair on his head, little hair on his face, highish cheek bones and large, broad nose. His muscular development in the arms, thighs, legs and shoulders was great. His hair, in his hand what seemed to be some form of primitive weapon. He did not see me, I stood there, and I watched him for some five or six minutes. He was filling a bag, which was standing some man or beast far down the hillside. At the end of some five minutes he started off at a rim down the hill, and I was impressed with the immense speed at which he travelled.

"So far as I can remember, I mentioned the matter to my companion that night, and to Glenda White when I saw him at the residency and also to Mr. Noel Landon. He says is that they took it rather as a matter of course. Miss Jean Carter spent Sunday with her cousin, Mrs. Helen Miller.

Tinker Bob

Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

CLAWS THAT REACHED FOR GRAPES.

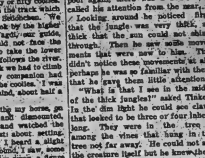

Now, it seemed to Tinker Bob rather strange to think that the call of Spring was in his thoughts all the time. Tinker was not strange because he could not stifle his desire to return to his Great Forest. He decided that he'd think about it for Time was much a symbol anyway that Tinker knew it would be many days before he'd let me mention it. But all the time he was thinking of that might be going on in the forest. Frankly he stood watching Mr. and Mrs. Tapir leaving with their baby for the pool; again, there was a noise that called his attention from the area. Looking around he noticed that that Jungle Cat was very idle, so thick that the sun could not shine through. Then he saw some movements that were new to him. Tim didn't notice these movements at all, perhaps he was so familiar with them that he gave them little attention.

"What is that I see in the midst of the thick jungle?" asked Tinker. In the dim light he could see claws that looked to be three or four inches long. They were in the tree, and among the vines that hung in the tree not far away. He could not see the creature's body, but he knew that it was about or he would not see the claws.

Then, who is that fellow I see?" Tim turned about to see if there really was anyone near. Then he too, caught sight of the claws.

"Oh, Urumph!" cried he. "That's a friend of mine. He dare not come to the ground for fear of Tinker, but he leas the sun is behind a cloud. The sun is too hot for him, so he stays in the shade during the day and comes out at night."

"My, what long claws he has. He must be a terrible fellow to fight with," said Tinker. Then he went closer and what do you suppose he found? Well, he saw these claws reaching up after a large bunch of grapes that hung from one of the tangled vines. "Look, he is after these grapes.

Nearly every time he goes to the river he falls in.

"What is his name?" asked Tinker.

"He is the Jungle Bear. No one talks to him very much for he stays in the hole in the ground most of the time," said Tim.

"Where does he find the hole to live into?"

"Oh, my, he digs that hole with his claws, and doesn't take him long to do it, either," said Tim.

Then Tinker saw him reach for another bunch of grapes. He surely likes grapes," said he, as he watched Mr. Jungle Bear eating away at another large bunch of the jungle fruit.

Tomorrow—Mr. Tapir Has a Slippery Tongue.

The Daily Recipe

Belgium cake requires six or seven cupfuls of flour, half a pint of lukewarm milk, one cake of yeast, half a yeast cake, a capful of melted butter, half a pound of seeded and slightly chopped raisins, the grated rind of a cupful of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter of a pound of almonds blanched and chopped fine, also a few bits of candied orange peel.

Dissolve the yeast in a little tepid water and add to it a cupful of the flour. With the egg yolks add sugar together and add them with the melted butter to the light sponge in the chopped almonds and the peel, together with the yeast which was ready to rise and the remainder of the flour. Set the dough aside to rise again, then mold into a long narrow loaf and bake in a moderate light, bakesheet forty-five minutes.

When finished, cover with a glaze made of confectioners' sugar and decorate with cherries or pistachio nuts.

Tips to Housewives

Whipped cream will remain stiff if one teaspoonful of dissolved gelatine to whipped into one-half pint of whipping cream.

To clean aluminum, wet a cloth in ammonia and sprinkle liberally with baking soda (tasteless). Rub this dish thoroughly with this and then wash in warm soapsuds and polish with a dry cloth.

Sweeten whipped cream by adding a teaspoonful of powdered honey instead of sugar. It not only gives the cream a delightful flavor but causes it to whip more and firm all day.

If the hooks and eyes are always coming off just try buttonholing them on and sewing on a button. This will make such a complaint. That is, instead of sewing over and over the buttonhole stitch or loop it. It takes little, if any, longer to do, and time is saved because hooks and eyes are not to stay.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Embroidery ruffles are to be worn this coming summer.

Irish lace is to be lavishly used on smart white summer frocks.

A pearl pendant from the shoulder is seen in a clever new model.

The Hon. H. H. Asquith's wedding gift to Princess Mary was the "chatelaine of Omar Khayyam."

The red and black tunics, having certain conventional designs are much in evidence on the new Russian blouses.

Beige, gray and the new pois de rose are favored shades for the new three-piece costumes.

England's only woman traffic manager, Miss Elizabeth Haverfield, is an expert on ocean traffic, is to make an inspection tour of America for the purpose of securing transatlantic freight for carriage across the Atlantic to Europe.

As rivals to the bolero there is the Russian tunic which achieved success in the Northern last season and it is made wide at the hem, rather loose below the shoulders, and held in by a tight girdle at the edge of the hips.

Miss Gilda Varesi, who in drawing big houses with her "Enter Madame" promises to have a long run at the Royalty Theatre, is writing a new play dealing with the trials and tribulations of an unhappy Italian peasant family which emigrates to New York.

There is a growing vogue for the Russian peice in costumes in Paris, and the real Russian blouse, by the way, is a square-cut garment, such as the Russian Imperial wear over their own skirt, and is decorated with embroidery often cross-stitch and by bright-colored galloons and braids.

St. ats Win Second Stanley Cup Game 2-1

ST. PATS DOW VANCOUVER 2-1

Second Game of the Stanley Cup Series Was Thriller.

Toronto, March 22.—While rules in force in the Pacific Coast League did not, quite any particulars with local hockey fans, as far as viewing the style of play, left anything to be desired, by the spectators last night in Stanley Cup game, under the Patrick code the St. Pats defeated the Vancouver Millions in the second game of the two game total goals series, which went into an extra period without either team having scored. The score was 1 to 1. Dye breaking a one-to-one deadlock after nearly five minutes overtime play on a rifle-like shot. If Lehman had no chance to handle. Victory will necessitate at least three games of the series, and as details of their bowling last night, locals have increased the support they can think they will readily secure the cup.

The game was close and I fought in fellow as any that one saw the end of the first period the locals had little to say, as apparently of the out-of-town club. The Coast League operates under a rule in the second and third period, they be called for a better check, and there was never more than a foot difference between the scores of the two teams. Excitement was at a pitch, particularly after the local scored the equalizer shortly after the overtime commenced. Excitement increased as time passed and after Dye notched the vital goal it was at least five minutes the crowd to realize their feelings. Anything the moment. Whether it be the Western rules or not, these the cause of the game previous much excitement as any other that has been staged, and in the second this match alone, they rabbit with the local supporters.

FLYNN GOT NOTHING FOR JOHNSON FIGHT

Fort Worth, Tex., March 22.—Jim Flynn, of Pueblo, Colo., heavyweight pugilist, to-day received memories of the fight with Jack Johnson at Las Vegas, N.M., in 1912, which was stopped by police after nine sanguinary rounds of slaughter, the fact not generally known that the fight, despite a large patronage, did not net him a penny. He continued:

"When I met Johnson at Las Vegas I had all to gain and not a thing to lose. I was to get 25 per cent of all gate receipts over $20,000. Unfortunately, the best drew $22,000, and I never received a dime, while Johnson took every penny in the house."

JACK DEMPSEY WILLING TO MEET HARRY GREB

Chicago, March 22.—Jack Dempsey who fight Harry Greb if there is any demand for the match, he said here to-day, when he stopped off between trains on his way to Los Angeles.

"It is possible that I might get a match with Harry Greb," he said, "and if I do, and if there is all of demand for it, I surely will take it.

"There is just a chance that Greb might have an idea that he can beat me.

BOUT IS CANCELLED

St. Paul, Min., March 22.—The proposed ten-round bout between Billy Blake, of St. Paul, and Bartley Madden, New York, light-heavyweights, set for April 8 here, has been called off. A telegram from Phil Lewis, Madden's manager, said the latter refused to box Blake, adding that Madden had been barred by the New York Boxing Commission. Lewis requested that stops be taken to have Madden barred in Minnesota.

JOE BURMAN GETS DECISION OVER MIDGET SMITH

New York, March 22.—Joe Burman was awarded the judges' decision over Midget Smith at the end of their echo bout at Madison Square Garden last night.

A good-sized crowd was present at the Garden to witness the bout will be the last fight card there for several months.

Early in the evening Burman was a 5-to-2 favorite over Smith, and when they entered the ring the odds had been changed to 8 to 5. It was feared that the Midget had not fully recovered from his recent illness, and the Burman backers were willing to place large amounts on the little fighter.

Smith's weight was given by announcer Jim Hampton as 111 1-4, while the heft of Burman was announced as 113½. Burman began in the early rounds to jab forcefully at the body, with occasional surprising jars to the face and head.

They started to rough it quite a bit in the fifth session. Burman churned his left to the face, while Smith retaliated with a few hard hooks to the left portion of Burman's anatomy. Smith landed a corking right on Burman's chin.

By the time the tenth round was reached Burman was on top of Smith all the way, popping rights in the jaw and lefts to the body without much return.

The decision gives Burman the first chance to have a go at the bantamweight title now held by Johnny Buff. It is stated in sporting circles that Buff had previously agreed to fight the winner of the Burman-Smith match.

DEMPSEY DODGES GAY WHITE-WAY

Heavyweight Champion is Ready to Box at Week's Notice.

New York, March 21.—After eight months of silence, Jack Dempsey could handle Carpentier, Gibbons, Willis or any other "logical" opponent with only one week of training, writes Bob Edgren. The champion isn't going very far back, certainly, he isn't slipping enough to reduce his superiority as forced with the other hassles.

There were numerous sceptics in the East who believed Dempsey since his defeat in Carpentier had fallen a victim to temptations that always lurk around a ring title. It was necessary for Jack to appear personally in a New York theatre to convince those doubting Thomases he isn't bog fat from ease living. The champion carries only a few pounds of extra weight. He is nimble of foot, and outwardly at least, as fit as ever.

Dempsey is naturally a clean liver "Turn him out in the open and he's satisfied. If for no other reason the champion keeps himself in condition to avoid the drudgery and hard work that's necessary before an important bout. Both at Toledo and Atlantic City Jack, frowning and surly was the despair of his sparring mates. He was engaged in unpleasant work, and didn't try to conceal his feelings.

The champion really figures he can reduce his final training ordeals by always keeping in form. Many times out Los Angeles he has been across the champion doing road work and engaging in gymnasium exercises when there wasn't even a thought of making a match. The programme would be varied. One day a long tramp over the mountains with his favorite dogs or several rounds of golf around the Annandale links. The next day the more strenuous tactics of bag punching and rope jumping.

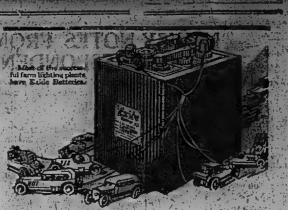

Back in the East, meanwhile, critics were sure Jack was misbehaving.

CARPET BALL

An enjoyable evening was spent last evening in carpet ball, after the regular meeting of Lodge Oxford No. 17, Sons of England, last night. TEAS STEADILY ADVANCING

Teas—Advances from primary markets continue to indicate a strong situation with upward tendencies. Locally there are no changes but as stocks are said large there is a strong possibility for some advances as importers state spot prices are still far below cost of replacement.

The above statement in the "Canadian Grocer" of March 10th is endorsed by importers, who understand the tea situation say that unless the price becomes easier on the primary markets very soon the consumer may expect to pay 10 or 12 cents more a pound for tea.

GIRL PRODIGY GIVES RECITAL

Belleville Music Lovers Delighted With Muriel Kerr, Wonder Child.

"Is Muriel Kerr, as some suggest, a reincarnation of some great pianist of long ago, or is she just a miracle of music?" This is a question asked by Augustus Bridle of the Canadian Courier; and the question which confronts every one who has had the pleasure of hearing the little fairy of the piano, more especially the musical critics.

Belleville lovers of that wonderful art, without which life would be very dreary, were given a golden opportunity of hearing a wonderful exponent of "the beautiful" at the City Hall last night, through the energies of Mr. Vincent F. Hunt who is to be congratulated on arranging such a recital. A large and appreciative audience listened with intense interest, as the eleven year old, wonder child, Muriel Kerr, presented her programme, having studied each work for but two and a half years, she plays the big compositions by such great masters as Bach, Beethoven, Schumann, Mendelssohn, Debussy, Liszt, Chopin, Hensell, Saint-Saens, and Godard to name but a few. Her technique, beauty of tyrle and tone and truly rare emotional power, it is a wonder indeed, that such eminent, present- day pianists as Percy Grainger, prophesy that Muriel Kerr will be one of the world's greatest pianists.

Little Miss Muriel is a Canadian born child and been born in Regina, Sask. in 1911.

Dr. A. S. Hattner, tenor, rendered a solo in fine voice between numbers, and was heartily encored. Miss Mary Yeomans, soprano, also rendered a difficult solo in excellent voice, and was also called upon to respond to a hearty encore. Mr. Vincent F. Hunt presided at the piano in both instances.

BAR DINNER

At the Hotel Quinte this evening the usual bar dinner in connection with the assize will be held. His Lordship Justice Logie will be the guest of honor, and give an address.

ASTORS GIVE A FOX HUNT FOR CHILDREN.

It was a new idea in English hunting circles that originated with Lady Violet Astor and took place at Hever Castle, the Astors' estate. Little Viscount Hinchingbrooke, heir to Lord Cromer, with his sister, Lady Violet Esring, are here seen getting the hounds together.

MAY GO TO THE BENCH

The appointment of a successor to the late Judge Longley, of the Nova Scotia supreme court, is being discussed and it is understood that the appointment will probably fall to Hon. D. D. McKenzie, solicitor-general, who has previously been mentioned for the first vacancy and who it is understood, would not be averse to accepting the position after the end of the present session.

CELEBRATE DOUBLE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Friends Honor Mr. and Mrs. Belnap on Their Birthday.

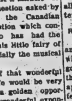

A double birthday party was given last evening at the home of Miss Violet Rosebush, 314 Pinnacle street, in honor of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Belnap of Rossmore. Quite a large number of friends and relatives were present and a most enjoyable evening was spent in games and music, all seeming to enjoy the evening to the utmost. At midnight refreshments were served, all doing ample justice to the good things provided for the occasion. After drinking to the health and happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Belnap the party broke up, all voting Miss Rosebush an ideal entertainer.

RE-APPOINT LIEUT.-GOV. GRANT

Ottawa, March 21.—The Lieutenant-Governorship of Ontario, which has been the subject of much gossip and rumor during recent months, has been filled for a further appointment for another five-year term of Hon. MacCallum Grant, the present incumbent.

COULD HARDLY STAND AT TIMES

Hips, Back and Legs Would Have That Tired Ache

Everett, Washington.—"For several years I have had trouble with the lower part of my back and my hips and my legs would ache with that tired ache. I would hardly stand on my feet at times. I was always able to do my work although I did not feel good. I saw Dodd's Kidney Pills and Vegetable Compound advertised and having heard several praise it I decided to try it. I feel first-rate at the present time. I had been troubled for one week in the house right along. I keep it in the house now and do always recommend it." Mrs. J. M. Brazzy, 4016 High St., Everett, Washington.

Dodd's Kidney Pills and Vegetable Compound are sold by druggists or by mail, or to pay for that matter, is next to impossible. It is difficult sole to excellent voice, and was also called upon to respond to a hearty encore. Mr. Vincent F. Hunt presided at the piano in both instances.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

By Ralph Connor

that he wished a veritable witness of the real troubles which were growing serious between Delaware and Cree. trouble counties.

It was a quiet to go on from Lone, as he had to do but both my aunt and uncle agreed that it was "for the best."

How, it very hard, indeed, for Curvis and I as into the street to say to see each other. We walked up the front wheel looking to the house and Curvis and I followed. Aunt Ines looked her hand, I remember that I felt a dollar out of my pocket. I said, "I've only dollar she had—and looked at it a moment and then handed it back to me.

"You better take it," she said. "Curtis told you won't have enough."

How her hand and the trembled! I have always kept that dollar.

I couldn't see them as we drove away.

The judge received me kindly and gave Curvis a job. In his garden. I was able to take his dictation in longhand and to write most of one letter, taking down contracts and correspondence and drafting them (all from dictation). Curvis had the knack of doing rather neatly. I was impressed by the immensity of certain forests, by the neighborhood, and there were some temptations in my way. Many farmers and especially the prominent men, indulged in ardent spirits.

We had not been there a little section of the old world which was trying in a half-hearted fashion, to maintain itself in the midst of a democracy. It was the memorial life of the patriarchs, a style of ancient feudalism which had its beginning in 1670, when the Hudson's Bay Company turned its charter of privileges and exemptions. That charter offered to any member of the company that was shrewd, within four years, bring fifty adults to the Bay Territories and establish there among the Hudson, a liberal grant of land, to be called a manor, of which the owner or patron should be full proprietor and chief magistrate. The manor was to be exempt from taxation for ten years, but under bond to take in the emigrants and develop it. In the beginning the patron built houses and barns and furnished cattle, seed and implements for themselves and their heirs agreed to pay him a fixed rent forever in stock and produce and, further, to grind at the owner's mill and market at the latter.

Judge Westbrook, in whose office I worked, was counsel and collector for the patroon, notably for the manor of Livingston and Van Rensselaer—a great estate in the heart of the great republic.

Mr. Dankpeer, came during my last year there to study law in the office of the judge, a privilege for which he was willing to pay. He was the son of Colonel Wright. I understood. He was a city Lothario, always dressed to the nines, and had little to do with him.

One day in May near the end of my four years in Cobleskill Judge Westbrook gave me two write to serve on settlers in the neighborhood of Fort Orville. Height for nonpayment of rent. He told me what I knew, that there was bitter feeling against the patroon in that vicinity and that I might encounter opposition to the service of the writs. If so I was not to press the matter, but return the papers and he would give them to the sheriff.

"I do not insist on your taking this job," he said, "but if you do, I shall be a man of tact to go and talk with these people and get their point of view. I think you are to undertake it I'll send another man."

"I'll go. I would enjoy the task," I said in ignorance of that hornet's nest back in the hills.

"Mr. Purvis with you," he said. "He can take care of the horses, and as that book-conveyancing of a Mohawk lawless it will be just as well or have any trouble with you. They tell me Mr. Purvis is a man of nerve and vigor."

I had drafted my letters for the day before and was about to close my desk to start on my journey when Louis Lee the tailor came in and announced that he had brought the writs from the judge and was going with me.

"I would like it for a thirteen dollars," he remarked. "By Jove! I think we will have a lively time."

"I don't object to your going but you must remember that I am in charge of the writs," I said, a little nettled as I had no good opinion either of his personality or his courage.

"The judge told me that I could go but that I should be under your direction," he answered, and I felt going to be a fool. For trying to establish myself on the good sense basis.

Of my own and discomfort and set about after one o'clock. I had read the needs of the men we were to meet. They were lowbrows and lived on adobe houses with beans and bacon. They owned three hundred and fifty acres of land. Their great-grandfather had received to pay a rental forever of thirty-two bushels of good, sweet, marketable wheat, winter wheat, eight capons and four sheep in good condition, stories that had been told to Sir Edmund the city of Albany on the first day of January of each year. So feeling that I was equal to a Roman holiday I quietly determined to serve the writs if possible.

DEADLOCK STILL EXISTS IN THREATENED COAL STRIKE

Last Minute Effort By Committee to Avoid Strike

Representatives of Both Sides Are Now Meeting in Eleventh Hour Attempt to Avoid Walk-out — U. S. Government Tells Miners That no Violence Would be Tolerated in Attempting to Block Coal Production.

PRES. HARDING MAY ISSUE MESSAGE

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

New York, March 23.—An eleventh hour effort to avert a nation-wide strike in the coal industry will be made today when the arbitration committee of anthracite miners and operators will meet behind closed doors today at the Union Club, one of New York's most exclusive institutions. The committee will be composed of four miners and four operators and with them will sit the two non-voting members.

New York, March 23.—The general strike of anthracite and bituminous coal workers, set for April 1, will be prosecuted with the fullest and most effective co-operation of the American Federation of Labor, it was announced here today after the visit of the union officials to the envoys of the United Mine Workers of the American Federation of Labor.

Washington, March 23.—A warning that the Federal Government would tolerate no act of violence to prevent coal production in the event of a national strike was issued today by Attorney-General Daugherty.

President Harding may issue a personal message to both miners and operators this week in averting the nation-wide coal strike, to be called April 1.

While the Government feels it is in a secure position to handle the strike if it occurs, the feeling prevails that the President, as a last resort, will use his personal influence to prevent the walkout. Administrative officials believe that no official act should be left unperformed if there is any possibility of the hardship it abridges.

For these reasons it is probable that the President will ask that both sides meet to submit their wage disputes to a coal commission, which the executive will appoint.

COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW OF AMBROSE SMALL CASE

Toronto Police Chief Issues Report on Famous Disappearance Mystery — Gives Facts to Newspapers on Account of Press Report Mistakes.

Toronto, March 23.—E. J. Dickson, Chief Constable of Toronto, yesterday handed out the following signed series of Ambrose J. Small:

"Owing to the many inaccuracies contained in articles in the press recently, I desire to place before the public some facts relative to the disappearance of Ambrose J. Small, well-known theatre owner of this city.

"Mr. Small was last seen at 5:40 p.m. on December 2nd, 1919, but was not until December 16th, just two weeks later, that his absence was reported to the police.

Sergeant of Detectives Austin H. Mitchell was assigned to duty on the case, and issued, describing the missing man, offering first a reward of $5,000, later increased to $7,000. These circulars were sent out over Canada and the United States.

"On December 19th John Doughty, clerk to Mr. Small, disappeared. This prompted a search of the premises and public notice that Doughty and Small will be found.

"Application was made to the courts and an order obtained to open the safety deposit vault used by Mr. Small. It was then learned that over $184,000 in bonds were missing. Suspicion at once rested on Doughty, and a reward of $15,000 was offered for information leading to his arrest. At the same time the reward for Small was increased to $50,000, dead or alive. Detectives from the staff are showing results in this district, there having been a number of conclusive arrests.

"Inspector Adams has been here since the beginning of the month for the purpose of organizing this district which is made up of the following counties: Lennox and Addington, Hastings, Northumberland, Peterboro, Victoria, Haliburton and Durham.

"At present there is not a sufficient number of officers to enforce the law in these counties. In the case of Victoria and Haliburton, one man only is in charge. Hastings and the northern part of Hastings county are rather rough counties in which it is very difficult for the average officer to move particularly in the winter, and yet it is alleged, they are the homes of many criminals and moonshiners.

"What we need," said Inspector Adams, "are good aggressive officers who will get out and using some initiative enforced the law.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE'S WORK

Important Duties Being Carried on By Miss Heeley Here.

SCHOOLS VISITED

All Public Organizations Are Interested in Public Health Program.

For the past three weeks, this city has had a Provincial Nurse in Public Health nurse, in the person of Miss M. R. Heeley, who came here from Bowmanville, has her office at 277 Church St. in the new Maternity Hospital, telephone 556. W. Her office hours have not been decided upon as yet but will be announced in due time.

The duties carried by such an official is a child welfare nurse for the community, visiting mothers and organizing same work in the city. The period of organization covers a period of three months, after which Miss Heeley is moved to another town. It is expected that the city will continue the work after she organizes. She has organized Harriet, Ottilia and Bowmanville. Although her last three weeks, it is evident to Miss Heeley that conditions are not ideal here, and in large proportion of the people do not know of the existing conditions. This work is that of a friend and helper and no undue criticism of how a home should be kept, shall be given. Baby clinics are to be established where the mothers may meet and have talks, demonstrations, and various matters of home nursing in cases of sickness. In connection either in the case of child or adult, Miss Heeley will be glad to pay visits and work in conjunction with the family physician.

When asked if she believed unemployment had an effect on the public health, Miss Heeley answered in the affirmative, stating that unemployment leads to poverty, and poverty to disease. The plans of he campaign have not yet been drawn up, but shall be in the very near future. Members of the schools have been visited by Miss Heeley in conjuction with Miss Sinclair, the school nurse. It was stated in the city are very eager to co-operate the churches and various women's organizations showing great interest. The Rotary Club, Lions' Club and Chamber of Commerce are also behind the work.

There are a few bad outstanding cases in this city, where the sanitary and hygenic conditions are bad and the building needs new sewer and water connections and unhealthy out houses.

This particular branch of work has been inaugurated by the Provincial Board of Health some two years ago, and now 16 such nurses are at work in Ontario.

BAR DINNER A HAPPY EVENT

Belleville the Only Place to Keep Up the Old Custom.

The members of the Hastings Bar Association entertained the Honorable Mr. Justice Logie and visiting members of the legal profession at a dinner at the Quinte last evening. There was a full turnout of the local members of the Bar and one of the most successful and happy gatherings of the many dinners that have taken place in the past. W. N. Ponton, president of the Bar Association, presided, and Mr. P. E. O'Flynn extended to Mr. Justice Logie a hearty welcome and happy speech the greetings of the local Bar. His Lordship in reply referred to these occasions at Belleville and stated that it was always to the good to restore the Bar and the Bench to have such meetings and stated that Belleville was the only place now that kept up the old custom and hoped that these events would always continue here and that the profession in Belleville set an example to all the other associations in bringing the Bench and the Bar together. Mr. Justice Logie and the members of the judiciary Belleville was always spoken of among his brothers as a hospitable city and in the occasion on which Mr. Justice Logie has presided over the court in Belleville and he has enjoyed the hospitality of all members of the Bar. Colonel S. S. Lazier, the Local Master of the Supreme Court, and the dean and veteran of the profession here, gave many interesting reminiscences of the changes that have taken place since his appointment to the position of Local Master. He referred to the old days when it was the custom of the Judge who came to conduct the court, to give an allowance from the government to enable him to entertain the Bar. His Honor Judge Wills gave an interesting address on the effect of such gatherings as that that of last night, and the continuance of the old custom to keep up the social spirit that exists between the judiciary and members of the profession in Belleville. Mr. J. D. Spence and Mr. Maunsell of the legal department of the C.P.R., were present, also Mr. Buskard, the official court reporter, and Mr. W. H. Nugent, registrar of the Bar. Many of the members retired to the armouries to witness the basketball game between the Rotarians and Lions.

PRAISE INSTITUTIONS

Pay Tribute to the Heads of Various Charity Establishments.

The Grand Jury finished their task on Wednesday afternoon and after a visit to various county buildings in and about the city, they made the following presentments:

To the Honorable Mr. Justice Logie:

Your Lordship,—We, the Grand Jury for the Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Goal Delivery of the County of Hastings, beg leave to report as follows:

We desire to thank your Lordship for your very able and explicit instructions in the law, in the reference to the consideration of the Criminal Case coming before us, and also as to your suggestions regarding the inspection of public institutions. We are indebted to acting Sheriff Nugent, the County Crow Attorney and all other County Officials for their kindness and assistance in the discharge of our duties.

We regret the illness of the Sheriff and the clerk of the court and trust they will soon be restored to health and strength.

We have visited the gaol, County House of Refuge, Children's Shelter, Hospital and Ontario School for the Deaf.

Small Jail Roster

We found in the county gaol, eight prisoners all male. The small number of inmates speaks well for the healthy condition of the district. The Hastings County and the City of Belleville. Everything pertaining to the gaol was found clean, and this institution was well conducted generally, reflecting great credit on Mr. Mortimore, the gaoler, Mrs. Kennedy matron, and Mr. Colling, the Turnkey.

At the County House of Refuge we found 80 inmates, 46 male and 33 female and one baby. These appeared to be well cared for and the place managed well under the supervision of Mr. Leigh, Superintendent and Mrs. Leigh, matron. The citizens of Hastings, and the committee in charge, deserve much credit for providing such an institution for their aged and infirm.

We next visited the Hospital and found this institution well conducted under the able management of Miss Tait and her staff. Everything was neat and clean and the building and the Woman's Christian Association generally deserve the thanks of the citizens of this district. The nurse in Dublin, March 23.—If the Irish Republican Army Convention is held on Sunday it will be "contrary to the orders of the General Headquarters Staff," declared Richard Mulcahy, Minister of Defense in the Dail Cabinet last night.

Roderick O'Connor, chief of the engineering staff of the Irish Republican Army, speaking at De Valera's headquarters today, said that forces of the Army are ready to defy Griffith's decree against holding a convention of the army in Dublin next Sunday.

In spite of anything we will hold the convention," said O'Connor. "It is our intention to select a new executive and to elect a new chief of staff. The Irish Republican Army refuse to recognize the Dail Eireann. Now that Griffith has thrown down the gauntlet there is no government in Ireland at the moment which we can recognize. It is a question now of De Valera's arguments that De Valera's followers, at the convention will elect a new government of the Republic, who will be backed by the army.

Most Inspiring and Educational Community Meeting Held Under the Auspices of the Chamber of Commerce — The Healthfulness of the City is Discussed and a Favorable Percentage is Scored—Arguments in Hands of Keen Debaters.

COMMUNITY SINGING FEATURES MEETING

How near Belleville comes to the ideal condition in regard to "Living Conditions" and "Healthfulness" were two subjects discussed at an open forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held in the City Hall on Wednesday evening. There was a very good audience present and the addresses given on the affirmative and negative side of the topics were listened to with rapt attention. According to the report of the judges who were Dr. Bell and Messrs. C. H. Reid and R. Robertson, the city in regard to living conditions scores 620 points out of a possible 1,000, and in regard to the 1,00 in regard to healthfulness at Mr. I. L. Moore, Principal of the Ontario Business College presided over the meeting with marked ability. Previous to the debates the Bridge Street Methodist Church choir rendered a number of fineful selections, whilst Mr. Harold Barrett led in community singing. A number of valuable charts were displayed and these were explicitly explained by Mr. J. O. Herity, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. They were relative to the topics discussed during the meeting. Living conditions was the first subject to speak, the affirmative being taken by Mrs. W. H. Wallace and the negative by Miss M. E. Healey, who came to the city as a representative of the Department of Public Health of Ontario. Mrs. Mikel's address was as follows:

Natural Situation

Belleville is built upon two hills with a well drained valley in between and a gradual slope south, following the Moira River valley to the Bay of Quinte. This magnificent natural location has not only contributed to scenic beauty but produces swampy, malarial and unhealthy conditions, so to start with nature has provided Belleville with the best situation possible for living conditions anywhere.

Housing Condition

Fortunately for Belleville, nature supplied abundance of ready material

ed hand for building purposes. The result is that only 73 per cent of the buildings in Belleville are of substantial material, such as brick, stone or cement. In a large percentage of the bad houses of the City will be found day-day stoves while three stout fire-places which have stood the authority hand to time for half a century and longer. So conspicuous has Belleville been in the matter of substantial housing that it is an historical fact that the first brick house built in Upper Canada was built in Belleville on the brow of the hill west of Mount Pleasant road, opposite the residence of C. D. Ponton, K.C. Another evidence of the substantial character of the buildings erected in Belleville is many 50 mentioned that the first house erected here, over a century ago and long before Belleville got its name, is still standing at the corner of Front and Dundas streets, and so substantial is its character that after over half a century of use, and service it is still sturdy enough for constant daily use as a boarding house. It was as a result of a visit of Lady Bella Gore, wife of the Governor of Upper Canada to that house, that Belleville got its name, Lady this building is now a private residence.

Fully half of the houses were erected previous to half a century ago. Many of these are well built most of necessity insure good health to occupants. Good social and moral conditions cannot be expected to exist in poor surroundings. It is to the credit of the people that the streets where severs have not been constructed in Belleville, but that is true of all municipalities.

Fifty 50 per cent. of the people in Belleville live in houses owned by some member of the family, and most of those belong to those engaged in manual labor. Pride in possession breeds pride in appearance in surroundings, with the result that there is self-respect and self-reliance.

Rents

The rents are not excessive in Belleville and our landlords are no profiteers when one takes into consideration the rate of taxation.

In Toronto the average household getting relief from the City pays as the average from $30 to $30 per month for rent. In Belleville among the 140 typical families who have been receiving help this winter, the rents range from $3 to $15 per month, most of them at $6, $7, $10 and $15. There are only three instances where over $18 is paid two at $18 and one at $0.

Belleville has about 40 landlords, none of them large except the Grand Trunk Railway and the Cement Works. Most of our industries produce necessaries rather than luxuries, so that they are more likely to be in continuous operation. If such industries are closed down for a time there is less distress felt in the community than where large industries are shut down.

From the fact that we have little or no complaint about wages in the City and no strikes, we may draw the conclusion that the wages in Belleville have borne a fair relation to the cost of living.

Community Price—Market

People who live in cities where rents are two and three times what they are in Belleville and where they have to pay street car transportation of 50 to $20 a year in addition to their other expenditures, are at a great disadvantage when compared with people living in Belleville.

It is a notorious fact that Belleville market, is one of the best markets in the Province and certainly better than any other place of its size. Belleville Cheese Board has a market that has a reputation not only throughout Canada but in England.

As to raw materials, the basic raw material is food. Belleville is situated in the centre of one of the greatest food producing sections of the Province, where there is produced enormous quantities of cheese, food animals, eggs, fruit, vegetables, sufficient not only for the needs of this section but enough to supply a huge export trade. Cheese which is now also regarded as a basic raw material is produced here in such abundance and quality that it has made Belleville famous. Within a comparatively short distance from Belleville and in easy access by railway is to be found enormous deposits of the hardest iron in the world, the largest deposits of arsenic with gold and other minerals as by-products; also talc, mica, felspar, and marble equal to the finest Italian marble, limestone for building, corundum and graphite are within easy distance to Belleville. We have also large quantities of power available in the Trent River

Country Environment

Under the heading of country environments not only have we our source of food and supplies of all kinds but also beautiful scenic attractions, and the presence of the far famed Bay of Quinte gives abundance of opportunities for healthful pleasure-swimming, rowing, canoeing, sailing, ice-boating, skating and snow shoe tramping on the snow covered frozen water of the Bay. Camping on the beautiful shores affords joy and pleasure to those who can afford enough to the residents of a place so beautifully situated as Belleville. This reads leading like Belleville are the equal of these of most seaboard and better than many.

Public Institutions

Belleville's various public institutions are a credit to the city especially its schools and colleges. These public buildings represent a value of over two million dollars. Students are in attendance at four colleges from all parts of Canada and other countries.

The hospital and home for the aged which together represent a value of over a quarter of a million dollars, have been acquired for the benefit of Belleville at a cost to the Belleville taxpayer of not more than $3,000. The Children's Shelter and Cooley Public Library have been acquired without any burden to the taxpayers. The Corby Park is one of the most stirred and most beautiful in the county are when the two water parks, Queen Victoria and Victoria Park are completed and the Mill Street Park is finished. Belleville will have a system of parks, of which every citizen may well be proud. The playgrounds in the city are second to none.

Welfare Work

The Women's Christian Association of Belleville has no counterpart in any other city and there is known to us no like organization. It has the support of over 30 women of all denominations who elect annually a Board of Directors to carry on the work of the institution. It is incorporated by a special Act of Legislature. Its objects are: The maintenance of a general hospital and of a home for the aged, as the temporal, moral, mental and spiritual welfare of women. There are aged persons. If this work was performed by the City directly it, would involve a large increase in taxation for the taxpayer in salaries and other expenditures.

With the idea of avoiding charity as much as possible, a system of making loans to persons in need and taking their promissory notes has been adopted instead of making gifts.

This branch of the Association's work undoubtedly saves the City a great deal of money every year. Before 1890 this work was handled by the City Council and there were frequent accusations of graft. It was alleged that members of the Council gave orders for supplies to persons who did not need them and on stores carried on by friends, to make themselves solid for re-election. Whether these accusations were correct or not, statistics show that immediately after the Association took over the administration of the poor and indigent funds, the cost to the city dropped 100 per cent.

After the carefully considered discussion last season upon eight top Council and there were frequent accusations of graft. It was alleged that members of the Council gave orders for supplies to persons who did not need them and on stores carried on by friends, to make themselves solid for re-election. Whether these accusations were correct or not, statistics show that immediately after the Association took over the administration of the poor and indigent funds, the cost to the city dropped 100 per cent.

After the carefully considered discussion last season upon eight top ward by the Chamber of Commerce, the judges awarded the following percentages:

The people—86.5.
Attractiveness—80.5.
Industries—80.
Progressiveness—80.5.
Educational facilities—71.
Business—71.
Employment—73.5.
Accessibility—70.5.

Which demonstrate beyond a doubt that the living conditions in Belleville while not ideally perfect, are so nearly perfect as can be found in the Dominion of Canada and should rank 90 per cent.

There is an old saying that all is faulty when fault doth spy as all is yellow to the jaundiced eye, and while to those with a squint in their eye or a crouch in their mind things look on the downward slant, nevertheless the favorable view of Belleville's living conditions will show that they are entitled to rank very high.

The Negative

Miss M. R. Heeley of the Department of Public Health of Ontario spoke negatively upon the subject. In Belleville an ideal city in regard to living conditions. Our heredity we cannot change but our environments we can change and improve. Within a short distance from the city boiling are a number of so called shacks where some 81 persons, including children live. The lighting is poor, oil and lamps and there is no sewage connection. The mothers have no idea of better environments. In many places of the city the housing conditions are by no means attractive and the causes of poor health are to be found. There are some going out of the city owing to high rents in the city. The earnings of the provider are such that they do not provide. Many also have to leave the city owing to unemployment. Price for food, family goods are by no means as cheap in Belleville as they are in other cities. Miss Heeley referred to the putting up of meat on the market on the open, exposed to dust, etc. This is not what it should be.

In the city there are a number of fine educational institutions no doubt. Schools are good and should be a community centre with supervised play grounds about each school.

Hospital Clinic Needed

Belleville has a hospital and does the work for which it was built. There should be clinics established in the hospital and a nominal fee charged, so that the ordinary working man and his family may have medical treatment at a minimum fee. In Belleville there is a tendency to make a social welfare but a community purpose is a necessity to impart knowledge in regard to child welfare, especially those of tender age. The death rate of children under one year is near the 100 mark, yearly. This rate can be kept down as it has been done in places where community nurses are engaged. The great value of community nurses was explained by the speaker. Belleville should be a great city and one thing to do is to attend to the health of the children. Recreation and healthy amusement for children should be provided, rather than have children play upon the streets or attending movies. Membership in Y.M.C.A. should be encouraged. Every child all the fresh air possible also lots of sunshine.

Healthfulness

Dr. Tovee presented the affirmative side of the subject, of healthfulness of be City of Belleville and in his opening remarks stated that we are the residents of British citizens. Many years ago in Anglo-Saxon civilization there were conditions in communities which do not by any means obtain to-day.

We live in a temperate zone and Belleville is fortunate in this respect, and is also fortunate in that it is a healthful city to live in. Water supply of the city was referred to by the doctor. Clear, sparkling water may carry more germs than other waters typhoid. The chlorination of the water supply kills germs. Our supply of water may be much worse than it is. Last year only in the Belleville district from typhoid fever. The food supply of the city was good." We have in the city residences by women. There are other things to be considered rather than a disposal of garbage system. The garbage is well collected in the city. The death rate of the city is by no means high. Belleville is fortunate in having a good hospital, and what is required is a more up-to-date isolation hospital. Belleville has few epidemics and scarcity is a home to live in, and we have no cause for alarm in regard to the citizens' health as a whole."

The Negative

Dr. Branscombe said that Belleville like there were neither hills or dales, and some moles. The water supply of be city is taken from a bay which is a cesspool for the dumping of certain amount of sewage. It is true that the water is chlorinated but about 60 pounds of chlorine is supposed to purify 30 million pounds of water. The milk supply of the city was spoken to by the speaker, and he asked what is done to ascertain what examination the milk is subjected to. What inspection is made of the places where the supply of milk is derived from. Dr. Branscombe referred to the disposal of sewage and the necessity there was for its proper disposal. The City of Belleville's death rate need not be as large as it is. If our Government would spend one third of the money it squanders it would get rid of tuberculosis not only in Belleville, but in the country.

We have a hospital here but it is camouflaged to a certain extent, and is without and up-to-date sewage system and the instruments necessary for performing operations were not by any means of the best. The final conditions of the city were referred to by the Doctor and the necessity there was for making some improvement therein. We should spend some money to educate the children to make Belleville what it should be. Let us also do something for the city and make it an ideal city. Responsibility in this regard rests upon the shoulders of all citizens.

At the conclusion of the debates, the judges retired and presented their report as to points scored. The second column of figures show the points given to each subject by the committee:

FISKE O'HARA AT GRIFFIN'S TONIGHT

Fiske O'Hara and his happy smile will be with us at Griffin's tonight in the latest story of romance, love and melody, "The Happy Cavalier," under the direction of Augustus Pitou, Inc. This popular actor-singer is securely entrenched in public favor and holds undisputed sway in his line of artistic endeavor.

Following the usual Pitou policy, the story of "The Happy Cavalier" is well cleansed in advance. To do so would detract from the pleasure and anticipation of the audience. However, according to all reports, "The Happy Cavalier" is unusual in more ways than one. It is in four acts and from the pen of Anna Nichols who has the rare gift of character drawing and the handling of dialogue, and her talents have been used to the full in the lines of this delightful story, blending the tender with the heroic.

Mr. O'Hara's legion of friends and admirers will be glad to know that in the role of Barry O'Brien he has one that is to be rich in opportunity and brings to it an enthusiasm that adds greatly to the entertaining quality of the performance. He will be in love with Norah Breen, a bewitching and self-willed beauty and his bold adventure and romantic courtship are unpathetically told.

The play's always dependable supporting company will lend effective aid in the telling of the story. In the cast are such distinguished artists as Harry Gilfoil, Ralph Locke, Fred M. Conklin, Walter Anstenart, Anne Brunsgh, Miss Louise Mabley, Lucretia Allen and Irene Jones.

"THE WOMAN GOD CHANGED" AT GRIFFIN'S TO-MORROW

Breathing the magic of the great outdoors with their sure sweeps of primitive woodland, dotted by giant trees and limpid dream lakes, "The Woman God Changed," a Paramount picture, acclaimed as one of the most worth while pictures of the year, will be the feature attraction at Griffin's tomorrow night and Saturday, matinee and night. E. Lincoln, remembered for his exceptional characterizations in many pictures of the past year, supported by a picked cast of players headed by Seena Owen, who has been declared by critics to have the most beautiful eyes in filmdom.

Larry Semon in a two-reel comedy, "The Fall Guy," the latest chapter of "Winners of the West," and Pathe News, will be exhibited in addition to the feature offering.

Chairman of the evening for his efficient services, the Bridge Street Symphonic Melodists and their splendid music, the Debaters for their able presentation of the subjects, the Judges for their impartial decision, the Recommendation Committee on "Progressiveness" and "Accessibility" for their unanimous report, Harold Barrett for his inspiring leadership of song.

The resolution was adopted and the meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Mrs. Guy Wilson and Miss Betty, who have been visiting Mrs. Wilson's mother at Picton, for the past week, returned to the city last evening.

Acid Stomach Causes Indigestion

Creates Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and none do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Railway News in Brief

Montreal.—Twelve Canadians were elected to the board of directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company at the annual meeting held in Montreal today. Only one new face appeared in the list, that of Beauchamp Harmsworth, of London, England, who succeeds Lord Shaughnessy, who retired. The other directors are: Lord Atholstan, Sir Edward Beatty, K.B.E., Sir Herbert Holt, Sir Augustus Nanton, Sir Charles Gordon, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Bart., Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, Sir Joseph Flavelle, Bart., and Sir Edward Wentworth Beatty, K.B.E. All the above, except Mr. Harmsworth, were re-elected. At a meeting of the directors following the annual meeting, Sir Edward Beatty was re-elected president for the eighth year. The directors also re-elected unanimously for three years, in the wide area Portland, Maine, to Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore., a picture "Love and the Law," by Mrs. Oscar Cresswell, in which Miss Keefe is the star. The drama is very popular, sometimes conveys the idea people in a high, and very strong scene wording drives in two words out the phrase "Damn it." All the dogs looked beautiful Manchester, Conn., Herald. One of the best looking of them Mr. Shreve said, "That one could pull a car over the level snow." One of the animals was used by Pearl Mc Gee dash to the Pole.

Cleveland.—The respective rights of passengers and motormen in the struggle figured conspicuously in a case tried in the Municipal Court of Cleveland in which the New York Central Railroad was awarded judgment in the sum of $1,000 for damage done to a locomotive in a collision with a street car truck.

The evidence showed that on November 12, 1921, Harold L. Wilson, driving a coal motor truck on a grade crossing at Wickliffe, Ohio, with the load that it was hit by a fast passenger train, delay considerable damage to the locomotive. The crossing were the accident occurred is 24 feet wide, slightly cross filled, and was in good condition. Regular crossing signs were located on each side of the tracks.

The railroad company brought suit for damage to its locomotive, alleging that the accident was due solely to the negligence of the motorman and the court awarded judgment in favor of the road for the full amount of its claim.

The court's decision in this case makes clear that the rights of passengers on trains is protected at grade crossings are paramount to those of persons riding in motor vehicles.

Montreal.—Sunday, May 21st, has been fixed by the Canadian Pacific for the re-opening of the service of the trans-Canada Limited, the transcontinental flier which travels daily during the summer months between Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver, in addition to the all-year service, also known as the Imperial. Last year's running time of the trans-Canada Limited was 96 hours from Montreal to Vancouver, and 83 hours from Montreal to Victoria, being the shortest time scheduled for any transcontinental train service on that continent. The equipment provided in the running of this train totals approximately six million dollars, as the daily run includes the operation of fifty-nine sleeping cars, fifteen dining cars, twelve observation cars, five compartment cars, twelve baggage cars, and twenty-four locomotives. The total weight of the train, exclusive of passengers, train crews and baggage is 760 tons. The Montreal-Toronto section of the train will be operated in connection with the Soo Line on Sunday, June 24th.

Prescott.—There were over seventy-five representatives of the Freight, Passenger, Telegraph and Operating Departments of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the Dominion Express, present at a meeting of Quebec District Canadian Pacific Association held in Prescott. F. F. Lawson, of the Freight Department presided. Amongst the subjects considered were prevention of losses of freight, the care necessary when switching freight trains, and precautions that should be taken in marshalling freight trains. A. A. Cunningham, and T. Collins, spoke on efficiency of service. T. A. Martin spoke on securing the cooperation of shippers and the public. J. H. McMullen, district inspector of the Bureau of Explosives gave a talk on the safe transportion of explosives and other dangerous articles. Mr. George Jeffries, of the Department of the Auditor of Claims, Montreal, also spoke.

The meeting was a great success. Amongst those present were Mr. W. H. Uren, Asst. General Superintendent, Quebec Division, Mayor Deville, of Prescott, Commissioner McPherson and President White, of the local Board of Trade.

SOVIET APPEALS FOR TEN MILLIONS

Russian Red Cross Ask Government for Tidy Little Sum.

Ottawa, March 22.—There have been in Ottawa for the past few days, Capt. Paxton Hibben, of New York, and John Queen, of Winnipeg, representing the Soviet Russia Red Cross, who requested that the federal government make a ten million dollar grant toward relief similar to that granted by the United States congress. The deputation urged that the dominion take up its relief work direct instead of dealing through the British relief organizations in England.

A story entirely from the financial consideration the proposal was regarded here as utterly impracticable; it would be months too late in its operation. The three organizations of Great Britain have been operating in Russia, it has run foul of Herbert Hoover in the United States and Canada is timid about working in co-operation with th..

WANTS INVESTIGATION OF MERCHANTS BANK

Ottawa, March 22.—During the debate in the House of Commons last night Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Meighen Government, brought up the Merchants Bank merger.

The Merchants Bank management declared Mr. Stevens, must have made false returns to the Finance Department for several months, before the crash came. Otherwise, he did not see why the minister could not investigate checked up before it reached such a serious stage.

Mr. Stevens urged that the Committee on Banking and Commerce should call before it the President and other officials of the Merchants Bank and examine them, and Parliament should be given full information as to the steps which led up to the crash of the bank. The committee could well make this investigation, in view of its need of amending the Bank Act next session.

BRITISH BRANCH INDUSTRIES.

The Department of Trade and Commerce has issued a publication entitled "Canada as a Field for British Branch Industries," which will repay perusal by all interested parties. It is pointed out that the Dominion possesses immense possibilities for industrial development. It is well served by a network of railways, and for export trade excellent steamship facilities provide connections with all the principal countries of the world. In addition, Canada has a Commercial Intelligence Service with some twenty-two Trade Commissioner offices established at important centres. Statistics are then given to show that the Dominion has developed her manufacturing industries to a remarkable degree during the past two decades. Not only is the home market being supplied with made-in-Canada goods to a constantly increasing extent, but there is the expectation, for the hope that Canada's export trade is on the threshold of important development.

In this connection account may be taken of the British export credit scheme, the scope of which, originally confined to Europe, has been extended so as to apply to any country, in the world.

GOING BACKWARDS?

Thoughtful people must be struck—and saddened—by the current news dealing with crime. For a time the compelling fact was mere increase in the number of criminal acts. Later facts are tending to show that the character of the deeds of violence is changing in a manner that cannot but startle the deepest thinker. In recent crime news there is evidence of a degradation which must astound. Crime is something more than a violation of the legal code when it descends into such depths. We may have long prided ourselves upon the fancied difference between the people of our country and those of older nations. There has been something to think about that is worth while. The criminal brutality demonstrated by proofs of degeneracy hitherto foreign to our records cannot be blinked at, whether we have touched the right causes may be matter of doubt. But there is not the least question that we are swinging away from our old mental landmarks. But in making a brief analysis of the difference between the new and the old-fashioned criminology the discriminating observer sees much more than a mere difference in the degrading character of the acts of the criminal minded. He sees a startling change in mentality everywhere. If among the changes he notes a cold-blooded indifference to old standards of the value of human life, he may not that down as merely incidental. For he has only to plot his observations to see that mental operations are different among all men and women—and even children.

The average mind is no longer what it was when the generation just passing off the stage held as its breath the sacredness of civic life. The old code has gone. If we are startled now by the difference we may look for other changes that may develop into permancies, the reverse of what was once a rule of conduct. But at the moment the amazing thing which commands attention is the degeneracy apparent in the acts of crime. With that perched upon the topmost point, mere crime increase becomes secondary.

THE KHAN, IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

CAPTAIN OF HIS SOUL

The enemies of public ownership are the rich, and who are to rich. The few.

The friends of public ownership are the poor. And who are the poor? The many.

The story of civilization is marked by stages, the struggles of the many with the few. One would think the struggle would be unequal. But the few were ever outnumbered, but had the money, they had the key to the granary, and the powder room, they owned the universities, and controlled the schools, and they bossed the church.

The mortgage and lien company is private ownership personified. But it is armed, the mortgage and lien company owns sledging getward its objective. It is simply a beneficient organization meant to help the struggling many to get homes of their own.

How often have you been told that it is cheaper and wiser to own your own home than to pay rent? Following this sage advice you acquire a vacant lot and proceed to erect a house on it. Your money is obtained from that kindly and benevolent institution, the mortgage and lien company, and once you find out that you are not half so well off as the fat cats of the feudal ages or the medieval days of landlord times, those dear dead days beyond recall. There be hundreds of thousands of people in this province to-day who would be a blame sight better off if they did not "own" their properties. As a matter of fact these properties and the people on them are owned by a class which has taken the place of the landlord and the feudal chief. These two represented private ownership at its best. The mortgage and lien company represents private ownership at its worst. If public ownership can acquire the railroads, what's to prevent it acquiring the homes of the people who work those railroads?

The average laboring man, whether he labors on the land or in a shop, spends his whole time chasing the devil round a stump. You claim that the devil is chasing him around a stump. Have it your own way. It amounts to the same thing anyhow. You will admit that he is a devil. Civilization is simply a mighty host of people trying to catch the very devil or be very active trying to catch them. The majority of people die of exhaustion. There be more people killed by exhaustive than by war and intemperance, the flu and ptomyes combined.

A great host of people are in danger of losing their homes. Is there no way of saving these folks? It is a pity that their heroic efforts to get homes for themselves, their patience, sacrifice, toil, should go for nought, and that they should have to step down into the ranks of the poor who are getting poorer, and surrender the fruits of their toil to the rich who are growing richer.

If public ownership can step in and take a railroad out of the hands of the sharpers, why can't it take care of the voils in the little homes away off Main Street? Public ownership could—and it is the only thing that could—put Mike Sir Adam Beck. Vested rights in the rich few, or put in shadow. The rich few have no vested right to the poor. Vested rights claim that the poor are necessary, they are needed in their business. If prohibition did nothing else it proved that vested rights can be confiscated. If local option could confiscate one set of vested rights it can confiscate all of them.

I have no fear for the outcome of a great struggle which looms up ahead. The poor are with Sir Adam and every one of them has a vote. Hardly anything without a soul has landlords. The landlord is a great Christian institution compared with the mortgage and lien company. The average landlord has a soul to save. The other fellow has none. He has no interest but one. The money-lender is a pretty decent fellow till he forms a combine. A corporation has no soul. Anything without a soul has all of good advantage over the rest of us.

Public ownership is the greatest religious movement of all the ages. Public ownership will not begin by saving people's souls. It will furnish them with souls to save!

The Khan.

Lord Northcliffe is Escorted Through Streets by Armored Cars.

Jerusalem, March 23.—Lord Northcliffe, British newspaper publisher, expressed surprise on his visit here that it was deemed necessary to meet him and escort him through the streets with armored cars. He said it was a source of wonder to him, how little the people in England and America knew about the conditions existing in the Holy Land.

Voicing regret that he found Palestine so unhappy, he asserted that the British public was imperfectly informed regarding the feeling in Palestine," and he added that he hoped Palestinians would not move too quickly and make Palestine "another Ireland."

Lord Northcliffe was given an opportunity to hear two sides of the Zionist question. A delegation of Orthodox Jews which waited on him protested against Zionism. Later a deputation of Zionists called and requested an expression from him on the Balfour declaration of Great Britain's intention to make this a Jewish homeland. His letter delegation, the British publisher said:

"No one wishes the Jews to return to the Holy Land more than I do, but I have the greatest regret of the need of armored cars. You exaggerate the opposition. The great majority of all in England is Zion. Etcetera does not agree as yet on the interpretation of the Balfour declaration, but I hope together for the good of Palestine.

He resumed the Zionists that Orthodox Jewry did not consist in the political views of Zionism, as indicated by the delegation from that faction, which had previously called upon him.

Concluding, Lord Northcliffe expressed the hope that Arabs and Jews would be more reasonable in their demands upon England and work together for the good of Palestine.

THE DECORATIVE VALUE OF UNBLEACHED MUSLIN

Having interesting interviews with many of my husband's friends I am rapidly getting a correct knowledge of the way in which I must economize in the household expenditure. Bert, being a perfect cretonne in the matter of dress, that is really good stuff—it looks like and feels as well and wears after the first washing—costs somewhere from 50 cents a yard to the most expensive, afford to pay more than 25 cents a yard. It likes anything it could get for that price that would wash. Of course only cretonnes!

My answer to this latter is, "Yes, unbleached calico muslin for the overdrapes and one thing I have found out, after the bottom of each long side-stitch on his shoes, 'ends up' tall—other ways about the house, in the future!

Tinker Bob's Stories

By Carlysle H. Holdomb

MR. PANGO HAS A SLIPPERY TONGUE

That silly monkey was so curious about everything that many times he found himself in trouble. I want to tell you that he came very near getting Mr. Jungle Cat, Mr. Jungle Bear, Tic-thought that it would be fine sport to get into the vine nest swing, and he too liked grapes. That is the thing he did and he did not know that Mr. Bear could climb about in the vines almost as well as he could walk on the ground, and before Silky knew it he was cuffed by a new, that had sharp claws on it and found himself rolling on the earth.

As Silky was hurrying out of the thicket he came upon an object that at first startled him. Then it surprised him because it did not move. He decided that it must be a monument to the jungles that he had never seen before. The first thing he did was to call the King of the Forest.

When Tinker Bob heard Silky call he thought he must be in distress, though that silly monkey could get into mischief before he got out of this forest, and he may be hurt." Tinker hurried to the place where Silky was stationed looking at the ground in front of him. The object that he saw had not moved since he came to the house of Mr. Jungle Ant. The workers of the Ant tribe were carrying the burger, that climbed on it by the hundreds. It seemed that there must be something on the tongue that Pango used to eat. Then when no more Ants could get on the creature drew his tongue into his mouth quickly and it disappeared every bit.

"Well, what do you think of that?" cried Tinker. "I never saw such a thing before. I wonder what this fellow's name is?"

His tongue was reaching on the house of Mr. Jungle Ant.

"My name is Pango, the Scaly Ant-Eater."

Then Bob noticed when Pango opened his mouth that there was not a tooth in his head. "Well, tell me how you eat when you have no teeth."

"Oh, I don't, need any teeth. I swallow Ants without chewing them," was the answer.

"Well, don't you need teeth to protect yourself?"

"No, I don't need anything but my scales. You see they are fastened to my skin, and when I am in trouble I roll up in a ball and turn the sharp points of the scales out, then no one will harm me."

Tinker Bob left Mr. Pango with his tongue thrust out to catch more Ants.

Tomorrow—The Jungle King's Feast.

Princess Mary's Love Stone

Emeralds will be set in the most fashionable engagement rings of the future, for Princess Mary has set the emerald engagement ring.

The emerald of average quality is much more valuable than the ruby or most other precious stones.

The finest emeralds are worth $3,000 a carat, while a good deep green gem of medium quality from 1½ to 2½ carats, $250 to $400 a carat, is a minimum price for the output of the finest mines.

The emerald is given a place of honor in history and legend. Its beautiful green was much prized among the ancients for the sake of its beauty but also on account of its rarity. It was a favorite jewel with the Roman emperors, and, later, with Moh. dignitaries of the Orient. It is named in one of the Book of Exodus as one of the twelve jewels in the breastplate of the high priest of Judgment, ranking in the second row with the sapphire and the topaz.

The best known scriptural reference are in Revelation, where the rainbow around the throne is compared in its green coloring to the emerald; while the same jewel forms one of the twelve foundations of the city of jerusalem.

In Tasso's poem, "Columbus," the discoverer used the passage in Revelation to describe that fabulous bird he first saw in the West Indies.

In contrast, we may mention the fact that Caligula, the Roman, while Nero, whom the latest commentators regard as the greatest of the Caligulas, gazed at the agonies of his victims in the arena.

A more pleasant legend say he was presented by Charlemagne, the Iadn on Pope Leo Arthur. He describes how in his early years at monastery of Corbie monastery was transformed by its founder into a heavenly place with open doors. "Behold," said he, in showing to the ladies of Alexandria, "the treasure which was reserved for women, behold my jewels." Then he showed them the Scot below, where the rags were sorted, "the emeralds of God."

The most celebrated medieval emerald was the "emerald cup" of Genoa, known as the Sacro Catino. It was presented early in the twelfth century to the cathedral by the crusader Embriaco, having been brought by him from the East as booty.

The relic, a huge single stone, was for a long time believed to be the cup used by Christ at the Last Supper. It was believed also to have been given as a present by Solomon to the Queen of Sheba.

Napoleon carried it with him to Paris during Napoleon's wars, and had it broken up to make a set of ancient piece of Venetian glass. It is still shown, much to the disgust of the Italians, as the relic placed in it was restored by the French.

We remember the emerald in the British Weekly, that mysterious poem in the form of a letter from the Mistress of Vialon," which tells of a gift of a jeweled casket with emerald:

So sang she, so wept she
Through a dream night's day,
And gave me, and sighed kept she Me.

Mystical in music—
That garden of enchanting
In visionary light—
Where my spirit's haunting.

In the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries the emerald is mentioned frequently in the inventories of Crown Jewels. Mary, Queen of Scots, possessed at one time many pieces of this regal gem.

Wall-paper at Abbotsford.

The new hobby of collecting wall-paper has been further encouraged by Sir Walter Scott, who narrates, in delightful style, of his letters to a friend, which came to him when he was ordering the house. He was in a quandary as to an appropriate wall decoration for the "withdrawing room," which, with the library, was to be his most distinguished chamber in the mansion. Tapestry ran to too great a price, and as for ordinary designed wall-papers, they were lacking in distinction. But a friend who had just returned to Java in the East, and had brought home a collection of Oriental objects, found among them a number of rolls of gilt Chinese paper, adorned with dragons and other reptiles of the imagination. His offered the rolls to Sir Walter, who saw in the design the very thing that suited. The paper stands to-day almost in the state when it was put up in the "Wizard's" baronial hall.

Lord Mayor's Royal Guests.

Since 1460 every British sovereign has been the guest of the Lord Mayor of London, with the exception of James II., owing to his holding the City Charter, upon a writ of quo warranto at his accession; George IV. who was so unpopular in the city that he was never invited; and William IV., who was afraid to face the mob whose wrath was aflame over the Reform Bill.

A Yellow Sky.

A yellow sky is caused because the air is moist. Moist air is more transparent than dry, and it allows the yellow rays to pass. A blue sky is brought about by the weak blue rays being thrown upward, which cannot get through and are sent back.

WILL LAUNCH PLANES FROM BIG DIRIGIBLE

New Craft is Now Being Experimented on in Europe

Washington, March 23.—Experiments are now being made in Europe with the launching of heavier than air machines from large dirigible airships, according to Secretary Weeks, who has just returned from a visit to Europe, where he made a personal inspection of the new craft. Brigadier-General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the air service, who has had charge of the work for a three months' investigation of aviation in Europe, said that the experiments with small model planes, a big advantage for an army to send near the battle field airplanes without the pilots. The plane could be carried a long distance into the enemy territory at night, and when released would fall down sufficiently fast to return to their own lines.

The release of bombs from airplanes of big dirigibles and other lighter than-air craft will soon be tested by congress if the views of army aviation experts are backed up by the war department, it was learned.

"I Am So Tired, Dearie"

IN the recent Advertising Contest the question was asked, "What is the best Dr. Chase's Nerve Food most frequently used?"

And the answer in the great majority of cases was: "I have found on investigation, my friends that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is most used by women who have their own housework to do and small children to look after."

"When tired and wornout by the continuous monotony of household duties and the care of small children the nerves in time play out and then it is that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food proves the good friend in time of need."

Mrs. J. Gerrgan, 213 Park street, Brockville, Ont., writes: "After the three of my babies I was completely run down and gradually lost weight. I was unable to do my work and my memory became so bad I could not sleep. My nerves would twitch and jump and I would get up in the morning with tired, aching limbs and aching heads. My head was so weak that I would palpitate at times, and I became greatly discouraged. Following personal advice from friends, I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and took altogether 16 boxes. GRANITES DEFEAT REGINA AND RETAIN CUP

ROTARY TEAM ARE VICTORS

Pile Up 102 Points in Last Night's Trophy Game

Jay Sweigert issued a release Charlie Keeber was ever guilty of being a Hop Loser" in the Rotarian staff Bailey series of bowling, but we do know that he and his co-workers are Lloss'eners when official indoor baseball guide is pulled out at the Arcade Alleys on Wednesday evening.

You see Charlie is Captain of the Rotarian indoor baseball team which clashed with the Lions' team last night and piled up the top-sided score of 102 to 87, thereby claiming for the honor of having put a Manitoba block, knock in the Lions' tail.

Keeber has always had high durning the whole 9 innings, and the perfect final score of the 6 other players put him in the lead. A fine example for a number of youths in their teens. The rooting was very appropriate to the game and it grew to such proportions that there were no dull wonders in the wonder show. The odd "bone" play was pulled also to keep play strictly in the amateur class, such as peggoing to second with a base-runner half way down the third base line, and tagging to first on a hit without cancelling the base runner on third as to whether he intended scoring home or not on the throw. Many Babe Ruth swats were registered and then again many never saw the ball (or inside). The outfielders were good on both aggressions. They had to be as there is no "fan in the park" allid offered in the indoor game.

It was not "Doc" O'Callaghan's fault that "Dutch" lost, for he was one of the peppiest players on the floor. Rev. D. C. Ramsay was also "in there" strong and upheld the Rotarian end of the argument.

The trophy goes to the Rotarians as a result of last night's struggle. It being a camping outfit intact, very graciously designed, and made of the very best tin in town 26% proof. In the pyramid are noticed dippers, saucepans, (luranted) egg beaters and other camping kitchen articles, useless because they are soldered together to form an imposing trophy. It is quite possible that the names of the winners will be engraved on the dish pan, with a three-inch nail, and that it shall be a much sought after trophy in future as we feel sure that it has to be won three years in succession by the same team before it becomes their property.

It might be mentioned that Eddie Gayne had a very exquisit evening watching the balls and strikes and that he handled the game very well.

The teams—Rotarians—Ronald Lewis, c; Chas. Keeber, P; V. Hyman, first base; Oswald Scott, second base; Rev. D. C. Ramsay, third base; Dr. Day, short stop; Fielders—Chas. Gyncco, Bill Adams and Bill Seward.

Lions—Dr. O'Callaghan, c; G. Shiclair, p; Burgess, first base; P. Brockoff, second base; E. Dickens, third base; J. Chant, short stop; Fielders—R. Zuisli, J. Manley and W. Gilbert.

Umpires—E. Gerow, balls and strikes; Geo. Barrett, bases.

The Cubs particularly chanced their positions quite freely as the game proceeded separating the pitching staff; they started Sinclair, but also used Brockell and Zuisli.

ALL AUSTRALIAN DAVIS CUP GAMES IN U.S.

Adelaide, Aus., March 21.—That the Australian Davis cup team should play all its matches in the United States to enable the players to become acclimatized, is the opinion of the secretary of the Australasian Tennis Association. The Municipal Council will convene in special session to-morrow to take up the question of the games, and it is expected that the controversy will soon be settled.

TRIVETT RESIGNS FROM O. A. A. U.

Popular Secretary of Governing Athletic Body Has Left Position.

Toronto, March 23.—The Ontario branch of the A.A.U. of C. is to have a permanent secretary. Walter F. Trivett, of Toronto, who has been secretary since 1908, but three years ago was away helping to attend to every case, has forwarded his resignation with a letter stating that the job has been too much for him to attend to in his spare time.

"I couldn't keep up with the work in my spare time," said Mr. Trivett to-day, "so I resigned. Registrations have grown from a few hundred to over 6,000 a year, and I could not give them proper attention."

"There was too much work for one man, so when Mr. Trivett resigned, I took up the matter of appointing a permanent paid secretary and will likely install him in the same offices as those occupied by the Ontario Athletic Commission," Mr. John De Gruchy, president of the Ontario branch of the A.A.U. of C.

INTERNATIONAL GAMES OFF GRANITES HAND UP STICKS

Toronto, March 23.—The international games between Granites, Canadian amateur champions, and Boston Westminsters for the Hamilton B. Wills Trophy will not be played this season, it was decided yesterday.

Granites were loath to play another hockey, and decided not to challenge for the trophy, and anyway there was a hitch over who should be the third trustee of the trophy to act with W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the O.H.A., and Sheriff Hendrie, president of the United States Hockey Association. The games may be played next December, before the regular season opens.

Granites, after a long and successful season, during which they played twenty-two games and showed themselves a credit to the game, will pack away their skates and uniforms until next Winter.

GRANITES WIN ALLAN CUP

Regina Decisively Beaten in Last Game by Score of 7—0.

Toronto, March 23.—The Allan Cup will remain in Toronto for another year although it will change its abiding place from the realms of higher education in Queen's Park to the Granite Club, on Church street where it will occupy a place of honor among the many curling and bowling trophies gathered in by the members of the club in past years. This fact was decisively decided last night when the O.H.A. champions romped away with the final game against the Victorias, of Regina, and emerged with the two scores by 7 to 0 in a rather poor exhibition of the game, won the Canadian championship by a total of 13 goals to 2 on the two-game series.

At no time last night were the Westerners in the running, but threatened the four-goal lead obtained on Monday night, although they put up a determined resistance in the first period, and it was not until after the timers' bell had signalled the expiration of the game that Fred Rowe shoved in the first counter of the game. Granites counted two more early in the second frame, and were leading by 3 to 0 when the last period started. In the final twenty minutes the locals demonstrated their superiority in on uncertain manner, and while they only scored four goals, they could have obtained as many more had there been any need for them.

The game on the whole, was not pretentive of good hockey, although there were times when it approached the calibre that is expected in the classic of Canadian amateur hockey. The locals were all at the top of their form, and the visitors were not as good as they were on Monday. This may be due to the fact that Cecil Brown, the star of the team, was unable to play on account of an injured knee, sustained in the first game, but those who have seen the Westerners perform in their earlier games, when they were at full strength, were not at all backward in stating that the Corlers' last night were better than the Victorias have been at any time this season. The Granites are a great team and they fully performed up to expectations. They presented a stonewall defence, and the few shots that passed Fox and Hare were ably handled by Collett, who had a comparatively easy time between the posts. In addition the forwards, both regulars and subs, were right at the top of their form, and they swung into the attack two and three abreast, as well as back-checking persistently the entire sixty minutes.

OVERLOOKING NO ONE IN HEAVYWEIGHT RANKS

New York, March 23.—With Jack Dempsey ready to invade Europe, it would be a odd thing if Luis Firpo, from South America, should prove worthy of a match with the lonesome champion. Luis Firpo crashed in on the scene in Newark last night and knocked "Sailor" Maxted out in seven rounds.

You never can tell about heavyweights; in that class, just as likely as not, a champion may appear practically over night. Maxted had been knocking out a lot of third-raters, and some began to think he might amount to something.

Then along came Firpo and knocked him out in seven rounds.

MORE DOPE ON THE MIXED BOUT

Various Methods by Which the Bout May be Won Discussed.

Jack Dempsey will have the toughest battle of his life if he accepts the challenge of Ed "Strangler" Lewis and meets the wrestling king-pin in a free-for-all match. Unless Dempsey knocks Lewis out with the first punch he is taking every chance of receiving a severe mauling and perhaps crippling injury from the father of the "squeeze play" of the wrestling mat.

Then say with his smashing blows can knock an opponent into temporary insensibility with one punch. If he smashes Lewis on a vulnerable spot with one of his crushing punches Lewis will go down and out. But- what's going to happen if Dempsey misses?

Lewis will be in a position to clamp any one of a dozen punishing crippling holds on the boxing champion.

He may slip under Dempsey and apply the strangle-hold from the rear with a violent backward jerk which might break Dempsey's neck. You can kill a man with either the strangle-hold or the flying mare.

Or he might apply the hammer-lock which would force Dempsey to submit or have his shoulder broken.

If the two get to the mat, both down, Lewis would be certain to win. Dempsey's punch would be of no avail and Lewis could use agonizing hammer-lock, or toe-hold, bone-breaking arm-holds, and a dozen other punishing grips against which a man unskilled in wrestling wouldn't have a chance.

Lewis isn't the first great wrestler to challenge a great boxer, and this isn't Lewis's first challenge of the sort. He flaured a middle of the ring fight between Willard and, of course it was never accepted. The showdown conference, lasting long into the night, with the capable lawyer and manager of each of the contestants in attendance, failed to settle one point of the many that arose in connection with the proposed match.

The comparatively agile, clever Lewis is such a match as suggested.

Dr. R. F. Roller, the famous physician-athlete whose wrestling skill tends him a great reputation and who challenged Willard to a go in a gymnasium with a jury of newspapermen and officials to settle some of the all the question of which is the better method of self-defense, boxing or wrestling, Bill Willard dared not.

"Farmer" Burns, another famous wrestler of twenty years ago, issued a challenge to any prize-fighter in the world to meet him in an empty room. This challenge stood for years without a taker.

Maldoon, one-time champion wrestler, who trained the great John L. Sullivan, could handle Sullivan at will. A mixed match was proposed between Muldoon and Charlie Mitchell, the English fighter who fought Sullivan, but Mitchell never accepted.

Wrestling is, in many respects, a scientific "art of self-defense" than is boxing, and the fists, on some occasions, least useful of nature's weapons. Unless Dempsey knocked out or dazed Lewis with an early punch, he would not have as good a chance of winning a mixed bout as the wrestling champion.

Dallas—Doctors say Tris Speaker's injured knee can be cured only by a long rest, and the Indian manager is intending a substitute to take his place.

San Antonio—Captain Dave Bancroft and Rogers Hornsby are out of the Giant line-up with injuries, but Frank Frisch, spiked last week is back in uniform.

"FLYING PARSON" SETS WORLD'S RECORD

Hal Cutshill, Fleet Boston Runner, Turns in Remarkable Performance.

Buffalo, March 21.—Hal Cutshill, the Flying Parson, Spalding boy from Boston A. A. track team, broke the world's indoor and outdoor records for the 1,000 yard run here last night at the indoor games held in the 74th Armory. Cutshill's time for the distance was 2.13.

Cutshill started from the scratch in the 1,000 yards handicap, and passed his pacemakers, who had liberal handicaps. He took the lead near the beginning of the last lap and led across the tape an easy winner.

Cutshill and Jole Ray, held the former world's indoor record of two minutes 13 2-5 seconds. He equalled that record in winning the national championship for the 1,000 yard run recently. Mel Sheppard, New York track man, held the outdoor record of two minutes 12 2-5 seconds.

Cutshill's fine performance was in good company. One record after another was tossed to the scrap heap and another twice equalled after having been broken in a previous heat.

Beth Niagara District A. A. U. championship records were broken in the pole vault and the 50-yard hurdles. Leslie A. Bryan, in the pole vault leaped 11 feet 1¼ inches, bettering his own mark of 11 feet, while Mr. K. Buttlington of Lafayette High School lowered the mark of the 50-yard hurdle race over six flights of two feet six inches each, with a fifteen yard start and finishing distance, doing it in ten seconds, compared with the mark of 10 1-5 made by C. A. Schnon of Syracuse last year. C. W. Hackenson of Syracuse came right along and tied the mark of ten seconds and in the final won in tying it again.

GOOSE COATED WITH ICE

On Sunday evening, Jack Martin, of Little Britain, heard a thump and a clatter upon the roof. He opened the door to ascertain the cause of the row, and was surprised to see a large wild goose upon the ground. He secured it, and now has it in his wood shed. The bird is a splendid specimen, and Mr. Martin is quite proud of the prize. The fact that the bird was coated with ice when caught is odd.

LOSE THEIR POSITIONS

Prince Henderson, who was very complacent at railway news last week, lost his position as an employee of the G.T.R. Monday morning, and Mr. Ontario Temperance Act. One of the men was suggested as a flagman, and the other as a local maintainer and the third as baggageman. They took the bottles of whiskey on a train from Port Hope to Peterboro and had a celebration. In addition to losing their positions they paid into court over $100 in fines and costs imposed.

LOST PART OF HAND

Mr. W. J. Hawbar who resides near Picton was assisting in cutting wood when he met with a painful accident. He reached down to remove a stick when his hand came in contact with the fast revolving saw, completely severing the thumb and two fingers. It was found necessary to amputate the third finger, the first finger and a small portion of the hand being left.

GAVE TIMELY WARNING

On Monday evening at the meeting of the Kingston Motor League, Mrs. Gilbert was introduced as the presiding officer of the evening. A method of cutting off the speakers when they exceeded the time assigned was proposed by their tailor. The speakers were warned by the firing of a blank shot from a revolver and that the time was nearly up and they better bring their remarks to a speedy close.

HOW BULGARIA ENTERED THE WAR

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 22.—The trial of former Prime Minister Radoslavoff and his Ministers brings to light every day fresh details of the sinister influences that brought Bulgaria into the war on the side of the Central Empires.

Witnesses state that the German agents succeeded before buying up the Bulgarian newspapers, working through a consortium of German financiers, among them a Constantinople banker. A propaganda service was organized under a certain Captain Engelhardt, and nearly $2,000,000 francs appeared to the exclusion of all other.

Engelhardt also lavished money on the postal and telegraph employees as well as on police and Customs House officials to facilitate the passage of contraband through Bulgaria to Turkey. Witness after witness has been set the 45,000,000 marks that were handed for this propaganda work.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer—Sir,—I would be pleased to be permitted to offer my humble opinion in regard to your article in Tuesday's Intelligencer—"Returned Soldier Condemned to Die".

I understand no more about the case than what I read in the papers, but it strikes me that it appear to be typical of the general treatment meted out to the late "heroes".

The people who sent men out to war to be battered, tattered and torn, in body, mind and soul, could not give them the same impartial judgment that they gave to those who shirked the issue, remained at home in comparative physical fear or from mere selfishness.

If some person gets up upon a platform and works himself up into a state of enthusiasm and hysteria, they will contribute materially to work's helping them—perhaps, but they refuse them the individual acts of spiritual comfort and consolation which they must require and desire, but cannot and will not ask.

I refer only to those who foolishly endured and suffered, and are still suffering.

PIES AT AUCTION

Easy and Effective Method of "Raising the Wind."

For the Unsophisticated, Writer in New York Evening Post Explains the Procedure.

When a distinct school board in Allentown finds itself at fault in its finances or start a library backed by bring the institution up to the upward school standard, or find a sympathizing resource in an energetic and pretty young woman, there's "pie supper." Some call 'em pie socials or pie receptions. It's all the same thing.

Three pie suppers were advertised for the same night in one of the north Manhattan churches, which, in the Stone district, one at Tweed school and another at Ivy School—everybody invited—no charge for admission," so ran the announcement, says Edgar Wallace in the New York Evening Post. But never make the mistake of going to such an event without your pocket or check book. If you do, you'll simply be an uninteresting subject, a "wallflower," as lonely as a man from the country on Broadway. True, it costs you nothing to get in—once a year) But once in you're expected to take part in the proceedings, which means the bidding.

"Oh, well, that won't cost much—a pie is a pie, and one ought to be sent out."

But pie social pies don't sell for any such insignificant sum. You see, the girl who made the pie stands by the auctioneer while he is crying the sale. It would take an awfully contracted soul to bid only 25 cents for a pie when the pretty maker, in her best bib and tucker, is standing near, her face flushed with pride at the bidder. She'd feel that you weren't very anxious to get that pie for her, which is the reward of successful sportsmanship at the auction.

The open season for "pie raids" begins about the time autumn starts painting the flowers, and keeps on until all the ready cash of the lovelorn youngsters is in the school coffers.

There is no limit to what a pie may cost you. If the creator of the pie happens to be the idol of the individual hood her production may bring from $10 to $25 or more.

The Grand View Consolidated high school, in northwest Macon county, instituted its two months' school term for a new piano. The salesman had offered it for $1,000 on installments. He couldn't understand how the bill had been discounted so quickly.

Then the pie social reached the teacher.

"But it would take a carload of pies to raise $400!" the salesman said.

"Not the way we sell 'em," explained the teacher.

When a country teacher wants to start something she invites a lot of town boys to the affair. The girls' mothers when the town boys and the country boys get to bucking each other.

One night a lot of town boys went out to the Owl Creek school house. Each of them had a big roll in his pocket and when the auction was pulled off all the pretty girls' pies were bid in by all the town boys, who sat down with the piemakers and had a good time. The country boys silently withdrew and left the field to their hated rivals. They felt that the town boys were poachers and refused to "play the game." So about midnight they swung red lanterns across the road, and all the town boys came honking along they slowed up for the danger signal, and were greeted by a shower of tomatoes, potatoes, eggs, carrots and other dainties, tossed their way by the country boys. They never never made a return trip to Owl Creek pie social.

The homemade country pie doesn't recognize the lunch stand variety as in its class. There is a pie for every taste on the farm to build a pie to its proper standard. And the best when ready for auction it is a work of art and "eats good," as the fellows say who get it. Pie is considered as much as the advisory counsel, since her reputation is at stake as well as the daughter's, and she is reckless of expenditure.

Trees in Winter.

In winter evergreens add a welcome bit of color if used in moderation, but deciduous trees stand in the North, like the pines, spruces and cedars, broad-leaved evergreens of the South, like the evergreen magnolia, the hollies and the cherry laurel, says the American Forestry Magazine. But it is not alone in winter that the dark green trees have their value. They contrast in the landscape, for they greatly enhance the attractiveness of the changing tints of maples and oaks on the approach of cold weather, bright yellow of birches and poplars, much more attractive if seen in contrast with the dark green foliage of evergreens.

Landscape in Fall.

The autumn landscape may be made as attractive as the spring landscape if the planter sets to work with this object in view. About the bonus attention should be given to planting for next autumn, bearing with that for other seasons, as the average home is occupied, for 72 months in the 20 years, says the American Forestry Magazine. Because flowers are scarce in the fall nature people are not thought of the possibility of making their bonus autumnary conspicuously attractive at this season of the year. It can be accomplished, however, even on planting published, however, even on planting

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

I rode in offices, thinking of Sally and those blessed days now receeding into the past and of my aunt and Chris. I had written a letter to them every week and one or the other had answered. Between the lines I had detected the note of loneliness. They had told me the small news of the neighborhood, the new arrivals, announcements—it all seemed to me then—Mother Farmer had been born, Farmer John, Sarah had been put in the nursery; my white mares had got the scours!

"Hello, mister!"

I started out of my reverie with a little jump of surprise. A big, rough-dressed, bearded man stood in the middle of the road with a gun on his shoulder.

A Big, Rough Dressed, Bearded Man, Stood in the Middle of the Road With a Gun on His Shoulder.

"Where ye goin'?"

"Up to the Van Hunter place."

"Where do ye hail from?"

"Cobleskill."

"On business for Judge Westbrook?"

"Yes."

"Write to seven?"

"Yes," I answered with no thought of my impudence

"Say, young man," he hokey nettle! I advise you to turn right around and go back."

"What?"

"'Cause if ye try to serve any writs ye'll git into trouble."

"That's interesting," I answered, "I am not seeking a quarrel, but I'd want to see how the people take to the payment of their rents."

They talked back down into that valley there. It was strangest begun. "See all them houses—they're the Nitie Valley Mills. They was built about the last 40 Who built them houses?" Who elected this land? What Mr. Livingston? He hokey nettle! I guess not. The men who live there built the houses and owned the land. We ain't got nothin' else—not a dollar! It's all gone to the bankers. We're the only men who made every 'rod' of that land and we own not a single rod of it. Years an' years ago a king gave it to a man who never set one foot on it. Then we started to settle. The deeds say that we must pay a rent o' so many dollars a year for it and I've had no good for wheat, an' ain't been for two seasons. I'm not the only one either, a good many things have happened in three hundred years. The land's been sold over an' over when an' a good many folks was willin' to be slaves. My father never had no land—lived in S. Kings an' magistrates an' slavery didn't look so bad to us as they do now. Our brains have changed—that's what's the matter—our brains have changed, I guess. We want to be free like other folks in this country. American men served an' died to land here we are livin' back in old Holland three hundred years ago. It don't set good. We see lots o' people that don't have to be slaves. They own their land an' they ain't worked any harder than we have or been any more savin'. That's why I say we can't pay the rents no more an' ye wouldn't try to make us, for being settled! You'll have trouble if ye do."

The truth had flashed upon me over the words of that rough man. Until then I had heard only one side of the story. It was to be my servant of justice, as Mr. Wright had advised, what was it to do? Those tenants had worked for what they had got—had made Grimeswood out of the bare fruits of the land! Up the Federal Street came remote ancestor had been a King's favorite. Half a mile away my name is Josiah Curtis." said the stranger. "I live in the first house on the right hand side of the road. You may tell the judge that I won't pay rent to nobody—not a cent! I'll—call—that's all—I won't get out, either."

"Mr. Curtis, you and Purvis may go on slowly—I'll overtake you soon," I said.

They went on and left me alone with Curtis. He was getting excited and, I noticed to allay his fears.

"Don't let him try to serve no writs or there'll be hell to pay in the Nitie Valley," said Curtis.

JUDGE SEES DANCER PERFORM

New York, March 22.—There may be too much wiggle and wobble in Gilda Gray's Hawaiian dance, but Magistrate Deuel doesn't think so.

He dismissed the cafe dancer and three other South Sea Island twisters charged with illegal movements, after Detective Andrew McLaughlin had tried his best to explain just what Miss Gray did.

"Well, she moved her muscles," he stated. The judge had said he was not to know, and threw out the case.

"The idea of calling our dance bad," protested Gilda. "It's animistic and beautiful, we tint our skin brown like Hawaiians."

"It's hard to realize that six month ago I couldn't walk across the floor and now

I am as well as ever."

"I have never been very strong but the best last summer was too much for me. Shortly after the first of September I came out of work and I had to work day and night to keep from slipping back into my physical wreck. Luckily my husband had a good job and stuck to it and I had to go to bed. I tried everything I could but the Doctor's medicine was all I seemed to be getting weaker and weaker. I was simply a bag of bones, I couldn't eat or sleep, I had no strength left and could not even raise my hand to my face to cross the floor one day I collapsed. It was by the merest chance that a friend of mine called for her, I decided to try it. The results were amazing for next morning I found with that for other seasons, as the average home is occupied, for 72 months in the 20 years, says the American Forestry Magazine. Because flowers are scarce in the fall nature people are not thought of the possibility of making their bonus autumnary conspicuously attractive at this season of the year. It can be accomplished, however, even on planting which they conduct this institution.

The Children's Shelter is in excellent condition and well managed by Miss Harris, the Matron. There are at present there 11 boys and 7 girls. All appear to be bright and happy, and all provided with the essential things of life.

We desire to pay tribute to the memory of Miss Mc. A. Ritchie, whose generosity made this building possible and who through his generous bequest provided further for the comfort of the neglected children.

Good Work of O.S.D.

The Ontario School for the Deaf is also to be housed in a beautiful new building. This institution is ably conducted by Dr. Coughlin and his assistants. There are 180 deaf boys and pupils and the children are apparently happy and contented, and are being educated in such manner as to enable them to be useful citizens. Great credit is due to the Provincial Government for providing such an institution for these afflicted children. Too much credit cannot be given the teachers for their devotion to the arduous work.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

NOW GHOSTS HUNT DR. PRINCE

Famous Ghost Catcher is Having His Own Spooky Troubles.

New York, March 22.—Dr. Walter Franklin Prince recently went to investigate the ghosts. Yesterday it was revealed that the ghosts are investigating Dr. Prince.

Back from Antigonish where he discovered the fire-eating ghost of the MacDonald barn, is Dr. Mary Elsie, Dr. Franklin Prince's 16-day told about a ghost of his own, somewhere in New Jersey.

The doctor yesterday described the antics of the private spook, which for months has created alarm and excitement in his New Jersey home. The whereabouts of the unearthly visitors demonstrations, Dr. Prince declined to disclose, saying it would not increase the value of the property if the facts were known.

Dr. Prince's ghost, from his statements, appears even more remarkable than that of Antigonish. It rocks beds, precipitates a sensation akin to sea-sickness in the occupants, is page, indigene, a poltergeist without end, the door above the haunted bedroom, and gives other assorted demonstrations of its presence by rapping, which continued at times for months.

"Visions of persons never known to my family have appeared to me in the night," Dr. Prince's letter to the Scientific American says. "I made many attempts to photograph them, but failed. Footsteps of a man with cane leg shorter than the other were heard walking above our heads. We learned that a man so deformed had died in that very house thirteen years before.

My daughter Theodosia tells wonderful things with the aid of a crystal. She was able to describe accurately the third floor of this house—as it existed many years before it was completed it.

Recently, the phenomena mappings have occurred in my office. These are not heard by others than myself. They usually occur in groups.

"One night of the unearthly phenomena of my home deeper sounds than the violent shaking of my daughter's bed awakened me outside the world were up some unusual hubbub. Soon I recognized the bed—the same thing occurred—it produced a feeling akin to sea-sickness."

LOOKING FOR HEIR TO MILLIONS

New York, March 22.—Mrs. Graham Duffield, wealthy widow of Chicago, today was to lead detectives into the by-ways of New York searching restaurants and kitchens for Jason, Gordon, aged 17, missing from a private school at Plainfield, N.J.

Duffield, who left $1,000,000, was first reported missing about October 1, last year, when he failed to arrive in Chicago, after having telegraphed his mother that he was en route home, she informed the police today.

Since that time, the mother declares, she has received a letter from Duffield postmarked in New York, informing her he was working in a restaurant.

JUMP
Scale Has Been Increased by the Ontario License Board.

Hamilton, March 23.—While the price of food, according to the Dominion Labor Bureau's family budget, shows a decrease, the cost of liquor, so far as Ontario is the cost of alcoholic medicines is higher. This week a new scale of prices was posted at the Ontario Liquor Commissary. Domestic whiskey and French cognac have been advanced about 10 per cent. The old and new scale for Canadian whiskies is as follows:

Brand	Old New
Canadian Club	$4.00 $4.40
Canadian Club	4.25 4.65
O. and W. Special	4.25 4.65
O. and W.	4.35 4.70

There has been no change in the dispensary's own bottled rye. The O.L.C.B. or O.V.R.O.P. brandy has been increased from $6.75 to $7.40 a bottle.

The prices at the various dispensaries are fixed by to Ontario License Board and it is explained that the increase in the price of liquor is because in the revenue tax, made some months ago. At the time the Dominion tax was increased the Ontario Board had a large stock of domestic whiskies on hand, and the board didn't allow these stocks which have been withdrawn.

FURS DROP IN PRICE

Edmonton, March 23.—Furs are down in price rapidly, this fact is evidenced by the bids tendered at a fur auction held here yesterday. Kaniz Fur Farm sent in a bid to the Mackay district was up for sale. All the representatives of the city fur houses were present. The highest bid of prime winter skins which sold at prices twenty-five per cent. lower than those bringing at the last sale. This is considered by the fur men to point to a further reduction and the stabilizing of the fur-trade.

Chicago, March 22.—All the Chicago Nationals looked good in their 5 to 6 win over the Vernon, Coast League club yesterday, according to reports sent here. Arnold Statz and Hack Miller, new outfielders, got three hits apiece, while Pitcher Lloyd Hand Alexander pitched four innings with nine and no against him.

Rock of Gibralter Unfolds Beauties To Local Tourists

Mr. D. V. Sinclair Tells of Visit to Great Britain's Most Prized Possession in the Mediterranean—Sees Guardians of England at Anchor in the Mole—Gibraltar Town is a Cosmopolitan Meeting Place.

MET MAN WHO SERVED UNDER CAPT. McMANUS

The Daily Intelligencer takes pleasure in reproducing the following letter from Mr. D. V. Sinclair. It is the third of a series which The Intelligencer has arranged to obtain as the European trip of Mr. Sinclair and family.

Gibraltar, March 2nd—1922.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer;

Dear Sir,—After writing my former letters, I had all but decided to remain silent for a time but if confess I would consider myself very selfish if I was not willing to share as best I can, with the readers of your paper, some of the pleasure that has been ours for the past few days and more particularly to-day as you may judge from the place of writing of this letter.

The past four days have been spent in Cadiz and Seville—and much as I would like to write about the last named city, I feel time will not permit but this I will say, the second most historical Cathedral in Europe and the most attractive from the tourists point of view of all the cities of Spain, is one of the places that save us a long to be remembered outing.

Seville Cathedral dates from the days of the Moorish occupation of Spain 1248 A. D. and there still remain many evidences of the 12th or the 13th to 14th century.

The music especially selected for the annual carnival season was being played when we visited the Cathedral and we found it difficult to choose between the visiting of another chapel, of which there are eighteen, of staying for the Vespers Service. However, we had to follow our guide and as we stood before so many of the world best known works of art, including many of Murillos, we were made to feel our inability to take in so much in so little time.

The Alcazar an old Moorish palace, the erection of which began in 1181, proved to be one of the places of special interest, to all our party both of the and many other places I have not time to write.

Then after supper day and a half

OTTAWA HOUSE ENDS DEBATE ON ADDRESS

Was Adopted Without Amendment or Division—Estimates Will Come up for Consideration Today—Changes in House Standing Committees.

Ottawa, March 24—The address was adopted in the House last night without amendment and without a division. The end of nine days of actual debate came suddenly. There was a general understanding that the address and last night, but some expected that an evening of sitting of merely a couple of hours would see the last speech and the adoption of the address.

The last day's fare was one of distinguishing: It covered topics as diverse as railways, immigration with Oriental and otherwise—natural resources, pensions, tariffs, women suffrage, Prince Edward Island potatoes and even the ghosts of Nova Scotia. Dr. Murray MacLaren, a Conservative from St. John, N.B., and Alfred Maclean, of Prince, P.E.I., were at one in presenting the Maritime case. Mr. Monette shall again be the headquarters of the I.C.R. A Conservative from British Columbia, C. H. Dickie, of Nanaimo, came back with the sharp remark that there was too much sectionalism in the debate. He spoke of "those spooks" of Nova Scotia, sending the House into laughter by regarding that perhaps the shades of ominent statesmen of he past were walking nightly as a protest against political actions of this present.

Extensive changes in the personnel of select standing committees of the House are shown in the list of names submitted by the striking committee of the House of Commons on House today. The committees are drawn up on a basis of five Government members to two of the Opposition.

Chairmen will be chosen at the organization meetings which will probably be called next week.

NO TIGHT ROPE STUNTS AT NIAGARA

Mayor Thompson Says He Will Refuse Permit to English Girl.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., March 24.—The English girl who has announced for June 30 her intention to cross the Niagara gorge on a tight rope will not do any such thing, Mayor Maxwell M. Thompson announced yesterday. The Mayor said that under no circumstances would he issue a permit for any attempts to duplicate Blondin's feat.

After the tragic death of Charles Stephens, the English lifebuoy, who was killed last August trying to shoot the Falls in a barrel, the city authorities declare that every precaution will be taken to prevent foolhardy feats of daring in the vicinity of the Falls.

City Sewers Under Fire

Allege West Dundas and Commercial Sewers of Faulty Construction.

At a meeting of the City Council a few weeks ago, Ald. Robinson introduced a motion which prevailed that a special committee be appointed to investigate West Dundas and Commercial street sewers, which were constructed a year ago. The motion was to the effect that the committee ascertain if the sewers in question had been constructed according to the plans furnished and if any deviations had occurred to report upon same. The following committee were by resolution awarded to Dumbacre and Company, a firm of contractors outside the city who do such work. The committee appointed have made some investigation with the result that there are some parts of the sewer constructed that do not meet with their approval. This afternoon all members of the Public Works Department, which is the Council, visited the streets for the purpose of seeing what the committee had discovered. Some of the sewer pipes, it is alleged were not properly covered up by earth, in fact were almost exposed at one particular place. Since the sewers have been constructed there have been complaints as to their unsatisfactory and improper construction. The members of the Council will consider the matter after the tour of inspection has been made.

HORRIBLE CRIME STIRS BELFAST

OTHER MURDERS

Long List of Killed Grows With Every Passing Hour.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer (Canadian Press Limited)

Belfast, March 24.—The murder of Owen MacMahon, a popular saloonkeeper and four of his sons early this morning has stirred the entire city. MacMahon and three of his sons were killed outright when a party of uniformed men entered their home, and one son died at the hospital. Two other sons are near death.

The crime is thought to have been a reprisal for the shooting of a special constable yesterday on May street. The raiders smashed in the doors of the MacMahon home, rushed upstairs to where the male members of the family were sleeping, took them to the living room, lined them against the wall and riddled them with bullets.

Mrs. MacMahon and her daughter rushed downstairs when the murderers had departed and found the seven men lying in pools of blood. Four of the victims were already dead, and a fourth son died in the hospital. Ambulance attendants collapsed after helping to carry the bodies into the hospital, although they are hardened to scenes of bloodshed.

Three murders were reported today from the Fermanagh Tyrone border. The victims were Frank Kelly, Edward McLoughlin and William Cassidy. All were found shot to death. It is believed the murders were in reprisal for recent terrorism at Trillick County Tyrone in which Samuel Laird an Ulster special constable was shot and killed.

Joseph Campbell, a Belfast city official, was shot and killed by a sniper in the New Lodge Road this afternoon.

PREPARE FOR SPRING DRIVE

Seedmen and Hardware Merchants Arrange Stocks For Spring Work.

Spring was officially ushered in at noon on March 21st and with Old Sol beaming peacefully on nature, the manifold duties of the Annual Spring drive will soon be in full swing.

Hubby will arrive home one of these days for lunch and discover everything topsy turvy to the extent that he'll think he has entered the wrong house. The Spring drive will have been started when every corner of the house receives the grand "scrub" from the leaves of the rubber plant are dusted). He will accordingly be dispatched to his arduous duties soon after beating carpets, cleaning stove pipes, moving the piano alone, marking the floor, and then there is that unsightly back yard with the aims of five months of winter still in evidence. The lawn will need clearing and the garden will also need to be spaded up, in preparation for planting and seeding operations.

Already some of these duties have been begun. Front street seedsmen have arranged their fresh stock of seeds and are all ready, to supply the demands of the city and surrounding country. The people have not yet commenced to buy seeds to any great extent, however, but as seeding is between April 1st and the middle of the month, they should soon commence operations.

The hardware merchants are getting out their rakes, hoes, spades and other garden jewelry, and will also be prepared to supplied the demand.

DEBATING BUDGET

Premier States Labor Member Did Not Speak for Government.

Toronto, March 24.—The Legislature yesterday had its second instalment of the budget debate when four members contributed speeches in the course of afternoon and evening sessions. Apart from a continuation of Chas. McCrea's able address, the debate was lacking in interest except for a few minutes while W. A. Crockett, the Labor member for South Wentworth, was in difficulties with his references to the Chippawa situation and the Hydro Commissioners. In his anxiety to endorse the action of Col. Dongall Carmichael and hold him up as an honest and straight-forward man "of different calibre to others," he left an implication against Sir Adam Beck and the third member of the Commission that was so clear on the face of his statement that Dr. Forbes Godfrey and M. M. MacBride both protested. The speaker, however, to whom the Brant member appealed, could not see it that way, and the statement stood as it was made, without even an explanation from the Wentworth member that he intended no reflection upon anyone. Again, when he was asked if the Government had not the power to call for Sir Adam's resignation if it so pleased, Mr. Crockett announced that "no doubt some action will be taken, possibly in the near future."

Just what he meant, or whether he knew himself what he meant, will probably remain a mystery. He did mier stated afterward that he didn't know, and that Mr. Crockett "did not speak for the Government."

WILL DISSOLVE MANITOBA HOUSE

Norris Refuses Overtures of Group of Members of Legislature.

Winnipeg, March 24.—A report was published here yesterday that sixteen opposition members of the Manitoba Legislature including ten from the Independent Farmer group have agreed to the Premiership of Hon. T. C. Norris, if the Premier will drop from his Cabinet, Hon. T. S. Johnston, Hon. Edward Brown and Hon. J. W. Armstrong, replacing two of them by members of the new group. The report says that under this arrangement the Legislature might complete its full elected term, which in election year he made unnecessary.

Premier Norris is said to have told a deputation from the group that he would not abandon his Cabinet Ministers, and that in any event the action came too late to prevent a dissolution in the House.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer (Canadian Press, Limited).

Montreal, March 24.—Judge Cousineau announced this morning that he had allowed summonses to be issued for Sir Montagu Allan and D. C. Macarow. The former was the president of the defunct Merchants Bank and the latter the General Manager.

The information upon which the summonses were issued was sworn before Judge Cousen by Robert R. Vells, an employee of the Department of Finance, Ottawa. C. A. Wilson acted as legal advisor to Mr. Vells and also for the Department of Justice.

NO DEFINITE STEPS TO HALT COAL STRIKE

Operators Move to Protect Mine Properties—Miners Head Says Big Business Interests Would Crush Organized Labor—Parties Still Deadlocked.

New York, March 24.—Charges that big business and so-called American organizations of the country are engaged in a deliberate attempt to crush organized labor were made here yesterday by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Mr. Lewis' statement came at the close of a three-day session of the mine owners and workers' wage arbitration committee, which ended without any agreement which would halt the impending strike of 600,000 anthracite and bituminous miners April 1.

Agreement of miners and operators upon a wage scale for the 8,000 anthracite men who will strike and 400,000 bituminous men who will join in the colliery properties while the strike is in progress was the sole result of yesterday's session.

Mr. Lewis' charges, that organizations throughout the country were working to overturn the union were made in connection with an announcement that the Rail and Miners' Protective Alliance had been formed to combat such an attempt.

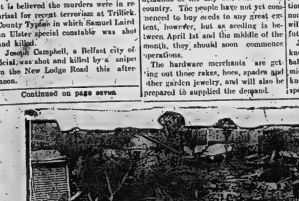

"The protective alliance, with a present membership of 875,000 railroad men and miners is an organization to preserve the integrity of the basic unions attacked," Mr. Lewis asserted. "It will seek to promote the welfare of the unions and to fight influences which threaten to destroy or jeopardize their continuation."

KEEP NELSON'S FLAGSHIP ON VIEW FOR VISITORS

London, March 24.—The examination of Nelson's famous flagship Victory, which was ordered by the Admiralty several weeks ago, shows that, owing to signs of decay, the life of the ship could be prolonged only a limited period if she were replaced in the water. Therefore, it has been decided that the ship will remain in dock at Portsmouth, where she is now lying, and where she may still be viewed by visitors.

ROCK OF GIBRALTER UNFOLDS BEAUTIES TO LOCAL TOURISTS

spent in seeing the cities outstanding places of interest, we once more returned to the Cathedral and after a second visit to some of the chapels, that recalled us because of the previous day, we closed our visit to Seville by visiting the City from the top of the Cathedral Tower and set forth with a vision we never expected to enjoy.

As for Cadiz where we spent two full days, I must pass on, save only to say that as yet viewed, the battle scene of the conflict that gave Britain the supremacy of the seas, we were helped to a fuller appreciation of what we have been seeing, for here we are in full view of the World's Greatest Fortress, Gibraltar.

After spending half this day in and about this great fortress we returned to our ship which rides at anchor immediately inside the Mole and with the afternoon sun shining clear and bright on the full two and a half miles that constitute the length of the famous fortress, we, with hundreds of others, remained on the ship all afternoon, simply lost in wonder as we viewed Gibraltar. Then about three o'clock, to the delight of all the Canadians passengers, four of the great battleships of the Mediterranean Fleet came sailing out and in the order named behind the other just outside the Mole and as we gazed to our right Gibraltar, in the four great fortresses, the Warspite, Barham, the Flagship of the fleet, Malaya and the Valiant, as well as the torpedo boat Seals. I said to Mrs. Sinclair, would that Colonel Pootoon could see this sight. I have known Colonel Pootoon much on this and other trips but I confess I have never experienced such a thrill as one stood for several minutes and with our field glasses tried to take in the significance of the situation. Now just a few of the many things we saw to-day. We were up on bright and early this a.m. to see our ship make the harbor and get through the formalities of the great fortress with marine and I assure you we were roped for, as the sun came creeping over the Spanish Rock we saw for the first time the great Lion effect that Spain has given to Gibraltar.

Our ship came to anchor there was a rush for early after which there was even a greater rush for the first glimpse

RETURNED MEN UNSELFISH

Hamilton Spectator—If any evidence were needed of the reasonable spirits of returned men it is to be found in the vote on the disposition of Canada's share of the canteen funds, recently made public. Of the various organizations submitted for the approval of the ex-soldiers, this is the one which received the support of the majority: "The establishment of memorial workshops for the provision of labored employment and home employment for disabled ex-service men, including those suffering from tuberculosis." WESTERN WAR VETS LEAVE THE LIQUOR QUESTION ALONE

Saskatoon, Sask., March 24.—A letter light on the convention floor of the Great War Veterans' association, Saskatchewan command, was received here yesterday afternoon when a resolution was introduced tabling all proposed action by the association on the liquor question in the Province.

The legality of the resolution being brought before the convention of ex-service men, dealing with ex-service men's problems, was touched upon, but the general feeling appeared to be that in taking any decisive step the association would harm themselves, and that they had no belief for either the liquor interests or the prohibitionists, the question might well be left alone.

QUEBEC INSPECTORS AFTER SMUGGLERS

Think They are on Trail of Border States Operators.

Quebec, March 24.—The Temperance Act commissioners believe that they are on the eve of uncovering the activities of a gang of liquor smugglers who have been engaged in illegally exporting their merchandise into Ontario and the States bordering this Province. In the course of his investigations which the inspector of the commission are undertakings important seizure was made in the Eastern Townships, the enticing customs warehouse was raided and $2,000 worth of liquor secured. The warehouse was allegedly used solely for the storage of perfumes.

A watchman, who apparently was apprised of the possibility of a visit of the Liquor Commission inspectors, prevented their entering in fire, but a revolver and shovelling in fire, but he was outnumbered and arrested. The man, who gave his name as George Smith, was released on $500 bail late last evening.

The commission inspectors maintain that they are of the eve of disclosing the existence of a ring of smugglers and moonshiners operating in the shipment to Ontario and the States. This ring, they claim, has its headquarters in Montreal, but its operations are spread through the whole Province.

The children's mother and the only man in the village at the time, stood helplessly outside to render aid because every method of access was cut off by flames. The children ranged in age from two years and a half years old.

The fire is believed to have been caused by one of the children lighting a piece of paper in the stove and throwing it in a wardrobe.

THE HAPPY CAVALIER A DECIDED HIT

Fiske O'Hara Returns in a Clever Musical Romantic Comedy.

That there's always room for an old favorite and was amply demonstrated at Griffin's Opera House last night when a large audience turned out to hear Fiske O'Hara in his musically romantic play "The Happy Cavalier." It is the typical Irish play with the lovable Irish hero and it served its purpose as an admirable vehicle for Mr. O'Hara's talents.

Beautifully the production was one that has not been surpassed here in many years and the singing of Mr. O'Hara was never better than it was last night. Every one of his musical numbers met with delighted applause from the audience who time and time again recalled the singer for an encore.

Among the new numbers introduced by Mr. O'Hara was "I'm Always in Love With Someone," a jewel of a lilting Irish song. In this number the veteran actor made perhaps his greatest hit of the evening. Other encores were "Let Me Ramember" and Laddie Buck of Mine."

The company varied its own ordinarily high standard at intervals during the evening rendered several numbers that were very highly applauded by the audience.

The supporting cast were excellent in every detail and taken as a whole in "The Happy Cavalier" sets a high standard for showdom in general.

St. Catharines Standard

Arguments advanced for civic support in other centres for professional baseball clubs are that they are worth while as an advertisement to these centres. How much more do the same arguments apply in the case of lacrosse, the national game, in a city like St. Catharines, where home players have always constituted the team and where the sport is largely responsible for the sake of sport? Lacrosse will always be the national game of Canada, and Lacrosse should be the civic game of St. Catharines for all time.

YOUNG WOMEN WHO SUFFER

Letter Points Way Towards Relief—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I suffered from the time I was a schoolgirl until I was married. I had headaches, periodicies with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down in health. At times that I was unable to work. I tried several doctors, tonics and patent medicines and practically relieved in a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to have an operation but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and suffering and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."—Mrs. H. A. Goodall, 14 Birchvale Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Old ideas they say are the best, and surely of all the ideas that have descended to us from the days of the open forum is a gem. Used first on the hills of Athens and grown ever stronger where the desire to live and learn has been paramount for many places and on widely different occasions found noble expression in Adopting the idea to municipal needs however, given the open forum a wider and more advanced betterment has been its chief standard source from its use in this logical field and the benefit effect is established a school for the teaching of individualistic "Citizenship". As one of the debaters expressed most vital subject not end with the payment of taxes. There are duties citizenship does every resident of very city and town that were they performed upon shake for the eventual betterment of conditions for himself out would citizens. Man is peculiarly a gregarious and social animals fellow it should be to his advantage to work for a higher physical and therefore intellectual standard in all things pertaining to his social life.

Wednesday evening's debates concluded the program started a time ago. There is room for many other bodies in the city as public spirited as Belleville's Chamber of Commerce.

A NOBLE RECORD

We have received the second volume of "Letters from the Front" between the period of 1914 and 1919 and a more comprehensive work from an individualistic standpoint it would indeed be hard to find. This volume like its predecessor is published by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, one of the pillars of our Dominion finance.

The matter is a collection of letters and anecdotes from the employees of the great bank who went overseas to do their little bit in the Great Adventure. They range from the experience of the first employee who was called back to finish out his reserve duties with the famous Coldstream Guards till the later Allied forces formed for action. The story is essentially a story of the Canadian corps but the bank had it's representatives not only in France and Belgium, but in Italy, Russia, Serbia, Turkey, Egypt, India and Southern Africa and some of the boys were among the units of Britain's fire line defence, our gloriously traditioned Navy.

Many of the employees received high military honors, the Victoria Cross among them and for their valor many have received other awards almost as precious. Many too, are among the armies of shadowed yesterdays—with the Silent Dead of whom the poets have sung so eloquently. The death roll of the men of the Bank of Montreal now stands at 265. It is a sorowful fact that for some seven or eight men the Reveille did not blow for them at the close of the actual hostilities but was delayed for some time after the Peace had come about.

The book is profusely illustrated with maps and photographs of every description and while vast in its treatment of the World's Great Cataclysm, nevertheless seems to convey that personal touch that is so often lacking in the more technical histories of the war.

There are many things that might be extolled in the books. Suffice to say, however, that they are perfect examples of Canadian workmanship. No efforts have been spared to make the volumes a masterpiece of technical and workmanlike perfection. It is a book that will delight the heart of the collector and book enthusiast.

There is something, however, apart from all these qualities that will make it live. It is shown in every one of its pages, the fine fast perceptions and movements of a sublime soul. Here in an insesate volume is portrayed the greatness of this British of ours. It tells the story of the boys and men in the bllices who responded to the call in the hour of Britain's travail. Who submitted themselves to become cogs in a great wheel that Democracy might live. Endured hardships and experienced pains that were unimagined. A glorious thing this citizen army.

Our thanks are due to the Canadian Bank of Commerce for their splendid work in publishing these "Letters from the Front."

CRISP COMMENTS

In the mater of selecting a representative flower for Belleville we have already received a number of suggestions, among the being the Iris, Gladiola and Peony. What is yours?

Daily clashes between north and south may well impel distressed Ireland to exclaim, in desperation: "Save me from my friends."

Delegates of the C. M. A., who have been touring the West Indies are about to turn their faces homeward. It is expected they will be able to show more substantial business evidences of their visit than merely enjoying a pleasant time.

As the early strawberry is autocrat among fruits, so may the same distinction be accorded asparagus in the vegetable world, when it was quoted in New York market last week at $2.75 a bunch.

BENEFITS OUTWEIGH DRAWBACKS

Ottawa Citizen

The benefits of daylight saving are many, the most notable being the opportunity it gives to city others to indulge in healthy, outdoor recreation. Sunshine is a boon, all will admit, and the whole purpose of daylight saving is to give people more sunshine. Those engaged in agriculture and some early-hour occupations have expressed opposition to daylight saving. Farm workers may have some sound objections to submit there, although they are immediately apparent to those not occupied. There is no method of equalizing season working, according to "sun time," however, if so desired, so that the drawbacks of daylight saving do not seem to outweigh its advantages.

SEIZE THE OPPORTUNITIES

Borden Cities Star.

The Dominion has not taken full advantage, in its past, of the commercial opportunities that were hers. Only in recent years have we come to a realization of what we are in a position to accomplish in the way of stimulating foreign trade. The visit of Canadian business men to the West Indies, now in progress, is a samples of our new energy along trade expansion lines. The main thing for Canadian manufacturers, now is to secure real markets for these products are created. A great business revival is on the way. Canada must be prepared to take full advantage of it.

SPRINGTIME

Glorious Springtime, we hail thee
Come once again with a message so sweet,
Telling us plain to "Awake from our sadness
And rejoice in the Lord" whose love is so great.

He giveth us sunshine to brighten our pathway,
And sweet flowers bloom with their colors so gay,
The birds with their song, bid us all to be happy,
So let us take heed, and rejoice every day.

How can we be sad with such wonders around us?
The birds, trees and flowers are God's tokens of love,
They each bring a message of peace and salvation,
Right down from the throne of our Father above.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—I see in last night's Intelligencer that Dr. Prince, the speedhunter is being haunted. I think it shows base ingratitude on the part of the spooks that they should haunt a man who was the means of laying a fake spook, who was poaching on their preserves. They ought to have protested him with a five gallon jar of their best "spirits" to show their appreciation. I appeal to you sir! Their conduct is not consistent with the recognized international rules of modern war, and I hereby enter a complaint.

AUSTRIA PLACES TAX ON RENTS

Vienna, March 24.—The State of Vienna is attempting to solve the housing problem by putting a heavy tax on rents from which it hopes to collect 1,500,000,000 kronen a year, which sum is to be used to construct dwellings to be rented without profit.

The state government is strongly Social Democratic and opposesits of the measure, who are chiefly property owners, denounce it as socialization housing.

The tax is made payable by the tenant. The lowest tax rate would be 100 per cent on a rent amounting to 3,000 kronen a year but it would increase until on a sustax basis the maximum tax would be 1,000 per cent. of the rent paid by the tenant.

Rents are now limited by law and it is claimed that private investors would have to get 600 times the legal rate of rent in order to make it profitable for them to build homes.

A GOOD HOME DINNER

Is there anything that makes one hungrier than the words "a home dinner"? Hotels may have famous chefs who can prepare delectable and unusual dishes—but, somehow, just having a meal in a home glorifies that meal. Try the following simple dinner menu on your family—

Vegetable Soup
Veal Rolls with Dressing
Boiled Potatoes Spinach
Cakes Canned-Peach Betty

Vegetable Soup—Wash, scrape, and cut into small pieces, one-third of a cup each of carrots and turnips, one-half cup of celery and one and one-half cup of potatoes. Mix these vegetables, all except the potato-slice, and let cook ten minutes in two and one-half tablespoons butter, or any fat, stirring constantly. Then add the potatoes, let fry two minutes more, add one quart of hot water and let boil for an hour—or until the vegetables are all soft. Season with salt and pepper (to taste), add two tablespoons of butter, and serve either with or without vegetables in it.

Veal Rolls with Dressing—Have a thin slice cut from the leg, sufficient in size to accommodate your family. (This slice should be large enough so that enough squares, three by three inches in size, may be cut from it to serve the family.) The best way is to go to the butcher's, rather than get it by telephone, and see whether a one-pound slice, or a two-pound slice will be enough for you. After cutting the slice into these small squares (there will need not be exactly squares, of course) dust them lightly with salt and pepper and spread the following dressing over them, then roll up the squares separately and tie each one securely so that it cannot unroll. Slices of uncooked ham may be cooked in exactly the same way, using the same dressing.

Dressing for Veal Rolls—Put one cup of breadcrumbs into a bowl, and add 4 fried and chopped slices of bacon, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1 large chopped raw onion, and one-half teaspoon of sage. Moisten with a little melted butter and hot water and spread this on the veal squares. This recipe makes enough dressing for four squares that measure 3 x 3 inches.

Canned-Peach Betty—Put into a buttered baking dish a layer of bread or cake broken into small pieces and sprinkle this with brown sugar; dot with bits of butter and sprinkle with ground cinnamon lightly. Now add a layer of canned halved or quartered peaches, then repeat the process—alternating these two layers until the dish is full. Finish with crumbs, dot over with butter, add enough hot water (or the juice from the canned peaches mixed with a little hot water) to moisten well, and bake 45 minutes to one hour in a medium oven. Serve hot with the following:

Hard Sauce—Put one-half cup of butter into a bowl and work into it gradually, 1 cup of confectioners sugar. Add 1 teaspoon of vanilla and 1 tablespoon of milk, then work in enough more confectioners sugar, to make quite stiff. Chill, and serve on the pudding. A sprinkling of ground nutmeg or cinnamon may also be added to this sauce if desired.

HUGHES ADVISES RESUMPTION OF TRADE WITH GERMANY

London, March 24.—The suggestion of maintaining a policy of opposition to the resumption of trade with Germany, a course which had already been abandoned by the rest of the world, was dwelt on in a speech yesterday by Premier Hughes of Australia, according to a Reuter despatch from Melbourne.

The Premier added that Australia wanted markets for its primary products of which Germany was a large purchaser especially of coarse wools. He declared that German competition in the local market, though not necessarily purchases, made a difference of between three and four millions sterling to the Australian growers.

Tinker Bob Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

TIM, THE JU NGLE KING.

"Well, Tim must be getting anxious to go back to his mother," said Tinker Bob to Silky while the little Elephant was away to the river getting a drink. "By, that time I think I will go time for us to be getting back to the Great Forest. I feel that the folks will be anxious to see us. Think of it. We have been away since Major Pole Cat a long time, and there is Jerry the Jay. I want to Jerry if he is meddlesome."

Then Tim came back from the river. "Tim," said Tinker Bob, "don't you think we ought to go back to your mother? She will think I have run away with you never to return."

"Yes," said Tim, "I think we should go back and tell the tribe what we have seen on our journey to the dotter. My nose is all right now," and he gave it a twist which nearly sent Silky sprawling on the ground.

"All right, if you think we should go we will start now," said Tinker. He looked around to see if there was anything that he had forgotten, but there was nothing. He was just a little sorry to leave all of these wonderful creatures behind in the terrible jungles without a King. He thought how nice it was that the Great Forest creatures like Reddy Fox and Jack the Rabbit, could have a King to tell their troubles to. Everyone likes to have someone to whom they can go in times of distress. But these poor creatures of the jungle had to fight it out and the strongest was always the ruler.

"Why can't I make you the King of the Jungles?" asked Tinker and he and Silky climbed to the back of Little Tim.

"What, make me a King!" exclaimed Tim. "How could you make me a King? I don't know what to do with myself, how could I do things for others?"

"You know how to be good to the creatures of the Jungles, don't you?" asked Tinker as he lifted Tim's ear to make sure that he heard.

"Sure, I know how to be good to everybody," said Tim throwing his trunk from side to side.

"Well, that's the only thing that makes a good King. If you will treat everyone of these folks like you would have them treat you they will only be too glad to have you for a King. Do you think you can do that?"

"Of course I can do that. But they will not listen to me."

"You know how to be good to the creatures of the Jungles, don't you?" asked Tinker as he lifted Tim's ear to make sure that he heard.

"They will always listen to you if you do the right thing by them," said Tinker, again lifting his ear so that he would not have to repeat his words.

They were journeying by the side of the river and presently they saw a splashing and as the King looked up he saw nothing but ripples.

"I know what that was," said Tim, "and it was no fish either."

Again there was another splash and who do you think Tinker Bob saw?

Tips to Housewives

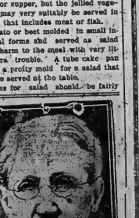

Vegetable Jellies For Salads

Vegetables molded in gelatine give a pleasant variety to the menu and are particularly well adapted for use in salads.

Chicken aspic and other jellies made with meat stock are nutritious enough to form the main dish at luncheon or supper, but the jellied vegetables may very suitably be served in a meal that includes meat or fish.

Tomato or beet molded in small individual forms and served as salad adds charm to the meal with very little extra trouble. A tube cake pan makes a pretty mold for a salad that is to be served at the table.

SCRAP IRON

JOHNNY WILSON ANXIOUS FOR MATCH WITH GREB

New York, March 24.—Since Harry Greb of Pittsburg put a crimp in the aspirations of Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, Greb has been swamped by challenges. First of all, Jack Dempsey announced through his manager that he wouldn't mind meeting Greb. Now comes "Johnny" Wilson, middleweight champion, with the statement that he would like to try conclusions with the Pittsburger.

The only difficulty in the case of Wilson is that he is under the ban of the New York State Athletic Commission, imposed several months ago, when he refused to box Greb, under a contract. Several other States barred Wilson in consequence. However, it would appear John has had a change of heart, and wants to fight Greb after all.

If the boxing moguls lift the ban on Wilson it would not be surprising if the southpaw middleweight and Greb were tossed into the arena in Jersey City on December Day for twelve rounds. There are no decisions in New Jersey, and if Wilson could stay with the Pittsburger his title would be safe. To win the title Greb would have to knock Wilson out.

U. S. ATHLETES INVADE EUROPE

Runners and Boxers in the Vanguard of the First Party.

New York, March 24.—America's first big invasion of Europe starts today when five of the best runners at the University of Pennsylvania sail to compete in the first British "intercollegiate."

Sailing on the same ship is the venerable featherweight champion, Johnny Kilbane, whose plans in England aren't so definite.

The Penn delegation consists of Captain Larry Brown, Johnny Herr, Dan Head, Symon Kerr and Elmer McLane.

Four of the quintet will be picked to run a mile each in a four-mile relay against teams from Oxford, Cambridge and other prominent British universities.

Any of the five is among the foremost milers in the intercollegiate ranks, and with any kind of favorable conditions Coach Lawson Robertson expects them to break a world's record.

Kerr and McLane are freshmen and have done sensational work on the track. In the one year rule does not prevail in England, they will be allowed to compete.

The meet is being staged by th Achilles Club, an organization of Oxford and Cambridge graduates. The plans are patterned after the American "intercollegiates" and it is hope eventually to have more American representation in the games.

If possible the Penn team will be taken to Paris for a race and will then return immediately to the United States in time to compete at the Penn relays.

Kilbane Expects Race

If England gives Johnny Kilbane, the well-known rass, the Cleveland Irishman will not be surprised.

"I read what the papers have been saying about me over there, and I even got the ice pitcher at the British consul's office, but I think I can make them change their minds about me," he said lately.

The champion and his party are going to visit Ireland, England, France, Germany, and if their money does not run out, Kilbane says they may make it a world jaunt before they return.

While he is going primarily to do stage work, he intimated he may do a little fighting.

Eugene Criqui, the French featherweight champion, has been matched with Joe Fox, the British title holder. The winner will meet Jimmy Wyse, the Belgian champion, and a promoter in London wants Kilbane to take the survivor.

FIGHT RESULTS

Providence—Young Montreal, Providence bantamweight, took a ten-round bout from Willie Spencer, New York, Montreal won every round.

Coast Champions Now Have Three-Goal Lead on Irish.

Toronto, March 24.—By capturing last night's game, the third of the series, the Vancouver Millionaires took a good hold on the Stanley Cup and while the St. Patrick's may attain their form of several weeks ago and stage a victory on Saturday night, the opinion of the majority of the sports are at last night's game was that the Westerners are the better team and will win the world's championship, the two teams entered the game on even terms, each having won the pastime staged under their opponents' rules, but after the sixty minutes from the Pacific Coast champions emerged with a 3 to 0 victory that was indeed much the better team. They beat Reach once in each of the three periods and two of the goals were clearly earned, but the third was more of a gift than anything else, although the stick-handling that Oatman displayed deserved a goal. However, the three-goal margin is not too great to give a correct indication of the play as the Westerners played a strictly defensive game in the last period and were more content with preserving their two-goal lead than in increasing it.

Without detracting any credit from the shutout, he favored the member when on the ice, and his rushes did not have the speed they usually have. Hunter was also forced to take a couple of rests, and for the main portion of the winners, it must be said for the locals that they were not at full strength for the game. Cameron cam, out of hospital today and his feet pointed him from going the distance and he had to take a number of rests the game the defence consisted of Randall and one or other of the two regulars. When Stuart and Cameron were both on Randall, relieved on the line, but he was greatly missed as a relief when Dye and Dennesay showed signs of distress. In the last period Randall sustained a fractured thumb, but continued after getting it temporarily bandaged.

NEW WOMEN TENNIS STARS

Successors to Suzanne Lenglen Are Already Chosen in France.

Nice, France, March, 24.—Whether Suzanne Lenglen ever "comes back" and opinion is evenly divided, France is destined to reserve her claim as the home of sensational women tennis players, as two youthful stars have been deve'oped on the Riviera this winter, who, according to experts might even now give the mighty Suzanne at her best, a very hard game.

Mademoiselle Jung, an 18-year old player from Havre and Mad-moiselle Descleres, aged 16, born in Paris, are the two outstanding feminine stars of the winter.

The work of Mlle. ung was already known, for she was ranked seventh among the French women players for 1921 but such has been the improvement in her game that she is certain to be among the first three this season. She has perfect strokes, judgment and is exceptionally good as a lob-ber.

Mademoiselle Descleres, however appears to have the greatest undeveloped qualities of the two. She already serves with wonderful control and length, has a perfect backhand drive and is able to lob with unerring accuracy. Paired with Sam Hardy of Chicago, the 1920 United States Davis Cup Team Captain, in the mixed doubles, she defeated such veterans as Mrs. Beamish and A. H. Lamb of London for the championship. She still lacks tournament experience as most of her opponents on the Riviera were playing tennis before she was born but she is already acknowledged to be a better doubles player than Miss Lenglen and not much below the latter's standard in singles.

SPORT STUFF

The town is simply hot with burning baseball talk.

The bug has even got hold of the ping at the office here.

We're going to trot out a mean team in that indoor league.

Gangway there and let the champs enlar.

In less than two months from to-day the Central League will be in operation.

Let's battle tough for the old silver this year.

Gosh it must be great to be a press agent at one of those big league training camps.

They keep telling us how much this and that star is going to get every time he steals up to bat.

And then they tell us about the wonderful rookies that the wise scouts have dug out in Tuscaloosa somewhere. All of which reminds us—

"Look well upon the bush league crowds,
The stars of tender age!
Whose youthful mugs are now allowed
To grace the sporting page.
Look upon them well upon these hopeful chaps,
Whose pictures now appear,
Because you will not see their maps,
When Summer days are here."

Ain't it the truth?

TINGLING with abundant energy, appetites hearty, nerves strong and steady and their faces radiant with the glow of perfect health, the entire family of J. R. Cowell, well-known fruit grower, R. F. D. S. from families where mother, father, son and daughter have all found health, contentment and the joys of living restored by the marvelous powers of Tanlac.

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

"In that camp I shall not try to serve this year. I don't want to stay in the neighborhood, but I want to know the facts. I shall try to see other farmers and report what they say. It may lead to a settlement."

The words were together the top of the hill near which we had been standing. Far ahead I saw a cloud of dust and no signs of Latour and Jarvis. They must have spurred their horses down a run. I knew the reason for the Latour would try to serve the writs in spite of me. They were in his pocket. What a fool I had been not to call for them. My commission saw the look of concern in my face.

"I don't like that young fellow," said Curtis. "He's in for trouble."

He ran toward his house, which was only a few rods beyond us, while I stood in full pursuit of the two men at top speed. Before my horse had taken it's second jump I heard a horn blowing behind me and its echo in the hills. Within a half a moment a dozen horses were sounding in the valleys around me. What a contrast to the quiet of a little while ago! I been riding was this pandemonium which had broken loose in the countryside. A little ahead I could see men running out of the fields. My horse had begun to falter, for the sun was hot. My companions were far ahead. I could not see the writs, but I knew that they were trying to catch them and checked the speed of my horse and went on at a walk. The horns were still sounding. Some of them seemed to be miles away. About twenty rods ahead I saw three riders in strange costumes come out of a lane-way and take the road at a wild gallop in pursuit of Latour and Jarvis. Then I had discovered me. I kept as calm as I could in the midst of this excitement.

I passed the house from which the three riders had just turned into the road. A number of women and an old man and three or four children stood on the porch. They looked at me in surprise as I went panting and then began to hiss and jeer. It gave me a feeling I have never known since that day. I jogged along over the brow of the hill when, at a white, frame house, I saw a motor toward which all the men of the countryside were coming. Latour heard the hoofbeats of a horse behind see. I stopped, and Latour and Jarvis were now a rider approaching me in the costume of an Indian chief. A red mask covered his face, a crest of eagle feathers circled the edge of his cap. Without a word he rode on at my side. I knew even then that he was the man Josiah Curtis—for—I could it at any time from that it was he.

A crowd had assembled around the motor car. I could see by the rising of horsemen coming toward it from the other side. I wondered what was going to happen to me. What a shouting and jeering in the crowded graveyard! I could see the smoke of a fire. We reached the gate. Man in Indian names and costume rushed around me.

"Order! Sh-sh-sh," was the loud command of the man beside me in whom I recognized—or thought that I did—the voice of Josiah Curtis. "What has happened?"

"One o' them tried to serve a writ on us," answered Latour and Jarvis.

Just then I heard the voice of Private shouting back in the crowd that I had captured them.

"Sart, for God's sake, count here."

I turned to Curtis and asked:

"If the gentleman tried to serve the writ he acted without orders and he knows what he has got to do. Any other fellow is simply a hired man who came here to take care of the horses. He couldn't tell the difference between a writ and a hole in the ground."

"Man, you have gone far enough," said Curtis. "This man is all right. Bring the other men here and put a guard on their horses as' I'll escort 'em out of the town."

They brought Latour on a rail amidst roars of laughter. What a like, pointirited, be-pooded object he was—burred and sheathed in crumpled tar feathers from his hair to his heels. The sight and smell of him scared the horses. There were bunches of feathers over his eyes and on his chin. They had found great joy in spoiling that aristocratic livery in which he had arrived.

Then came poor Purvis. They had first begun to apply the tar and feathers to him when Curtis had stopped the process. He had only a dozen or so puff of long feathers around his neck,

NOTICE
The English Bird and Canada's Own Warbler.

Wherever the English have roved they have always kept England in their hearts, and wherever anything in the strange, new land reminded them, however slightly, of anything in the old home country, they have unhesitatingly named it for the old land. Thus the tendency from the very many of our Canadian plants and beasts and birds have been named after plants and beasts and birds of Europe, to which, in the majority of cases, they bear slight, if any, resemblance.

One of the most interesting and widely-met-with example of this is the English robin, which was named after the much smaller and very distantly related English robin. This probably was done when the utterly ridiculous, but none the less dapper, sobbily homesick, Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock, and discovered something in the plump, red-breasted bird which cocked its bright eye at them so fearlessly that reminded them of the friendly, little pert redbreast at home. They named him Robin Redbreast at once and robin he has remained ever since.

The English bird is only about half the size of ours, his breast is a rusty yellow, never achieving anything of the brilliant scarlet our robin dons so gaily at the mating season, and his legs are considerably longer. In comparison with the size, his song, too, though wistfully sweet and beloved of the Englishman, is thin and fey syllabled, compared with the full-throated medley which our sturdy robin can render on occasion. Our bird is a songster indeed of spring and happy sunshine, while his cousin is a little spot of homely color and life in the dullness of the wintry months.

The Canadian robin is very commendably, and, even outside of the busy months of nesting and bringing up their young, seem to get along very well with each other, and several may be seen quite amicably pulling worms in his companionable worms on the same lawn. The English bird is quite different, as, once past the mating season, they are very unsociable with each other, each one blocking out his individual hunting ground and often fighting even a mate or a brother to death for, intruding on this preserve. Our robin, though he has very little fear of man and seems to prefer to live near to civilization, is quite shy of too friendly approaches, and seems to prefer the society of his kind, while the other shows even his own offspring, and can be reached on to eating out of a person's hand and even building in the eaves of house.

Both are thrushes, though of distant branches of the family, both are strong on the song and not afraid or friendly to man—these constitute their only similarities. However, the name robin is such a pretty one and has such a charm of romance about and friendliness behind it that our beloved "O-De-Cmin" has lost nothing through its application.

We have another American bird, which, though christened in much the same manner, was not so fortunate. This is the sparrow hawk. The sparrow hawk was named after the Marquess of Sparrow as a libel on him, as he is absolutely unmanlushable in his appearance, while he is thoroughly beautiful, living on mice and grasshoppers and such pests and is not at all destructive to small or birds. Unfortunately, he does look rather like the English sparrow hawk, and is quite capable of living even the smaller song birds in his diet. Of course, we have other hawks that are very destructive to birds, for example, the pigeon hawk and the sharp shinned hawk, but the sparrow hawk is quite innocent of such depredations, as his name implies.—Toronto Sunday World.

Northern Relics.

The Hudson Bay Company has purchased a large collection of Eskimo relics and Indian curios owned by Dr. W. H. Dickinson, of Orillia, in Frairie. The collection consists of more than 150 pieces of the handiwork of many tribes, including Cree, Chipewyan, Dogrib, Slave, Chipewyan, Loucheux and the Eskimos of the northern Arctic coast. The acquisition of the collection by the company with the Dagg collection of Calgary, which is now on exhibition, and the specimens gathered by R. B. Watson at old Fort Severn in the interior in 1926, will become the nucleus of what will be a museum established by the Hudson Bay Company in Winnipeg, for 300 years the history of the Hudson Bay Company was the history of Western Canada. Under its charter granted in 1670 by King Charles II., the company until 1870, when it surrendered its rights to the Government, owned in fee simple practically all of Western Canada. When it chose out to farm settlers all the fertile land extending for 10 south of the North Saskatchewan river for the distance of about 1,000,000 acres—the last vestiges of the old empire will have passed out of its possession.

Twisting the Beaver's Tail.

A resolution standing in the House of Representatives in the name of Congressman Ten Eyck, of New York, calls upon the President to open negotiations with Britain for the acquisition of that part of Quebec that lies south of the St. Lawrence river. The value of this is to be set off against the debt of Great Britain to the United States. This follows a resolution of almost similar import by Senator King in the Senate. The apologists for Britain in the U.S., of course, describe these as joke resolutions, but it is to emphasize the Deep Waterways project.

A Good "Setter."

Phone and Postal Service in City Are Compared

Special Review Made by The Intelligencer of Two of Belleville's Most Vital Services—How the Post Office Handles the Mail—An Average of 4,680 Outgoing Letters Per Day Passes Through Hands of Mail Clerks.

TELEPHONE SERVICE DETAILS EXPLAINED

Has the telephone taken the place of the mails to any great extent of recent years? This is a very topical question, which crops up in the minds of many of us today, and a question on which there is no doubt considerable argument without knowing the facts.

With a view to solving the question, the Intelligencer called on Mr. A. Clifton, postmaster, Mr. J. V. C. Wright, assistant Postmaster, and Mr. J. A. Cohere, local manager of the Telephone exchange.

Possibly few of us ever stop to realize the amount of work, and the system, in connection with a letter, for instance, between the time it is mailed and received. A trip through the local post office would enlighten many one, and we are not acquainted with the efficient manner in which His Majesty's mail is handled. Carelessness seems to prevail in addressing letters in rampant, as many as twenty-five letters per day arriving in Belleville insufficiently addressed. In fact there is a "box purposely for these letters where they are placed for inspection by the letter carriers, and the clerks, to see if the owner can be ascertained. If not, they are placed in the general delivery department for fifteen days.

The volume of business handled, varies according to the season, and also from day to day. For instance, a firm may launch an advertising campaign or send out a large number of accounts, and bring the days' receipts up above the average.

A novel feature of the local post office is the electric stamping and obliterating machine, installed some two and a half years ago. This machine stamps and obliterates 1200 letters per minute, but will not handle large, unwieldly envelopes. It is a comparatively new invention and is a decided improvement over the old fashioned hand stamping machines.

When asked as to how many letters passed through the local office in twenty-four hours, Postmaster Clifton could not state definitely as no record

SOVIET GOVERNMENT CHARGED WITH STEALING DANISH FURS

Case Launched by Russian Trading Company of Copenhagen Being Heard in Leipsig Court, $2,000,000 Worth of Furs Being Involved.

Leipsic, March 24.—The claim of the Russian Trading Company, of Copenhagen against the Soviet Government, which is accused of having stolen $2,000,000 worth of furs Danish property, is being heard in court to-day. The president of the court proposed that the furs, be sold at auction, and that the money paid for them be deposited until the trading company's claim is proven. The company, however, refused to consent to this, insisting it had identified all the furs as its property. They were stored in Moscow in 1918 under the protection of the Soviet regime, just as if they were Danish Government goods.

Erik Plum, general manager of the Russian Trading Company in Copenhagen, assumed the correspondent to-day.

"I can prove," piece by piece, that the furs are those we stored in Moscow. It is true that the tags as well as other identification marks have been changed, but this is because the furs were repacked after they were taken from bonded warehouses and after the Soviets shipped them to Leipsic, the great fur market of europe.

It is well known in Berlin that the Soviet Trade Commission there

INDUSTRIES OF CITY VISITED

Members of City Council Inspect Several Plants Located Here.

LARGE STAFFS

Factories Are Working at Full Swing With Strong Payrolls.

A number of the members of the City Council, accompanied by Mr. J. D. Hendry, Industrial Commissioner and Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and press representatives, on Friday afternoon visited some of the industries in the city, also the round house and work-shops of the G.T.R.

At the various places the delegation received a most cordial reception and were shown through the plants and their workings explained.

At the old canning factory premises situated on Pinnacle street, four or five industries are housed, and these were first visited, the first being the H. A. Wood safe plant, Mr. C. Graham, in charge, accompanied the visitors about the premises and explained the working of the various machines that are used for the manufacture of auto valves and the Wood detachable tilting lever steering wheel. The latter can be so adjusted as to allow the driver to enter or leave the car without difficulty. All tubes and valves made by the company are guaranteed.

Shoe Factory Inspected

The Natural Tread Shoe Limited industry was next inspected, and Mr. C. S. W. Stuesberg who is vice-president of the company, was on hand to welcome the delegation and spared no pains in showing how a pair of shoes are manufactured. Many of the machines are intricate in their manufacture and do fine work. The working of each machine was minutely explained.

The delegation next visited the Ontario Knitting Co. where on hand a considerable number of visitors were shown how hats of various materials are manufactured. The company have on hand a considerable number of hats of various designs.

In the building the last concern visited was that of the A. S. Richardson Company, Limited, who manufacture Display Rack Signs. Mr. Harold Holton is in charge of same and he explained how those show fixtures, chiefly figure

TURKS RECEIVE ARMISTICE PROPOSAL

Constantinople, March 25.—The British commissioner yesterday afternoon handed to the Grand Vizich, Tewfik Pasha, a collective note from the Allied Powers outlining the proposals for an armistice between the Turks and Greeks in Asia Minor.

A similar note from the Marquis Curzon, British Foreign Minister, was handed to the Nationalist representative for transmission to Angora, the seat of the Nationalist Government.

SUFFERING FROM LAPSE OF MEMORY

Aged Woman Picked up in Shannonville by Provincial Officer.

A woman giving her name as Martha Caswell, and her age 72, was picked up in Shannonville by Provincial Officer Hughes on Thursday, and taken to the Home of Refuge in this city.

The woman, who was neatly dressed appears to be suffering from loss of memory. She says she was born in Toronto, and has a husband, sons and daughters, but does not remember where they are. Since placed in the Home he has proven herself to be an artist, and has also done some fine crochet work.

Officer Hughes has made many enquiries regarding the peculiar case, but has not found anyone who knows the woman. Anyone knowing anything about her are requested to get in touch with the Provincial police headquarters as any information will be gladly received.

CANADA'S MODERN TOWER OF BABEL

Winnipeg, March 25.—Winnipeg has modern tower of babel, a polyglot boast. Operating a filibuster in the provincial legislature, Joseph Bernier of St. Boniface and Antonia Wagner, can speech in French which no was the only person to understand. John Williams, of Selkirk, a dour Scot, is lorted with some choice Gaelic, and D. Yakimshuk, of Emerson, threatens to continue his afternoon with a variety of Central European dialects.

MERCHANT'S BANK FIGURES AS RECEIVED AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, March 25.—In its return to the finance department for October 31st, the Merchants Bank declared the total assets at $155,415,491, and the total liabilities at $165,185,703. The amount of rest or reserve fund was given as $8,450,000. In its November statement, the Merchants Bank gave the reserve fund as $8,000,000. It is the same figure. In the statement for December, however, the reserve fund was reduced to $1,500,000, a reduction of $7,850,000.

ALLIED MINISTERS DISCUSS PROBLEM OF ARMENIA

Paris, March 25.—What to do with Armenia was again the question under discussion by the Allied Foreign Ministers at this morning's session of their conference on Near Eastern problems. They also took up the subject of the final peace terms on which Greece will be asked to evacuate Asia Minor in case the Turkish Nationalists accept the armistice as proposed by the Allied conferees.

HIGH SEAS MURDER STORY

The Story of the Herbert Fuller Tragedy Comes Out.

Halifax, N.S., March 25.—With Captain Charles J. Nash, Mrs. Laura Nash, and Ingmar W. Blandberg murdered and their decomposing bodies towed in a ship's boat twenty feet astern, the United States barquentine, Herbert Fuller, entered Halifax harbor July 21, 1906.

Then was announced to the world what has become known as the Herbert Fuller tragedy, a horror of the north Atlantic, the like of which had not been on the Atlantic coast today and which never fails to be recalled when one speaks of the High Seas. It was told, such as that of Captain Joseph N. Chute of the four-masted schooner, Lizzie Brothers, who was killed on his vessel off Key West, Florida, recently.

A fortnight before her arrival in Halifax, the Herbert Fuller sailed from Boston, lumber laden, for Rosario, Argentine Republic. Her commander and principal owner, Captain Nash, of Harrington, Me., was accompanied by his wife, a woman of thirty-five years. Lester Hawthorne Monks, a young Harvard graduate, was a passenger. Thomas Bjorkman was mate of the Kitts, West Indies, but who signed articles as hailing from Nova Scotia, and Ingmar Blandberg, a native of Finnland, Jenthen Spencer, colored, steward, H. J. Steer, New Jersey, Chas. Brown, Holland, Chas. Anderson and Luke Weimer, Sweden, and Frank Lobecco, France, completed the personnel of the ship's crew.

The mate, Bram, took with him a couple of jars of whiskey, and a few days out from Boston, the two mates drank of it. Bram commented to the steward that Blandberg vomited after taking the whiskey. The steward answered that the second mate had been poisoned and asked from what he drank. Bram replied that he used a pop, but that he—Bram—had thrown the cup overboard. The steward said he would use part of the same pop for analysis, whereupon Bram wiped all trace of it from the deck lumber. On another occasion the mate commented on what the Fuller's cargo of lumber would be worth to the Cuban insurgents.

On Monday night, July 13, Mate Bram was on deck, and Seaman Brown was at the helm. Captain Nash had retired to a little room used as a chart room and thrown himself on the couch, Lester Monks was in his bunk, Mrs. Nash in the chart room and the Captain's cabin. The latter was occupied by Mrs. Nash. Steward Steer and Blandberg slept near the cabin's forward companionway. The sailors were in the forepart of the ship.

In the night of the 13th was warm and calm and those not on watch seem to have slept soundly. Then, at about two hundred miles off Halifax,

A woman's cry pierced the silence and was answered by a pistol shot. He jumped out of his berth and groped his way to the chart room where he found Captain Nash shot dead. Putting his hand to he commander's couch he withdrew it smeared with blood. He hurried with the news to the deck and there ran into Bram. The latter, armed with a piece of timber, made a plunge at him. Monks escaped and, seizing a revolver and held the mate at bay.

"Lester Monks and Bram" Bram said a report of the time, "might be imagined by an onlooker each to have supposed the other was a murderer." The mate's excuse for attempting to assault the passenger, could only be guessed at, but it is believed that he was stunned by the fall and was unable to save himself.

SUMMON LEADERS TO CONFERENCE

Discuss Plans to Check the Orgy of Crime in Ireland.

ARRIVE SUNDAY

Government May Occupy Ulster With Troops, is Leading Opinion.

London, March 24.—Shocked by the latest atrocity reported from Belfast—the murder of nine persons, four in one family—the Government took steps tonight to check the orgy of crime. Late tonight the following announcement was issued from the Colonial Offices: "In view of the gravity of recent events in Ireland, His Majesty's Government has telegraphed a formal request to Mr. Michael Collins and Sir James Craig to come to London with any colleagues they may wish to bring, in order that His Majesty's Government may examine every aspect of the situation.

It is expected that Mr. Collins and Sir James Craig will arrive in London on Sunday.

Gen. Sir Nevil Macready, commander-in-chief in Ireland, formerly stationed in Dublin but now struggling with Belfast's troubles, arrived in London today. It is known that he takes the gravest view of the situation. It is doubt that the Government will have to occupy Ulster with troops, nominally under the direction of the Northern Government. This measure, together with a scheme for a neutral zone between the hostile areas, will probably be canvassed on Sunday.

NUMBER OF CARS DESTROYED IN FIRE

Toronto, March 24.—Eighteen automobiles were destroyed when fire ravaged the Department of Soldiers' and Civil Relief garage and Sexcraft toy work shop, 1604-8 Depot street, early yesterday doing damage between $20,000 and $40,000.

Thrilling rescues of five automobiles by returned soldiers employed at the garage featured a fierce fire which swept through the one-storey structure like a hurricane.

REFUSE RELEASE FOR DOUGHTY

Application for Parole Is Not Kindly Received at Ottawa.

Ottawa, March 25.—A petition for the release under license on the ground of clemency of John Doughty, held in Kingston penitentiary for the theft of victory bonds belonging to the Ambrose Small estate, has been referred by his excellency the Governor-General. The grounds for the refusal are not, however, stated.

Petitioners, who names are not divulged, are understood to have based their request for release on the fact that Doughty was the lawful custodian of the bonds in question, that he had been authorized so to act by Ambrose Small, his employer, and that he would have been derelict in his duty had he handed them over to anybody but Small himself.

The grounds are not considered sufficient by the penitentiary authorities. Doughty has served but a small portion of his sentence.

It has been reported that application may later be made on Doughty's behalf upon representations that he is in a position to disclose, if given suitable evidence in connection with the Small case. This is at the present time a matter for the provincial authorities to deal with, and no official intimation of such a proposal has yet come before the Ontario Cabinet.

There is a notable case where a man confined to the Stoney Mountain Penitentiary for the theft of $2,000 worth of jewelry was given release on promise that he would locate the stolen property at Portage la Prairie. The release was justified, for the prisoner led off to the spot, and located the loot after some trouble. In consideration of restitution he was given ticket of leave.

Canadian Miners in Sympathy with Strike Movement

ENGINEERS' STRIKE 1,000,000 MEN CONCERNED

London, March 25.—Unless the Government is asked to intervene there will be a complete stoppage in the engineering industry affecting one million men. Returns today from the vote taken on the proposal of management control agreement showed a majority of nearly 3 to 1 in favor against acceptance of the employers' terms. Prior to the taking of the ballot efforts had been made to arrive at a settlement between the labor mediators and the employers' federation.

American Miners May Drop Demand for 6-Hour Day and 5-Day Week — This Will Be First Peace Overture if Operators Consent to Conference.

STRIKE BOUND TO BE PROCEEDED WITH

Calgary, March 25.—A cessation of work in all mines in district 18 of the United Mine Workers of America, comprising Alberta and Eastern British Columbia will take place on April 1, according to a statement made by Robert Livett, International (Board Member after receiving a letter from Western Canada Coal Operators' Association last night.

Indianapolis, March 25.—The six-hour day and five-day week demand of 500,000 coal miners, ordered to strike on April 1, will be dropped as their first peace overture if bituminous operators consent to an interstate conference, according to belief expressed today at United Mine Workers Headquarters here.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 25.—A split in the ranks of the United Mine Workers of America was averted today. Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, and a bitter opponent of the mine workers, said: "The strike now is bound to go through and the work of the miners' executive here will be simply to agree upon methods for carrying it out."

Washington, March 25.—Ways of averting a coal mine tie-up on April 1, was one of the principal topics of discussion at the meeting today of President Harding and his cabinet, it was indicated. Attorney-General Daugherty and Secretary of Labor Davis, were expected to present suggestions for action by the executive.

Action by the president probably would take the course of inviting the operators and miners' representatives to a conference in Washington. Mr. Harding feels that a strike at this time would seriously interfere with the revival of business and is known to be anxious for a settlement of the controversy.

WOOD ALCOHOL PROVED FATAL

Madoc Man Dies as a Result of Drinking Fatal Poison.

That Harry Tompkins, aged 25, widower, with four children died on Thursday at Madoc from drinking wood alcohol was verdict brought in by a corner's jury at Madoc last night. Dr. Eagleson was coroner.

Tompkins died on Thursday at 12.30 p.m. His children had secured a doctor to attend him, but his services could not revive the poisoned man.

Provincial officer Hughes arrived from this morning from Madoc where he attended the inquest.

WILL PLEAD "NOT GUILTY" SAYS SIR MONTAGU ALLAN

Montreal, Que., March 25.—Sir H. Montagu Allan, late president of the defunct Merchants' Bank, in a statement yesterday afternoon, declared that he would plead not guilty to the charges laid against him by the minister of finance, of having concurred in the submission of a false financial statement to the federal authorities covering the bank's finance during the month of October last.

Sir Montagu appeared before Judge Cusson at 2 o'clock today, accompanied by two of his counsel, Messrs. Alex Goodfrion, K.C., and F. Meredith K.C. As in D. C. Mercer's case, his preliminary trial will be held in the enquete courch on March 31st.

ESTIMATES PRESENTED IN DOMINION PARLIAMENT

Finance Minister Fielding Names Sum Required for Public Service for 1922—$100,000,000 of Reduction Due to Railway and Soldier Settlement Cuts.

Ottawa, March 24.—Estimates of sums required for the public service in the fiscal year beginning on April 1st next, and totalling $466,243,259, were presented to the House of Commons today. Early next week an interim supply bill, calling upon Parliament to vote on blocs of these estimates will be introduced by the Government leader, Hon. Mackenzie King, who last session so severely criticized the Meighen Government for asking an interim appropriation of one-fourth of the main estimates. Hon. W. S. Fielding today blandly announced the Government's intention to ask interim supply as previous Government's had done, and envoke sarcastic comment from Sir Henry Drayton, the Conservative leader in the opposition Minister. "Last session," said the ex-Minister of Finance, "the premier criticized which were given very sparingly wrong. Last year it was stated by the present Prime Minister that interim supply would not be given, that it was morally wrong and indefensible to vote such large sums en bloc without consideration. Perhaps the Minister of Finance will give us some reasons which will show that the Opposition last year was wrong in its contention." To this Mr. Fielding replied that his attitude last year was not incons-tent with his attitude this year, and that circumstances in respect of the public service before the main estimates could be approved and the supply bill passed made a change necessary. "I am afraid the same reasons existed last year," retorted Sir Henry Drayton. It is worthy of note, furthermore, that the Meighen Government asked for interim supply one month after the presentation of the main estimates and after they had been before the committee of supply. The present the interim supply was introduced within a few days of the laying of the estimates on the table of the Commons.

Less Than Last Year

The estimates of 1921-22 include $167,297,487.85 to be voted by the Commons, and $160,965,571.49 to be expended under statutory authority. They are $138,452,291 less than the total estimates passed by Parliament last year, but only $111,000,000 less than the main estimates presented at the beginning of the last session.

WILL WITHDRAW TROOPS

Paris, March 25.—The Allied Council of Ambassadors to-day decided that the International troops occupying the Saar valley will be withdrawn. The decision to withdraw troops is said to be due to civil strife in Albania.

THE HELPERS AND HELPER

A SERMON FOR THE "SHUT-IN"—THOSE WHO ARE UNABLE TO ATTEND CHURCH SERVICES THROUGH ILLNESS OR INFIRMITY.

By Rev. W. S. Wallace, Pastor of Victoria Ave. Baptist Church.

"And when he saw their faith he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee."—Luke 5:20. But that you may know the Son of Man hath power upon earth to forgive sins." etc.—Luke 5:20-24.

This is one of the outstanding incidents in the life of Christ on earth. It is recorded in all the synoptic gospels. It grew very necessary to anybody to that overpowered by John's gospel we have such in the remarkable confession, the fact that Christ's sympathy reached at this time and also stated by John. The unspoken charge is, "So, here that Jesus made of himself equal with God and Jesus answer by referring to the authority He had from God, and gave as His proof the healing of the paralytic in the case now before us; then the words of Christ, "Arise, take up thy bed and walk," are found word for word both in Mark and John; and, lastly, Jesus pointed to His work as the evidence of His authority and the fact that He came from God.

In considering the subject for this morning we look first at:

The Scene.

This incident of the paralytic borne of four bygone days of Christ's first preaching tour in Galilee. Capernaum is a chief centre of activity. Here the Master is preaching in His own hired house, or perhaps, the home of John or Simon Peter. The house is crowded with those who have come from every quarter to see and hear the strange things that are done, and the wonderful words that are uttered by the Prophet of Galilee. We find Scribes and Pharisees from Jerusalem foremost among the curious, and who are there chiefly as critics. But the mass of people are by anxious to hear Jesus. They cannot wait for the Sabbath, when He would probably preach in the synagogue. As soon as they hear He is in the house, there they gather with their soul-hunger to be fed with the bread of life. Jesus preaches the word to them. What a suggestion that for every preacher! Our chief aim is to preach the Word of God.

While, the people are now listening to the greatest of all preachers something strange is about to happen. Four men are seen moving around the surging crowd at the door bearing a helpless but not hopeless burden. Not hopeless when Jesus is near and faith is strong. Here is a man with a disease that no earthly physician can cure. His case is probably one of extreme paralysis. He is a physical wreck—but the "Great Physician" can heal him. But these four burden-bearers cannot find a way through the crowd; it is truly a case of need, but man's inhumanity is manifest, no way is found though the crowd to Jesus. But these men show their faith by their works and soon find themselves with their burden upon the housetop, which, in nearly every case, is the East the flat. They soon remove a few of the stone slabs or tiles and make an opening large enough through which to lower their burden in the midst of the crowd and before Jesus.

The man who was brought to Jesus had a deeper need which his friends did not see, but Jesus saw it and also their faith, and said to him, "Son, thy sins be forgiven thee." Immediately the scribes and others said themselves, "Why doth this man thus speak? He blasphemeth. Who can forgive sins but one, even God?" But Jesus knowing their thoughts, said: "Whether is it easier to say thy sins are forgiven thee, or Arise, take up thy bed and walk?" But that ye may know that the Son of Man hath power on earth to forgive sins (He saith to the sick of the palsy) "Arise, take up thy bed, and walk." And he arose and straightway took up the bed and went forth before them all, insomuch that they were all amazed, and glorified God, saying, We never saw it on this fashion."

The Lessons.

What lessons do we gather from this scene?

People get what they are seeking. The scribes came to criticise and find fault; they found what they were looking for and went away with more hate and envy in their hearts. The four friends had all they wanted—their sick friend cured of his disease and that was worth seeking. They were surely repaid for all their trouble. Then the sick man himself got the best and largest blessing—forgiveness of sins.

Why did Jesus deal with the man's sin first? For two or three reasons. It was not only his chief need from the Divine standpoint, viz., the forgiveness of sin; but the man probably felt that his sin was doubtless the cause of his trouble, and the Jews themselves believed this. The man doubtless had a troubled conscience, and felt perhaps that his sin would prevent him from getting the blessing he friends desired for him. Jesus knew all this, and looked on the conscience-stricken and palsied man, and said with compassion and love in His heart, "Son, thy sins are forgiven thee." Then, forgiveness is the first great need of men—unpardoned sin keeps men away from God. Forgiveness is the ground of restoration to God. Jesus not only forgives sin, but he also cleanses from sin. Our sins are forgiven for Christ's sake. He died for our sins. Then again we are forgiven on the ground of faith—because we believe on Jesus. Again, it is that Jesus we have a type of sin in the palsy. As in this case sin dulls and takes away the sense of feeling. It weakens the will so that we are not able to do the things that we would. For illustration, the story is told of a young girl who lay in a city hospital for months. She talked and planned of all she was going to do. But the doctor said there was no hope. It was the saddest case he had ever witnessed. She had moral paralysis. She could plan, but could not will to do anything. She died after lingering in this condition for a few months. Sin also produces a fixed condition of evil. In all this we see the great need of forgiveness and cleansing through the power.

Then we should organize and work together to bring others to Christ, like these four men, who some one-hundred named the "First Christian Endeavor Society." Be one of the four, and be sure that you have faith and by your works. Some can find their own way to Christ, but others need to be carried. Some can only read once of a man who went 1000 miles to attend the school of the Christian Endeavor, but he probably was repaid for all his trouble. But how much more can men receive by going to Christ. But it is our business to bring others to Jesus. If the care seems hard it means the exercise of more faith and prayer and by bringing your friend to Jesus you may answer your own prayer by bringing your friend to Jesus. Then we may answer the prayer, "When He saw their faith, He said to the helpless man, Thy sins be forgiven thee." This was the man's chief need. Then healing of the man followed: "Take up thy bed, and walk." Jesus always honors faith and answers prayer. May we all have grace to meet the condition of the text and the promise: "What good thing will He withhold from them that walk uprightly."

Christian Service.

Go, labor on; spend, and be spent—
Thy joy to do the Master's will.
It is the way the Master went;
Should not the servant tread it still?
Go, labor on; 'tis not for nought:
Thy earthly loss is heavenly gain;
Men have died, love dies, praise lasts!

The Master praises—what are you?
Go, labor on; your hands are weak,
Your knees are faint, your soul sad down,
Yet faller not; the prize you seek
Is near—a kingdom and a crown.
Toil on, toil on, toil on!
The world's dark night is hastening
Speed, speed thy work; cast sloth
It is not thou that souls are won.
Toil on, toil on, faint not, keep watch, and pray!
Wise the erring soul to win;
Go forth into the world's highways,
Compel the wanderer to come in.
Toil on, toil on, toil on!
For toil comes rest, for exile home;
Soon shalt thou hear the Bridegroom's voice,
The midnight cry, "Behold I come!"

SPEAKER WILL NOT PROBE "WET" PARTY

Hon. Nelson Parliament Says Onus is Not on Him.

Toronto, March 28.—As the result of repeated requests for an investigation into the "wet" night celebration, which was held at the legislature in the spring of 1921, Hon. Nelson Parliament, speaker of the house, has been at some pains to consult parties nearly concerned and authorities to discover whether to start such a probe if one is demanded. His investigations have convinced him that it is not part of the duties of the speaker, but that responsibility for initiating any such investigation rests on the shoulders of the house as a whole.

EVERY MONTH MANY WOMEN

Take ZUTOO Tablets and are free of the Griping, Pain and Sick Headaches.

Read what Mrs. Wright says: "I received your sample of Zutoo Tablets, and took them for a month (6 tablets) and headaches. At the end of 30 minutes, I was entirely free of pain and experienced no more trouble during the period. I cannot say at this time these are real genuine. There is no medicine which stands quick relief. Every woman in the land should know about Zutoo Tablets and what they will do."

HIGH SEAS MURDER

With this understanding the two went to investigate the night's happenings. New horrors were revealed. The Captain's wife was dead in her bed, terribly mangled, and Second Mate Blassberg had shared the same fate in his room.

The murderer, it was decided, must have entered the cabin from the forecompanionway. The dented marks of an axe was over the door of the second mate's room, at the foot of the stairs, showing two blows had missed their aim. It seemed as though Blassberg had grappled with his slayer, fell and had then been struck down. The axe went through his neck and had sported to the walls behind the bed.

The Captain met his death as he lay on the lounge. His head was pushed in and mangled and his hands were almost severed, as if he had put them up in protection. In her room his wife had been mutilated beyond recognition. One hand was completely severed and the other hung, almost cut off.

Charles Brown, the seaman, was still at the wheel when the horrors were discovered. Following a general alarm he was taken in charge, though with little doubt as to his guilt suspected.

Meeks and Spencer watched the mate closely. It had been decided to abandon the vessel in Rekavik and make for Halifax. It was thought that Frum was not navigating the ship in the direction which he professed. Fireman Brown, testified that he had seen the mate strike the Captain with the axe, afterwards throwing the body overboard. On Sunday, Spencer and others watched their chance, came up behind Frum, threw and handcuffed him.

Meeks, aided by a knowledge of navigation, obtained at Harvard University, took charge of the navigation of the Fuller. Their theory was that the mate had killed the others because he feared the vessel hopelessly adrift or to run her ashore. When she was in the vicinity of Sable Island on Saturday following the murder, Brun said she was near Capt Sable, N.S.

The bodies of the dead victims were exposed for eight days before Halifax was reached. At the end of four days decomposition made it impossible to keep them on board and carefully wrapped, they were put in a covered whale boat and towed ashore. Attached to the same rope which towed the dead people, the ironed mate lay stretched on a mattress on the after deck.

Circumstances which came to light placed Brun in a more damaging light. When he heard at Boston that Meeks was taking passage on the Herbert Fuller he refused to accept and said he go south by steamer instead. Also the mate blamed Helmsman Brown for the murder. It was pointed out that Frum would not leave the wheel for half a minute without serious consequences to the vessel and the safe learning of his absence.

On Monday, July 21, the Herbert Fuller was 70 miles from Cape Sable and was given the course for Halifax by a fisherman. A pilot picked her up off the port.

The entire crew of the Fuller was sent from Halifax to Boston. Brun was returned to the penitentiary but was released a few years ago.

Phone and Postal Service Compared

is kept of the number. Every kindly kept tally of the letters for twenty-four hours, however, and reports that in twenty-two hours, 2760 letters passed through the stamping machine, 400 letters were sorted by hand, the count was started and 320 were too large for the machine, making a total of 3480 letters sent out of Belleville in 24 hours. This does not include parcels, printed matter, samples and other small matter. There is more mail coming in also than that despatched, but no record is kept of it. There is an average of from 5 to 6000 advertising circulars per day coming into the Belleville post office, it being distributing point for a rural route, and distributing point for transient mails on the Belleville—Peterboro and Belleville—Marmora lines. Nine hundred dollars for six days is a modest example for stamp sales, making an average of $150 per day. When Eaton's and Simpson's catalogues and other matter arrive, however, they swell this business and the revenue from direct daily average o stamp sales. Every piece of mail, either in coming, going or both, is handled five times in the local post office.

Post office insurance is one of the things comparatively few people are cisney, where rates on various amounts can be readily calculated for any term of years. The post office will not insure mail which has been insured by private corporations and made use of the system in each case of the article the owner would get twice the value of the article.

The Canadian Express Co. Estate, probably annually is a wonderful postal knowledge encyclopoedia comprising the date of formation of the post, rates of postage on the four specified classes of mail matter, to any part of the world, and an alphabetical list of the post offices of Canada.

Mr. J. A. Cokers, local manager of the Bell Telephone Co., when interviewed, stated that from records kept of the out going long distance calls from Belleville, for the month of March 18th, (7 days)in the number was 1803, or a average of 257 calls per day. This was a good one, however, as the poorest week being between January 29th and February 4th when 1413 conversations over the wires were registered. The local calls average just slightly over 10,000 per day.

The private exhibits additions have been made in the city, this year, $30,000 having been expended up to the present time, and while there is no question now on the west side of the River, there is still congestion on the east side. The area is now short-age in the city, and the party line system is working splendidly. A few extra lines are also needed to meet demanding service and will receive same this summer.

The staff of a telephone station is not based on the number of phones, but upon the load carried. That, is while a city like Belleville may have more phones han possibly a town like Cobourg, yet Cobourg will carry the heavier load with the local toll line as its Industrial town. The manner in which rush hours are ascertained, is by taking a five count once each month from one to three days duration. An appliance in connection with each operator's switchboard registers the calls answered by each operator, by simply pressing a button. This pos sesses is for local calls only.

"When the government turned down the Telephone Company's application for increased rates it practically ordered the service materially," said Mr. Cokers, "because we are short of funds for betterm ents. Although $50,000 has been already expended this year, $40,000 could yet be had to advantage this year. When the government turned down the application, they did one of two things. They decided that the revenue of the phone company should be raised by reducing the salary of each employee on an average of $50 per year, while if the application for increase of rates went through, it would have been paid by the subscribers, who would account to $1.50 per subscriber per year."

A district representative of the company visited Bellevillon Wednesday, and at a meeting of the plant council, the employees accepted the proposition rate cut. The company will need $50,000,000 in the next five years to continue their extensions.

"Co-operation up to-date clearly men that an immense volume of business is transacted daily by both of those excellent offices, without which the nervous system of the country would be completely demoralized and country wide paralysis a direct result.

INDUSTRIES OF CITY ARE VISITED

to represent women and men are made. The company manufactures the body part, the wax head being secured elsewhere. This is indeed an interesting and instructive place to visit.

A new industry known as the Belleville Electrical Appliance is also located in these premises and it will be in operation in the near future, Machinery is now being installed.

From these industries the deputation proceeded to the Elliott Wood, working Plan which is located in the extreme eastern limits of the city which was formerly the Burrell Factory. Mr. W. A. Elliott cordially received the visitors and escorted them through the premises. This well-known firm has recently branched out in the manufacture of improved electric washing machines with wringer attached. The working of this up-to-date appliance was also shown in operation and it certainly does what is claimed for it. The wringer is attached to the body of the machine and is easily operated by electricity. This firm's reputation was established in the manufacture of what is known as Elliott's woodworking machinery. At the present time the company have a number upon the stocks and also there is every reason to believe that their new innovation will prove a success.

The next and final place to visit was the round house and work-shops of the G.T.R. located in the Township of Thurlow, east of the station. Mr. Towner who is at the head of this branch of the railway with re-ald to D. Adams conducted the delegation through the round house, etc., and it was certainly a revelation to most of the aldermen who had never before visited these works. The round house alone covers about three acres. Here an engine is placed on the turn table and run into its apartment in the round house was shown, also the various machine shops, engine rooms, etc. All were explained by Mr. Towner. In this connection it may be stated that the G.T.R. is a great adjunct to the city. The pay roll monthly for Belleville division is about $100,000, a large per center portion of which is spent in this city.

Mayor Hanna on behalf of the delegation, personally thanked the superintendents of the places visited for the courtesy extended to them and the information imparted.

How to Wash Your Clothes in an Electric Washer

THE FIFTH ARTICLE OF A SERIES OF TALKS ON WASHDAY PROBLEMS.

In our previous talks we have pointed out various methods of doing your washing electrically. They have been of interest chiefly to those who already have Electric Washers. Others who have read the articles have been enquiring as follows:—

1—What is the difference between the various makes of Electric Washers?

2—What is the best kind of Electric Washer to buy?

There are many different makes of Electric Washers on the market, and it is interesting to know that they will all wash clothes if the directions of the manufacturer are carried out. The difference lies chiefly in the fact that different manufacturers adopt quite different principles of washing, some being more satisfactory than others.

The four basic principles of washing adopted by various makers are—(1) The "Agitating" type or any washer where a paddle or dolly is used to agitate the water. (2) the "Suction" cup type of washer. (3) The "Oscillating or Rocking Tub" type and lastly, the revolving "Cylinder" type of washer.

The points to remember when buying your Washer are summed up briefly as follows:—

Service is what you want out of your Electric Washer, therefore buy only from a reliable dealer, who is not only willing to stand back of his line, but who cheerfully renders service whenever necessary.

Make sure you are getting the best value for your money. —In a washer where is best adapted for your needs. It has a stationary or the swinging wringer. Simplicity of operation, compactness and durability are also important features.

THE HISTORY OF THE STANLEY CUP

The following is the record of the Stanley Cup series since its inauguration. As first to play for the trophy donated by Lord Stanley was played for by amateurs, but in 1906 the professionals adopted the emblematic of the world's professional championship.

In 1907, early in the season, Kenora went to Montreal and defeated the Wanderers there and secured the cup. At the end of the season Wanderers challenged Kenora and defeated them, the same being played at Winnipeg.

HISTORIC RACE HELD SOON

Oxford and Cambridge Will Renew Old Rivalry Next Week.

London, March 25.—With the rowing of the University Boat Race on Saturday of next week, the eight-oared crews representing Oxford and Cambridge Universities will decide for another twelve month the supremacy in rowing of either the Dark Blue or the Light Blue, and the historic aquatic struggle that has continued for almost a century will have come for another decision.

For over a century rowing has played its part in the athletic life of English colleges and universities, with the first recorded race between college boats taking place in 1715. In 1815, Cambridge took up rowing a few years later and the first Oxford-Cambridge boat race was held in 1829, being rowed at Henley-on-Thames. Seven years later, or in 1836, the Light and Dark Blues met in the Thames at Putney, this time rowing from Westminster to Putney. Much difficulty was experienced in the earlier days in arranging for the race between the rival universities, and it was not until 1856 that a common understanding was arrived at and the "boat race" established as an annual competition between the Light Blue, (Cambridge) and the Dark Blue (Oxford) eights. With the exception of the war years, 1915-1919, there has been no break in the continuity of the annual race. In only one year was no winner proclaimed, that being in 1877 when the race resulted in a dead heat.

High winds or stormy weather has never caused an abandonment of the race and in 1872 the race was rowed in a snowstorm, while in 1877 a gale blew from the water in a gale. Honors were evenly distributed, Cambridge winning in the seventeen and Oxford leading their opponents in the gale. In 1919 the bonus of both crews sank and the race had to be rowed over, Oxford winning the second race.

In recent years Cambridge has had slightly the better of the argument, winning ten of the seventeen races since 1900. The Light-blues in 1914 won the last race before the war compliment of the races during the war, and on resumption after the war, won in 1920, and repeated this year. However, records dating back to the inauguration of the "boat race" show that the Dark Blues have a slight margin over the Light Blues, winning on 38 occasions, as compared to 33 victories for Cambridge. Oxford has had two prolonged periods during which they have had winning crews, winning the race on nine consecutive years, from 1861 to 1869, and duplicated this feat in the 1900-1908 period, Cambridge's best run of victories covered the five years, 1870-1874.

The crews this year comprise well known oarsmen, their home waters almost a month ago, the Oxford crew going to Bourne End on March 2nd, when R. D. Horsfall, (Magdalen) took over the supervision of their training. T. physique of the Dark Blue this year is not quite equal to that of last year's crew and at the time of the removal to Bourne End the most enthusiastic supporter of Oxford would hardly assert that their representatives constituted a really good crew. W. N. Campbell, (Christ Church) who came up with such a reputation as a stroke is not an unqualified success. He rows very light and quick and has a fear that there may be recurrence of the strain which twice kept him out of the crew in the early days of practice.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

The Teachers five without the assistance of any out outside players were able to keep within shouting distance of their opponents the O.W.V.A. Individually their scores were not high, but they averaged up slightly better than they usually do. The highest score of the evening's play was made by Bowyer who rolled 335 for the high single and 928 in the three string.

To-night the Office and Elliotts meet up.

TWO MILLIONW WITNESS N. Y. BASKETEERS PLAY

New York, March 25.—Basketball has come forward to take a place among the leading sports this winter. This game has flourished in halls and armories all over the metropolitan territory as well as in Madison Square Garden, where the Original Celtics, the national professional champions, have played to more than 150,000 persons since October 1st last.

Basketball has drawn more than 2,000,000 spectators in and around New York during the last six months—a record that stamps the game as a big leader in the list of winter pastimes.

TILDEN TO DEFEND TITLE

Boston, March 24.—The United States will have at least one playing representative at the British tennis championship tournament at Wimbledon in June. W. T. Tilden II., although hopeful of being able to decide his title was there last year, is still uncertain, but G. Collet Caner of this city, former Intercollegiate champion and Harvard tennis captain announced to-day that he would enter the Wimbledon play. The Wimbledon tournament begins on June 26.

CITY FATHERS IN TRAINING

City Council Indoor Baseball Team Reports at Training Camp.

Civic Legislative Training Camp, March 25th, 1922.

The City Fathers have started training for the big indoor baseball exhibition which will be staged at the Armouries the week of April (please up week). The first order of business was a sprint to Zwig's Island Thursday evening where it is alleged they had a dip in the Bay of Quinte. They are also taking baths at the Y.M.C.A.

Ald. A. Robinson will do the hurdles for the old timers and Eddie Thomas will be the coach for the Senior Council Corps. Ald. Mallory will supply the liniment for the rub down of the Seniors.

The players will start training by Monday night. Chief Kidd will be official coach for the Junior City Council and will also umpire the game.

K.V.A BANQUET

Last evening about thirty members of the K.V.A. Club did ample justice to a royal spread provided by the Quinte Hotel, given by the Post Department to the winners of the interdepartment hockey games, the first trophy ever of the kind. Hydro Department, known as the "sixty-minute six." Needless to say the dinner was fine and have been surpassed, and it was noticeable that certain members of that team were good at more than begging the puck.

Between courses musical and popular airs were rendered by the club's syncopated quartette. After coffee, Mellrath as toast master, proposed the usual toast to the King, followed by a toast to the victorious team, which was responded to by Badgley, the captain of the team, who very appropriately remarked that he was full for words. Several others were called upon who made more or less complimentary remarks, but after the speakers were limited to only three minutes some did not get a chance to say what they intended, which perhaps is just as well. Harve says he can eat better than talk—granted.

Van not only plays the Banjo well but pets some real good ideas. He says the club should have more such institutions. O. W. was sworn in re-

[mark "When do we eat again."

FRENCH FLASH IS PARIS IDOL

Georges Carpentier Makes Big Hit With Parisian Cultured Classes.

Paris, March 23.—Jack Dempsey's knockout blow has carried Georges Carpentier into society drawing rooms. While he was formerly regarded by the leisure classes of France as a distant curiosity, he has, since his defeat been received in the salons of the people whom the society newspapers describe as the elite.

Georges is so free from affectations that there is little danger of his becoming a snob, but he has to submit to some trying ordeals, such as interpretations by litterateurs who want impressions of his travels. When questioned in this way Georges is always full of blushes and flounders around till he can find the right word to express his ideas.

His latest adventure of this sort was in the Paris drawing room of Marshal Lyautey, the maker of modern Morocco. The invitation was due to his having given an "exhibition bout at the Casabland and in recognition of this the Marshal asked him to come around and bring Mme. Carpentier.

Numbers of Parisians associated in some way with the French colonization of Morocco were present, and Georges was the principal object of curiosity to this assembly of politicians, colonial ministrators, men of letters and painters.

Seemingly many of them who were seeing the champion for the first time expected him to turn up in some weird kind of costume. There was a tinge of disappointment when Georges arrived in a quiet blue suit wearing a dark tie, and looking for all the world like a young university man priding himself on the neatness of his dress. The Marshal singled him out for the special favor of the longest chat, but whether they talked Morocco or boxing could not be ascertained.

He caused the biggest surprise, however, when leaving, by withdrawing from the cloakroom a very heavy stick with a terrible-looking handle.

"To protect myself with," he explained.

THE THREATENED COAL STRIKE.

The order of the United Mine Workers calling upon 600,000 miners in the bituminous and anthracite fields of the United States and Western Canada to strike on April 1 has been promulgated by the officials of that organization. This is said to be the first time that both soft and hard coal miners have acted in concert.

The coal operators are reported not to be at all alarmed over the situation. In fact, it has been said that they would welcome a strike and that they have abundant stocks on hand with which to carry on. The bituminous operators have declined the suggestion of the Labor Department to enter an inter-state conference, but most of the operators in the different fields expressed their willingness to meet their own employees to negotiate an agreement. The Pittsburgh group have posted a wage scale effective on April 1 which calls for a reduction of 35 to 50 per cent.

The present outlook is for a fight, as the United States Labor Secretary acknowledged failure of the arbitration committee which met at New York on March 17 and which attempted a reconciliation between the miners and operators. The latter take the position that the economic position today not only forbids any increase in costs and prices, but compels a reduction. The present strike order does not apply to the miners of Nova Scotia.

THE SMALL CASE.

After two years the people at large have received an added impetus in the search for Ambrose Small by the recent statement of one Arthur Weatherup, a Stayner barber, in which the latter minutely describes the clothes in which the missing millionaire was dressed on the day of his disappearance. The Toronto police evidently do not place much credence in Weatherup's story. There has been the usual sifting of evidence and where there are so many witnesses and would-be witnesses there is bound to be a difference of opinion on many cardinal points.

Two years have gone by since these people last saw Mr. Small. The mental picture of the man which each witness retains may or may not be that made by him on the last occasion when he was seen. Nobody saw him specially—that is to say, nobody stored away impressions of him in the expectation that these would be of future use. Yet to some of those who met him on what was probably the last day of his life he was a person of unusual interest, because of the million-dollar clean-up he had made after a hard grind at business over a period of many years.

Perhaps not one man in ten notices especially how an acquaintance is dressed on a particular day—unless he is dressed in a way that is unusual. A tailor may take special note of one's clothes, just as an optician may note a change in one's eyeglasses, and a barber is likelier than anyone else to note whether a man needed a shave or recently had one. Outside of his own special line of work or interest the average man is unobservant. Yet no one who knew Ambrose Small fails to call up a mental picture of him as he was seen in life. But it is a picture of him as he was seen on that last day, or is it another one which, for some unknown reason, dominates the cell of the brain in which the impression of him is stored?

It is unfortunate, in the interests of justice, that no long a time elapsed after Mr. Small's disappearance before publicity was given to his case. The widest sort of enquiry is now under way, but the trail is two years old. At the time it was supposed that Small had suddenly gone away on a business trip or for a rest. His right to do so was undoubted; the likelihood that he had done to was increased by his sudden release from the heavy business responsibilities he had been carrying. Even when his disappearance was recognized to be a mystery, the search for John Doughty, extending over months of time, took attention away from the search for Ambrose Small. The finding of Doughty seems to have yielded nothing but certain bonds which were missing, and which either Small or Doughty might have carried away. It then became clear that the missing millionaire carried, if not empty pockets, at least no wealth with him.

The fate of Ambrose Small should be ascertained if it is not beyond the power of human justice to discover what became of him. If a well-known citizen can be snapped up like that, and no trace of him ever discovered, it is a reproach to the intelligence of the times and the tenacity of the agents of justice. An unsolved mystery of that sort is an incitement to crimes of a like sort.

CRISP COMMENTS

Detroit's son of a millionaire, by his varied troubles, must be convinced by this time that the law is a hard thing to dodge.

When a Detroiter emphasized his dislike of fish by pouring gasoline over the family dinner, he was merely inviting a marital explosion, or at least an exchange of "sauce."

Speaking of Egypt, the Utica Observer remarks that "If the British aren't compelled to interfere within a year in the interests of peace, we shall miss a March guess." With all his faults, John Bull is still generally recognized as the world's big policeman.

THE EVERYDAY CHURCH

Detroit Journal.

An upstate clergyman has walked out of his church because of lack of interest on the part of his parishioners. He states among other things that some of the flock would rather watch horse-hoss than attend service. All the facts are not at hand, and church tangles are about the last thing on earth for inanocent bystander to avoid. But in the circumstance recounted it would seem that the easiest course would be for the location of a horseshoe pitching club under church auspices. The modern tendency in church expansion is toward the inclusion of every wholesome community activity. The successful church is the one founded on a rockbed of sound religion that touches the lives of its communicants most frequently every day.

BEWARE THE POISON OF HATE

Los Angeles Times.

Every great epoch of history is the re-amalgamation of old elements and their resurrection under the cement of a new idea. And the new idea that is so necessary to effect the regeneration of Europe is a feeling of confidence that war with its scourges is passing from the world, that the spirit of national aggression is dead, that the honor of their fathers can be restored in the sons, that the old calamity of life and property is to be removed, that no class in any country will be permitted to plunder the others ,that the spirit of hatred is passing and that the people are ready to listen again to the admonition: "This a new commandment I give you, that you love one another."

"WHEN EVENING FALLS"

The transient glory of the western skies
Flares for a moment in a rosy flush,
Over the earth a deepening quiet lies
Save when a sparrow's twitteringe wakes the hush.
The street is silent; as I slowly pass
I see the frost upon the stiffening grass.

Above the shivering elm boughs, dim obscured
By fragile breads of vapor floats the moon,
Now one by one from velvet shadow lured
The chanting stars with silent, visual tune,
In pure celestial cadence greet the night,
Nor every murmur shattered with more delight.

Against my cheek a cold keen wind is bent,
Bearing upon its bosom, vaguely sweet,
The fragrance of fresh grasses and the scent
Of soils released from winter's winding sheet,
Tonight, the violets slumbering sleep less fast,
And dream that spring has come at last.

A rich elderly bachelor named Page found the dropped glove of a charming young lady and returned it with this note:

In reply the young woman wrote:

If from your name you take the letter p, then page is are, and that won't do for me.

Gratitude in Strange Garb

A certain missionary bishop tells of a native of India whose wife went for treatment to a mission hospital. On her return he wrote as follows to the woman physician in charge of the hospital:

"Dear She—My wife has returned from your hospital cured. Provided you are allowed, in your boundless love, I would like to do you the honor of presenting myself there this afternoon, but I will not try to repay you; vengeance belongeth to God."

Another, whose wife did not survive, expressed himself thus:

"Dear and Fair Madam: I have much pleasure to inform you that my lately unfortunate wife will be no longer under your kind treatment. She having left this world for the other on the night of the 25th ultimo. For your own help in this matter I shall ever remain grateful. Yours reverently."

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—Again I crave a little space. In my letter of Tuesday I said that I hoped there would be no need to use more regarding this, but I myself can hardly feel satisfied in letting the matter of supernaturalism rest there.

It is only one short week ago since hundreds of our Belleville men were applauding the so-called mystic and occult. On Monday a very ordinary citizen gets up and says—or as much as says—that that stuff is all piffle, and jeerder of wonders they are all converted back again to the real—to truth and reason. That is the impression that one would get as there has been no word of assent or dissent, in fact there has been no word at all.

If such a thing can happen in so little time, and with so little effort, how is it that the clergy have not improved the world in real Christianity ere this? But, if such a thing has happened, I myself will have to believe in the mystic and in the occult.

I have no wish to hurl sarcasm, ridicule or contempt at our good citizens. Human nature is very much at par,and my opinion is offered in all humility, whether the world is pleased or not, having any more intelligence than the average man, but I am given fortunate in opportunities for thought.

I may be achieving more success as a misspeller of words than as a dispeller of illusions, but I trust, dear editor, you will correct same.

I would like to give some advice to the younger people at least, but owing to my own youth it would appear very much like self-assertion.

Allow me to say one thing before I close. So-called fortune tellers rely on three things—chance, coincidence and credulity. And bear with me, dear sir, while I illustrate and (or) demonstrate to your reason.

If a man make six hundred prophesies, each of an "even money" chance, the law of division—or whatever you like to call it—decrees that three hundred of them will turn out correct. So will have-three hundred

CEMENT PLANT CONTRIBUTES WELL

The citizens of Thurlow are united to help their individual societies, clubs, churches and schools, to further the work started by the splendid donation of the man at Plant 5, Canada Cement Co., Thurlow, with her rich farms and happy farmsteads, will surely respond to the cry for food from the millions of little ones in Russia. A child is a child all over the world. The parents of these poor children—simple peasants, loving God, their children and their selves, refused to plant grain for the soviets to take away. The little they planted for themselves was lost in the drought. Next month they need our food next autumn. Will you help send grain from Canada, you who are blessed on your Thurlow farms?

GOOD RECOMMENDATION

Among a host of recommendations which are to come before the Fish and Game Committee this week is one to compel hunters to wear bright-colored garments while stalking game in the deer season. Hiram Hyatt is pushing on the wisdom of this particular suggestion, too. Harry Mills voiced the opinion at a committee investigation meeting Wednesday that some steps were certainly necessary to protect the lives of hunters.

NEARLY LOST HER LIFE NURSING DYING MOTHER

"For six months I had to devote all my spare time to nursing my mother who was slowly dying of an internal disease. Night after night I couldn't afford the services of a nurse, so I had to do her day or night. She was a large woman and it took all my strength to lift her. Realizing that she had not long to live, I did naturally wasted me with her all the time and my spare time which I could snatch from my housework I gave to her. Four months after she died and an hour after the funeral I went into a dead faint. The one or sleep, the worry and the extra day and night work had fagged me to pieces more than I could stand. They put me to bed. I contracted a high fever and was delirious for some days. For a while my friends gave me up for dead of saving my life. However, I did succeed in pulling through but the strain and the illness had shattered my nerves. Worry and trouble had left me a physical wreck. I was afraid to look at myself in my hands or my mouth. For two weeks I had to be fed. I gradually got a little stronger but not strong enough to get out of bed. I was determined that I would not give up. Finally one day a friend suggested trying Dr. Chase's. I was so anxious to get strong that I was willing to try anything. Before I would have believed that any preparation would have made such a change in so short a time as Carnol did with me. To day, thanks to Carnol, I feel fine—in fact I never felt better."

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Sarah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hutchinson, Belleville.

Two years has slowly faded,
Since our daughter passed away;
Years of grief and longing,
That we hope she's now at Rest.

As we sit alone in the evening;
By the fire burning bright;
Our thoughts stray in sadness
As we look at your pictured face.

But we can spare her loving Saviour
For we know Thou guardest well;
Thou now with all the ransomed
sinless dwell,
Grant that we, with them, our loved ones
Whom by faith we still can see,
May when life's great mystery is solved,
Be gathered home to Thee.
We rest at last with Thee,

LOCAL AMATEURS SCORE SUCCESS

Crowded House See Rollicking Comedy at the City. Hall.

The City Hall was crowded to the doors last evening, when B. Andrew's C. G. I. T. presented the comedy, "A Kiss For Cinderella." This novel play has old England as a setting, for a setting, and fashioned in a more modern manner after the Cinderella tale all most in our childhood days. The play, while not heavy, is bright and humorous throughout, introducing many varied characters with minor roles but creating a pleasing change throughout.

Cinderella in her humble way, cares for four refugees, from the war ridden European countries during the great war, although in the poverty, a corner per on his best bonnets much interested in her welfare. She falls asleep, however, one cold night and becomes ill and delirious as a result. In her delirium she dreams of a great ball, given by the King and Queen, at which Prince Hard-to-Please is to choose his bride. There is a great procession of applicants, but all fail to please except Cinderella who wins the prince. On awakening, she finds herself a patient at a Convalescent Home, where she finally meets and give promise of marriage to her faithful police constable.

Miss Sylvia Ross as Cinderella handled her difficult, ingenue role very capably, and had successfully won her personality to the audience shortly after she appeared on the boards. Albert Armstrong as the "cop" constable, pleased, with his wit, and also doubled in the role of Hard-to-Please. Isobrave Ross, as Danny the "Tommy" patient at the Convalescent Home, although appearing but a short time in the fourth act, deserves mention for his droll and natural humor. He got every hand in the house. Mr. Leslie Allen as Prince Charming and Lord Lumley handled it creditably. Thirty other minor parts were introduced in the third act ball room scene, mostly youth and beauty predominated.

The young people are to be congratulated on securing such stage settings and furnishings, and also their exquisite programs.

Dr. Haffner rendered an interlude solo and responded to an encore; and Johnny McGirr's orchestra supplied music between acts.

COMPLETELY FREE OF CONSTIPATION

Tried for Years to Find Relief

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE IT

Chronic Constipation or insufficient action of the bowels, is one of the great causes of disease. Some authorities even claim that Constipation cannot be permanently corrected. This is a great mistake, because here is the proof that constipation can be cured and the bowels made to act regularly and naturally.

YARMOUTH, N.S.

"For years, I was troubled with Constipation, and had to take laxatives and purgatives all the time. If I neglected to take these, the bowels would refuse to do their work.

About two years ago, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives", which I did. The first few boxes helped me so much that I obtained further supplies of the remedy and continued the treatment. After using about eight boxes, my bowels were able to perform their particular function without aid.

The relief in my case has been lasting, as up to date, I have never had any further trouble. I can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to all suffering as I did and I am sure they will derive equal benefit".

A. W. FRANKLIN.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c., or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

U-GO-I-GO

Big changes have been made in the U-Go-I-Go Club, by their reorganization, which will be welcomed by everyone. From now on no monthly dues will be charged, and all the public will be free to attend and enjoy all their social events. The same policy will be pursued in the Club as of charging enough admission to cover the costs of each event so that everyone in Belleville may join in without any financial hardship.

One of the most pleasing surprises to the members of the club is the New U-Go-I-Go Orchestra which has been formed under the leadership of Mr. John McGirr, and to hear them once is certainly a treat.

The Orchestra includes Pianist, Violin, Clarionet, Saxaphone and Traps and will soon be one of Belleville's best if John McGirr and his boys keep on the way they are going.

The U-Go-I-Go Orchestra will be on hand at the next Social Event at Bennett's Hall on March 30th.

An Indoor Baseball Team has already been formed and the club expects every man in Belleville who can play Baseball or Football and who wants to play on a team this coming season to be present at their next concert and dance, when arrangements will be made to line up a U-Go-I-Go Baseball and Soccer Team.

The new committee are certainly hard workers and are putting their best efforts into making their next event a grand success.

Mr. Gee, Tice has consented to act as Auctioneer at the Box Social and if all goes well a large crowd is expected.

A large concert programme of local talent in the way of singing and reciting has also been arranged for and with the new U-Go-I-Go Orchestra in attendance the dancing will be a big feature of the evening.

The social committee will again provide refreshments to the hungry crowd. 25-1d

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

They lifted the bride's trunk into their saddles. Purvis settled off at a gallop, shouting "Good-by, Jane!" Then he stopped him.

"Don't be in a hurry, young fellow," said one of the ladies, and then there was another roar of laughter.

"Go back to your wife, Curtis," shouted, and turning to the added: "Yes, ride along with him, and see that he's treated kindly when he gets there."

So we started up the river, and went back to our wives. Our ladies letters at the town line some three miles beyond.

Latour was busy picking his arms and shoulders. Presently he took off his feathered cap and threw it away, saying:

"There'll have to pay for this. Every one o' those bearskins will have to settle with me."

"You brought 'em on yourself," I said. "You ran away from me and got us all into trouble by being too smart. You tried to be a fool and succeeded beyond your expectation."

It was dark when I left my companions in Coldchill. I changed my clothes and had my supper and found Judge Westbrook in his home and reported the killwitch Curtis and our adventure and ly view of the situation back in the hills. I observed that he gave the latter a cold welcome.

"I shall keep the sheriff and I posse," he said in a troubled tone.

"Pardon me, but I think it will make a bad matter worse," I answered.

"I am not sure of that for the tributors are our quota," he remarked, and I went out with my work.

In the next twelve or so I satisfied myself of the minds of my opinions. Then came the sort critical point in my history—a collict with Thurlow and later on one at and Confidence on the other.

The latter paid my salary. I wanted the money, it every day I would have to lend myself, directly or indirectly, to the execution of claims which I could d believe to be just. My heart went of my work. I began to fear myst. For weeks I had been the counsel take issue with the learned judge.

BASKETBALL GAMES AT TRENTON

Locals Win Both Games in Strenuous Contests Last Night.

Last evening about thirty rooters of the 1st Belleville Troop accompanied their team to Trenton to engage in a friendly tussle. At 7.30 the two junior teams started on their scrap and the class of ball played by the boys is a credit to them. Every boy was a star but the most aggressive players for Trenton were Sexsmith, Hall and Kennedy while for Belleville Wilbur and Clare. The score ended in a win for Belleville 16-14.

The second game was a real game, something doing from start to finish. The Belleville boys were ahead all the way through. Curry as forward was great and scored several baskets. Marsden on defence tallied six baskets. Anderson, Wells, Reid, Emerson, and Fleming all secured baskets.

The main interest with Trenton was that their combination was slow, but their defence played well. The boys on both teams were not about the same. The game ended in a win for Belleville, 27-13. The stars for Trenton were Neilson, King and Hood.

After the game the teams and fans and fanettes journeyed to the Presbyterian Church where a social evening was held, and the Trenton girls and scouts certainly are a fine lot of sports and when the scouts passed the plate red here the Belleville boys will see that they are treated well. Ask the boys what they think of the Trenton girls, oh boy! Everyone had a girl but Bugs Hayes, and he was sick!

Much credit is due Mr. Ires for his courtesy in sending his truck to convey the boys to Trenton, the driver, Mr. Scotsmasters of Trenton, Scoutmaster Hynes and the Trenton High School for the use of the gym.

WAS SAFE IN CANADA.

Solomon Mosely Came to This Country for Protection.

Away back in 1836, Canadians were roused to a fever heat of indignation by the case of Solomon Mosely, an escaped Kentucky slave who sought refuge in Upper Canada. The American authorities wished to get him back for his owner, but the citizens of this country were willing to go to the length of breaking the law in order to protect the unfortunate black man.

According to the story of this case, recounted in the Toronto Sunday World, Mosely took a horse belonging to his master, and made his way from Louisville to Buffalo, and from there across the Niagara river into Canada. His master pursued him, and charged Mosely with horse stealing. The slave was arrested and lodged in the jail at Niagara. A prima-facie case was made out against him, and the authorities ordered his extradition.

The people in Canada knew that Mosely was being returned to the United States to become a slave, and not to stand trial as a horse thief. They were certain that he would fall into the hands of the Kentucky mastiff, who would himself be witness, judge and jury in the trial of the prisoner for his offences. It was also felt that the Kentuckian might even include the office of executioner. In short, the silence of Upper Canada fell when the news about the case of Mosely in 1836 as they have felt about the case of Bullock in 1922.

Throughout the Niagara Peninsula there was a strong feeling that Mosely must not be sent back to "the land of the free and the home of the brave." Herbert Holmes, a teacher and preacher, assumed the leadership of the men who were determined that the prisoner would not go into slavery again. An organized guard of from 500 to 600 was remained round Niagara Jail night and day so that Mosely could not be spirited across the line when no one was present to protect.

The American authorities and the Kentucky slaver were treating in their demands, so at last the attempt was made to return Mosely to the United States. The sheriff, whose duty it was to enforce the law, asked for a military guard. The unfortunate negro was taken and marched finally in a cart. The party started out for the Niagara river ferry. The Kentuckian and slavery were waiting with open arms for Mosely on the other side.

As soon as the cart had started on the route party blocked the road. Holmes seized the horse's head, and a Canadian negro named Green, grasped the lines. Deputy-Sheriff Malloed demanded room to pass, and when it was refused, he gave the order to the soldiers to fire. One of the soldiers immediately shot Holmes dead. Some time later another was at Green with fixed bayonet. The enlisted man died almost immediately from his wound.

The volley acted as a signalize the other soldiers who halted altogether. They rested McLeod and the party. There were no further hostilities in the miniature battle that followed. But Mosely was rescued. He was an athletic fellow, and made good his escape. It would appear that the sympathies, not only of the rescue party but also of the soldiers, were with the slave. That probably explains how his heavy shackles happened to be removed so that he made a clear get-away.

He remained in hiding for several days, and finally reached Montreal. The Kentuckian was thus forced to start his proceedings again with the authorities of Lower Canada, but in the meantime, Mosely got safely across the ocean to England. Some years later, he returned to Canada, and was joined by his wife and his second slave, in Niagara, where they spent the remainder of their lives.

The death of Holmes and Green caused a good deal of heart-burning in Upper Canada. The coroner's jury returned the verdict of "justifiable homicide" in the case of Holmes, as he was resisting the law when the soldier fired the shot. But Green's friends tried to make an issue out of his death. They claimed that the bayonetting occurred after Mosely had made good his escape, and that the soldier made a wanton attack upon Green after the fighting was over. The evidence was conflicting, and the exact facts of the case will never be known.

No action was taken against Deputy Sheriff McLeod for giving the order to fire. Several members of the rescue party, mostly colored men, were rested, however, and spent a little time in prison. Then came the Rebellion of 1837, and in the excitement caused by the struggle between MacKenzie and the Family Compact, the case of Mosely was forgotten.

How Bats Avoid Obstacles.

Scientific men believe that they have found out how bats flying about in the darkness, avoid objects that they cannot see, and they are trying to contrive instruments that will enable watchers to do the same thing. The theory is that the little animals emit a high-pitched note, often inaudible to the human ear, which echoes back from surrounding objects, and informs them in which direction every obstacle to their flight is to be found. The experiment was tried with blindfolded bats in a room criss-crossed with wires, and furnished with small holes in the walls just large enough for a bat to fly through. The creatures flew about with perfect assurance, never hit a wire. And, passed back and forth through the holes at will.

VALUE OF FARMS

Land in Canada Has Fallen in Its Price.

The average value of the occupied farm lands of Canada, which includes both improved and unimproved land, together with dwelling houses, barns, stables and other farm buildings, is returned to the Bureau of Statistics at $40 per acre, as compared with $48 in 1920, $46 in 1919, $43 in 1918, $38 in 1917, $36 in 1916, and $35 in 1915. By provinces the value for 1921 is highest in British Columbia, viz., $123. In the other provinces the average values of farm lands per acre are reported as follows: Ontario, $62; Quebec, $59; Prince Edward Island, $46; Nova Scotia and Manitoba, $35; Saskatchewan, $32; New Brunswick and Alberta, $29.

For the year 1920 the average wages of farm help were the highest on record. For 1921 the returns show a very substantial reduction. For the whole of Canada the average wages per month of farm helpers during the summer season of 1921 were for men: $67 and for women $46, including board, the average value of which was $33 per month for men and $18 for women. In 1920, the corresponding averages were: $86 for men, including board, value $36, and $47 for women, including board value $20.

Not only do the average values for all descriptions of farm live stock show an extraordinary decrease as compared with 1920, but they are also below the values which were ruling before the war. For horses, the values are the lowest on record since these annual returns were begun in 1909. For Canada as a whole, horses under one year average $38, as against $49 in 1920; horses one year old and under three years, $79, against $102; and horses three years old and over, $123, as against $161.

Cattle under one year are $12, as against $20; cattle one year to under three years, $24, as against $46; cattle three years and over, $39, against $67. For all descriptions, the average value per head for Canada is, for horses, $82, as against $106 in 1920; for milch cows, $51; as against $80; for other cattle, $15, as against $27; for all cattle, $37, as against $59; for sheep, $6, as against $10; and for swine, $14, as against $22. For swine per 100 lbs. live weight the average is $15, as against $15 in 1920.

The per capita values are the lowest of any during the last seven years, 1915 to 1921, except that for swine the value in 1915 was $14, as in 1921.

For Canada the average values per head of each description of farm poultry are returned as follows: Turkeys, $3.39, as compared with $4 in 1920; geese, $2.42, against $2.80; ducks, $1.16, against $1.50; other fowls, 80 cents, against $1.09.

Names In Parliament.

The Stewarts have a majority, as far as the family name is concerned, among the new members of the House of Commons. At present there are four Stewarts in the House, and a fifth is Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior. According to the printed list of members, there are Stewarts from Humboldt, Leeds, Lanark and Hamilton West already elected to represent Canada, while the fifth representative of the clan was a candidate in Argenteuil, Quebec.

Next in strength are the Kennedys, four in number, from Edmonton West, Fort William, Glengarry and Stormont, and North Essex. The Mears, including the Prime Minister, John W. King of North Heron and Hon. J. H. King, East Kootenay will stand third in the matter of family strength. Two of them are Liberals and Cabinet Ministers, and the third a Progressive.

The honored family name of Smith fails to claim even a single representative, while the Browns have only one voice in the Commons Chamber, in the person of John T. Brown of Lisgar, Man. Though there are only three parties in the House, there will be four leaders, the fourth being Harry Leader, who defeated the former Premier in Portage la Prairie riding.

A GREAT BENEFACTOR

(BY JEAN GRAHAM).

Far eastward in the blue waters of the Gulf St. Lawrence lies the smallest but not the least of Canada's provinces. It is "The Island", to all its sons and daughters, and no other can equal it. From Prince Edward Island have come President Schurman, until recently the head of Cornell University, Ithaca, New York; President Falconer of the University of Toronto; the well-known novelist, Mr. Basil King; Sir Andrew Macphail, editor and professional author of delightful letter of country studies, Lucy, M. Montgomery. There was another "Islander" whose name is first large in the benefaction bestowed by him on the educational institutions of this native land,—and, in years to come, no name will be remembered more gratefully by boards of Canadian students that that of Sir William Macdonald.

Education is valued to-day in a sense hitherto unknown. The great revivals of learning of the past affected such rule, but a small band of students—but the educational movements of to-day are directed by those who strive to reach all. A college should mean the real democracy, for there is no royal road to learning and the honors are won by work and perseverance. It is the glory of a young country, such as ours, that none of her successful citizens to whose youth was denied the opportunity for academic courses have devoted much of their fortune mean courses in university training for all aspiring students.

It must have been a sense of gratitude to his humble Alma Mater, the Little Academy at Charlottetown where he secured his modest share of education, that impelled Sir William Macdonald after the Government had raised it to the dignity of the Prince of Wales College (without being able to meet all its needs in the way of buildings and equipment), to present the College with an extensive and more than doubled its accommodation and enabled it to do such sound educational work that, at the recent centennial convocation of McGill University, no less than seven of the graduates were among the fifty-two who accomplished men selected from two continents to receive honorary degrees.

Success in the career of finance was Sir William Macdonald's in so marked a degree that it soon was in his power to make what gifts he chose to institutions evoking his interest and sympathy. To McGill University he naturally turned as a field for his educational benefactions, to such educational purpose that there stand-to-day a group of buildings, as noble a monument as man might wish, a living memorial of the man who took thought for the equipment of the student of tomorrow.

The gifts of Sir William Macdonald to McGill University made a total of more than twelve-and-a-half million dollars, most of which was given during Sir William's lifetime. While the Faculty of Science was the first to claim the Sir William's heart, every Faculty benefited during his life and after. McGill's Agricultural Faculty, Macdonald College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue was built equipped and endowed at an expense of more than six million dollars. The McGord Museum building was purchased at a cost of $142,000, while the Macdonald Park site, now occupied by the Stadium and the students' park, was purchased at a cost of more than a million and presented to the University. Students' activities received other gifts from this princely donor, as the McGill Union testifies.

Every gift to an educational institution, whether large or small, indicates on the part of the donor an appreciation of the "things that are more excellent" and a generous desire to give the next generation every opportunity for wider culture. When gifts have reached the proportions of those bestowed by Sir William Macdonald, it is only just, now ever, that the magnitude of his illiberality should be emphasized, since it must indicate the ruling purpose of his munificence.

Sir William Macdonald was no sentimentalist. He disliked effusive thanks and he was reticent toward the public. He sought for no place in the limelight and was not easily exhuastatia in speech. "Deeds, not words" might well have been his motto, and many a story is told illustrating his aptitude for acts rather than orations.

The well-known Montreal journalist, Mr. J. A. McGill, tells this story to illustrate Sir William's practical appreciation of academic demands.

"A piquant story, showing the promptness with which Sir William acted when any crisis arose may serve to illustrate his true friendliness to the cause of education. A residents' property encroaching upon one corner of McGill's somewhat cramped grounds came upon the market, in order to settle an estate. Thus, before the University authorities could arrange to finance its acquisition, there came the announcement one evening that a local syndicate had purchased it as a site for a fine hotel. Sir William Peterson, at that time the Principal of McGill University, hurried to Sir William Macdonald and told the case before him. The latter showed but perfunctory interest at first; but as the agitated Principal expatiated upon the indignity which would be done the fine campus flank-ed by the noble group of buildings, given by Sir William, the Highland blood asserted itself. 'I'll not see McGill made the backyard of any hotel,' he declared. 'Leave it to me, Peterson!' The next morning he entered and of which a member of the syndicate of whom a member of the syndicate was a leading official. 'Tom,' he said, 'I hear you've bought the Johnson property for $142,000.' 'Yes, Sir William. I want it for the University.' 'I'll give you $142,500 for it. Send the money.' But, Sir William,' expostulated the banker, 'I didn't do that, I'm only one of the syndicate and you want it for—' 'I know what you want it for,' broke in Sir William: 'But you can't have it, Send for the others, or I'll ruin every last one of you.' Knowing that Sir William would be as good as his word, the banker was not long in getting his associates, the notary was summoned, and within an hour the deed of sale had been handed to the brilliant Principal.

Such is Mr. McNeil's story, one to delight the heart of the sculptor and to prove that Sir William Macdonald was of the breed of "McAndrew" and "Sir Humphrey Gilbert."

Some men would have remained content with the millions already bestowed on McGill University. However, Sir William Macdonald was not only a cheerful, but an ardent giver. A characteristic of the chief benefactions to the University in his own city, Sir William unfolded a plan for the erection and equipment of a million more than that of keeping the youth of the land on the farm. There was no room in the city for all "all work and no play" in the old days, with the consequence that "Jack" either became a drudge or forsook the city life altogether. Science has come to the aid of the farmer and the threshing drawn is not the burden that it used to be. Science has been more slowly brought to the help of the farmer's wife; but electrical and mechanics are doing something to-day to reduce the drudgery which made many a girl loathe the city, pronounce it type writer or the ledger to the dairy and the farm kitchen.

Sir William had always cherished an ideal of beautiful and brightening rural education thereby doing good to the most valuable element in the community. "A desire to carry men to the land" unless the life on the land can be made something more than the round of toil. Sir William must be intellectual advancement and social cheer, as well as daily toil, if the best work is going to be done. One who knew Sir William's aims remarked: "He desired to shake the cobwebs forever out of his satisfaction with a school system that either left his children meagerly qualified to take their place in the battle for existence or else tended to fit them for the subordinate vocations only, a tendency when results in the desertion in the persistent migration from the land to the overcrowded urban centres." Out of this purpose of Sir William Macdonald's grew his most interesting and valuable contribution to primary education—the Consolidated School, designed to substitute for half-a-dozen small, poorly equipped, ill-situated, set amid bare and cheerless surroundings, and staffed by underpaid and sometimes underqualified teachers, a modern, soundly-constituted, well-equipped large school, with ample instructors and full facilities for the special branches of teaching upon which Sir William laid much stress. There were manual training, school gardens, household science and nature study in the primary schools.

Not content with the twelve millions he had lavished on McGill University (including the expenditure on Macdonald College), Sir William turned his attention to the neighboring province of Ontario and its Agricultural College in Guelph. He proceeded to bestow upon the Macdonald Institute and Macdonald Hall, the former a college for women, the latter for the women students at O.A.C. It is well, in a Canadian Journal which goes to thousands of Canadian homes, to emphasize the fact that Sir William Macdonald was more advanced than most benefactors of his time in his recognition of woman as a citizen whose education is of high importance in the life of the nation. Hundreds of graduates of "Macdonald" at Ste Anne and its sister-institution at Guelph can bear witness to the excellent equipment and wide opportunities which their experience at college afforded them, and throughout the homes throughout the Dominion will be more practically managed, more prosperously and happily because of the liberality, of this princely giver.

There was a Royal Commission on Industrial Training and Technical Education which for nearly four years made an exhaustive investigation into every branch of these subjects in Europe and North America at the instance of the Canadian Government. Dean Frank D. Adams of McGill University, testifying before this Commission, paid Sir William Macdonald his due as the virtual creator of the Faculty of Applied Science as it now operates. After recording Sir William Dawson's early and unsuccessful struggle in the fifties to maintain a school of civil engineering in return in 1871 and the consolidation of the Faculty of Applied Science in 1878, Dr. Adams continued:

"A few years, later the great benefactor appeared, and through Sir William Macdonald's princely generosity the Macdonald Engineering Building was erected, followed in rapid succession by the Macdonald Physics' Building and the Macdonald Chemistry and Mining Building. These buildings were not only erected, but were adequately endowed. The professorships were established, provision being also made for the appointment of the necessary teachers of subordinate rank, and the Faculty of Applied Science thus equipped and endowed became not only the foremost school of its kind in the Dominion, but one unsurpassed anywhere."

The idea behind Macdonald College, at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, was stated by its first Principal, Dr. James Robertson, in these terms:

"For the whole country, as a matter of prevention, safety, and importance, it behooves us to look well to the training of the young people to-ward rural life, and to look well to the training of leaders for them. The Macdonald movement as helped by Sir William Macdonald, has nothing destructive in it. It does not desire to destroy, anything that now exists in rural districts, except weeds, but it hopes to help in building up something better than is now known and done, and thereby elevate what is poor. It aims at helping the rural population to understand better what education is, and what it aims at for them and their children. It plans to help in providing more competent leaders for the horticultural and agricultural population. Somebody's watchfulness, somebody's thoughtfulness, and somebody's generosity are always required; and the progress of the people in all worthy ways can be increased a hundred fold by the geometric ratio through intelligent leaders who profess and use such qualities with unselfish public spirit.

"In our research work, because we have the means and the men, we have the facilities for researches of Macdonald College for rural communities extend as widely as possible. We carry on the work of the college in three departments, or sch ols. In connection with the school of agriculture we have research and illustration departments. Then we have household science with research and instruction for the daughters of the farm. That branch treats of the three prime necessities of life—food, raiment and housing. It is important that the woman should be educated for her sphere of management as the man for his. In the school for teachers the instruction and training sts for teachers preparing for city and rural schools. It is important that the rural school and its teacher should stand ful.

A Half-Century of Progress

FIFTY-TWO years ago, a group of idealists in the town of Waterloo planted the seed. They were men of faith rather than of great experience, but they believed a mighty tree would grow.

On February 2nd, 1922, in the town of Waterloo, Ontario, the successors of these men met to take count of the growth and development of the oak their predecessors had planted.

And, as the figures show, "abundantly has their faith been justified".

For the seed planted 52 years ago was the germinal idea of mutually applied to life insurance in Canada—life insurance at cost, as a scientifically organized service of man to man. To-day a mighty oak shelters the homes of over 80,000 policyholders with $228,000,000 of insurance in the Mutual Life of Canada.

The Count by Decades

The growth of the Mutual Life of Canada to a place among the strongest insurance companies in the world began in 1869, without other assets or capital than faith in the Mutual principle. The figures tell the story by decades.

	Assets	Business in Force
1871	$ 7,830.00	$ 500,000.00
1881	337,102.00	4,266,011.00
1891	1,941,571.00	14,934,807.00
1901	5,749,166.00	31,713,631.00
1911	18,161,847.00	71,020,770.00
1921	48,211,204.00	228,697,118.00

These figures show an ever-increasing rate of wholesome, healthy growth. They indicate the immensely enlarged field of usefulness in the coming years, as every new member helps to make the work of the Company more widely known.

And note that the Surplus Earnings of the year 1921 exceeded those for any other in the Company's history!

Truly, indeed, do "great oaks from little acorns grow".

For over three hundred years the St. Lawrence River has been the great waterway into the interior of the American Continent. It was the route by which La Salle, Marquette, Joliette, Tonnegin and Hennepin established St Lake Michigan, although a second short passage had to be taken up the Ottawa and Mattawa Rivers over Lake Nipissing into Lake Huron to avoid the hostile Indians below Lake Erie. For seven years travel to-day the chief ports are Montreal, Quebec and these ports show an ever increasing volume of traffic. The shipping season of 1921 was a record for the port of Montreal, doving which a total of 807 trans-Atlantic steamers, registering a tonnage of 2,208,464 tons, arrived at and steamed out of the great harbor. This was 105 vessels, or 564,536 tons over the highest previous record, made in 1918, 1221 ships showed a large increase in the number of vessels trading from Montreal to the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland, a total of 357 ships registering 282,402 net tons. The trans-Atlantic vessels came under many flags, British, Norwegian, American, Italian, Dutch, French, Swedish, Greek, Jugo-Slav, Spanish, Finnish and Icelandic, in addition to these are Canadian registry.

The profession of pilot on the St. Lawrence is therefore very important as it is to these pilots that route with its rapidly increasing traffic entrust their vessels as to safety. There are fifty licensed pilots between Montreal and Quebec and many two between Quebec and Father Point. The latter body of pilot always is a picturesque incident to the ocean traveler and is also interested crowd to the ship's side.

The first known pilot on the St. Lawrence was Abraham Martin after whom the Plains of Abraham at Quebec are named. In the Jesuit Relations, Abraham Martin is referred to as "dit l'Ecossais" or "called the Scot," so that in addition to being the first pilot of the River of France he was also the first known Canadian of Scotch descent. Abraham Martin married to a French woman and very possibly born in France, Abraham Martin was no doubt descended from one of the numerous soldiers of fortune who fought in the Army of the French King, and perhaps formed one of the Scots Guard which has been famous in the days of Louis the Eleventh and plays a prominent part in Sir Walter Scott's romance of Quentin Durward.

The Plains of Abraham are named from the grant of land which Abraham Martin received from Samuel de Champlain in 1617 at the time of the settlement of Quebec. Louis Hebert, the most famous of the first colonists of Canada, received a grant of land alongside at the same time. Abraham Martin undoubtedly cultivated his own farm, but apparently was also a carpenter and took sufficient interest in shipping to get the appointment of King's Pilot.

IN THE NORTHLAND.

Curious Conditions That Live Close to Arctic Regions.

Probably there is not much peculiar persons living than the Laplanders, Eskimos and Indians of the far north. Strangely enough, they are very interesting, and the Eskimo has still a far greater depth and hearty brave it in his dark, cold hut or in the hardships of his daily life than he is very superstitious. No sooner has the Eskimo child come into this earthly sphere and over completed hood, not by wailing, than he begins hearing their bile. Thereafter belief-ing, or rather fearing, spirits around, and all of every, join in the general chorus of the dead and magnifying them until the conception of a perfect spirit is constructed. Each individual creature, even his body, for it, fancies the spirit might overcome one man. To defeat the minds of these spirits is important with the Eskimo, and in the evening they congregate in a community called "Igloo Rithe." They have each "Kneeler" in which they take the head become heavy, accept that up the Aurora Borealis were of the fatal malady. The corpse is removed, through a window or through a hole in the side of the house, and hung in the side of the snow house, for the Eskimo insists of strict hygienic and the very back to it were taken through the door in the usual manner.

Most Eskimo graves are merely a heap of stones. First of all the Eskimo must decide upon a place for burial which is easily accessible from the water, if the death occurs in the summer, or on a hillside near the settlement, if it takes place in the winter season. Stones are piled up, having enough space for the body, which rests on a bed of boughs. The corpse is wrapped in deerskins, and large, tall stones are then piled around it, the grave, getting it as well as possible. Large rocks and boulders are finally piled around to preserve the remains from the attack of dogs and beasts of prey.

On top of the Eskimo grave are placed the personal effects of the deceased. The kayak and weapons of a man are placed on his grave, and placed on his grave and a dead woman has the family placed on the last resting place. No one, except, perhaps, a stranger, is permitted while mad, dare remove these possessions of the dead.

If there is one possession of an Eskimo, more sacred in the hearts of many, Dirty, smoky and smelly, it undoubtedly is the seal-oil lamp, otherwise, or medicine, with a wick of moss saturated in fat. Suspended near the fame is a piece of seal bladder, from which the oil is derived to keep "the home fires burning."

It may be said, without fear of contradiction, that the Eskimo's lamp makes it possible for him and his family to live in their barren and otherwise uninhabitable country. Through the long winter nights the lamp furnishes the necessary light and heats the snow house. It also cooks the snow for drinking water.

Out Editor's Reporting.

Col. John Allister Currie, in his article in which he tells of his experiences as well as all ex-member of Parliament. While in the latter instance he was made an "ex" by the will of the electorate of North Simcoe at the recent general election, it was of his were free will and accord that he became an ex-journalist.

"The manner of his having journalism was this: In 1909, after having spent some years on the staff of the old Toronto Mail and Empire as general reporter and special writer, he was sent by that paper to Rossland to write a series of special articles in regard to the gold mining boom, of which that town was then the centre's centre of attraction. The articles he wrote were noted for their descriptive qualities as well as for their information regarding mining conditions, and considerably enhanced John A.'s reputation as a writer. But just as his friends were predicting a brilliant journalistic future for him he displayed their anticipations by suddenly leaving it and embarking into business as a mining broker. As a matter of fact, Currie's experiences in Rossland and the copy he wrote as a result, instead of settling his journalistic ambition, deadened it, and in its place came a lively ambition for business. Even when the mining boom petered out and John A. closed up his brokerage office it was only to embark on still more pretentious enterprise, to wit, the organization of the Lindsay wood wire and shipbuilding undertakings. But even though two-odd years have since elapsed, John Allister still knows not a mining broker. As a matter of fact, Currie's experiences in Rossland and the copy he wrote as a result, instead of settling his journalistic ambition, deadened it, and in its place came a lively ambition for business. Even when the mining boom petered out and John A. closed up his brokerage office it was only to embark on still more pretentious enterprise, to wit, the organization of the Lindsay-

SENATOR WOOD.

Has Been Defeated During Political Career.

Award the palm for long service in the ranks of his Majesty's loyal Opposition to Senator Archie McCoig of Kent. After fourteen years in the House of Commons, during which the party never had the opportunities to be in power, he goes to the Red Chamber, there also to labor as ast with the Opposition. But just as he was over the threes of the second reading with in the House of Commons, Archibald Blake McCoig, at the age of 79, promises to be one of the "live nose" in the Senate, the one grumbled as much, and he does not go back on his promises.

Archie McCoig has had an uninterrupted public career of twenty-four years' duration, and in all that time he has never had to face the necessity of living up to the splendid characteristics of the "good loser." He has always won; first as mayor of the city of Chatham, afterwards as member of the Ontario Legislature, and for the last, then as member of the House of Commons for the County of Kent. Every time he has been found on the Government side of the chamber when the provincial Liberal party was returned to power in 1904. At times he could not count his majority by hundreds, but in the great election his lead over his nearest rival was 2,822, so that he goes to the Senate from the Senate was the zenith of his popularity.

In the general election of 1911 Messrs. McCoig, Pardee and Guthrie were the only provincial Liberals in a solidly Tory that could by any stretch of imagination be called Grit.

It is said that on the night of the election Mr. McCoig received a telephone call from his old friend, Premier Foster of Carleton, who was anxious to know how the battle went in St. John. Premier was first with his question and inquired how Lambton went.

"I got in by 64 majority," replied Mr. Pardee.

"Is that all?" exclaimed Archie. "Well, if I were to get only 64 of a majority I should hesitate to take the seat."

"What majority did you get?" queried Mr. Pardee.

"Me? Archie, "Why, I got 651."

It was the smallest majority he ever received.

Senator McCoig follows in the footsteps of his father, the late David McCoig, that he began as a lumber and general dealer. He was a success from the start, and the Chatham boys learned not to trust his judgment and his honesty. Later in the record of "county councilorship" he mated with the people of Kent to such a degree that Senator Lougheed by a rural resident within the boundaries that he did not call for his first name. He became known as the "Farmers' Friend," and made no attempt to disavow the reputation so established. He acquired a farm almost near the city of Chatham, which he said in answer for the dedication of his occupation which invariably appeared in the ballot papers, "Farmer and Manufacturers' Agent."

Mr. McCoig married Miss Addie M. Demaree, and they have one son, W. Senator is a Presbyterian, and is regularly found in his church pew on Sunday, from which he rises, however, to officiate with the collection plate when the minister announces, "We will not worship with our offering."

During the 1921 campaign Mr. McCoig found himself addressing a meeting in the riding where some of his old workers had been returned to the Provincial Legislature. With trembling voice he announced the horror he felt at being opposed in a quarter which he had always had reason to regard as friendly.

"It is the last time I shall ever ask you to give me your votes to enable me to fight the big interests, the trusts and corporations of this country. If this is the reward I get I am through."

It is hardly necessary to state that his old friends of the section in question gave him the biggest vote he had ever received there.

His words, nevertheless, were prophetic for when the chance came to retire to the Senate in order to give a riding for Hon. Jas. Murdock, Mr. McCoig accepted the appointment gracefully, and wears the title of Senator in a manner entirely worthy of him.

Our North Lands.

We are conquering the difficulties of the north faster as time goes on. It was once thought that the climate from the time when the Romans thought that no civilization could exist north of the Alps until the civilization of the old world was really on a par with that of Italy. Now it was only a century from the time when Benjamin Franklin thought that the little island of Guadeloupe was worth more than all Canada till the time when Canadians came to think Canada had become more important than the whole island of Guadeloupe. By analogy we may expect that it will require only a decade or two for the same progress in knowledge and revolution in sentiment with regard to the northern prairies that are still called "Barren Grounds" and are still supposed to be worthless.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, in World's Work.

Mine Discovered by Pig.

The Calumet lode, the greatest of all copper mines, was discovered by a pig. The animal was rooting around the yard behind a boarding house in Calumet, when it revealed a lot of copper utensils in a hole which it supposed to have been a ancient Indian cache. This led to an investigation of the hole in the vicinity, and that resulted in the location of the great copper deposit.

"YES, and that is just how I feel."

"What seems to be the matter?"

"Why, I had tonsilitis, and my whole system seemed to be poisoned and run down. So much so that I do not seem to gain strength."

"Will you let me be your doctor and do as I tell you?"

"I will do anything to get strong and well. I have been sitting here too long already."

"Well, you send to the drug store for six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and take one pill after each meal and at bedtime. Believe me, it will not be long until you feel the benefit of this treatment and find yourself gaining in health and vigor."

"How do you know?"

"I know from personal experience. After I had the 'flu' I was left just like you are now—all run down; could not sleep; the little food I ate did not seem to do me any good, and I was getting pretty blue."

"Yes."

"Well, my wife had been using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and insisting on me trying it a trial. You know the rest, for I was soon about again, hale and hearty as ever. I have told lots of people about this Nerve Food, and never knew it to fail yet."

THE KHAN, IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

THE GOOD OLD THINGS

Many correspondents have written us expressing their satisfaction with an article in a recent corner in which it was held that many old homes, long occupied and then emptied, are the word "haunt." What is the matter with it? It is a good old word and is indeed fortunate who is accompanied through life by a friendly and affectionate ha't—several of them—is more the merrier! There be folks in the vale of tears, who are rarely raised and seldom in trouble because they are haunted by an altogether desirable bunch off ha'nts. I admit there be two kinds of ghosts. There may be good and evil—benign and malignant ha'nts. A young person, man or maiden, starting out in life may thank there lucky stars they are haunted by gracious and easily accessible ghosts.

Talking about young things reminds me that beneficient ghosts seem to have a great love for old places. Many of my readers will recall the Richmond Street Methodist Church. This was the blue ribbon pulpit of the Methodist Conference in Canada. A dark inconvenient and crowded old place it was, filled by a great public. The people were strong, united and they were filled with a great zeal. The old Richmond Street Church was like a spiritual dynamo which furnished energy for for every slator church within a three and miles. There was not a young Methodist preacher starting out on his career but considered the Richmond Street pulpit his highest aim in the church ladder. Where is it now? It is not a pleasant story. There were people in the congregation who considered that the old building was not worthy of them and there mission on the land. They advocated abandoning the old dark low-ceilinged old tabernacle and building a grand new one worthy of their wealth, their prestige, their pride of place. This once strong people, this great house became divided against itself. Part of the congregation pointed out that the Lord had visited them richly in the old building till it had become indeed a sacred place, but they were talked figuratively speak ing, they were clubbed into silence and submission. The dear old church home was sold, the soldiers cast lots for its garments; a great new church was built uptown and the old Richmond St. Church disappeared as even that sturdy church even as disappeared that temple long ayes when the soldiers of Titus trampled into the dust. To-day, I am told, the new church uptown is a Jewish Synagogue.

Now if there be two kinds of ghosts benign and malignant, there also be two kinds of superstitions, good and evil. We are all superstitious, it depends on whether or not our superstitions are the right kind. No one is the worse for a few beautiful superstitions. The word superstition has fallen into disrepute, because it has been persistently applied to one phase of spiritual phenomena. I insist that there be precious superstitions just as there are most certainly gentle and desirable ghosts.

It is claimed by many fine old people that the benign Spirit that used to ha't the old Richmond Street Church never moved into the new building uptown. When rubbles hands torn down its ancient home the good spirit fled away, and since that day no man has set her face or been sensible of her presence.

This has happened to so many houses, dwelling and even to church homes. I remember when old Joel Bellens lived in an old log house with a whole lot of trees ancestral tacked on here and there, in fact, there was one put on top of the old house. What, I mean is the story round the roof. Good story. It was certainly not a very artistic looking place from the road, but Oh! such a home! There were cozy chimneys on the floor and old furniture, some of it hand-made, and old pictures and, and, everything. There was a place to go and dance or a prayer meeting; an apple paring bee, a christening, a quilting, a social of any kind. But there arose a king who knew not Joseph. He concluded that the grand old home was not worthy the Joel Bellens, and that they associated with a whole lot of common folks who were not in their class. So he tore down the old place and built a mansion. Yes, sir, it's a mansion, you can't call it anything else. It is were close to a town it might be mistaken for a ladies' seminary, a collegiate institute, a public grist mill, a high-schools, a sized and ornate jail or St. Joseph's Hospital. He mortgaged the old farm to build it, and then he mortgaged it some more furnish it. Why, he's got a what they call a davenport, or is it a divernport, in one of the rooms that cost more than sixty dollars, just for one piece of furniture, and nobody but an idiot can sit on it. As for sleeping in it, I wouldn't sleep into it for a cow!

The Benign Spirit of the Belden home never passed from the old house into the new!

When my old man dies he may cut me off with a shilling. I will not repine or murmur. I will be indeed rich if he bequeaths me the spirit of the old home.

"Bless me, even me also, O m Father!"

"THE WOMAN GOD CHANGED"

REMARKABLE PICTURE

One of the strongest and most thrilling photoplayers produced by Cosmo Hamilton for Paramount in many months is "The Women God Changed" which is being exhibited at Griffin's To-night.

The story evolves around a murder mystery and its novel solution, how this is accomplished makes a highly interesting story. The situations are dramatic, the heart interest intense, and the picture as a whole is far above the average.

E. K. Lincoln is leading man and Seena Owen is leading woman, and they are supported by an unusually clever cast of players.

Larry Semon in "The Fall Guy", Fathe News, and the latest chapter of "Winners of the West" will also be exhibited on the same program.

REX STOCK COMPANY AT GRIFFIN'S MONDAY

IN "PEG O' MY HEART"

The Rex Stock Company (one almost feels like saying "Our Rex Family") is going to stage a revival of that well-known comedy that will live forever "Peg O' My Heart" at Griffin's this Monday to Wednesday.

Spring is about here, and that means of course that summer is not far off, and summer, to an ever worked band of actors, that have been playing two new plays every week for seven months means bunches of joy.

"I Know Where the Flies Go" has been explained by words and music in the form of a touching little ballad, but no one has written "I know where the actors go, in the Summer time" well they scatter. A word almost seem, when one looks at the map, and locates the different members of the company, that they were so fed up with each other after the winter season, that they were trying their utmost to put as much distance as possible between each other. For instance this coming summer looks very much like this—Kathryn Hamlin, Long Beach, California; Rex is going to try a new camp this year, as yet not decided. There will be Ted Bender; Billy Seymour and Mrs. Bill (Hazel Williams) go to their summer cottage as Sharon Lake, Wisconsin; Billy Yale-to-his place at Wolfe Lake Mich.; Doc Cole down on his farm near Glenview, Ill.; Florence Winters to her home in Chicago; the Paris Kidies to one of Michigan's prettiest resorts Cadillie, Mich.; Charlie Hannah to his home in Three Rivers, Michigan. Hazel we forgot Gloria, Machan and William Mischell—well, we'll let he write "candid; they has been a bit vague on that question-ed. But I guess Bill will go down to Missouri and Gloria will join Pat-ricia and Marion in Ottawa, and then again, you never can tell.

In the meantime, however, between now and the time the Rex-ed-ve-cation arrives, not a few of their very best plays will be used to end what is by rarting them and fluffing out the short coats over the ears, and twisting what is left into the semblance of a chignon at the nape of the neck.

Dear Sir:-
Our faith in the power of publicity in Canada, after a good many years' experience, is best exemplified in the fact that we have used the principal daily and weekly newspapers throughout the Dominion, from coast to coast, for advertising and pushing our various products to a far greater extent than any other vehicle of advertising. The results can best be illustrated by the position that LUX attains at present as a first class household soap of a similar nature. LUX is now a general household word, and when we inform you that the greater part of our advertising expenditure, year by year, has been in the newspapers, that is the best answer as to the suitability of the press in Canada as one of the best means of advertising any household or other commodity.
Canadians are great newspaper readers, whether they live in the city or on the farm, and as the latter have more time, especially during the winter months, to read and peruse, not only the news items but also the advertisements, to a far greater extent than those in the city, it stands to reason that advertisements generally get read by a section of our people who, after all, are one of the greatest economic factors in the prosperity of the Dominion, viz., the farming class, who produce the fruits of the soil.
Yours faithfully,

Four Men Killed and Many Injured by Exploding Ferry

Boiler Blown Up as Steamer Tied to Dock and Force of Detonation Spreads Flying Debris Over the City of Sarnia — More Than $300,000 Damage Caused — Large Crowd on Dock Luckily Escapes Injury.

STEAMER BOILER WRECKS HOUSE

Sarnia, Ont., March 27.—Four men were killed, six were injured and scores of Sarnia residents aboard the Sarnia and Port Huron ferry City of Cheboygan, had a narrow escape, when the ferry Omar D. Conger blew up at her dock in the Black River yesterday afternoon causing $300,000 damage throughout the city and terrifying folks along the water front.

The dead are Ransom Campbell, chief engineer; Clifford Althans, fireman, and Thomas Buckner and Kenneth Crandall, deck hands. Six other persons were seriously injured and a number suffered considerably from the shock and minor injuries.

Stanley MacGowan was taken to the hospital suffering from a fractured skull. He was walking on Quay Street when struck on the head by a piece of timber.

Hurled a distance of 50 feet or more along Hilda Street, Dr. Carney, also of Port Huron, sustained severe injuries to his back and is now resting in the city hospital.

At the time of the accident the ferry City of Cheboygan was docking at the mouth of the Black River from Sarnia, when the explosion rocked her from stem to stern. The presence of mind of her officers averted a panic as dense smoke hurling down all around the boat. Sarnia folks who were on the dock standing on the deck of the Sarnia-Port Huron Ferry Company, waiting to take the ferry back to Sarnia, narrowly escaped.

The boiler from the ill-fated Conger, landed on the top of a house a block from the scene of the accident. The family were absent and returned to a half-hour later to find their home burned to the ground.

A steam radiator was thrown 1,000 feet into the chapel of Albert E. Falls, where a funeral was in progress. Mourners were injured by splinters. Glass was broken in store fronts two blocks away.

Last night the business section of Port Huron resembled a battlefield. In the world war area. Hundreds of windows were blown out and more than a dozen fronts completely demolished. The disaster is the worst in the annals of Port Huron's history, and officials of the ferry company state that they are at a loss to explain how it happened, but they believe that it was the result of the boiler blowing up. The steamer Hiawatha, lying alongside the Conger, was partly demolished.

Engineer McDerran, well-known in Sarnia, is head of the Sarnia and Port Huron Ferry Company.

WILL AGAIN INVESTIGATE SMALL'S DISAPPEARANCE

Solicitor for Sisters of the Missing Man Promises Startling Disclosures — Attorney-General Will Also Take a Hand in Solving the Mystery.

Toronto, March 27.—The Attorney-General's Department of Ontario has decided to take a more active interest in the solving of the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Ambrose J. Small, theatrical magnate, on December 2nd, 1919. The first move was made on Saturday, when Hon. Wm. H. Raney, in a letter to Col. R. H. Greer, suggested that he get in touch with Gideon Grant, K.C., solicitor for Florence and Gertrude Small, sisters of the missing millionaire.

Col. Greer, who prosecuted John Doughty, now serving a six-year term in the Kingston Penitentiary for the theft of $102,000 in Victory bonds from Small's vault, admitted that the Attorney-General had asked him to become associated with the case. Col. Greer stated that he had a brief interview with Mr. Grant on Saturday afternoon. The talk was quite informal, and he had no observations to make until he had taken the matter up with the Attorney-General. Col. Greer would not say that he had any desire to further associate himself with the case. He had merely acted upon the suggestions of the Attorney-General for the purpose of satisfying himself as to what course he should pursue, as to what steps he should take.

Mr. Grant stated that he had been retained by the sisters of the missing man, and that he had been providing the Provincial Police desk to take an active part in clearing up the mystery. To date the case has been entirely outside the jurisdiction of the Toronto Police Department.

Attorney-General Surprised —

"I am surprised that any inquiry should have been given to the fact that I had asked Mr. Greer to look into the case and make a report," he said Hon. W. E. Raney, Provincial Attorney-General, last night.

"It was clearly an office matter, and significant as it may be, there was no reason why it should find its way to the newspapers. I do not know who is responsible for divulging the information, which is certainly of a private character."

The Attorney-General stated that Mr. Grant had communicated to him certain information which he had turned over in his mind. That information, he believed, might well be investigated by Col. Greer, by reason of his association with the prosecution of John Doughty, private secretary to Mr. Small, believing that it would be possible for the provincial police to clear up certain phases of the case, which continue to remain unexplained.

FIRE DAMAGES 2 APARTMENTS

Blaze in Doyle's Terrace Does Considerable Damage to Contents.

At 9 o'clock on Saturday night, the fire brigade was called to extinguish a blaze which had broken out in No. 3 apartment of Doyle's Terrace, off Pinnacle street. When the brigade arrived upon the scene the flames, which originated in the room upstairs, had gained considerable headway, owing to the occupants being out shopping. The fire was, however, extinguished before it had communicated to other parts of the terrace. The loss sustained to the building and contents is covered by insurance. Mr. Charles Phelps occupied the apartment where the fire originated, and its cause while not definitely known, is attributed to a fire in a stove and the pipes becoming overheated. Mr. Phelps' furniture was damaged to a considerable extent by fire, water and smoke. Mr. Bertrage is the tenant in No. 1 apartment and he sustained some damage to contents by water and smoke. The fire was under the supervision of Chief Brown, who did good service in confining the fire to the apartment where it originated.

SPEAKS ON CITY POWER

Rotarian Scott Delivers Interesting Lecture to Rotary Club Today.

Featuring today's weekly meeting and luncheon of the Rotary Club at the Quinte Hotel, was a splendid address on "Electric Lighting and Service in Belleville," by Rotarian G. H. Scott. The meeting was one of the best attended and most peppy meetings held by the local Rotarians for a number of months. The Rotary baseball team which trounced the Lion's team last week was presented with the magnificent trophy and each of the members were awarded souvenirs of the occasion. A challenge to a game of outdoor baseball from the senior boulevardsmen's class at the Y.M.C.A. was received and will be taken up in the very near future.

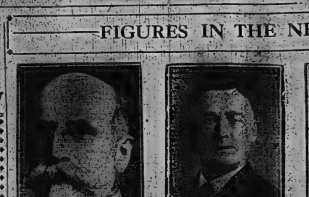

Rotarian Scott in opening his address first sketched the history of electric lighting in Belleville and told of the first records of a lighting franchise which was granted to S. A. Lazier and Son in 1884, which, however, was not developed until the Trent Electric System took over the franchise in 1902 with gradual changes to meet changing conditions until the arrival of the Central Ontario System which is the amalgamation of all the others. The Central Ontario System has a wide range of operation working on the north as far as Whitby, to Kingston on the east and Fenelon Falls on the north.

The system was now being operated on a double loop and practically all of the power developed, said Mr. Scott, was developed from the Trent. There was a very small addition from the Crow River. The speaker then sketched the various steps which have been taken by the Central Ontario System to make the system one of the most efficient in Ontario.

The whole Central Ontario System quite unknown to many subscribers is controlled largely from Belleville, as whose power stations the power comes

Sinn Fein Army in Convention Wants an Irish Republic

Meeting of Republican Army is Held in Dublin Despite Prohibition Issued by Dail Eireann—Michael Collins Issues a Challenge to De Valera—Declares Wreckers Have United in an Unholy Campaign — News Scenes of Blood and Arson in Belfast.

MAY SUSPEND DAIL MUTINEERS

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer

Canadian Press Limited.

Dublin, March 27.—The convention of the Irish Republican Army members failed to excite any outward demonstration yesterday, but, its action in adopting a resolution reaffirming allegiance to the Irish Republic met with strong condemnation among Free State supporters. The Independent referred to the convention as "a deplorable spectacle," and pointed out that while the resolution amounts to a repudiation of the Dail Eireann, De Valera insists that the Dail is supreme authority.

London, March 26.—Belfast celebrated the eve of the Collins-Craig-Lloyd George conferences in a welter of blood and arson.

The deaths in Belfast included the shooting dead of a young woman, who, during the night, was looking out of a window after hearing calls for help. When the shooting was over at one o'clock this dead hero shot dead and others were wounded.

A number of men who were trying to save a burning house were sniped.

The first fatality along the disputed border between the North and South occurred today when a man feeding cattle near Caledon was shot by a sniper from the Free State side, and died later in the Armagh infirmary. Firing along the border continued today and two bridges were blown up at Carrickmore, Tyrone.

Michael Collins, in a speech at Waterford today denounced the De Valera campaign, saying:

"Ireland never witnessed a more sinister or a more cowardly campaign than the wreckers at the northeast and the south have united, and it is an unholy brotherhood.

"I have been invited to meet Sir James Craig and Premier Lloyd George in London. The greatest enemy that I shall have to meet to face will be the contention of De Valera and the Craig supporters that they would not dream of coming into the

BOYS PLAY SPRING GAMES

Dealers Report Heavy Business in Marbles for Lively Lads.

What would Spring be without marbles? That is the attitude of every red blooded boy in town and they certainly practice what they preach here, in one store alone, $2,000 marbles were sold since about the middle of February, and 75,000 are on the order for next Spring. But the marble season is nearly over now, for it begins just as soon as there is sufficient bare sidewalk on which to assist. Marble season has given away to tops, hoops, rubber balls, baseballs, basketball gloves, carts, wagons, skipping ropes and other spring sporting goods, and large quantities of these goods have been sold up to date. One Front St. merchant stated that he could scarcely get the goods in fast enough to supply the demand.

As early as last week, baseball games were in progress on the school grounds, where all the boys were getting their arms toughened up and this fact that is evident in their agility, but the young folks will crash the season, in their eager desire to get back at the old game.

ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW ELECTRICAL STEEL INDUSTRY A CANADIAN ACHIEVEMENT

Alloy Steel Will Shortly Be Produced in Volume in Plant to be Erected Near Sarnia on Advantageous Site—Cheap Hydro Electric Current Will Enable Company to Compete Successfully in World's Markets, Thus Adding to Industrial Prestige—Company Has a Strong Board of Directors.

There promises to arise, shortly, on the banks of St. Clair River at Sarnia, an industry which will be hailed by representative Canadians wholly or rather in a new epoch in steel manufacture in the Dominion.

Heretofore Canada has produced steel somewhat as a disadvantage by comparison with many countries of the world. Disadvantages included, the cost of some competitors, low wages, and in practically all competitors, larger home markets.

In the new industry, however, Canada will have the full advantage of one of the outstanding natural resources of the Dominion, there is every reason to believe that in Canada during the coming decade will take place enormous strides in the electrical production of steel which will place this country at the top of the list among the countries of the world in its production.

The automobile industry, in particular, has been responsible for the development of a demand for high grade alloy steel such as can best be produced where hydro-electric current is abundant and cheap. In the production of this grade of steel, three elements are essential, namely, iron ore coke and electric current. The fact that these elements can be brought together at the lowest possible cost at Sarnia, is responsible, for the selection of the site mentioned on the shores of St. Clair River.

The plant will in no way be experimental. The prominent United States men connected with the Company have been for years associated with the Alloy Steel industry and the company will merely supply the Canadian trade with a product that is at present imported.

Metallurgists recognize that the electric process of making high grade steel—particularly alloy steel—is the ideal process, but the high cost of electric energy in the United States has been a handicap to the volume of its production. The production of high grade steel, in large volume, by the electric process will be accomplished now, as already indicated, and some of the present producing plants in Canada are also arranging for the use of electrical manufacture. In fact, no company is at present manufacturing in Canada for itself, though a few small furnaces are producing forgings and castings.

The new business, which makes the erection of the Dominion Alloy Steel Co. Plant at Sarnia opportune, has largely been within the past few years. All the steel now used by the large manufacturers of automobiles in Canada is imported in spite of the heavy freight rate, duty and the adverse rate of exchange which has existed since the war. The demand for a factory is increasing with leaps and bounds, more particularly as many of the large users have been purchasers of the United States are locating in Canada for the purpose of taking advantage of the favorable preference of Canada for the purpose of taking advantage of the favorable preference of Canada for the purpose of taking advantage of the favorable preference of

Melon-Growing in the Okanagan

There is a romance to watermelon-growing in the Okanagan Valley, and a little acclimatized history of the Province, which has made the latter forget the days when it was content to grow only apples and fruit of a similar character. Two years ago, 1,000 crates, averaging $2.50 gross, netted $2,500.

They are grown on the "bottom" land system of a few ranches and well-rotted manure is very much in evidence during the spring. Great care has to be taken in irrigating the melons as they won't stand being chilled. Cultivation is carried on until every big fruit is well developed, and then the vines are left severely alone. Harvesting and shipping centres at the British Columbian and other points, but in the case of Hedley, we have a farming community from which the early inhabitants have all but disappeared.

Writing many years ago, Judge Haliburton gave one of the best descriptions of cellars, with their stone walls and granite floors, that could possibly be seen. Hedley has erected a monument of the same character to the memory of their worst "boom."

Hedley came to Similkameen in 1904, and there was soon a community of about 14,000, according to Mr. Brown's review in the Similkameen Star. At that time Hedley had only 2,000 to 4,000. A rush sprang up to the Nickel Plate mine, and with true enterprise, built a complete hot town within the space of a week, to escape their 60-day per cross tax levied on the buildings in which those 14,000 people lived, with the exception of a few tents and their cooking apparatus. It was a real sod and a plaster shop."

What became of the city? By 1910 some faint hearts began to go back to the States. They had their disappointments, some went to the Coast cities. The German element went out to Grand Forks or Lower Boyle, to mix with their kith and kin by blood. Some went west to Barrington and further on, to Lake Argyles, and Tunkwa and Ashcroft, as names go to these. Others went out across Okanagan. So that what was then the entrance to Queen's country but is now Yarmouth, Shelburne and Queens, became thinly populated by many hosts by those who migrated from Hedley to the Coast.

The Shelburne of Joseph Pyne, after he no longer governed residents for their wards, its most prosperity, its crowd hopes have come forever. But the beautiful harbor remains, and old Christ Church remains, looking down with weather-beaten eye on the harbor, as though expecting that she may see a teeming population surrounding its greenish blue water.

Loyal Irish For West.

If the plan of the C.P.R. Colonization Department succeeds, about 11,000 members of the Royal Irish Constabulary will be brought to Canada, and settled on Irrigated lands in Alberta. The C.P.R. will practically finance the settlement, each man being required to have a very moderate cash capital, and to assist him in purchasing implements, stock, and setting up generally. To this the venture, according, respecting which a colonization expenditure of about $10,000,000 is reported as being planned.

Allowing 160 acres for each settler, the area to be covered by the colony would be about 1,760, and a half million acres. That project would be about the size of the Soldier Settlement, conducted under Government auspices, in which about $40,000,000 has been invested. Both of these large-scale settlement schemes point the way Canada will have to proceed if she expects to get as expansive a settlement of vacant lands in the West. If a group of men such as are in the Royal Irish Constabulary were together in a great colony, their associations would be agreeable, for there would be kinship of ideas, religion and, as they look would be attractive. By putting among them skilled instructors, and stimulating colony feeling—the "bee" spirit—the material difficulties could be largely removed.

Ontario's Oldest Printer.

R. H. Constable, the oldest printer in Western Ontario, has just celebrated his 94th birthday at his home in Woodstock. Until two years ago, he worked steadily at his trade, but even yet frequently goes down to the office when he has anything special to set up a column or so. Just to know the assertions he used to make, he was born in 1828, when he worked in the office of theGeneral Plain Dealer, alongside of Artemus Ward and Mark Twain, who left shortly after he came to America from London, England, where he was born in 1821.

A few years later he crossed over into Ontario and in 1846 established the Ingersoll News. In 1876 he moved to Ridgetown and started the publication of the Ridgetown Plain Dealer. But he liked to move about, and subsequently worked on papers in Niagara Falls, Amherstburg, Stratford, Ayr and Woodstock.

Mr. Constable still remembers many instances of the irresponsible bedding honor which America's very great humorists betrayed even while they were setting type in the Clever and newspaper offices.

MANY REFUGEES IN SALONIKI

Starving People of All Races Eke Out Miserable Existence.

Saloniki, March 27.—Saloniki with its 100,000 population and its 90 minarets grew smaller in size more rapidly than any other city in the world. Crowded within its narrow and shattered walls are 40,000 Greek and Moslem refugees, 20,000 exiles from Russia, and an uncounted number of fugitives from Asia Minor, Caucasus and other oppressed countries.

Most of them have a pitiful existence. A crust of black bread and a cup of watery soup daily is all that keeps them from the grave.

The Greek government has not the means to care properly for this great host of indigents. All its money is eaten up by the army in Asia Minor. The charity of American plays a large part in the care of the children, of whom there are many thousands. The American Red Cross is trying to ameliorate the wretched plight of the little ones.

The heart of Saloniki was destroyed by fire in 1917 and most of the city still is a mass of tottering walls and rubbish heaps. The water and sewage systems were almost wholly destroyed.

There is no hotels left in the well-to-do have home. The rest of the population live in huts, tents and in the streets.

Nearly a dozen mosques have been turned into shelters for the homeless. In front of almost every one there was wont to send its pungent odor heavenward, the boiling soup-pot and the hobo, but nowadays now daily thousand persons eat, sleep and have their being in a single mosque.

Saloniki is no place for the weakling. The city's streets are packed with pedestrians, merchants, bankers, peddlers, peasants, soldiers, sailors, beggars and money-lenders, who make up a perfect maelstrom. On the busiest mart in the East. It is also the richest. Nowhere in Europe is wealth at once so opulent and so hold, nowhere now daily have

THE EVIL GENIUS OF IRELAND.

Dark clouds are lowering over Ireland. Bayonets gleam across the old, hateful battle-ground of race and religion; passions, with their source in past centuries, are stirred; only a spark is required to start a conflagration calamitous in its consequences. What the immediate cause of it all is, who knows?

Two months ago prospects seemed bright for a settlement. Sir James Craig had met Michael Collins, views were exchanged, differences explained, tentative agreements reached; men of good will rejoiced. But the ancient evil genius that has pursued the story of Ireland appears to have remained. Malevolent the dismissed began their work; mischief in both sides fanned the old coals of prejudice into a living flame; counsels became blurred with passion. It was the old, old story over again.

What the outcome of it all will be, Heaven only knows. The one and only hope, seemingly a slender one, is that enough sense and force remains on both sides to save the country from a war so terrible in its motives and inspiration that ordinary Christian humanity recoils at its very thought.

A CAMPAIGN AGAINST CANCER.

Cancer accounted for more deaths in Toronto during 1921 than any other disease except pneumonia and heart trouble. Five hundred and forty-three citizens succumbed to it, or one person out of every nine hundred and sixty-seven inhabitants. During the past two years, the average mortality from cancer has been 106 per hundred thousand of population. For the previous six years it was only 86; and for the six years prior to that, 76. Making every allowance for the improved diagnosis of the disease, the fact must be faced that cancer is an increasing menace to human life, says the Toronto Star.

Lord Atholstan's offer of $10,000 for an authentic cure and Sir William Veno's prize of a like amount are attracting wide interest among medical men. But the discovery may be long delayed. In the meantime, a campaign of public education should be undertaken in order that cancer cases may be reported and dealt with in their early stages. A despatch from London quotes surgeons in the hospitals there as saying:

"The percentage of cures would be much higher, but that so many cases remain undetected or wrongly diagnosed until the disease has secured a firm hold. Early detection and early treatment are the chief means of salvation, as in tuberculosis."

That being the case, the method which has proved so effective a weapon against tuberculosis should be employed. The public mind should be trained to regard cancer as a disease to be watched for and dealt with in its incipient stages. This view is also taken by a writer in Public Hygiene (Toronto) who declares that "the chief hope of controlling the disease seems to lie in a well-planned campaign of public education." He points out that while cancer in the first stages gives rise to no pain and no symptoms of ill-health, there are certain early signs which should be regarded as sufficient cause for calling in medical advice. Among them are the presence of a lump or mass in a woman's breast after forty, any wart or sore on the lower lip of a man forty-five years of age, or a sore on his tongue. Irritation of the tongue and cheeks by jagged teeth or of the lower lip by clay pipes, etc., should be avoided. Research which will amplify the knowledge which the medical profession possesses regarding these early manifestations of the disease and which will tend to educate the public in this same knowledge will be of tremendous service to mankind. A scourge which claims seven thousand yearly in Canada alone, and which kills one in eight among women and one in fourteen among men at ages over forty, is a foe which must be fought with all the forces at the nation's command. At those ages it is more destructive of life than either tuberculosis or pneumonia.

Wanted to Know

Henry Ford was born on a farm within ten miles of Detroit. He has lived all his life practically in the same spot. He was always interested in mechanics. When he was ten years old he took to watching the steaming teakettle that sang and jiggled on the kitchen stove.

There was an old-fashioned fireplace in the Ford home, and on it one day Henry put a thick earthenware teapot filled with water. It soon became stuffed with paper and the lid fell down. He sat down to see what the steam would do.

An explosion, followed by a child's cry of pain, brought Mrs. Ford running from the kitchen. Scattered about the room were the fragments of the teapot. One piece had shattered a window pane, another had broken a mirror, while a third had cut a gash in Henry's head. His face, too, was scalded and the scar still remains within fifteen minutes practically settled the terms of peace and resigned. So, after a year of separation, the two sections will shortly meet on a friendly greeting and sing the Doxology, letting bygones be bygones, and not a man of the old Spadina crowd will be missing from the United fold.

The Sweeney-Gunn method is somewhat like the story of certain churches sorely needing a visit from a white-winged dove. Let each side choose some level-headed Gunn or a peaceful Irishman like Sweeney, and see what happens when they meet. Desire for peace, regardless of imposed consequences, must of course be the first requisite; then all else will follow.

King Billy of Orange knew how to do it. When he and his continental allies had finally brought the great Louis XIV to his knees, there began a long diplomatic jockeying among the plenipotentiaries in the peace conference at Ryswick. The preliminaries included such stupendous stipulations as how many carriages, horses, lackeys and pages each minister should be entitled to bring to the city; whether the serving men should carry canes, ten seconds and have pistols in their holsters; who should have precedence at table and in processions.

After months of bickering, King William, practical man as he was, wearied at the tedious tinkering, requested the Earl of Portland to seek out a Frenchman of sense, the Marshal Boufflers, and ask for a half-hour interview. With the consent of the French king they met on the highway between the armies. Their attendants retired, and the negotiators were left alone in an orchard. "Here" they walked up and down during two hours, says Macaulay, "and in that time did much more business than the plenipotentiaries at Ryswick were able to despatch in six months." A permanent peace was the result."

Whenever two earnest leaders of opposing forces get their feet under the same desk, best on having peace, they get it! It all depends on the leaders.

A MIRACLE IN CHURCH

By BYRON STAUFFER.

A miracle is occurring in a Toronto church. May they keep it up! Only go shoddy, the country over to open its eyes to this beneficient marvel! And may all cock-eyed, militant, engaged in controversies about communism and perpetual, verbal negotiations, type, prophesies, and mingle with the sane and calmest, receive the whole-some lesson!

An ecclesiastical organization, which split on the rocks of disagreement a year ago, has been visited by a white dove, the olive branches once the sections simultaneously grasped a branch. This is the dove's name, as the Psalmist put it, and it's marvellous in our eyes. We do not often see it after this fashion.

Usually a church split grows wider as the years pass, and the bitter antagonists continue to stand on opposite sides of the street and make faces at each other in their own sweet time, until high blood pressure, diabetes, cancer or Bright's disease carries them off one by one, piously trusting in the clerical Prince of Peace.

But not so in the case of Western Congregational Church. Having sold their church home on Spadina avenue, they decided, last Eastertide, to unite with Dale Presbyterian Church. "We are free" mused, however, sympathized the mercer and maintained their identity, worshipping once a week in the Bloor street theatre. Recently the Dale wing, for reasons of their own, cast wistful glances backward to the good old days and decided unanimously to end the tentative agreement with the church of the heroic J. D. Morrow, and withdrew. This was done without the least sign of ill-will to either the Dale Presbyterians or their popular and devoted pastor, Bertram Nelles. They also eased off the financial shock to Dale by resolving to continue their contributions for several months more.

Then came the miracle. Russel Seeconer, of the Dale faction, and Dr. W. T. Gunn, secretary of the Congregational Union, sat down together looked into each other's faces and get it!

Dr. Gunn and Sweeney, greetings. And may we add the title increase!

BRITAIN KNOWS NOTHING OF WAR DESIGN BY RUSSIA

London, March 24.—Austen Chamberlain, the Government Leader, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon, in answer to a question, that nothing was known of any intention on the part of the Russian Soviet Government to launch a new war.

Mr. Chamberlain said a slight increase in the number of troops was believed to have been made since the beginning of the year in Western Russia, where one class had been reported partially mobilized.

But this would not necessarily signify a warlike measure, he added, as this class was due to be called up in the spring.

Dear Sirs:-

Twenty-seven years ago, when Red Rose Tea was first placed on the market, we selected the daily newspapers as the quickest way to reach the most people.

At that time grocers were selling, principally, China teas in bulk, while Red Rose Tea was, and is to-day, a blend of fine British grown teas from India and Ceylon, put up in sealed packages.

Because it goes directly into the home, into frequent and close touch with the woman, the buyer of the family, we can count on results in building Red Rose Tea sales for merchants in small towns as well as whole sections, so we consider the daily newspaper gives us a definite service.

We are happy to say this with the experience of 27 years behind it, for India and Ceylon teas have almost completely superseded China teas, and the daily paper has helped us make RED ROSE TEA, in its sealed package, known to Canadians from coast to coast, and our trade mark, "RED ROSE TEA is good tea" a household name.

Yours truly,
T. H. ESTABROOKS CO. Limited.
PRESIDENT.

P.S. You may use this letter in any way you feel inclined.

There is no doubt about it—If you want to make the name of your goods a household word you must advertise in Daily Newspapers. As Mr. Estabrooks says: and his comment is based upon 27 years' experience, "The Daily Newspaper goes into the home and is in frequent and close touch with the woman—the buyer the family.

Soldier Settlement and Irrigation

(1) Intake gates and dam on Okanagan River.

(2) Main canal, near Intake.

...is a centre for concerts, dances, basketball and general sport.

A demonstration plot has been established about five miles south of Oliver, on the main highway, where 50 acres are now under cultivation with six acres in every section which will be sold to the soldier settlers.

Leaving Penticton, on our trip to Oliver, each interest beckoned to a fresh delight. Winding in around the hills, we sped around Dog Lake. The steamer "Peri" on the shore will be used by the Kettle Valley Railway, from Penticton to join with rail scain at Okanagan Falls on the way to Oliver and the Boundary. Passing Vaseaux Lake, through the stock raising country there was a wealth of beautiful scenery — the water lilies on the lake, the wild swans who make their home there all the year around, the everlasting rock on the motor road, all added to the beauty of the scene.

A point of interest was the big construction camp where we had dinner in the headquarters staff dining room. It is a regular social event with even the host and her little chickens a part of the scene. In the staff the cars could call home there and it will be the place of the camp for the next two years. For the workmen there is an immense bunk house and 150 men are served at once.—C. G.

(Irrigation is coming into its own in Western Canada. Pioneers of the older provinces began with an axe and an ox team and were practical of the farmers becoming their own irrigation men. Now the irrigated districts such as the Okanagan Valley, British Columbia, not long since a desert, blossom like a rose through the vitalizing wealth of the waters of irrigation. A large acreage that is now being won from nature is the soldiers' settlement land in the Southern Okanagan — a 2,000 acre tract that is of national interest because of its strategic location and the engineering difficulties to make it of service to the soldier settlers. A motor trip through the settlement revealed a country rich in scenic beauty, interesting in old and modern marvellous is present activity of transforming a wilderness into a garden. It lies in a lovely valley, extending from Vaseaux Lake to the International Boundary. The northerly part of the settlement is 22 miles from Penticton.

Water for the irrigation is supplied, from the Okanagan river which, at point of intake, is about three-quarters of a mile below Vaseaux Lake and has a width of 200 feet. A concrete dam raises the surface of the water 10 feet. The system has been built in a very permanent manner. The concrete intake, ditches which prevent seepage losses, concentration of mineral salts and the like. The main canal is 18 feet wide on top, five and a half feet deep and carries a capacity of 70 cubic feet per second. Eleven miles of the project is finished, 8 miles partly done and when finished, 27 miles of canal will be built to the Boundary. From the spraying dispensing plant, photography, many engineering problems and difficulties overcome. Many men were unique in engineering in America. Various experiments had the resorted to which included the use of great wood stave pipes and steel pipes, some 80 inches in diameter.

An example of the immensity of the task as well as of the engineering involved is the construction of the siphon three miles south of thirteen flumes in the cement pipe from the intake to the cement pipe works. There will be about 1,500 acres of irrigable land in the block and the land is being developed under the most favorable conditions with an ample supply of water.

A plant for the manufacture of concrete pipe is one of the enterprising industries of the settlement. Twelve miles of pipe will be built this season by 20 men, with an output of 650 feet of piping a day.

At present the land was put on sale last spring and about 600 acres of it was fled orchard was planted by Percy Sampson, a returned soldier, belonging to the construction camp.

The town of Oliver will be the administrative centre of the district. It is one of the planned towns now in Canada and is now being developed in a haphazard way with no specialized plan of divisions. The townsite is divided into blocks and the best just what is needed, and this will be sold off before further sales are made. Certain areas are reserved for a park, for a city hall, for a site for various public buildings and space for all that is required to make a town.

The Oliver recreation grounds are across the river from the town, the present site of the big irrigation construction camp. The young men built a permanent recreation hall across the river and have baseball and various requirements by the Government. An athletic association was formed and now the hall is a fine structure, 50 by 70 feet, and is being developed on a scale that fits a growing community.

THREE GOOD HOME SUPPERS

The following menus are suitable for either lunch or supper:

Macaroni à l'Italienne
Oatmeal Baking Powder Biscuit
Tea Apple Sauce

Macaroni à l'Italienne: Break up one-fourth of a pound of macaroni in short pieces (unless you have the "elbow" macaroni, which cannot always be broken up) and boil until tender. Drain well, then put it into a frying pan with 2 tablespoons of olive oil and let fry for 15 minutes, stirring often. Then add one-fourth of a cup of grated cheese (or American cheese chopped finely) and one cup of cooked tomatoes (or stewed, fresh tomatoes in season) and let all simmer together for 20 minutes. Season with salt and pepper to taste, and serve.

Oatmeal Baking Powder Biscuit: Sift together one and one-fourth cups of bread flour; one and one-half teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons of granulated sugar. Stir into this one and one-third cups of dry, uncooked oatmeal and, with the fingertips, rub in 3 tablespoons each of butter and lard. Add enough water to make a soft dough (about one and two-third cups of water) and roll out to one-half inch thickness on a floured board. Cut with a biscuit cutter and bake in 20 minutes in a greased pan in a hot oven.

Cheese-Tomato Toast
Boston Brown Bread
Cocoa Prune Whip

Cheese Tomato Toast: Turn the contents of a one-quart can of tomatoes into a saucepan and when hot add to it 1 cup of diced American cheese and 2 well-beaten eggs. Season with 2 tablespoons of grated raw onion and salt and pepper to taste. Serve poured over slices of buttered toast.

Boston Brown Bread: Mix well together with one cup of rye flour, one cup of yellow cornmeal, one cup of graham flour and one-half teaspoon of soda. Now dissolve three-fourths of a teaspoon of soda in two cups of sour milk; or if you prefer to use sweet milk instead of sour, dissolve one-half teaspoon of soda in one and three-fourths cup of sweet milk. Last add three-fourths cup of molasses, stir until well mixed, and turn all into a mold or can that has a tight-fitting cover. The can or mold should not be more than three-quarters filled with this mixture, as otherwise when the mixture rises it forces off the cover of the can. Tie on the cover with string even with the can then steam (boil) for be minutes. Set this can or mold in a large pot which is half full of boiling water, and let the water boil up around it for three hours. It is then ready to serve.

Baked Cracker-Cheese Dish
Johnny Cake
Tea Preserves

Baked Cracker-Cheese Dish: Either cottage or American cheese. Put a layer of cheese in the bottom of a pudding dish, then a layer of cracker crumbs in 2 cups of milk for 30 minutes, then add to this 1 egg and one-half cup of grated cheese. 2 slightly beaten eggs, and salt and pepper to suit taste. Turn into a buttered pudding dish, sprinkle the top with more cracker crumbs. Bake until firm in a moderate oven.

St. Pats Again Tie Up Stanley Cup Series

ST. PATS BEAT VANCOUVER

Irish Give Strong Display and Even Stanley Cup Series.

Toronto, March 27.—Whether it was the seven-an-a-side game, the absence of Eddie Carroll on the defence, the fighting-with-their-backs-against-the-wall spirit that has fastened on all of their games this season, as a combination of the four, makes little difference, but there is no doubt but that in defeating the Vancouver Millionaires by 6 goals to 0 on Saturday night in the fourth game of the Stanley Cup series, the St. Patrick's gave one of the best exhibitions of hockey that has been put over here with the Pacific Coast champions in the scramble for the mug. Only once in the game was a correct indication of the play and after the locals had secured their two-goal lead in the first period they had it all over their opponents from the proverbial tip-off.

Just what caused the great difference between the game on Thursday, when Vancouver, playing under N. H. L. rules, won a shutout victory over the locals, and that of Saturday, when, under the Canadian control, the Irish and the Westerners took away what is hard to determine. The locals looked off with Corbeau and Stuart on the defence and Noble at rover, and the latter was admirable defensive trio in front of Hughie Cameron was in uniform, but didn't appear on the ice after the game commenced. While Randall was without doubt the star of the day-in-knitting clothes and was one of the large crowd of spectators that viewed the game, Cameron in the game Saturday was sent to the hospital and this left Andrews as the sole substitute.

HOW THE SAWBILLS CLEAN UP

Several of the recent clove fights in New York have afforded rare changes for short and betters to clean up handsomely. Many of these, in fact, run into large sums when Benny Leonard failed to stop Rocky Kansas. Others were skinned a few years previously when Harry Wills knocked out Kid Norfolk within a few than few of the ringside observers up.

Tom Gibbons was a hot favorite to defeat Harry Grab but the former seemed to be in a trance, with the result that the short-enders again lined their pockets. The climax was reached last Friday night when Johnny Dundee outpointed Charley Waite by the proverbial mile. White was installed favorite on the strength of his impressive victory over Willie Jackson. The short end or sure thing fraternity, evidently anticipating the outcome for they backed Dundee with remarkable confidence.

Cook and Ray Yates scored for one side while Dickens and Grant scored for the other side. Next Saturday afternoon the G. T. R. and the Albert College will meet in a friendly game on the Tire Street grounds, kick-off at 2 p.m. The Trenton football team is anxious to meet any of the Belleville teams in home and home games, address J. E. Ingham, General Delivery, Trenton.

The Yeomen are also getting a good team together and are out to lift the Football Cup this season.

SOUGHT CLEMENCEAU'S LIFE

IS NOW SECOND ELECTION

Paris, March 27.—Emile Cottin, who attempted to assassinate former Premier Clemenceau in 1919, for which he is still in prison, and M. Goldsky, in prison for his connection with the bogus rouge espionage case have been launched to-day as candidates in the Paris municipal council election which is to be held to-morrow. Against these two are the communists Andre Marty and M. Badlin, who were elected to the council last year while serving terms for their participation in the Black Sea mutinity. Their elections were annulled by the council of state, which decided they had lost their civil rights.

RUTH'S HOMER DID IT

BABE RUTH INJURIES LEG AND BACK, BUT NOT SERIOUS

New Orleans, La., March 26.—Babe Ruth wrenched an injured leg still more hurt his back in the game between the New York Americans and the Brooklyn Nationals here to-day. An examination showed that the injuries were not serious, although forcing him to retire from the game.

HOW MUCH MONEY WILL RUTH GET?

Unkind Critics Says Huge Salary and Bonus Story is The Bunk.

New York, March 27.—Few levelheaded baseball fans believe the latest story of Babe Ruth signing a five-year contract for $75,000 annually in addition to a bonus of $500 for every home run that sizzles off his big bat this season. Neither of the Yankee colonels gave out figures, official or unofficial, when the exciting news that the Bambino had attached his signature to the famous document was sent out from Hot Springs. Even Ruth had no information to impart as to the exact amount of gold he had been promised in black and white by his generous employers. In other words, nobody connected with the Yankees said a word about Ruth's new contract, yet some of the metropolitan newspapers this week told their readers that Ruth would receive $100,000, at least, for his services as the Huggett magnetic headliner. The fans were asked to believe that the Home Run King's salary ranged all the way from $75,000 to $100,000. They also were fed with that $500 for every circuit drive stuff, in addition to the stunning assertion that the controversy between Ruth and our Yankee owners was decided by the tossing of a coin!

Colonel Huston, in Hot Springs, got Colonel Ruppert, in New York, on the long distance phone at midnight Sunday, March 19, according to the widely-spread propaganda, and together they agreed to let Ruth call "heads" or "tails" to settle the amount of his pay for 1922. Ruth cried "Tails," so the excited readers were told, and the Yankee Colonels gave in to his terms, as outlined above.

A Pretty Tale, Well Told.

'Twas a pretty story, of course, except for the facts. Ruth signed his contract in Huston's room at the Eastman Hotel, Hot Springs, Sunday afternoon, March 19. The news was telegraphed to the Yankee office here at 5 p.m., and a half hour later the correspondent of the Associated Press at the Springs wired it all over the United States. Just the bare announcement that Ruth had agreed for five years was made known. Nothing cases of emergency. Fewster is in more. But that didn't matter, so long as enthusiastic scribes were able to dream of outlanding figures that would astound the New York fans.

In my opinion, Ruth will receive not more than $50,000 in real money from the Yankees, this or any other year. This sum will include salary and bonus. Ruth probably is worth it as a drawing card, but not a dollar more. The owners of the Yankees surely haven't lost their senses; they are game sportsmen and will be satisfied to break even. Last night's report was sent out from Hot Springs. Even Ruth had no information to impart as to the exact amount of gold he had been promised in black and white by his generous employers. In other words, nobody connected with the Yankees said a word about Ruth's new contract, yet some of the metropolitan newspapers this week told their readers that Ruth would receive $100,000, at least, for his services as the Huggett magnetic headliner. DESCAMPS SAYS CARPENTIER IS NOT SICK

Georges Carpentier is just as sound to-day as before Jack Dempsey has him, in the opinion of his manager, Francois Descamps. "It is what you call the bunk to say that Georges is tuberculosis and hurt inside since Jack Dempsey hit him," he said. "Georges is the healthiest new since he was recovered from the trouble with his neck. Flatt Dempsey! Sure, if the public wants it. We already have a proposition with a London promoter for a return bout with the champion."

SUING DEMPSEY FOR A NICE LITTLE SUM

Los Angeles, March 24.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, is being sued for $100,000 by Alexander Pantages, proprietor of a chain of vaudeville theatres, who alleges breach of contract for stage appearances.

Pantages alleges that Dempsey, after filling an engagement at one series, refused to continue his tour, which was to have been 20 weeks more, but left for the east. Mr. Boston appeared at a rival theatre. He asks $40,000 as the profits he says he would have received had Dempsey fulfilled his alleged contract, and $60,000 as publicity which he declares that champion's appearances at his theatre would has produced.

JOE BURMAN IS ANXIOUS TO MEET JOHNNY DUFF

New York, March 24.—Joe Burman, of Chicago, who handed a trimming to "Midget" Smith in Madison Square Garden, Monday night, is desirous of meeting Johnny Duff, of Jersey City, holder of the world's bantamweight title and the American flyweight title. The Chicago banam has this to say about every good boxer in the class:

"Duff has been saying he'll defend the titles if big Jack is put up," said Burman to-day, "and now he has a chance. I am after his bantam title, fine health and will play left field under Rath's management. I asked the Commissioner Landis on May 20. After that Chick will be ready to play second, third or short in the event of an accident to one of the regulars.

In addition to Fewster in left, Elmer Miller, whose brilliant fielding possibly haved the Yankees last year, will play centre, and Bob Roth will be seen in Meusel's right field berth. Roth has had a long rest and seems to have regained much of his former speed since beginning exercise at the Crescent City.

This weather is a good substitute for Winter—but for Spring it don't make any base hits with anybody.

Talking of base hits reminds us that Babe Ruth clouted out a four-ply yesterday and won the game for the Yanks.

The Bambino has been doing it since the training season opened, and we'll bet he wishes that the story circulated by the press writers about the $500 bonus for every home run he spared was the truth instead of a bunch of apple sauce.

They're talking of matching Georges Carpentier with Dempsey again. Can't see what the idea is and besides the handsome Georges is still picking the train out of his nose from the numerous times the "Pearcat" made him dive to the canvas in their last little seance.

All kinds of talk about retiring. Gibbons wants to meet Greb again. Mile. Susanne Lenglen wants to slam a few at Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, and we hear the Lions want another peas at the Rotary Club. All of which proves that people may learn but not very often.

"PUSSYFOOT" MAY MAKE ALL AFRICA ONE SAHARA

London, March 26.—It is proposed to invite "Pussyfoot" Johnson to visit South Africa, where the movement in favor of local option is growing rapidly, says Reuter's Capetown correspondent. The temperance party there lay stress on the fact that prohibition was enforced on the Rand for ten weeks during the strike. The Capetown wine-growers threaten to secede from the Dutch Reformed Church, which supports the movement for local option. It is believed the government is not averse to prohibition.

RED COMMUNISM FAILS DISMALLY

Russia Approaches Spring —Most Dread Season of the Year.

MOSCOW, MARCH 27.—Russia is approaching her most dreadful season —the early spring—with the realization in non-government circles that her first year of free trade under Communism has not filled her warehouses with supplies of food to tide her over until the next harvest.

With foreign aid, principally American, devoted largely to relieving the terrible distress in the Volga and Ukraine famine regions, Russia promises to be unable to feed the rest of her vast population during the spring and summer, and, according to official government predictions, even next year's harvest probably will be bad.

The early spring months, before the first harvest is in and when the sleigh traffic vanishes along with the snow and the thaw makes the highways impassible, will be the test, both for food and fuel. Even now, with the roads in good condition, Moscow, Petrograd and other large cities are short of food.

The government warehouses may have enough to hold out to the Red Army and favored employes for some months. The rest of the population is dependent on food brought in by the traders.

Each spring for the past five years, however, a similar crisis has been met in some way. Foreign aid, grain from abroad has one hoped for but not confidently expected by the Soviet leaders.

The fuel shortage looms up even more prominently than the lack of food. The Donets basin, Russia's great coal fields, showed increased yields during the early winter when by a special drive food was secured for the miners. Now, the famine in the Ukraine and the general lack of food and transportation elsewhere all have contributed to cut down coal production again. Without food the miners cannot work.

Similarly, in Siberia and Turkestan, according to the newspaper Economic Life, a lack of fuel is responsible for failure to move food to central Russia.

Owing to the lack of supplies in government warehouses, the number of persons enlisted by the state has just been further reduced from 14,000,000 to 11,000,000 including the Red Army. Only these 11,000,000 in all Russia receive the ration. All others are dependent on their own meagre harvests, if peasants, or in what they can buy, if city dwellers.

SARAH ANN SILLS.

At an early hour this Monday morning, Mrs. Sarah Ann Sills passed away at the family residence, Marshall road, just outside the city limits. Deceased had been ill for the past three months. Mrs. Sills was born at Brighton, Ont., on October 5th, 1856, being a grave here as her early coffin put into it away back in 1906. It means that for nearly seventy years deceased that the girl's age lost the same as dead to him or her. "Well, I'm glad to hear Mrs. Caughey wishes—that man. Gosh! He has always been folks to hail them from now in it, I guess. Say, mister, do ye know why he sent her there?"

"Search me," I said.

"It's ye do, too. It's the same old story—a man's wife gets another man's hell ever since the world began. I know that must be why he sent the lamented a man—that's cattle—as if was mostly for women as' children—that's nattiness for all the same. Some died didn't agree with him. Set down here an' tell me the hull story. My day's work is done."

We sat down together and he went on as follows:

"Did ye ever see Kate Fullerton?"

"Yes."

"Yah."

Breaking It Gently.

An Irishman came home to his wife one evening later than usual. He had a black eye, a scarf up to his chin, and a lump on his head. His wife looked hard at him. "Is it the Sands o' hell," she cried, "that's stamped your face to pieces? Nasty, wherever would ye have been?"

"Micky Donlan did it," groaned the injured man.

"The spalpeen," cried his wife, "the great grunsin," roaring fallin' in his ear all. Now may I ask—"

"Why, Biddy?" interrupted the husband. "Spake no evil o' the dead."

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

"My boy, my boy," he said, "I knew you have been brought up just as he was. I used to read to him every evening when the candles were lit. How hard he worked to make a man of him-self! I have known the tenderest mercy I can truly say. Now let thy servant depart in peace."

"We have eyes have seen thy salvation," I quoted.

"I hope that I know much about you and much about your aunt and uncle," said Mrs. Wrigley.

"I'm not sure," I replied; "but soon the whole household was gathered about me in the room, the dawn coming up from the fields. They put my horse in the barn and promised me to stay for dinner, which I did. As I was going the gentle old lady gave me a pair of mittens which her husband son had worn during his last winter in college. I remember now how tenderly she handled them."

"I hope that Silas will get you to help him"—those were the last words she said to me when I bade her good-by."

The shadows were long when I got to Canterbury. At the head of the main street I looked down upon a village green and some fine old trees. There was a church, a court place, I stopped in front of a big white meeting house. An old man was moving in the graveyard near the highway. Shortly he came up to me.

"Do you know where Kate Fullerton lives?" I asked.

"Well, it's pretty tricky that I do," he answered as he stood resting on his spade. "I've lived among them folks, as this hill come the fourteenth day of April, an' I've seen 'em leave where I lived I'd be ashamed of it. Do you see that big house down there in the trees?"

I could see the place at which he pointed. It was the old Fullerton village mansion in the valley below us, the house nearly hidden by tall evergreens.

"Yes," I answered.

"Wal, that's the Squire Fullerton place, but Kate don't live there."

"Does the squire live there?"

"Wal, she comes an' goes. She's there when there's been fits' there for two years or more. By gosh! It's wonderful how the Lord sometimes deals with a woman's sin. Say, be you any o' his family?"

"No."

"Nor no friend o' his?"

"No!"

"Wal, course not. He never had a friend in his life—no mean! He's been mean to die, mister—too mean for hell by I reckon. Now, I'm a woman. I wouldn't wish nobody to go to hell, but I'd like to see the Fullerton brothers across the stogged.

"I wonder where the burnin' began," said my guide. "The first hole in the hill was made by a Fullerton."

There were many small mounds and slabs of marble—some spotted with lichens and all in memory-keeping of departed Fullertons.

"Wal, sir," he said, "my guide sir he pulled aside the stem of a large brier red with roses. "Jest read that, will ye?"

My knee eyes slowly spelled out the inscription words on a slab of statuary marble:

Sacred to the memory of ELIZABETH FULLERTON and
"Proclaim his Word in every place
That they are dead who sink from grace."

A dark shadow fell upon the bosom of my friend and I heard a loud respiration at its door which continued as long as I remained. I was not interested in the matter. Rose leaves and bearded wheat were all there was to bide it where their beauty, but in vain.

"I understand," I said.

"Who by God's Leastways I don't but Nave ye do—not correct. Squire Fullerton's wife, a grave here and her empty coffin put into it away back in 1906. It means that he could never marry Kate. I understand that the girl's got the same as dead to him or her. Now, I'm a woman. I wouldn't wish nobody—that man. Gosh! He has been to folks to hell than there ever in it, I guess. Say, mister, do ye know why he sent her there?"

"No," I said.

"It's ye do, too. It's the same old story—a man's wife gets another man's hell ever since the world began. I know that must be why he sent the lamented a man—that's cattle—as if was mostly for women an' children—that's nattiness for all the same. Some died didn't agree with him. Set down here an' tell me the hull story. My day's work is done."

We sat down together and he went on as follows:

"Did ye ever see Kate Fullerton?"

"Yes."

"Yah."

FEATS OF ENDURANCE.

Records of Wonderful Things Done by Indians.

In the days of yore, before the degeneration of the red race, many feats of strength and endurance were performed by the braves which, even in these unbelieving days, would appear to us as practically impossible. Yet the Indian by reason of his superior powers of endurance was able to perform many feats which, were a white man would have been unable to do so. Such accomplishments, while being nothing short of marvellous, were regarded by the Indians as a mere daily incident.

The Indians of the south-western United States were particularly gifted with powers of endurance and staying, and they could travel faster and further than any horse. Fifty or sixty miles was considered only a day's run, and on occasions this was exceeded. Compared to these the modern Indian would appear to be at the signs store variety of sleep.

A story is told that in the early days of Keewatin, Ontario, a man terribly burnt by the explosion of a gunpowder mill, at Keewatin, there was no doctor within a considerable radius, and, as there was no time to lose, the sufferer's genial Medora runner was engaged to run to Fort York, a distance of 180 miles, with the necessary first aid material.

The distance from Peterborough to Fort Yorks, as the crow flies, is sixty miles. But it was a thickly wooded area by the shortest route the Indian could take, and as he was to return the Colorado river once each way. The Indian was to get ten dollars for the trip and ten dollars additional if he returned within twenty-four hours. After quickly preparing for the long undertaking, he silently disappeared down the trail.

Before the twenty-four hours were up he was back in Peterborough, bearing with him the medicine and supplies for which he had been sent. Each package bore the label of the Toma dispensary. There was no opportunity to living being along the trail, between the two places, from whom he could have obtained any assistance whatever. The Indian ran 160 miles in less than twenty-four hours over a barrier stoney desert, interspersed with deep, precipitous ravines, in and out of which he was forced to climb, and in addition he swam the river twice.

When he got his twenty dollars he bought some of his favorite food and cooking this he ate, smoked some low undersbun, ate and slept for two days, after which he appeared in perfect condition.

An example of true Indian stamina is seen in the story told is told of a 59-year-old Columbia chief who, hounded with a child and followed by Ice Soon, swam the Columbia river at one of its widest and most dangerous points.

Soon-Too attempted to make the passage of the Columbia in a frail canoe, accompanied by a boy of nine years. When in mid-stream his little craft was struck with such force by an ice cake that it was overturned. Soon-Too seized the boy by the shoulder, placed him on his back, thanated the stream and commenced his battle for life to the shore.

Men who witnessed the feat, say that as white men we have accomplished what this Indian did. Soon-Too fought foot by foot every inch the southern bank, and though every downstream it grim struggle, his progress was steady.

Several times he was struck by an ice cake, and the jagged end of one cut a deep wound in his neck. Nevertheless, after what was the most interminable time, he reached shore with the boy, his burden, his strength spent by his heroic efforts and loss of blood, and to be nearly frozen by the ice cold water. Before the boy fire they could sound he collapsed in almost blind to death.

Of G. O. Shields' book in the latest book, "Blanket-Indians of the North-West Plains," and of the story of Nail-in-the-Face, a former Sioux chief, who ran three hundred miles in three days, the three hundred miles occurred in the year 1873, the Indian had killed two white men and had been arrested, but contrived to escape.

A three hundred mile run across the prairie is a severe test of human strength, even under the most favorable conditions, but the accomplishment that fast in the dead of winter, followed with successful attempt without food or rest, is an achievement almost unbelievable. Yet this is just what was done by the Sioux Indian. Nail-in-the-Face ran continuously for seventy-two hours, slowing down occasionally to a jog trot to recover his wind and strength. Food, he had none, with the exception of brownie, which he ate as he ran, but he was subdued to fatigue and the impulse to sleep, he would lean his head on a stump, and been frozen solid within an hour.

As he neared his destination, an encampment at the base of the Wood Mountains, he was seized upon and collapsed, but not before he had been observed. So exhausted he was unconscious for two days. Slowly he regained his strength and perfect condition.

A Rattlesnake's Rattle.

It is a combat between a diamond rattlesnake and a chicken hawk the latter was victorious over his more virulent adversary. During the fight, reports a writer in Science, the racer received a badly bitten leg and many wrappings the former worked his way to a patch of grass and bit into the weed, extracting the juice, which he returned to renew the fray. This peculiar performance was repeated in a short time, when the racer again returned and destroyed the rattlesnake.

FIVE DEAD IN PLANE SMASH

Flying Boat Falls Into the Ocean and Passengers Die.

Miami, Fla., March 25.—Adrift at the mercy of the ocean, for more than two days and two nights, only the frail hulls of a flying boat to their prisons, death came with tragic deliberation to all but one of the party of six, which on Wednesday morning left on the "Miss Miami" on its way to the Island of Bimini, in the British Bahamas.

The party aboard the "Miss Miami" consisted of two married couples, a third woman and the pilot, Robert Moore, who alone survives. The pontoon of the "Miss Miami" struck late Wednesday morning, shortly after the flying boat had started on the trip. The boat made a good landing upon the water, but from then on the stern struggle against death commenced. On Thursday morning the hull of the flier began to leak as a result of hitting against something, and men and women, passengers and crew, using the pumps until all became exhausted. One by one they keeled into the sea, until at last only Moore, the pilot, alone was left. He was rescued by an unbeliefable condition by the U.S. submarine chaser 154, and brought back to Miami, where he lies between life and death.

ONTARIO MOTHER HELPS DAUGHTER

Mothers—watch your daughter's health. From the time she reaches the age of twelve until womanhood she needs a mother's care, help and advice. Many women have suffered years of misery through neglect of such care during this time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for girls and women. For almost forty years it has been helping mothers and daughters. Let it help you and your daughter.

Hamilton, Ontario—"When my daughter was thirteen years old she was fifteen she suffered from irregularities so that she could hardly attend to the house and when she did she had to lie down on account of backaches in school she would have to be carried home. Before she had finished the irregularity she had dizzy and faint spells and headaches in her back. I saw your advertisement in the Toronto Spectator and got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and have the best bit of trouble now and my daughter is very well. Sometimes she works in a candy shop and says that the medicine does give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. Catherine Mary McCLAUSE, 76 Walnut St., South, Hamilton, Ontario.

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR ARMISTICE ON ULSTER FRONT

Many Firms Apply For Factory Sites In Belleville

Investigation by The Intelligencer Shows a Distinct Brightening of Local Business conditions — The Cheese Industry Will Make New High Business Record This Year — Real Estate Business Is Slowly But Surely Recovering From Post-War Lethargy.

MANY SIGNS OF PROSPEROUS YEAR

There have been many applications received in Belleville in the last week from the heads of industries who are seeking locations, than there were received in any three months last year. This was officially given to The Intelligencer this morning, speaks well for the future of Belleville, and also indicates the upward trend of conditions which have been all too long in coming, as a direct result of the great world war.

Industrial conditions here are decidedly brighter than at this time last year, although local individual industries vary as to prosperity and business. Some of the industries here are running very short-staffed, others are operating almost at the pre-war capacity, while others have bright prospects as to the very near future for their business activities. It is generally understood that the industries vary according to the demand for the article manufactured. The organization of the pre-war level of doing business will be a gradual process however, owing to the fact that among the 1,000 people say for the lowering of wages and commodities, there is also the spirit of increased production, and that inevitably clash, to a certain extent, making it rather difficult for industrial concerns and also retails to respond to their cries.

The cheese industry, for which Belleville is well and favorably known, will eclipse last year all past records established by it in the past, it is thought. This will be due to the fact that the war-time embargoes have permanently closed down.

Conditions in the various lines of small business are rapidly getting back to the old stride, and the prospects for the coming summer are very optimistic and encouraging. Goods are moving much more rapidly, but money is still very tight. This condition does not only exist here, but everywhere in Canada today. As a result, some large amounts are on the books of local merchants, but it is nearly all

SMALL SISTERS' SOLICITOR SAYS MAGNATE IS DEAD

Toronto Authorities Remain Silent on Latest Developments in Missing Millionaire Mystery—Police Are in the Dark Regarding New Information.

Toronto, March 28.—Whatever the nature of the information that has led to the intervention of the Provincial Attorney-General's Department in the Ambrose J. Small case, it is indicated that the missing millionaire is not only missing, but dead. That belief was emphatically expressed yesterday by Gideon Grant, K.C., solicitor for the Misses Small, sisters of the theatrical magnate. Mr. Grant refused to state the grounds on which he made his statement or to divulge the nature of the information which he received before Hon. W. E. Raney as the basis for a demand that the province should initiate a new and wider investigation. Col. R. H. Greer, to whom the matter was referred by the Attorney-General, was less communicative than Mr. Grant, and as for Mr. Raney, he was simply not talking, and intimated that he would not be talking, whatever the decision that might be reached by his department. Chief of Police Dickson had an interview with Mr. Raney yesterday morning.

"Does the 'certain information' which you the subject of your consultation with Col. Greer indicate, that Mr. Small is dead or kidnapped?" Mr. Grant was asked.

"Dead."

"Then you believe that Ambrose Small is dead?"

"I surely do."

LOCAL BOYS HAVE RADIO OUTFITS

Concerts and Messages Are Continually Being Intercepted by Amateurs.

HEAR SERMON

Remarkable Service of Broadcasting Stations in Sending out Programs.

The Radio-Phone is certainly coming into its own. Newspapers all over the United States boasts a receiving apparatus, and now the idea has penetrated into Canada until we find that many towns have good receiving outfits. Indeed Belleville boasts of no less than seven perfected outfits. They are owned as follows: Reg. Blakely and Stewart Moore have one between them in Blakely's home at 332 George St.; William Connor, cor. Pinnacle and Campbell streets; Morley Stork Bleecker Avenue; William Anderson corner Bleecker and Dundas streets; George Caldwell, corner Bridge and Bleecker streets; William Spencer corner Campbell and Church streets and William Sherry, West Belleville.

The apparatus owned by Moore and Blakely is as perfect an apparatus as there is in Belleville, and is a leader in receiving messages, even from radio-phone messages over heard in this city was heard over this outfit, which has been in operation almost a year now.

Moore and Blakely, who are both students at the High school here, are very much interested in wireless work and have read extensively about it. They claim that the wireless outfit exceeds that in the Physical Laboratory book for third and fourth year High school students is very crude and somewhat out of date, as compared with the revised and latest models. Their outfit is located in the sun room of Blakely's home, and is very neatly arranged on a small table. It is 10 feet from the ground to the top of the pole which is on the house, extending over to a tree 60 feet away, masted legs and all, some 200 feet in length. A minute earth is also connected in the back yard 25 feet high, and 25 feet long. This is used principally for the lightning current to be safely board over it. The cost of a good wireless receiving apparatus is about $200, although in order to have the very latest and most reliable sets, it would be necessary to spend some $300. With one of the above sets the person could tune in with the stations any night and hear quite plainly. The range of this apparatus is 200 miles, and a license must be procured each year for the privilege of operating an amateur radio-phone. The license costs $1 per annum, and is issued by the Department of Mail Service.

This apparatus is in connection with six radio stations in the United States under the direction of the Westinghouse Electric Radio-phone Studios. These stations are located at Chicago, Pittsburg, Springfield, Mass., Newark, N.J., Schenectady, N.Y., and Madison, Wis. All stations except Springfield and Newark, give concerts nightly, except Sunday. Springfield gives exclusive concerts on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Some stations operate up till 11 p.m. and some until the early hours of the morning. The Pittsburg studio closes nightly at 9 p.m. Some stations have children's' stories each day from 7-30 to 8 p.m. nightly, and once a day sport news, such as hockey, baseball, boxing, etc., is sent out. The Dempsey-Carpentier fight was given before a radio-phone, and in Grand Opera season, a radio-phone broadcasts this delightful form of entertainment. The current time is broadcasted to Sweetness at 10 p.m. daily by which they may set their clocks.

On Sunday night last, Rev. Edwin J. Van Blaricom pastor of Calvary Episcopal church, Study Ave., Pittsburg, and first preacher to give a radio-phone sermon, delivered a most unique sermon, which was heard by Moore and Blakely. The subject of the sermon was "Social classes," and it was very interesting. The prayer and responses were also heard quite distinctly. Last night, however, the atmosphere was too damp for a successful exhibition. When the air is damp the sound is conducted towards the earth. The first part of he concert was heard, however, but as it grew colder the voices quivered, and became almost unintelligible. It commenced at 8:30 and continued until 10 p.m., with about a dozen different numbers. The carrier wave gave considerable trouble, however, and a re-

SUCKER SEASON IS ALMOST HERE

Moira River Will Soon Teem With Suckers and Pickerel.

Although the pickerel and suckers will not be up the Moira for probably more than a week at least, everyone is anxiously awaiting their annual pilgrimage with interest, and the stay fishermen are also awaiting the coming from a professional standpoint soon or less.

The men in charge of the Fish Hatchery at Thurlow, have been at work during the past two days, separating their nets all ready for the big business's which they anticipate. Owing to the low water being delayed this spring, it is feared that the fish will not come up as early as usual on account of the water being rather cold. The suckers follow the pickerel to their spawnings.

Great catches are made here every year, but only suckers and pickerel, but white fish are caught and sold in large quantities.

There is nothing that will start them on their way like a good, steady warm rain, and everything points to an early boring downpour to-day.

DRURY CHANGES HYDRO PROBE

Abandons Plan to Appoint House Committee to Investigate Charges.

ROYAL COMMISSION

Will Take on Duties of Inquiry Into Hydro Expenditures.

Toronto, March 28.—Premier Drury after having announced the decision of the Government to appoint a committee of the House to investigate Hon. Dougall Carmichael's charges against the Hydro engineers in respect to Chippawa coals and having carried the matter to the point of agreeing with the Conservative and Liberal leaders upon personnel of the committee, except for one member, has executed a sharp turn and abandoned the proposed inquiry. The announcement was drawn from him by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson yesterday that the Government, while it has not given up the idea of investigating the Hydro, now favors some other method than an inquiry.

The Premier gave the House no intimation of the course the Government would take, but, it is understood, that in all probability the investigation of Chippawa will be turned over to a Royal Commission, probably of three members, one of whom will be a judge, and the other two either engineers, or a combination of engineering business man or contractor. In reaching this conclusion, the Government, it is said, took consideration for a time to another alternative, an investigation by the Ontario Railway Board, although that course is still open, it is regarded as a likely one.

In bringing to the attention of the Premier the fact that nearly a month after Col. Carmichael had made his statement, a committee had not been appointed, Hon. Mr. Ferguson stated that he had heard a rumor that the Government are backing away from the proposition, but he was inclined to credit it. The House, however, was entitled to some idea of when the Premier was going to implement his undertaking.

MARRIAGES HERE ARE ON DECREASE

But Infant Mortality Much Below Adults Over Fifty Years.

In comparing the vital statistics of the City of Belleville for the years 1920 and 1921, some interesting facts are shown. In 1921 there was a decrease in marriages and also a decrease in deaths with an increase in births over 1920, and a year died (15 being stillborn) while 90 persons 50 years and over passed away.

Births increased 11 in 1921 and marriages decreased by 20. June of 1920 was the highest month that year, when the capital sum was tied on 31; happy couples. The best month in 1921 was July and the number of marriages only 20. This seems to show that marriage in Belleville is not quite so popular. No doubt all prospective young people will carefully consider the step.

Hostilities on Frontier Have Almost Ceased; Although More Bomb Throwing is Reported in Belfast—Orangemen Are Ordered to Secure Town in Deranged as Reprisal for MacMahon Murders — Government Parley Tomorrow will Attempt Pacification.

SITUATION IS EXTREMELY TENSE

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

Belfast, March 28.—Serious fires broke out in the city to-day. A bomb was thrown into the crowd watching the burning of a jam factory on Unity Street and three persons were injured.

Buncrana, Donegal, Ireland—Irish Provisional Government troops have taken over the police barracks here evacuated by the Royal Irish Constabulary. Notices have been posted about the town ordering all arrangement to leave the city by this evening.

This is a measure of reprisal for the recent MacMahon murders in Belfast.

London, March 28.—The acceptance yesterday by the Ulster Parliament of the invitation to attend the Irish conference in London cleared the way for the meeting of Thursday, which the British Government will make a determined effort to bring the Northerners and Southerners into accord on some basis which will make for peace in Ireland.

Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and Eamon J. Duggan will represent the South, and Sir James Craig, the Premier of Ulster, with other members of his Cabinet, the North. The British representatives will be Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for Colonial Secretary, and other members of the Government, and perhaps President Cosgrave of the Dail Eireann.

Whether the Imperial Government has any plan of its own to put forward has not been disclosed, but there is talk in official circles that the Government will suggest a truce along the border to give the bombers and the Ulsterites simple time to discuss a basis for the settlement of the frontier and other vexed questions.

North Ulsterites and the Free State leaders appear to be ahead of the conference. Mr. Collins is a statement issued in Dublin this afternoon, declared he considered any delay to be the part of the Provisional Government for it. At the same time he declared that the attitude of the alleged breach of faith in connection with the promise of Sir James to release all Republican workers applied from Belfast.

CARE OF THE TRACTOR

Practical Hints About Handling and Using This Farm Machine.

Choice of Fuel—Cooling Water—Oiling—Starting—Cleaning.

(Contributed by the Extension Bureau of Agriculture, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.)

In the year 1918 the Hart-Parr Co. built their 30,000th tractor. In 1919 there were about 1,500 tractors sold in the United States, and in 1920 the sales had increased to 27,000 ; this year the sales are greater than the total for the last two years, many dealers being sold out in the first month of the year. These figures are a pretty fair indication that the tractor is taking its place as a farm implement. Farm implements generally have a very short life, and tractors installed is usually reckoned at from 25 to 35 per cent.

Housing.

A good tractor deserves the best of protection and, when not in use or stored for the winter should be housed so that it is right at it in the field. In the cold over sixth it should be covered with a shipping cloth, and if possible a shipping cloth. Keep it out of the wet. Manufacturers recommend that the tractor should be housed.

Exposure

Exposure is one of the most dangerous conditions which a tractor is subjected. When you not often see rust upon a tractor, but you may see it upon the parts which require grease that you wonder how they did carry the extra load. If the work of carrying it was all it would be bad, but the great trouble with these slow accumulations is that they cover up defects and get in the carburetor, in the cylinders, and you have ground-out bushings and scored cylinders. To clean off these accumulations each day will take but a few minutes per day per week. To clean after them to stand for a week or so means that the time of the idle will make their removal a very difficult matter.

Lubricating.

Oil is the engine or tractor serves three purposes: 1, general lubrication; 2, to cool and seal the cylinder; 3, cooling.

For each part of an engine that requires oil there must be an adequate supply or that part is going to fail sooner or later. It has been said that any one man in a hundred knows every oil hole on his tractor. This is nearer the truth than many may be imagined, and part of the fault lies with the manufacturers who please call holes or grease cups in places where it would almost require a detective to find them. You must study your oiling chart, and then follow the system of oiling as laid down in your tractor manual. Give the manufacturer credit for knowing the oiling needs of his product. Cold and grease should be bought most carefully. Each manufacturer of tractor gas-oil to use in his particular machine. The reason different tractors call for different oils is because they differ in construction, speed and operating temperature. Do make sure that you are getting the oil recommended, buy it in sealed containers.

Mechanical Oilers.

Some tractors are equipped with mechanical oilers. In these cases fresh oil is constantly supplied to certain parts. Do not be misled into well that they are often forgotten. Not long ago a tractor operator heard one of his cylinders blowing gas past the piston. On examination it was found that the piston was dry and badly scored. The mechanical attention required the fact that the little pump in the oiler which should have been supplying oil to that cylinder had stopped working. The oiler was drained and washed out with kerosene. Then it was turned out and hand oil put into the oiler. It was again turned by hand and again that particular pump did not work. The oiler was now removed and taken apart, when, after quite a careful search, a small bit of chaff was found in one of the fine oil passages. The bit of chaff would let the oil through but stopped the third cylinder oil.

Equal care as to cleanliness should be observed as to grease. If grit is on your hands or whatever you are using to fill the grease cups with, you may be sure you are going to have scored bearings. Half filling the cups see that there is no air left in them and then fasten down until you see grease squeezed out of the bearings. This makes sure that it is getting where it will do good. It is a waste of money to buy a few grade grease because they consist mainly of a low grade soap and a large quantity of water, and will freeze. Cheap greases also contain acid and are the certain to spoil the highly-finish ed surfaces of anti-friction bearings.

Air Cleaning.

Do not neglect the air cleaner. If water is used, for example, it should be cleaned out each day and filled in the evening. It is very important to not allow it to get dry. Old style cleaners drew the air through felt pads. These pads should be discarded and a more modern one put in its place. In some circumstances it is possible to ruin a tractor in two days by working without the air washer performing its functions.

The above does not pretend to cover all the points in tractor care, but does emphasize those that are often unusually neglected.—A. W. Kendall, Farm Mechanics' Dept., O. A. College, Guelph.

RUSSIAN PEOPLE ARE MONEY MAD

Speculation in Every Market is Rife in Land of Sorrows.

Moscow, March 27.—Russia is money mad. Almost everybody, from the humblest commuter to the cynical connoisseur is dabbling, dreaming, talking of money. Public events, life, death, all else go by the board.

As the ruble sinks dizzily, weak by week, people cease to talk or do business in millions, as if few months ago. Now everyone of any money sense is not a millionaire but a billionaire and soon they will be trillionaires. Ten million rubles lately has been equivalent to $2, a billion to $2,000.

Speculation has reached such a pitch that the cabman speculates on his fare. To one he charges 50,000 rubles for a ride and another 100,000 or 200,000, according to his wit.

The man, woman or child who doesn't get rich in Russia today must be a fool indeed. One has but to buy any article, a pair of shoes, a Persian rug, a lamp, a sweater. If in half dozen yards of cloth and hold it for a few days and sell it for twice the cost.

Women specials shrewdly and shrewder than all others are former members of the aristocracy.

Since the government turned the real estate over to its occupants, the choice apartments and rooms here has jumped from zero to large sums. The right to occupy a desirable flat of the sed purchased in America for the owner, wishes to sell out, runs from 10,000,000 to 50,000,000 rubles, and sometimes 100,000,000 to 200,000,000. Legally, newcomers are required to pay nothing, but in fact, only 2,000,000 rubles is officially received. Much of this, according to the State Plan Commission, which was charged with the gathering of the revenue, and some absolute y useless.

The unexpected famine in the Ukraine also contributed to the lack of seed and grain.

The government has decided, it is said, to fix the natural tax levy that at 360,000,000 poods, or about 19 per cent. as compared with 1920,000,000 poods requested but not all secured last year.

The 1922 tax is to be based solely upon rye yield, although additional taxes on vegetables, hay, etc., but assessing these products upon a basis of their equivalent value in rye. The produce secured by the tax would be used for government rations feeding the Red Army.

A short time ago, President Hiram Percy Maxim of the American Radiophone Relay League, gave an address on how wireless was spreading and how the people are taking to it. The speech was heard locally. The wireless whistle has an official name of the organization known as the "Q.S.T." There is a wireless radio-phone on the 15th floor of the Easton Store in Toronto (the Housefurnishing Department), which has been heard here in London. There is Marconi Station in Toronto and Montreal.

sure money. Their customers will pay when they get the money.

Banking business has been affected directly with other businesses, because to one bank manager stated today, when the farmers do not have a good crop and find themselves in the throes of a financial stringency, they demonstrate in no uncertain way their ability on thrift, principles. This has been the case in Canada during the past year, and one of the great factors in the brightening up of existing conditions is going to be this season's crop in Canada, or even the prospects of the season's crop. Payments to the bank, such as mortgages, have not been up to the average in the past year, owing to "hard times" among the farmers, but every hope is held out for a higher degree of prosperity among all classes this year.

DISEASE SPREADS FAST IN ALBANIA

Tuberculosis, Malaria and Influenza Are Reducing Population Greatly.

Tirana, Albania, March 27.—Tuberculosis, malaria and influenza are increasing alarmingly in Albania. The Greek war is adding fuel. Whole towns and villages are affected. There is little medicine to be had. Typhus is rife in Epirus, according to minister to several hundred thousand persons. The Italians and the Albanians have left Avlona. Red Cross are assisting the local authorities in fighting the epidemics.

The only civilian hospitals nor nurses in Albania. Those who practice medicine are principally pharmacists and druggists with little or no medical training. When the Mohammedan members of the community fall ill little effort is made at treatment. "It is the will of Allah," says the fatalistic Moslem and he calmly awaits the end.

Normally the Albanians are a healthy, hardy race, but the country, especially the coast towns and the valleys, is rank with malaria and infectious diseases. The damp, cold winter, poorly constructed houses and bad food have given tuberculosis a firm foothold throughout the country. Diseases incident to malnutrition, filth, neglect and bad water, are everywhere prevalent.

Much of all this is the result of ten years of continuous war. The Albanians were poor in 1912. They have grown poorer with each passing year. Foreign capital, lack of nourishment, medicines and care have brought them to a point of great misery and impoverishment.

SMALL HARVEST IN RUSSIA

Yield This Year Will be About Half Pre-War Harvest.

Moscow, March 26.—Russia's total grain yield for 1922 will be only about one-half of the average before the war, according to Commissar of Agriculture Calinine. He forecasts the total as 3,000,000,000 poods (or about 36,000,000 tons). This would allow only a little more than one and one-third pounds of bread a day for each inhabitant. Figures such an equal distribution, however, would be impossible with Russia's disorganized railways.

The 1922 crop will be small, it is admitted, principally because of the failure of the autumn sowing. Much of the seed purchased in America for the government may arrive in time for use but, up to the present time, only the 19,000,000 pools of seed grain which the government hoped to furnish, only 7,000,000 pools have been received. Much of this, according to the State Plan Commission, which was charged with the gathering of the revenue, and some absolute y useless.

The unexpected famine in the Ukraine also contributed to the lack of seed and grain.

The government has decided, it is said, to fix the natural tax levy that at 360,000,000 poods, or about 19 per cent. as compared with 1920,000,000 poods requested but not all secured last year.

BISHOPS CHARGED WITH SEDITION

Wellington, N.Z., March 27—The Government will prosecute Monsignor Liston, Catholic Bishop of Auckland on a charge of sedition. It is alleged that in glorifying the Easter Rebellion he declared that the Irish martyrs are "proud to die for their country, murdered by foreign troops."

ARBUCKLE FACES THIRD MANSLAUGHTER TRIAL

San Francisco, March 27.—To-day's session of the third trial of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress, was expected to be short with an early adjournment. Adolph Woolsey, police department handwriting expert, was expected to be called to the witness stand.

"Unconscious for Hours In a Puddle of Water"

"I had a very bad accident last summer," writes Mrs. S. of New Brunswick. "While out driving my horse reversed suddenly and I remember nothing more until I regained consciousness, suffering the most agonizing pain in every part of my body. A doctor was summoned for me and I soon lost consciousness again. Finally I did awaken to suffering intense pain and then they told me that I had six concussions at the side of the road in a puddle of water for hours, before I was finally picked up. They told me that I had my forearm broken, my leg dislocated and two ribs fractured and that I was not to be moved for at least a month or six weeks. Being of an active athletic build and accustomed to a lot of exercise, I soon became nervous and restless and suffered intense pains with headaches. I was so thoroughly run down as anyone could possibly be. Fortunately I was young and had a wonderful constitution and was not suffering any longer from the effects of my accident. It was the reason from an active out door life and lying in bed in the hot weather, which had affected me. You must remember also that before my accident, I was still weak from a former illness. Before my illness, my weight was usually 150 lbs. and I must have lost about 50 lbs. The trouble with me was that I couldn't seem to get my strength. I couldn't get because I had no appetite. I tried several preparations but without any effect. A niece was visiting me, and she told me how Carnol had helped her and become strong and well by taking it. She said, "Annie, why don't you try it, I am sure it will do you good". These were the most convincing words that could ever uttered, because from the first bottle of Carnol I noticed a decided improvement and today I am well and strong, solely because of Carnol. I now weigh 150 lbs. and have again got back my old strength and energy. I can now do the up from the morning until night without feeling the least fatigue."

Carnol is sold by your druggist and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

REPORTS TO AGRICULTURE DEPT.

Following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Reports say that the extent of plowing already done points to a larger acreage in field crops this coming season than for many years. The open fall last year enabled much land to be tilled under, and the open spring following has given a splendid start. Seeding in general is early. March 25th is the thought.

Kent, western-most—the largest fall wheat acreage of any county in the province, stands "Fall," wheat and everything considering to stand the winter without any appreciable destruction, and will probably come through all right."

Middlesex says that the winter up to the heavy cold spell so far fall seeding account of the good covering of snow up to the time of reporting. Grain is moving very slowly toward the market, and most of what is sold is marketed.

A good deal of hay, purchased at $15 per ton to bring shipped out of the district of Perry. Hay has been sold in Kent at $12 a ton for good timothy.

Mostly grown sweet clover seed is being marketed in Grey at from $3.75 to $5 a bushel.

Bruce Report says that two carloads of seed potatoes shipped to Minnesota last week will net the growers $91.30 a carload.

Essex says that corn is being marketed in large quantities at a small profit to the growers.

A good deal of corn has been brought into Grey county recently. One farmer sold thirty loads of corn during four mile stretch, and only two farmers did not buy.

Perth says that apples proved to be a profitable crop in that county last year, and the fibers appears to have a general interest there in cultivating the spring.

Wentworth that a few farmers are cutting down their orchards pasture and other fields, a practice that is not to be recommended. On the other hand many orchard trees have been sold in that county recently at 8 cents a lb.

Bruce-Huron says: "A number of farmers who have been troubled with clover sickness this year for the first time have suffered quite severe losses. In some cases the whole of the clover has been mouldy, due to the stage at which the sweet clover was cut, the length of time left standing before cocking, or lack of thoroughness of packing. The younger animals seem to be affected more quickly and severely than the mature cattle; through the feeding of this mouldy material.

Lanark, Renfrew and other representatives state that there is a noticeable increase in the milk supply, and are inclined theorizing that the maximum supply is likely to be earlier than usual this season.

Dundas, Stormont, Glengarry and Prescott report that cheesemakers are making favorable comment on the noticeable improvement in the quality of the cheese received at the factories, an improvement than usual being between the factories.

A number of buyers in Grey have picked up and shipped a comparatively large number of horses during the past couple of weeks.

Peel says that farm horses are changing hands more freely. As a result quite a good heavy draft team brought $470.

Kent also considers that the horse trade is picking up, animals selling at about $200 apiece for real heavy draft horses and heavy expressers, down to very ordinary prices for common stock.

Essex says: "The hog situation is developing grave features. Many purebred BOARS there are brought in but almost every farmer is preparing to greatly increase his hog holdings. It would appear that by next fall there will be a surplus of hogs, particularly of the lard type, on our farms."

Huron says: "A man was in this week looking for a married man with experience, to farm on shares, free house, garden and fuel and $400."

Peel quotes wages as running from $25 to $30 a month, with board for single men, and $480 to $550 a year for married men, cottage to be provided.

Middlesex: "Lambert, familiarly known as "The Syrup King", of Bruce county, has tapped 3,100 trees, and is receiving $3.75 a gallon for his maple syrup."

Lennox and Addington, however, says that the price of syrup has fallen from $2.50 to $2 a gallon on the marsh, and may go 1 wer.

BOUNDARY DISPUTE DECISION EXPECTED SOON

Geneva, March 25.—The Swiss Government, which was asked to arbitrate long-standing boundary dispute between Colombia and Venezuela, is expected soon to announce its decision.

MEAN ATTEMPTS AT FRAUD

Relatives of Dead and Missing Soldiers Are the Dupes.

London, March 23.—So many fraudulent attempts have been made to collect money from relatives of soldiers reported missing in the great war that the British War Office has warned them to be on their guard.

One woman living in London, says the War Office, caused to be inserted in German newspapers an advertisement asking for information regarding suffering from a nervous breakdown. The Society it was added would at once dispatch one of its agents to secure his return ll a remittance of £10 was sent to cover travelling expenses. That office took up the case and discovered, with the aid of the German police, that the "Dead Soldiers' Society" was not a reliable concern and that the date of inquiry the majority of its members were in prison.

THE FOODS OF PLANTS

Like Human Beings, They Need a Balanced Ration.

Poor Plant Growth Without Nitrogen —Phosphate Also Required for Best Results — The Soil and the Plants Explained.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Plants, like animals, require food. Their food consists of simpler substances, but it is none the less necessary. In general farm practice we do not feed plants; but we grow them in a soil, from which and the surrounding air, we expect them to gather their food. In nearly every instance there is an abundance of food around the plant, but it is not always in a form that it can be absorbed. Sometimes there may be an abundance of some of the food constituents and very little of others. We recognize the importance of a balanced diet for man, but fail to realize that it is just as important for the plant.

The Soil Must Have Nitrogen.

Fortunately, while there are quite a number of essential parts to the balanced diet of a plant; there are only three of four that it has difficulty in getting, and, of these again there are two that are more frequently deficient than others. They are nitrogen and phosphoric acid. This is a great source of the former in the gaseous form in the air around us, as much as 4 tons per acre of it, or 70,000 pounds over every acre of land. Yet, because the plant takes its nitrogen in a solid form through the roots of the plant, this rarely becomes available for use until it is taken into the soil and rendered "available" by one of the methods of getting the nitrogen into the soil. Nature has provided that if we grow legumes, such as clover, peas, etc., we will get some of this nitrogen built into the plant. Then on the decay of the decomposing vegetable matter from these, and other plants, the nitrogen is left in the soil for the use of our plants. This means that decaying vegetable matter in the soil is the main source of nitrogen as a food for farm crops other than legume. We are not quite sure that if the soil is low in decaying vegetable matter there will be a small amount of nitrogen. Without plenty of available phosphoric it cannot get the abundant growth of leaf and stem that is necessary. It is necessary, because it is in the leaf that the carbon dioxide taken from the air is built up into sugars, starch, and other compounds of like nature, and that anything that limits the growth of the leaf just as surely limits the ability of plants to make the store those compounds. Nitrogen forces big leaf and stem growth, hence its great value in crop production.

The decaying vegetable matter, however, does more than furnish nitrogen: it improves the physical condition of the soil, thus making it easier to work. It increases the ability of the soil to hold water, thereby lessening before returns in the spring, and in its decay furnishes acids which help to bring insoluble plant food into a form available for plants. These are strong statements to make as to the "nourishment" of the soil, but they show the importance of growing catch crops to plow under as frequently as possible in the rotation. A legume naturally is the best crop, but where this is not possible, or too expensive, grow rye, rape, or some crop that will furnish organic matter to the soil.

Phosphate Also a Necessary Food.

The element next to nitrogen in importance is phosphorus. Nitrogen can be got from the air by leguminous plants, but the phosphorus supply in the soil can be supplemented only by adding some form of manure or fertiliser. The supply in the soil is comparatively small, and is naturally held in an insoluble form, so that losses by leaching may be small due to a similar reason. Of all the phosphorus held, that in our soils is the least soluble. Therefore we find that after nitrogen, no plant food constituent that may be added will give so decidedly good results as phosphorus. This is especially true when applied for the cereal grains and turnips. On fall wheat, 400 pounds of acid phosphate per acre has doubled the yield, and heavy crops on heavy soils has given even better results. On soils fairly rich in phosphoric matter, and that well supplied with nitrogen, there is usually no need of supplementing it. By general manuring with anything but the phosphate, the exception that where fall wheat has wintered poorly and is having a hard time to make growth in a cold backward spring. Then an application of nitrate of soda at the rate of 100 to 150 pounds per acre on the poorer parts of the field will usually pay well.

Turnips have difficulty in absorbing phosphates, hence although the ground is usually well manured for this crop, it will pay to add three or four hundred pounds of acid phosphate per acre. On ground that was rich enough to grow twenty-five tons of turnips per acre we have raised the yield five tons by the use of three hundred pounds of acid phosphate per acre.

The potato is to be kept in mind are that while nitrogen is so valuable there is a very large supply in the air which can be got through the growing of leguminous crops, and that the phosphate, for various reasons, have a peculiar value when used to supplement good second hand nursing and good cultivation.—Prof. Robert Harcourt, O. A. C., Guelph, Guelph.

Give It to Them

This trial tube—watch their teeth improve

If you prefer, let your children make this test. Let them brush their teeth a few days in this modern way. Then look and see what film removal means.

This is a way to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. Millions now employ it. Leading dentists everywhere advise it. Let scouring in your home this week show the benefits it brings.

Why teeth look dingy

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. It dims and may ruin teeth.

Ordinary tooth pastes do not effectively combat it. So film-coats have been almost universal.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film, and, despite the tooth brush, they have constantly increased.

Must remove it daily

Dental science has long been seeking a daily film combatant. Now two effective methods have been found. Authorities have proved them by many careful tests.

A new-day tooth paste has been perfected, to comply with modern requirements. And these two film combatants are embodied in it. The name of the tooth paste is Pepsodent.

Millions of people of some forty races now employ it daily, largely by dental advice.

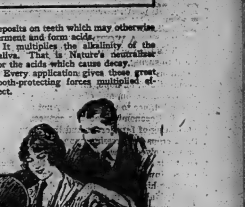

Two other new effects

Pepsodent brings two other effects which authorities now deem essential.

It multiplies the starch digestant in saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for the acids which cause decay.

Every application gives these great tooth-protecting forces multiplied effect.

Real protection now

Now you can know what really clean teeth mean. Impossible stains, tartar, starch and acids—all the great tooth enemies. Then it leaves the mouth in normal alkaline condition. The glistening teeth you see everywhere now show something of the benefits it brings.

New beauty in a week

The Pepsodent effects are quickly seen and felt. This test will be a revelation to you.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Note the refreshing taste it leaves.

It will bring you prettier teeth, and quickly. But, more than that, it will bring you safer teeth. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

LAST PORTUGUESE NUN IS DEAD

Lisbon, March 28.—Mother Maria Rosa de Jesus e Carmillo nun, who has just died at Braga at the age of 90, is said to have been the last nun in Portugal.

She belonged to the Convent of St. Theresa X. until the Liberal Monarchy extinguished religious communities. The other Carmelite nuns, her companions, left the country but "Madre" Rose Maria obtained leave of her order to remain in Braga where she lived in retirement ever since, always carrying out the rules of her order as if she were still in the convent.

When the republic was proclaimed she was respected and allowed by the authorities to stay on in view of her age, when other members of religious communities were expelled from the country.

A WORD OF ENCOURAGEMENT.

This time of year finds the Canadian farmer looking forward to spring work on the land and completing his final preparations therefor. It is a time, then, when a word of encouragement and of hope, an expression of our best wishes for a successful season, and of our anxiety to be of the utmost possible assistance to that end, may not be amiss.

The economic problems connected with the advantageous marketing of farm crops and the financing of the movement of those crops are pressing upon agriculture most severely. They will be solved, however, and while that solution is being worked out, it is simply good sense on the farmer's part to make his efforts towards production tell to the very maximum, and so carrying him through the period of depression and hard times and placing him in the best position to take the greatest possible advantage of the better times to come. We may repeat that the cheapest farm crop, whether from fields or from live stock, is almost invariably the largest crop which can be obtained. In other words, the greater the crop, the greater the net profit. To attain such crops and to place himself in the advantageous position referred to above, the farmer must study, and must apply the results of his study to such problems as soil fertility, its conservation and increase; soil moisture, its control; cultural methods, suitable and productive varieties, etc.

Live stock producers are generally in a discouraged state. The small profits, and indeed losses being incurred from live stock operators, are little to be wondered at when one considers the average low-producing power and quality of Canadian live stock. Our average milk production is thousands of pounds per head per year less than it should be. Our farmers are marketing steers weighing eight or nine hundred pounds when they might just as well be marketing animals seven hundred pounds above that, with practically no greater expenditure for feed and labor. Now is the time when the farmer can get into live stock the very cheapest. He should take this opportunity to improve his pure-bred herd, to select only the best grade animals for further upbuilding of the grade herd and by the use of only the very best pure-bred sires. This will so increase his production and decrease his cost that he will be able to compete with those other countries where live stock improvement now enables them to excel us upon the world markets.

WRANGEL ISLAND.

The British flag has been hoisted over Wrangel Island in the Arctic Ocean by one of Stefansson's parties, but it is doubtful whether such action will be acceptable even if his claim to the island is good.

Wrangel Island lies about 100 miles off the northeast coast of Siberia in latitude 71 degrees north, and the 180th parallel of longitude runs through part of it. So far as known, the only natural resources about the place are polar bears. It is about 400 miles west of Behring Strait, and the American coast of Alaska intervenes to the east between Behring Strait and the northern coasts of Canada. Capt. Bernier hoisted the British flag over some islands but they were directly north in Canadian territory and his claims were recognized. But Wrangel Island is remote from Canada and adjacent to Siberia.

The real discoverer of Wrangel Island was Captain Kellett, Commander of a British naval expedition, in 1849, but he did not go ashore. For a long time it was marked on maps as Kellett's Island. It was supposed to be the same which was sought by Baron Wrangel, who in 1825 sailed down the Kolyma River and heard from the natives that there was a great land north of Siberia, but he failed to find it. In 1869 an American whaling captain, Long of New Bedford, sighted the land, and having heard of Wrangel's efforts, called it after him. In 1881 several American naval vessels searching for the lost expedition of Captain De Long, reached the island, and a party went ashore. Their explorations, Stefansson thinks, would have given the United States a claim to the island if they had decided to follow them up. But Stefansson says that any claim they may have made had lapsed five years later, in 1886. Stefansson's ship, the Karluk, a British naval vessel and the property of the Canadian government, was wrecked near there in 1914. Her men were all in the employ of the navy, and some of them stayed on the island from February to September. This, Stefansson says, was the only time the island had been occupied.

OVERLAPPING OF TAXATION

Stratford Beacon.

A suggestion made by Hon. T. A. Crerar, in the course of his speech on the Address, that there be a conference on taxation between representatives of the Dominion, the Provinces and the municipalities, is worthy of consideration. That under the present system there is much overlapping is abundantly evident.

CREATORS OF WEALTH

St. John's (Nfld.) Advocate.

It must be remembered that it is the producer that feeds us all. It is the man who faces danger and hideous toil at the log, and at the coalface, who supplies the little country with the wherewithal to exist. By sheer force of physical effort the fisherman takes from the ocean solid wealth; he creates wealth, just as the farmer still creates wealth, and if the fishermen and farmers stopped work there would be no more money to spend on pink teas and afternoon bridges.

HOW TO IMPROVE AEROPLANES

Brantford Expositor

It is a long way in appearance, but a short way in time, between the farmer's daily workout, requiring to be cranked to start, and stopped at night to light the oil lamps, and the aeroplane sedan, decorated, and heated, started by pushing a button, and furnished with the elaborateness of a Fifth avenue drawing-room. What has been done, step by step, for the auto,must now be done for the aeroplane.

OLEO POOR PEOPLE'S FRIEND

Smith's Falls Record News.

Canadians in general would probably be pleased to see oleomargarine remain a luxury,instead of a necessity, for it will always sell for a few cents less than butter and ensure a better market for loads of butterfat, who are unable to purchase the real article, which assuredly is sufficiently high in price to suit a producer. Wholesome, nutritious and clean, and plainly labelled as oleomargarine, we serve Canada in peace no less than in war. It is one of the poor people's friends.

WHEN THE PAPER DOESN'T COME

My father says the paper he reads ain't put up right,
He finds a lot of things, he does, perturbin' it all night.
He says there's a single thing in it worth while to read,
And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need,
He tosses it aside and says it's strictly on the bum—
Just you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

He reads about the weddin's and he snorts like all get out,
He reads the death's with a most decisive shout.
He says they make the papers for the women folks alone,
He'll read about the parties, and he'll flame and fret and groan;
He says of information it doesn't have a shadow—
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't show.

He's always first to grab it, and he reads it plumb through,
He doesn't miss an item or a want ad—that is true,
He says they don't know what we want, the darn newspaper guys,
I'm going to take a day sometimes an' see what I advise.
Sometimes it seems as though they must be mad or blind and dumb—
But you ought to hear him holler
when the paper doesn't come.

THE KHAN, IN TORONTO TELEGRAM

A TOUGH QUESTION

I receive letters from all sorts and conditions of men. The most uninteresting are interesting. It is astonishing how interesting an apparently uninteresting thing may be, whether that thing is animate or inanimate. Your uninteresting person or thing may be chock full of surprises, shocks, thrills and amusements. An uninteresting girl is the most interesting thing in nature—until you get her interested. Wonder is expressed often that book people marry such uninteresting folks. But what do we know about it? Joe Spuddin's wife is the most interesting thing possible. But is she? As far as Joe is concerned, she is the most interesting thing this side of Montreal, and it is interesting to note how interesting he is when she is around.

I received a letter today from a little town north of here, and it has set me thinking. The gent is in doubt as to whether I am a first class culbe or feminine persuasion, for he starts off with:

"Dear Sir or Madam,—Having read many of your letters in Telegram from Khan's Corners, would take the liberty of asking you to write your views matrimonial Bureaux. Do you approve of a young man in good standing financially, professional and of exemplary character, getting in touch with a partner. If you do not care to write for the public, I would appreciate a private reply."

Ah—haw—hum! Let me see now. Now here's a question that is bigger than you think. Were I to denounce the idea I would question the potency of Printers' Ink. Not steam or gasoline, not electricity nor privitation, none of them exert such an influence in the world today as Printers' Ink. It is the lifeblood of the world, and like the lifeblood of the race, some of it is black and some of it is blue, and some of it is yellow and some of it is red. The man who built the first printing press discovered the circulation of the blood. Now, if a man may advertise the good points of his house or his hens, his farm or his fiddle, why can't he advertise his good points? Full many a flower is born to blush unseen and waste its sweetness on the desert air. Why not want of a little printer's ink. Marriage is a contract; isn't it? Yes? Well, what's the matter with using the advertising columns. The getting of a wife on differs from pumpus bull-headed luck or accident. The condition of the Divorce Courts in the United States is a scandal. It is a grave scandal and a menace to the very foundations of religion and society. We are not as bad as Mexico or O Canada. There be nations in this world where the contracting parties, so-called, have very little to say about it. The whole thing is arranged for them, and I think it is a very good thing. And how that the percentage of unhappy marriages among these people is far lower than it is with us, where we have to go it blind and take a look on his wife's face until after the wedding, and it seems to work out all right. The groom gets over the surprise of his life, but that, is the case with us. It is conceded that marriage is a lottery. Do you know what you are getting? I bet you there isn't one man in a million who among the heathen Chinee. We are told that we ought to get married because we're lonely. Sure! But love is blind. This is not always true. Love hath sometimes super-extraordinary powers of vision. Love can see what you see in your own financial standing need advertise.

Now here's Bobcaygeon to Buttock's Corner, is not a good proposition; at least that's the way I look at it. Some of these dames wanted the price forwarded to them to buy a wedding ring, and I'll be darned if the deal off. I'm not as easy as all that amounts to.

Now, I have a right to have a thousand dollars. Every girl baby ought to be automatically insured by the government for that sum the moment she is born, the money to be paid to her when she gets married. It's all right to marry the girl with nothing but the clothes on her back—but it would help a whole lot if she had a thousand dollars. But, you say, some men would marry her for the thousand dollars!

MUCH DISEASE IN RUSSIA

Is Hoped That Spring Warmth Will Down Typhus.

Moscow, March 28.—The spring sunshine that brings warmth and wild flowers and promise of harvest in Central and South Russia after months of winter snows is dreaded this year as the harbinger of pestilence. The winter cold, though encouraging typhus and increasing the suffering of the half-clad famine victims of the Volga districts, nevertheless has acted also as a permicide. The bodies of the thousands of famine dead frozen stiff where they lay and they were taken to shallow graves and handled with little danger of contagion except from typhus which is spread by a particular type of louse. The workers had no fear of cholera for the cold rendered any microbes of that disease almost harmless.

The spring sun, however, will change all this. Both the Bolshevik government and the American Relief Administration physicians and sanitarians who are active in the famine regions realize the danger that warm weather will bring. They are taking all the steps that their limited facilities accord to guard the people against an epidemic of cholera in the spring.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir:—I am pleased to see some people are interested in Horticulture enough to help choose a flower as "Belleville's Emblem." I would suggest the "Comet Aster." It is grown with success here, and certainly makes a wonderful display.

Why not beautify our Belleville,
Situated on Quinte Bay,
Here and there a shurb or Clower,
Strangers we will admire some day.
MRS. A. F. STILLMAN

Dear Sir,—Would it not be wrong if a person knew of something extraordinary in Belleville and not let the people know about it? I think it would; therefore I wish to say that right here in Belleville there is a flock of twenty bred-to-lay pure-laying Rock hens that for the two months of January and February laid 1,000 eggs—seven per day! The best pen in the national laying contest now going on at Ottawa, during these months, did not equal this by over eight per cent. These also are Rocks and averaged about eleven eggs per day.

The majority of these eggs were sold for 75c. to 85c. per dozen and retailed some dozen per day! These, showing that one of these winter laying hens is worth as much as four average layers. Poultry men are realizing the only way to make poultry men are realizing the only way to make poultry men are realizing the only way to make poultry pay well is to have the winter layers when eggs are three times what the summer are later on. Now if we residents of Belleville and vicinity want the very best in the poultry line we can get it supplied to send away for it not even to the U. S., where too much of our good money has gone in the past, because right here we undoubtedly have the very best on the continent, and for less than one half the money and no risks.

Yours truly,
D. H. ACKERILL, V.S.,

RECTOR WOULD NOT ALLOW CHOIR TO SING FOR PREMIER

London, March 28.—Premier Lloyd George was severely snubbed Sunday by the rector of the Cricklade Anglican Church who refused permission for the local choir to sing Welsh melodies in his church for the Premier's benefit. The choir made the mistake of announcing the event first and asking the rector's perfission afterward.

ANSWERS QUESTIONS ON INCOME TAX

Who must file Dominion Income Tax Returns? What is classed as income? Do you have to pay tax on income from investments? What is the rate of taxation? What is surtax? Can one deduct from the amount of income premiums paid on life insurance, depreciation of assets such as automobile used for business purposes?

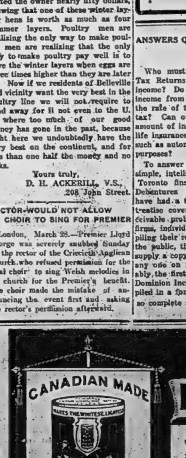

To answer all these questions in a simple, intelligible way a prominent Toronto financial house—Canadian Debentures Corporation Limited—have had a tax specialists prepare a treatise covering almost every conceivable problem which will face firms, individuals or estates in compiling their returns. As a service to the public, this firm is arranging to supply a copy of this booklet free to any one on request. This is probably the first time a booklet on the Dominion Income Tax has been compiled in a form so easily understood, so complete and so authoritative.

No. 19 Downing Street is Famous Private Home of Much History Made There

Most of Downing Street, London, England, is the most famous private street in the world.

It is the residence of Mr. Lloyd George and has been the home of Prime Ministers for the past two hundred years. Downing Street is a little blind alley off Whitehall. Two other blind alleys, Horse Guards Parade and Scotland Yard, open on a plain oak door with a wrought iron

A fine fireplace is a feature of the simplest hall which leads to the waiting room. This room has a mahogany table, a few handsome antique chairs, and waiting materials of every description for the use of visitors. A quaint little garden may be seen from the window.

The most interesting room, where all important meetings are held, is the Cabinet room. It is in this room that the Cabinet held its midnight meeting on August 4, 1914, to decide whether there should be war with Germany. Mr. Lloyd George has said of that that was the most dramatic moment of his life. The room is a fine library. It is lined with book-cases, with a high ceiling, and at the entrance are four white marble busts.

The first floor is given over to official reception rooms and is used by Prime Minister's secretaries. The second floor contains the private residence of the Premier and his family. Here Mr. Lloyd George has still all his official appointments.

The Premier breakfasts at 8:30 and usually entertains a guest. The famous Downing Street secretariat breakfasts at 9 o'clock to discuss the day's important questions.

The dining room is a splendid apartment. There is an Jasper room which is the Prime Minister's study, and which used to be Gladstone's favorite dining room.

For all its power and authority No. 10 is a plain and unassuming house. Most of those who knock are admitted. The residences of the Premier is as accessible as that of Lord Leeds.

Downing Street was built in 1676 by Sir George Downing, a supporter of Cromwell. It was on the site of the property in Whitehall, later known as Downing Street, that was the row of houses there. He compiled No. 10 himself.

After Downing's death the house passed to the Government and for many years was used as official residence.

Among famous Prime Ministers who occupied the house were Sir Robert Walpole, Pitt the elder, Pitt the younger, George Canning, Sir Robert Peel, Disraeli, Sir Robert Peel, Lord Palmerston, Gladstone, Lord Beaconsfield and Disraeli.

The house has been associated with most of the greatest moments in history. Here Lord Liverpool received news of Nelson's victory at Trafalgar and Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo.

Tetrazzini and the Minister.

While in Scotland recently Mme. Tetrazzini had an amusing experience in her first meeting with "Johnny Bull." There arrived at her hotel one day a little Scottish minister. He "rang up" on her room without announcing himself, knocked at the door, entered, and said he particularly wanted to hear the great diva sing "Annie Laurie." Tetrazzini's accompanist happened to be with her in the room, and was amused and surprised was the singer at the manner of the request. She decided to comply, and sang to the little minister the famous piece with all the sentiment of which it was capable. The visitor intimated that he would like to hear her sing at her Edinburgh concert, but said she was too dear to pay for a seat, and if he were not would be unable to get into the hall owing to the crowd. Tetrazzini therefore made arrangements for him to be given a seat on the platform. On his arrival he paid a request to Mme. Tetrazzini that as Polonaise from "Mignon" early, as he said he had not time to wait for the finish of the program, at which point it was due to be sung. Mme. Tetrazzini, however, did not carry her generosity to this extent.

Rabbits and Longevity.

It is said that experiments now being conducted at the Rockefeller Institute indicate that children born twenty-five years hence may confidently look forward to enjoying a century or more of life. Dr. Everett Field, of the Rockefeller Institute, New York, states that most scientific men agree on the rejuvenating powers of radium when introduced into the human system, and the experiments have shown that the mysterious mineral checks the hardening of the arteries and assists the tissues to keep the cells which tend to deposit in effecting poisons cause premature age, and give to every tissue of the body the stimulus of enjoyable electrical bombardments or internal massage. Radium treatment says Dr. Field, has already added in many instances a decade to the lives of men and women of to-day.

Browning's Lapse.

"Browning's verse obviously did not live in his own memory," in his recent book, "Memories and Notes," Sir Sidney Colvin says he remembers with what amused gusto the poet, relished the day he had been asked to read some certain verses, and how he stopped his delight (A very characteristic action, by the way), and said, "By Jove, that's fine"; how then he asked him who wrote them, and he could not say; and how surprised he was when he had told him they were his own.

Care of Brooms

A broom should never be thrown away when it begins to show signs of wear. After soaking it in hot soda, and drying it in the sun, cut the bristles so that they are even lengths again.

To Get Milk

Dip a knitting needle into milk, and then take it out after a few minutes. If water is present, the needle moist will be clean. The milk is really pure if a drop of fluid remains on the top of the needle.

Steaming for Wrinkles

To remove wrinkles from a silk dress without pressing the material, hang the garment over a bathtub filled with hot water enough to steam it. Then place it to dry where nothing can touch it. This plan is not wise if the dress is trimmed with other gold or silver braid, because the moisture will cause tarnish.

To Improve the Flavor of Canned Goods

To improve the flavor of canned vegetables of fruits, empty the contents of the can into a glass or

A New Yorker declares "woman is an eternal optimist, for at the very moment when she decides that one husband doesn't understand her she usually has her eye on another who will."

Moire silks that were prominent in Paris last autumn seem to be attracting more attention in New York now than when the vogue was new, and the softer silks of this finish lend themselves interestingly to the new draped models.

At a stellar of Martial et Armand gowns that are draped in sheath effect are by far the most popular of all, and one of the most popular of the models there was made of grey serge with a draping of black satin at one side, covered with rosettes.

ANSWERED LETTERS

A Constant Reader.—Is there any way in the world to restore nute work by acid and bugs?

Answer! I have just had a letter from another Column reader telling me that she tried the experiment of spraying her mattresses with turpentine to get rid of bed bugs and that she was entirely successful. She assured me that, the odor evaporated from the mattress in one day, when the mattress aired in the sunshine. You can try this if you wish. She also said in her letter that she got rid of water bugs with turpentine.

Here is a fine old-fashioned bug poison which I heartily recommend for bugs: One half pint each of turpentine and alcohol and one ounce of ammonia; mix all together, let stand in a warm place for a few days, and the mixture is ready for use.

Another quick way to get rid of bed bugs is by spraying gasoline on the mattress and walls. Of course you cannot do this near fire and flame as gasoline is very inflammable.)

For roaches, combine three parts water with one part turpentine and pour in into drain-pipes, dead roaches and rob blackbeards and floor with it. Cucumber skins drive away roaches. Still another method is to make little cakes of cornmeal and a strong solution of borax and leave them around where the roaches are. Keep a kettle of boiling water at hand and pour this on the bugs when you see them, to kill them.

Mrs. B.—I am the mother of two little ones and would like to know: 1. How to keep colors bright and fresh in children's clothes. 2. What is most suitable for a little girl one year old—a spring sague or a sweater? 3. Is there an easy way to make wire strong buttonholes in underwear? It takes use a long time to embroider them.

Answer: 1. Colors are "set," by soaking new wash materials in salty water overnight, using 1 cup of salt to a gallon of water. Also serve: Into the garments by drying them in the sun. 2. A sacque is more suitable for so young a child. A Department stores sell strips of buttonholing by the yard, and if you do not know where to get this, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will send you the name of a firm from which you can buy this by mail.

L. G.—How can I remove the lime deposit in my tea kettle due to hard water? Also can you tell me of a way to keep the lily bulbs which are sold on stones in water, after the blossoms and leaves have died?

Answer: Powdered borax softens hard water. Unless the lime deposit has become too thick, you can remove it by putting one tablespoon of borax into a kettleful of cold water, bring slowly to a boil, then rinse out with clear hot water, wipe out with a clean cloth, and dry on back of range. A great many amateurs try keeping the lily bulbs from year to year, storing them in a dark corner of the cellar during the warm months. But this is hardly worth while, however, because a second flowering, if it comes, is never as profuse as the first flowering.

L. B.—My cook took her white cloth covers. What can I clean them with?

Answer: Buy benzine, not using the near heat or flame as it is very inflammable.

SMP Diamond or Pearl WARE

"A Face of Porcelain and A Heart of Steel"

Diamond and Pearl Ware cooking utensils heat more quickly than utensils made all of metal, such as copper, brass or aluminum.

Try This Test

You can easily prove it. Take a small Diamond or Pearl Ware saucepan. Put in it a pint of cold water, set it on the hot stove—whether it be a coal, wood, oil, gas or electric range—and time how long it takes to come to a boil.

Do the same thing in the same size pan of brass, copper or aluminum. If the water boils in five minutes in the Diamond or Pearl Ware saucepan, it will take eight minutes—three minutes more—in the pan made of brass, copper or aluminum.

Diamond and Pearl Ware Save Fuel

Why waste fuel on all-metal or other ware, when you can buy Diamond or Pearl kitchen utensils at to-day's reasonable prices? Why not try this timing experiment and satisfy yourself?

SPORT STUFF

See where Jack Dempsey is going to England, and as pickings are usually pretty good in the Old Land, he should come back a few thousand pounds overweight.

Here is one real champ, who isn't doing any sidestepping on challengers. Provided they've got the rep, and the money pulling power Dempsey is willing to meet anybody in the world.

The Business Men's Class of the Y.M.C.A. have challenged the Rotarians to a game of indoor baseball. Watch out you fellows, remember what that Jumbo Wheel outfit did to the Lions.

Talking of the Lions reminds us that the Jungle Kings are hungering for a return match with the holders of the magnificent Smith Trophy.

Gosh, but those Lions are glutton for punishment.

As a token of the Rotary Club's appreciation and esteem for their memorable feat of winning the intermediate series, members of the winning team were each presented with a fresh laid egg at the Rotary luncheon yesterday.

The new indoor league opens tonight at the Armouries.

There should be plenty of action.

SCRAP IRON

NOW MIKE WANTS TO TRY IT

Mike Gibbons steps forth as an anxious avenger of his brother Tom, seeking a match with Greb in Newark. Besides the hurt to the family pride, which rankles the bosom of the noble Mike, there is also a business-man's recognition that such a match means much "jack." If Mike can have his revenge and "jack" at the same time, 'twill be a consummation devoutly to be wished, but even the "jack" without the revenge might be considered pretty much "jake."

JACK BRITTON A PROPHET

Jack Britton has been qualifying pretty well as a prophet of late. He picked Greb to defeat Gibbons and selected Dundee to outpoint White. And, owing to the odds on those occasions, Jack made his prophecy profitable. Britton expects to sign articles for a bout with Harry Lewis sometime in the near future. It is also possible that he may take on Mickey Walker. Dundee the ring Walker might easily be taken for some college youngster, but once inside the ropes he's a tough bird.

MALONE BEAT RAYNER

Boston, March 27.—Jack Malone, of St. Paul, was awarded the decision Saturday night over Augie Ratner, of New York, after he had finished with a burst of speed in the tenth round. In the other rounds the fight was closely contested. The men are middleweights.

MEL COOGAN ON TOP

New York, March 27.—Mel Coogan, veteran Brooklyn lightweight, Saturday night defeated Jimmy Haslem, of Denver, receiving the judges' decision after a 15-round contest.

TREMBLAY IN STRAIGHT FALLS WINS FROM JACK FORBES

Montreal, March 28.—In the feature wrestling bouts staged at the Family Theatre here last night, Eugene Tremblay, Canadian middle-weight wrestling champion, defeated Jack Forbes, of Toronto, in two straight falls, the first in 1 hour 7 minutes and the second in 12 minutes. In the other bout F. Janvier, Lawrence, Mass., won in one fall through a disabling hold in 29 minutes from Adrien Richard, local wrestler.

Pittsburgh Boy Might Cause Heaps of Trouble for Dempsey.

New York, March 22.—That Harry Greb is too small and harmless a hitter to be worthy of a match with Jack Dempsey was the general opinion in local ring circles following the Pittsburger's bout with Tom Gibbons, but that is not the opinion in Harry's home town. In Pittsburg they think that Greb is good enough to beat any one regardless of weight, and they are demanding that he be matched with the champion.

Suffice to another town that would stand for a Dempsey-Greb affair if the boxing commission would consent. Charley Murray, the leading up-state promoter, long has held the opinion that little Greb would cause Dempsey more trouble than Any of the big fellows would. For the last two years he has talked of putting on the match.

It is possible that Greb might surprise every one by holding his own with the hard hitting champion. Willie Meehan, the Pittsburg boy, was not much of a fighter, but Dempsey could do nothing with him. The last time they met Meehan received the referee's decision. Ted Meehan was a joke fighter. He could not hit and he did not know how to box. Secondraters beat him easily, and Tom Gibbons knocked him out with the first punch.

Greb is the Johnny Dundee of the big fellows. A weight handicap means nothing to him. Like Dundee, he cannot hit hard enough to stop his opponents, but the hard hitters cannot hurt him because of his peculiar defence.

Both Dundee and Greb avoid punishment by constantly shifting the position of both body and head. They are never in one place long enough for their opponents to get the range. Their constant hitting so confuses the opposition that they easily win points in the fighting line.

Every one knows that Dundee cannot hit hard enough to bring down a first class fighter, but he has have seen him beaten up by Willie Jackson and other men who are, and is Benny Leonard's equal, and for that reason the opinion prevails that Leonard could stop him in a punch if he cared to do it.

Style Fools Him

But Leonard and Dundee have met eight or nine times and Dundee never has been in the least danger of taking the full count. Always he has forced Leonard to work at top speed to stand him off. Years ago when Leonard was fighting his way toward the championship there was no reason for him to hold Dundee up. Dundee was even more troublesome than he is now. The truth of the matter is that the light hitting Dundee has a style that Leonard—a better fighter in every way—cannot solve.

Packey Grob could foil Dempsey just as Dundee foils Leonard. He has boxed with him in training and he managed to hold his own. It is just as absurd to think that Grob could stop Dempsey as to think that Dundee could stop Leonard. For that reason a no-decision bout between Jack and Harry would be a meaning less affair. With a decision at stake it might be worth while.

Perhaps Dempsey is no more anxious to box Greb on a decision than Leonard is to meet Dundee in that kind of a bout. The champion would have a great deal to lose and nothing much to gain, because a Dempsey-Greb bout would not be a big money-maker. To the average ring follower it looks altogether too uneven a match. It probably would be, but there is just a chance that Greb, with his clownish tactics, would prove a harder problem for Dempsey to solve than men who are much better fighters than the little fellow from Pittsburg.

Dempsey fights in the same method that a handicapper figures out the chances of the bangtails only leads to endless arguments. Some years ago it was shown that Johnny Coulon, then bantam champion, ought to be able to beat Jim Jeffries because Coulon had beaten a man who had beaten a man, and so on up to Jeffries.

Dundee can beat Charley White easily. Willie Jackson is just as easy for White, yet Jackson has repeatedly handed out cruel beatings to Dundee. Jackson put up a pitiful exhibition in a bout with Leonard, and yet Leonard cannot do much with Dundee.

Since the lightweight class affords so many examples of the comparative worth, perhaps the heavyweight division might afford one or two also.

BOBBY EBER BEATS DELMONT WITH EASE

Hamilton Bantam Makes Strong Come-Back in 10-Round Bout.

Hamilton, March 28.—At the end of a ten-round bout at the Grand Opera House last night, Mickey Delmont mumbled through his teeth that were like liver that he had taken the worst beating of his career at the hands of Bobby Eber, Canada's bantam champion. It was Bobby's best fight since his sensational come-back, and he won in a walk again. The rugged Montreal boy, whose record shows a knockout over world's champion Johnny Duff, was never in the hunt. His rushing assaults to the body found Bobby always dancing out of reach, and the Hamilton boy's lightning-fast left hand was never out of Mickey's face. Ten times in a row it would flash through to chin the nose and lip, and then the right would cross to shake Delmont from his toes. Delmont could hardly speak through swollen lips, and his nose was like a toy balloon. But Eber, though he cut him up, could not cut him down. In the last rounds Delmont did not land ten solid punches.

The first round was fairly even, both boys contenting themselves with feeling the other out. It was in the second that Eber began to roll up points and they came so fast it would have taken an adding machine to count them. Stiff lefts zipped through with seldom a miss, and Delmont's nose began to take a reddder hue. And when he climbed in close he found Eber his master at infighting.

Your Daughter

IS your daughter at that critical age, approaching puberty? Food is the most important thing to her as mother's care and mother's advice?

It is during this time that her whole future health and happiness may be at stake.

With most girls this important development takes place at a time when school work is most exacting and the nervous system is consequently under a most severe strain.

An enormous quantity of rich, red blood is necessary to meet the demands of the system, and, this failing, there is the development of anaemia, chlorosis or some form of nervous trouble, such as St. Vitus' dance.

Most mothers now know about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and the prominence with which it enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system of the growing girl.

It is in mother's duty to see that a reasonable amount of exercise and sleep is obtained, that the food is wholesome and nutritious, and that the treatment is used regularly and persistently so as to keep up a continuous supply of pure, rich, nourishing blood.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food 50 cents a box. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. Portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., are on every box of the genuine.

WONDERFUL PILES

"Yes, it's active service with the R.F.C. I contracted piles during a long spell in the damp ground. Treatment by the M.O. proved to be relief only while it lasted. Then piles I tried proved to be a waste of time. Shortly after my discharge from the service's friend strongly advised me to get Zam-Buk. Two box of the balm brought such benefit that I determined to continue the treatment. In a few weeks Zam-Buk caused the piles to completely disappear. All praise indeed to those of all the wonderful herbal balm."

"PEG O' MY HEART" MAKES GREAT HIT

Rex Stock Co. Play the Famous Comedy to Perfection.

"The laugh is life with the tear tabled in," is an apt phrase which one wants to describe "Peg o' My Heart," the J. Hartley Manners comedy which was presented to a crowded house at Griffin's Opera House by the Rex Stock Co., last night. There was peg the comedy presented in all its glory but it is safe to say that the little whimsical heroine portrayed last night by Zara Vaughn is as lovable and appealing a creature as any born in the mind of the average playwright.

Miss Vaughn gave the character portrayal of the lonely little Irish girl and added to the well won laurels she has so deservedly won. A part that will long be remembered.

As usual Rex Snelgrove was his clever self in the part of Alexis Chichester, the bored Englishman and he received more than his share of the applause given for this rather slight part. Mr. Snelgrove since his arrival here has demonstrated himself to be a consummate artiste. Florence Winters as Mrs. Chichester and William Yule as Mr. Hawkes, the lawyer, gave their usual finished performance and a more talented pair of character actors, it would indeed be hard to find.

The rest of the company was adequate in every respect and their continued work made "Peg O' My Heart" one of the outstanding success of the theatrical season.

WILL USE PERISCOPE AS CRIME DETECTOR

Berlin Police Have Adopted War Instrument to Peaceful Use.

London, March 28.—The periscope as a crime detector is the novel use made now of that submarine and trench optical device by the Berlin police, according to a report received here from Berlin.

Desperate diseases require desperate remedies. The application of so-called "third degree" laws, grows, in such proportions that the police there are resorting to the war time periscope to combat these criminals.

Following the principle in submarine warfare that "the periscope is placed at the peak of the highest roof in each block with a watchman at the mirror to keep under surveillance the surrounding roofs especially those of large warehouses and stores. Should such a watchman spot of the ordinary he immediately gives the signal to the police, as to the whereabouts of the suspicious person so they may approach cautiously and investigate.

The novel step in crime detection was taken after one of the largest insurance companies in Berlin reported a deficit of $4,000,000 in its burglary insurance department, due to activities of the police in that line.

OTTAWA HOUSE DIVISION RESULTS IN GOVT. WIN

Want of Confidence Motion is Based on Repudiation of Pledge to Give Cash Grants to Returned Men.

Ottawa, Oct., March 29.—Although the Government and its supporters proceeded in procuring the rejection of the want of confidence motion offered by the Conservative Opposition in the Commons yesterday by a majority of 120—the vote standing 183 to 43—they did, so only after a complete exposure of their unscrupulous method, of making political capital out of the agitation for a few years ago for the payment of a second gratuity to veterans of the great war. The Government was charged, in the words of the amendment of the motion for consideration of the Estimates in Committee of Supply, with "a repudiation of a solemn obligation and disregard of political honor."

The initiative was passed upon Parisa, attacked by parliament, that the Liberal party in its convention in 1919 declared in favor of a further payment of cash bonuses to returned men and the dependents of those who fell, and that that declaration of policy was kept continuously before the people and was included in the campaign handbook circulated by the Liberals prior to the general election. Premier King, on behalf of the Government and the Liberal party pleaded on equity in the accusation. Unfortunately for him, however, his assertion that the pronouncement of the convention was not a pledge, but simply an expression of opinion, was him and his supporters open to a second charge of having endeavored to deceive the returned soldiers by a pretense favoring a second payment of gratuities.

The want of confidence motion was introduced by Col James Arthurs of Parry Sound, who drew attention to the intimation given by Hon. H. H. Poland, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, yesterday that no further gratuities need be looked for by the ex-service men. Col Arthurs read the resolution of the Liberal convention of 1919 declaring "that the payment of a system of cash bonuses to the soldiers and dependents of those who have fallen in the war is satisfactory means of civil re-establishment, such grants to be in addition to the present gratuity, and to be paid in such manner for disability resulting from service."

That declaration was included in the Liberal campaign handbook, issued by the authority of Hon. Mackenzie King and a committee of which he was the head. That plank was, in fact, approved by Mr. King himself when, as elected leader of the Liberal party, he endorsed the resolutions of the convention.

LIONS HOLD BIG NIGHT

Hear Noted Address From International Director on Association Ethics.

PRAISES BRITAIN

Col. Webber is Enthusiastic Over Canada's Great War Service.

One of the very best, and most impressive evenings heard in Belleville in many moons, was heard last night by the members of the local Lions Club, at the Quinte Hotel, when Col. Dr. John Webber, of Paducah, Kentucky, head of the Educational Department of the International Lions Club, gave an address, following a most sumptuous banquet in his honor.

Seated on either side of Dr. Webber who had the position of honor at the head table, were Major R. D. Ponton, President of the local Lions' Club, the President-Elect W. B. Deacon, of the Belleville Rotary Club, Mr. Harry Newman, of Toronto, a director of the International Lions Club, President Cairns, of Ottawa Rotary Club, and Mr. H. G. Ketcheson, President of the Belleville Chantier of Commerce. Then there were the cubs, Rotarians, guests, and entertainers.

President R. D. Ponton, in opening, introduced the guests of honor at the head table, and congratulated Mr. Deacon and his board of directors on their election to such important offices in the Rotary Club. A glowing tribute was paid to the work of Mr. O. S. Scott who deserves much of the credit for the work accomplished here by the Rotary Club. "I assure you that the Rotary Club will always have the hearty co-operation of the Lions, and united we shall help not only Belleville but the country at large. The code of ethics of both clubs are almost similar, and our work shall also be similar." Mr. Ponton also praised the good work of the Chamber of Commerce here. In referring to Mr. Newman, the president, expressed his wish that at the next annual meeting of the Lions Club at Hotsprings, this summer, that Mr. Newman be made President of the International Den.

Five Years Old

Mr. Harry Newman in replying, paid very high tribute to Dr. Webber as an orator, and a lover of Lions Clubs, and their work in accomplishing things. In June next, the Lions Club shall celebrate its fifth birthday, and will boast of 435 clubs in the United States and Canada. "The Rotary Club has blazed the trail and we follow," said the speaker, "and we cannot accomplish anything except by the best co-operation." A strong invitation was extended to local cubs to attend a great meeting in Toronto to-night, where Dr. Webber will speak. A Lions Club will be established in Peterboro in ten days, and one in Ottawa inside of a week, but the ambition is to have clubs from coast to coast. "Dr. Webber is full of the British ideals as demonstrated by the United States at the Washington Peace Conference," said Mr. Newman, in closing.

Col. Dr. Webber, who is a D.D. as well as a lawyer, led the 325th Regiment, Kentucky Lions, through the Great War, and now suffers from

WAS THIS LION ROARING ON SINGING?—NOBODY KNOWS.

A soluble de luxe was located at last night's Lion's Club banquet, when Steve "Bicycle" License, official ring master, agitated until he persuaded Col. Zelia O'Flynn to challenge Cub. Bob Gorman of the "Belleville Leaglors" to a singing duel.

Bob took the boast's and pondered "Witch Hazel or Which Hazel" or something, somehow, and Eddie, standing on his chair at the head table, located his collar and rendered a touching ballad which is entitled called "Home Life", by Jigs Mahony.

Bob entered a protest on the grounds that Eddie had the song primed, and judgment was reserved.

Bob then led the members of his table in a stirring onslaught against the table of entertainers. Song: "I Want a Girl, Just Like the Girl That Married Dear Old Dad." Major Ponton was referee and stated that the judgment was evident. Bob consequently thought it a even a rear deal, speeding at least a draw decision.

LOCK OUT NEGOTIATIONS FAIL IN ENGLAND

Engineering Employers Will Carry Out Original Intention of Locking Out Employees—Strike Will Affect More Than 600,000 Men.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

London, March 28.—The engineering employers federation to-day posted notices locking out the members of forty-seven unions in addition to the Amalgamated Engineers Union. The lockout is to take effect in one week and will affect six hundred thousand additional men.

It was reported late last night that a complete breakdown had taken place in the negotiations between representatives of the Engineering Trades Unions and the employers, at which it had been hoped to avert the threatened lockout in Great-Britain's engineering industry. To-day, however, were appearances that the trouble might at least be temporarily averted, as representatives of both sides of the issues were reported to have decided to accede to the employers' proposals as a basis for renewed negotiations.

The employers gave the engineers until ten o'clock this evening to make a definite reply on the question of acceptance or rejection of vital principles in the dispute relating to the transference of functions. At the set hour the workers reported that it was their statement of determination to decline. The delegates of the shipbuilding and engineering allied trades also reaffirmed during the evening a resolution passed during the day, that there be no resumption of work or negotiations with the employers prior to a return to work of the men.

MINE OPERATORS ALSO STAND PAT.

Representatives of Mess State That the Miners Will Stand Behind Their 19 Demands and Will Strike on April 1st if Conditions of Ultimatum Are Not Met—Strike is Now a Certainty.

New York, March 29.—Nothing but acceptance of every one of the nineteen demands of the United Mine Workers by the coal operators will prevent the suspension of work by the 150,000 anthracite miners next Saturday, Thomas Kennedy of Hazleton, Pa., chairman of the Miners' Wage Scale Commission, said yesterday, setting at rest reports that there was a possibility of the walkout being averted by some temporary understanding with the operators. A strike of the bituminous miners is accepted as a certainty.

No Wage Cut Accepted

While the operators indicated that they were going ahead by their demands for a wage reduction, the miners' representatives were equally determined that they would not accept a wage cut, and are going to back to the limit their request for a 60 per cent. increase. The anthracite miners and one dollar a day raise for day laborers.

"On the demand of the miners for the "check off" system of collecting union dues has not been considered at any length by the wage committee, Philip Murray, International Vice-President of the United Mine Workers, said, that it would be insisted upon by the miners in the new agreement.

No Fear of British Coal

While expressing the desire of miners to have the co-operation of the "longshoremen and seamen," in the strike, Murray said that the miners had no fear that the walkout would be jeopardized by the lack of British coal.

Definite hope that the miners in the anthracite fields will go back to work before the public experiences any serious shortage of hard coal was expressed to-day by C. B. Warriner, president of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Company, and leader of the operators' committee on the commission which is now carrying on negotiations for a new wage agreement to take effect with the United Mine Workers of America.

DOMINION ALLOY STEEL CORP. TO MANUFACTURE IN CANADA

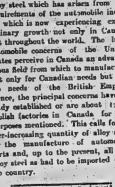

New Company Will be Under Guidance of Highly Trained Steel Men—Plant at Sarnia Most Modern in Existence —Cheap Electric Current Provides Low Alloy Smelting Costs.

O. HAROLD WILLS

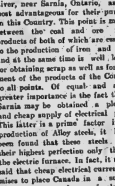

The formation of the Dominion Alloy Steel Corporation, Limited, will give forward impulse to the industry, and carry it to a higher stage of perfection than it has yet reached in Canada.

The development becomes timely by reason of the demand for high grade alloy steel which has arisen from the requirements of the automobile industry which is now experiencing extraordinary growth not only in Canada but throughout the world. The large automobile concerns of the United States perceive in Canada an advantageous field from which to manufacture not only for Canadian needs but for the needs of the British Empire. Hence, the principal concerns have already established or are about to establish factories in Canada for the purposes mentioned. This calls for an ever-increasing quantity of alloy steel for the manufacture of automobile parts and, up to the present, all this alloy steel has had to be imported into the country.

J. J. MAHON

The promoters of the Dominion Alloy Steel Corporation, Limited, after looking over the Canadian field, have decided upon a location on the St. Clair River, near Sarnia, Ontario, as the most advantageous for their purposes in this Country. This point is midway between the coal and ore fields, products of both of which are essential to the production of alloy steel, and at the same time is well located for obtaining scrap as well as for shipment of the products of the Company to all points. Of equal and almost greater importance is the fact that at Sarnia may be obtained a plentiful and cheap supply of electrical power. This latter is a prime factor in the production of alloy steels, it having been found that these steels attain their highest perfection only through the electric furnace. In fact, it may be said that cheap electrical current promises to place Canada in a supreme position as a producer of electrical steel, and the promoters of the Dominion Alloy Steel Corporation fully anticipate being able to not only compete successfully in the home market, against foreign alloy steel, but in the export markets as well.

GEO. E. SIMPSON

The Canadian plant will have an initial output of 60,000 tons all of which will be absorbed by the demand arising within a short distance of Sarnia. The plant will include electric furnaces, rolling mills, machine shops, laboratories, etc., designed for the production of Alloy and High Carbon steels, particularly for the automotive and allied industries. It will be constructed under the supervision of men who have been associated with the growth of the particular industry practically from its beginning and who have contributed in marked manner to its development.

Prominent among the directors will be Mr. Harry R. Jones, who joined the United Alloy Steel Corp. of Canton, Ohio, in 1904, and under whose management and presidency the company has expanded from a capitalization of $500,000 to one of $27,000,000.

Mr. G. Harold Wills, another director, designed and built the Ford Motor Car and is now building the Wills Sainte Claire car, known as the "Molybdenum Steel" car. Mr. Wills was associated with Mr. Jones in making a commercial success of Vanadium steel and his Molybdenum steel patents will be available to the Canadian company.

Mr. J. J. Mahon, director, was Chief Engineer of the Crucible Steel Co., of Newark, and was brought to Canada during the war by the Imperial Munitions Board and supervised the production of shell steel throughout Canada.

Mr. George E. Simpson, director, has formerly associated with the United Alloy Steel Corporation, later becoming sales manager and special representative of the Steel Company of Canada. He brings to the new company experience of much value gained in a close study of the Canadian situation and the needs of the industry.

The Dominion Alloy Steel Corporation, Limited, has an issued common stock capital of $3,000,000 and a cumulative preferred 8% capital of $3,500,000 and starts business at a most opportune moment and under exceptionally competent guidance. Its steel circles it is not doubted that it will rather in a new and prosperous era in high grade steel production in Canada.

"JUST AROUND THE CORNER" BY AUTHOR OF HUMORESQUE AT GRIFFIN'S TO-MORROW

Thousand who wept and laughed at "Humoresque", will have an opportunity soon of seeing Gladdier East Side story by the author of "Humoresque" —Fannie Hurst.

The new picture is "Just Around the Corner" and not only is the original story the work of one of the collaborists of the screen version of "Humoresque", but the scenario and direction are the work of the scenario writer of that classic—Frances Marion. It will be shown at Griffin's tomorrow to Saturday, with a matinee Saturday.

"Just Around the Corner", tells the story of Sis Birdsong family living in New York's East Side. Sis is a story of family devotion, of the struggles of a mother, a daughter and a son to preserve the unmerited name of their family in the face of poverty and their ultimate triumph. Love, humor, misfortune, smiles and tears and pathos seem all play their parts. A brilliant cast contributes to the excellence of "Just Around the Corner". It includes Margaret Seddon, favorably known as the result of her work in "Inside the Cup"; Lewis Sargent, creator of the role of "Huckleberry Finn"; Sigrid Holmquist, the "Mary Pickford of Sweden" who appears for the first time in an American picture; Fred C. Thompson, husband of Frances Marion, as director, and Edward Phillips, well known for his stage work in "Seven Day Leave".

"The Nick of Time" a Lowell Campbell animal comedy, the latest chapter of "Winners of the West" and Pathe News are also announced for presentation on the same program.

REX STOCK COMPANY AT GRIFFIN'S TO-NIGHT IN "PEG O' MY HEART"

The Rex Stock Company are presenting J. Hartley Manners charming comedy "Peg O' My Heart" at Griffin's to-night.

"Peg O' My Heart" with its wholesome laughter and witty lines has proven one of the most popular stage vehicles of a decade, enjoying a run of fifteen months on Broadway, and three companies presented it successfully on tour.

It remained for the Rex Stock Company to present it as regular, prices, and judging by the large audiences who witnessed the comedy on Monday and Tuesday evening, it proves that Rex made a popular selection when he arranged for the presentation here of "Peg O' My Heart" and no doubt a bumper house will be evident at Griffin's to-night.

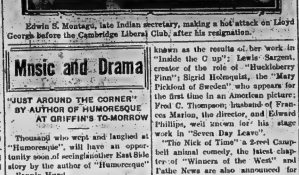

The production has been given a beautiful scenic embellishment by Rex who has also arranged an entertaining vaudeville program between acts, doing away with any waits.

TELEPHONE MEN IN CONVENTION

...tribute distribution and maintenance of telephone books and equipment shall be continued. The benefits of the monthly work of our editorial staff are hereby extended to the rural users of the telephone."

There are 18 million telephones in operation in North America, more than one-half are in Canada. Canada also takes second place in the world in the matter of development of telephone service, the United States being first.

Ontario has 280,000 telephones, of which 13,000 have been established by the farmers on local initiative, these systems being under the jurisdiction of the Railway Board, and connected to some of the telephones operated by the Bell Telephone Co. In Ontario 95 per cent. of the systems consist of lines of distance from of the Bell Telephone Co., therefore it is of importance that there be co-operation between the small systems and the large Bell system. It is with a view of securing this that the committee has been appointed. These services would be operated with a resultant of poorer service, were they not connected with the Bell Telephone Co.

Interesting Service

"We can now speak from Belleville to Los Angeles, San Francisco, Florida or Cuba. Wireless channels of speech span the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Northern point of civilization can make this possible. Each system is a link in the chain, and a chain is no stronger than its weakest link. A weak battery, bad joint or faulty switch board, any may spoil the whole chain, causing a loss of time to the Telephone Co. and reducing the earning power. Assistance to the full will extend will be given to the small system as nearly the 100 per cent. mark as possible, and you should take every advantage of the offers of the Bell Telephone Co. by listening in and extracting all information. Any questions, solve your problems by reporting the symptoms. No suggestion as to urban particular line of equipment is out, will be offered.

Mr. Jones expressed his indebted ness for such splendid meetings held in Belleville to bring about a unity in the big Bell Telephone family organization so that all may loop up and have a universal service.

Mr. MacPherson stated that the thanks of every telephone subscriber was due Mr. Dargar, who was instrumental in having this meeting held with the idea of improving the work done by the Telephone, for the people of Ontario. "We post our letters" said the speaker, "and draw from the common stock, for public dividends, better service, better social life and better financial returns."

Mr. MacPherson heartily thanked the citizens of Belleville for their many courtesies extended.

Mr. Ashley stated that he was interested in connecting companies and that everywhere he has been he finds the relations excellent. Ontario has 95 per cent. of the Telephones of the Province, showing the great advancement since 1874 when the first telephone station established here was operated in Hamilton, with eight subscribers. It was 100 feet long, there is now only eight farmers' systems in 1906 and now there are 670 systems in Ontario with 145,000 subscribers. Two millions of dollars have been spent in this province on telephones, and there are 11,000 miles of trunk lines. The supervision of the Railway Board has caused the present efficient system, and excellent family relations.

Mr. Cohen expressed himself as being highly pleased that Belleville should be chosen as a place for such a splendid meeting, and also expressed pleasure at seeing so many representatives of this area present, "any time that I can be of assistance, I will be only too glad to help you and I extend an invitation to all to visit our exchange here of which we are proud. Today or at any future date, said Mr. Cohen in closing.

Mr. Carroll of Ottawa stated that what the public demanded was a good connection, at minimum cost and with a minimum of trouble, especially in long distance calls. The subscribers must have the confidence of the company.

The company in order to give this service, must have a good switchboard and lines, good operators who must advertise the good name of the Company in their very voices, who come from good homes, and are well bred. These girls should be carefully trained and disciplined and should be between the age of 18 and 25.

Mr. Cairns stated that he was always willing to assist in any way and that all chairmanships should adopt the standard rules of the Bell Telephone Co. much valuable information was explained to the meeting from a specially prepared chart. The meeting continued this afternoon, when morning pictures of telephone work and general discussion will take place.

SOVIET SEIZES CHURCH JEWELS

Huge Treasures Will be Used in Alleviating Famine Distress.

Moscow, March 28.—An Allalin's cave of jewels has been opened by the decision of the Soviet authorities to confiscate some of the treasures of the Russian churches and sell them to feed the starving Russians.

(The Soviet decree issued February 26 directs the seizure of all precious metals and stones which would not interfere with the interests of the parishes cults". It has been announced that the All-Russian Central Committee will determine what articles are absolutely necessary for religious purposes and exempt from requisition).

Most famous of the church treasures affected by the decree is the Moscow Tavastia, is the bejewelled ikon, "Our Lady of Kazan", at the Kazan Cathedral in Red Square. It is a representation of the Virgin done in beaten gold, weighing 10 pounds and decorated with 1,856 large and 1,426 small diamonds, 693 rubies, seven sapphires, 1,403 pearls and 155 other jewels, and hung about the neck of the Virgin is a diamond necklace of huge, first water beads.

Peter Paul's cathedral, also in Petrograd, there is another famous ikon, known as the "Jerusalem Holy Lady", in solid gold, 3 feet 6 inches in feet square, and contains 36 carats of large diamonds, 12 carats of middle sized diamonds and 14 and one-quarter carats of smaller stones. Valtcheiev, in this church, equally as treasure, there are also many valuable ikons.

The St. Isaac's Cathedral, Petrograd, were presented on the day it was opened, a total of 215 articles containing 21 pounds of gold and 4,736 pounds of silver and later a shrine was built of solid silver weighing 460 pounds. St. Isaac's also has one ikon, 10 inches wide by 26 inches high, done in gold overlay and bearing a wreath of large diamonds. There are a dozen other ikons of tremendous value at St. Isaac's alone.

While these big Petrograd cathedrals, which were long favored by royalty, probably contain the most valuable treasures of the Greek Orthodox church in Russia, nearly every one of the estimated 57,000 other cathedrals, monasteries, convents and churches contain objects in gold and silver and jewelled ikons are not at all rare, even in the smaller edifices.

Royal gifts, donations by pious parishioners and church taxes for centuries went largely into ornamenting the churches.

Kazan cathedral was the holy of holies to the Cossacks. The Cossack ikon of the Don choe sent to it 1,400 pounds of silver, asking that it be made into items of the use of the Lavra.

Beyond their value in precious metal and jewels, some of the objects which be extremely sought after by collectors. The Byzantine magnificence of the jewelled ikons, however, might impress the Western world as more ornate than artistic.

With a few scattered exceptions, wherein some looting of churches may have occurred during the early days of the revolution, church treasures have been left practically intact.

CALLED BY DEATH

THOMAS DOWNS.

The following Toronto Canadian paper refers to the death of a former well known Bellevillian:

Thomas Downs, well known in political circles in this section, died at his home, 1325 Bloor street, Toronto, on March 17th. The funeral was held from his late residence to Our Lady of Dolours Church. Mr. Downs was born in Belleville, Ontario, and was the brother of the late Mrs. W. L. Courtenay and Miss F. Downs, of that city. Early in his career in the mechanical field of endeavor, Mr. Downs became chief engineer of the Chicago waterworks system. During his regime he founded the system of the present waterworks and developed it through the subsequent years to its highest point of efficiency. Later he occupied the position of chief mechanical engineer of all the institutions in the State of Illinois which capacity he relinquished just prior to his decline. His activities in political circles brought him in close contact with the officials of Chicago and the State of Illinois, where he developed a wide circle of personal friends and business associates. He is survived by a widow, Ellen, a son, William, and a daughter, Ruth.

MRS. MARGARET CULHANE

Mrs. Margaret Culhane beloved wife of the late Patrick Culhane, died Wednesday last at 41 Rochester, N. Y., aged 79 years. She is survived by four sons, Michael J., Alexander and John J. of Rochester and Daniel P. Culhane of Belleville. And three daughters, Mrs. Jas. Cleary, Mrs. P. W. Carmody of Rochester and Mrs. R. T. Conway, Belleville. She also has been 37 grand-children and one great-grand child. The funeral took place Saturday morning from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Jas. PONZI MUST FACE OTHER CHARGES

Washington, March 29.—Charles Ponzi, whose financial exploits in Boston resulted in his plea of guilty in November, 1920, in the Federal Court to one of two indictments, and his sentence to imprisonment for five years, must stand trial in the Massachusetts courts at this time on 22 indictments charging him with certain crimes under the state laws, it was held to-day by the Supreme Court in an opinion delivered by Chief Justice Taft.

The question as to whether a federal prisoner may, with the consent of the Attorney-General, end while serving a sentence of imprisonment, be taken into a state court and be placed on trial upon indictments found pending against him was decided by the ruling.

SIAMESE TWINS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

One is Dying While the Other Must Die, Too.

Chicago, March 29.—Josefa Blazek is near death in the West End Hospital. In the same bed, bright and vivacious, is her "Siamese twin," Rosa.

Rosa, touched slightly by jaundice, the disease that may take her sister's life, has practically recovered. Yet, physician say, if Josefa dies, Rosa must also die. The sisters were taken to the hospital several days ago. Rosa had been suffering from a mild attack of jaundice, but as soon as she began to recover, Josefa contracted the malady and became seriously ill. They were taken to the hospital and a consultation of surgeons was held to determine whether or not the twins could be separated. It was decided that such an operation would kill both. However, in the event that other disastrous incidents brought him in close contact with the officials of Chicago and the State of Illinois, where he developed a wide circle of personal friends and business associates. He is survived by a widow, Ellen, a son, William, and a daughter, Ruth.

TEXTILE WORKERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

Some 15,000 Employees Are Out of Work When Mills Close.

Lawrence, Mass., March 29.—Seven thousand five hundred textile operatives in seven cotton mills here left their work without disorder yesterday in protest against a wage reduction approximating twenty per cent. An additional seven thousand workers were idle as the result of a shutdown of the Arlington mills.

Organizers of the United Textile Workers of America, who took charge of the situation today, said eighty per cent. of the workers were out and that the results had been far beyond their expectations. The mill owners also expressed satisfaction with the situation and said they expected the walkout to assume larger proportions.

"What I did to stop a cough which was Racking my system to pieces."

"One very hot evening last summer, while in the mountains, a cool breeze sprang up and I should have left me thoroughly chilled. Next day I felt a slight cold coming on but thought nothing of it. The following day it had developed into a cough. This kept up for some weeks but instead of getting better the cough kept getting worse. A tickling sensation in the throat at first developed and would start me coughing as soon as I went to bed. As soon as I laid down the tickling sensation started and the only relief I could get was to sit up in bed. Towards morning, I remember, from pure exhaustion, managed to get a little sleep. During all this time my cough was getting worse. Sometimes it became a fit of coughing spasms I was left weak and exhausted. Anything I tried only gave me temporary relief. I couldn't take anything to help me rest. I couldn't sleep. I was losing weight every day and I felt a nervous wreck indeed. A friend of mine told me about Carnol. After trying it for three weeks I noticed that the cough, instead of getting to soften, that my appetite was returning, that my headaches had left me, that I slept longer. After taking two bottles of Carnol I am perfectly well and adopting Carnol rather than I have ever had before in my life."

CODDLING CRIMINALS.

The new superintendent of police in Chicago told an audience, representative of some thirty-four civic and industrial organizations, the other day that there was an organized band of criminals in that city well entrenched, a Mafia which considers itself above and beyond the law and "which not only laughs in the face of justice" but spits in its face as well. This forms a very serious indictment. It has been said that eternal vigilance is the price of civic righteousness, and never was the quotation truer than it is today. Those pious folk who are always wishful to be helpful to those who find themselves amenable to the law are very frequently carried away by exuberance of sentimentality. Amiable sentimentalists should be divorced from their sentimentality. Immediate and stern measures are needful as a tonic for crime. If there was less talk and stiffer sentences with a liberal dose of the cat, same as is administered in the Province of Quebec at times, it would prove a salutary help for the immediate problem of providing safety for the public and less latitude for criminals. Robbers, murderers and others of that ilk who are lawbreakers should be treated as such and be awarded the condign punishment their crimes call for. Reforming criminals may be a very laudable occupation, theoretically, but it does not work out in practice. Adequate penalties provided for by law should be meted out to those whose waywardness fetch them within the jurisdiction of the law courts.

THE FARMERS' TROUBLES OVER.

Mr. Julius H. Barnes, former director of the United States Wheat Corporation, thinks the troubles of farmers are practically over, and we shall all sincerely hope that he is right. Yet, despite the optimistic feeling in business circles, it is the country suffer, and unavoidably so. It is equally true that when general commercial and industrial interests are depressed, the farmers do not, and cannot, escape the consequences. It would be a salutary thing if this truth of solidarity were at all times and in circumstances duly recognized. It would save us from many a blunder and much of avoidable misunderstanding, says the Ottawa Journal.

Mr. Barnes bases his diagnosis on the following developments throughout the world:—

"A consumers' market abroad for all products of farm and industry is now reviving.

"The market for farm products at home, and for the products of industry, is steadily clearing.

"Wheat has increased 40 per cent., sheep have doubled; cotton has doubled; hogs have almost doubled.

"Stocks of goods in retail exchange values show that the era of exchange speculation has passed and the era of legitimate export and import trade has begun.

"In Europe whose trade channels were cut and closed by new frontiers has reconstructed the commercial flow across the boundaries by trade agreements that are restoring the healthy life of Europe.

"A Europe that conceived reparations to be collectible beyond the current productive capacity of a people is learning that the burden must be readjusted to the limit of endurance.

"A Russia that is recovering from its destructive debauch of communism is plainly approaching saner relation with the world.

"The easy and happy thought that Government operation could spell relief for all human distress has lost its seductive charm."

With agriculture on a sound footing again, Mr. Barnes assures us that industry may begin to frame its productive programme afresh. "At home and abroad," he says, "the skies are definitely clearing, and the record of progress in the healthy restoration of our industries will be increasingly clear. Again we trust he is entirely right. The facts interest Canada quite as much as they do the United States. We shall all be glad to see the farmer cheerful in his hard work and assured a reasonable reward for his skill and effort. Of course, he would not have been so downhearted if he had laid aside some of his fat profits during the war, over against the lean days which come with deflation. But the farmer was not the only man who made that mistake, nor is he the only man who has suffered because of it.

Not for the first, or, my fear, the last time is the question of the revision of the Prayer Book being raised at home. It is to be "brought into harmony with contemporary thought"—in other words, spoilt and rewritten according to the passing fads of the day. If Englishmen do not like the book of-ching they deserve it. The Prayer Book is the greatest and most priceless treasure of the English language. Never has the conciseness de la felicity of phrase been equalled. At the beginning it was made in tampering with its language or its dogma, heaven knows where the end will be. The Psalm will be sacrificed to the sentimentalists; the Marriage Service and the Pauline Epistles to the feminists.

THE GREAT TASK OF GENOA.

Manchester Guardian

To bring Russia and Germany once more within the economic pale should be the chief task at Genoa. So far as Germany is concerned, the refusal to discuss reparations sets a new limit to what can be done. But in Russian the Conference will have a free field. The Russians have exploited by a capitalist taunt. That is a phrase which no doubt sounds chillingly in Russian ears. What exists between the Russians and ourselves is here in their professions of encouragement to foreign capital, is less clear. France and England have made the question of all debts and security for capital. The first demand is complicated by heavy Russian counter-claims, and the second by the apparent impossibility of giving any except paper guarantees of security. There can be no trade without confidence and no confidence without trade. On the whole it looks as though some measure of confidence would have to be given first.

SPRING FEVER

I want to plant a garden now that spring is here,
I want to watch the carrots and little beets appear;
I want to gather radishes and salad lettuce, too,
And invite my envious neighbors to come and pick some, too.

I crave some Golden Bantam, like in the seed store,
Sent out by florists every year—how good the green things look!
I want to raise cucumbers and Hubbard squash and beans,
And cabbages and broccoli sprouts and canteloupes and greens,

And young green peas and eggplants and shelled Swiss chard,
And pumpkin vines, with golden flow'rs to trail around the yard;
I want to plant a garden; now that spring is here,
And I might do it, too, if I hadn't tried last year!

A Laugh or Two

Know Themselves

The jury in a murder case listened to the learned charge of the judge and solemnly retired. Two hours later they filed slowly back in charge of a court attendant. The great was the feeling of suppressed excitement in the court room.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said the sombre judge, breaking a silence that was almost painful in its intensity, "have you agreed on a verdict?"

"Yes, your honor," was the impressive response of the foreman, "the jury are all of one mind—temporary insanity."

Direct Evidence

An Englishman arrived in the wild lands where the real cowboys come from. He had been told to ask for a certain ranch foreman, who would give him a job. He went up to a man in the first village he came to.

"Have you seen a tall fellow with a lark beard hanging round here?" he asked.

"Yes", said the man; "day before yesterday."

"You're sure?"

"Oh, yes. I had hold of the rope."

One of the pupils was reading a theme she had written about General Grant during the Civil War. TOTAL YIELD OF SALES TAX SINCE START $94,223,145

Ottawa, March 28.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons this afternoon, Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs and Excise, said that since its inception in June, 1920, the sales tax had yielded $94,223,145 in revenue.

THAT ONE EXTRA FOOT

By BYRON STAUFFER.

The proud editor of a unique little magazine attributes his success to the motto of a Swede who had made a fortune by boosting among Cripple Creek. Urged to reveal the secret of his methods in the wilderness, he said: "I always put one foot further."

It is always the one extra foot that counts.

The proprietor of a wholesale house pointed to his best traveling salesman, a chin-looking young foreigner saying: "He's not that much smarter, come into our employ the same time. But the foreigner at once begged me to allow him to take a set of samples and call on the small suburban stores evenings. We really didn't want that trade, but he teased so insistently that I at last yielded. It was a lucky strike for within a month he demonstrated that he could do that trade and took a territory which had been supposed to be our very worst. He soon made it the best, and now draws the highest salary in the house. The stock clerks' only enthusiasm was shown when it was announced that the store would close a half-hour earlier."

It's the extra effort that pays.

The youngest kid among life insurance agents confessed that the first day's canvassing nearly floored him. At first he was going to quit and get back to his former job at plumbing a home. Then he decided to put one more name on his list. He nearly fell over when this man announced that he would take $10,000.

That was the "one foot further" that produced a $50,000 income.

All's fair in love and war, and so thought the old deputy returning officer in Galt who knew that five voters for his party would be coming in on the 11.45 train, and that the depot was ten minutes from the polling place. He was a torrid day and the Tory candidate being late, he met them at the far end of the room. He found his watch six minutes slow that night and simultaneously discovered how those five Grits got there just on the tick of five, thereby saving the riding to Mowatt's men, who was elected by three votes.

Tradition tells how Henry John Brady fought a duel for the medal at university, challenged by one student who persisted in hanging on to the "Varsity" cheer, a phrase which neither he nor I are supposed to comprehend. It was found that the rival's leg was getting stiff, and that rather than God's, Then the private Canada sent back to the family till at Embro for some more kerosene money and wool.

That was not a wise suggestion which the Jewish convert in the Baptist church made when the preacher announced a hymn, to be sung to Old Hundred. "Pastor, let me make a suggestion in the interest of economy," interposed the new member. "I propose that we sing it to the tune of 'The Ninety-and-Nine,' and save one per cent."

When my guide told me that we were fishing in a spot where the lake was five hundred feet deep, I took a sudden fancy to go ashore. Then when he reminded me that nowhere was shallower than six feet, and that I was but five feet seven, I felt safer when I and pinned my faith in him and the sixteen-of-a-inch canoe bottom.

The line thrown to the unfortunate man floating on an ice floe in the Niagara was, alas, just one foot too long, and the poor fellow was hauled to his death in the lower rapids.

Lloyd George won the enthusiastic support of the British munition makers by telling them that the task which could produce one more shell, backed by one more shilling, than the enemy would win the great war.

Five minutes earlier in the morning at the office would keep a certain compositor sufficiently well clear of the path of just a trifle irritated at 9.05 a.m., as he always is.

"If parents only knew what an asset penmanship is," said a high school teacher, "they would insist on their sons and daughters going to school with a fountain pen instead of a 9.05. Thereby they would put an extra brick into the structure of their character."

Many a man of ability fails because he does not go "a foot further" and acquire amiability. "He preached a fine sermon," was the laudatory layman of a candidate for the pulpit, "but during dinner in our home he paid absolutely no attention to my wife and daughters. Not a smile nor a remark; not a question about their studies; nothing to indicate that he knew they were present."

Just one foot further would end many a misunderstanding. Most quarrels may be settled by meeting the other fellow half-way. The rest will follow as the season of an unfortunate step on your part. Go to your adversary in the spirit of Him who told His disciples that "whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain."

DELEGATES DEPART FOR CONFERENCE

Dominion Will Be Strongly Represented at Economic Conference.

London, March 22.—Arrangements are being completed for the representation of the Dominions at the Genoa Conference. Delegates will be departing for Genoa in the course of the next ten days.

Canada will be represented by Sir Charles Gordon, Montreal, and Professor Edouard Montpetit, of the University of Montreal.

Australia will be represented by Sir Joseph Cook, High Commissioner for Australia in London.

South Africa's representatives will be Sir Edgar Walton, High Commissioner for South Africa; Sir Henry Strakosch and probably Hon. Rowland Brand also.

The appointment of Indian delegates has been delayed by the changes in the India office, but it is expected that the announcement as to who will represent India at the Conference will be made shortly.

Hon. Robert Brand, one of South Africa's representatives at Genoa, has served with distinction in several important official capacities in South Africa under Lord Milner, General Botha and others. He was a member of the Imperial Munitions Board of Canada.

In well informed quarters, there are favorable expressions as to the Russian delegation's personnel and representation, and it is believed that the Dominion will take a most useful part in the settlement of the several problems to be discussed at the Conference.

NOTED NATURALIST WILL SPEAK HERE

Charles Crawford Gorst, the noted naturalist who will lecture at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday, March 31st, has made the study of birds and their songs his life work. He has literally lived for years in the open, analyzing and recording the music of feathered songsters—the oldest music known to man. As a boy, familiar with the unnamed woods and prairies of the west, Mr. Gorst listened to birds until, with no other teacher, he learned to name their songs so perfectly that the little songsters would answer and fly to him. The development of this gift of song was no small task, his vocal organs for two months refusing to produce a sound, and the extraordinary results now attained were reached only as a result of constant practice, unflagging zeal and endless patience.

A real lover of birds, Mr. Gorst conceived the idea of interpreting the wood songsters of his fellow men, and most years is memorizing and setting down, by means of a method of song writing which he originated, about four hundred bird songs. With the help of charts and pastel bird paintings specially prepared by himself (for in addition to his abilities as an interpreter of bird songs Mr. Gorst is an artist of rare talent) he has been for years reproducing, and describing the beautiful. In bird music. While presenting this unique entertainment, Mr. Gorst's purpose is to awaken a renewed interest in birds and nature.

BANK ROBBERS TERRORIZE

Vancouver, B.C., March 27.—Bank robbers terrorized the town of Ladner, twenty miles from Vancouver last night. They cut all telephone and telegraph wires in order to prevent help being executed from the police here. The Royal Bank was broken into, but the main vault could not be opened by the bandits who stole a quantity of securities valuable by estimated to value from one to twenty thousand dollars. Early this morning the bandits escaped in automobiles.

JUSTICE LOGIE STANDS FOR NO MONKEY BUSINESS

Haileybury, March 22.—A bench warrant for the arrest of Rev. Donnelly of Iroquois Falls, accused of contempt of court, was issued by Mr. Justice Logie in the Assizes here this afternoon.

Dr. Donnelly, according to George Mitchell, a Cobalt lawyer, had "absolutely refused" to attend court as a witness in a civic action, the hearing of which had to be postponed.

The judge said, "The doctor's act, that's all there is to it, to disregard a subpoena of this court." He ordered the Sheriff to send an attachment for Dr. Donelly, intimating that the latter would be held responsible for the expenses incurred, and also would be fined.

TREES ATTRACT BIRDS

An interesting and unexpected feature of tree planting in the Prairie Provinces is that it is reported to attract birds. Since considerable planting has been done around Regina, the Provincial Game Guardian reports that several species of birds that have never been seen in that part of the country before have taken up their abode in Wascana park and in the trees around the Parliament Buildings.

Tips to Housewives

Care of Clothes

The "shine" on clothes is caused by the wearing down of the nap and sometimes by grease. Remove by sponging with benzine and brushing up the nap with a stiff brush. Very fine sandpaper is sometimes applied. A tablespoonful of ammonia may be used to a quart of lukewarm water for sponging.

Saves the Curtains

Stretching a very narrow piece of linoleum or tape across the windows about nine inches from the lower edge saves a lot of laundry work. This prevents the curtain blowing against the inevitably dustyscreen a and outer sills.

Renovating Worn Floors

A slightly worn varnished floor can frequently be satisfactorily renovated by rubbing the scratches with a soft cloth dampened with linseed oil, or if considerably worn by means of pumice and brushing on a fresh coat of varnish. If a varnished floor is badly worn, the best way is to remove all the old finish possible and start anew.

White Kid Slippers

Brush with a benzine soap solution, taking care not to touch the soles; rinse with a sponge dipped in benzine and sprinkle with plaster of Paris or flour to absorb all the moisture. Rub with a white cloth from time to time to drying and dry in a cool place.

CALLING ONE MAN'S BLUFF

Lisbon, March 19.—About 50 soldiers, sailors and civilians have been imprisoned on charges of being connected with the assassination of leading government officials last October. The investigation of the crimes continues but the identity of the superior officers who are supposed to have ordered the assassinations or at least to have permitted them, have not been discovered.

"Golden Tooth", one of the sailors implicated was taken to making secret in court when he is called to be questioned. He has repeatedly declared that if he had a weapon he would kill himself. To test his courage the judge arranged that an unloaded revolver should be placed on a table near where he sat in the court-room and when he made the usual threat the judge said: "Well, do so, there is a pistol near."

"Golden Tooth," hesitated and then took up the weapon, pointed it against his temple and laid it on the table, saying that he thought better of it.

He threatened that he would kill Cunha Leal, then Premier, when he was freed.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PLAN IN THE WEST

Winnipeg, March 29.—A community development plant, to cover the three western provinces, will be in operation by Oct. 1, if tentative plans, now under discussion, obtain the desired co-operation, John H. Curle, secretary of the Manitoba branch of the Retail Merchants' Association, announces.

Plans now under consideration provide for establishment of community centres in the three provinces. The aim of the project is to furnish entertainment and lectures to the smaller centres, promote essay writing, furnish rural leadership and otherwise help the communities grapple with problems that arise from time to time.

CHINESE CHOP SUEY IN THE QUEST LUNCHEON MENU

Chinese Chop Suey is so delicious that the healthy cannot make a mistake in placing it before her guest, in such a luncheon menu as he following (which is equally as good a supper menu) :

Olives
Chop Suey
Hot Graham Rolls •
Coffee Orange Souffle

The first step toward making a delicious Chop Suey is to learn to cook the rice as the Orientals cook it. They take the necessary amount of rice (two cups is ample for six people), cover it well with boiling water, let it boil one hour (right over a hot fire—not in a double boiler), then turn the rice into a colander over the sink and pour a kettleful of boiling water through it, letting this water wash away the milky, starchy element; they then take the drained rice from the colander, put it back into the saucepan, and cover it once more with boiling water. Allow the rice to steam and boil up for 20 minutes; then it is once more urned into the colander, another kettleful of boiling water poured through it, and when it has drained thoroughly it is put into the serving dish, or individual dishes. When rice is cooked in this way each kernel stands alone.

But, when we have learned to cook our rice as the Chinese do, there is still another difficulty for us to overcome: that of securing the ingredients the Chinese use in making their Chop Suey. Indeed, it is almost impossible for us to obtain all of the ingredients unless we enlist the aid of some Chinese laundryman who has sent for some for his own use, and enroll upon him to sell us a small quantity of his personal store. I know of one housekeeper who has a Letter Priend who lives where there is a Chinese market and who kindly buys the Oriental ingredients for Chop Suey to mail to the housekeeper. Soon and these ingredients are "Soye" (the Chinese Worcester Sauce), "Bamboo Sprouts," "Water Chestnuts," and "Lotus Seeds." The following recipes call for these things:

Chicken Chop Suey—Wash, singe and cut the flesh of a fresh chicken into well-shaped pieces; fry these in lard, and when well browned add one pound of mushrooms cut small, one-half can of bamboo sprouts, 4 stalks of celery finely chopped, ten pared and sliced water chestnuts and two onions sliced thinly. Let cook ten minutes, then add two pounds of bean sprouts. Let cook five minutes, then add salt, pepper and 3 tablespoon of soye, and serve hot.

Pork Chop Suey: Dice one-half pound of uncooked pork and fry it in lard for four minutes, then add one and one-half pounds of cooked veal sliced, and allow to fry five minutes longer. Now add one minced onion, one-half can of bamboo sprouts, one-half cup of chopped celery, 1 tablespoon of soye, ten lotus seeds and 1 little pepper. Let cook 15 minutes and serve.

To adapt these recipes for our table without any of the real Chinese ingredients, use a few drops of Worcestershire Sauce instead of the Soye; one cup of celery instead of the water chestnuts; and use our canned mushrooms fried in a little butter in place of the bamboo sprouts in the Pork Chop Suey recipe. It is surprising how delicious just this taste—without a single Chinese ingredient added.

Serve little pile of hot rice on one side of the individual plate, and a half cupful of one of the above mixtures on the other side of the dish.

TO BE A FINISH FIGHT, SAYS WHISKEY EXPORTER

Windsor, Ont., March 28.—"It is quite natural that the attorney-general intends taking steps to appeal the decision," declared Mr. Wigle, attorney for the Essex Exporters, Limited, said when informed of the decision handed down by Attorney-General Raney would appeal Judge Coughlin's liquor ruling. "We will take any action that he will take," he added.

An official of the Essex Exporters, Limited, stated that the shipping of the export question just as long as the attorney-general interfered with the storage of liquor at his warehouse.

To-day it was learned from authoritative sources that several carloads of liquor will be brought to Windsor this week for storage at the warehouse. Orders have already been sent to the distilleries. Officials connected with a number of the exporter companies again engaged in trying to ship liquor to Detroit.

NEW LOW RECORD GERMAN EXCHANGE

New York, March 28.—German exchange broke all previous low records here to-day, marks failing to 2.2 cents per 100 marks. The previous minimum quotation for this remittance was 2.9 1-8 cents per 100, made last week.

Selling of marks to-day was again largely for foreign account. Aside from liquidation by Berlin, Hamburg and other German centres, London and Amsterdam also made heavy offerings.

IDLE FOREST LAND MUST GROW TIMBER

The exhaustion of our timber supply is coming about, not because we are using our forests "too fast," but because we have failed to use our timber growing land. The problem in a nutshell, is the conversion of our forest land which has been or logged and burned that it is producing little or nothing, to the situation that best conditions without great consequences. If we are to maintain a nation of wood users, we must become a nation of wood growers. By some means or other we must see to it that forest land not needed for agriculture are not allowed to lie idle but are kept at work growing timber.—Chas. W. E. Greeley, Chief of the United States Forest Service.

The Daily Recipe

Oyster and Egg Pie

Scald a solid quart of oysters in their own liquor for two minutes. Remove the drain. Put three hard-boiled eggs through the ricer. Make a rich and well seasoned cream sauce, not too thick, and put the oysters into it. Add a little celery salt and the juice of an onion. Put a layer of the oysters into a crust-lined dish, then a layer of the egg, then oysters, and so on until all are used. Pour in as much of the sauce as is needed, and put on the top crust. Bake for forty-five minutes. This is a luncheon pie, which must be eaten as soon as it is baked, as it does not keep and is not good cold.

SOTHERN WON'T PLAY AGAIN IN MONTREAL

Noted Shakespearean Actor Tells Montreal Audience the Reason Why.

Montreal, March 22.—Following a dispute with the management of a local theatre over overtime for the stage hands E. H. Sothern, the noted Shakespearean actor, came before the curtain on Saturday night and announced that he and Miss Marlowe would never play in Montreal again.

Mr. Sothern spoke as follows:

"Ladies and gentlemen: I wish to take the opportunity of thanking you sincerely for the very cordial reception you and the people of Montreal have given Miss Marlowe and myself during the past week. I am the more glad to have this opportunity, because it is the last occasion upon which Miss Marlowe and myself will ever appear in your city. We have suffered so much humiliation, irritation and annoyance at the hands of the management of this theatre that we will never play in Montreal again."

INDOOR LEAGUE GETS UNDER WAY

Grand Trunk Team and K. V. A. Are Winners Last Night.

The first Indoor Baseball League games were played at the Armouries last night, in which the K.V.A. trimmed the Boy Scouts to a score of 41 to 4 and the G.T.R. played a good fast game, the G.T.R. putting it over the J.A.C. by a score of 5 to 4. The Scouts were hopelessly outclassed last night, but we hope for better.

The batteries for all teams were good. "Byng" Hayes, pitching for the Scouts and J. Crozier, catching. On the K.V.A. team T. Allen pitched and H. Wheeler caught. "Byng" Hayes was very good on pitching but Wells who came on to pitch after the third or fourth innings was better. The Soldiers were very slow and fumbled the ball a lot. Much credit should be given to S. Curry for his fielding. The K.V.A. pitcher was very good as was his catcher. Their Soldiers also were very much alive. On the K.V.A. team Leslie and Vandervoort were the men that brought home the most runs. W. Gerow was base umpire and Ken Collings called them over the plate.

The second game between the J.A.C. and the G.T.R. was the snappiest of the evening. The teams were very evenly matched. The G.T.R. got the toss-up and took their battings. Yeomans, pitcher for the J.A.C. was in fine condition and pitched a snappy game. The pitcher for the G.T.R. Cap. Smith, was in fine fettle too. The catcher for the J.A.C. was Cole who was very good. The catcher for the G.T.R. was first Meagher and then W. Mills who caught the rest of he game. Smith's pitching was good although his arm was weak from a previous strain. The Soldiers of both teams were up to the mark stopping pretty near everything that came their way.

The base umpire was Leo Barrett, and the strike umpire was Ken Collings.

PRINTERS' TEAM ARE CHAMPIONS

Win Eleven Consecutive Games, Capturing Riggs' Silver Trophy.

The Printers' Bowling team are champions of the present constituted bowling league, and are winners of the silver cup donated by ex-Mayor Riggs who has always taken a deep interest in bowling. Last night the Printers by defeating the Bell Telephone team clear their eleventh consecutive game, which is a notable record. This week will see the present schedule completed. Last night the Printers not only won their game, but came within one point of tieing their previous highest record made by any team during the series of games, namely 2523. Their score last night was 2562. Their opponents were not in very good form and in consequence the game was not a close one. Barlow for the winning team was high single and high three string with 280 and 637. Shappe was by far the steadiest player for the Bell ringers. The scores and players were as follows:

ST. PATS ARE WORLD'S CHAMPS

Defeat Vancouver in Last Stanley Cup Game Last Night.

Toronto, March. 23.—Helpless in the vise-like grip of the St. Patrick's checkers, and unable to subdue "Babe" Dye and his machine-gun shot, the Vancouver Millionaires, pride of the West, went down here last night in the Stanley Cup final game by 5 to 1. The victory of the N.H.L. title holders was decisive-cut and decisive, and they left not the slightest doubt in the world but that they are the best professional teams in captivity. In a long and arduous season they have swept aside all opposition, and have come through with colors flying, despite the criticisms of the doubtful ones. No one who saw them humble the Millionaires in the final game will begrudge them the honors.

The game was not a brilliant affair, the close defensive tactics brought into play by the locals befitting up the usually Pacific Coast champions, and making them appear to be nothing out of the ordinary. There were moments, however, when thrilling plays brought the crowd to its feet cheering wildly, and "Babe" Dye was in the limelight most of the time. The baseball-hockey star was never better. It was his masterpiece in hockey, and the Dye shot had bullet-shot as much as anything else, which enabled the locals to carry off the highest honors professional hockey can give.

Now Then a Tylenph.

To say that it was a triumph for the local right-winger is putting it mildly. He dominated the attacking end of the play, and he had the entire visiting team badly rattled as his rifle fire shots, went scoring past. MacKay got in the road of a few of them, but they hurt and he reneged. Cook used good judgment, and let them drift, while Lehman, he of the eagle eye, picked four of them out of the net for Dye, the greatest marksman in the East, scored that many, and established the "Babe" beyond the shadow of a doubt that he is one of the most effective players on the line-up of the 1922 Stanley Cup holders.

But the former Aura Lee and De la Salle star was not the only player who stood between the westerners and victory. Keeping him company in the outstanding role were Reg. Noble, "Red" Stuart and John Rose Rosch, the last-named still the king of all the net guardians. Noble's generalship was as marked as when he and Eddie Gerard combined to give the locals the benefit of splendid advice last Saturday, and in addition the captain and manager of the champions showed that he is one of the best players in the sport. In the first three games Noble was overanxious and not up to form, but he got his chance to blow back into the teeth of his critics the taunts that they had so mercilessly subjected him to, and his every move was cheered to the echo. Noble has made good in his role as manager, captain, coach and player, and without him St. Patrick's would never have reached the top.

FORD'S SHORT WEEK MEANS LOWER WAGE

Detroit, March 29.—Pay envelopes are smaller under the 40-hour week just inaugurated by Henry Ford. The same rate per day is paid, but for five days a week instead of six. Thus if a man got $6 a day he made $36 a week under the old time schedule. Now his weekly wage will be $30.

SCRAP IRON

SHADE BEATS MITCHELL

Milwaukee, Wis., March 28.—Davo Shade, California welterweight boxer, defeated Frankie Mitchell, local lightweight, in the fourth round, when Shade landed a haymaker and the referee claimed Mitchell was not on his feet at the count of ten. Sporting writers disagreed, and declared that Mitchell was up at the ten count.

The blow that put Mitchell down was the only one that appeared to distress him, but he appeared fresh when he arose. There was an uproar by the spectators, and it was impossible to hear the referee's count. Billy Mitchell, manager of the local boxer, asserted the fighter was on his feet at the finish of the referee's count, but the bout was ended when the referee stood between the fighters with uplifted arms.

GREB IN TORONTO

Toronto, March 28.—Harry Greb of Pittsburg, premier lightweight of the world, received a gratifying ovation when he arrived in Toronto with his manager, George Engle, yesterday, and gave a flashy exhibition of speedy and clever boxing at a local theatre. Greb and his manager were delighted with the reception the Toronto crowds gave them, and expressed a distinct liking for the Queen City.

SPEAKER TAKES NO ACTION

Toronto, March 29.—Speaker Nelson Parliament says he will take no action whatever upon the affidavit of Mayor Holden of Collingwood reporting W. F. Allan Conservative member for West Simcoe, who is alleged to have accepted a fee of $100 for previminary services in drafting a private bill for the 1918 Legislature.

SPORT STUFF

Well, that ends the hockey season and Toronto St. Pats are the world's champions.

Don't know that they don't thoroughly deserve it. They're a trying gang and work hard every minute of the game.

The trouble with the usual run of "pro" players is that they don't try hard enough if they are a couple of goals down. Seem to think that they are giving the fans a treat when they come out and do a little fancy skating.

Indoor league got under way last night and the G. T. R. and K. V. A. were returned winners after two good games. The Scouts didn't seem to be able to get going, but there is no telling what they'll do in their comeback.

Spring weather again today. Less than two months before they call "Play Ball" right here on the home lot.

Printers have copped the silverware for the "Y" bowling league. Can't beat these printers once they get started on anything.

The Ulster Premier appealed to the people of the Ulster fighting line to back up he extremists, and to think less of the past and more of the future.

"The desire for revenge, and vindictiveness and hatred must give way for peace," he said. "We must all work and work together as one people."

The Premier denied that the "Orangemen are behind the alleged anti-Catholic persecution. He declared that there has been no breach of faith with Michael Collins and the Provisional Government of the Southern Ireland, and that the unemployment situation is responsible for Catholics being unable to find work. LIONS HOLD BIG NIGHT ring to make an address, he was received a most hearty reception.

After commending on the blue grass, orchards and beautiful scenery in the states, dear old Tucky, Dr. Webber stated that he did not mean that old mess. He hoped he would never grow old himself, nor that he was different from some of the clergy, in the fact that he was a man and not the women's pet. Judging by the wonderful reception it received at the door and judging by the splendid appearance of your beautiful city, as I was shown around, I figured that I was nearly HOME town, where there would be no such demand for spirit work," and he spoke of the Canadians, the finest, grit, spirit and character, and they have won a warm spot in my heart. Although Canada, France, Belgium and Belgians sometimes meet that they won the war, I firmly believe it was the Canadians who really won the war, as they stared death in the face with a confident smile, indicating valour and character. I love the Great British Empire and its wonderful institutions, and I am proud of the fact I have in Belleville and British blood in my veins. Great Britain is a child of Providence, and has been successful in America where she has failed, as the French, Dutch and Portuguese have failed. The result of this success has been the establishment of two sister nations, which are the strength of Anglo-Saxon civilization. It will be as impossible for any other nation to cause friction between the United States and Great Britain, as it would be for us to cause friction between our good will; and we want to see you grow and become stronger, we want to see the greatest colony in the British Empire. There is a disturbing element in the United States which is giving us considerable trouble, but when the United States entered the World War, they demanded 100 per cent. patriotism and they got it from the Irish element to the draft.

Irish Troubles

"The Irish, I believe, will fight and fight until they swallow each other, and then Britain will step over all the dead bodies and rule. The Irish, however, are an excellent race when you get them out of Ireland. The Irish Volunteers are found in every other world no matter where you go in the British Empire. (applause.)

The Lions Club is an International League of good will, binding all the English-speaking people of the world into a brotherhood. We want you to join us and have no torts, no standing armies, on either side of the line, but a police force on the great lakes. We want to feel secure that we need no treaties to bind us but the good will and the good emotion of the heart, and the hearty reciprocation of this feeling. We, in the United States, respect the name of British ancestry. We speak the same tongue, read the same scriptures, and with the same poetry, philosophers, and historians are ours in common, and we work as a unit for the advancement of civilization. We specialize you on belonging to such an organization, with a magnificent spirit as will the Lions Club of Belleville have. The Lions Club spiritualizes the magnificent qualities of the King of Brotherhood, Jesus Christ, and the secret, and becomes a King among his kind. We have caught the vision of service, which is the true test of man is in the expenditure of his finest qualities in service to others by reaching out the hand to help one sitting up the fallen, feeding the needy and answering the call of humanity.

Community Work

"At Denver, Colorado, a Lions Mountainside Camp has been established for the poor boys of the city where they may camp on their vacation. Christmas Cheer Clubs have been established in Memphis, Tenn., a tubercular school has been built by the Lions where afflicted children receive milk and care free of charge. Playgrounds with wading pools and standard equipment have been established, causing peace and good will, and changing the whole complexion of the community. Lions Clubs will be established in the Philippines, Hawaii, Australia and New Zealand and anywhere the English language is spoken, so that we shall respect one another, re-establish the League of Nations, and cause the evil things on earth to see and desire good will and fellowship. We hope that there shall be no more war and that your future differences may be settled at the Council table. Such clubs as the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis will gain such an object.

"We need glorious, strong men, fervid men, men who are willing to serve, who will serve and, if need be, die for it. Lionism stands for all this and Lions, keep your hearts true to one another and above all to the One who is the Father of every true and honest man."

Rounds of deafening applause, clearly showed the impression that the wonderful address had made. Mr. J. O. Herrity in rising to move a vote of thanks to the speaker, told of having visited old Kennedy last summer and vouched for all good things Dr. Webber had said about the state. Mr. Herrity was reminded of another Southern Fighting Colonel who was also one of the most eminent journalists of the past generation. That was Col. Waterson, and at a meeting of the Press Association in Toronto, at the time when Sir Mackenzie Bowell, then over 90 years of age, was Dean of the Canadian Journalism; he was heard to exclaim in aside: how wonderful it is to see the old man still with us. He has outlived many of the greatest editors of the country. If you were in the audience last night to hear Dr. Webber, it can be taken in safety by young or old, as it contains no harmful drugs.

SUCCEEDS WHERE DOCTORS FAIL

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Often Does That — Read Mrs. Risser's Testimony

Quarryhouse, N. Y.—"I was under the doctor's care for over five years for female troubles and had no relief from him whatever. One day a neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I decided to try it. It helped me so much that I wrote to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. It is a great help in carrying a child, as I have noticed a difference when I didn't take it. I thank you for this medicine and if I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. Pearl Risser, Box 103, Quarryhouse, N. Y.

It's the same story over again. Women suffer from ailments for years, they try doctors and different medicines, but fail to be helped. Then they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you can see in this case in Mrs. Risser.

The truth of the matter is, if you are suffering from any of the troubles peculiar to your sex, don't drug with medicines. It can be taken in safety by young or old, as it contains no harmful drugs.

"Wal, sir, first we knew Annie was there in the house 'twixt' her 'n' Mary Ann they'd kept us hoppin' from it it hadn't been that Tom Linsey come a-courtin' Mary Ann we'd a-guessed the ol' squire wanted to see—no, sir, we wouldn't—for the squire was as secretive as the heighdest Injun alive on his door. She wasn't to come in the house, nor to speak to nobody, nor to nobody see her 'cept Mary Ann. It looked like a mighty big fuss for all after the lawyer was all an' first could see a corner of my house through the trees, and I'd be bound I'd see the whole 'round the room. All to once he remembered he'd planted at my house through this 'winder an' 'long 'twixt Tom come over an' said he'd married the squire wanted to pay me. So I went there. Kate was in bed—the doors wide open—an' I says I'd a-broke down she looked! WANTS 6,000 BOYS
TO WORK ON FARMS

London, March 28.—Premier H. H. Farwell, of South Australia, is at present visiting in this city and has prevailed between the ages of 15 and 18 for apprenticeship to South Australian farmers under Government guardianship. The boys are wanted to replace the 6,000 South Australians killed during the war.

Each boy will be paid four shillings a week for pocket money, the remainder of his earnings being banked to his credit in the state treasury where it will earn 4 1-2 per cent. interest. The whole sum will be turned over to him when he attains his twenty-first year. This amount will enable him to become an independent farmer.

MINERS ARE FIRM ON WAGE ISSUE
IN STRIKE AREA

Reduction Inevitable

Warriner said the operators' last word had been spoken and the mine and the people in mining districts who depend on the business springing from them with the reduction in wages, was inevitable and it would work for the best in the interests of the mining communities and the public as a whole.

"We have already cut the miners and the public," Warriner said, "that we can no longer afford to mine coal at the present cost of production and that with the present cost, of which labor cost is the chief item, must be reduced.

"If we were to offer to pay next after April 1 on the present scale pending the negotiation of the wage agreement we would practically admit that we can afford to pay the present wages."

BISHOPS FROM ONTARIO.

Five Canadians Honored by Church in United States.

It is high time for some of the bypassated to discover that former Canadians in responsible places in the churches in the United States are progressionating for "Imperial" and thus endangering American democracy—as numerous are the souls that the Benedictine boys have won distinction in the ecclesiastical realm both of the Mother, Church, the Anglo Protestant Episcopal Church and her daughter, and the number of Canadians of episcopal rank is distinctly out of proportion to the number of Canadians who have emigrated to the United States. There has been no export of consecration, brains and leadership, within recent years that were the Dominion less prolific in these respects.

Five members of the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church of United States are of Canadian birth, training and education, the churchmanship in five are all fairest, but perhaps their willingness and ability to cope with missionary and pioneer conditions are the outstanding feature of these Canadians. It is as missionary bishops that the sons of Canada shine and bring new lustre to the country of their birth. Bishop Charles H. Brent was almost a nationally heroic and patriotic figure as "Brent of the Philippines" before returning to Buffalo as Bishop of Western New York. Bishop Charles Scadding, born in Toronto, has in the diocese of Western Oregon one of the greatest fields for pioneering to be found on this continent. The latest to attract notice is Bishop Rowe, of Alaska, also a Canadian.

"Peter Trimble Rowe, the man who makes little trips of some 3,000 miles through the snow and ice, on snowshoes, alone, running beside his dog sled, to keep from freezing to death, or chopping down enough wood for a fire at any lonely cabin," is by a Boston newspaper.

While Bishop Rowe has been among the primitive folk most of his life, Bishop Scadding started his work on New York and Toledo to enter upon life's work among the lumbermen, fishermen and miners of the Pacific. Bishop Brent pioneered the church in the newly-acquired Philippines and his work there was the foundation of his episcopate. Bishop Anderson went from the Atlantic seaboard to the great suburban parish in Chicago and then to the bishopric of Chicago. Bishop Parish of Arizona, himself the son of a Canadian bishop, went to Ohio for his health and became Bishop coadjutor of Ohio.

This is many times an activity these men showed and will honors through service. All are Trinity College men and all from Ontario. Son of the late Bishop of Toronto, Bishop Du Moulin was a Hamilton boy. Bishop Scadding was born in Charlottetown, Bishop Anderson in Kemptville, Charles Henry Brent was the son of Rev. Canon Brent of Newmarket, Ont. of them were commencing their careers in the Church of England, their future sees in the homeland, when the expanding United States looked for men to serve. But they maintain their Canadian citizenship and their "back home" are legion.

What manner of men are they? "The first time I saw Bishop Rowe you could see his dog team from any of the rest of us roughhouse," said Archdeacon Stuck of Alaska. "When we slipped a cog and swore he seemed to know exactly what he was doing. I believe he would rather preach to a crowd of miners in a saloon than to a crowd of men in a well-dressed cathedral congregation. It was the same with those who reach his people. He reached them."

Chieftain Is Too Civilized.

All that one so-called "feature writer" ever saw, read, guessed or imagined about Injuns was worked into the description of Grand Chief and Chief Alfred McCue, of the Mississauga Indians to Chief Inspector of Indian Affairs James Albert Green, whom the red man used to call Kahkewaquonaby or Wawatha Lake of Ontario." According to the description, the chief of the Mississauga reserve was afraid that when he retired to the Happy Hunting forest he would be unable to explain to the Great Spirit the cold water flat tenets," the fivers and skyscrapers of civilization.

"Not a chieftain of fact," comments the Brantford Expositor, "Chief McCue is the description of a man of a civilized and cultured community. He has been educated at the Mohawk Institute which is a mission school maintained by the Church of England. And in Chenong in the winter he has been active in the work of the school teacher, and is the Sunday school superintendent of the Methodist church there. He is the secretary of the agricultural society of Ontario, an organization of Indians who look after the welfare of their people.

That is the truth of the matter, and it is not to the credit of those fellow newspapers so long as a good story is wanted that it is sold to provincially-minded readers."

An Old Church.

Drummond Hill Presbyterian Church celebrated the 120th anniversary of its founding on March 19th. Drummond Hill Church, one of the first Canadian churches, was founded by Rev. D. W. Eastman, a pioneer missionary of the American Presbyterian Church. Dr. William Wallis, the present minister, has been in charge since 1887. It commenced his work in what was then the old village of Drummondville. The church was built in 1832, and is one the oldest church in Niagara Falls.

An organization Meeting of the Belleville Horticultural Society will be held at the City Hall, Thursday, April 13th, 1922, at eight o'clock p.m. 29-4td

Irish Delegates Reach Agreement For Lasting Peace

Conference of Delegates of Rival Irish Factions Drafts Treaty to Terminate Conflict in District Disturbed by Racial and Religious Discord—News of Agreement Pleases Authorities in England, Who Pay High Tribute to Irish Leaders.

WILL DISBAND ULSTER POLICE

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited.

London, March 31.—The peace agreement reached between northern and southern Ireland has given unbounded satisfaction in British circles.

Commenting on the "grateful news" The Times says the whole empire will look to Ireland with renewed confidence to honor the bond into which its chosen leaders have entered.

The Free State party in Ireland has been enormously strengthened by the agreement for the pacification of Ireland, Winston Churchill told the House of Commons this morning.

Paying tribute to what he termed the courage of the Ulster leaders, Mr. Churchill said the agreement gave hope for co-operation between north and south and opened a prospect for the future such as friend and foe had not contemplated.

The Irish Free State Bill is now law. His Majesty gave his assent to it attached were lowered into the water but they lodged among the rocks before reaching Wilson.

While the firemen were working from the bridge Patrolman Charles Smith waded out into the rapids Fastened about him was a rope which was held by Patrol Driver Charles Radford on the bank.

About 100 feet from where Smith was caught in the current and swept from his feet." After a struggle he gained his footing and worked his way to a rock a few feet from that to which Wilson was clinging. Smith then threw the rope to the struggling Wilson to jump to his arms. After a few minutes Wilson made the leap and the policeman caught him. The tulp back to shore was a slow struggle against the swift current. Wilson Birmingham, surgeon, had to go out part of the way to help Smith bring in the unconscious Wilson.

Neither man was able to tell much about his experience. He said that he had slipped into the water and did not know how he reached it. Smith said the Moira River men say he owes his life to the fact that the ice formations on the brink of the Falls have temporarily checked the current.

U.F.O. MEMBER LEADS ATTACK ON DOHERTY'S DAIRY ACT BILL

Division on Bill Finds the Government Ahead by 46 Votes —Farmer Members Opposition to Bill Did Not Materialize.

Toronto, March 31.—All afternoon and part of the evening the Ontario Legislature yesterday revelled in the resolution of W. H. Casselman, U.F.O., member for Dundas, calling for the indefinite suspension of the Dairy Standards Act. When the dividing cafne, about 9 o'clock at night, the count was 60 to 14 against Mr. Casselman.

Despite all predictions of a farmers' solidarity in force upon the measure which is regarded in some quarters as onerous and involving considerable expenditure on the part of dairymen, Mr. Casselman found just two supporters among the U.F.O. ranks H. F. Jones, East Hamilton, who seconded the resolution, and a single recruit, R. McCrea, member for Lanark North.

The bulk of his support came from the other side of the House, where 29 Conservatives he found supporters in C. H. Hackland, South Wellington; A. W. Gray, Leeds; W. H. Hall, West Hastings, and W. J. Allan, West Simcoe. Liberals vot ing with Mr. Casselman were J. A. Johnis, Indoor; R. L. Brackin, K.C., West Kent; F. Bennie, South Bruce; J. M. Greenlees, Centre Bruce; and A. Pinard, Ottawa, East. Messrs. Maddock, South Brant, and Halcrow, Hamilton, also voted for the resolution.

There were three pairs announced by the Government Whip, three Conservatives voting for the resolution and three U.F.O. members against it —Messrs. Sandy and Hill, Chockett and Ferguson, Edwell and Lewis.

Mr. Casselman made a valiant fight on behalf of his resolution, and on behalf of the eastern dairyman expressed some vigorous sentiments toward it. It was a crime, he thought, that unwilling dairy producers should be forced to pasteurize milk, calling for payment on a basis of butter-fat content and pasteurization, forced upon them.

After making the rather plain intimation that the temper of the eastern farmers was such that they might not live up to the provisions of the act in any event, he asked the Speaker the unanswered question if it were not correct that the farmers of Prince Edward county had not asked the Hon. Mr. Parliament to resign his position and oppose the Government on the Bill.

Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, defended his act in the House, declaring it to be absolutely in the interests of the dairying industry.

Toronto, March 31.—Toronto's leading citizen is dead! Sir John Craig Eaton, President of the T. Eaton Company, Limited, of Toronto and Winnipeg, at 5-40 o'clock last night passed out at the zenith of his life and powers. Like the Labor who preceded him 18 years ago, he died in harness. In him the head of death has removed the one to whom that labor bequeathed in trust the Eaton traditions in business. For over half a century—54 years—that tradition has achieved success, and the immense industrial edifice which has been reared on that foundation of business integrity is known wherever men throughout the world barter and trade.

Six weeks ago Sir John Eaton, overtaken ill and confined to his bed at "Ardwold," his home. From time to time the announcement was made of making satisfactory progress toward final recovery was reaching to his friends and those who sought more particularly to the large army of employees, by whom his name was the synonym of sympathy and magnanimous heartedness. Not even the family or his closest friends were prepared for the startling announcement of yesterday's bulletin which announced that a half weeks since that the illness which had struck down the aged Knight throughout the city and country. Sir John was an immediate response in sympathy and prayer from every friends where the Eaton name is known.

It was a dramatic struggle. Over that interval of time the stalwarted a valiant and determined fight for life. High hopes were entertained that his vitality would prove supreme. The hourly bulletin were closely scanned by friend and employee. For a few days he held his own. There was then a glimmer of hope, and the physicians stated that the patient was a little stronger. Day by day the slight improvement went on; but it was plain there was no necessity o issue further bulletins. They were discontinued a week ago.

All seemed to be going well until Sir John had taken a turn for the worse and his condition was alarming. Yesterday morning the public was told he was sinking. Still more depressing was the last bulletin issued, which stated that the patient was a little stronger. Day by day the slight improvement went on; but it was plain there was no necessity o issue further bulletins. They were discontinued a week ago.

The funeral will be held from the Bloor Street Eaton Memorial Church on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Prior to the hour of service it is probable that the body will be taken to the church in the magnificent casket of the firm, friends and the public may have an opportunity of paying their last respects.

Sir John Craig Eaton, K.B., generally supposed to be Toronto's wealthiest citizen, was born in Toronto on April 29, 1876. His father was the late Timothy Eaton, founder of the extensive business with branches and interests in a number of cities of the Dominion including Montreal, Moncton, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Toronto.

So Says Benjamin, Who is a Noted Spiritualist Instrument.

Toronto, March 31.—Ambrose J. Small "is alive. "At least he was alive two weeks ago. That fact has been established by Louis Benjamin, the medium, who saw and spoke to him at the foot of his bed.

It was Small's astral body that Benjamin saw, which, he says, proves that Small is still alive. The same vision came to him three months ago in the early morning. Small's head and shoulders were only visible at that time.

"I asked him where he was," said Benjamin, "and Small replied that he was on the isle of Disco. I believe there is some such place. Small said he was on an estate belonging to some person called Armand Depres. The vision then faded away.

It was Louis Benjamin who, with Dr. A. D. Watson, published their first book on "The Twentieth Plane," three years ago. "Small's face was solemn and staring and he looked cold and haggard. His eyes were filled with pain," declares Benjamin.

Benjamin further declared that he and Mr. Small, or his astral body, replied, "I'm on a boat now that runs into Henry Island Sound. The name of God have inquiries made regarding these places, and especially Baton." This was when he appeared the second time.

Henry Hastier is not shown on any map, but the other places are. The Isle of Pines is a small island about 30 miles off the southern coast of Cuba. It was a notorious resort for pirates some years ago.

MINERS ARE QUITTING IN THE STRIKE AREAS

Illinois Miners Are the First to Lay Down Tools—Canadian Miners Are Still Hesitating Over the Course They Will Pursue.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

Paris, Ills., March 31.—The first actual stoppage of work in the Illinois coal fields occurred at noon today when eight hundred men went home. Chicago, March 31.—Seven members of Miners and Operators in District 10, United Mine Workers of America have been appointed by John H. Walker, Chairman of the Board of Conciliation, and the Department of Labor will likely be called upon to name the third man.

Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, has sent a telegram to the mines advising them in the interests of peace to accept something lower than the present wage scale pending the report of the Arbitration Board.

Sydney, N.S., March 31.—Five hundred miners "downed tools" at Dominion No. 1 mine this morning as a result of further trouble between the drivers and the management.

Trouble has been brewing for several day at this colliery, where some of the men have adopted the policy of "undercutting."

On Wednesday morning one of the work, and the gireman, who had all drivers' showed up two hours late for ready replacing him with another, ordered him to operate and show up time Thursday morning. Several other drivers, upon hearing of this, quit work and their example was followed by others operating a haulage engine. The afternoon shift refused to go on and the morning shift were suspended by the manager.

A dispute followed, whereupon all the drivers in the mine, knocked off and went home, leaving the main body of miners no choice but to follow the example, as there was no way of getting out the coal at the face.

Caledonia miners have been roused to indignation by the action of some persons unknown in "spraying" the doors of air-passages and leaving them to suffocate. As a result, it is unlikely that striking on the job will be continued there.

The output of the collieries continue normal, and it is argued from this that, although many miners have been passed, very few of the miners are putting the policy of "striking on the job" into actual effect.

KING WINTER RENEWS ATTACK

Musters Forces for Last Dying Effort, but Cannot Win.

When the ice floes "put to sea," it is often imagined by many, that Winter has arrived in Belleville. This theory has been rudely disproved in no uncertain manner this year, however, for upon rising today, citizens were called upon to again weather a very, substantial snowfall. The storm which continued until late last night, has shown its results, and every where in the city, "the song of the Shovel" is the latest hit. Citizens turned out early this morning and cleared the sidewalks and paths in short order, aiding greatly in locomotion in general.

The large mouthed sucker, harbinger of Spring, will doubtless be delayed in his annual pilgrimage in search of the hook, as a result of the relapse of winter, and those who are expecting overtime mending nets, and soaking their lines, in the preparations for the coming drive, will have plenty of time to relax now, for a few days.

One can imagine the feeling of the "King" of the snaps last today when he discovers his sap pails half full of snow, and his otherwise, sweet occupation temporarily nipped in the bud.

It is the opinion at local "old residents" that 4 inches or more will fall here last night. At any rate, there is a very, substantial blanket enshrouding the City today, and if it did not drift in the country it will be a splendid covering for the fall, wheat and clover, and it is the more important that many such fields have been bare, long since.

PICTON MAN BURNED TO DEATH

Well Known Dairy Man is Trapped in Blazing Barn.

Picton, March 31.—A shocking tragedy occurred here about 6.30 this morning when D. R. Ellsworth a dairy man 75 years of age was burned to death in a fire which destroyed the barns of the latter's farm owned by Dr. Dorsey of Red Deer Sask., 1 mile east of the town. He was negotiating the purchase of the farm and was to have taken possession April 1st. It was Mr. Ellsworth's custom to arise early in the morning in preparation for his milk route and it is presumed being an old man and the surroundings being new to him through some unknown cause, the barns caught fire from his lantern and he perished. The blaze was discovered by the tenant, E. G. Davison, the police and firemen arrived, single tracks leading to the barn were very plainly seen owing to the fresh fallen snow to a depth of six inches, but no one could be found coming from the building which caused a suspicion of the tragedy. In making enquiries at his home it was learned he had left as was his usual custom, but a search failed to locate him. Prior to his buying this farm Ellsworth was supplied with milk by a neighboring farmer and as he had not called there for his usual supply of milk, the ruins were searched and the charred trunk of the man was found so badly burned, making recognition impossible. He leaves besides his wife two sons and two daughters. Mr. Whiteman, Coroner said an inquest was not necessary.

CONVICTED ON B.O.T.A. CHARGE

Sentence Imposed on Local Man at Madoc on Thursday.

Finley Johnston, of this city, who appeared before Magistrate R. Casement at Madoc Thursday, on a B. O. T. A. charge, was found guilty, fined $300 and costs or six months, and is now in the Belleville county gaol serving the term.

This is the sad ending of another liquor traffickers career, which is chronicled by the Provincial officers about seven miles from Madoc, at two o'clock in the morning, during the progress of a dance. Johnston had cached ten bottles of whiskey, which the officers learned where it was hidden away. They immediately began a search for the owner, and their presence broke up the dance, seven miles out of Madoc, where they landed their man. The evidence of the officers was so conclusive that Johnston cased at his trial that he was forced to acknowledge ownership of the liquor. The liquor and contents were summarily confiscated.

EDITOR ACQUITTED ON LIBEL CHARGE

Outcome of Article in Jack Canuck Heard in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Ont., March 31.—While admitting that Jack Canuck published a news item which reflected on the character of William Carroll, grocer, and that the article was published without any attempt to verify the report, Jack Dingle, editor of the Toronto weekly, was found not guilty of the charge of criminal libel brought against him by William Carroll. The verdict of the jury was a complete surprise, but judgment was signed by Judge Snider, who granted, with but very little comment, the motion of the other counsel not to allow the accused costs in the action, according to law, and I think Mr. Justice Snider, Mr. Carroll; however, has been very poorly treated by some one," declared his Lordship, after the jury was dismissed. Six hours the jurors took to decide. The jury took the stand that some other was not responsible, but the libelous article was passed on all new matter.

The editor pleaded not guilty to the charge of unlawfully, falsely and maliciously publishing a defamatory libel in Jack Canuck on or about February 9 as follows, "Why did the Hamilton police impound the report of the subdivision of Carroll's estate when they found $300 for selling light wright bread and afterwards a fine of $1,000 and the confiscation of several thousand loaves of bread."

QUEER CUSTOMS IN THE CONGO

Mixture of Superstition and Ignorance Among the Native Races.

London, March 31.—Strange superstitions such as belief that the appearance of a baby's first tooth on the upper jaw was an illomen to the community and that it had, therefore to be murdered were described by Dr. M. Hora, Councillor of State for Belgium in an address here on "Belgian Colonial Administration in the Congo."

In this practice, as well as others like fetishism and cannibalism, is now prohibitable by law.

The law also interdicted, he said with native matrimonial customs which a man may acquire a wife by either by means of a dowry paid to her family, by inheritance, purchase exchange or forcible seizure, and legal bond be deemed to exist between the alleged husband and the woman sought to be claimed.

Acquisition by means of a dowry is recognized in principal but the sec ond, third, etc., wife will be permitted to benefit her husband, the state being prepared to refund the dowry if or other him has been the cause of her desertion. No compensation will be paid when the husband has been warned of in due time as to the objectionable nature of his rights in regard to "his new better fraction."

Dr. Hora said a large proportion of the Congo population was pitiably undecked and for this state of affairs European rule was partly responsible. Cannibalism has been suppressed.

WILL USE RADIO ON POLAR TRIP

Amundsen Will in This Way Keep in Touch With the World.

New York, March 31.—To float over the North Pole on an ice field and to hover over it in airplanes made in this country is the astounding feat which Capt. Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole and foremost Norwegian explorer, proposes to perform during the next three to five years. He further plans to carry a powerful radio equipment, the range of which he will at all times be in touch with the outside world.

This will be the first polar expedition to use the radio, and from time to time those of the radio audience in upper Canada and Alaska and other to very favorable conditions, even those in the northern part of this country may be fortunate enough to hear the voice of the great explorer.

WILL CELEBRATE HISTORIC DAY

Birthday of Florence Night ingale Will be Commemorated on May 12.

Washington, March 31.—The U.S. Public Health Service found the celebration of National Hospital Day a popular and so generally satisfactory that year that it heartily approves it celebration this year on Friday, May 12, the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, founder of modern nursing. On that day the public will be again invited to visit the hospitals in their vicinity as guests and to familiarize themselves with their atmosphere, methods and aims.

Last year Surgeon General Cumming, of the Public Health Service in accepting for the Service hospitals he invitation to join in he observance of the day, took as a text the existing scarcity of hospitals and the grave difficulty everywhere most of finding hospitals or nursing facilities that were capable of being converted into hospitals. During the year much progress has been made to relieve the hospital question, and the Surgeon General bases his acceptance on the belief that the hospitals are at the top in the national defense.

In writing to Mr. N. O. Foley, o Tobago, secretary of the National Hospital Day committee, he says:

"Familiarity with hospital work rapidly becoming of more importance than was formerly a year ago. The World War has for a time at least ended wars of destruction; and it is argued that the great war to be waged during the next half century is to be one to eradicate disease, to conserve health, and to lengthen life.

"This war has indeed already been begun and has not a few triumphs to its credit. Some of these are well reflected in the annual death rate in the United States, which during the last twenty years has dropped, per hundred thousand of the population, or typhoid fever from 23.3 to 9.3; for measles from 13.3 to 5.2; for scarlet fever from 10.3 to 2.8; for diphtheria from 43.3 to 14.7; for tuberculosis from 201.6; for pneumonia from 183.9 to 153.6; and for all causes from 1,755 to 1,396. Incidentally, yellow fever has been eradicated and small pox, typhoid and typhus are being held at bay.

"The hospital of course did not bring about these great lifesaving reductions by its side efforts. But it did and does begin the modern attack on the first, most efficient and most nearly every disease of importance in its wards and its laboratories it has builded the lives of its patients and it has also taught and trained and provided the weapons for those who later went from its doors to take up the fight.

"Looked at in this way every hospital has become a witness in a war waged for the health of the people and must more and more lead in the direction of the people—a task to which it is well fitted by reason of its numbers, its universal establishment, its personnel consisting of individuals, and the ease with which it concentrates the latest triumphs of surgery and medicine, the newest tools of research, and the most highly trained specialists in each and every disease.

"Acquaintance with hospital work also will show, first, that a hospital is not a place of sorrow and suffering and death, but a place of relief from pain, rejoicing, and restoration to active life. It will show, second, that a hospital is a great human laboratory where disease is studied and where doctors are trained to save and to prolong life.

"Anything that towards such know ledge marks a distinct advance in the war of wars—the war for health and life and against disease."

THORNTON DAVIDSON CASE TO BE TRIED IN LONDON

Montreal, March 29.—Colin G. Cameron, former manager of the defunct brokerage house of Thornton Davidson and Company, charged with the theft of approximately $500,000 and with falsifying the firm's books to the extent of another $500,000, which alleged misrepresentations resulted in the company being forced into liquidation, appeared before Judge Lost yesterday morning and pleaded not guilty, electing a trial by jury. His Lordship committed him to appear the Court of King's Bench at the June session. Bail was renewed, as before at $25,000.

ABOUT WHITE BEAVER

THEY ARE RAREST ANIMAL IN NORTH AMERICA.

Scientists Regard Them as "a Freak of Nature" and Indians Have Pictured Them as Sacred Beings. But Less Than a Dozen Have Ever Been Secured by Trappers.

Patricia District is a primitive land of evergreen forests and glistening lakes. In winter time it loses this attractive garment and stands naked typifies the grim spirit of the north. From late wild area, given over to the moose and caribou, it rouses in the summer time and to the trapper in the long days of winter, runs the muddy white beaver, which forms the chief centre of attraction in the mounted exhibits of the Ontario Department of Games and Fisheries. When not on tour with other stately denizens of the wilds, as a valued bit of interest at the various fall fairs, the white beaver sits in a glass case in the office of Deputy Minister MacDonald. Only three years it has been the choice specimen of the Department. Before that white beaver lured where now the white bird and died, in one of those far-off ponds in the background of Patricia District, hitched by the trap line of some Indian fur trapper. Such is the remote fastness of his native forest the hunt of the trapper reached out and seized him. Thus he came to Toronto. Although the milky-white coat was carefully groomed, and where a pigment of the eyes was were provided him; for his own, which had closed in death.

The white beaver is cherished above all other Ontario exhibits, because he undoubtedly represents the scarcest type of animal life known to the American continent.

Although Patricia District has been called the "home of the white beaver," it is by no means that many of these forest curiosities have been found. It is estimated that only one white beaver is born in every 10,000, and during the half-century there more than half a dozen skins have been taken out of the entire Patricia boundaries.

Why there should be a white beaver at all is what they should be native, more or less exclusively, to Patricia District "creation" which never have been answered. The trapper who got him into his mind yet another: What is a white beaver? Not even the most acknowledged trapper can answer this. Legend has his usual colorful explanation, and in this the Indian fur hunter finds believes, but the prosaic furrier scoffs at his red fellow's credulity and shrugs a disinterested shoulder.

"The white beaver is a freak of nature," he will tell you, "as will mighty useless freak, at that." Usually he will conclude his remarks with this enlightening sentence. "I have seen a white beaver skin, but never have handled one."

It may sound paradoxical to write that any article can be rare as to be valueless; however, it is the case with a white beaver skin. Enough skins cannot be procured to give them a strong commercial value. If it were possible through some lucky chance for trappers in sufficient skins to make a beautifully white beaver coat, the result would its commercial value be? I asked a big Toronto furrier.

"I do not know," he said. "It would be worth a great deal, I suppose. Probably, it could be purchased by some American money baron, but by no one else. Such a thing there is no use in speculating about. There are not enough white beaver skins in the world to make even half a coat. Let me give you a few facts and figures. It takes approximately fifteen skins to make a full length coat which sells for $500. To obtain only six white beaver skins have come from Patricia District; possibly four or five other white skins have come from other parts. All told, there have been seven beaver skins that we know of, and even here, no record has been kept of their distinction. Such a thing as while we see or hear of one coming into a big fur warehouse, such a large shipment; but it is never used. Such a thing as a full white coat is impossible to match it; so into the discard it goes. Even if we had the cost of forty-matched white beaver skins beautiful one to say furrier, we could retire immediately he sold it; but it could be done. Just a chance for it could never happen."

According to the traditions of the grim Northland, a white beaver is born only when some great chief of the Red Men comes back to earth again. Almeek, the beaver, is the builder of the world, and since the human tongue; but he lost this when the Great Black Bear came from the home of the North Winds and Rabbeco the lake into forests streams and lakes, died. Then Manitou took pity upon Almeek and his clan and he taught them to build lodges and live in village; and because Almeek was industrious Manitou loved him and his tribe, and they multiplied and flourished. To show his love, Manitou decreed that each time a great chief of his people should die and return to earth, he should come as Almeek and his clan, that he might learn to delve as well as hunt and get many lessons for his soul's good. Manitou decreed that each time he came to mockery with Almeek, a white beaver should be bred into the village. Thus Almeek and his family would be able to do honor to the spiritual visitor and at the same time know that Manitou still loved them and held the family of beaver in high esteem.—Frank Mack in Toronto Sunday World.

TIGHT ROPE STUNTS TABOO AT THE FALLS

Mayor Thompson Hits Again Received Requisite Ambitious Performer.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 31.—With the ink hardly dry on Mayor Maxwell M. Thompson's published statement that no official permit will be granted to Miss Eleanora Yeldin, 17 years old, of England, to erect a cable across the Niagara Gorge gorge and walk across it as an exhibition stunt, today's mail brought to the mayor another application for permission to perform the "Blondin act."

Miss Yeldin some weeks ago wrote the mayor from Montreal, Que., asking for the permit. The letter was filed without making reply. Last week the Canadian Press, Limited, sent to Secretary Glenn of the Falls Chamber of Commerce on behalf of Miss Yeldin's proposed stunt. He was then that the mayor expressed himself in opposition to officially permit such hazardous exploits. The latter received today by Mayor Thompson is dated "Niagara Ville, 48 Fuller Avenue, Toronto, Canada," and is signed by James E. Hardy. It asks permission to repeat a performance of 1806.

"JUST AROUND THE CORNER"

Another delightful Paramount-Cosmopolitan picture based on a story by Fannie Hurst, author of "Humoresque", was shown with great success at Griffin's Theatre last night. It is "Just Around the Corner," a story of the East side of New York City.

This is an absorbing story of family affection, of the struggles of a mother, her son and daughter against poverty and of their ultimate triumph. Love, honor, misfortune, smiles and tears, all play their part in the action. The parts are portrayed by a brilliant cast including Margaret Seddon, Lewis Sargent, Sigrid Holmquist, Edward Phillips, Fred C. Thompson, Percy Parr and others.

The "Rose of Time Here," an original and amusing comedy, Pathe News, and "Winners of the West" serial preceded the feature offering.

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

"The Bohemian Girl" with its wealth of beautiful Balfe music as an "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," "Then You'll Remember Me," "When Fortune Frowns," "The Heart Bowed Down," "Fair Land of Poland," with its joyous choruses and rollicking humor is distinctly called the world's most popular comic opera.

That the Boston English Opera Company will present this delightful opera for its return engagement to Griffin's next Friday night, April 7th, is indeed cause for joy to all who appreciate good music, and clean comedy. In addition to the name famous cast heard here in "Il Trovatore," including Helena Meyrill, Norman Arnold, Henry Kungs, Dorothy Batt, Edward Orchard, accredited as America's foremost singing comedian will be heard as Delichoi, chief of the gypsies a part in which he has no equal.

Veterans Entertain Ladies at Clever Concert in the Armouries.

Last evening the annual Ladies' Night connected with the G.W.V.A. was held in the Armouries, owing to the weather conditions the attendance was not as large as anticipated, but all found their way to the Armouries through the snow. A fine programme was carried out and the affair was a decided success.

Comrade Dr. J. M. Wilson, President of the local branch occupied the chair.

Bridge Street Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Comrade G. H. Watson furnished the music for the evening, which was highly prized by all present.

Mr. O'Connor of Kingston favored the gathering with a solo and numerous encores and Mr. Dale of Belleville, proved his ability as a magician.

Comrade G. E. Stallworthy and Comrade H. W. Barrett rendered two fine solos, which were favorably received.

Messrs. Bell and Smith of the Bridge Street Orchestra kept the assembly in laughter with their puns and dark town jokes.

Mrs. H. K. Singer and Mrs. G. H. Stallworthy acted as accompanists for the evening.

Miss M. R. Healey of the Provincial Board of Health, outlined her duties in connection with the Child Welfare Bureau, which will be established in this city in the very near future. Miss Healey saw service in Salonika and is a member of the Great War Veterans' Association. Miss Healey finds very important work to perform and all organizations in the city should offer her every assistance in her community work.

After the program, refreshments were served and a sing-song, led by Comrade Barrett, wound up a most enjoyable evening.

VETERAN BODIES WILL CO-OPERATE

Will Work on Joint Plan to Present to Government.

In order to prent a diversity of proposals to the Government on re-establishment questions, the G. A. U. W. is opening headquarters at Ottawa for the purpose of co-operating with the G. W. V. A. in presenting a common policy to the Parliamentary Committee. All branches of the G. A. U. A. throughout the Dominion, and up to date fifteen branches of the G. W. V. A. have endorsed the resolution proposing a re-establishment bonus adopted by a joint executive meeting of all Toronto and district branches of the G. A. U. V.

The G. W. V. A. branches which have approved the plant are those at Woodstock, Chatham, Kingsville, Oak, Grand Valley, North Bay, New Liskeard, Preston, Picton, West End Ottawa, Wallaceburg, Dundas, Central Toronto, Sault Ste. Marie and Caledonia. The resolution while affirming the necessity of the adequate re-establishment of all ex-service men and women by the granting of a re-establishments bonus based on length of service," proposed leaving the amount to be agreed upon by the Dominion Veterans' Alliance prior to the convening of the Parliamentary Committee. The resolution declares the opinion that the problem of re-establishment has not yet been solved satisfactory and that the bonus offers the best remedy.

TO GIVE ASSISTANCE AND CIRCULATE NEWS

Plans toward giving assistance to ex-service men who move from one part of the Empire to another and to circulate information as to the activities of ex-soldiers and sailors in different parts of the Empire are being made by the British Empire Service League according to a letter received from its Grand President, Field Marshal Earl Haig, by R. B. Maxwell, Dominion President of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada.

This league represents some 8,000,000 ex-sailors and soldiers of the Empire. The letter states that His Majesty was pleased to express his interest and satisfaction with the proceedings generally, when details of formation and operation of the league were placed before him.

Report Tabled in House of Commons Shows Year's Work.

The report of the work of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment for the calendar year ending December 31, 1921, was tabled on the House of Commons by Hon. H. S. Beland, minister of that department, and in the Senate by Senator Dandurand.

Certain of the branches of the work have diminished during the year while others have continued with little reduction. On December 31, 1920, 4,716 vocational students were on the roll; on December 31, 1921, the number had been reduced to 624. In spite of the prevailing sub-normal employment conditions, only 4,091 out of a total of 41,913 vocational graduates were registered with the department as being out of employment.

There has been a slight reduction in the number of men on strength for treatment. At the end of December, 1920, the number was 6,431; on December 31, 1921, it was 6,327.

All medical examinations, general correspondence, issue of pension checks, etc., are now dealt with by the department, so that the members of the Board of Pension Commissioners are able to devote their entire time to the adjudication of pensions.

The combined staff of the department and the Board of Pension Commissioners on Jan. 1, 1921, numbered 2,465. On December 31, 1921, it was 1,854, a further reduction is promised for 1922.

There has been a marked increase in the number of policies issued under the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act since the work has been dealt with through the unit offices of the department. The number of policies issued to the date of the report was 7,443, covering insurance of $19,588,500.

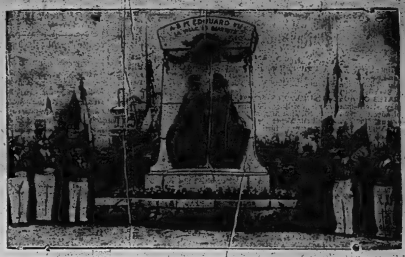

The expenditure of the department has been much less than during previous years. The total since the inception of the work on the 1st July, 1915, apart from the payment of pensions, is $115,276,015.15, leaving recoverable amounts of $1,146,763.55 or a net sum of $114,507,262.90.

FOR COMMONS COMMITTEE ON SOLDIERS PROBLEM

Ottawa, March 31.—Notice has been given that the prime minister will move in the Commons that a special committee be appointed to consider questions relating to the pensions, insurance and re-establishment of returned soldiers, and any amendments to the existing laws in relation thereto which may be proposed or considered necessary by the committee.

London, March 30.—In addition to giving Sir Robert Borden's book on "Canadian Constitutional Studies" a favorable review, The Times, in an editorial, says support for Sir Robert Borden's arguments has been found within the past few days in the statement of Senator George Foster Pearce of Australia, who, on his return from the Washington Conference insisted upon the principle of direct representation at such gatherings as essential to the Dominion.

FEDERAL POLICE WORK.

The report for the year ending with September 30, 1921, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police indicates that with the recent change in the name of the organization there was a marked change in its distribution and a large addition to its duties. Almost fifty years ago, its original work, which justified its operation as part of the federal service, was to maintain law and order in the western territories, then just taken over from the Hudson's Bay Company. Few countries have had the fortune to be served by such a body. Officers and men were alike capable and courageous. One of its first tests was in the camp of the Blackfeet, the powerful tribe that held the country on this side of the Rockies. One officer and two men went into the Indian ground, and by sheer strength of will overawed opposition and took out one of the men wanted for an offence. The wisdom of Crowfoot, the head chief, was a help, but the achievement had a moral effect that was lasting. The Mounted Police soon were known as the friends of all who observed the law and the dangerous enemies of all who offended. When the Sioux under Sitting Bull, after badly cutting up a U. S. military force, marched into Canada, a relatively small detachment of police took charge of and kept order among them till it was arranged by the governments concerned that they should be transformed. The whole western country knew them. Their beats covered hundreds of miles. From the U. S. boundary to the Arctic and from the Pacific to the shores of Hudson Bay they rode or tramped, the symbol and executors of justice. Their presence aided the railway workers in carrying the first lines of rail across the continent, and during the Yukon gold rush kept the mining camps safe and free from murder. White men, Indians and Esquimaux, all knew their strength to protect at last to bring punishment. These duties are still performed. At Craig's hotel in Baffin's Land, 400 miles within the Arctic Circle, a police staff sergeant is magistrate, coroner, postmaster and customs officer; there having developed a noticeable trade in the region. Along the Arctic and Hudson Bay coasts are other detachments, some times two men only. They have taught all concerned that to commit crime is a serious thing. Men accused of murder have been brought hundreds of miles to be tried, most of the journey by dog train or on foot. The sense of duty and responsibility that enables men to carry on during such tests of physical as well as moral endurance cannot be excelled. The men of today are proper successors of those who first made the force famous.

IRISH CONDITIONS.

Resourceful as Messrs. Griffith and Collins have shown themselves to be, it would seem that they are rapidly reaching an end of their resources. Barracks and strategic centres are being occupied by rival Republican and Free State forces, and although officers of the two sides fraternize on occasion each sides is giving demonstration of its armed strength. In fact, in Ireland matters are rapidly being precipitated towards civil war. The verdict of a general election in Southern Ireland is eagerly awaited, despite the fact that Mr. Cathal Brugo and Mr. De Valera say that they cannot agree to accept such a verdict. But this is no excuse for the brutal excesses that are taking place in Northern Ireland, more particularly in Belfast. The Ulster Government is deserving of severe censure for not taking stronger measures to restore order, difficult though the task undoubtedly is.

Orange feeling has been aroused to fever heat, and the wild fighting men of the insubordinate Republican army have also got out of control. Both Northern and Southern Governments must prove that they are masters in their own house-holds. The treaty of 1921 has not been signed a day sooner before: a freedom to govern themselves without outside interference, and it may be said an opportunity which they seem particularly slow in taking advantage of. The temper of the Irish, irreconcilables leaves little room for compromise, and when it is shared by opposing factions the outlook for a peaceful settlement is dark. The world will be delighted on the day that the cantankerous and warring Irish parties agree to sink their quarrels in ac deep water as they can find in the middle of the Irish Sea.

Grant the privileged position of the railways. There never was a privilege which did not presuppose a corresponding obligation and submission to an authority able to enforce it. The authority is the Government of the country, which is the final guardian of the civilisation over which it rules. If the managements of the railways, from near-sighted greed or lack of enlightened self-interest, go on maintaining destructive rates they should be promptly dealt with.

WHY NOT INDIA?

Halifax Chronicle

If Egypt can be protected from without against foreign interference, why not India, and at comparatively small cost, letting the inhabitants experiment in their own way with "national self-determination" and self-government? At any rate, the time has unmistakably come when Britons must cease regarding themselves as cosmopolitan of "moderns," and as divinely appointed and ordained missionaries to the world at large. They need to get solidly down to legitimate and prospectively profitable, national business.

A HILL SONG

There is a little hint of Spring
A subtle, silent, unseen thing
In shadowed wall and grass and way,
And it, a gypsy for a day,
So straying far beneath the sky,
And far into the windy hills,
Where distant, dim horizons lie,
And earth with gleams of heaven fills.

My quest is but a singing bird
Whose voice on uplands lone is heard,
And this my path where'er it's been,
And this my nest, an evergreen;
The hills are mine own open way—
I hate the smother of the town,
Love by breezy hills to stray
Where roaring streams come leaping down.

Ah, joy it is, and free of care,
With he sun and the wind in my face
And my hair,
Close with shining clouds which trail
Softly each like a pinnace sail,
Over the hills on the blue of heaven;
Ah, joy it is to wander here
Where the wilding heart of the young, sweet year,
Quickens the earth, and Spring is born,

And joy it is, the shorelark's cry—
Full well I know he walketh by;
A golden winnow of grey wings,
And in the light he seems to rise,
And pausing in his heavenward flight,
A heart-long moment bright to delight,
To trails his silver strains of song
By paths eye may not follow long;
Very glimpse in the azure fade,
Only best sweet sounds in the skies,
Is it the soul of song had strayed
Celestial from Paradise?

WHEN THINGS GO WRONG

By BYRON STAUFFER.

When everything goes wrong, the main thing is to hold steady, you know. Otherwise you may be stampeded into doing the wrong thing, like hiring a guide. They're pretty useful, know, is to run wildly into the forest.

Hall George Matheson, when he was in the throes of grief over the infidelity of all faith in God, decided to hire himself to at once send in his resignation to the church. But he decided not, now by holding his memorial hymn, "O Love that will not let me go."

On the day everything goes wrong, hold on all to yourself tight. Do nothing rash or permanent. The sun will shine again and your affairs will look brighter with its shining.

Philosophize on the patient fact that all days come to do. Do not expect to be a grand exception to the rule. You do not always know the fact the other man carries. He may not be saying much about his troubles. Some people could be pretty sick and you'd never know it. And say! some people can be pretty well without anybody knowing it either." All men have their troubles; why not you?

Note too, that the evil day comes by the law of averages—often averages long deferred. You have had the fat years; take the lean ones now. That man who boasts of his brothers and sisters all coming to old age—without the loss of one must naturally expect the grim reaper's visit soon. When the dark days do come, count your past blessings and expect more after the clouds roll by.

The prevailing winds are from the west, my boy. Talmadge advised nervous people not to go among exasperating Easterners when the east wind is blowing, not to discuss contentious topics, nor collect money for charity, nor answer an irritating letter. Better still, why not ignore the very fact that the east wind blows at all? Then smoke your pipe, read the bards bathe me more than all the other roosters of the neighborhood. Whenever their bills point to the east, sing I, begin to fret about how much the audience will shrink in the rain. I sing with Tait.

Are you sure you really have any troubles? On a Chancellor I noticed the other day sitting and knitting alternately.

A NEW TURRET LATHE.

The hexagon turret lathe is one of the most familiar of machine tools, it is so familiar that the possibility of radical changes in its design is not generally entertained. A British firm has, however, completed to its experimental shop an interesting type of hexagon turret lathe. The improvements were suggested to the makers by the effects of heavy war orders on their shop types; and it represents a successful effort to remove the possibilities of damage and waste due to human carelessness conditions. One of the main features of the new machine is the covering of the six cross slides when completed by cast iron guards. The covers fit closely to the slides and thus prevent dirt and chips entering between the surfaces in contact. Another chief feature of the machine is the way in which the operator points of danger are guarded against. All the actual machine operations are performed at the highest possible speed consistent with the safety of the designers has been specially directed to increasing the speed at which automatic movements are effected. Still another feature to which great importance is attached is the fact that the spindle is supported in single track roller bearings.

Exhaustive experiments were made to prove that these bearings would stand the strenuous conditions imposed by the continuous fast production which the machine is capable of turning lengths up to 30 inches at one setting and of taking bars up to 2 inches in diameter.

HEMP HURDS FOR PAPER MAKING

An interesting investigation recently carried out at the Forest Products Laboratory of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, relates to the making of hemp hurds or hemp shives into paper material. Hemp hurds are the woody stalks of hemp from which the fibre has been removed. Considerable quantities of the hurds, at present a mere waste product, are produced in Canada. Some attention has been given to this subject in the United States, where experiments have been made in which the soda process was used. The work at the Laboratories, however, has been directed towards the application of the sulphite process widely used in Canadian pulp mills for the manufacture of chemical wood-pulp. The results obtained indicate that while the material lends itself to a pulping process, the resulting pulp has an extremely short fibre and is somewhat hard to bleach. The fibre is, however, well suited for the pulp might advantageously be used as a filler with pulps of longer fibre.

HOW M'GRAW TREATS GIANTS

Little Napoleon of Baseball Lays Down Law to Champions.

Fort Worth, Texas, March 31—The Giants to-day got a "curtain lecture" from their chief, who then, by rule of the blinds of self-satisfaction and letting in the sharp sunlight of very critical common sense past judging. Manager McGraw was the lecturer and his caustic and critical remarks fell upon the blushing ears of certain members of his team at the hour of high noon, following an unexpectedly colorless workout in the morning, with lack of snap, fire and ability.

The manner of seven pennants has not been rethinking getting beaten so decisively by the Chicago Sox, whose particular "stock" has seemed to the the New York clubs in both leagues. This after the lecture—ah! the difference.

The last that they won the championship of the world last fall is not going to be allowed to rest heavily on the memories of the Giants. Fortunately, there are few players among them who would be inclined to take too much for granted in view of the laurels won in the series with the Yankees, but even this handful will have no opportunity to reflect at length on what they accomplished in the past. The Giants will be driven fast as hard this year as though they still finished last in year ago, and there will be no swelled craniums in the fold. Exactly what was said at to-day's meeting, of course, is unknown, but the gist of it can be intimated by those who saw Sunday's game. It was after just such a tale one day last August that the Giants, who had been slipping badly, pulled themselves together overnight, and, taking five games in a row from the Pirates, launched the drive that ultimately carried them to the world championship.

SPRING BOWLING LEAGUE

A meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Pin Bowling League was held last evening when it was decided to have a Spring league to run to about five weeks. There will be twelve teams in the league and schedule of games are being arranged. Play in the new league will commence next week.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

Two Games Played

At the Y.M.C.A. bowling alley last night two league games were played, and some interest in the result was manifested especially in the O.T.R. Office and K. of C. game.

First Game

The first game was between the K.V.A. and Oxford teams. As the former team had no difficulty in winning. Cornell, for the winners, had the high single score, 289, also the best three string, 830. The players and scores were as follows:

K. V. A—
Cornell	238	125	167—530
Anderson	156	164	149—469
Langley	174	172	153—499

Second Game

The O.T.R. Office, and K. of C. teams fought hard for supremacy, the latter winning out by 17 pins. It was a good game throughout and the K. of C. team was out by the excellent score made by Dr. O'Callaghan, who had rolled a score was 230 and his three string 618. The score and players were as follows:

K. of C—
Barrett	130	139	148—440

WRESTLING BOUTS FOR BELLEVILLE

Canadian Championships in Eight Classes Decided Here in May.

Mr. Chas. Keeler, instructor at the Y.M.C.A. here, has received a letter from Norton H. Crow, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, to the effect that his application for the staging of Canadian wrestling championships be held here in the Belleville Y.M.C.A. on Thursday and Friday, May 18th and 19th, has been sanctioned by the C.A.A.U. and that the matter has been referred to President Jackson of Lethbridge. A sample of the entry form was forwarded and the eight championships to be decided are bantam weight, feather, special, light, welter, middle, light-heavy, and heavyweight. The last date of entry is May 13th.

Mr. Keeler is to be complimented in his efforts to obtain this end, as it might be stated that never before has such a privilege been granted to so small a city as Belleville.

WHY BODIE IS NO MORE A CRAB

Amusing Incident in Game With Convicts Cured Famous Outfielder.

Ping Bodie, former Yankee outfielder, and known to New York's Italian colony as the "Magnificent Pinsisi", is a great story-teller.

Ping, who always furnished plenty of copy for the newspapers, had two stories he liked to tell of, so experience has had while playing an exhibition game at San Quentin prison, near San Francisco.

If there was one thing that Ping liked to do, it is hit the old pill. In a seven month's baseball career when he crashes one on the nose for a circuit.

It seems that one fall a number of big league players wintering on the coast agreed to play the San Quentin prison team, which was a fairly good team.

The first time up Ping struck out. It gave the convicts a chance to good naturedly "razz" him. Ping could hardly wait for his next time at bat.

The pitcher of the convict team knew what happened was a very slow-moving individual. Knowing Bodie was a good hitter, he was very dilatory in his methods.

Getting peeved, Bodie yelled at the pitcher to hurry up. The pitcher was a lifer. As Bodie yelled for him to hurry up the catcher yelled.

"Take your time, Slim, you are going to be here for a long while."

After looking over a couple of ball cubes, Ping got one to his liking and hit it over the high wall. Whereupon, one of the colored lifers shouted:

"Look on what they accomplished in lil' ou dat ball."

"That game helped cure me of being a crab," is the way Ping always put it.

Paris, March 26.—Pershing Stadium was definitely accepted to-day as the site for holding the 1924 Olympic games. Both the Paris Municipal Council and the Olympic Committee came to this agreement, thus ending the deadlock over the question that has existed since last July.

Harry Greb, the Pittsburg lightweight, who, on the strength of his clever victory over Tommy Gibbons, of St. Paul, is chasing Jack Dempsey for a crack at the world's heavyweight title.

INDOOR LEAGUE MEETING

A meeting of the Indoor Baseball executive was held last night. Only a few attended so not much business was discussed. They decided to try and get Mr. K. Colling as strike umpire and D. Brockel as base umpire for the rest of the indoor games.

Remember the two games to-night the Intell. vs. Shoe Clerks and K. of C. vs Tiger Tire Co., games to start at 7.30.

INSECTS IN SEWERAGE WORKS

The treatment of sewerage has become a highly scientific business, and one of the most interesting features of it is the use of lowly forms of life for the purification of the material. A British chemist suggested some time ago the use of a certain tiny and prolific insect for cleansing the material of sewerage filter beds. Recent experiments in Great Britain have proved the possibility of colonizing filter beds with these insects.

SCRAP IRON

BUFF V. EBER

Hamilton, March 30.—There's a hitch over the proposed Bobby Eber-Johnny Buff bout in Windsor. Eber has come to terms with the Border Cities Boxing Club, and is ready for the word, but Buff is holding out for a New York referee. There the matter stands, while the Windsor promoters thrash it out with the Ontario Boxing Commission.

STECHER BEATS MAHMOUT

Boston, March 30.—Joe Stecher defeated Youssouf Mahmout, the Balkan wrestler, last night, in two straight falls. The fir t fall was scored after 47 minutes and 8 seconds of wrestling and the second in 16 minutes and 24 seconds.

SPORT STUFF

Sportdom has lost a great friend and patron in the death of Sir John Eaton. Sir John was noted for his interest in athletics and the Eaton games held for many years in Toronto were only a small portion of his contributions to the sterling world.

Austen Chamberlain, who, in absence of the Prime Minister Lloyd George in the country, told The Associated Press through his Secretary, however, that the report was without foundation.

KING WILL RECEIVE HIGH COMMISSIONER

Audience to By Granted P. C. Larkin Some Day Next Week.

London, March 31.—His Majesty the King will receive Hon. P. C. Larkin, the new Canadian High Commissioner, probably some day next week. The royal family went to Windsor to-day, where they will be remain until after Easter, but the King's practice when staying there is to spend a day occasionally in London for the despatch of business. It is Mr. Larkin, therefore, will likely be summoned to attend on such an occasion.

Hon. Mr. Larkin will be the first Canadian High Commissioner, as Mr. Ross to have an audience of his Majesty on his arrival in London to take up his new duties. Sir George Perley, Mr. Larkin's immediate predecessor, never arrived, so to speak, for he was here a considerable time on his appointment before being appointed High Commissioner.

When Lord Strathcona was appointed to this office he was received as occupying an official position of a limited degree only, although Lord Strathcona, of course, enjoyed a warm personal friendship with both Queen Victoria and King Edward VII.

the Imperial Government, is reasonable in importance the first arrival of the seven Michael Collins, Minister for Provisional Government, and for James Craig, the Ulster Premier, with an earlier steps in the negotiations.

It provides for the immediate setting of the Irish Parliament for the inauguration of the Irish Free State Constitution, the passage of the necessary legislation to give effect to the agreement, the setting up of the machinery for dealing with matters affected by a mixed commission, composed of the deputies from the Irish Provisional Government, the North and the South of Ireland, promising chairmanship for the present, since from the Irish Parliament, to remedy the unemployment difficulties in Belfast, which threatened the carrying out of the previous Irish-British pact almost impossible.

The fact that the representatives of the Dublin Provisional Government met their colleagues in such an agreement is regarded as significant circles as the most important and weighty happening since the Irish treaty was signed. The conference last throughout the whole of the day, but there was always a very hopeful and cheerful spirit manifested by all those participating in it.

100,000 People Are Waiting For You to Buy a Spring Suit!

That's how important you and your buying are, not only to this city, but to all Canada. And your buying a Spring suit will have an enormous influence on your friends and business associates.

If you order a Spring suit now, it means more work in the tailoring establishments—more work for the designers, cutters, tailors, finishers—for an army of employees. These in turn, will be able to purchase necdables for the house and food. These purchases keep mills and factories busy, and bring money to the farmers, lumbermen and grain growers. And these, in turn, spend this money for things made in the cities.

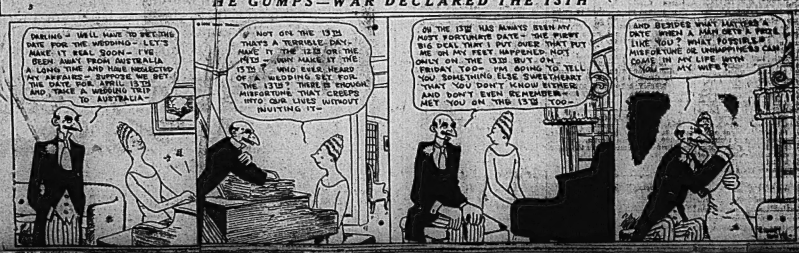

So you see why 100,000 people are waiting for you and your friends to buy Spring Suits. Start the wheels of better times a-turning. Buy a Spring suit—preferably a Fit-Reform suit—but at least, BUY A SPRING SUIT.

Canadian Pacific Railway, The Sterling Bank, and the Dominion Bank, and he held directorships in Victoria and Dominion and The Toronto General Hospital.

Sir John Eaton was one of Toronto's most distinguished citizens. His munificence included the giving of several hundred thousand dollars to the Methodist Church, Toronto, in memory of his father, the soldier being one of the most prominent laymen in worship in the Dominion. He was a director of the Canadian National Exhibition and sundry other organizations.

He was prominent in this in recognition of his public services and he was created a Honorary Colonel. His two sons, who were war and afterwards Sir John was invested in the Canadian Baron-Pow ell's Boy Scouts, of which organization he was for some time a Commissioner also.

Among Sir John Eaton's recreations was yachting, and for many years he owned one of the best-equipped steam yachts on the Great Lakes. DOPE FOR ROSE PESTS

How to Deal With Some Pertinent Rose Enemies.

1 Rose Slugs—Spray with Paris green, 1 oz. to 40 gals. water, or Old Woman Spray (1 oz. Paris green to 2 gals. water). Or Dust a Good Grade Insect Powder on.

Spraying will prevent the rose slug from doing any damage. Spray the bushes as soon as the leaves begin to appear. The poison must be on the leaves when the slugs eat them. Repeat the spraying after the rose has finished blooming.

Dusting is more effective than spraying, as the powder sticks to the leaves better. Dust on when the leaves are damp with dew, or after a shower. Dust with a solution made by mixing 1 oz. powdered arsenate of lead with 3 tbsps. lime-sulphur solution and enough water to make 2 gals. Or dust on powdered arsenate of lead mixed with 10 parts of flour.

2 Rose Aphis—Spray with Black Leaf 40 (1 oz. to 100 gals. water). Or Fulldirections for use are given on the bottle. Spray as soon as the young leaves appear in the spring. Repeat every week or ten days. Spray with the liquid strong enough to kill the aphis, but not strong enough to injure the foliage. Use a fine mist spray.

3 Rose Scale—Spray with Scalecide (1 oz. to 15 gals. water). Or Full directions for use are given on the bottle. Spray as soon as the young leaves appear in the spring. Repeat every week or ten days. Spray with the liquid strong enough to kill the scale, but not strong enough to injure the foliage. Use a fine mist spray.

4 Rose Leaf Hopper—Spray with Black Leaf 40 (1 oz. to 100 gals. water). Or Full directions for use are given on the bottle. Spray as soon as the young leaves appear in the spring. Repeat every week or ten days. Spray with the liquid strong enough to kill the hopper, but not strong enough to injure the foliage. Use a fine mist spray.
